VOLUME 25, NUMBER 32.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1930.

EIGHT PAGES.

WINTER TAX WILL BE LESS IN ELKLAND

State, Township, School, and Highway Imp. Funds Are All Lower in 1930.

The tax roll for the township of Elkland will be somewhat lower this year than in 1929. There is a slight decrease in the amount of state tax, a marked lessening of the township tax and drain tax at large, $1211.00 less in school tax and $150 less for highway improvement.

The county tax and special drain tax show increased amounts over 1929.

A comparison of the amounts which will be raised by tax for all purposes in Elkland township is given in the following table which covers two years:

	1929	1930
State	$8774.30	$8636.18
County	10037.04	10675.10
Township	2800.00	1800.00
Covert road bonds	1649.68	1670.67
Highway repair	1500.00	1500.00
Highway improvement	5150.00	5000.00
Drain at large	1400.00	336.00
Court house	2103.35	2074.00
Schools	37293.32	36082.02
Drain special	1200.00	1776.00
Rejected tax	192.82	81.92
Excess of roll	52.33	57.67

A comparison of the tax rate per $1,000 valuation shows a decrease in the state tax from $4.16 in 1929 to $4.11 in 1930. The county rate is boosted from $4.76 to $5.03. The court house tax is $1.00 per thousand valuation, the same as in 1929. The township tax total this year is $1,800, while last year it reached $2,800.00. The increase in the county tax is due to a tax at large on the Sebawaing River and Branches drain which is included with the county tax.

The tax rate in school district No. 5, frl., is $1.83 less than the amount collected per thousand valuation in 1929. All school districts will have a lower rate for taxes for all purposes in 1930 than was assessed last year.

Several farmers in the northern part of the township will have a special tax on the Huron and Branches Drain which is considerably higher than last year. The special tax on this drain in 1929 was $1,200.00 in Elkland township. A similar amount is spread in 1930 with an additional $576.00 spread as a re-assessment.

CASS CITY-BAD AXE GAME A SCORELESS TIE

Cass City's football season drew to a close last Friday when the locals were forced to take a scoreless tie with Bad Axe at the latter's field.

Cass City was fortunate enough to cross the goal line on three different occasions but each time were called back by some penalty. The local boys also lost the ball on several other occasions when deep in the enemy's territory because of enforced penalties. The first half of the game was all in Cass City's favor with the locals running and passing for first down after first down but at the beginning of the second half they seemed to have lost their drive and were content to play on the defense.

As the final whistle blew Bad Axe's half-back intercepted a pass and ran to the one yard line where he was brought down by McCallum who had replaced "Oz" Doerr at left tackle.

The season's total of games won and lost stands as follows: won 5, lost 2, tied 2.

The entire squad journeyed to Mt. Pleasant Saturday to get the spectator's viewpoint of a football game, watching the Central Bearcats defeat the Eskimos from the Upper Peninsula, 34-0.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE NOV. 26

FLINT BAND TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

E. W. Kercher, C. L. Robinson, Rev. P. J. Allured, and S. A. Striffler motored to Flint Tuesday night to attend a rehearsal of the Groves Band and Octette and were so greatly impressed by the excellence of their numbers that they heartily endorsed the action of the directors of the Community Club who decided on Monday to arrange for the appearance of the band in Cass City on Friday evening, Dec. 5.

The Groves Band is comprised of graduate members of both the Flint Central and Northern High Schools, all having had from two to four years of advanced band training. The quality of their programs is said to be exceedingly high. Four of the members of the organization have won national honors.

This 70-piece band and a double male quartet are the pick of Flint's musicians. The concert will be given in the high school auditorium.

LOST THIRD FARM HOUSE IN FLAMES

John Kitchin Suffered Loss of Residence and Furniture Tuesday Night.

John Kitchin suffered the third loss by fire of the residence on his farm in section 17, Evergreen township, on Tuesday night. The first fire occurred 28 years ago. He rebuilt the house on the same wall and it stood for 25 years and then was destroyed by fire three years ago. Again a residence was constructed on the walls. Tuesday night, this burned with the greater part of the household goods. Mr. Kitchin estimates his loss at $2,500.00. Insurance was carried on the property to the amount of $1,700.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitchin thought they smelled smoke about the time their evening meal was served. They looked the property over carefully and were unable to find any evidence of fire. After the family retired for the night, they were awakened about eleven o'clock and found the woodshed at the rear of the house in flames. The house was so densely filled with smoke that they had little time to remove household goods before the residence was a mass of flames.

WILL ERECT SERVICE STATION HERE IN SPRING

John C. Neeb of Bad Axe, on Tuesday, purchased the Lenzner lot of 88 ft. frontage on Main St., from Frank Lenzner and Mrs. C. O. Lenzner. This lot is located between the general store of Mrs. S. H. Brown and the implement store of E. Paul & Son. The sale was made through Wm. Heller, Bad Axe real estate agent.

Mr. Neeb is the distributor of Staroline Petroleum Products at Bad Axe. Mr. Heller says that Mr. Neeb will erect a fine gas and oil service station next spring on the lot he purchased in Cass City Tuesday. He has several service stations in the Thumb district.

LAKE LEVELS DROP DURING OCTOBER

Lakes Huron and Michigan were .31 feet lower in October than in September, and 1.12 lower than the October stage of 1929, the monthly reports of the United States Lake Survey reveals.

The levels of Lakes Huron and Michigan are .75 feet above the average stage of October of the last ten years.

