COMMUNITY CLUB HONORS H. W. HOLMES

Initial Meeting of Season Opens Auspiciously under Leadership of President Mann.

In spite of the most inclement weather of the season, the initial meeting of the Cass City Community Club under the leadership of Walter Mann as president opened most auspiciously Tuesday night at the high school auditorium.

Members of the society were accompanied by their wives and the company of 125, seated at tables decorated with autumn leaves and bouquets of bitter-sweet, presented an attractive scene. The banquet, prepared by the ladies of the Baptist church and served by a committee of waiters chosen from the club's ranks, was delectable both to behold and to taste.

During the banquet hour, the M. Katz six-piece orchestra, recently organized by Kingston young people, was liberal with their musical offerings and other delightful features during the meal were late song hits by A. C. Atwell and G. W. Landon in duets.

Mr. Mann, as toastmaster, welcomed the ladies as guests. He urged members to help promote any project that would improve Cass City and make it a better town in which to live and emphasized service as a leading factor for the club's activities for the coming year.

This gathering of the Community Club was held in honor of H. W. Holmes, superintendent of schools, who resigned recently to accept a similar position at Marshall. M. B. Auten, the first speaker, called attention to characteristics of the retiring superintendent naming among his qualities those of leadership, manliness, sportsmanship, tireless energy, and efficiency in the endeavor to advance church and community affairs. He spoke of the high standard of the local school, the new departments added and the increase in attendance during the nine years of Mr. Holmes' administration. In token of the friendship of Community Club members, Mr. Auten presented Mr. Holmes with a white gold watch and chain.

Mr. Holmes, in his response, expressed his appreciation for the gift and for the splendid co-operation accorded him by the community in his school work here. Mr. Holmes introduced L. D. Randall, the new superintendent, and Mrs. Randall. Mr. Randall gave a brief address.

The Community Club members were pleased to greet Rev. Ira W. Cargo of Fenton, who did more than any other man to organize and determine the destiny of the club in its early years of usefulness. He said the club had performed a great service for the community since its organization. Any society of this kind is only what its members make it. He complimented this community on its co-operative spirit and its forward-looking tendencies.

Tuesday night's gathering was marked by the prevailing spirit of good-fellowship and will long be remembered as one of the pleasant events of community life.

GUILD MEMBERS HEAR TALKS ON EUROPE

Mrs. Cathcart and Miss Dorothy Tindale gave interesting as well as educational talks on their trips abroad. Articles which had been purchased in different countries were shown.

After a short business meeting refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned to meet November 5 with Mrs. Lyle Koepfgen.

FARM BUREAU HEADS INTERPRET PROGRAM

Leaders in Movement Spoke at District Rally Here on Tuesday.

"I believe we stand today on the threshold of the best days agriculture has ever known because we are learning to work together," said M. S. Winder, executive secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in his address at the Farm Bureau district rally at the M. E. church at Cass City Tuesday. "Co-operation means a practical application of the Golden Rule."

While there is a place for merchants, bankers and distributors, there is no need for speculators in farmers' products who render no welfare to the consumers, said the speaker. He pointed out the difference between the farmer's selling price and the consumer's purchase price and stressed the large increase between these two in the last ten years.

The unorganized farmer has a very limited opportunity for success, according to Mr. Winder, because he has so little control of the factors of production. The Farm Bureau has contributed substantially to the welfare of every farm family in Michigan, he said.

C. L. Brody, manager of the State Farm Bureau, said the organization includes two types of service. Its business activities are the best organized in the society's history and take care of themselves. The second type of service is maintained by the payment of dues and rounds out the society's program. New services planned by the state bureau will deal with leases for rights of way across farms for pipe and power lines, securing legal talent who will represent the agriculturalist. Farmers have come in contact in late years with new relationships with public service corporations and are in need of men with legal and business qualifications to render advice for the protection of the farmers' interests. This is one of the new features of service proposed by the state organization, said Mr. Brody.

Mrs. Wagar was assigned the subject, "Women's Position in the Farm Bureau" and said she believed that woman had a real part in the organization. She pointed out the advantages of country life where the farmer always has a job and plenty to eat and compared his lot with the city worker. She advised the farmer to think of this rather than his discouragements. "Talk economy," Mrs. Wagar concluded, "but talk it in the right places in our governmental affairs, and do not dispense with things that are designed for the public welfare in our economy program."

Clarence Reid, president of the St. Clair County Farm Bureau, explained the Trade-a-day program as observed in St. Clair and Claude Nash spoke on the subject, "Summing It Up."

The afternoon's program opened after a banquet served by the ladies of the M. E. church. Rev. N. D. Braby of Caro led the community singing and the Farm Bureau members were welcomed to Cass City by Robert Warner, who spoke in laudatory terms of the organization. Mr. Baker, president of the Tuscola Co. Farm Bureau, presided as chairman.

