

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 24, NUMBER 39.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1930.

EIGHT PAGES.

LOCAL BANKS SHOW BIG GROWTH IN SAVINGS

Deposits Show Increase in Eight Years of More than 85 Per Cent.

The two state banks in Cass City have increased their resources over 86% in the past eight years. This has resulted largely through the savings of people of this community. The total resources as reported in the statements published in January, 1922, by the Pinney State Bank and the Cass City State Bank amounted to $892,216.50, while those published by these two institutions in the Chronicle today show total resources of $1,664,193.60.

The total amount of money deposited by customers of the two banks was $735,503.81 eight years ago. Today's report shows the total to be $1,362,163.91. The increase is slightly more than 85% over that of 1922, and this growth in deposits is largely represented in the savings accounts of patrons of the banks.

Another item which measures the savings of a community is the amount of individually-owned bonds which are left with banks for safekeeping. In 1922, the value of these bonds reached $56,400, while today the total amount of such bonds left with the two banks is $161,406.00.

Combining money placed in local banks by depositors with the bonds left in banks for safekeeping, the amount of money and securities placed in the two state banks of Cass City today is 92% more than that of eight years ago.

BELLS TO RING ON TENTH BIRTHDAY

The tenth birthday of national prohibition will be celebrated by the Cass City society of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Geo. Hill on Seger St. on Thursday, Jan. 16. Unions through the nation are planning to celebrate the anniversary on that day. The bells of local churches will be rung for ten minutes at noon announcing the anniversary.

On Sunday evening, Jan. 19, a union service in the interest of the W. C. T. U. work will be held at the Presbyterian church.

The following paragraphs are taken from a victory day message by Ella A. Bole, president of the National W. C. T. U.:

"As we take account of stock at the beginning of the second decade of prohibition we realize the importance not only of supporting the law and officials in the performance of their duty, but we must stress the responsibility of every individual, young and old, accepting his share of responsibility by observing the law himself.

"The United States is a composite picture of its people. Let us ask ourselves a very pertinent question—'Am I contributing to the enforcement of the prohibition law by obeying it myself, by establishing law observance habits in my own home, and by promoting law observance in the community in which I live?' Only by accepting this responsibility are we contributing our full share to the benefits of a great and good law.

"As the bells ring at twelve o'clock on January 16th, let them ring out our rejoicing that the liquor traffic has been an outlaw for ten years, and ring in our faith in the future that the Eighteenth Amendment is in the Constitution and is there to stay."

BAPTIST CHURCH ELECTS OFFICERS

The annual meeting held at the Baptist church Monday afternoon was well attended. After devotional service by the pastor, the reports from the different departments were given. All showed substantial gains, and all bills paid and a little ahead for next year. Considerable repair of a costly nature was carried out, and has been paid for. The building is in much better shape for service. The church is on the state honor roll for having paid its regular apportionment for missions each month during the present pastorate. The same is true also of the Austin church which is working with Cass City. The Boy Scouts have a high standing in the state in passing tests. The B. Y. P. U. is very active and interesting. Their meetings are attended only by young people, while the attendance is large. The Brotherhood and C. J. U. Club have very interesting gatherings.

The following officers were elected: Deacons, Wm. Ewald and Cecil Brown were elected to succeed themselves. Church clerk, Mrs. Minnie McKenzie; treasurer, Mrs. Guy Landon; benevolence treasurer, Mrs. Stanley McArthur; pianist, Mrs. Stanley McArthur; assistant, Mardell Starr; chorister, Mrs. W. R. Curtis; flower committee, Mrs. Gulick; trustee, to succeed himself, George Burt; financial committee, Bruce Brown, Mrs. Eugene Livingston, Guy Landon; deaconesses, Mrs. Lydia Starr and Mrs. Isaac Hall; superintendent of the Sunday school, Cecil Brown; president of the B. Y. P. U., John Morris; secretary of the B. Y. P. U., Hazel Camper.

FIRST TERM OF COURT COMES IN JANUARY

Judge Henry H. Smith has changed the time for the convening of the first term of court in the year from the second Monday in February to the fourth Monday in January. Other sessions of the circuit court in Tuscola county will convene as formerly, the second Monday in May, the first Monday in October and the first Monday in December.

ABANDON DRILLING FOR OIL IN KOYLTON

Juniata Is Claiming Attention of Oil Prospectors at Present Time.

Drilling and prospecting for oil has been abandoned by the Murphy Oil Co. of Philadelphia in Koylton township, Tuscola county, and the company has filed surrender of 38 leases held in that township, with Stanley Osburn, register of deeds. The company started leasing property in Koylton in 1927. Drilling was made to the depth of nearly 2,800 feet in one well. There were slight indications of oil, "enough to grease the plunger of the drilling outfit," as one of the workmen remarked.

Juniata township is claiming the attention of oil prospectors at the present time. The report comes from that township that leases have been secured on the greater part of the land in Juniata by the Pure Oil Co. Holes have been sunk to test the strata of the rock. Juniata is declared to be the "best bet" in Tuscola county by an oil man. No leases on Juniata land have been filed at the county seat.

PETER DOERR FOUND DEAD BY NEIGHBORS

Neighbors found the body of Peter Doerr hanging from a bed post in his home in Grant township, one mile east and five miles north of Cass City, Friday noon. They became alarmed when they failed to see him about his farm that morning and noticing that farm chores had not been done they went to his home to make an investigation.

Coroner Geo. M. Deady and Sheriff John L. Hoffman were called. Coroner Deady pronounced it a case of suicide and decided that no inquest was necessary.

Mr. Doerr was in good health up to the time of his death which probably occurred Thursday. That day he was last seen alive by neighbors and it is reported that he visited Cass City that afternoon.

Funeral services were held at the John May and E. A. Douglas home Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Geo. Hill. Interment was made in Elkland cemetery.

Peter Doerr was born in Grant township Sept. 1, 1879, and spent all his life in that community. He has lived alone for several years.

He leaves to mourn two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Martin of Grant township and Mrs. Chas. Newton of Pontiac and two brothers, John Doerr, sr., and Anthony Doerr, both of Cass City. All were present at the funeral except Anthony Doerr, who is spending the winter with his son, James Doerr, and family at Tucson, Arizona. His death is also mourned by a large number of other relatives and friends.

Three sisters and two brothers preceded Mr. Doerr in death. They are Mrs. Burr Eddie of Pontiac, Mrs. Tilde Doerr of Grant, Mrs. Wm. Karr of Caseville, Lewis Doerr and Joseph Doerr of Grant. Mr. Doerr's parents passed away several years ago.

VOLLEYBALL SCORES.

In the first of a series of volleyball games played Tuesday night, Team 1 (R. McConkey, capt.) won from Team 2 (W. Campbell, capt.) by a 45-31 score. Team 3 (R. McCullough) defeated Team 4 (C. Graham) 41-37 and Team 6 (F. Reid) won from Team 5 (H. Niergarth) by a 45-20 score.

In Class B, Team 2 (J. May) defeated Team 1 (E. Golding) 43-27, Team 4 (A. Gallagher) won from Team 3 (L. VanderKooy) 45-24, and Team 5 (H. Dickinson) defeated Team 6 (J. West) 45-26.