Lake Superior was .04 feet lower in September than in October. Lake Erie was .35 feet lower and Lake Ontario .61 feet lower.

ADVERTISED 2 HEIFERS; SOLD 4 HEAD BY LINER

George Russell inserted a liner advertisement in the Chronicle last Friday, advertising two Holstein heifers for sale. By Friday night, he had sold the two heifers to a Deford farmer. This farmer, after looking over the Russell herd of Holsteins, called a Rochester man telling him that he might purchase some Holstein cows at the Russell farm. The result was that Mr. Russell sold the Rochester man two cows on Saturday. Three prospective buyers called Saturday and told Mr. Russell they would be back to "talk business" the first of the week.

The heifers were sold by Mr. Russell for $70.00 each and the cows for $100.00 each. All were grade Holsteins.

BURGLARS VISIT VASSAR CONFECTIONERY

The store of the Vassar Confectionery Co. was entered by burglars Monday night who made way with merchandise consisting mainly of cigars, cigars and tobacco amounting to $150 to $200. Mr. Miller, the proprietor of the store, was away on a hunting trip. His wife, in the residence rooms over the store, heard a noise downstairs and gave an alarm. This set the trio of burglars on their way before they had completed their job.

Preparing for the Big Offensive

MRS. LYMAN HONORED AT FAREWELL PARTY

Evangelicals Gathered Friday to Show Esteem for Departing Minister.

Nearly 150 of the members and friends of the Evangelical congregation gathered at the church Friday evening to honor Mrs. C. W. Lyman, who left Cass City the first of the week to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Elder, at Pigeon. Since the death of her husband, Rev. C. W. Lyman, in September, Mrs. Lyman has served as the minister at the Evangelical church here.

Edward Helwig presided at the gathering held in the church auditorium. Mrs. A. A. Ricker, representing the congregation, and Rev. P. J. Allured, representing the Cass City Ministerial Association, spoke of the appreciation of all for Mrs. Lyman's capable work in the church societies and gave her unstinted praise. Mrs. E. W. Kercher presented Mrs. Lyman with a purse of money as a token of esteem and friendship from the different societies of the church. Mrs. Lyman responded feelingly.

On the evening's program were vocal solos by Myrtle Greenleaf and Turn to page four.

298,000 SEALS COMING TO TUSCOLA COUNTY

Tuberculosis Ass'n Asks Residents to Give Whole-hearted Support to Campaign

Whole-hearted support of the 1930 sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals is requested by Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan and chairman of the State Christmas Seal Honorary Committee, in a statement officially designating Thanksgiving Day as the opening date for the sale.

The traditional Thanksgiving Day start of the sale, according to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, will be signalized in Tuscola county by the sending of 298,000 seals to residents of the county. In 1929 Tuscola county residents purchased $851.50 worth of the seals. This figure represents an average per person sale of 2.58 cents, compared to 4.81 cents for the state at large.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT COMMUNITY MEET

X. A. Boomhower, circuit judge of the Huron-Sanilac district, stressed the importance of drainage and called attention to the wastefulness of some agriculturalists in not giving their farm machinery proper housing and care, in an address before the Evergreen Community Club at Shabbona Tuesday night. "Occasionally as I drive along the roads I see a binder standing in the orchard. This valuable farm machine had been used two weeks and the other 50 weeks stands unsheltered from the rigors of all sorts of weather conditions," said the speaker.

Mr. Boomhower referred to the law effective since 1927 which required automobile drivers to use the right side of the highway and he urged parents to train their children to walk on the left hand side of the road.

In concluding his address, Mr. Boomhower briefly reviewed the wonderful progress of the nation since its founding 150 years ago and asked his listeners to make an inventory of Turn to page 4.

CO. TREAS. HANDLES LOTS OF MONEY IN 1930

Depositing of Sebawaing Drain Funds Swells Treasurer's Account.

The treasury of Tuscola county has held more money this year than at any time in the history of the county and without question there will be a greater amount of money "checked out" from county funds than in any other year. This condition is brought about by the depositing of all the money secured from the sale of the Sebawaing River and Branches Drain, in the Tuscola county treasury.

County Treasurer Orlo McDurmon keeps the county's money in 39 different funds. The county funds reach their highest peak early in the year when the tax money is returned to the county treasurer and touch the low point late in the year. A comparison of the high and low points in the past four years is given in the following table:

	High	Low
1927	$406,811.65	$163,283.55
1928	428,349.85	169,619.37
1929	384,631.27	118,502.59
1930	741,331.19

During one week in October last, the amount of money paid out by County Treasurer McDurmon was $182,942.88.

CASS CITY WILL ALWAYS BE HOME TO C. W.

In remitting $1.75 for a year's subscription to the Chronicle, Clark W. McKenzie, vice president of The Henderson-Ames Co. of Kalamazoo, writes:

"Of course, it is needless to say that I enjoy reading the Chronicle each week although, as the years go by, I find that I know a less number of people who are mentioned in the personal column. This is not so pleasing because it reminds me of the fact that the years are rolling by fast and that my close association in the only place that I can really call home, Cass City, is being somewhat diminished. However, I want to continue to have the paper come.

"With warmest personal regards, I am

Courteously yours,
C. W. MCKENZIE.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

"Let never day nor night unhallow'd pass,
But still remember what the Lord hath done."

More than three centuries ago Governor Bradford of the Plymouth Colony appointed a day for public praise and prayer. Since that time Thanksgiving day has most properly become a national institution. One day of all the year is little enough to us, without distinction of race or creed, to unite with the peoples of every other state in giving reverent heartfelt thanks to Almighty God for all of His mercies and blessings.