During the morning, two conferences were held, one for women and one for men. Huron and Tuscola were the best represented counties at this district rally. Sanilac and St. Clair counties sent small delegations.

On the first play of the second half, Hunter intercepted a Vassar pass and ran for a touchdown. Vassar received and on the kick fumbled the ball which was recovered by Cass City and the locals scored on an end run by Edgerton. In the last period, Edgerton intercepted a pass for the last score. Cass City subs played in the last quarter and Vassar scored on two end runs and a line buck.

This game assures Cass City a tie for the county championship with Caro as the locals tied Caro 6-6. Should

OLD FOLKS SAY DR. CALDWELL WAS RIGHT

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice.

He treated constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle will last several months, and all can use it. It is pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. Elderly people find it ideal.

All drug stores have the generous lotter, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle and it has the Cross-flow Radiator safer in zero weather. In a field of twenty-one medium-priced automobiles, only Oakland has the Cross-flow Radiator. WILLY BROS., Cass City. OAKLAND ALL-AMERICAN SIX PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

HEALTH, GOOD AND BAD.

The capacity of the human body to endure abuse and ill treatment is astonishing. It far surpasses in this respect a metal machine. Automobile engines, run without proper lubrication, are soon reduced to uselessness. The human body, tortured thought it may be by the indignities heaped upon it by such as our marathon dancers, flag pole sitters, and solo airplane fliers, returns to apparent normality with the help of a day or two of rest.

Fortunate as this ability of the body to meet and overcome mistreatment may be, it is a quality that has its disadvantages. A very prevalent tendency among people today, which exists solely because of the wonderful recuperative powers of the body, is to "go the limit"—to push the accelerator of life down to the floor and to keep it there. We see a school youngster playing a strenuous sport for long periods—and marvel at his endurance. We see a young girl working days, dancing nights, sleeping a few hours in between, and marvel again. We see the mother of four who cares for her brood and at the same time indulges in church and club work to the limit of her free hours, and wonder that she can keep going.

What we so often do not see, beneath the surface appearance of good health and high vitality, is a weakened physique that may be fast heading toward breakdown. The ability of the body to cover up the traces of too strenuous living is in reality just another style of camouflage, that art which was developed to such a fine point in the world war. A parallel to the trick of the ship builder who, by means of painted lines, gave a ship the appearance of traveling at a different direction from that it actually was pursuing, is found in nature's trick of concealing the direction which health is taking. Appearances may indicate perfect health. Actually, conditions may be just the reverse.

Regular and reasonable habits of sleeping, eating and working are advocated by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association as the first and most important preventive against tuberculosis, the disease that typifies the fate of many who live as if health could never be lost. Possibly an Edison can go counter to the laws of health, sleeping but four hours a night and laboring without rest much of the remaining time, but Edison's equals in this respect are probably as few as his peers in inventive ability. For the most of us, the safest course to pursue is one that protects rather than weakens, builds up rather than tears down the bodily structure. Sane living always pays.

Current Comment.

All for a Pittance.

This might happen in any court in any county in the United States. But it happened in Minnesota, the Grand Rapids Herald-Review telling the story:

It was a busy week in court. For three long days witnesses were examined, learned counsel objected and argued, the judge ruled on points of law and justice. For three long days twelve men and women listened to the evidence, pondered the questions of right and wrong and then retired to make its decision.

The court was attended by officers and bailiffs and all other litigation was stopped as this case proceeded.

Plaintiff and defendant were there. The neighbors were called from pickney's foot when he struck it with the spike maul. Now, under 'Remarks, do you want mine or do you want Casey's?'

When we talk of justice, material factors should not enter into the discussion. You cannot measure money and justice on the same scales. But it is a fact that it cost the county or the government, in actual expense, at least $500 to try this case. The plaintiff and the defendant had their expenses. The payment to the jurors by no means compensated many of them for their loss of time. A dollar a day for a witness when potatoes are a dollar a bushel is not a money making proposition.

The whole amount of money involved in this case was the claim of $75.00.

Those interested in government might well suggest the old Irish custom. If a man contemplated legal action against another man that man went to the defendant's home and sat on the door step all of one night to give him time to think about his case and the justice of it. And as he thought and thought he came to conclusions which led him to proper action when the sun came up. And in most cases there was no litigation.

It's Not Clever; It's Cheap.

According to a prevalent pose, it is smart to be nasty when purveying entertainment to the public. Anything decent in the way of drama, book, story or amusement is branded plebeian and is made the object of guffaws. Sometimes we wonder how people get that way, and whether they know they are really imitating members of a low, stupid stratum of life.

At other times we think the phenomenon is an outgrowth of an inner consciousness among exponents that they are incapable of difficult thought or creative achievement and that in despair they undertake to make a show of cleverness along the line of least resistance. For it is exceedingly easy to imagine and picture an indecent or immoral situation as against the task of imagining a clean, wholesome one that will attract an equal amount of attention.