CASS CITY HIGH DEFEATED MAYVILLE

Score Stood 22-18 in Tight Encounter. Reserves Play Overtime.

Cass City High defeated Mayville here Friday night by a 22-18 score in a tight game in which the locals began to show signs of development. The game was a see-saw affair up to the end of the third period when the visitors defense broke and the locals scored seven points to take a 20-14 lead. Coach Lewis injected the second stringers for the last three minutes and they held Mayville to four while scoring two themselves, to make the final count 22-18.

The maroon team led all during the first half but a spurt in the third quarter put Mayville into the lead, 14-13.

Starting the last period Gowen, Edgerton and Crandell all slipped the ball into the mesh for a score and Edgerton's free toss ran the score up to 20-14.

The high scoring honors went to Blackmore, Mayville forward, who picked out four field goals and two foul throws for a total of 10. Close behind were Capt. Edgerton and Gowen, Capt. Bob getting three field goals and two fouls for eight and Gowen getting one less free shot for seven. Crandell made two field goals and Ruhl one of each to complete the local score.

Ross and Kelly, the guards, played good defensive ball but were weak in handling the ball on offense. The second string combination of Ehlers and Pinney at forward, Hunter at center and Morris and Schenck at guards looked good for a green outfit.

In the prelin, the two reserve teams had the fans up on their feet all the last half and deadlocked at 10-10. In the overtime, the locals scored one field goal to win 12-10. The reserve line-up is Pinney, Dunn, Warner, Hutchinson, Wallace, Kercher and Simmons. Hutchinson, scoring three field goals, was the high point man.

Next Tuesday the big home game with Caro in the local gym comes off. Caro, with one of its best teams, has won five straight games and is out to avenge last year's defeats by the local maroon team.

BROTHERS RUN DOWN BY MOTORIST, KILLED

Roy and Orville Warrington, brothers, were killed Sunday night on the Dixie highway north of Flint when they were run down by an automobile driven by Donald Gage of Clio.

The brothers, who worked in Flint, were on their way home on the Coldwater road. They had been riding a bicycle but a tire was punctured and they were walking, trundling the bicycle. Roy, 18, was instantly killed. Orville, aged 16, died in a hospital several hours later.

Gage was questioned by state police and then released. He said he was blinded by the lights of an approaching automobile.

Mr. Gage formerly resided at Cass City and was active in conducting a clothing and shoe store here as a member of the firm of Gage & Haven. When the firm started a branch store at Clio about a year ago, he went to that village as manager of that store.

WOMAN'S STUDY CLUB NOTES.

A one-act play, entitled "Blood Will Tell" was cleverly given at the meeting of the Woman's Study Club in the Home Economics room of the high school building Tuesday afternoon. The following was the cast: Mathilda Dabney, Mrs. Lester Baily.

Jane Dabney, Mrs. Z. Stafford. Susan Hogan, Mrs. Stanley Warriner.

Mrs. Hebediah Hogan, Mrs. A. A. Ricker.

The plot centered around the Misses Dabney, spinster ladies of very exclusive society who were impoverished but made heroic efforts to keep up appearances. Their maid, Susan, was in reality an heiress but assumed the part of a servant in order to attain better speech and culture from her employers. Many amusing situations occurred and the various characters were very well portrayed by the four ladies.

Another interesting feature of the afternoon's program was a paper on Africa, prepared by Mrs. H. E. Tallmadge and read by Mrs. E. A. Douglas. Interesting responses were prepared by Mrs. Lewis Law and Mrs. J. E. Sead.

The club has received an invitation from the Research Club in Saginaw to a luncheon at the Bancroft Hotel next Thursday honoring Mrs. Alfred Mitchell, president of the East Central District.

The next meeting of the local club will occur on Jan. 21 when officers will be elected and Mrs. W. J. Schwieger will give a book review. The luncheon scheduled for Jan. 21 will be given at the following meeting on February 4.

BARKER-McPHERSON DRAIN BONDS SOLD

The Barker-McPherson drain bonds were sold by Wm. Kelley, deputy county drain commissioner, on Tuesday, the amount involved being $14,044.33. The purchaser was the County of Tuscola. The money invested comes from the court house sinking fund and will earn the county 4% interest.

County treasurer McDurmon says $4,000.00 of these bonds will be retired on April 15, 1930, and $5,000 on each of the two succeeding years.

NEW CHEVROLET SIX IS MUCH IMPROVED

Hydraulic Shock Absorbers and New Braking System Add to Comfort.

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces a new car for 1930 known as "The Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History."

Announcement of the new car comes right at the close of Chevrolet's greatest year, for the sensational success of the six-cylinder Chevrolet, introduced just a year ago, resulted in an output of 1,350,000 cars this year, breaking by a wide margin all former Chevrolet annual production records.

In making public Chevrolet's plans for 1930, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, declared that with the improvements incorporated in the new car, Chevrolet was anticipating a volume of business that will equal, if not surpass, the phenomenal record of 1929. And, in order to accommodate an early demand, production is being speeded with all the haste consistent with the precision methods for which Chevrolet manufacturing operations are famous.

New car shipments have been going out to dealers for the past ten days, with deliveries to owners scheduled to start at once. The cars went on display Saturday morning in thousands of Chevrolet showrooms from coast to coast, while at the same time the announcement of the new car was being broadcast through the advertising columns of more than 6,500 newspapers.

Scores of distinct improvements have been made in the 1930 Chevrolet line, the factory announces. Greater beauty, added safety factors, improved riding comfort and better all-around performance with added power, and faster acceleration are announced as features of the new line. Larger tires, small wheels, Delco-Turn to page seven.

TUSCOLA TREASURER FIRST TO REPORT

C. S. Cottrell, Tuscola township treasurer was the first to turn in state and county tax money to County Treasurer Orlo McDurmon. Mr. Cottrell paid in $4,000 to the county treasurer Tuesday.

Milford Culbert of Fairgrove was the second to make returns, he having paid $2,000 of state and county taxes collected to the county treasurer.

Mr. McDurmon received $17,554.42 from the Tuscola County Road Commission this week. Of this amount, $14,278.16 came from the State Highway Department for state highway maintenance, $332.23 for gas tax rebate, $552.28 as rebates on gas and oil, $1,745.25 as State Highway Department overhead, while the remainder consisted of several smaller amounts from several sources.

CHICKEN THIEVES STILL BUSY IN COUNTY

The Mertz farm in Fremont township was visited by thieves Monday night and 75 chickens are missing. On Saturday night, 80 hens and four turkeys were stolen from the Matuzik farm, one-half mile east of Colwood.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

James Lockwood, 24, Saginaw; Lucille Margaret Morse, 16, Caro. Wesley E. Neal, 22, Gilford; Margaret Wascher, 18, Bay County. John Christian, 24, Vassar; Rhea Haist, 21, Pigeon.

C. C. Barnes, registrar of Central State Teachers College, will be the judge at the debate here tonight between Vassar and Cass City high schools. Mr. Barnes will give a critical survey after the result is announced in which he will tell the reasons for his decision.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Miss Geraldine Crandell of West Branch was a guest at the home of Mrs. Charles Wilsey Thursday and Friday.

