

SOILS FIELD DAY HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Will Be Held at the John Reagh Farm, Two Miles West of Cass City.

Soils field day will be held at the John Reagh farm two miles west of Cass City on Tuesday, July 15, at 1:30 p. m. This is a new demonstration farm, and the work is being carried on co-operatively by the Soils Department of Michigan State College, the Agricultural Extension Service of Tuscola County, and the Tennessee Copper and Chemical Co. This is the first year of the work which is to continue for at least five years.

The fertilizers are applied on all crops, with check plots where no fertilizer is used. Different kinds of fertilizers are used. This is a farm which has not used fertilizer heavily in the past. It is expected to show which fertilizers are best for the various crops, and the place of commercial fertilizers in building up a farm.

Farmers, fertilizer dealers, and in fact any one interested are invited to attend. Specialists will be present to explain and discuss the various crops. Beans, beets, wheat, oats and barley all show interesting results.

HURON CITY CHURCH RE-DEDICATED SUNDAY

Audience of 1,000 Attended Ceremony in Fine New Edifice on Lake Shore.

An audience of 1,000 witnessed the re-dedication of the Huron City church Sunday afternoon, which was recently remodeled and enlarged. It presents an attractive appearance and the increased seating capacity makes it possible to care for the large summer congregations advantageously.

Prof. William Lyon Phelps delivered the sermon at the service and Edgar A. Guest, Michigan's poet, read a poem written especially for the occasion. Rev. Dr. Peter F. Stair, district superintendent, conducted the dedication ceremony and was assisted by Prof. Phelps and Rev. Clifton W. Scott, pastor of the church.

Miss Thelma Allen of Bad Axe sang "Abide with Me" as a solo and Prof. Arthur Hague of Yale University presided at the organ.

Prof. Phelps discussed in his sermon the Christian religion as compared to the religion of nationalism.

Next Sunday, Mr. Phelps will speak on the subject, "Our Gain through Our Loss."

The following history of the church was written by Rev. Clifton W. Scott, the pastor. The halftone pictures of Prof. Phelps and the church are printed in the Chronicle through the courtesy of the Harbor Beach Times.

History of Church.

In September, 1857, the Rev. Wm. Tuttle, by the appointment of the Detroit annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, came as the first minister to the Port Hope circuit. Port Hope was then in its beginning. There was no communication with the outside save by steamboat, tote-tea and stage coach. The docks at Port Hope were built in 1858.

Port Hope circuit, as the Rev. Mr. Tuttle was soon able to arrange it, was composed of several appointments: Port Hope, Forest Bay, Gore, Pinebog, Port Austin, The Quarry (Grindstone City), Huron, Dwight, New River and Willow Creek, which was later called Huron City.

These appointments were chiefly at centers or stations of lumbering enterprise. With those who came to hew down the forest, Methodism came to build up the Kingdom of God. It was during that first year that the Rev. Mr. Tuttle effected the organization of a class at Willow Creek. This class or society was later known as the Huron City Methodist Episcopal church and has continued until this day.

The Rev. Manassah Hickey was the first presiding elder and the first class leader was A. J. Mathewson. From 1857 to 1882, the congregation worshipped in the Huron City school house. The society was not only small but was composed of struggling pioneers who had not an abundance of material means, but after worshipping so long in the school house, determined to build a church.

FRIENDSHIPS RENEWED AT HOLBROOK REUNION

Home Coming on July 4 Was Pronounced a Big Success.

(From Holbrook Correspondent).

More than 200 people came long distances to attend the Holbrook home coming on July 4 and spend a day with friends. Many had not met for 25 years until they greeted one another Friday. Among those coming from a long distance was Allen Barnes of Summerland, California, who is quite an old man in years, but who seems as spry as he was 20 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Swartz came from Cleveland and many were the Holbrookites from Detroit, Royal Oak, Birmingham, Belleville, Pontiac and Port Huron.

The program was enjoyed by all and the biggest laugh was the beauty contest with Clifford Jackson, Gus Moss and Charles Simkins as the beauties. A flag drill by girls was good and they gave their parts well. A reading by Miss Gladys Nicol was exceptionally well given. The calisthenic parade was headed by a colored band with Russell Simkins as bandmaster, Alex Cleland playing the cornet, and others following with various noisy instruments. The judges for this contest were John Jackson, James Hewitt and John Wright. Miss Liberty (Grace Davenport of Cass City) and Uncle Sam (Estella Simkins) won a large watermelon. In the married women's summer race, first prize, an adjustable mirror donated by David Corey of Uby, was won by Mrs. N. Simkins. Second and third prizes were won by two women from Pt. Huron. Other races were held for girls of various ages.

The baseball game between the married and single men was won by the singles. A prize of $4.00 was awarded to the winners and $2.00 to the losers.

PROTECT PEACHES BY PROPER SPRAY

Plan Work Soon as Shucks Split From Fruit.

Peach growers are planning to protect their crops from curculio and brown rot, by spraying as soon as the shucks split from the young fruits.

A spray mixture containing 1 pound of powdered lead arsenate, 12½ pounds of dry-mix sulphur lime and 50 gallons of water, is advised by A. Freeman Mason, specialist in fruit growing at the agricultural college, New Brunswick. The use of more than the recommended amount of lead arsenate may cause serious injury to foliage and twigs. This spray should be applied just as soon as the shuck covering the young fruit starts to split.

Delay until the shucks have completely fallen may give the curculio a chance to do considerable feeding or to lay eggs. On large acreages a mixture made up of 70 pounds of sulphur, 10 pounds of lead arsenate, and 20 pounds of hydrated lime (70-10-20 mixture) applied as a dust with a blower is cheaper, and just as effective as a liquid spray. A well-grown, mature peach tree will require about one-third to one-half pound of dust material per tree.