We have passed through a year of business and industrial stagnation with its attendant discomforts but out of it should come a manifest spiritual strengthening. We have many problems to solve but the good sense of the American people has always been equal to their solution. Every one of us is charged with a civic obligation of how we can best serve one another and thus restore industry to its normal condition and promote greater markets for our agricultural products.

Our achievements of the past provide cheer and inspiration with which to look hopefully to the future. Above all the vicissitudes there exists a confidence that, having earnestly dedicated ourselves to the task, we shall build a better and more prosperous state and nation.

It is, therefore, eminently fitting that Thursday, November 27, shall be set aside as a special day for Thanksgiving, a day for all the people of this Commonwealth to observe in thanksgiving and prayer that our glorious nation, under the wise direction of our President, may go forward unswervingly as the leader of all the world.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this 17th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-fourth.

FRED W. GREEN, Governor.

By the Governor:
John S. Haggerty, Secretary of State.

FARM PAPER MAKES ANNUAL SELECTION

Fairgrove, Marlette, Port Hope and Filion Are Represented.

Twelve more ruralists have joined the select circle of Michigan agricultural producers by designation as master farmers for 1930. The men were honored at a banquet Wednesday night at Michigan State College at Lansing. They are: W. R. Kirk, Fairgrove; J. J. Lyle, Paw Paw; Jas. Mahaffy, Marlette; D. T. Knight, Marlette; Warner E. Ramsey, Port Hope; David Running, Filion; Martin Boysen, Plainwell; E. R. Ilienden, Adrian; Emil F. Brehm, Trustin; E. A. Livingston, St. Johns; H. M. True, Jackson; and Clarence C. Higby, Romeo.

This group makes up the fifth class of master farmers designated in the state. Forty-two other agriculturalists have been awarded the honorary title in the last four years. Awards are sponsored by the Michigan Farmer.

Huron and Sanilac counties lead all other counties of the state this year by having two selections in the group—Ramsey and Running, Huron county, and Mahaffy and Knight, Sanilac county.

Mr. Running is a honey producer. He has produced more honey than any farmer in Michigan, having 12 apiaries in this state and a bee farm in Alabama.

Mr. Knight's father, Robt. Knight, is credited with being the first farmer to import Lincoln sheep to America. He specializes in the breeding of Lincoln sheep on his 240-acre farm and produces feed for his live stock with beans as a cash crop. He has a herd of 40 purebred tuberculin-tested Shorthorn cattle. He is secretary of the American Lincoln Sheep Breeders' Association.

CHILD WELFARE.

In an address delivered at the W. C. T. U. convention held at Lapeer, Heber F. McCluskey, judge of probate, said, in part, as follows:

"Few people are acquainted with the work in the probate court. I have been requested to give some of the operations of the juvenile division of this court, which may enable those who are disposed, to learn what are the proceedings in disposing of the different classes of juvenile cases, which are brought before the probate court.

"The subject of child welfare should be of the greatest interest to every citizen of our state and nation. Few people realize the great number of unfortunate children to be found in every community, the dependent, the neglected and the delinquent. The dependent ones brought to that condition perhaps by the death or extreme poverty of the parents, the neglected ones possibly by drunken parents or at least by those persons unfit to have the care of children, the delinquent ones by environment or lack of proper training.

"These cases when they are brought into this court present problems to probate judges which are difficult to solve, owing to lack of facilities in carrying on the work. Take for example the State Public School at Coldwater. It is almost impossible to get a child into that institution owing to the crowded condition there.

"Some time ago, two little orphan girls, normal children, were brought to the probate court in Lapeer county and petition made for their commitment to the Coldwater Public School. Investigation was made and an order sent in committing them to the school, but the reply came back from the superintendent saying that it was impossible to receive them at that time on account of lack of room. The question then before the court was what could be done with these children during this period of waiting. Homeless, friendless, in need of every necessity of life, the only place that was open to them was the County Infirmary, which I am sure my hearers will agree with me, is not a proper place for training children.

"Another phase of this question is where delinquent children are sent to reformatory institutions, boys to the Vocational School at Lansing and girls to the Training School at Adrian.

"These children, after being admitted to these institutions are tested as to their mental and physical condition and are often found to be mentally defective and are returned to their homes in the county from which they were sent. What is to be done with them? You will no doubt say send them to the Michigan Home and Training School but when that attempt is made we find ourselves confronted by the same obstacle as before, hundreds on the waiting list and no room for them.

"Perhaps it may be years before they can be received there, and of course, they will not be allowed to attend the public school. Must these mentally defective, delinquent children, remain in their homes, a menace to society, when the proper training might fit them to be self supporting, respectable citizens?

"My experience as judge of probate has enabled me to see defects in our laws affecting such children as I have described. It appears to me that we could have an institution established and maintained by the state where all children who are made wards of the state by order of the probate court could be sent. Such institutions to be managed by competent men and women who are able to test and classify the mental, moral and physical condition of these children, where they will be considered as health and educational problems rather than to be dealt with in the courts.

"After such careful study of each individual child, he or she may then be re-committed to other state institutions for training for which the child is best adapted. In other words, if we expect to make the coming generations better we must see to it that the environment of the children who are made wards of the state be such as to fit them for useful citizenship. If in this testing institution, there are inmates that cannot be admitted to other state schools or reformatories, let them remain there till they can be received at the Michigan Home and Training School.