Miss Ina Otis of Detroit spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Eugene Otis, and sister, Evelyn Otis, who have been ill.

The Malfem Club were entertained Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randall. The evening was spent playing cards and refreshments were served.

Frank Champion of St. Louis spent a few days the first of the week with Cass City relatives. Wednesday, Mr. Champion and his mother, Mrs. Samuel Champion, spent the day with Samuel Champion at Ann Arbor.

L. C. Randall and Mrs. James Ward served as judges in the Brown City-Caro debate held at Caro Thursday night. Mr. Randall will serve in a similar capacity at the Lapeer-Marquette debate at Marquette tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Joos entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jaus and daughter, Miss Minnie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jaus and daughter, Miss Laura, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Buehrly and Carlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoener of Detroit were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kelsey. Miss Virginia and Earl Hoener, who had spent ten days with their grandparents, returned home with their parents Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lorentzen and son, Donald, visited at the home of their son and brother, Ernest Lorentzen, at Romeo Monday. Ernest had the misfortune to break a rib one day last week when the team of horses he was driving jumped and threw him to the ground.

Mrs. Hugh McColl and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Landon visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. McColl at Greenleaf Sunday. Mrs. D. H. McColl, who has been a patient at the Bad Axe hospital for two weeks, is much improved, and was able to return to her home the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John West entertained a number of their friends at a delightful evening bridge party at their home on East Main street Friday evening. Bridge was enjoyed at three tables, favors going to Mrs. Morley Smith, Mrs. Warren Wood, Raymond McCullough and Ivan Niergarth. A dainty luncheon was served.

Division No. 4 of the Methodist church held a shower Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Angus McPhail in honor of the McPhail family's adopted son, Angus Junior. The affair was a surprise to Mrs. McPhail. Ice cream in the shape of babies and cake were served. Angus Junior received many beautiful gifts.

Norman J. McGillivray and Jasper M. Peru, have purchased the Charles Graham's pharmacy at 120 North Washington street, Owosso, and it will be known as Jap and Mac's Drug Store. Mr. McGillivray is a son of Mrs. Angus McGillivray of this place. He is a registered pharmacist and has been employed for several years in various drug stores in Owosso.

The annual business meeting of the Church of Christ was held at the church Jan. 7 at 2:00 p. m. and the following officers were elected: Chairman, Neil McLarty; clerk, Clarence Quick; treasurer, Mrs. Neil McLarty; trustee, Robert Warner. It was voted unanimously to change the date of the annual meeting to the first Thursday in November. Previous to the meeting, the Ladies' Aid served dinner at the church.

Mrs. X. A. Boomhower, wife of Judge Boomhower of Bad Axe, is a patient at Hubbard Memorial hospital at Bad Axe with a broken hip. Mrs. Boomhower suffered the injury Sunday when she stepped out of the door at her home to the back porch and fell. Mrs. Boomhower is a sister of Mrs. John McCallum, who fell on the ice in Cass City a few weeks ago, breaking her hip. Mrs. McCallum is still a patient at the Morris hospital in Cass City.

The Butzbach Missionary Circle met Monday evening at the home of Miss Laura Jaus. During the business meeting, election of officers was held. The same officers were re-elected for the coming year. They are: President, Mrs. Louis Kralhing; vice president, Katherine Joos; secretary, Laura Jaus; treasurer, Clark Helvig; corresponding secretary, Phyllis Lenzner. Luncheon was served by the hostess.

Friends from a distance who attended the funeral of Mrs. Wm. Flint on Jan. 2 included Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Crandell of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Collins and sons, Glenn and Clayton, of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Beecher, daughter, Dora, and sons, Roy and Andrew, Mrs. Harry Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tomlinson, Mrs. Clarence Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wright, Mrs. Lena Drake, Mrs. Ruth Tomlinson and Billy Siens, all of Caro.

COMING AUCTIONS.

Wm. Kube will have an auction sale on the farm 2 miles south and 1 mile west of Gettysburg on Tuesday, Jan. 14, with R. N. McCullough as auctioneer and the Gettysburg State Bank as clerk. A list of the live stock, implements and household goods to be sold is printed on page 6.

Melvin E. Daily will sell horses, cattle, hogs, sheep and implements at auction 1 1/2 southeast of Colwood on Wednesday, Jan. 15. Worthy Tait is the auctioneer. C. D. Andrews is clerk and full particulars are printed on page 6.

HURON BROTHERHOOD MEETS AT GREENLEAF

The Huron Brotherhood will hold its next meeting at the Frazier Presbyterian church at Old Greenleaf on Tuesday, Jan. 14. The program will begin immediately after a 6:30 dinner is served. The superintendent of the Bay Port school will be the principal speaker. All are invited.

BANK'S RESOURCES REACH A MILLION

Pinney State Bank Has Footings that Exceed a Thousand Thousand Mark.

As the accumulation of the first one thousand dollars is the hardest work of the average man's financial career, so the job of bringing the resources of a bank in a rural community to the million dollar mark is considered an equally hard task by such an institution.

This task, according to the statement of the Pinney State Bank published in the Chronicle today, has been accomplished by a local institution. Its resources are given as $1,022,283.36. The million dollar mark was passed within the last few months.

This bank was established as The Exchange Bank in Cass City in 1886 by E. H. Pinney. Later, Mr. Pinney had as an associate in the banking business his son, Edward Pinney. The bank was incorporated as a state bank in 1921, when the resources were $659,785.64, as revealed by its first published statement. The bank's deposits and resources have grown steadily during the past eight years.

Elizabeth E. Pinney is president of the bank, Ernest Croft is cashier, and D. W. Benkelman, Frederick H. Pinney and J. C. McRae are assistant cashiers.

FINE PROGRAM ON RECIPROACITY NIGHT

Inclement weather and poor roads kept several schools from sending representatives to participate in the reciprocity program presented at the Parent-Teachers Association meeting at the high school auditorium here Monday night.

Donald Hicks opened the program with a reading, "The Change in Father." Iva Pringle gave as a reading, "The Little Snowflake" and Maxine Horner contributed a vocal solo, "The Little Brown Church." These excellent numbers were presented by pupils of Mrs. S. W. Blades. Thomas Shorts represented the Wright school (Miss Leila Battel, teacher) and gave as a reading one of Edgar Guest's popular poems.

The Tanner school (Miss Ida Vogel, teacher) was represented by a parent in that district, Arthur Ballard. He expressed the wish that more rural parents might be interested in P. T. A. activities and made several suggestions toward accomplishing that end. Mr. Ballard said that 24 had graduated from the eighth grade in the Tanner school in the last five years and of this number eleven had entered high school.

Jason Kitchin, a graduate of the local high school and now a teacher in an Evergreen township school, spoke of the pleasant relationships of high school days. He advocated a high standard for school pupils in morality as well as scholarship.

Supt. Randall, as the last speaker on the program, stressed the responsibility of the home, church and school. He said that there was a great need today to educate boys and girls to make better use of leisure time.

Miss Janet Allured contributed a piano solo to the program.

The meeting opened with community singing under the leadership of Miss Grace Beach, with Miss Esther Tarnoski at the piano. Mrs. Holcomb, secretary of the association, read the P. T. A. prayer. In the business session, G. W. Landon presented a report from the membership committee. Mrs. A. A. Ricker, president, named Supt. Randall, H. F. Lenzner, Mrs. J. A. Sandham and Mrs. Chas. Day as a committee to purchase playground equipment.

