JR.-SR. BANQUET A DELIGHTFUL EVENT

44 Will Receive Diplomas at the Commencement Program on June 10.

The fascinating charm of the Orient was brought to the high school building at Cass City Monday night through the clever placing of Chinese lanterns with colored lights in the auditorium and main hall and "A Night in the Orient" was artistically depicted through various Oriental decorations. In the subdued lighting effect, the first event of the commencement season, the Junior-Senior banquet, was successfully enacted.

Seated at four long tables, decorated with bowls of flowers, hand painted place cards portraying Chinese scenes, pastel colored nut cups and napkins and lighted pastel tapers tied with colored ribbons, the members of the two classes, the board of education and their wives, members of the school faculty and the school janitors and their wives were partners of an excellent menu prepared by ladies of the Evangelical church and served by 15 sophomore girls clad in Chinese costumes. The following was the menu:

- Fruit Cocktail
- Celery Radishes Olives
- Hot Rolls Chop Suey Rice
- Perfection Salad Cake
- Ice Cream
- Tea

The programs for the evening had hand-painted covers of leatherette paper and the pages followed the Chinese style with the title page at the back of the program.

Miss Janet Allured, president of the junior class, who was born in China while her parents resided in that country as missionaries; graciously presided as toastmaster. Miss Evelyn Robinson, a junior, extended hearty greetings in her toast, "Welcome to the Orient." Lewis Pinney, vice president of the senior class, gave the response in a "Jinrikisha Ride." J. A. Lewis, representing the faculty, had for his toast, "The Chinese Wall." Little Dorothy Holcomb entertained the company with an Oriental fantasy, a clever portrayal of a Japanese dance. Mrs. Morley was her accompanist. Miss Irene Stafford gave the "Japanese Samdman" as a vocal solo, Miss Phyllis Lenzner serving as her accompanist. Miss Holcomb and Miss Stafford responded with encore numbers.

Following the delightful program hour, the remainder of the evening was spent in cards and dancing.

The junior class committee in charge of arrangements were Evelyn Robinson, Blanch Stafford, Loma Reagh, Audrey Bliss, Elizabeth Knight, Marjorie Boyes, Frances Middleton, Alex Tyo, John Morris and Ray Fleener.

Baccalaureate Service.

The next event on the commencement program is the Baccalaureate service at the high school auditorium on Sunday evening, June 8. The address will be given by Rev. Chas. W. Lyman, pastor of the Evangelical church, and music will be given by a union choir under the direction of Mrs. I. D. McCoy.

Class Day.

Class Day exercises will be held at the auditorium on Monday evening, June 9, when the following program will be given:

- Piano solo, "Liebestraume"
- (Liszt) Janet Allured
- Salutatory Mildred Karr

Pupils of Pioneer Days Write Old Schoolmates at Deford and Grant

School reunions are interesting occasions not only because one meets old schoolmates, but because one hears through letters from old friends who are unable to attend.

The Chronicle is printing this week three of these epistles. One came to the Deford school and two to the Heron school.

Eldon W. Clark Writes.

May 13, 1930.

Deford School, Deford, Michigan.

Dear Friends and Pupils:

I am in receipt of a printed postal card inviting attendance at a reunion of all former teachers, pupils and friends of the Deford school on Saturday, May 17, 1930.

No name is appended and I find it difficult to write a friendly, personal letter without someone to write to. I suppose the only way for me to write anything that will be of interest, will be to imagine myself back in the old schoolhouse as it stood over thirty years ago and imagine myself with a group of about seventy active, wriggling bodies with bright, intelligent, mischievous eyes and inquiring minds ready to receive instruction to assist in working out their various plans and molding themselves into Commencement.

Hon. Webster H. Pearce, superintendent of public instruction, will deliver the commencement address on the evening of Tuesday, June 10, when the 44 members of the Class of 1930 will be presented with diplomas.

SPECIAL 7TH AND 8TH GRADE EXAMS

Special 7th and 8th grade examinations will be held over the state for rural school pupils who through sickness were unable to attend the regular examinations held recently.

The 7th grade examination will be held on Monday, June 2, and the 8th grade on Tuesday, June 3. In Tuscola county, the examinations will be held at the office of County Commissioner of Schools B. H. McComb at Caro, and in Sanilac county at the office of Harry Smith, county commissioner of schools, at Sandusky.

FARM PROFITS CHECK MOVEMENT TO CITIES

Michigan Conditions Cited by Dean Cox as Reasons for Decreased Migration.

Two methods of making profits from Michigan farms are expected by J. F. Cox, dean of agriculture at Michigan State College, to check any rapid movement of rural residents to the cities.

Dean Cox states that the diversity of crops and livestock which can be produced in Michigan make it possible for the operator of a small farm to make profits from the efficient management of poultry, dairy cattle, fruits, or field crops such as seeds or potatoes; and the owners of large acreage can operate their holdings profitably through the use of power machinery in the production of grain or other cash crops.

Improvements in living conditions are also cited by him as reasons for the stabilization of the farm population. Michigan farmers have the benefits of good roads, educational facilities are improving, and it is now possible for farmers to equip their homes with all the latest household conveniences.

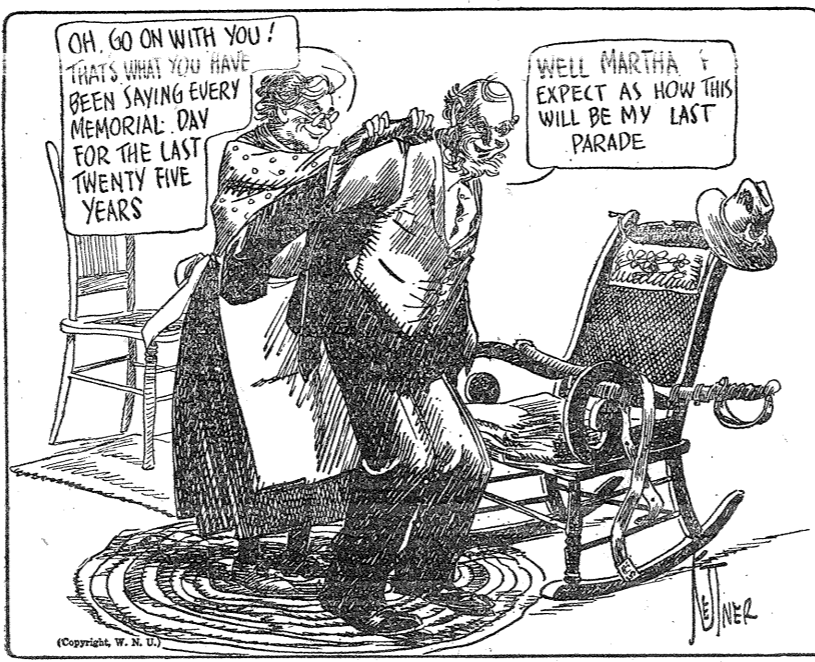

The use of group enterprises such as cooperative associations for the improvement of marketing conditions and of herd improvement associations for the improvement of production practices is pointed out by Dean Cox to be evidence of the farmers' continued interest in the future of their business.