"I repeat that the state should provide a place where a testing and classifying may be made and thus prevent the wrong of propagating a mentally defective posterity. I believe that every citizen, man or woman, elected to represent the people in legislative halls should be acquainted with the social and economic conditions of the time, and should be students of these questions.

"The International Conference which began on Jan. 21st had for its purpose the perpetuity of peace. That conference may succeed in establishing peace for this generation but unless the proper training is given our children, war may follow each passing generation.

"Millions of dollars are expended for building roads and other public utilities, why not appropriate a sufficient amount for the care and training of homeless children?"

VALUE OF GRAIN FEED IS SHOWN

Figures Prove That Good Rations Make Best Return.

G. W. Talby, Jr., of the New York State Agricultural college, presents records from dairy herd improvement associations which show that liberal feeding of grain to good cows gives the dairyman good returns in summer and fall as well as during the winter. The figures prove that the average yield of milk for dairy cows in New York is 5,500 pounds of milk. In one group of cows with less than the average production, or only 5,261 pounds of milk, each cow was fed an average $20 worth of grain and $35 worth of hay, silage, and pasture, or $55 in all for feed. The average value of the cows' milk in this group was $146, or $91 more than all costs of feed.

In a group of cows with the average production of 5,500 pounds of milk, the value of the milk was $163. The total feed cost was $71, made up of $30 for grain and $41 for roughage, and the net return was $95.

A group which produced, on an average, 7,771 pounds of milk and fed $50 worth of grain and $44 worth of roughage, produced a gross return of $213 against a feed cost of $94, or a net return of $119. Similarly, two other groups, producing about twice the state average in pounds of milk, or 10,254 pounds and 11,937 pounds respectively, were fed $85 and $99 worth of grain, and $42 and $46 worth of roughage, with total feed costs of $127 and $145 as compared with milk values $280 and $339 each, and net returns of $153 and $194.

In other words, Mr. Talby points out, the more grain, the more milk, and the greater the money return. From this he deduces that it pays, and pays well, to keep efficient cows and to feed them liberally on grain. A large allowance of grain keeps the cows in good condition and makes them enter the winter season in good condition to supply the milk needed to hold the milk market when it will bring its best returns.

Chop Hay With Ensilage Cutter to Save Waste

Many dairy and live stock farmers have found by practical experience that chopping hay with an ensilage cutter not only saves a considerable amount of the hay from being wasted, but also helps towards getting more feed value out of that consumed, due to being more easily mixed with other feeds. Practical tests with dairy herds show that two tons of chopped hay gave almost as much returns as three tons fed long. Often the hay is chopped just as it comes from the field and the chopped feed is blown directly into the mow. About the same amount of curing is necessary whether mowed in the chopped or whole form. This has the additional advantage that the day's use of the ensilage cutter is doubled or tripled and thus its cost per hour brought down for the silo filling.

Cutting Down Cow Feed Lowers Yield of Milk

Trying to make a dairy herd profitable by cutting down on the amount of feed or by not supplying the amount of protein that is required for economical milk production is up-hill work. In fact, it cannot be done. Cutting down the protein supply below actual requirements is a good deal like trying to make a roadbed by putting half as much cement in the concrete mixture as is actually required for good results. In one case it results in low milk production and little or no profit above feed cost, and in the other, in a worthless road which represents a complete loss not only of the material used, but also of the labor employed in producing and laying the defective concrete.

Outline of Economics of Permanent Pastures

Let us now sum up the economics of permanent pastures: There is a great saving of labor, since no cultivation is necessary and the live stock harvest the crop. A highly digestible protein is produced on the farm at a very low cost from cheap nitrogen carriers easily and cheaply carried, rather than having to buy high-priced concentrates. Land not well suited for cultivation can be used. The acreage cultivated is reduced, cereal production is curtailed, and markets are strengthened by lack of over-production. More live stock can be supported on the acre, more milk and meat can be produced a head. Every acre is made to do its best.

Silage for Dairy Cow

Dairy cows consume pasture grass because it is a succulent and appetizing feed. Abundant pasture grass is an ideal and economical feed for milk production. However, pasture grass cannot be fed during the winter, and it is necessary for the dairyman to substitute some succulent, palatable feed in order to maintain the greatest possible production of milk and fat. Corn silage, because it is very available, is the most commonly used winter succulent feed.

THE DIG

There was an amusing scene at a well known theatrical club the other day. A bad actor, but a very good fellow, accused a certain critic of having stated that his Hamlet was the worst he had ever seen.

"There's one thing," he commented cheerfully, "next time I play it you won't be able to say anything worse."

"Oh, yes, I will," said the critic, "I shall say you're not up to your usual standard."—London Opinion.

The music classes are enjoying the splendid radio programs broadcast every Friday by Mr. Damrasch and the New York Symphony orchestra. These programs acquaint the students with the finest type of music, beautifully played. We are trying to gain a better appreciation of good music by first learning the life of the composer, the story of the composition and its mood, then the composition itself.

The boys' quartet made their first appearance Tuesday night at the Community Club banquet. This group of Sophomore boys are creating an interest in other classes for a boys' quartet. They suggest that the Freshmen, Juniors, and Seniors give them some competition.

The sixth grade have finished an attractive frieze, the subject being ancient Greek life.

Since we think that oral French is of more practical value to the student than written work, we have planned that each one in the French I class frequently give a short talk in French. We are beginning that this week. Each one may choose his own subject and try to convey to the class his idea as clearly as possible. Since pronunciation is one of the hardest parts in the study of French, we hope to overcome it by giving each one as much practice as possible in speaking the language.