Brown rot occurs as a soft brown rotten spot on the fruit. It spreads rapidly over the surface and to other peaches. Only a protective covering of spray can prevent this.

Oriental peach moth is an additional hazard that confronts the peach grower. Where the moth has been serious, the experiment station is tentatively recommending the application of 40 per cent nicotine sulphate in this shuck-fall spray. It is used at the rate of one-half pint to fifty gallons of spray material. Care must be taken to coat the undersides of the leaves, where eggs will be found.

Guy Wire as Permanent Brace for Fruit Trees

Unusual storms, many of them carrying sleet, have wrought untold damage to all tree life throughout the eastern states during the last of the year 1929. Thousands of trees have been lost entirely, while still more have been damaged to more or less extent. Fruit trees have probably suffered most from a commercial standpoint, although sleet is no respecter of persons.

Many of the trees that have been split and left in a weakened condition can be saved by proper yet simple means of bracing one branch to another, avoiding the use of props. Guy wires may be placed in trees of all sizes, but the size of wire used should be determined by the size of the tree to be braced. In fruit trees of small size, galvanized telephone wire is large enough. Trees over seven inches at the butt, one foot from the ground, should have the same size wire doubled, large apple trees and other large trees should have either quarter-inch galvanized strand cable or the larger five-sixteenths cable.

Black Mold Rots Occur on Cold Storage Fruit

Black mold rots most commonly found are caused by fungi of alternaria and rhizopus nigricaps. The former, very common in cellar or common storage, also occurs on both apples and pears in cold storage. It follows apple scald or calyx injury and stem punctures, or it may be a core rot. It is firm in texture and very similar in appearance to green mold, except that exposed fungous growth is black or greenish black in color. Since it makes its best growth at 60 degrees or more and grows but slowly at cold storage temperatures, one of the best means of preventing it is to place fruit in cold storage as quickly as possible.

Horticultural Hints

Strawberries should not be allowed to make a solid mat over the ground. They should be kept in wide rows.

Do not prune too much in one place but distribute the cutting here and there over the tree, and do not cut any large limbs.

Red or pink raspberries for home use give best results when grown in hills and tied to stakes. When grown in this way they can be easily kept within bounds and the grass and weeds under control.

Wrappings of newspaper, burlap, or non-tarred building paper may be used on fruit trees to furnish protection against rodents.

The thrifty housewife has long known the savings made when fruits are grown at home. It is most satisfying as well as economical.

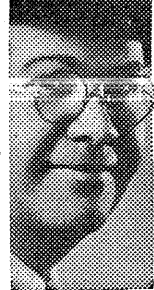

Sprays containing 2 per cent actual oil have given good results in eastern United States, while investigators in the West recommend not less than 4 per cent oil.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Funk and Roy Courless spent the Fourth with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Osburn at Marlette and on Sunday entertained at their home Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Parrish and

"Bob, if you and your gang would catch some of the historical values out of your Sunday school lessons instead of just spending your time arguing some minor point for the sake of argument, things would look much different to you. Why take this fact alone, boy, pretty much our whole modern attitude toward women, and that means to us our attitude toward mother, is the result of the tremendous efforts of this church which has from its beginning championed women and motherhood and any boy who is not too old to feel a love for his own mother, is not too old to support an institution that is making life more worthwhile for mothers all over the world."

"And Bob, going to college? Sure if you're ever going to be a senator. But, say, where did the colleges get their start? Did you know that Harvard was founded by a Christian minister? Yale was founded by a group of Christian ministers and supported by the church largely for many years. Fully a quarter of a million of college students in America today are attending schools founded and developed and supported by this 'dying church.' Sort of surprises you doesn't it, boy?"

"Well, another thing to remember, boy, is that the church of today is quite unlike the church of yesterday and very likely the church of tomorrow will be different again. Change and progress are always at work. We know a great deal more in every realm of thought today than even a hundred years ago, and just as rapidly as folks with their prejudice and deep ingrained convictions will allow it to happen, the church, too, will adjust her thinking and teaching to the best that is known by men. Keep in mind as you consider your attitude toward the church that religion is neither apart from life nor a part of life but life itself, lived at its very best. Any agency that devotes itself to such a task cannot die, it can only re-adjust and re-adapt itself to new times and new conditions. So don't be a 'wise guy' my boy, and try to blow out the moon!"

"The best of men in all times, men of world travel and very large experience have supported and do still support the church at work with their personal allegiance and their time and their money. Hand me that 'Life of Roosevelt' there, I marked a passage in it not so very long ago. Here it is: 'I think it is the duty of every man to go to church. Frequently I have to listen to sermons that bore me, but the church has contributed so enormously to civilization; its service to society is so great that irrespective of all other considerations I feel I ought to support it and to attend whenever I can.'

"There you are, old boy, and such argument might be presented on and on and on.

Plan Abundant Supply of Roughages for Winter

The shortage of good roughage during the past winter should insure an abundant supply of this type of dairy feed during the future. Sometimes we need a real shortage in order to impress upon us the value of roughage as an essential part of the dairy cow's ration. As a matter of fact, roughage should form the basic part of the ration, with enough concentrated feeds being used to supplement the roughage from the standpoint of total nutrients and protein needed.

If sufficient alfalfa and clover hay is not in sight to meet the needs of the cattle during the coming winter, we would suggest that soy beans be given consideration. Soy beans are an annual. They may be cut for hay or they may be threshed and used as a protein supplement. They will grow on land that is more acid than will clover or alfalfa. However, they will respond well to lime. The seed should be inoculated to give the best results in most cases.