PIONEER CELEBRATED 75th BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

Chris Seeger, one of Cass City's early pioneers, celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday Thursday. A surprise birthday dinner, at which Mr. Seeger was the guest of honor, was served at his home, two miles east and one and one-half south of Cass City. The table was centered with a large birthday cake bearing 75 candles.

Mr. Seeger was born in York state, May 22, 1855, and has been a continuous resident of Tuscola county for nearly 73 years, having moved to Cass City with his parents when less than three years of age. He remembers when portions of Tuscola county were a wilderness and relates many interesting experiences of the pioneer days.

Mr. Seeger's mother, Mrs. Rosanna Seeger was within a few days of being ninety years old when she passed away. He has one sister and one brother, Mrs. John Scriber, 72, and Michael Seeger, 74, both living in Cass City.

Chris Seeger is still real well and farms every day. Those who attended the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. John Scriber, Michael Seeger, Mr. and Mrs. John Seeger and son, Allison, Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, Mrs. Lavina Mallory and Ellis Mallory.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES PRINTED

The Chronicle's job printing department has printed a new telephone directory for the Wolverine Home Telephone Co. and the Kingston Home Telephone Co. which will be ready for distribution next week.

The new book contains the names of subscribers of both the Cass City and Kingston exchanges, and in addition to announcements of business houses of both towns, it carries the names of officers of both companies, rules, and toll reference lists for both Cass City and Kingston.

Two columns of names of telephone subscribers are printed on a page. This makes shorter lines and makes it more convenient to look up numbers than in the old book with the longer lines which extended across the page and left quite a space between a subscriber's name and his telephone number.

Cass City subscribers have become accustomed to have a farm subscriber's location listed by the number of miles distant from Cass City. This feature has been eliminated in the new phone directory and telephone patrons may find it an advantage to file away the old directory in a convenient place so that this information may be readily available when required.

MINISTERS OF CO. MET AT SUNSHINE CHURCH

The Tuscola County Ministerial Association met Monday, May 26, at the Sunshine Methodist church, eight miles west of Cass City. The meeting opened at 10:30 a. m. A paper given by Rev. J. E. Lutz of Gullford "Crime, Its Cause and Its Cure" and a paper by Rev. W. Lindsey of Vassar "Creative Preaching, or Building the Kingdom through the Pulpit," were both very much enjoyed. Luncheon was served at noon by the ladies of the Sunshine church. Special music by Rev. B. Ingersoll and Professor Gerber was a feature of the program. The next meeting will be a picnic in June at North Lake. Those who attended the meeting from Cass City Monday were Rev. P. J. Allured, Rev. C. W. Lyman, Rev. G. Hill, Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. B. Ingersoll.

BRIEF NEWS FROM TUSCOLA CO. SEAT

Mrs. Anna Schwab of Richville made application for a passport at the office of County Clerk Ormes, with the intention of sailing on the S. S. Harding for France on June 14 to visit the grave of her son, Arthur, who was killed in the late war. Mrs. Schwab is the first "Gold Star" mother to leave Tuscola county to visit the American burial grounds in France. Mrs. Schwab is the wife of Highway Commissioner Schwab of Denmark township.

The Pure Oil Co. of Chicago has released 153 descriptions in Tuscola county according to records in the office of Stanley Osburn, register of deeds. These cancelled oil leases are on property located mostly in Akron, Columbia and Elmwood townships.

Frank Humpert of Denmark township, Roy Haines of Tuscola township and Harlo Houghtaling of Fairgrove have been named as members of a board of review to act in the matter of reviewing the assessment of the Michigan Central Railroad in the Sebewaing River and Branches drain. The hearing will be held before Probate Judge Hill on June 4.

John Milic, charged with obtaining nearly $2,200 by means of a confidence game, from Joe Revi and wife of Wells township last August, was located near Buffalo, N. Y., where, it is said he was engaged in a similar practice. He was held for Tuscola county officers and Sheriff Kirk went to Buffalo the first of the week to bring Milic here for trial.

SEND 7 DELEGATES TO CO. CONVENTION

The May meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Curtis. Mrs. Mary Gekeler was the leader and read a very interesting article on "The Heritage of Every Child—To Be Well Born."

"That nation shall be greatest that best cares for its greatest asset, the child in its midst," an asset of more value than the national resources, the silver or gold, the cattle upon a thousand hills or the grain of a million fields," said the speaker. "The proper care of every child will make it possible for it to grow and develop, as did the child Jesus, who increased in stature, in wisdom, and in favor with God and man. This, then, should be the heritage of every child—to be well born, to grow mentally, to increase in stature, to be given an education that he might increase in wisdom, to be morally safeguarded and spiritually trained, that he might increase in favor with man and God."

During the business session the following delegates were elected to attend the county convention at Pleasant Hill June 3 and 4: Mrs. Z. Stafford, Mrs. William Curtis, Mrs. A. J. Knapp, Mrs. G. Hooper, Mrs. W. Schell, Mrs. M. McKenzie and Mrs. P. A. Koepfgen.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Milligan.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Voters of Tuscola County: At the invitation of many of the voters of this county I am offering myself as a candidate for nomination for Sheriff on the Republican ticket at the next September Primary election.

During the past eleven years I have been engaged in the retail meat business in the Village of Fairgrove and during the past three years have been a deputy sheriff under the late Sheriff McElowney. Your support of me in the Primary Election will be appreciated and if nominated I will endeavor to the best of my ability to make my administration worthy of the confidence you repose in me.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES RUSSELL

WAGNER SCHOOL CLOSED WITH PICNIC

Thursday was a gala day for the neighbors in the vicinity of the Wagner school. A picnic was held in Korte's grove on the banks of Cass river to celebrate the last day of school. A bountiful potluck dinner was served at noon and in the afternoon the school pupils had a frolic in the woods. "Charlie," pet Shetland pony, owned by the Korte children, provided great sport for the boys and girls. Mrs. Fred Korte, teacher of the Wagner school, presented her pupils with their promotion certificates. Miss Alvina O'Camb received a certificate for a perfect attendance with no tardy marks for the entire school year.

Cass City High School Seniors Make Plans for the Coming Year

With graduation less than two weeks away, a survey of the intention of members of the Class of 1930 of the Cass City High School shows one-fourth of the number undecided as to what their future activities will be. Very few are sure they will attend any college this fall.

Of the 44 students, 26 girls and 18 boys, six expect to enter college this fall, three will take business courses, two correspondence courses and six want to pursue county normal study courses. Six expect to pursue college courses in later years, three expect to take courses in business institutes in later years and one intends to study nursing at a future date. The remaining members of the class will spend the next few years at home or are uncertain as to what they will do.

Bernice Atkins, undecided; would like to attend some business college. J. C. Blades, physical education; will attend Mt. Pleasant college. Frank Bullock will stay home next year, but hopes to attend a business institute later.

Roberta Bond, interested in commercial course; to attend Baker Business Institute. Marguerite Carpenter, interested in commercial work; expects to attend some business institute.

THE GROWTH OF CITIES.