Elementary

Kindergarten—Should any visitors have happened in our room November 11th, they would have observed an unusual program for we sang America, had several flag salutes, drilled our soldiers, donned a gas mask, and drank out of canteens. We had a splendid time but are glad the war is over and that Armistice is signed.

Second Grade—

We are going to make a home for ourselves in one part of our room. We have been braiding rugs for the floor. In preparation, we are now making furniture of paper. Later our carpenters shall commence work.

Third Grade—

We are making Thanksgiving decorations for our room in Art class. For opening exercises we are hearing the story of "Peter and Prue."

We are starting to plan for a little Thanksgiving program which we are going to have for our parents.

We had an interesting little program in our room on Armistice Day. Some of the sixth graders came in and showed us many things that were used in the war. Delbert Henry of the sixth grade read us a poem which he composed.

Fourth Grade—

Mrs. Creguer visited our room on Tuesday.

The "B" reading class is dramatizing the story of the Pilgrims. For language class we are alphabetizing words. We are going to make a little dictionary of our own.

Our Journey Club is enjoying the trip we are taking to visit the Eskimos. At present we are in Iceland and for morning exercises we are reading "Jon of Iceland."

We enjoyed the privilege of visiting Mr. Campbell's room and hearing the very interesting things he told us about fish. Next week we may write some "fish stories" for our language class.

Fifth Grade—

Armistice Day we were interested in seeing some relics of the war brought in by Milo Vance and Martha McCoy. There were various officer's caps, shells, knives, forks, and food containers. We were glad to go to other grades and to have them return with their exhibits.

We decided that the Good Will program would be the best means of keeping peace. We hope to get better acquainted with these foreign cousins in our geography classes. This week we are studying the homes, the customs, and racial characteristics of people in England and Poland.

Tuesday we visited Mr. Campbell's room to learn about the fish. Much observation is going on.

We have had two good reports given by the class. Lorraine Watson's report on cattle was well illustrated. Grant Hutchinson gave one on horses.

In Arithmetic we have been working on multiplication, short division, and fractions. We are working hard and are making gains.

The English class wrote interesting stories in playlet form.

June

June brings joy and sunshine; And everything is gay; You can see a lazy beetle Trodding on his way; The air is full of insects Also birds and bees, And we hear the gentle wind, Whistling through the trees.

Ivan O'Connor

Sixth Grade—

In Flanders' Field, by Delbert Henry.

In France the crosses on Flanders' Field Make me think of the dead soldiers, In the World War where the heroes died,

The heroes who shot cannons side by side.

They were good friends and all that, And all of them died bravely. Without them the nation scarcely held the torch But they got through safely.

As I look at the crosses on Flanders' Field I think of the soldiers under the ground, That before could talk so gracefully And now cannot murmur a sound.

The day before they fought so hard So they could hold high the torch, But the day before they were shot to the ground And I think their lives were too short.

You please have pity on the soldiers dead, America's bravest braves They fought as hard as Lincoln did When he tried to free the slaves.

"Konjola Saved My Life," Says Detroit Lady

Nervousness and Constipation of Years Standing Yield To New Medicine—Four Bottles Bring Health.

"Konjola saved my life," said Mrs. Margaret Haynes, 2734 Fourth street, Detroit. "I was a nervous wreck, so nervous that I could not bear to be in the company of my own family. I frequently left the table at mealtime in order to be away from everyone and everything. I was unable to eat and became terribly run down and was losing weight rapidly. No matter what I tried nothing relieved me until I took Konjola.

"Before I took this medicine I was terribly constipated. I was listless, sleepy and unable to do my work properly. This had been going on over a period of fifteen years. I have taken four bottles of Konjola and today my nerves are in much better shape. I have an excellent appetite and am free from the misery of constipation. I cannot say enough in praise of Konjola and I have all my friends taking it."

When given a real trial over a period of from six to eight weeks, Konjola has made a record that would often challenge belief were the actual facts not known and verified.

Konjola is sold in Cass City, Michigan, at Burke's Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Advertisement 11-21

CULLING COWS HELPS SOLVE FEED PROBLEM

Better Profits Obtained by Giving Full Rations to Best Cattle in Herd

Cutting down the number of cows in Michigan's dairy herds by removing those producing the least milk is a better economic measure than to cut down the amount of feed given to the herd, according to the dairy department at Michigan State College.

Last year's herd improvement association records revealed 59 cows which had average productions of only 110 pounds of butterfat and 294 cows averaged only 163 pounds of fat per year. The 20 per cent of the cows tested which had the lowest average production of butterfat produced 217 pounds of fat per year.

If the owners of this 20 per cent had culled these cows from their herds, the return in money above feed costs would have been increased $15 per cow for the remaining cattle in the herds. The profit made on the 20 per cent was so low that the average profit on all the cows was reduced materially.

The dairy department advises the culling out of such low producing cows and the adequate feeding of the remaining cattle in order to obtain maximum profits this year when roughages are scarce and expensive.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT COMMUNITY MEET

Paul Woodworth, Bad Axe attorney, in his address, spoke of the responsibilities attached to the office of a circuit judge and said that few men who are conscientious care to hold that position. He said the district was mighty fortunate in having a man of the calibre and capability of Mr. Boomhower and urged his audience not to be too hasty in their criticisms, but to remember that the judge investigates thoroughly the cases that come to trial.