The perpetrator of "artistic" filth needs no background, no particular culture, no high order of intellect in order to "get across." About all he must have in these days is a little verbal adroitness and plenty of shamelessness. To obtain a paying audience he doesn't need to do his stuff nearly as well as his predecessors of a century or two ago did it.—Detroit Free Press.

Somber Mondays.

It has reached a point where one hesitates to open the Monday morning paper, so saturated is it with stories of death and wholesale destruction of property by avoidable accidents happening over week ends. It almost seems that some people await Saturday nights and Sundays to run riot with recklessness.

Can anything be done to stop this wanton destruction of human life and property? Frankly we are at a loss to suggest an intelligent and adequate remedy. Swift and severe punishment for reckless drivers may curb to some extent their criminal activities, but no sooner are they punished than a horde of others equally criminal arise to take their places.

However, hope must not be abandoned that much of this unnecessary destruction may some day be eliminated. By constant reiteration, constantly preaching enormity with which carelessness is recognized in the eyes of both law and society, we may be able to get the message home to some of these potential destroyers before they embark on a career of destruction.

You may have them in your own home—in your neighborhood—wherever they are you should reach them with a warning message before it is too late—the message that only carefulness and respect for the rights of others pays worthwhile dividends.—Ionia Co. News.

CHRISTMAS CARD RACKET

Right at this time of the year residents of many cities are receiving boxes of Christmas cards which they have not ordered, yet which manufacturers hope will be paid for. This is in line with the now obsolete practice of sending ties in a similar manner, a plan that was so thoroughly exposed by the country newspapers that the concerns backing it went bankrupt. There is no obligation on the part of a person receiving this unordered merchandise. It need not be paid for and it need not be returned. If an authorized agent calls for it, the package may be turned over to the agent but it is perfectly proper to place a storage charge against the merchandise. There is no better way of eliminating this practice than by refusing to assist in its development. The merchandise is seldom worth the price asked as the margin of profit must necessarily be great because of the unreturned goods.—Exchange.

SMALL TOWNS ATTRACTING INDUSTRIES FROM CITIES

Electricity is giving every town an opportunity to become a city. In the past, great industrial concerns have been forced to locate in the congested centers of population because of the necessity of readily available power.

The development of interconnected electric systems and the consequent decrease in small, local plants is rapidly creating exchange. Now thousands of towns receive the same high grade service, at the same low rates, that is provided in great cities. And many of them are gradually coming into prominence as industrial centers.

The small town can offer the advantages of unlimited space, reliable labor and pleasant living and working conditions that the great city lacks. And with the adjunct of plentiful, cheap power, it can make an almost irresistible appeal to all manner of industries.

It is safe to say that many of the great industrial localities of the future will be towns that today are little more than names on the map. Electric power has given rural America a glimpse of new vistas of social and industrial progress and prosperity.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED DURING PAST 75 YEARS

Older residents around Cass City will be interested in having their attention called to "red flannel" days. These are brought vividly to mind by the reprinting of this little item from an exchange printed in a nearby town:

"Red flannel to the amount of ten yards was bought April 10, 1854, by one of our early citizens, according to an old account book which came to light here a few days ago. In the same year, according to entries in the old account book, eggs were 8c a dozen; shoes averaged $1.50 a pair, and brooms sold at 25c each. But coffee sold for 50c a pound and tea at $1 a pound. Candles, gunpowder, furcaps and whalebone for dress stays were listed as necessities, while not in the entire book is there any indication that silk stockings were worn or that lipsticks and lotions met with a ready sale. How times have changed—and how a lot of us are still left wondering if the change finds the human race any happier."

The amount of knowledge possessed by a college senior, is only equalled by the amount he can forget during the year after graduation.

RECORDS BETTERED IN PULLING CONTESTS

Michigan Teams Keep Scorers Busy in Battles Staged at County Fairs.

The state record in horse pulling contests for both heavyweight and lightweight teams has been broken several times in the contests held at 15 county fairs which were supervised by members of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College.

The record at the beginning of the year was held by the team owned by J. F. Gohr, Lansing, which pulled 3200 pounds. This record, in the heavyweight class, was broken by a pull of 3275 pounds made at the Ionia fair by a team owned by George Abbott, Ellwell.

This record held one day less than a month and was raised to 3300 pounds at the Saginaw Fair by horses owned by R. F. Langley, Flint. The Gohr team went out and got their record back by pulling 3225 pounds at Marshall.

Records in the lightweight class were broken by teams owned by the Hall Orchard, Belding, and by Peter Horn, Charlotte. The Horn team now holds the record at 2925 pounds.

The three heavyweight teams which have broken records this year will compete at Michigan State College during Farmers Week, Feb. 3-7. An attempt will be made to better the world's record pull of 3500 pounds.