The growth of our country as revealed in the new census figures is a very uneven and spotty thing. As a rule the cities are making good gains. But the rural communities are lagging behind.

For some years large numbers of people have been moving out of the country districts into cities and towns. The census figures are making us realize the great change that this creates in American conditions.

Much of the unemployment complained of last winter must have been due to the fact that a surplus of labor was created by families that have moved from the farms into cities and towns.

The American people have ceased being primarily an agricultural people. The new town dwellers must look out that in transferring their homes to city and town streets, they do not lose that practical capacity that has made our people so successful in the past.

When the farmer moves into a town, he usually gets a job because he has learned to turn his hand to any kind of work. The townsman who can do only one kind of work is up against it.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF ADVERTISING

The enormous increase in newspaper advertising during the last few years has resulted because the business world has discovered that such publicity appeals to the human mind. It moves people to action.

The reason for this lies deep in human consciousness. There is something in the human mind that calls for some outside stimulus before it acts. Take, for instance, the way people respond to calls on them for philanthropic causes.

Suppose that two public causes of equal merit should desire such contributions from the people. Suppose that one of them should depend upon the fact that the public knows all about its good work, and should make no further effort to secure funds.

This principle applies in winning patronage for a place of business. The fact may be well known that a certain store is well conducted and gives good service.

If it solicits trade in some conspicuous way, of which newspaper advertising is by far the most efficient, economical, and practical, then it will stir the public to action, and its trade will largely increase.

THE SPIRIT OF IMPROVEMENT.

Results from campaigns for civic improvement often come slowly. There is a great deal of fine talk, but people go home and do about the same as before, and the promoters of the movement become discouraged and quit. And yet the constant dwelling upon the improvement idea produces its effect on the public mind.

Most of us could mention a number of towns and cities in Michigan where great gains have been made during recent years by efforts for civic and business improvement. We recall such communities 10 and 20 years ago, when they were just ordinary places.

Those thoughts that were spread among the people did not at once produce action. But they created the feeling among the people that they would like a finer community.

If a man was putting up a house, he decided that he wanted a tasteful one. Many householders were inspired to make improvements.

Let us not be disheartened in this community if our efforts for a finer community do not at once accomplish all we could wish.

ONE ON THE JUDGE.

Francis Bell, 16, deaf mute, was brought before Judge Henry H. Smith, charged with the theft of an automobile from Ray Surlow.

If it solicits trade in some conspicuous way, of which newspaper advertising is by far the most efficient, economical, and practical, then it will stir the public to action, and its trade will largely increase.

Judge Smith repeated the question and finally said: "I guess the boy is a little deaf."

The laughter could not be suppressed, and with the aid of an interpreter the boy pleaded guilty and was put on probation for two years. The judge enjoyed the joke. The boy is a student in the School for the Deaf at Flint.—Lapeer Press.

TAKE IT FROM DAD

By Frank H. Cheley

Cigarette Smoking

Bob came down to breakfast late and obviously a bit out of sorts.

Mother looked at Dad and Dad looked at mother, as much as to say, "What's wrong now?" "Bob, your clothes smell mighty smoky this morning," said mother, good naturedly.

"All one, and the same thing now, mother," said Bob. "And take it from me, its heck to be the only different guy at the show. I'm keeping my promise to you, but, say, do you really think it was fair to exact that promise from me just because I've always made good on my agreements with you."

There was just a bit of sarcasm in the boy's tone in spite of himself.

Father Smiththough scowled noticeably. "My boy, I'm sure mother will release you from that promise now. Such promises are necessary and desirable with children who cannot think or reason for themselves. They are not desirable for young men of your age. I know exactly what the social pressure is. I've been through it myself, my boy, and after I faced it squarely and thought the thing through for myself, I stuck by my promise, only from then on it was to myself. Now, I thoroughly enjoy being different. Why join the herd?"

"Oh, I know, Dad, but you're a Puritan. You would like to be different just as you always enjoy being the minority, but its so deucedly uncomfortable and makes you so conspicuous. Even the girls make fun of me. I'm no angel-child, and I hate to pose as one. I can't for the life of me see why it is all right for men to smoke cigarettes, but that it is terribly bad for boys."

"Bob," said Dad, with a good-natured smile, "the most difficult aspect of the whole question of conduct is this matter of conformity. Life seems organized to reduce itself to the commonplace. The cigarette has become social custom. Men of prominence on every hand, and women, too, as you well know, have accepted the edict just the same as they do fashions in clothes and fashions in speech and fashions in reading, and one of the great questions of the day really is, is it right for adults who are truly interested in youth to do anything that youth may not copy, for we know that a large part of a boy's essential education comes from imitating."

"Now, son, because I fully realized that we must sometime face this question again, and because I knew of your great admiration for the coaching ability and reputation of Gilmore Dobie, who for eleven years never lost a game, I clipped this from a paper sometime ago and slipped it into my card case."

"Probably Gilmore Dobie knows a good deal about what makes a boy strong and alert, and what causes him to be a failure. This is the special message he sends to you: 'It has been my experience that the use of tobacco, more particularly cigarettes, by boys under the age of twenty-one, is especially detrimental. I think there are two special reasons why tobacco should not be used by growing boys. First, tobacco is much more detrimental to the youth than the adult. It has a greater influence over the physical and mental activities of the boy, at the time in life when the resources of the mental and physical powers are taxed by the growth and general expansion, and cannot so well withstand the additional impediment of taking care of poisons and the derangement of the nervous system resulting from the smoking habit. Invariably this is evidenced by lack of youthful bloom, mental alertness and physical efficiency. Second, I find it almost invariably the rule that the smoking habit, when formed in early youth, takes a much more powerful hold on its victim and gradually increases its influence until finally it has created an inveterate smoker. Every boy who is ambitious to reach and retain the highest degree of physical and mental manhood, can, to a great extent, insure himself by abstaining from the use of tobacco in his early life.'

"Now, so much for that. My second reason is even more fundamental. My greatest objection to the cigarette is that it is typical of a whole range of personal indulgences. What were we saying the other day about citizenship and loyalties? The greatest loyalty in the world is loyalty to the best that's in you. Smoking cigarettes is a compromise with yourself on what you know is not the best that's in you, and it is the entering wedge of personal indulgence."

"From this morning on, Bob, you are free. No promise binds you. You are a big intelligent boy. If you can't think and reason now, you never will."

"And now it's harder than ever," said Bob with a gulp, "but I'll think it through. Mother, you burn up the batch that are in my overcoat pocket, will you?"

PUPILS OF PIONEER DAYS WRITE TO OLD SCHOOLMATES

er of the Deford people will remember Lois. Millicent was but a baby when we left Deford. Lois has four children, three girls and one boy, and Millicent has a little daughter. They are both living in Yankton, they live across the street from each other and not very far from where I live. Of the five boys, four are with me at home. The middle one of the group of boys is attending the School of Mines at Rapid City. All have finished high school, except the youngest, who is now 15 years and attending high school. One graduates from Yankton College this year and will go to Northwestern University next year for an advanced degree. One is attending the University of South Dakota and one is taking special training in commercial art.