Physical Condition of Cow at Time of Calving

The physical condition of the cow at the time of freshening has a direct relation to the milk production for the entire lactation period, according to Doctor Eckles. Experience shows that if a cow freshens in poor physical condition as a result of having been fed poor rations for a period preceding, she starts considerably below her normal level of milk production and no amount of care in feeding and management will later bring her up to the level she should have reached had she been in proper condition.

Pasture Food Value

More food value per acre is obtained from pastures when they are not grazed too early or too closely. Early pastures, even though they are bulky, supply an abundance of protein. For dairy cows such pastures should be supplemented by highly carbonaceous concentrates such as corn, kafir or barley. Grain should be fed at the rate of one pound to each five or six pounds of milk produced when the cows are on good pasture.

The use of a safety bull pen for confining the herd sire is frequently the only feasible means of retaining a valuable animal and at the same time remove all danger of injuries or death to the owner of the animal, according to county agricultural agent, D. B. Jewell.

To show how easily and cheaply one of these pens can be built the county agent has arranged to have agricultural engineering specialists from Michigan State construct one on the farm of Walter Heckroth, Unionville (1 mile west and 1 mile south), on July 16, 9:30 a. m. and at the James Kirk farm, Fairgrove (1 mile south), on July 16, 2:00 p. m.

The worth of a herd sire can not be determined until some of his heifers have freshened. By that time, the average bull is a potential menace to the life of the person handling him. The safety bull pen permits the animal to get sufficient exercise and at the same time is so constructed that no one has to be in the same pen with the animal at any time.

A safety bull pen can be built in one day by two men and the cost of construction is low. Any farmer can build one after seeing the one constructed at the Heckroth or Kirk farm.

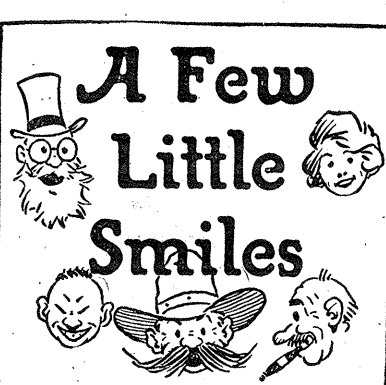

Specialists in dairy husbandry from State College will be present at the meeting to be held at the time the pen is built. The importance of the herd sire in increasing the production of the dairy herd will be discussed.

Eel's Second "Heart"

Weather Report. Continued dry. (Bootlegger died).

With the high cost of hootch and fines for speeding, going on a bender can hardly be classed as a good investment.

Whether you have one horse or a hundred Wayne Horse Feed is the right feed. They work better because they feel better.

We like to have you come in to our place of business. And we hope you like to come in.

It isn't what you make. It's what you save. Just now you can save on coal. Order for summer delivery. We can get your winter's supply in now and it will cost you less.

In every organization you find about two doing the work and the rest doing the talking.

You can't feed a hen a milkshake and get a scrambled egg, nor feed hot water and get a hard boiled egg. But that doesn't mean that what you feed doesn't have anything to do with it. Wayne Buttermilk Egg Mash means more eggs every time.

You don't buy coal for ornamental purposes. We don't claim that Cavalier coal is particularly pretty. But we do claim it's full of heat, and that's what you're interested in.

Attorney: "Doctor, you claim to know all about concussion of the brain. If Mr. Smith and I collided and banged our heads together, could we get concussion of the brain?"

Witness: "Mr. Smith might."

Take advantage of our special price on Wayne Buttermilk Grower next week.

They call the baby "Ivy" because she crawls all over the house.

Beginning July 14, we will start our weekly 10% off special on Wayne Buttermilk Grower, the feed that everyone that has pullets needs. The regular price on this feed will be $3.10, but you can buy it next week for $2.79 per hundred.

Statements You'll Never Hear.

Herb Lenzner: "If we didn't have so many advertisements in the Chronicle, we could arrange for more news material."

Every week from now on, we will offer you some item at 10% off regular price. Read "Grist Screenings" every week and take advantage of these special prices. The first special is Wayne Buttermilk Grower.

Every time you see a man climbing to success, you generally find a woman holding the ladder.

Wayne 16½% Dairy Feed is the best summer feed that we know of and the price is very low when the quality is considered.

Why is it that cattle always face the same way in the field, and horses usually face opposite? Ever notice?

Several of our good customers during our sale asked us why we didn't continue our sale prices. The main reason why we don't do this is because we can't afford to.

Who ever heard of young folks living on love and existing to tell the story? That isn't so much different from trying to make your pullets live on sunshine, grass and a little grain. Sure these pullets may live to tell the story, but it won't be a profitable story. Take advantage of our special on Wayne Buttermilk Grower next week and you will be well repaid later on.

The only sale we ever put on ended Saturday, July 5. In the four days of this sale, we sold nearly a car of Wayne Feeds at 10% off regular price, besides flour, cracked corn and other feeds.

"I like it because it makes my baked goods such a fine grain," a lady told us yesterday when she asked for another sack of Tuscola pastry flour.

You Have a Rich Uncle
Tired of Iraq
Mellon and Lord Chatham
Whiskers the Fashion

Secretary, Mellon, keeper of the public purse, announces a satisfactory financial year, and a surplus of $184,000,000 in Uncle Sam's pocket.

Mr. Mellon reduced by $740,000,000 the public debt, which now totals $16,185,000,000. Not much for such a rich country. Business might be better if bonds were not paid off so rapidly.

But Mr. Mellon probably knows best.

Several years ago, you remember, all the world was excited about mandates. France took one, England, absent-mindedly swallowing German colonies, took others, including Iraq. An effort was made to "wish" Turkey as a mandate on this long-suffering nation.

"Thanks to providence, we escaped that. To be Kemal's tutor would be a job.

Now England tells Iraq, in substance: "Go in peace, join the League of Nations, run yourself."