All pulls are made on a machine which measures exactly the amount of energy expended by the horses and the pull made is equal to lifting the same number of pounds vertically.

WINS FROM VASSAR, TIES BROWN CITY

scored the extra point on a place kick. Score, Cass City 7, Brown City 0.

Brown City received and punted after being held for downs. The locals carried the ball past midfield but a backfield fumble gave the ball to the Sanilac squad. The half ended with the ball in midfield and Brown City in possession.

The second half, a much improved Brown City team constantly threatened the maroon goal and after being repulsed time and again, crossed the double stripe with but two minutes to play. Youngblood added the point with a place kick. Score, Cass City 7, Brown City 7.

Cass City received and carried the ball to mid-field only to lose it on another fumble. With but one-half minute to go, a place kick fell short and the game ended.

The team showed much improvement in the short flashes of offense but the concentrated drive so necessary for scoring is still lacking. Defensively, the team was ragged, and must continue to improve if any hope is maintained of beating Harbor Beach, Bad Axe and Sebawaing.

The locals play Vassar here Wednesday in a game that will have a bearing on county honors. Should the locals defeat Vassar, a tie is assured with Caro for county title.

COUNTY SOLONS BUSY IN FALL SESSION

Concluded from first page.

Supervisors from Dayton, Elkland, Fremont, Kingston, Koyton, Novesta and Watertown townships voted "no." This road connects the gravel road running west from Unionville with the gravel road running south from Wisner.

Supervisors Benkelman, Whittenberg and Macomber were appointed as a committee to represent the board at the meeting of the East Michigan Tourist Association at Bay City Thursday.

On Oct. 21, the report of the board of road commissioners was presented. The report showed the total receipts including the balance on hand the first of the year to be $335,444.83. The disbursements were $188,867.65 and the balance on hand July 1 was $146,577.18. Included in this report was the recommendation that the salaries of the county road commissioners be fixed at $1,000 per annum inasmuch as the duties of the members have so much increased that it is necessary for them to meet at least twice a week and oftener when conditions require.

B. H. McComb, county commissioner of schools, gave a fine address to the supervisors on October 16, and also gave an explanation regarding the working of the Turner bill. He advised the appointment of a committee from the board to act with the commissioner in trying to secure an appropriation from the Senator Cousens fund for dental work for school children in the county.

The same day Conrad Mueller, county drain commissioner, submitted a detailed report regarding the activities in his department during the past year. Mr. Mueller named the following drains as uncompleted a year ago and which have been finished during the year just closed: Himkley, Calkins, Hawkins, Gibson, Wilnot, Cleaning and Blackmer drains. Since last fall, the following drains have been let: Riley drain in Wells township, Gowing Extension drain in Novesta, Richville and Branches drain in Denmark and Juniata, Baron and Branches drain in Elkland and Grant, Kaven drain in Akron and Columbia, Case drain in Millington, Glaspie and Branch drain in Novesta, Lotter drain in Denmark, Cheboygan Creek drain, Barker-McPherson drain in Arbela, Stewart drain in Kingston, Birch Run Outlet drain and Half Moon drain. Figures giving the estimated cost of the several drains were contained in the report.

Mr. Mueller make the request for an extra clerk for his office. The board authorized him to secure extra help in his offices when it became necessary, the amount of salary to be paid being referred to the committee on county officers' salaries.

The following estimate of the amount of money to be raised by taxation for county purposes was submitted by County Clerk Ormes and County Treasurer McDurmon:

Births and deaths.....	$1000.00

This estimate was referred to the committee on ways and means. Last year the estimate totalled $112,700.00. The board at that time made the county tax $100,412.69, the same amount as was raised for state tax in the county in 1928.

At the Oct. 17 session, the inspectors of jails submitted their report. This report was dated Sept. 26. The five inspectors of the jail are Guy G. Hill, judge of probate, M. J. Stephens, county agent, and W. J. Kirk, Chas. Frenzel and Robt. Brown, superintendents of the poor.

Supervisor Dillon gave a review of the tax meetings at Lansing in July and August and commented on the good the committee had done in decreasing the assessed valuation of the county.