I know that you would be greatly interested in things that I might tell you about South Dakota and some day perhaps I will be in Deford at a time when I can tell you about South Dakota.

From Chicago we went to Eagle Butte, S. Dak., in 1910, remaining at Eagle Butte, where I practiced law until 1919, at which time we moved to Yankton, S. Dak., which I think is one of the most beautiful little cities to be found anywhere.

Since coming to Yankton, the practice has been the usual practice of a lawyer in a small city. I formed a partnership with Mr. L. W. Henderson, under the firm name of Clark & Henderson, which was dissolved in 1927 by the death of Mr. Henderson. I then formed a partnership with Mr. A. L. Wyman under the firm name of Clark & Wyman which was dissolved in 1929 by the appointment of Mr. Wyman to the United States District Court. During the practice in Yankton, the firm has been called upon either to appeal or respond in the Supreme Court of the State of South Dakota forty-nine times. Forty-eight of the decisions have been handed down in these cases and are of record in the Northwestern Reporter. Two of the cases have been decided in the Federal Courts and are of record in the Federal Reporter, having been appealed from the United States District Court.

I have served in various capacities, among them a member of the Legislature and for seven years a member of the Board of Education of Yankton. As a matter of fact, I was partly cured of politics before I left Deford.

Would be very glad indeed if some one of my old friends at Deford would send me a copy of the proceedings on the 17th, if any is published and I would be very glad if each, and every one of my pupils would write me giving some idea of their activities and their interests in life.

Writing to you collectively, your individual faces have appeared before me as I wrote. Many of your names and faces are as distinct as if you were again sitting in the school room. Many interesting, ludicrous and solemn incidents come to my mind. I would relate some of these and call some of them back to your memory, but that would be to single out a few individuals, while as a matter of fact, all of you are precious memories.

Yours sincerely,
ELDON W. CLARK.

From W. O. Gage of the Soo.
406 E. Spruce St.
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.
May 15, 1930.

Mrs. Frank McCauley, Gagetown Mich. Dear Friend:

I received a letter from Mrs. J. D. Schenck of Royal Oak stating that a reunion of the "Pioneer Scholars of the old Huron School would be held May 17 on the old school grounds."

I would like very much to be there and renew old acquaintances but it will be impossible for me to attend.

I think this is what we used to call the Heron School and well I remember when the older boys used to get the younger lads over in the woods to a certain "battle ground" and have them fight it out.

I don't suppose many of my old schoolmates live in the vicinity or will even be able to attend.

If this letter reaches you in time I would like to have you remember me to all the friends and neighbors of my old school days you happen to talk to. I especially remember two school girl friends of our childhood days and often wonder where they are. I don't even know to whom I am writing this, but I remember Frank in a vague way.

Of course you know through Frank's folks that I am married and have three children, Shirley 9, Paul 12 and James 18. This is James' first year at Michigan State College, East Lansing.

With many wishes for a happy reunion at the old school grounds, I am,
Very sincerely yours,
W. O. GAGE.

From a Montana Rancher.

In a letter to his sister, Mrs. Frank McCauley of Gagetown, secretary of the Heron School Reunion Association, Lachland A. Thompson writes from Moccasin, Montana in part as follows:

"I remember when Claudie Martin and I used to look through the old geography and he would take one picture and I the other. As long as I got the picture of Montana with the saddle ponies everything was O. K. But I think I have got my share of old Montana by now. I have broken over 40 head of horses to ride, work and do everything; also have branded many all alone. I hitched all these alone except three head with which I had help. Now comes the tractor and power farming. O, Kate, when we are worn out instead of rusting out, they will say we have been a good old wagon.

"Have out 1,100 acres of wheat and have 400 acres of summer fallow and no man at present, but R. & G. are almost men now.

"I wish you would send me a snapshot of the bunch at the Heron school. Will you look on the old rail fence between dad's old forty and Pratt's place and see if the old Robin Redbreast still makes her nest there by the little culvert."

Meetings of old friends often happen unexpectedly. A gentleman dropped into Doerr's Restaurant Friday and remarked, that while he lived in this section 42 years ago, he didn't expect to meet anyone he knew. "I lived at Gageton then," remarked the proprietor. "My name is Tony Doerr." And then the stranger recognized a friend of youthful days. The stranger was Dr. Clark Sheppard, a cancer specialist of Findlay, Ohio.

CASS CITY DEFEATED CROSWELL HIGH 3-2

Cass City defeated Croswell at Croswell last Thursday in the best game of the year 3-2. Vatters hit his last year's stride and held Croswell to three safeties. The maroons scored one in the first, second and third innings and Croswell scored two in the sixth but couldn't crack the Cass City defense again. Edgerton led the locals with two hits in four trips to the plate.

Vassar game postponed—rain. Cass City scored 3 1/2 points at the state meet Friday and Saturday, Edgerton taking a third in the 40-yard dash and the relay team tying for third. The locals won their heat in the relay but the time was slower than the second heat.

St. Augustine's of Kazoo won the meet with 15 points.

WILL SHOW METHODS OF CURING ALFALFA

Methods of curing alfalfa in such a way that the bright color and the leaves will be retained in the hay will be demonstrated in 27 Michigan counties this year by members of the farm crops department from Michigan State College.

The windrow method of curing alfalfa saves labor in curing the hay and makes it possible to secure a product which brings good prices on the terminal markets. The leaves of alfalfa contain a high percentage of the food value possessed by the hay.

Two Irishmen, watching Shriners' parade:

"Who are those fellows, Mike?" "They're Shriners."

"And what are Shriners?" "Why, they're Masons."

"Sure and what are they paradin' for now? They're getting $18 a day."

A WHOPPER!

The young farmers were boasting about the size of the vegetables they had grown. Finally, one of them turned to Uncle Seth.

"What was the biggest thing you raised this year, Uncle Seth?"

"A squash."

"Well, how big was it?"

"We never measured it," drawled Uncle Seth, "but we used the seeds for snowshoes."—Boston Transcript.

Clever Stratagem

"That was a great scheme old Kewte worked."

"Didn't hear of it."

"Gave it out that the first of his eleven daughters to be married should have his entire fortune."

"What was the result?"

"Eleven elopements in one night. They can't decide which girl got married first, so Kewte gets rid of his daughters and keeps his fortune."

A Training Stunt

The Guide—That statue represents the disk thrower. Disk throwing was quite an important event in the Olympic games.

Mrs. Hiram Offun—I wonder if that's what my kitchen maid is practicing when she should be washing the dishes?

An Estimate

Sedan—I hear you got a new car. What horsepower is your engine?

Henricar—It seems to be a scant one-horsepower, but it has a four-donkeypower horn.

Made His Eyes Bulge, All Right

Building (looking into the tiger's cage)—Great whiskers! how in the world could I ever chase a cat like that up a tree?

CAUSE FOR WRINKLES

She—You go to college, don't you? He—No. This suit looks this way, because I slept in it last night.

Agitation

The agitator brings us rest And custom is reversed. We should be hoping for the Best—He makes us fear the worst.

A Puzzler

Here was son again asking for another check! Every month he spent at college was costing father more.