W. R. TRUEB SHOT AND ROBBED MONDAY

Field Man of Condensary Here Is on Road to Recovery after Thrilling Experience.

W. R. Trueb, who spent the week-end in Kalamazoo, was shot by a hold-up man at Oakley and robbed of $20.00 and his watch early Monday morning. Mr. Trueb was taken to an Owosso hospital where his injuries were treated. Jim Malady went from Cass City to Owosso Wednesday to see Mr. Trueb. He found him recovering nicely and says Mr. Trueb expects to leave the hospital Sunday. His injuries consist of a flesh wound in the arm. The bullet has not been removed and he is kept at the hospital to see if any signs of infection develop. The bone was not shattered. Mr. Trueb is fieldman for the Nestle's Food Co.'s condensary here.

The story of Mr. Trueb's experience as told in the daily papers of the state is related in the following paragraphs:

W. R. Trueb, 31, Cass City, is in the hospital at Owosso with a bullet wound in one arm and his car is in a state of disrepair, all because he stopped for a traffic light in Saginaw Monday morning. A mysterious stranger is the connecting link which makes this chain of circumstances intelligible.

The stranger stepped up to Trueb's car as he stopped for the traffic signal and asked for a ride.

"I don't pick up strangers at this hour of the morning," Trueb replied. "Well, you're going to pick me up and you're going to take me to Cleveland," the stranger retorted and produced a gun. He seemed irritated at Trueb's inhospitable attitude.

Without waiting for further invitation, he clambered into the front seat, his gun still in readiness for action, and Trueb drove on.

Perhaps the stranger brooded over the lack of hospitality shown by his host as they drove along. Anyway, as they reached Oakley 13 miles north of Owosso, he raised the gun, shot Trueb through the arm, robbed him of $20 and his watch and then disappeared in the darkness.

Trueb drove on to Owosso, but as he reached the city limits he fainted. His car, out of control, left the road and struck a telephone pole. His condition is not serious, it was reported at the hospital.

France Gets the Gold We're All Richer

New Theory of the Universe The Sorrows of Wall Street

Some worry because gold is going abroad; $7,250,000 was shipped to France on the Berengaria, making a total shipment of $105,000,000 gold for the month.

You admire French financiers when you hear that they got $80,000,000 of that gold.

How do the French do it? They work and they save.

As your debts diminish you automatically become richer. The people of the United States became richer by about a thousand million dollars during 1929.

Mr. Mellon's statement shows that in twelve months the national debt has been reduced by one billion and nine million dollars.

If Uncle Sam collected his foreign debts as efficiently as he collects from taxpayers at home we'd be clear of debt soon.

In Germany Mennonite refugees from Russia, encamped with their children, are stricken with a strange disease. Forty children died in a few hours. Many were sacrificed because their mothers hid them from doctors, following a Mennonite custom of substituting prayer for medical attention.

That method no longer works. "Know the truth, and the truth shall make you free," includes scientific medical truth.

The son of Italy's king will soon be married and 6,000 will be freed from prisons, by way of celebration.

What seems strange in America is a custom old in Europe.

After Admiral Nelson brought his ship into the Bay of Naples, promising to protect the king and queen and their court against the power of the French revolution, many convicts were set free to celebrate.

And kings, on mounting the throne, have often emptied prisons as a sign of joy.

The National Surety company has issued a policy of $30,000, guaranteeing against the suicide of a man insured within the next two years. The man borrowed money. The bank lending it wanted the added security.

That's new in insurance.

The learned Prof. James Mackaye of Dartmouth brings forth a new theory of the universe, pushing Einstein and relativity into the background.

The universe possesses a radiation of super-frequency and super-penetration, pervading all space.

The ether, which Einstein eliminated, returns, but it is a dynamic, not a static, ether.

That deep news interests a few.

Secretary Mellon says 1930 will be a super-year, money abundant, interest rates low, business good.

That interests everybody, violently.

Infinite time, space and ether will take care of themselves; 1930 and business must be attended to at once.

Now that the "big wind" that swept through Wall Street, blowing away paper profits, has died down, there are sad hearts, but no real losses.

Apparent values, born of imagination and outrageous issues of watered stock, have shrunk by more than twenty-three billions of dollars in three months.

But our national property is all here, including the nicely printed watered stock.

When one concern assembles a few "public utility concerns" and prints 60,000,000 shares of wind and water, with 2,000,000 shares of preferred and heaven knows how many obligations of the assembled companies ahead of the 60,000,000 shares, something must happen. It did happen.

Among all the sorrows of Wall Street, however, bright spots stand out. Actual dividends declared in 1929 up to December 28 totaled more than $4,462,000,000, an increase of more than a thousand million dollars over 1928.

We are really not poor, only a little discouraged, some of us, at the idea of beginning over again.

How the years drag for the young! How they fly for the old!

A man past sixty knows that it is only a step to 1931.

A child cannot believe that another Christmas will ever come.

The earth, according to scientists, will last millions of millions of years. But "a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night."

But that is no excuse for not getting the best possible results from each of 1930's 365 days.

You have, gentle readers, about 119,305,999 American brothers and sisters.

The bureau of economic research puts our population at 119,306,000, including you.

We have increased 14,000,000 in ten years, while keeping out, largely, the "unfit European population that breeds crime," according to advocates of restricted immigration.

But we have not kept out crime itself. We have plenty of that.

THE NEW OAKLAND 8

$1045 AND UP

General Motors' Lowest-Priced Eight . . .

. . . the Car with Superior Performance

Today a new eight-cylinder motor car makes its appearance. It is the newest General Motors eight and by several hundreds of dollars the lowest in price. It is the New Oakland Eight with bodies by Fisher.

The New Oakland Eight develops 85 horsepower and is the first stock car of its size and weight to employ an engine of such high power. Since performance depends largely on the ratio between horsepower and weight, the New Oakland Eight is exceptionally fast and powerful because it produces one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight.

The New Oakland Eight has all the smoothness which results from the overlapping power impulses inherent in eight-cylinder engine design. In addition, it enjoys exclusive mechanical advantages which make it even smoother and more delightful to drive.

Several of the engineers who participated in creating General Motors' first eight back in 1914 were responsible for the development of the New Oakland Eight. To this latest task they brought a wide knowledge of eight-cylinder design. It is reasonable to expect that the Oakland is a finer eight because of this fact.

A demonstration will reveal how well the New Oakland Eight merits the description "the car with superior performance."

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

NEW SERIES PONTIAC BIG 6

$745 AND UP

A Famous Name—A Finer Car . . .

Introducing Important Improvements

The announcement of the first Pontiac in 1926 brought to the low-price field a new order of beauty, performance and reliability. And each Pontiac announcement since that time has introduced a car which represented an improvement even over its own highly regarded predecessors.

Now comes the New Series Pontiac Big Six—an even finer car with a famous name. It retains all those excellent qualities which have been responsible for Pontiac's success in the past. And in addition it introduces many improvements.

New bodies by Fisher make this latest Pontiac Big Six more beautiful than ever.