Mr. Woodworth told of the first Pilgrim Thanksgiving and the trials and poverty of those early settlers. While conditions are not as prosperous as one would naturally desire at the present time, still there is much to be thankful for. If one studies world conditions, he will feel he has not been harmed so much and will realize that he ought to have a mighty fine Thanksgiving.

The meeting Tuesday was the first of the third year of the Evergreen Community Club and President Arthur Meredith was greeted by a full house when he announced the evening's program. Roy Severance led the community singing and Mrs. John Caister served as pianist. Recitations were given by Vera Hersh and Mabel Auslander; a mouth-organ solo by Joe Bullis; a quartet number by Mrs. Whitfield, Miss Esther Caister and John and George Caister; and a piano, cornet and trombone trio by Miss Phyllis Lenzner, L. I. Wood, and H. F. Lenzner.

statement reads, "marks the beginning of the sale of Christmas seals, by which the campaign against tuberculosis is financed. Tuberculosis becomes increasingly a problem when many are forced to do without proper food and are subjected to other privations. Present conditions of unemployment and restricted diet prophesy a pronounced increase in the number of tuberculosis deaths such as occurred in European countries, for example, at the time of the World War."

"The Christmas seal sale furnishes the opportunity to guard against this threat of added tuberculosis, with all that it implies in costly sickness, premature death, and bereaved families. All who can do so should purchase the seals. Not only will such purchasers help save lives now, but, equally important, they will allow institutions of measures to prevent future deaths having their origin in present circumstances."

DAVID'S PART ON LIFE'S STAGE

(By D. J. Walsh.)

MONICA'S smile was coaxing as she looked up at the quiet face of the man beside her. "Please tell me what you do, David. Why must you have a secret from me?"

He flushed guiltily. "Surely you can trust me, hon; some day I'll explain it all."

The clear brown eyes clouded. That age-old line: "Trust me." Her brothers had warned her against David Watson, telling her with unpleasant implications in their voices that mysteries were usually sinister. Gambling was one of the things mentioned. David did not work mornings and that looked odd.

"I once read a story about a man of mystery and he turned out to be the town hangman."

David's laugh rang out at this. "I'm not a hangman, Monica. I don't ask you to marry me immediately. Just have faith in me for a short time longer."

"I don't like it. I think I'll stop seeing you until . . . until . . ." she paused. She had intended to tease him into surrender, but it was at that moment that she saw the girl. In her mind the word was in capital letters. The girl was audaciously pretty, although her dress was shabby and her glance at Monica's David was filled with amused recognition. In the brief pause that followed the air seemed tense, mysterious—then with an almost imperceptible wave of a thin hand the girl moved on and David lifted his hat.

"You'd better join your friend," said Monica. "I think she wants you," and she mingled with the crowd of pedestrians who were waiting for the green light at the corner.

He made no effort to detain her, but his face was sober as he, too, was swallowed up by the hurrying mob of workers and shoppers.

"So glad I met you, dear," gushed Monica's sister-in-law, Maud. "I'm on my way to a fitting and I want you to take Sally up to the playroom here," she nodded toward the great department store before which she had paused. "There's a clown there who has a good line and the children are all mad about him."

Sally giggled. "He's terribly funny, Aunt Monica. I wish you'd stay awhile and watch him. He's named 'Pierrot.'" Her aunt turned into the store and made her way to an elevator.

"Don't allow Sally to leave the playroom for any reason," ordered Monica, tipping the maid in charge.

"The clown, the clown," came in childish shrieks, and smiling at the uproar Monica left to keep an engagement.

At 5:20 she rushed back, wondering if her sister-in-law had called for Sally, whom Monica had forgotten. Only ten minutes before closing time!

The smell of smoke sent a pang of fear to her heart. Her way was barred before she had reached the elevators. "Keep back, madam. No cause for alarm," repeated the floorman suavely, "the store is closing."

"I've got a niece up in the playroom," cried Monica wildly pushing at the figure barring her way.

"The playroom is closed. The store is closing. The smoke is nothing, merely a—" He turned aside, his arm firm against her struggles, and nodded to a clerk, who took his place.

The elevators had ceased running when Monica opened her eyes. The smell of smoke was very strong and the air thick with it. She had been carried to the entrance during her faint and was sitting on a stool, her head against a clerk who was dashing water in her face.

"Want me to put you in a taxi?" Monica struggled to her feet and made a swift dash past the girl. "I've got to get up there. Sally, little Sally, is there!"

A fireman sprang toward her. "Out, lady, there's a fire upstairs!"

The air was filled with cries and shrieks of sirens as more fire engines sped up. The faces of the outpouring shoppers were smoke-stained and drawn. Sobs mingled with orders and women fought to get back into the store.

An elevator door clanged and a man's voice rang out: "The last load. Every child is here. Make way!"

An oddly garbed figure with burning eyes stumbled past Monica. In his arms were two small figures and just ahead, almost fainting from fright, tottered the playroom maid with a third child in her arms.

Monica dashed forward. The voice had effectually aroused her and she tore Sally from the sheltering arms.

From a face smeared with white grease-paint burned the eyes of David, his mouth a scarlet gash above the ruffled collar.

"My clown got us all out," Sally was sobbing, "my own dear clown. The firemen told him to go, but he only laughed at them. Auntie, he's burned his hands. Looky!"