"I had no idea," father said sternly, as he reached for his checkbook, "than an education cost so much."

"Oh, it's terribly high, father," was the reply. "And you know I'm one of those that studies the least!"

Early Tuition

"Do you think a successful politician must spend many years in getting an education?"

"All depends," said Senator Sorghum, "on what kind of politics he gets into. I know of underworld workers who appear to have learned more in jail than they learned in school."—Washington Star.

How He Knew

"You know, dad, he always said he'd never marry until the right girl came along."

"Well, how does he know you are the right one?"

"Oh, I told him I was."

Prudence is a quality incompatible with vice, and can never be effectively enlisted in its cause.—Burke.

STUFFED RIB PORK CHOPS WITH APPLES

Apple Cooked With Pork Enhances Its Flavors.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When you find the very large rib pork chops in the market you can immediately plan an extra good dinner.

Splitting Pork Chops for Stuffing.

Put into the chops, they are baked very slowly in a casserole or a covered baking pan.

of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture furnishes the following directions for preparing chops in this way:

- 6 rib chops, 1 1/2 inches thick
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup chopped celery
1 tbs. butter
1 tbs. minced onion

For the stuffing cook the celery, onion and parsley in the butter for a few minutes; add the bread crumbs and seasonings and stir until well mixed.

Bright-Colored Wraps

Will Protect Children
Bright-colored clothing is a protection to little children, as well as a source of pleasure to them.

What Hourly Value Has

Homemaker's Time Now?
The modern homemaker knows that by doing her own housework she can save money for the family.

Success in Preparing

Pork Cuts for Cooking
"Success in preparing pork cuts depends on regulating the heat so as to cook the meat well done to the center of the piece, and at the same time to keep the outside from becoming hard and dry.

Rigid Cleanliness to Offset Foot Weariness

Walking is a pleasure rather than merely a means of getting somewhere, provided, of course, that our feet are kept in perfect condition.

Poisoning Ants

One of the most reliable ways of poisoning ants is to use equal parts of tartar emetic and sugar.

Farm Home Makers Have

Tiresome Working Week
More than sixty-three hours a week is the average "working time" for 700 farm women who kept records and reported to the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Savory Rice

Chop one large onion fine and fry in one tablespoonful of bacon grease. Add two cupfuls of boiled rice, two chopped green peppers, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one small can of tomatoes, one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, and salt, pepper, and paprika to taste.

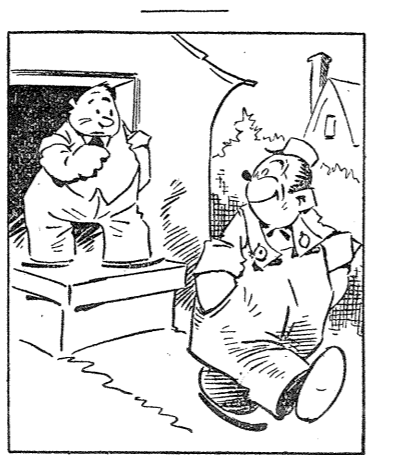

Noodles With Crumbs

Break one-half pound of noodles into pieces and cook for ten minutes in boiling salted water and drain again. Put in the oven or over hot water to keep warm.

LIGHT

"Do you burn the midnight oil in your economic studies?" "No," answered Senator Sorghum. "I apologize for a thoughtless question. Of course, you use the electric light."

GOOD IDEA

Mr. Forcett (to absent-minded plumber)—But you never used to forget your tools!

Patient Philosophy
I'd like to have an airplane; An automobile I could use— But since these wishes are in vain, I'm thankful for my feet and shoes.

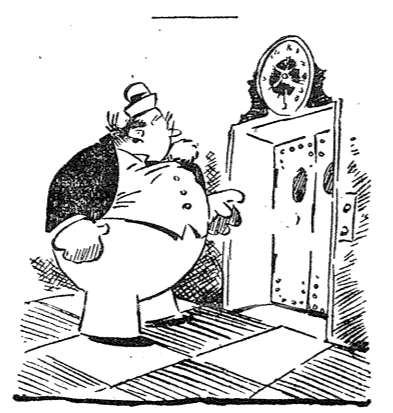

Try for a Parole
An uplift worker, visiting a prison, was much impressed by the melancholy attitude of one man he found.

More Appropriate
The Host of the Grabbal Inn—That's a new pennant I had designed to hoist over the inn. What do you think of it?

Contagious
The Boss—You're getting thin, Slimmer. Are you ill or are you intentionally reducing?

Tri Quali
Dad—Now, sonny, my advice to you is that the woman you marry should be a brilliant character, composed of three qualifications.

FAST TIME

Farmer (watching elevator indicator)—Gosh! How time does fly here in the city!

Soothing Thought
Little Willie had a temper on. He would not stop his shrieking; A dose of mead and then to bed, Paregorically speaking!

Seeking His Orders
Irate Man—You little shrimp! You swore at my wife! Give an apology now or take a beating!

Quite the Opposite
Mr. Goodpatter—You are getting on in years. You should turn your thoughts toward heaven.

A Monopoly
Homestopper—When in Rome did you do as Romans did? Benabroad—Nope! They wouldn't let me peddle souvenirs and act as guide and graft on the tourists.

A Kind of Fruit
Shorty—So you call yourself a vegetarian and here you are working on a beefsteak with onions.

His Extreme Need
Mrs. Goodpatter—Here's a quarter. Now, don't spend it for moonshine.

All Wrong
"The whole world is topsy-turvy. Today my son wanted to show me how to bring up children."

Mankind's Virtues

The three theological virtues, as set forth by the Roman Catholic church, are faith, hope and charity. The four cardinal virtues are prudence, justice, fortitude and temperance.

Magnificence Overdone

"Magnificence," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "often misleads a man into a belief that he is personally earning the admiration that is bestowed on his house and his attire."

Always a Way Out

"Of course, if you cannot find a flaw in my opponent's argument," said the Great Orator to his alert secretary, who was composing a speech, "you can just say it is 'insincere.'"—Detroit News.

Formation of Lakes

The most common cause of the formation of lakes is the disturbance of drainage by glacial action. Thus, they are generally abundant in mountain regions or within those areas subjected to ice.

by ARTHUR BRISBANE

They Sang To Discourage Reds Marx and Confucius The World Will Last

Mrs. Naidu, Gandhi's successor as leader, goes to jail for nine months. Two hundred thousand Hindus marched on the British fort area at Bombay, you would call that serious. But 400 policemen stopped the 200,000. The latter sat down on the ground and sang songs. Irishmen wouldn't do that.

Congress votes, 210 to 18, an inquiry into "Red activities." This means the effort of "Red Russia" to change the government of the United States by persuading the "toilers to arise in their might and throw off their chains."

Throwing off your chains would be all right, but throwing off your automobile, radio, vacuum cleaner, talking machine and other accessories of the modern worker would make life dull.

If congress will use its brains and the nation's resources to keep competent workers busy, it need not worry about any imported Russian "Red program."

If it doesn't keep American workers busy, it may have a "red program," homemade, more dangerous than anything ever devised.