That blessed word, "Mesopotamia," ancient name for Iraq, has cost the British many millions of pounds.

All that Britain wants now is to keep, without expense, the right to "British imperial communications and air routes" through the territory of the Tigris and Euphrates.

Washington says Secretary Mellon will devote his vacation to teaching banking and corporation management to his son, Paul, back from a post-graduate course at Cambridge.

An attentive son can learn more from his father than from a thousand professors put together, if his father knows. And Mr. Mellon does know.

In a grave in Westminster abbey a father and son lie side by side—Pitt, who kept Napoleon out of England, and his father, the earl of Chatham.

Pitt, a delicate boy, was taught in youth by his father, and later studied statesmanship at his father's dinner table, listening to Chatham and other older men. He entered the house of commons, and was chancellor of the exchequer at twenty-two and prime minister at twenty-three.

If you plan a trip to London and want to look fashionable, let your beard grow in cave man fashion. Young Oxford men and the "young set" generally are doing that.

Britain decides that whiskers are necessary to celebrity; a man cannot look convincingly eminent clean shaven.

They overlook at least three—Alexander, Caesar and Napoleon. They were clean shaven and quite convincing.

Some, disturbed by depressed business, may find comfort in news that our "best" people are happy and gay as ever.

More of them are in Europe this year than last, more of them at desirable United States resorts, especially Bar Harbor and Newport.

All this you learn from the Social Register of New York, the real one, not the imitation registers that organized "to supply exclusiveness to the masses."

Williams, Boyd and Connor plan new deeds, having flown from New York to Bermuda and back, non-stop, in 17 hours and 1 minute, and Dorothy Hester, nineteen-year-old girl in Portland, Ore., does an "outside loop" after one year's flying. Three times, with two failures in five tries, the young western girl did what few men have ever done and no woman ever attempted.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley is dead in his eighty-sixth year. He rendered public service and proved the soundness of his theories on diet. He did not, however, equal the record of the famous Italian Cornaro. The latter specialized long ago in light eating. He lived to one hundred and four, in good health, and his wife, upon whom he urged his theories, lived past one hundred.

Mussolini adds $26,000,000, a large sum in Italy, to his annual military expenses. The people patriotically accept more taxation when Mussolini tells them he is "meeting the increasing military expenditures of neighbors," referring to the heavy French border guard.

A woman complains that Jugoslavians officials beat her brutally and frequently to get political confessions from her.

Poland exhausts her resources, keeping in futile readiness for what Russia may do. Only a match is needed in that situation.

The Russian newspaper Pravda urges Communists in America to "intensify their activities among negroes and workers of foreign nationality." The advice is not sound. Negroes and workers foreign born are usually willing to work for a living.

Lack of employment is the Communists' best friend, of course. But in ordinary times propaganda would be most effective among those that think the world owes them a living, with little or no work.

Horticultural News

TIME BIG FACTOR IN SPRAY VALUES

Catching Insect or Pest at Right Moment Important.

Time is an important element in application of spray to fruit trees. Orchards sprayed at the times and in the manner suggested by extension specialists of the Ohio State university yielded an average of 84.21 per cent fruit clean of insect and disease injury. In orchards which were checked, and where spraying recommendations were not followed, the highest percentage of clean fruit was 18.1 per cent.

Tests and checks on spraying were carried out in 13 counties of the state. In Athens county orchards where the spraying recommendations were carried out yielded 91.7 per cent clean fruit. Others, 18.1 per cent. In Clermont county, following the suggestions resulted in 89.4 per cent clean fruit where a check plot had only 2.1 per cent. In Cuyahoga county 93.7 per cent of the fruit was clean where the suggestions were closely followed, and 16 per cent where they were not followed. Orchards in Lake and Meigs counties, where recommendations were not followed, suffered 100 per cent injury to the fruit, while orchards in the same counties, under the spray schedule, produced fruit 99.8 per cent and 92.6 per cent clean, respectively. The average for all orchards where the recommendations were carried out, was 84.2 clean fruit.

Times for applying the spray with the maximum effect are determined by plant pathologists and entomologists, who study carefully the stage development of the insects and the diseases, and obtain special weather forecasts, then relay spray warnings by mail, telegraph, telephone and radio, to the growers.

Four New Varieties of

Grapes Are Satisfactory

Dr. Donald F. Jones, plant breeder of the Connecticut Agricultural experiment station mentions four new varieties of grapes that give particular satisfaction. He states that brocton is one of the sweetest, most tender and the juiciest green grapes that can be grown. It is rather weak in vine growth, but is productive in spite of this handicap. It has the advantage of being profitable, not only to the home owner who wishes it for his own table, but to the commercial grower who has a market for quality products.

The white portland is the very first grape to ripen and the bunches are good-sized and productive, though not so good to eat as the ontario, which follows about a week later. Nothing in its season compares with the deliciousness of the ontario.

In the fashion which makes grapes the most decorative of all fruit, the blue sherridan exceeds any others. Great, graceful bunches hang all over the vine, and they are richer than the concord. However, the sherridan is not so dependable for steady, year-after-year production. These varieties were developed at the New York agricultural experiment state in Geneva.

Irish Potatoes Produce

Satisfactory Intercrop

Like early cabbage, Irish potatoes may be grown as a satisfactory intercrop, demanding thorough cultivation and early fertilization, which should be entirely satisfactory to the fruit trees. Cultivation is discontinued early, and if the crop is harvested early, say during July, late tree growth should not be induced. If, for any reason, the potatoes are not harvested in early July, preferably, but during August, or still worse in early September, then such harvesting may cause the trees to make an extra spurt in growth and consequently subject them to serious injury by low temperatures during the winter.