The smoothness of Pontiac's 60-horsepower engine is further increased by the use of rubber engine mountings. Pontiac's non-squeak four-wheel brakes are now even more efficient. A sloping non-glare windshield adds to its safety. Greater handling ease results from the use of a new type of steering mechanism. Improved Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers give increased riding comfort.

Come to our showroom and see this finer car with a famous name—the New Series Pontiac Big Six.

The New Series Pontiac Big Six, $745 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Shock absorbers standard equipment. Bumpers and spring covers at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Purina Lay Chow (Egg Mash) sells for $3.10 per bag. It sure makes 'em lay.
We already know one man to whom Santa brought a complete set of dishes—the gift of the Missus.
Do You Have Enough Hopper Space?
Hens will not eat enough egg mash unless it is easy for them to get to it at all times. High egg production demands plenty of mash feeder space.
Our mash hoppers are a good investment.

Another Contribution
An' how we like 'em. "Is you a native of dis heah region?" "What you mean, native?" "I means, was you livin' heah when you was born, or wuz you born whilst livin' someplace else?"
We want this space to be useful. If you've any announcements:

parties, sales, box suppers—anything—let us know and we'll see that you get some free publicity.
We unloaded another car of Wayne feeds this week.
We Overheard This
—after Christmas conversation:
"Where d'ja get the ring?"
"Christmas present from the boy friend."
"Quite a surprise, I'll bet."
"Gosh, yes. He certainly was."
Life behind the footlights may be glamorous, but these young folks sav it has nothing on life behind the headlights on a moonlight night.
Geo. Russell is feeding Wayne Dairy feed and he tells us that he never had his cows do as well as they are this winter.
Better get started on this feed and cut the cost of producing milk.
They say that when a friend of his met the Prince of Wales the other day he said, "I say, Prince, ole chap, you've fallen off some since I last saw you, what?"

Christmas cigars, we are informed by a friend, will burn if you have a good bed of coals ready for them.
We have Purina Calf Chow and the Wayne calf meal and you can raise a calf for about one-half the cost of milk with either of these.
Rinerd Knoblet is feeding Wayne cattle fatter to a bunch of fattening cattle.
Cow Chow fed right will keep those cows in fine condition which means lower cost of producing milk. You can't control the price of milk but you can control the cost of producing it.
Cream of Wheat flour sure makes good bread and by getting it here doesn't cost you any more than ordinary flour.
Wm. Merchant has some pigs to sell.

Attention Americans

We wish to announce to our customers that we have just ordered our first car of Premium Gasoline, which will be sold to the public for the same price as regular. All during 1930 at least, we are going to supply our customers with the same grade of Premium Gasoline which is one step into Hi-Test.

Be sure and watch this space next week, and we will tell you the name of this wonderful product and we hope to give you the date of our evening of free entertainment for everybody.

We consider ourselves very fortunate in being able to furnish you with a Hi-Test Gasoline at the regular price of the average gas. We realize that we must give to our patrons even more for their money than they have ever received before.

We are also going to give away for one whole week, beginning at some early date, certain kinds of useful merchandise just to show our appreciation of the fine business which you have given us in the past eight years.

Don't forget to watch for our ad next week.

Yours for better service,

The Crippled Lady of Peribonka

By James Oliver Curwood

WNU Service
(c) 1929, Doubleday Doran & Co., Inc.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Introducing some of the people of the pretty little French-Canadian village of Peribonka, particularly the Crippled Lady, idol of the simple inhabitants, and heroine of the epic destined to live long in the village annals.

CHAPTER II.—How the romance of Molly Brant, sister of the great Indian chief, Joseph Brant, and Sir William Johnson, in pre-revolutionary days, comes down to today with the birth of a son, Paul, to Molly Kirke, wife of a powerful New York financier, and her death when Paul is thirteen years old. Molly Kirke was a descendant of Molly Brant, and her boy has many of the Indian characteristics. At thirty-two Paul marries Claire Durand, daughter of his father's business partner. He is in charge of an immense engineering work on the Mistassini river, near Peribonka, which his millionaire father has undertaken, but his Indian blood deplores the destruction of the wilderness, and his thoughts are more of Carla's Haldan-ness than the Crippled Lady—than of his work.

CHAPTER III.—Paul's wife is in Europe, she having no inclination to live in "those horrible woods." He goes to see in Carla, daughter of a central European immigrant, with her devotion to her invalid mother and her work of educating the village children, his ideal of womanhood.

CHAPTER IV.—Paul writes to his wife, urging her to join him, though Carla is the inspiration of the letter. Later that evening, passing the Haldan home, he hears Carla crying. He enters the cottage. Mrs. Haldan, long a hopeless invalid, is dead. Paul's efforts to comfort her, he feels, bring them closer together.

CHAPTER V.—Claire announces her intention of joining Paul on the Mistassini in a short time. She also writes to Carla, of whom she has heard from Paul, a letter of kindly sympathy, on the death of her mother.

CHAPTER VI.—Paul goes to Quebec to meet Claire, and brings her to his temporary home. Though she is apparently glad to be with him, and evinces warm friendship for Carla and Paul's other friends, he feels she is only there because she feels it her duty. She is not really happy. He becomes aware of a gulf between him and his wife.

CHAPTER VII

Claire came to the Mistassini on the first of June. It was the fifteenth when they went to what Paul called the Big gorge, ten miles back in the rocky forests. This is the date which will remain a long time on the calendars of the simple-hearted folk north of Lac St. Jean, because of the miracle which happened on it. It is a date almost to be canonized. Priests speak of it, and people point it out, as a day of infallible proof of the omnipotence of God.

Lucy-Belle is not remembered, though it was she who planned the expedition to the gorge. In it, besides herself, were her husband and Paul.

Claire and Carla. For two days preceding the journey Paul had men on the rough and narrow trail clearing it of obstructions and overhanging limbs and brush so that they might travel over it on horseback.

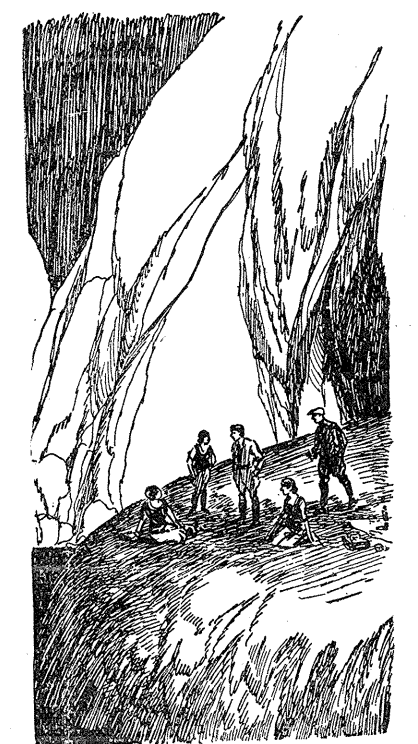

Paul had seen Claire turn white and tremble at the foaming unrest of the Mistassini beating eternally against its rocks, just as he had felt her shiver, one evening, in a deep and gloomy place in the forest, where the wind was whistling through the pine tops over their heads. He had taken her hand, and her fingers had clung tightly to his, as if these things which he loved sent a horror through her.