The "Red" movement in China, attributed to Russia, worries the Nanking government and threatens permanent disturbance and war.

Premature transplanting of new ideas into minds unprepared is dangerous.

The Chinese, not ready for the theories of Karl Marx or Reclus, take them too seriously.

Much better if they would stick to Confucius for a few more centuries.

Here is comfort. Worry no more about the world coming to an end. A Canadian scientist says the sun is about ten billion years old and will last at least ten billion years longer. Ten thousand million years is a long time.

While the sun lasts the earth will last. The human race may be partially or completely wiped out at intervals, compelled to begin all over again, working its way up from microscopic creatures floating in salt water.

France permitted the Graf Zeppelin to sail over all her West Indian colonies except one place on the island of Martinique.

Britain gave permission to fly over British Caribbean territory.

That nonsense about giving other nations permission to use the air should end. Anybody can use the ocean of water and do what he pleases on it, eight miles out. The other ocean, of air, soon to be more important, should be similarly regulated, anybody allowed to use it, anywhere, one mile or two miles up. International law should settle that.

Secretary Lamont predicts "normal business in three months." April contracts for new construction amounted to $488,000,000, biggest month since August, but lower than last April. Many will be glad to hear that, even those that specialize in pessimism.

Mussolini believes in emphatic words and energetic deeds to back them. Recently he told a crowd of 100,000 in Florence that Italy was prepared for everybody, France included. Now he is adding twenty-two submarines.

With those twenty-two submarines Mussolini could do a great deal to the peace of mind of France, Great Britain and other ship-owning nations.

Peace is beautiful, but Mussolini means to be ready for the other thing.

London, which often knows more about our affairs than we know, says money will be even cheaper than it was. The bank rate may be reduced to 2 1/2 per cent.

Paris reports money "unlendable." If only that had been the case last October, when the sky was the limit and everything going up! Then people wanted money and had to pay 15 and 20 per cent to borrow it. Now they don't want it and can get it for almost nothing.

Union square in New York is to have a high flagpole costing $80,000, erected by the "Charles F. Murphy memorial committee." Mr. Murphy was a Tammany leader of considerable power, possessing the faculty of saying little and keeping his word.

The flagpole which was to be erected in Murphy's honor will dominate monuments to Washington, Lafayette and Lincoln, all in Union square.

On a second thought, the memorial committee decided that Mr. Murphy, although a powerful Tammany leader, was no greater than the three others in Union square, so the flagpole is to commemorate American independence.

Mr. Murphy, who had a sense of humor, would approve of that change.

Talkies have worried musicians, making theater orchestras unnecessary. In Schenectady, with television radio, General Electric company has shown that one orchestra leader could conduct a thousand orchestras at the same time.

Musicians played in a theater, led by "television" pictures of an orchestra conductor miles away.

Friends from Detroit were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zollner.

Miss Madeline Burse closed her school in District No. 6 on Friday with a picnic dinner and program for pupils, parents and friends. Miss Burse will attend summer school at Mt. Pleasant and will return to teach the Ferguson school the coming year.

Anyone who is under the impression that no one goes to church any more would have had reason to change their minds had they looked in on the congregation at the Baptist church at Cass City on Sunday evening. The crowd was immense and the sermon and song service were greatly enjoyed by all.

RESCUE.

My First Act of Office.

A lawyer made his way to some scaffolding where a gang was working, and called for Michael O'Neill.

"Who's wanting me?" inquired a voice from above.

"Mr. O'Neill," the lawyer shouted, "did you come from Drogheda?"

"I did."

"And was your mother named Kathleen and your father Michael?"

"They were."

"It is my duty, then, to inform you that your Aunt Mary, who married the millionaire, Richly, has died in New York, leaving you a fortune."

There was a short silence, and then a commotion up above.

"Are you coming, Mr. O'Neill?" the lawyer called.

A recipe for a happy home: Can the family jars. Our short-comings will in the long run bring us up short. Society has too many of two classes, the Needy and the Greedy. Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

KING OF CATS

"I am a king, Mrs. Tiger," the tiger said.

"Then I must be a queen," she answered.

Now these two were having a pleasant little chat, though they sounded as if they were roaring and scolding at each other.

But they did not wrinkle their faces and show their teeth as they do when they are angry.

It was simply that their voices, to us, would have sounded quite terrific.

"It's nice to have a title," said the tiger.

"It's a glorious feeling," replied the tigress. "Almost as nice as a good meal of meat—though not quite."

"Now that I speak of it, I am feeling a bit hungry."

So they ate and ate, and when they were all through Queen Tigress said: "I have an important question to ask."

"Then ask it, my love," said King Tiger, who was feeling very happy after his good meal.

"I was wondering just why you are a king and just why I am a queen."

"It is a beautiful thought, but I would like to know if there is any special reason for it."

Now, if King Tiger had not just been eating, he might have been very angry at such a question, but as it was, he said:

"I don't blame you for wondering. I shall tell you, for there is a reason for it, a great and splendid reason."

Queen Tigress listened eagerly as King Tiger told the story.

"The Tiger," he said, "is king of all the cat family. Now, there are many

"We're Very Superior Cats."

kind of cats, and many creatures who belong to the cat family.

"We belong to the cat family ourselves, do we?" asked the Queen.

"To be sure, my dear. You are quite right." The King grinned and showed his great teeth but his grin was a pleasant one.

"Yes," continued the King, "we're very superior cats, and very wild cats, wilder than ordinary cats, and even wilder than the wild cats which is saying a good deal.

"Some creatures, they say, are more afraid of wild cats, than they are of us, but that doesn't bother us, for we know we are the leaders of our race.

"Oh," he said, roaring magnificently and boastfully, "think for a moment what it means to be a King Tiger and to be a Queen Tigress, too," he added.

"It's glorious," said the Queen, in a roaring voice, a very powerful voice.

"There are thousands and thousands and thousands of cats. There are beautiful cats and ugly cats.

"There are household pets and wild ones. There are cats who do their shopping in garbage tins, and others who are given cream out of beautiful china saucers.

"Some lie on silken cushions and others seek sleep behind ash tins and empty tomato cans.

"Others live in the dark forests.

"Of all these thousands of cats—cats of all kinds and colors and descriptions, we are the head family as it were.

"Isn't it fine to have so many subjects?"

"Isn't it splendid to be the largest, most dangerous of cats?"

"Splendid," said the Queen.

And then they fell asleep and had beautiful tiger dreams of forests and wild, thrilling times.

Not What Mary Wanted

A new baby brother had come to little Mary's house and because she had been promised a sister, Mary was quite disappointed. She suggested that they leave him at the hospital for another family, but mother explained that this just wouldn't do and, besides, having a little brother should be quite nice. Mary thought the matter over and after much deliberation decided to make the best of things.

"I suppose," she said, hitting on a bright idea, "we could dress him up like a girl and no one will know the difference."

A Real Boy

Billy, aged five, was immensely disgusted because his mother refused to cut baby Jimmie's curls. At length, on the child's third birthday, she sadly brought him home from the barber shop with a shorn head.

"O," screamed Billy with delight when he saw what had happened, "now I can play with a boy what is a boy!"

YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE AT A KROGER STORE

Cass City Schools

Kindergarten.

We are experimenting in making booklets. Some of these, we sew together and some we fasten with brass fasteners. We can fold the papers nicely now and hope to be able to make a real fine booklet soon, in which we shall put all our accomplishments of the year. We shall design our own covers and present these booklets to our mothers as keep-sakes of our early childhood. We have learned five of Stevenson's poems for children and one of James Russell Lowell's, all of which we dramatize.

Just now, we are studying the birds and know each member of the woodpecker family by sight; also the blue bird, blue jay, scarlet tanager, cardinal, finch, Baltimore oriole, and of course, our old favorites the robin and meadowlark. The crow's nest and the humming bird's nest which Mr. Campbell loaned to the first grade are of much interest to us too. We are also watching the robins on our window ledge, caring for their family. Father Robin helps in bringing the food and even sits on the eggs sometimes while mother bird hunts for food.

"He sings to the wide world She to her nest. In the nice ear of Nature Which song is the best?"

First Grade.

Children feel as if they would like to write an ode to Willis Campbell. Again this month, he has brought us a new experience, an honest to goodness crow's nest. A pencil was to be given to any child naming the six ingredients used in building the nest. There were four children made happy. It was made up of bark, twine, hair, twigs, moss and dry grass. We are studying the crow's habits and are comparing them with the habits of other birds.

Two of Miss Bigelow's art students have made us a poster. It is a scene at the seashore. They have made it so real that we'll have to admit cold chills chasing up and down our spines as we watch those paper children in bathing suits near the water for a plunge.

Second Grade.

Another month has flown by and we have only one more in which to finish our work for the year. All classes except one have finished their Elson Readers and that class will be finished in about a week. We have just one more list of spelling words to cover and we have finished all the arithmetic that we need to do. Spring always makes one think of the circus so this month we have been trying to make a circus. We bought some coping saws and some burlap board and have saved out elephants, giraffes, horses, bears, lions, tigers and clowns. We want to make circus wagons to put some of the animals in and many other things if we have time. Miss Bigelow is helping us with the coloring.

We have a new set of supplementary readers called "New Stories" and we are enjoying them very much.

Third Grade.

Our last month of school has arrived and most of our work is pretty well finished. We have a new set of supplementary readers, "Folk Tales from the Far East," by Charles H. Meeke. Our attendance report was very low this month, but if our measles epidemic is over, we have hopes for a better one next month. Keith McComb brought us some tiny tadpoles that we are watching quite closely. The back legs are beginning to form.

Fourth Grade.

We are sorry to have two boys absent from our room this week. Russell Ragan has the chickenpox and Archie Marks has a broken leg.

Last month our percentage of attendance was 97.9. Ivan O'Connor won the spelling contest last week. Lorraine Watson won second honor. Our Reading Club is a very active club. Ivan O'Connor won the first prize and Frank Fort second prize. The prizes are awarded to the students reading the greatest number of books each month.

The music class are busy making note books.

Among the visitors in our room last month were Margaret McTavish, Mrs. Morton Orr, Mrs. Wetters of Detroit, Mrs. Ragan and Miss Battle.

Our Nature Study class is interested in the study of caterpillars and butterflies.

We are very grateful to the art class for the border they have put on our bulletin board.

Our geography class is very much delighted with the magazine copies of Asia that were given to us. We are always glad to receive any good magazines for our reading table.

Sixth Grade.

Contributed by the Pupils. Mr. Randall and Miss Bigelow have planned a very interesting music contest for the grades from the fourth to the eighth. We are working hard to win from the seventh grade with whom we are competing. Miss Bigelow plays the selections each morning and we recognize them. We also must know the composer, his nationality, dates or facts about his life and compositions. We are also making note books in which we are putting pictures of the composers and their histories. There will be prizes given for the three highest scores and one also for the best notebooks. Prizes were given to the persons who sold the most tickets, second most tickets and third most tickets for the Alumni play, "Thank You." The prizes were three dollars, two dollars and one dollar. Betty Pinney won first prize, having sold fifty-one tickets. Patty Pinney sold thirty-one and Helene McComb sixteen. Theda Bardwell and Phyllis McComb won free tickets for selling more than ten.

Commercial.

Helen Severance took second place at Midland in the district shorthand and typewriting contest. This entitles her to enter the state contest which is held in Kalamazoo on May 24. The typewriting students are re-joining over the new typewriting desks which were installed Saturday. They will be much more satisfactory than the old ones which were too high for the most efficient use.

The Children's Corner Edited by DOROTHY EDMONDS

BRONC

Bronc was a mountain pony with short, sturdy legs and a stocky little body.

His life was free and happy, and he spent most of his time wandering about the hills in search of the tenderest grass and clearest streams.

One day, as he dashed over the top of a hill, he was brought to a sudden stop by a lasso pulling tightly about his neck. He planted his feet firmly in the earth, and tugged to free himself. But the harder he tugged, the tighter became the rope.

When he stopped struggling, he saw a man coming toward him, with a hand outstretched.

"Whoa there, steady old boy," he said.

Flinging himself quickly into his saddle, Bronc's new master fastened the rope about the horn, and with much pulling and kicking Bronc was finally led down the hill.

About night fall, they reached a small camp, and the mountain pony was treated to such food as he had never eaten before.

It took a great many days to learn all the new and difficult things expected of him. It was hard to stand quietly, for instance, when he felt something jump on his back. He always wanted to throw it off, by dashing round and round and kicking up his heels.

He learned to stop and to go when told to do so, to turn at a tug of the rein, and to follow at the end of a rope without pulling back.

But at last came the lesson hardest of all. One day he was sold, and taken away from the hills where he had always lived to a great city.

There strange, terrifying noises, and brilliant lights that blinded him, left him sick with fear. When he had been taken from the train he looked very little like the frisky pony of a few months before, as he stood trembling in the yards at the depot.

Suddenly he pricked up his ears to hear voices that interested him. They were childish voices like no others he had ever heard, and they reminded him of his gay little mountain stream gurgling over the pebbles.