Horticultural Facts

The red raspberry does not seem to respond beneficially to summer picking.

Slight bruises on fruit placed in storage may result in large losses from decay.

The pruning of the fruit trees can be done any time during the fall, winter or spring while the trees are dormant, except that pruning of bearing peach trees should be delayed until spring.

Bearing fruit trees require very little pruning and it is an easy matter to do a great deal of harm with too much pruning.

The adult female of San Jose scale is yellowish in color and is located beneath a waxy scale which it excretes as a protective covering.

Currants and gooseberries need less pruning than any of the other berries. The canes do not become useless after bearing a crop but will continue bear good crops for several years.

O'CONNELL DROPS OUT OF SENATORIAL RACE

Philip O'Connell of Sanilac county, who has been making an active campaign for nomination for a third term as state senator for the Huron-Sanilac-Tuscola district, announces his withdrawal from the race.

Senator O'Connell's decision to drop out of the running leaves the field open for a clear cut campaign on the part of Herbert P. Orr of Caro and Erastus Brainerd of Vassar. Under an old unwritten agreement each of the three counties is entitled to the senatorship for two terms, and this is Tuscola's turn for the office.

Senator O'Connell's statement follows:

Believing, as I do, that the harmonious relations between the Republican organizations of Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties, which have been so satisfactory in the past, should be continued, and realizing that the bone of contention between these counties at the present time is the selection of a state senator, I have decided to withdraw my name from the list of candidates for that office.

I wish at this time to thank my friends in the district for the enthusiasm displayed at the several meetings already held by me in the three counties. To my Tuscola friends, particularly, I feel grateful.

My only interest in asking for third term as your state senator was the fact that I believed an agricultural man was best fitted to serve the interests of the farmer in the senate. However, I understand that both candidates from Tuscola county are men of utmost integrity, and both interested in farm property, consequently I have decided to take this step.

PHILIP O'CONNELL.

Japan's Climate

Since Japan extends through 30 degrees of latitude, it necessarily has a great range of climate. In the south the climate is extremely cold. The southern islands have high temperatures in the summer and no snow or ice in the winter. In the Kurile Islands the snow and ice never entirely disappear. Kiushiu and Shikoku have a moderate climate.

SUMMER MINERALS NEEDED BY COWS

Calcium, Phosphorus Store Up Energy for Winter.

To insure healthy, robust animals, able to produce the milk needed this coming winter, Dr. L. A. Maynard of the Cornell university agricultural experiment station says that cows must have plenty of calcium and phosphorus during the summer. The usual summer ration of pasture and grain, he says, does not contain enough of these elements. Further, experiments show that cows will make better use of mineral supplements during the pasture season than at other times. The liberal feeding of minerals now will not only provide for current needs but will also enable the animal to store up reserves for the period when their assimilation of food is more difficult.

A mixture of equal parts of steam bone meal, finely ground limestone and salt, or a mixture of two parts of the bone meal and one part of salt makes a good mineral supplement. The simplest way is to place one of these mixtures in a box in the barnyard where the cows can eat it at will. Some sort of a cover should be built over the box to protect it from rain. It is a good thing to give the cows access to one of these mixtures even when the grain mixture contains minerals, because the grain fed during the summer may not contain enough. A better way to feed the minerals, but one that takes more time, is to mix three to four ounces of the mixture with one of the grain feedings each day. All animals, whether dry or milking, should be fed the extra minerals.

Aside from common salt, calcium and phosphorus are the only minerals that are needed as a mineral supplement. The purchase of a complex mineral mixture containing laxatives and tonics is a waste of money, says Doctor Maynard.

Water Materially Helps

Maintain Flow of Milk

Water is as necessary to life as food, but how rarely is it given adequate attention, particularly in the summer. To maintain the summer milk flow at the highest pitch a liberal supply of pure water is needed. No matter how good the pastures, the cows cannot produce well if they are deprived of water. For both digestion and assimilation of food, water is necessary. It regulates the temperature of the body, and provides for the water content of the milk, which is more than 80 per cent by weight of its volume. Experience has proved that cows in milk need approximately three pounds of water for every pound of milk produced. Very heavy producers then may need from ten to fifteen gallons in 24 hours. During summer many herds are not supplied with enough water to meet this need. If the water is not before the cows all the time, they should have access to it at least twice a day, preferably three times during the hot weather. If this is done there will not be a falling off in the milk supply.

Poor Market for Dairy

Products Is Advantage

It is generally conceded that a poor market for dairy products works to the advantage of the efficient dairy farmer because many of those producing at a margin are bound to go under in the crash of butterfat prices. Therefore the efficiency with which a farmer feeds determines whether he will remain among those producing at a profit. Herein lies the one great hope of the producer of dairy products, for in the narrowing of his field of competition, low prices at the same time provide for under-production and a subsequent rise in prices.

Dairy Hints

A good pasture increases the "content" in contented cows.

Soy beans are an excellent feed for dairy cows. They take the place of linseed meal or cottonseed meal.

So long as the heifer is on excellent white clover and blue grass pasture it will not be necessary to feed her grain.

About 87 per cent of milk is water. For plenty of milk, don't forget to give the cow all the water she cares to drink.

Cows should be kept in well lighted, well ventilated, clean barns. Flies can be kept out by hanging burlap over the windows and doors.

Feed which would taint the milk should not be given immediately before or during the process of milking.

The partly covered top pail, in some form, is preferable to the open top. Pails and other dairy utensils should be of the seamless type, or flushed with tin to cover up the seams.

Trading Teeth for Love

Transplanting of teeth was a fad introduced by a dentist of Paris in 1750. Many gallants of that period and the women on whom their affections were centered, submitted to the painful operation. The story is told that Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, in the days of their courtship, exchanged a tooth apiece.