"David, David," breathed the girl, totally oblivious of the surging crowd, holding Sally firmly with one hand

CURTAIN SPENDING TO LOWER TAXES

equalization of local school and highway taxes were rated next in effectiveness by the delegates as measures of farm tax relief. The delegates also reaffirmed their former position favoring the introduction of new taxes, such as tobacco and income taxes and an increased gas tax, but only if they are to be used in equalizing and reducing existing tax levies.

The Bureau delegates went on record for a uniform opening of the hunting season on ducks, rabbits, pheasants and squirrels; retention of the Horton Trespass Act, repeal of the Plumbing Code law, abolition of exemptions from taxation and of the Covert Act, as well as the consolidation of local governments in districts where the people desire it.

The full text of the resolutions on state affairs follows:

"The Michigan State Farm Bureau congratulates those voters in all counties of the state who successfully opposed the reapportionment amendment and who brought about the defeat of this un-American measure. The Farm Bureau now calls upon all interests having at heart the welfare of the state to cooperate in an early effort to find a formula that will provide for a fair and final solution of the reapportionment question, a solution that will insure all sections a reasonable voice in legislation in accordance with American ideals of representative government.

"We regard the control of public expenditures as the cornerstone upon which any program of tax relief for farmers or other over-taxed classes must stand or fall. Economy is desirable both because of possible absolute reductions in the cost of government and because no other measure of tax reform can give reasonable assurance of affording actual relief unless and until there are reasonable guarantees that funds designed to replace present excessive taxes will actually be devoted to this use and will not be spent to further increase the cost of government. We, therefore, recommend that legislation designed to curb excessive taxation be made the first order of business in the process of tax reform, and we submit that the present financial crisis warrants the consideration of drastic measures directed along these lines. We renew our instructions to State Farm Bureau officers to work for the defeat of all proposed legislation which tends to an unwarranted increase in public expenditures.

"Recognizing that drifting populations and property values have created conditions in some parts of the state where there may be an excess amount of governmental overhead expense, we recommend to the Legislature that it give careful consideration to the wishes of the inhabitants of such localities regarding possible consolidations of government, either through the union of local units where this is the desire of the people in each unit affected, or through the uniting of public offices of a clerical nature where a majority of the people concerned may desire it.

"We also recommend to the citizens of primary school districts where enrollments have almost vanished that they give serious thought to the advisability of discontinuing such unnecessary public schools, wherever it may effect a material reduction in taxes.

"We recognize that unequal local assessments of property values and unequal local taxes for the support of schools and highways are among the leading causes of tax complaint in all parts of the State, yielding only to the generally high levels of taxation in their importance to agriculture. We, therefore, renew our previous demands for better assessment laws, for a strengthened State Tax Commission, removed as far as possible from political influence and for legislation that will place squarely upon the State the responsibility of equalizing and reducing excessive local school and highway taxes both urban and rural. We urge the State to abolish the vicious practice of assessing so-called benefits to abutting property in connection with highway improvements, under the Covert Act and other similar laws. We also reaffirm our opposition to laws which grant special privileges to any class of taxpayers through the medium of tax exemptions.

"We reaffirm our position favoring the introduction of new and just taxes into our revenue system and their use to reduce and equalize existing local levies, particularly those for roads, streets, and schools. We wish to emphasize the fact that while we consider a property drawn State income tax, a tobacco tax, and an increased gas tax as equitable methods of securing the funds for these uses, we are not content to allow the securing of the needed reduction and equalization to depend upon the adoption of any particular tax, so long as the tax which is adopted is equitable.

"We wish to add that we are not in favor of the adoption of any new tax unless it is done in connection with provisions that guarantee the use of the proceeds in a way that will actually reduce and equalize present farm and city taxes.

"We favor the simultaneous opening of hunting seasons on ducks, rabbits, pheasants, and squirrels. We also wish to reiterate our position in favor of the retention of the Horton Trespass Act.

"We demand the repeal of the present Plumbing Code law, insofar as it applies to farmers and the substitution therefore of minimum requirements suitable to farm conditions. We

Demand for Products of Truck Garden and Field

By rights, the vegetarians ought to be the most prosperous and lively cult in this country, and yet you hardly ever hear of a vegetarian any more. They used to hold meetings to denounce carnivorous practices, and they had little restaurants here and there in the larger cities where nut concoctions were made to resemble wiener schnitzels and where the humble lentil appeared in a hundred disguises. It would be hard to find a vegetarian restaurant now, but it is ten times as easy to get tasty vegetables.

The reason is that we have all become vegetarians of a sort. All kinds of figures are available to show that Americans eat more lettuce and less meat. We cry for spinach and are unhappy without our salads. Fresh vegetables abound in the middle of the winter, so that no American need drop them from his diet.

The vegetarian clubs had little to do with the change. What converted us was the vitamin. As soon as we began to worship at the vitamin shrine, vegetarianism came into its own. Eating the fruits of the truck garden because we had to have vitamins, we presently found out that we were eating them because we liked them. Then along came the slender silhouette, and the cry was more vegetables! Vitamins and reducing diets did the trick. Nobody has ever seen a vitamin, but there is magic in the word.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Women Geographers

The Society of Women Geographers says that for active membership in this organization only those women are eligible who have done distinctive work whereby they have added something to the world's store of knowledge concerning the countries in which they have traveled. Among the members are Delia Akeley, who during her last expedition to Africa assembled a natural history collection of African curios which has been purchased by the Newark museum. Elizabeth Dickey in 1927-28 made extended explorations in Brazil and Venezuela. In 1928-29 she accompanied the expedition to the Malpures rapids, Rio Orinoco, which was led by her husband for the Museum of the American Indian, George Heye foundation, New York. Ruth Crosby Noble is the discoverer of a new species of frog, which has been named in her honor "Eleutherodactylus Ruthae."—Washington Star.