On the morning of this eventful fifteenth of June, with sunshine and birds about them, he and Derwent rode a little behind their wives and Carla, and never had Claire looked so lovely to him. Her beautiful body seemed vibrant with the thrill of the day, her voice was sweet to hear, her eyes were filled with laughter, until he could almost make himself believe she loved the things which she was facing, and which had so completely conquered her until now. Her unhatted golden head and Carla's dark one rode side by side, one a shining radiance in the sun, the other richly lustrous, with gleamy pools and seas of darker shadow in it.

For half a mile they followed a trail so close to the river that its roaring tumult drowned their voices and cobwebby drifts of spray came to wet their faces. Through this Paul rode close to the side of his wife, and saw her smile and fight to hide its effect upon her. Then they struck Indian file into the narrow, rocky, deeply rooted trail to the gorge, with Paul at the head of the little procession and Derwent following last. Occasionally the trail widened so that Paul could drop back and ride beside Claire, and each time he noted a little more in her face and eyes the thing she was fighting against, her dislike of the black forests and the earthy smelling swamps and the rock fragments of hills they were traveling through.

Toward mid-afternoon they came to the Big gorge. Those who have seen it can never forget the spectacle of its thundering water tearing itself out of a finger of the cavernous Laurentians, crashing through the open for a space in whirling maelstroms, then narrowing into a sullen, oily-looking avalanche of irresistible force as it descends into a chasm whose rock walls become higher and closer, until, at last, its fury and voice disappear again into the bowels of the Laurentians, making the earth tremble with its subterranean rumble and roar.

Its effect on Claire was not what Paul had anticipated. To his amaze-

To His Amazement It Was She Who Suggested They Spread Their Luncheon on the Edge of a Great Slab of Rock.

ment it was she who suggested they spread their luncheon on the edge of a great slab of rock which projected into the stream, and from where they could look upon the wonderful play of water below them. This rock, several acres in extent, was covered with soil which was continually absorbing moisture from the river, so that it had clothed itself with a carpet of flowers and grass until it was an oasis of beauty in the heart of a rock-visaged landscape which otherwise would have possessed little to offset its more forbidding aspects. It was Claire who also selected the spot for their tablecloth and who arranged their places afterward so that all might sit looking toward the mouth of the overhung chasm, several hundred yards downstream from the rock which held its tenure like an indomitable guardian before it. Between their position and the abyss of the gorge was a black and irresistible sweep of water which had the appearance of a flood of boiling oil on its way to the mouth of a huge funnel. Halfway to the orifice a rock slowly wearing away with the centuries reared its grim and battered head out of the stream, cutting it like a knife in two equal parts. Even about this jagged tooth of stone was no glint of sunlit whiteness of froth or foam, and no sound came from this part of the channel except a sullen murmur and hiss, lending still greater reality to the caprice of thought that water must metamorphose itself to oil before the throat of the gorge would receive it. It was from the other side of the table rock that the chief tumult came, where for half a mile or more the huge churns of the river bed were at work, slashing and twisting the down-rushing floods until Paul thought they were an inspiring and beautiful thing to look upon.

Yet it was the darker and more sinister side that Claire chose, with a scene under their eyes that was colorfully awesome but equally unbecomingly beautiful.

As they ate their luncheon she let him know, for the first time, something of the strange fear which possessed her whenever she was near the fury of rushing water. He was surprised she should speak of it now, and not at some time when they had been alone. Derwent roused the confusion in her by saying, in answer to a question asked by Carla, that no living creature whose habitat was land could exist for more than a few seconds in the oily Charybdis below them.

Claire shrugged her slim shoulders and looked with unafraid eyes upon what Derwent had accredited with the omnipotence of superdestruction.

"Were you ever haunted by a dream?" she asked. "I have been, since childhood. Most children dream of falling from ladders and housetops, of seeing ghosts, of running away from dangers—but mine was always of water. It has remained with me, I am terribly afraid of water, but only when it is angry. The ocean terrifies me when it lashes itself white. I found a lovely place to paint in Cornwall, but the surf was always beating against the cliffs and drove me away. Water like this below us does not disturb me at all. It is so smooth and unbroken, like the ripples in Carla's hair when it is down—so soft and velvety looking as it turns over and over that I can scarcely believe what you have said, Doctor Derwent. I would jump into it without fear, while back there—where it is breaking itself into spray and foam—I would never have the courage to start!"

"There you might live—here there could be no possibility of it," said Derwent.

"I can almost fancy walking upon it without wetting my shoes, it is so firm and substantial looking," persisted Claire.

"Did you ever stand on a mountain top and look down into the clouds and think how nice it would be to jump off into one of the cozy little nests they make?" asked Lucy Belle. "I have. Once I think I might have done it if Colin hadn't held me. He says I would have had another mile to go after I hit the cloud. But this down here doesn't appeal to me like a nice, white cloud all filled with feathers. It makes me think of a—a big boa constrictor running into a hole! I wouldn't try to walk on it, or jump into it, unless Colin fell in first and I had to help him."

"Would you—then?" asked Paul. Lucy-Belle meditated for a moment. "Of course I would," she said. "Do you suppose I would let him go into that tunnel alone?"

"I wonder. Life is a precious thing. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred it is more precious than the person we live with. We don't idealize the women who burn themselves on their husbands' funeral pyres in India. Do we?"

"I don't think so. Their sacrifice was inspired by duty and a religious faith. Neither takes the place of love. But if Colin were down there, going to a death like that, I would want to go with him. I would go. I cannot explain it. Isn't there a difference?"

"Yes—a difference that is infinite," said Claire. "In this instance a woman would be joining the man she loved in a final hour of life, that they might be together in the supreme moment. It would be choosing between a few more minutes with him or a few more years without him, and minutes measured by love are more priceless to a woman than years without it."

"Also to a man," said Derwent, holding his wife's hand closely for a moment. "I don't think we would hesitate to take the leap. Do you, Paul?"

"No."

He was looking at Carla, who was gazing meditatively upon the viscous sweep of water below them. She looked up almost in the moment his glance went to her. Her lips moved, as if for an instant she were on the point of speaking to him, and to him alone. Then she caught herself, and turned her gaze to the river again.

"A woman's love for a man isn't always like that," she said, and something in her voice strangely thrilled Paul. "I think there is a love so great that it is cowardly for it to deliberately die, a love so complete that when its other half goes there is still heaven left in memories of it. It is wicked to take the breath of human life from such a love because of a selfish desire not to live alone. I think Lucy-Belle, if it came to the real test God would give you strength to hold yourself back. You would not die. You would live, and cherish the memories of your love like a garden of beautiful flowers."

It was as if a cathedral bell had tolled softly among them, so wonderfully gentle and strange was Carla's voice. Carla knew. That was the thought which gripped Paul, and it held the others. She had passed through the fire at which his wife and Lucy-Belle were only guessing, and it was from her soul, not her lips, that evidence had come. Claire gave a little start at his side, and her face and eyes grew suddenly and vividly filled with light as she looked at Carla, as if all in a second a great and half-expected truth had come to possess her. Stranger even than the change in her face was the way in which she found Paul's hand and held it tenderly and warmly between her own. Never had the thrill of her entered into him as during these moments. He closed his hands tightly about hers. But he was looking at Carla!