When the Sea "Calls"

The "calling of the sea" is an old English term for a groundswell. When this occurs on a still night the sound is sometimes heard for miles inland. Inhabitants of seaside towns looked on it as a summons by death. Tennyson refers to this phenomenon again in "Crossing the Bar"—"And one clear call for me."

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Congress Finishes Up Much Legislation and Ends the Special Session.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

DETERMINED to bring the special session to a close before the fourth of July, congress was very busy the first part of the week, clearing up the pending legislation. Taking up the new World war veterans' bill passed by the house, the senate again showed its utter disregard for President Hoover's views and its keen desire for votes next fall. It loaded the measure down with amendments, chief of which was one increasing the pension rates to the Spanish war level. Another would permit veterans who contracted venereal diseases during their war service to obtain disability allowances.

The bill was sent to conference for elimination of the features that would be most objectionable to the President.

Among the bills passed by the house was the Wickensham commission's border patrol bill designed to help in curbing the smuggling of liquor from Canada and Mexico. It establishes an enlarged and unified border patrol service in the treasury under the assistant secretary in charge of the coast guard, increases the number of entry stations, and makes it a misdemeanor, subject to $100 fine, to cross the border except at an entry station, with certain exceptions.

The senate passed the house bill which authorized the President to consolidate and co-ordinate governmental activities affecting the war veterans.

SECRETARY of the Treasury Mellon announced that the fiscal year 1930 closed with a surplus in the treasury of $184,000,000. This amount represented the difference between receipts and expenditures. The public debt was reduced during the year by $748,000,000. There was a net balance in the general fund at the close of the year of $818,000,000.

While the surplus was substantially the same as in the fiscal year 1929, Secretary Mellon pointed out that it included the abnormal sum of $76,000,000 paid by foreign governments in June in cash instead of in securities of the American government and also included abnormal customs receipts, due to anticipation of tariff legislation.

SENATORS JOHNSON of California, Moses of New Hampshire and Robinson of Indiana filed with the senate their minority report from the foreign relations committee, setting forth their reasons for opposing ratification of the London naval treaty. These reasons are already well known to the public and need not be repeated.

Dispatches from Washington said that the national defense committee of the American Legion had made a report two weeks previously recommending that the Legion declare for rejection of the treaty, and that nothing more had been heard of the matter. One rumor was that administration influences had succeeded in bringing about the pigeonholing of the report.

Over in London two of England's most famous naval commanders, Earl Beatty and Earl Jellicoe, made hot attacks on the treaty, asserting that by signing it their government was throwing away "the sea power by which the British empire came into being and developed into what it is today."

PRESIDENT HOOVER has named as head of the new federal power commission Lieut. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, who in his service as chief of army engineers gained a thorough knowledge of the waterways of the country. His nomination, with those of the other four commission members, will be sent to the senate in special session this summer for confirmation. When two members have taken office the new commission will supplant the old one, which had as its members the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture, and which, since 1920, has supervised the expenditure of about $350,000,000 for power development.

In the new commission applications for power plants are to be placed in the hands of five $10,000 a year men who, the act stipulates, may have no other occupation. Nor may they have been connected in any way with, or hold any stock in, power companies. At present 70 applications are pending with the commission.

IN A radio address to the governors' conference which met in Salt Lake City, President Hoover announced that federal, state and local governments had spent or contracted to spend a total of $1,700,000,000 for public works during the first six months of the present calendar year. This figure, he said, exceeded by over $200,000,000 that of the boom year of 1929. He advised the governors that there is still need for "continued serious effort" in every state and community to bring an early business recovery, and to reduce unemployment.

Several of the western governors delivered addresses scoring the federal government for its invasion of states' rights, especially with regard to the public domain, unappropriated lands, and mineral and oil rights.

PROHIBITION enforcement was transferred July 1 from the Treasury department to the Department of Justice, and Attorney General Mitchell became the commander in chief of the federal dry army with Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock as his chief of staff. It was understood in Washington that the government's limited staff and appropriation will be devoted hereafter to detecting larger commercial bootlegging, while the effort to obtain greater co-operation by the states will be expanded. Many changes have been made already in the force of prohibition administrators, the most important being in the metropolitan areas of New York and Chicago. In the former Maj. Maurice Campbell resigned when ordered to Boston to take charge of alcohol permits and gave out a statement attacking "United States attorneys with political aspirations," and Treasury department officials who "have not been sincere in efforts to enforce this law."

He declared his experience had led him to the following conclusion: "Prohibition is not the logical solution for temperance under our form of government, and I now publicly advocate the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment before the nation is consumed in the fires of its consequences."

Col. John H. J. Herbert became the enforcement boss of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, displacing E. C. Yellowley, who remains in control of alcohol permits in that area.

CONGRESSMAN E. E. DENISON of Illinois, a dry Republican who was indicted on a charge of illegally possessing liquor because of a leaking suitcase, escaped being tried when Justice Gordon of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia sustained a demurrer and held that the indictment failed to particularize the charge against Denison sufficiently to enable the latter to frame a defense and plead an acquittal as a bar to a subsequent indictment.

WITH the stroke of midnight on June 30 the last of the French troops of occupation departed from the Rhineland and Germany was freed from the incubus that had rested on it for almost twelve years. The German people celebrated the event with the ringing of bells, with great parades of singing men and women, with the playing of bands and with fireworks. Especially impressive was the jubilee in the town of Speyer in the Palatinate. Torches and flares lighted the bridge across the Rhine over which marched the town's police force of 600 men as thousands along the water's edge and in boats sang "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

The final phase of the military evacuation began in Wiesbaden at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. The inter-allied Rhineland commission, which has headquartered at Wiesbaden since September when the headquarters were moved from Coblenz, closed shop. A battalion of French troops lined up on Kaiserstrasse in front of the commission's building where three flags floated—Belgian, British and French.