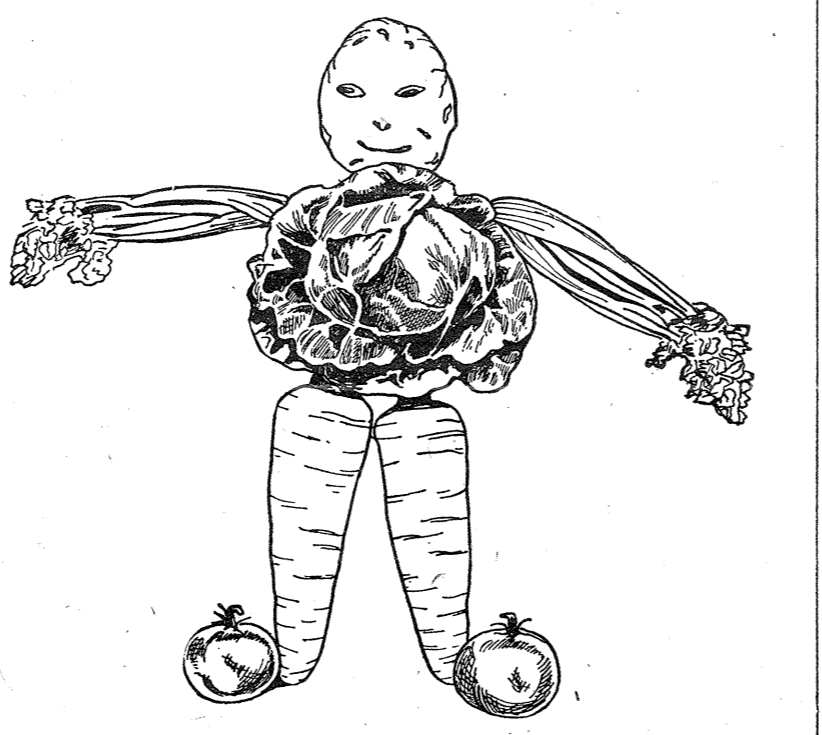

"Daddy, he's frightened. I can see it in his eyes. And maybe he's homesick and lonely, too. Oh, we'll be very good to you, little pony." And the voices gurgled on, more and more like the mountain stream. So kindly were they Bronc was ready and willing to follow them anywhere.

His new home was different from the old, and daily the children were clamoring about him or proudly riding upon his back.

One day, standing in his small stable, he was startled to see two strange boys hiding in the hay. Whispering together they untied the halter rope, and leading him out through the alley way, jumped on his back. When they had gone a short distance, Bronc felt a sudden jab of pain in his side, and his startled jump only caused a gale of laughter from the boys. In a few moments the same thing happened again, and in fear and pain Bronc dashed ahead at a rapid trot. By this time the boys were bobbing up and down on his back, and their heels were digging into him as they made an effort to cling on. At every dig of their heels the fearful pain would come again, until Bronc was galloping madly, he knew not where. The boys were now thoroughly frightened, and hung to the runaway pony, screaming for help.

THE VEGETABLE MAN

I've drawn for you the best I can. A queer little, fat little Vegetable man. His body's a cabbage, his head's a potato, His legs are long carrots, each foot's a tomato. Two slim stalks of celery arms for him make,

And he will be finished if you will just take Your crayons and color this Vegetable fellow Green and light brown and scarlet and yellow! And when you have finished perhaps someone can Make a vegetable stew, from the Vegetable man. —Edna Becker.

Pleasure's Purpose Is there no utility in pleasure, pray you, when it makes a man's heart the better for it, as do, I am very certain, sun and flowers and Stevenson?—Francis Thompson.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MOTHER BLACK BEAR

Mother Black Bear remembered when her little ones had been young.

She remembered what they had been like before their eyes had opened and when they had been so soft and furry and round.

She remembered how she had taught them to walk. How feeble their little legs had been at first.

And when they had all been young and had lived in the cave she had told them in sleepy tones the things they must guard against when they went out into the world.

The babies had been too sleepy to learn very much. But she had told them a good many times.

It seemed strange to think that anyone would ever hurt such adorable little creatures.

Mother Bear could not believe that anyone could help but love her babies.

Still she knew that some people were very strange, so she had to give her babies lessons in how to look after themselves.

She told them, too, of adventures she had had. She taught them of the berries they must eat and of the food to make them feel well and strong.

She also told them of the bad things they must not touch, the food that would make them feel sick and miserable.

And when, at last, they had gone out of the cave, and had seen the real world, the trees, and the forest paths, they wanted to start off at once for adventures, for the world looked so mysterious and wondrous.

But Mother Bear had not let them start out alone, though suddenly they had seemed to feel quite able to look after themselves.

"Do you want to leave your old mother?" Mother Black Bear asked. "We love you mother, but we want to see the world," they said.

And they would have escaped that moment and gone off, but Mother Black Bear saved them from a man's gun.

Mother Black Bear received a slight wound.

The little bears were around her in a flash, but Mother Black Bear was safe now, for the man had wanted to go after the little ones and when he had seen the mother he had been only too anxious to get away himself.

As they licked their mother's wound they said: "We won't leave you quite yet, mother dear. We do not know the big world as yet."

And other Black Bear groaned with the hurt from the slight wound in her shoulder, but still more she grunted with pleasure for her babies had seen that they still needed their mother.

"Oh, how Mother Black Bear did love her little mischievous black babies, and she was even glad of her wound for it showed the babies that still they must learn some more before they went out alone into the big, hard, strange world.

Mother Black Bear loved her little black cubs so very, very much.

Some Jokes We Know Often when we hear people telling jokes, we think—"Why, I know that one." That being so, an amusing thing to try at your birthday party would be the following:

Start telling a "good story," or let some one else start telling one; then, just before you come to the "point," stop and say—"But I feel sure all of you have heard that one before."

Probably they will say, eagerly—"No. Go on. What happened next?" But you say—"No; I want you to guess what happened."

It is quite likely, too, that they will be able to guess, if they think hard enough.

Perhaps they have heard the story before, and can supply the ending. The player who guesses correctly may tell the next story.

Owl Mothers Chicks Every spring for 13 years Baby Hoot, a horned owl, has raised a brood of chickens for R. G. Walters, of Monmouth, Ill. Each year when the owl's two eggs are laid, Walters substitutes three or four hen's eggs. When the chicks are hatched Baby Hoot fondles them with her head and bill, clucking to them in low tones and protecting them from dogs and cats with the warning sound of fowldom. The owl was found by Walters in 1907, dislodged from her nest by crows, and ever since has lived in a screened pen.

went an operation Wednesday morning.

Little Richard Hardy of Bay City was brought to the hospital Tuesday evening and was operated on Wednesday morning.

John Takach of Gageton entered Thursday, May 22, and was operated on the same day.

Mrs. Elizabeth Klinkman is still a patient at the hospital. Josephine Ryglewicz, who was operated on Tuesday, May 20, was able to leave the hospital, for her home in Kingston, this week.

FARMERS WILL PLANT LARGE BEET ACREAGE

A substantial contribution to the national sugar bowl is indicated by the increase in the sugar beet acreage which Michigan farmers have been able to plant during exceptionally favorable weather, according to reports received by the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

This year's acreage will be 90,000 in Michigan, which is an increase of 35,000 from last season's total. The beet growers have their crop contracted at seeding time so the larger production is not reflected in decreased market returns.

Unfavorable labor conditions in many cities have made it possible to secure laborers for the beet fields much more easily than during recent years. The production of a good beet tonnage depends a great deal upon the labor spent upon the crop, and the inability to get men to work in the fields discouraged growers.

Members of the crops department believe that 75 per cent of the beet crop is already planted. This per cent of the acreage is usually not seeded until after June 1.

Early planting permits the growers to get the beets off the working program before other crops demand attention but is not essential for the production of a good crop. Beets are one of the crops which will grow during the fall months.

White Elephant Venerated The natives of Siam believe that the white elephant contains the soul of some dead person, perhaps an ancient god. The people of Cambodia, Indo-China, Sumatra and Abyssinia also hold the white elephant in high regard.