J. B. Higgs, D. V. M., of Caro made application for the appointment of county veterinarian.

D. B. Jewell, county agricultural agent, gave a verbal report of the activities of the county agent's department during the past year. Among the work accomplished, Mr. Jewell named the following: Six thousand two hundred seventy-two copies of 67 circular letters mailed to residents of the county, 64 articles published in newspapers, 26 Federal questionnaires answered, 216.2 days spent in field and 74.8 days in office, office calls 2, 124, letters written 888, farm visits 812, leader meetings 39, project and other meetings 183, attendance at projects 7,834, specialists from M. Civil War Veteran Dead—Benjamin Franklin Parker, an old and highly respected citizen of Grant township, died Monday, Oct. 14, 1929, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jay Andrews, where he has made his home the past seven years. He was 89 years, 8 months and 10 days old. Benjamin F. Parker was born at Stoney Creek, Canada, on Mar. 4, 1840, came to Michigan in 1867 and settled in Van Buren County. He went to the call of his country and served four years and eight months. Shortly after his return, he was united in marriage to Miss Emma Feezel. One daughter was born to this union. His wife died after they were married 1 1/2 years. In 1869, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary McIntyre. To this union were born seven children, twins dying in infancy. He leaves to mourn their loss, three daughters, Mrs. Lewis Cummings of Brookfield, Mrs. Harry Hall of Flint, Mrs. Jay Andrews of Grant; two sons, Thomas of Flint and Silas of Pontiac; 24 grandchildren, 19 great grand and two great great grandchildren, besides a host of other relatives and friends. His wife preceded him in death 14 years ago and his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Walsh, three years ago. He was again united in marriage to Mrs. Sarah Rathbun in February, 1921, and she died in May, 1921. He united with the Re-organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints some years ago and has been a true and faithful member ever since. Funeral services were held at the Canboro L. D. S. church on Thursday, Oct. 17. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Rev. Myron Carr of Jeddo preached the funeral sermon and he was laid to rest in the Grant cemetery. His four grandsons were pallbearers, Ervin and Harlan Andrews, Archie Walsh and Jerry Stickly. A military service was also given. ## OUT OF WORK.

Shortage of work in some of the factories in Port Huron and Detroit is resulting in an influx of Mexicans to this part of Michigan, all hoping that they can secure employment in the beet fields. There are plenty of workers who have been here all summer and the invaders are not securing any work. It seems that they have been advised when let out that the chances are good for them up this way and the result is that a large number of the swarthy race are stranded here without funds or food.—Croswell Jeffersonian.

In Five MILLION HOMES TONIGHT

There are times when all a mother's love can't soothe a fretful baby. No way of telling just what's wrong, yet something must be done. Castoria time! A few drops, and Baby has dropped off to sleep. Yet this marvelous means of quieting a restless infant is utterly harmless. There is not one ingredient but what all doctors know and approve, and would let you give your baby every day in the week. In fact Castoria is a purely vegetable product. Gas pains, constipation, even diarrhea can be dispelled in this same manner. Castoria is older than you are, but physicians still say "nothing better for babies." An old-fashioned remedy if you count its years, but parents are old-fashioned who still raise babies without its aid! And at least five million modern mothers keep it handy day and night, for twenty-five million bottles were bought last year! Buy yours now; don't wait until you need it.

The deed is in a good state of preservation and the writing is easily legible. Mr. King homesteaded the land as a young man. For about 20 years. Mr. King was engaged in the furniture and undertaking business in Harbor Beach. He retired 30 years ago.

KINDERGARTEN BUSY ON HALLOWE'N DECORATIONS

It takes us a little longer to color and cut out pumpkins and decorations than some of the older children, but we are very careful workers and are trying hard to do things nicely.

We should be proud to have anyone come to visit our room and see the posters and pumpkins we have made for Halloween.

We have made some very bright, pretty and comfortable chair cushions, which we find very useful. We expect to make a Hat and Art Shop soon, in which we can display some of our best accomplishments.

Our Barber Shop is still going over-time and furnishing much pleasure as well as influencing all to be clean and tidy.

Black cats, squirrels and goblins are walking the hand made fence on our poster-board. The old witch is riding her broom over the moon, and pumpkins are rolling down hill. All these things help to keep us happy and busy just now.

We had an average attendance last month of 99% and only one tardy mark. Our arithmetic class has been divided into five groups. Watch for further reports to see who wins in the race.

The geography class is enjoying the journeys into distant lands. Our hygiene students have taken out their first papers and expect soon to know all the rules of health so that they may become citizens of the Land of Health.

Ivan O'Connor won our spelling contest last Friday.

FIFTH GRADE PREPARING HALLOWE'N PLAY

We have begun our fifth year cruise with a crew of thirty. One sailor left us early in the voyage but the remaining crew has been aboard every day. One or two have the habit of appearing late but up to this time we have the highest attendance percentage. Next month we hope to reduce the tardy marks that they may correspond with our attendance percentage.

At present we are touring South America. Most of our trip is by boat. We are hoping to have a South American village in our room upon the completion of this trip.

We appreciate the new hygiene chart we have the privilege of using. The illustrations and pictures enliven our work considerably. We have had three visitors this month.

The A class is decorating the room and planning a play for Halloween. Much vim has been put into its production. Witches, ghosts, and the wisest of the wise owls will make their appearance.

ART PUPILS DO FINE WORK IN ILLUSTRATION

The grades have been doing some very fine work in cut paper and free hand illustration. Each pupil has made a portfolio in which he keeps all his drawings. At the close of the school year these portfolios will be taken home.