The regimental band broke into the "Brabanconne" and the Belgian flag slowly descended. Then the military band played "God Save the King" and the Union Jack slid down the halcyons. It was a tense moment as the strains of the "Marseillaise" burst into the air and the tricolor floated down.

High Commissioner Paul Tirard and the other officials crossed the Rhine bridge in motors and a thousand French soldiers in full war panoply marched to the railroad station and entrained for home.

A proclamation by President Von Hindenburg said:

"After years of bitter distress, after the acceptance of oppressive burdens, we have regained for the Rhineland a freedom that we shall preserve for the welfare and future of our fatherland."

"Therefore, in this solemn hour, let us be united in the pledge, Deutschland ueber alles."

ALMOST before the outside world knew anything about it, there was a successful revolution down in Bolivia, caused by the alleged efforts of Hernando Siles, resigned president, to regain the office of chief executive and hold it in perpetuity. Troops led by Gen. Carlos Blanco Galindo occupied La Paz, the capital, after a hot fight, and Siles and his friends fled or took refuge in foreign legations.

The military junta took charge of the government and announced financial and other plans for the immediate restoration of the republic to its normal condition on a constitutional basis. It was understood that free elections would be held and a new president designated in such a manner that he cannot perpetuate himself in office.

The populace in La Paz was delighted with the success of the revolutionary movement, and great crowds surrounded the Brazilian legation which sheltered Siles, demanding that he be given up for trial by the courts. Gen. Hans Kundt, German chief of staff of the Bolivian army, who was accused not only of aiding Doctor Siles, but of Prussianizing the Bolivian forces, fled to the German legation. General Galindo took steps to protect all the former officials from violence.

GREAT BRITAIN is taking relentless measures to end the "passive" rebellion in India. The latest of these was the arrest of Pandit Motilal Nehru, a Hindoo and acting president of the All-India national congress, and Sayed Mahmud, a Moslem, secretary of the congress. They were tried immediately and sentenced to six months' imprisonment. These arrests created a great sensation throughout India and a hartal or cessation of all work was proclaimed in protest. In Bombay a "boycott week" was started and housewives were urged to refrain from buying British goods.

The spirit of the Nationalists seems far from broken. In many cities the school students, both boys and girls, have joined the movement, quitting their schools, holding parades and assisting in the picketing of British shops.

AMERICANS of 22 countries gathered in Paris with Frenchmen to celebrate the France-America committee's "week of American nations," heard Raymond Poincare, former president and former premier, take the United States to task for its new tariff law. M. Poincare presided at a dinner to national delegates.

"There is a crisis in the friendship of the two nations which if not remedied promptly will grow worse," he said. "Countries that try to antagonize other peoples will find that they are attached to those other peoples by bonds they cannot break."

TWO feats in aviation marked the week. First Roger G. Williams with two companions made a nonstop flight from New York to Bermuda and back in the Columbia, the transatlantic Bellanca monoplane, in 17 hours and 8 minutes. Second, John and Kenneth Hunter of Sparta, Ill., smashed to smithereens the refueling endurance record over Sky Harbor airport north of Chicago. They refused to come down until the motor of their plane was worn out.

Victim of Stomach and Kidney Troubles Found New Medicine First One To Help Him.

"I had tried everything recommended, but not a medicine nor treatment touched my case of stomach and kidney troubles," said Mr. William Hallen, 612 North Main street, Ann Arbor, Michigan. "Everything I ate lay in my stomach undigested, creating gas. Bloating and pain followed every meal. My kidneys caused intense pains across my back, and at night I had to rise frequently. I became weaker daily.

"But Konjola changed everything and did it quickly. Daily my stomach returned to more normal condition, and the kidneys responded just as steadily. In three weeks I found that I could eat anything and that I could sleep all night. Since then, my system, free of poisons, I have been gaining weight, vitality and energy. Konjola proved a life-saver to me."

Konjola is designed to give thorough and lasting relief. Like any worth-while treatment Konjola should be taken from six to eight weeks giving it a chance to produce the best results. And the results will amaze you—as they have countless thousands of men and women.

Konjola is sold in Cass City at Burke's Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Advertisement. 7-11-1

George W. Snyder, M. D., of Chicago, Said This

"It is more important to use an antiseptic for the stomach, bowels and kidneys than an antiseptic for the mouth and teeth for the reason that 95% of all diseases arise from intestinal disorders. I have prescribed Dr. Burnham's SAN YAK as a laxative and kidney diuretic for swelling of the limbs, high blood pressure with rheumatism, dizziness and diabetes and found it the one and only product I would be willing to tie to. San Yak is the only laxative I ever prescribed that does not irritate and flush away the mucus membrane of the lower bowel. Hence its use in moderation is highly commendable to health." M. E. Church at Huron City Was Re-dedicated Sunday Afternoon.

HURON CITY CHURCH RE-DEDICATED SUNDAY

mined to build for themselves a house for the worship of God.

On July 11, 1882, Mr. Langdon Hubbard, a lumbering operator who lived at Huron City, gave to the Huron City Methodist Episcopal church the site upon which the church was immediately built.

The generous help from missionary money of the Methodist church made the construction of the little church possible. The people of the community paid out of their meagre circumstances and were greatly helped by the generous assistance of Mr. Langdon Hubbard. The church was dedicated in the autumn of 1882, while the Rev. Thomas G. Huckle was pastor. The first Epworth League was organized April 6, 1892, and Ira O. Trumbull was chosen as the first Epworth League president. Ira O. Trumbull was for a great many years superintendent of the Sunday school and a constant and reliable benefactor of the church.