Lucy-Belle sprang to her feet and drew Derwent after her.

"Let's not get sentimental!" she cried. "I'm going to throw all kinds of things down to my boa constrictor and see what he does with them. This to begin with—" and she flung out a paper plate which curved and circled, until, lighting gracefully upon the surface of the torrent below, it was caught like a feather and whipped with the speed of a bullet toward the maw of the gorge, without so much as getting its inner side wet.

Claire gave a gasp of amazement.

"I did not dream the water sped as swiftly as that!" she exclaimed. "But see! It is as I said! The plate is going—it has disappeared into the tunnel—and not once was it ruffled or upset. Back where the water is breaking and roaring it would have been destroyed."

"Wait!" said Derwent. He rolled the short log which they had used for a seat to the edge of the cliff, and with Paul's help flung it on end and flung it over. "There goes a man," he laughed. "Now see what happens!"

They stood close to the sheer edge of the table rock and saw the log as it struck the water. There was an oily splash, and for a few yards the wood drifted away as smoothly as the carved Claire's lips, then swiftly a frightened look gathered in its place. A hand had reached up, a terrible, unseen hand that had gripped the log like a living thing and dragged it down until no chip or shadow of it rode the liquid serpent under them.

"Hold your eyes near the rock!" commanded Derwent.

Breathlessly they watched. Half a minute later, as it spewed up by the monster who had swallowed it, the log reappeared near the huge fang which split the stream, struck against it, and climbed half its length out of the water, then sank back and disappeared again, this time to be seen no more.

"Gone," said Derwent. "And if you stood at the other end of the gorge five or six miles from here, you would never see that log come through. It is ground to pieces, goes out of existence in whatever there is between the walls of the chasm, which no man has ever explored, and none ever will. Are you satisfied?"

Claire was staring, wide-eyed.

"I believe it—now," she said. Lucy-Belle had turned a little white. "Still—I would jump in," she maintained, looking at Derwent.

Again Paul looked at Carla. The calm and placid beauty of her face seemed accentuated by what they had seen.

"And the wonder of it is there are so many who believe that Nature and God are not One!" she said, only for him. "Is it possible that in the blindness of our egoism we shall always fail to understand the significance of such things as that? It is a written word, in the hand of God, just as the Peribonka, with its gentleness and sunshine, is another and different message for us. That is what I believe."

Paul nodded. "So do I," he said, and felt the desire of all the world to take Carla's head against his breast and hold it there.

Guilt fastened itself upon him, and a little later, inspired by the sweetness of her manner toward him, he whispered to his wife: "Claire, you are wonderful! God knows I hope some day to make you happy!"

"You will," she answered, and the gentle mystery in her voice and eyes stirred him with a deep emotion.

Until the play grew tiresome they brought sticks and chunks of wood from the edge of the timber and fed them to the hidden hands of the stream. The result was always the same, except that chips and grass and very light pieces of wood raced swiftly and safely away, like the pasteboard plate, as if they were too insignificant to attract attention from below. But with the heavier objects there was a variation so small in what happened that the watchers on the rock were amazed and fascinated, and started a little game of guessing how many seconds would pass before Lucy-Belle's huge snake spat up an object and then swallowed it again.

To end their sport Paul and Derwent staggered from the edge of the timber with a forty-foot log, which had lain so long in the drying sun and wind that they could bear its weight on their shoulders, and before this was tossed over the five made their guesses, the latter to entertain the other four at dinner the next day.

"I've a notion to ride this log through the gorge!" exclaimed Lucy-Belle. "I want to know what is under and between those walls which you say no one has ever explored, Colin. What do you suppose can be there?"

"An inferno of devils, I imagine," replied her husband.

"Possibly not. Fairies might live there," suggested Claire.

"A black and sunless place where lovely water maids without eyes frolic in the darkness," added Paul.

"Or a kingdom of Micomicron, where dreams are made and sent out into the world," said Carla.

Derwent was preparing his end of the log for a final heave. "I insist it is a place of devils and death. Still, like Lucy-Belle, I'd like to see what's there. After all, it's fifty million years of—mystery! Are you ready, Paul?"

"Ready!" The log pitched down, and as it went the end of it swung like a living thing and struck Paul. Even before the blow—in the lightning flash of time when eyes behind could see it sweeping upon him—a sudden scream filled his consciousness, and as the timber caught him he saw it was Claire whose cry had tried to warn him. Then he was over. With photographic clearness his eyes beheld his fate. The water seemed to reach up and catch him on its oily breast, and for a brief instant after this there was a sensation not unpleasant about its hold. For some unaccountable reason he felt no sense of fear or terror even when forces that were irresistible but gentle pulled him down. He knew it was death, the death they had played with and lightly talked about, yet its presence closing about him did not rob his mind of its vision and judgment, nor frighten him into senseless wrestling with it. He would come up again, alive, near the jagged tooth of rock; after that would be his end, and in such an hour as this seconds became eternities of life. His wife, Carla, Lucy-Belle, and Derwent were still nearer to him than the final stroke of death; he would see them, especially Claire and Carla, when he looked back in those few moments of grace which the monster of the undertows would give him. These two, and the supreme faith which had wrought a comradeship between him and all the forces of Nature, gave him, instinctively and without effort, the courage not to be afraid.

The undercurrent's indraughts and refluxes carried him with a quiet and deliberate leisureliness, which gave him no physical discomfort except that of holding his breath. Yet they were so powerful, so utterly sure in their grip, that when he made an experimental effort to reach the surface it was as if he were struggling against

Paul Saw the Swift, Deliberate Plunge Through Space of the Slim Body, a wooden wall. To save the air in his lungs he restrained himself from further exertion, and when, at last, he came up near the rock, and felt fresh air in his face, he had suffered no greater inconvenience than if he had taken a long dive. His first thought was of the log, his second of the granite snag. Against this, after a moment, he felt himself being slowly lifted, and throwing out his hands he was thrilled by the fibrous, slimy touch of a rope-like substance which had gathered thickly about it just under the surface of the water. River weeds and flag had wrapped themselves in a tough belt about the rock, and so firmly had they attached themselves to it that he knew they would, for a time at least, hold up his weight from the sucking undertow which was already beginning to drag at his limbs.

He looked toward the cliff and raised one hand to wave at the four who stood there. With the distance, and the water in his eyes, he could not make out which was Claire or Carla or Lucy-Belle. But something told him it was his wife who stood nearest to the edge, with her arms reaching out toward him.

And then, on the cliff, one woman said to another: "Are you going with him?" The woman spoken to gazed wide-eyed—motionless—voiceless—and after a moment of tense waiting the other said: "Then—I am!" To be continued.

NEW CHEVROLET SIX IS MUCH IMPROVED

Concluded from first page.

Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers at all four wheels, Fisher slanting non-glare VV windshield and vastly improved four wheel braking system are some of the highlights.

Brakes are of the internal expanding "articulated shoe type" both front and rear, those on the front wheels having two shoes while those on the rear have four. These brakes, also, are fully enclosed giving perfect protection against water and dirt.