The first year art class has done two problems in cut paper and have learned to cut the alphabet. Using this knowledge each one made a poster for the junior play. They have also helped paint the programs for the play.

Their next problem will be to make a color chart, showing primary, secondary and intermediate colors.

The applied art class have made some very clever soap carvings. They have also done some lovely wall hangings and holders with crayon on muslin and will continue their work with a problem in block printing.

FOOD CLASS WORKS ON BREAKFAST UNIT

The seventh grade Home Economics class only meets twice a week so not very much work can be accomplished. The girls have hemmed towels for practice in hemming, and machine sewing, and have been working on their aprons which they will later use in the Foods Laboratory.

The 9th and 10th Grade Food Class have done quite a bit of canning, preserving and some pickling. They have been working on the breakfast unit and next week we hope to round up the breakfast unit by serving a breakfast.

In the advanced class the girls do not all do the same work. Some have made aprons, holders and headbands. Others pajamas, smocks, or make over dresses. Much time has been spent on costume designing. Now they are studying the textile fibers to get a background for suitable selection and care of clothes. They are commencing their wool dresses.

The English 10 classes are beginning the study of the "Prisoner of Chillon" by Byron in which he shows his hatred of unjust oppression which was one of the redeeming qualities of a generally vicious and profligate life.

NEW BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY'S FICTION DEPT.

The fiction section of the library was enlarged by a number of books which Dr. Young purchased and then sold to the school at a mere fraction of their value. The books were very much welcomed as the library is in great need of books.

The Latin II class is reading an interesting old legend of Hercules and his twelve labors. The subject and characters of this story occur often in literature and out.

30 PUPILS IN BOOKKEEPING CLASS

The Commercial Department has four new typewriters this year, making a total of ten in the department. There are thirty-nine taking beginning typewriting and six people are doing advanced work in the subject.

There are thirty in the bookkeeping class and twenty-one in the shorthand class.

The Commercial Club is planning to resume work with a lot of new recruits. Any student who is taking shorthand, typewriting or bookkeeping is invited to join this Club. Its purpose is to increase interest in commercial subjects, to give the students practice in the rules of Parliamentary Law, and to promote social activities. It also sponsors the various shorthand and typewriting contests that are held in the spring.

There is one to be held in Cass City this year, the District contest to be held at Midland and the state contest to be held at Kalamazoo.

The eighth arithmetic class is doing work in sections and townships and in measuring areas by drawing to scale.

The seventh geography are finishing the study of Europe and will study Asia as the next unit of work.

H. S. GIRLS' GLEE CLUB SHOWS RAPID PROGRESS

The grades are all progressing very well along musical lines but the sixth grade deserves special mention for the high quality of their work. They read at sight more readily and harmonize on two part songs very much more accurately than the average group.

In high school the girls' glee club have been studying the fundamentals of music and doing sight reading with and without syllables. They will make a public appearance very soon as they are showing rapid progress and very unusual talent.

Boys' glee club has been delayed a little on account of the lack of music but if the present state of affairs is any indication of future accomplishment we're going to have one of the best boys' glee clubs in the Thumb.

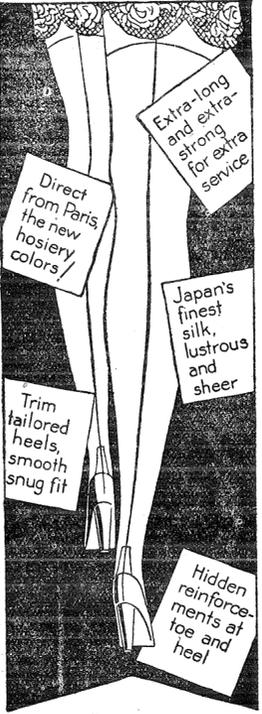

The orchestra is to be composed entirely of string instruments this year. We hope to have a band in the near future which will use the cornets to better advantage than the orchestra. All we want to say about the orchestra is we believe we're going to surprise everyone. Watch us and see if we don't!

HELEN DOERR PRESIDENT OF SIXTH GRADE

Our new officers are president, Helen Doerr; secretary, Millicent Graham; librarian, Margaret Merchant; Room officials, Thomas Hennessey and Fay McComb; room guard, Dorothy Holcomb; and hall guards, Betty Pimney and Donald McLachlan.

Our percentage of attendance for September was 95.2.

The honor roll for September was made up of the following people, Millicent Graham; Dorothy Holcomb, Helen McComb, Patricia Pimney, Norris Stafford, Esther Turner and Cressy Steele.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I—In the usually quiet home of Rev. Mr. Tolliver, Methodist minister in the small town of Red Thrush, Iowa, his motherless daughters, Helen, Miriam, and Ellen—“Ginger Ella”—are busy “grooming” their sister Marjory for participation in the “beauty pageant” that evening. With Eddy Jackson, prosperous young farmer, her escort, Marjory leaves for the anticipated triumph.

