JUNE PASTURES IN WINTER BIG NEED

Dairyman Should Buy Feed in Advance at Low Price.

"Knee deep in June," spells just about the last word in dairy feeding. But, while June pastures in winter time are out of the question, it is possible to imitate June the year around, according to successful dairymen.

Taking their cue from nature they aim to have "contented cows" by extending the favorable conditions found in June pastures throughout the year as far as this is possible.

Roy T. Harris, dairy record official in Wisconsin for the American Ayre-shire Breeders' association, the Holstein Friesian Association of America, the American Guernsey Cattle club, the Brown Swiss Breeders' association and the American Jersey Cattle club, has listed as the assets of a good June pasture, a well balanced ration, plenty of succulence, an abundance of fresh air and sunshine, pure water, and a normal amount of exercise.

Asked for a 1929 model of a dairy ration, Harris admitted that there are about as many models in dairy feeds as in automobiles. He is common with the dairymen in general, is quite concerned about the bran and feed market. His only solution is that the farmer try to foresee how much feed he will have to buy, and then imitate the large feed companies by buying in advance when the price is low.

He appreciates that winter conditions bring their own problems and difficulties and that in place of the ration prepared already for us, by nature, we have to supply feed from various sources which will answer in its stead. He has found one good ration consisting of 25 to 45 pounds of silage, 10 to 15 pounds of clover hay and a grain mixture like the following satisfactory for this year: 30 parts of bran, 40 parts of ground oats of barley, 30 parts cornmeal or hominy feed, and 10 parts oil meal, using one pound of grain mixture for each three to four pounds of milk produced. If roots are used in place of silage 30 to 50 pounds will be necessary.

Pure-Bred Cattle Used to Boost Animal Prices

Cattle buyers who know that "blood will tell" are paying more for the cow that has records in her pedigree to prove her blood, says Prof. H. A. Hopper of Cornell university, who cites the records of the Holstein Friesian association sales from 1925 to 1928 in warning pure-bred breeders to keep testing their herds.

In these sales, cows with long-time records brought an average of $486 each, untested cows from tested dams sold for $223 each, while untested cows from untested dams brought but $183. Heifers from tested dams sold for $272 and heifers from untested dams sold for $103.

That there is a demand for bulls with good records behind them is shown when the bulls from long-time record dams brought $425 and the bulls from untested dams sold for $121.

While considerations other than records may legitimately enter—such as family, physical condition and age, one cannot avoid the conclusion, says Professor Hopper, that records are of major importance.

Why Men School Teachers Quit

"Dad, our school is all going to pot. Tell me, it's slipping mighty fast."

"Well, let's see, four left, counting the two coaches, and seventeen women."

"How many men teachers does that leave you, Bob?" asked Dad.

"Well, my boy, there is just one main reason, and it is a perfectly legitimate one, but a very unfortunate one for the millions and millions of boys in our public schools."

"In the business world the old and more experienced a man gets in a line the greater is his security, and, Bob, as you get older you'll discover that one of the great concerns of maturing men is to feel themselves financially secure."

"But, Bob, your question of 'what can we do about it' is also quite pertinent, for there is another side to the whole matter, and that is the parents' side."

"The business world the old and more experienced a man gets in a line the greater is his security, and, Bob, as you get older you'll discover that one of the great concerns of maturing men is to feel themselves financially secure."

HOW

MEANING OF WORD "SHREW" HAS BECOME TWISTED.—In Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," a scolding, perverse woman is tamed by her husband.

Shrew is an old word, having been in the English language some four hundred years.

The change in meaning of the word shrew is a taming of a different sort from the farcical victory of Petruchio over Katherine.

Sir Roger L'Estrange (1614-1704), an English political writer, wrote: "A man has got a shrew to his wife, and there could be no quiet in the house for her."

How Chicken Gets Air Before It Breaks Shell

It is supposed that the air sac at the large end of an egg performs an important function in the development of the embryo chick.

It is the opinion of the United States bureau of animal industry that the air sac is formed by the contraction of the contents of the egg immediately after it is laid.

What Mrs. Brenninger, of N. Y., Says About Rat Poison "Tried preparations that kill rats, but RAT-SNAP is the only one that prevents disagreeable odors after killing. Also like RAT-SNAP because it comes in handy cakes, no mixing with other food.

Right Will Prevail Fashion, with stern hand dictates, The clothes we wear, the cars we buy. But happier, he who meditates And guides his footsteps by the rule of common sense.

Long years have passed since Washington Had British subjects on the run. Fashions have changed, 'twas then the style For all high-brows to take a smile.

Some decent people yet pursue That course, and hope to carry through. The laws mean nothing to some folks, They'll take a chance on poison dope.

The old booze days were once defended; But fashions change, those days are ended. The brain and brawn of this great nation Are standing firm for prohibition.

Look up, strive on, the day will come When men will see that crime and rum Go hand in hand, are linked together And, they will thus go on forever.

A great example has been set By our good Quaker President. By human standards some are great And by like measure others small.

If you rank high among the great And don't stand firm and help the State

Mr. J. A. White Says, "If You Have An Automobile, Keep Rat-Snap"

"If I knew about RAT-SNAP last winter, would have saved $120. My car was in the garage for a few weeks during the bad weather; when I went to take it out, found that rats had eaten great holes in two new tires. Got them later with RAT-SNAP."

CUPID PLAYS AN OLD-TIME GAME

CONSTANCE was going abroad because her mother considered European travel the finishing touch to a young girl's education. As for the girl herself, she would have preferred vastly a summer of tennis and swimming, golf and long gallops through the woods.

saying to the demure little damsel who shared her room en voyage. "If Constance's friend keeps appearing I'll change my itinerary." Constance shook a fierce little fist at the partition separating her room from Miss Tarkington's. Life had suddenly become full of a number of things that were terribly distressing.

HOLBROOK.

The Holbrook Community Club held its monthly meeting at the church on Monday night. The program was on Armistice Day. The church was very nicely decorated for the occasion. The meeting was opened by singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic".

Put Twins to Death to End Prolonged Drought

Superstitions relative to rainfall appear still to exist in remote parts of the world. A story from South Africa, related in Wide World Adventures, tells how natives, following tribal law, put to death two pairs of twins in order to bring rain during a prolonged drought.

One Sister

Mary Jo's brothers call her "sister." Recently a new neighbor observing the little girl playing with her brothers asked the four-year-old whether she had any sisters.