The brakes represent an innovation not only in the Chevrolet line but in the entire passenger car field. The length of service that these linings give in the new design Chevrolet brakes is second to none. The brakes may be adjusted without the removal of any plates from the brake drum and operate with equal efficiency on all four wheels. The brake drums are 11 in. in diameter. The emergency brake is an independent unit operating on the rear drums. A new method of construction known as the "articulated shoe type" assures uniform braking under all conditions of temperature. Tests at the General Motors Proving Ground show that the new brake will stop a car traveling thirty miles per hour in two and two-tenths seconds within 48 feet.

The attractive new closed bodies, in a variety of colors, carry the famous Fisher stamp of craftsmanship. Eight models, three of which are new to Chevrolet, comprise the line. Of the eight, five are closed cars and three are open. The closed cars are the sedan, coach, coupe, sport coupe and club sedan. The open models are the roadster, sport roadster and phaeton. The models new to the line this year are the sport coupe, sport roadster and club sedan.

The six cylinder valve-in-head engine introduced a year ago, after four years of research and development, has been further improved and refined. Since the introduction of the six a year ago, test cars have run up more than a million miles of driving at the General Motors Proving Ground in the working out and justifying of the improvements found in the 1930 car. All the resources of the General Motors Research Laboratories and the Chevrolet experimental laboratory were placed at the disposal of the Chevrolet engineering staff in this work.

Specifically the rear axle has been redesigned while the differential unit has been strengthened and its oiling system redesigned to insure long life and quiet operation.

Smother operation of the engine and longer life are assured through the use of light weight pistons. Steel-backed crankshaft bearings have been adopted because they are more durable.

Easier riding and greater quietness are accomplished through a new type of self-adjusting spring shackle in which bushings in the spring eyes and brackets are eliminated, thus doing away with wear. Hardened and ground tubular pins, with tapered ends, are pressed into the springs and brackets while oil forced into them forms a large reservoir, making frequent lubrication unnecessary.

Another improvement bringing about easier riding, is found in the Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers in the form of a rigid link rod instead of a strap connecting the operating arms with the chassis and insuring positive transmission of all rebound movements.

Konjola Only Medicine That Did Any Good

Nervousness and Stomach Trouble Vanish When New Medicine Goes To Work.

"Konjola is the only medicine that did any good," said Mr. Henry Mulder, 415 Graham street, SW., Grand Rapids, Mich., "and I indorse it because what it did for me I am sure it will do for others. I was in a highly nervous condition for some time. This was no doubt, due to the misery I suffered from stomach trouble. After every meal I had gas pains and due to pressure my heart palpitated. I became weaker and weaker as first one medicine and then another failed to bring relief.

"More to please my friends than anything else I decided to try Konjola after they kept insisting that it was just what I needed. And that's what Konjola proved to be—just the medicine I needed. Quickly my digestion was restored and my nerves quieted. Surely my case is a mighty good proof of Konjola's merits." Konjola is sold in Cass City at Burke's Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Advertisement 1 unusual accuracy is found on the new Chevrolet. A double float in the tank insures correct reading of this gauge regardless of the position of the car.

Appearance and riding qualities of the car have been improved through a change in the tire size from a 4.50-20 to 4.75-19. The rim diameter has been reduced one inch.

Disc wheels are provided as standard equipment on all models except the sport roadster and sport coupe. The wire wheels on these models are equipped with drop center rims and are demountable at the hub. The large wire wheel hubcaps are chromium plated and of beautiful and distinctive design. The neat Chevrolet emblem at the center with raised polished border and black center is surrounded by a hammered background. This is surrounded by a polished ring within a black ring.

Any possibility of the hood rattling has been eliminated through the addition of a rubber bumper mounted on the upturned flange of the fender skirt, against which the hood bears.

The instrument panel design and arrangement this year is entirely new. The instruments are all mounted on a single carrier plate which is assembled from the rear. This permits the removal of individual instruments for service. Spark and throttle controls as well as choke are located on the instrument panel, which is indirectly lighted.

The sport roadster and sport coupe are equipped with wire wheels. Both have rumble seats, that in the sport roadster being of the flush type. Spare wheel and carrier are mounted on the back. The sport roadster is finished in smart black Duco with Avres gray moulding. Body striping and wire wheels are Shalimar orange, while the seats are gray with plain back and tufted seat cushion. Top material is brown and white whipcord on the inside and gray teal on the outside. The back curtain is separable to permit better ventilation. The sport coupe is finished in Stanford brown with Beaver brown roof and rear quarter. Mouldings are of Beaver brown while the body striping and wire wheels are Shalimar orange. The interior is trimmed in a beautifully harmonizing mohair.

The club sedan is finished in Llama gray Duco with black rear quarter. Mouldings are black with Eos red striping. Wheels are Llama gray striped with Eos red. The mohair harmonizes with the general ensemble.

In the phaeton and roadster the seats have been lowered an inch and a half and in the phaeton the rear seat has been tilted. Seat and back cushions have been made deeper, giving greater riding comfort. Trim material of the phaeton is gray while the seat cushions are tufted with plain seat backs. Top material is brown and white whipcord on the inside and gray teal on the outside. It is finished in Saxon gray Duco with Bloss Vale green moulding and Talina brown striping. The wheels are Saxon gray with Bloss Vale green stripe. In the roadster gray Spanish material grain with plain back and tufted cushion is used for upholstery while the top material is brown and white whipcord on the inside with gray teal on the outside. The back curtain is separable to permit better ventilation. Buttons in the top hold the curtain open. The roadster is finished in Saunton blue Duco with black mouldings and Tusk ivory stripings. Wheels are black with Tusk ivory stripings, also. In the coach the left front seat is hinged only at the floor. The back and seat being in fixed relation. The right front seat is of the folding type, hinged at both floor and back. Appearance of the body has been improved by a new contour of the window reveals. The body is finished in Classic blue Duco with ivory stripings and wheels to match. The interior of the body is finished with a high grade velour of harmonizing color. The coupe follows the same design as to window reveals while the body is finished in Scaraba green Duco with Arizona gray mouldings and Tusk ivory stripings. Wheels are finished to match with the velour trim of a harmonizing color.

The sedan stands out as a de luxe model with chrome-plated cowl lights and attractive chrome-palated cowl mouldings. The body is finished in Boulevard maroon with black mouldings, rear quarter and wheels. Striping on both body and wheels is of Aurora red while the trim is in harmonizing color of a high grade mohair.

-Chevrolet announces THE GREATEST CHEVROLET IN CHEVROLET HISTORY

Today, Chevrolet presents the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History—a smoother, faster, better Six—with beautiful new bodies by Fisher.

Basically, it is the same sturdy, substantial Six which won such tremendous popularity in 1929. But it is a greater car in every way—for there are scores of vital improvements which contribute to comfort, performance, endurance and safety.

An improved six-cylinder valve-in-head motor, with its capacity increased to 50 horsepower; four Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers; fully-enclosed internal-expanding weather-proof brakes; a new dash gasoline gauge; heavier and stronger rear axle; Fisher non-glare windshield; larger tires——these are typical of the many improvements found throughout the entire design.

But most impressive of all—this smoother, faster, better Six is available—

---at greatly reduced prices!!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public. No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this new car. Visit your Chevrolet dealer—see this car—ride in it—and judge for yourself the sensational value it represents.