CHAPTER II—Overwork and nervous strain attendant on the building of a new church to replace the old, worn structure has affected Mr. Tolliver's eyes to the point of threatened blindness, and he is forbidden to use them, though continuing to occupy his pulpit. Ginger has tried in many ways to add to the family's slender income, but she is not discouraged. Marjory, with Eddy Jackson and a friend he introduces as Tub Andrews, returns in triumph, acknowledged prize beauty, and with fifty dollars in gold, the chief prize. She gives the money to her father as part of the expense necessary for the treatment of his eyes by Chicago specialists.

CHAPTER III—With Miriam, Mr. Tolliver leaves for Chicago. Eddy Jackson brings another friend, Alexander Murdoch, who he says has just returned from a tour of the world, to the parsonage. Ginger, whose heart is set on her two sisters making rich marriages (Helen is engaged to a professor of mathematics, Horace Langley, poor in the world's goods), is at first elated, but becomes chilled at the announcement that Murdoch is working in a “chain” grocery store. Obviously no “catch,” Ginger thinks, and snubs him. Mr. Tolliver returns, his eyes unimproved and the doctors giving him little hope.

CHAPTER IV—Marjory unwittingly gives Ginger a “check” for $500, which she will fill the parsonage treasury. She pens an appeal, in the form of a chain letter, for the blind, and a dime for a “Parsonage Home for the Blind,” which she signs “E. Tolliver, Treasurer,” and sends to three women whose names she had seen in a newspaper, in other towns, urging them to continue the chain. She gets results at once and feels her problem is solved, quieting unacceptable thoughts as to the propriety of her act by reasoning that her appeal really is for a home for the blind, her father. Helen is married, and leaves the parsonage.

“Miriam will have to go with father. Remember—I have my own personal business to look after at home.”

“Oh, is that the way of it? Well, Miriam then—anybody. And the rest of you must come out and visit very often to keep him from getting lonesome. I wonder we didn't think of this before. Why, it is just the thing all the way around. It will tickle mother to have some one around for her to make a fuss over, and your father—You see, Ginger, when he is at home, he can't rest. He lives every minute five times over, once for himself, and once for each of you girls. Oh, there are only three of you now. But there's the Jenky. And when you want things he can't afford, it simply makes him sick. And when the bills come in, and he hasn't the money! Rest? How could any man rest! Get him away from it, that's the ticket.”

“Oh, Eddy!” Ginger was spellbound at the depth of his understanding. “Isn't it too bad you haven't got a family of your own? Why you'd be perfectly wonderful with children—just like father.”

So Eddy, with some reluctance, turned the car back from the pleasant lanes, and went into consultation with Marjory and Miss Jenkins.

“I asked Ginger to come out with her father,” he said frankly, “for she looks pale and tired, and I thought the change might do her good. But she says Miriam. Ginger has affairs of her own which require her continued presence in the city—at least, she says so, though she did not take me into her confidence. At any rate, I shall make arrangements for Miriam and your father at Pay Dirt.”

“And Ginger—and the rest of us—will come and visit,” promised Marjory, with a sly smile for the young man. But she added, with great seriousness, “Eddy, I think you are a dear good boy. You are so sympathetic and so generous it simply isn't fair, it leads us to expect too much of human nature.”

“And it will be the best thing in the world for father,” interpolated Ginger proudly. “And something we can well afford—since it doesn't cost anything.”

“Eddy, believe me,” added Miss Jenkins almost tearfully, “you shall have your reward for the good you are doing.”

“Well,” he said facetiously, “I hope the reward happens to be the thing I want. The worst thing about rewards is that they are usually just what you want least.”

“What do you want especially?” demanded Ginger, her thoughts flying to the future affluence attendant upon her home for the blind.

“Something that I dare say will disagree with me if I ever get it,” he replied, laughing. “But I want it.”

“Don't eat anything that will give you indigestion,” she continued. “I had it after the strawberry festival. It's terrible.”

Quietly then they ma

for their father's return. Eddy promised to go that same day to Joplin Westbury, treasurer of the official board of the Methodist Episcopal church at Red Thrush, trustee, steward, and vice chairman, to ask for a month's vacation for Mr. Tolliver, to take effect the following Saturday. This would allow a full month after his return for winding up affairs in the old church before the formal dedication of the new.

When Eddy broached the subject to Joplin Westbury, that influential man acquiesced with an alacrity which rather disconcerted than pleased him. He was prepared for arguments, expostulations, complaints about expenses. Instead of this Joplin Westbury listened gravely, with his shrewd eyes reflectively narrowed, nodding his head in tacit agreement. Indeed, there was something very much akin to relief in his manner.

Only one minor detail he wished altered. Mr. Tolliver needed more than a mere four weeks of rest, he must have eight weeks—his vacation must continue until the formal dedication of the church.