It was in 1883 that "Billie" Phelps, a young man in his teens, first appeared at Huron City. He was soon identified with all the best activities among the young people. He was captain of a victorious baseball nine, and some of those champions still live in the vicinity to tell the story. It was in the Huron City church that he preached his first sermon at the age of twenty-two years.

"Billie" Phelps, as he was then and is yet known to many of his friends, is now internationally known as Prof. William Lyon Phelps, Lamson professor of English literature in Yale University. Author, scholar, teacher, distinguished patron and critic of literature, music and the domestic arts, he is not only the son of a minister, but himself ordained to preach and has made the class-room his pulpit.

On December 21, 1892, Prof. Phelps was married to Miss Annabell Hubbard, daughter of Langdon Hubbard and sister of Frank Hubbard, now of Grosse Pointe. They were married at Huron City in the house called "Seven Gables" where they have made their summer home ever since.

Dr. Phelps has been a trustee of the Huron City church since 1898. Since his first sermon in 1887 through the years he had frequently preached from the Huron City pulpit and for the last eight years, with the exception of the summer of 1928, when he and Mrs. Phelps made a summer trip to Europe, he has preached every Sunday during his summer vacation.

The Phelps' meetings soon became very popular as a convenient service for resort residents in the vicinity and to accommodate the congregations that assembled the church building was enlarged to twice its former capacity in 1925. This work was paid for by Frank W. Hubbard.

The Doctor attracts a cosmopolitan audience. The audiences are composed of people from almost every denomination of Bible faith and they come from nearly every state in the Union and from England, Scotland and Canada.

During the present year the church has been doubled in capacity again and greatly enhanced. The greater part of the expense has been borne by Mr. Frank W. Hubbard.

The Huron City church stands today as a memorial to the person and ministry of our splendid brother and popular Professor William Lyon Phelps of Yale University.

Professor Phelps, with his modesty that is distinctly his own, bows himself away from honors or special praise. He, with all the rest, would not overlook that long line of heroes and heroines that reaches through 73 years of faithful service.

By their struggles, sacrifices, self denials and consecrated toil they obtained, sustained and retained that original church and built around it a cluster of rich experiences and hallowed memories, contributing to its life out of their own. Though many of them have gone, they all yet speak, for this church is their memorial, too.

The year 1932 will be the 75th anniversary of the organization of the Huron City Church and the 50th anniversary of the original church building. These events will be celebrated in the Huron City church with suitable services two years hence.

QUESTION

A manufacturer of motor-car accessories was engaging a factory superintendent.

"There's just one thing more," he said to the applicant, who appeared to be satisfactory. "Could you run a house organ in connection with your other work?"

"House organ?" said the man, with a puzzled expression. "What's the need of music in a factory?"

Amen

A group of pilots were buzzing about something or another as the flight commander approached, and several times he caught the expression, "the last word in airplanes."

"Well," he said as he reached the group, "what is the last word in airplanes?"

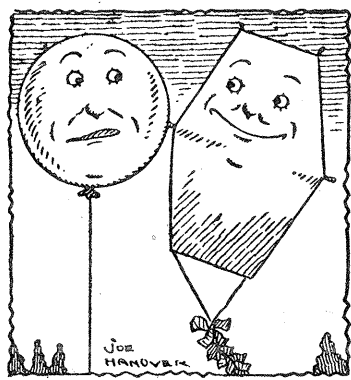

The group chorused: "Jump!"—Exchange.

Interview Never Printed

"Do you attribute your success to your hard work and devotion to your job?" asked the reporter.

"No," replied the great man; "anybody I ever worked for will tell you I was the laziest and most no-account boob on the pay roll, and if I hadn't been a fool for luck I'd now be on the county."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SAD THOUGHT

Kite (to balloon)—You needn't be so upish. Just think what would happen if some one were to stick a pin in you!

Practical Demonstration

Machinery is what we prize. It's not much use to theorize. In stories mistakes will lurk. Machinery has got to work.

A Badge of Servitude

His Wife—Henry, I'm going to buy you a wedding ring. You ought to wear something to show you're married.

Mr. Peewee—Why, my dear, I do. I wear the rubbers you bought me every day.

Shocking Him Into Action

Youth—Last night in my dreams I proposed to you, Miss Eva. What do you suppose that signifies?

Eva (impatiently)—It shows that you have more brains when asleep than you have when you're awake.

Corruption on the Force

Nexdore—Your house robbed again? What's the matter with that imported police dog you have?

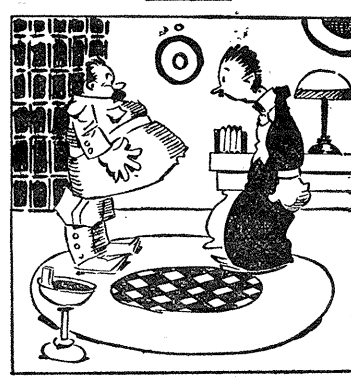

Longsuffer—He's no good. Between you and me, I suspect him of accepting protection graft.

Serving Two Masters

Mr. Peewee—Yes, my dear, I know I'm late. I had to stay overtime and take a few orders.

His Wife—Lay off the excuses. I'll have you know your place is at home, taking orders from me.

PITCHED THEIR TENTS

Soldier—When we halted we pitched our tents.
The Idiot—You do that to make 'em waterproof, don't you?

Eyes

Eyes are the index to the mind, say sages with delight; But truly, I am sure they err For my girl's eyes are bright.

Wonders of the Mail

Clerk—I'm taking a correspondence course to get more money, sir.
Boss—Ah, too bad! I'm taking one to reduce expenses.

But Not in the Family

She—So you don't think you'll ever marry?
He—No! My hobby is world peace!