“We've got things well in hand, now, and what's left can wait until we've moved over. If a little rest will do him good, a big rest will do more. And that will bring us up nearly to the fall conference, and if he is well, why, good. And if not—why, there's no harm done.”

A somewhat cryptic remark, but when Eddy Jackson asked for explanation, Joplin Westbury was non-committal.

“Oh, nothing—nothing at all. But it's good to be prepared for any possible emergencies—both in the church—and out.”

Joplin Westbury was as good as his word. He had the district superintendent on the long-distance telephone by nine o'clock the next morning, and upon statement of their needs, was gratified by a piece of rare good fortune. The superintendent had at his disposal a brilliant young minister, a graduate of Drew Theological seminary, who had just returned from a year's special study in England, and was even now awaiting the convening of the conference for his assignment. The practice in active ministry would be a very fine thing for him, and he could be secured at a nominal figure.

In the meantime, Mrs. Westbury had telephoned the members of the board, announcing a special meeting to be held that evening, which was a mere matter of routine to legalize the arrangement, for Joplin Westbury had already sent a telegram to Hiram Buckworth, stating the details of his proposition, and had received an acceptance that very afternoon. Hiram Buckworth promised to arrive in Red Thrush on the afternoon train, on Saturday, ready to officiate on the Sabbath, and requested them to arrange for his room and board in Red Thrush, with the parsonage family, if possible.

Joplin Westbury considered this a particularly lucky stroke, and reported his success to Eddy Jackson with great gusto. Eddy hastened to announce his progress to the girls at the parsonage.

“You see, by boarding this Buckworth chap, you can pay all of your expenses in the parsonage. Mr. Tolliver and Miriam are company at Pay Dirt, so that you can save the whole two months' salary to pay for his treatments in Chicago.”

“I wish Helen were here,” said Marjory. “Why, I will have to sort of—be the head of the house myself—and I am not used to having ministers around—except father. But you are quite right. We must do what we can, and we shall take Mr. Buckworth gladly. What can we charge him?”

“We are to pay him fifteen dollars a week. I think ten of that could go for his room and board.”

“That would leave him but five dollars a week for laundry, and collections, and—”

“We can do his laundry with ours,” interrupted Ginger. “And I dare say he doesn't tittle as father does—if isn't as fashionable as it used to be. And we can't run the house on less than ten a week.”

“Well, ten a week then. And if he objects, we'll come down to eight. He can have father's room, with the books—Miss Jenkins, you'll have to tell him about the money, and the laundry, and everything. I simply couldn't do it.”

On Friday afternoon, Miriam returned with her father just in time for supper, a supper that was a banquet, for many of the kindly members, knowing of the plan for his enforced vacation, had conspired to make his last dinner at home one to be remembered. There were baskets of fruit and flowers, fine candies, fragrant home-baked rolls and pastries, rich preserves and delicate jellies, pats of country butter and jars of cream, chickens all ready for broiling.

They were still at the table, merrily recounting the news of the week, the doings of the church, the letters from Helen, when Joplin Westbury came, or rather, was delivered in person, by Eddy Jackson. Joplin Westbury, clearing his throat in best treasurer-of-the-board manner, announced that on behalf of the church he came to present his beloved minister with a two months' vacation on full pay, in order to restore his strength for the great day of the formal dedication.

responsibility for a while, but I simply did not see how it could be done. I should not have asked it, I assure you. It is most generous, Joplin, most generous. Girls, I see the hand of the Lord in this.”

“I see the hand of Eddy Jackson,” thought Ginger Ella to herself, but not for the world would she have marred her father's pious gratitude with the voicing of her irreverent thought.

But Joplin Westbury, in spite of the good gift he had brought, seemed ill at ease and awkward, chafing under the united thanks of the innocent family, and hurriedly took himself off. When he had gone, Eddy extended the invitation, for himself and his mother, for Mr. Tolliver and Miriam to come to Pay Dirt.

They spent the evening talking together quietly, every seemingly light word overlaying an undercurrent of deep and glad thanksgiving, and then Miriam led her father out to the waiting car, the other girls trooping noisily with them for a last good-by.

“Now you see, my dear little girls, and try to remember, that things do work together for good,” he said, smiling.

“Yes,” whispered Eddy Jackson to Ginger, “but just the same, I wish you'd scout around among the members, and see if there's something underhand going on. I don't like the looks of old Jop. Ordinarily, he just loves to play Heaven, but tonight he was all fussed up. Between you and me, I think there's something rotten in Red Thrush.”

It is put up under the name Thoxine and is guaranteed to stop coughs and relieve sore throats in 15 minutes or your money will be refunded. Singers and speakers find Thoxine very valuable.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that while it relieves almost instantly, it contains nothing harmful, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Ask for Thoxine 35c., 60c. and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Burke's and all other good drug stores.—Advertisement 1