The Better Part

Appropos of the gossip which linked the name of a famous movie star with that of an oil magnate recently at Palm Beach, Lord Charles Leverholm said at a tea:

"It is not true that they are engaged. The young lady has, I know, refused him ten times. Her attitude is rather that of the beautiful Mlle. Beaumesnil, the famous musical comedy actress who, when an elderly admirer offered her his fortune and his heart, replied:

"The first half will be enough for me."

Forget Enmity in Hunger

The government's "bread line" in Glacier National park has been one of the most popular animal rendezvous in the Rocky mountain region. Here it was that hunger reduced animals of all kinds to a common level; here it was that interecine strife was foregone in the desire to obtain food. Among the patrons of the government dole were weasels, mink, crows, blue jays, mountain sheep, deer, bear, magpies and other birds and animals.

Roman Roads in England

Every road map of England shows tiny dotted lines where, in the course of centuries, in spite of the growth of the villages and the fluctuation in importance of the market towns, the old Roman road still exists, sometimes as a mere cart track, and at others merely a line of hedges, still standing as a monument of the busy life which passed away before even William the Conqueror gathered his armies across the Channel.—New York Times.

Dirigible and Plane Combined

Claude H. Freese of Los Angeles, who has become nationally famous through his creation of models of unusual aircraft, with his latest imaginative model of a future air liner. A combination of heavier and lighter-than-air features, the finished ship, measuring 902 feet in length, would have thirteen 600-horse power motors, a lifting power of 215 tons and a theoretical speed of 150 miles per hour.

ROCKET PLANES MAY REACH GREAT SPEED

German Expert Tells of Liquid Gas Motors.

Berlin, Germany.—Dr. Paul Heylandt, one of Germany's leading authorities on the application of liquid gases for industrial purposes, predicts that the time is not far off when air-planes can be shot thousands of feet into the sky by means of a new type rocket motor and can reach the United States from Europe in from six to eight hours.

More than that, Dr. Heylandt says, so high will be the speed—between 300 and 600 miles an hour—of this rocket-propelled plane that the motors can be turned off over Newfoundland and the pilot can glide the rest of the way to New York.

Dr. Heylandt holds some 500 patents in all parts of the world for processes and apparatus. Interests like the German dye trust use his inventions under license and the Berlin Polytechnic has conferred an honorary degree upon him in recognition of his scientific achievements.

Rocket Car Viewed.
The engineer received the correspondent as the first newspaper man to see in action what had been carefully kept from the public, namely, Max Valier's "rocket car."

"My real interest in Valier's car is that it affords a means of testing our rocket motor out practically," said Dr. Heylandt. "Our tests already have convinced me we have solved the problem of combining liquid fuel with pure liquid oxygen to achieve a continuous recoil propulsive power. The next step will be to build a rocket motor into an airplane driven by an ordinary motor. We plan that this plane shall take off the ground with an ordinary motor and then as it reaches high altitudes the operator will switch on the rocket motor. After this has proved successful the next step will be to construct a plane with a rocket motor only. We plan at present to shoot across the English channel with it as the first large test."

Liquid Oxygen Motor Used.
In tests with the rocket car Valier has used a liquid oxygen rocket motor developed by Dr. Heylandt. In the front section of Valier's car is a gasoline tank and behind the driver is a tank of the new liquid oxygen. Both are fed into a narrow bottle-shaped tube in the rear of the car where they are ignited and produce a recoil propelling the car forward. The exploded mixture escapes by a rear aperture leaving a long trail of fire behind, but no smoke.

Power Rockets Work.
Dusseldorf, Germany.—Gottlieb Espenlaub, German glider enthusiast, attained a speed of 95 miles an hour in a tailless airplane driven by powder rockets.

His arrow-shaped plane was loaded with three rockets, each burning six seconds. At a height of 65 feet he flew over the entire airdrome and reached the 95-mile an hour speed. The rockets developed 660 pounds of propulsive power.

Espenlaub's project is different from that of Max Valier, who developed 50 miles an hour in a motor car using the rocket motor of Dr. Paul Heylandt.

Weather Charts by Radio
Transmission of weather charts and maps to airplanes en route by radio looms in the near future as a result of the successful experiments of the German Luft Hansa, officials report.

182 Women Are Pilots
Women pilots licensed in the United States total 182. California, with 42 aviatrices, leads all states, having supplanted New York, which is second with 31.

Quebec Buys Seaplane to Hunt Rum Runners

Montreal.—Owing to the difficulties in coping with the operations of the illicit liquor trade in the lower St. Lawrence an aerial patrol seaplane with a 500-mile cruising range has been purchased by the Quebec liquor commission and put into service. Officers of the commission fly with the pilot and scour the waters for bootleg parties. Much of the contraband is said to go through the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon.

CHINA GETS WINGS FOR PEACE, WAR

Nationalist Government is Becoming Air-Minded.

Shanghai.—China is becoming air-minded, both for peace and war.

An air line extending over western China through Szechuen province and perhaps connecting with Tibet is one of the Chinese government's major projects.

Six airplanes for the line will be purchased with money now being sought from the wealthy residents of Szechuen by the aviation department of the ministry of war. The sum needed is $500,000 gold.

An air line connecting Japan with Shanghai and Nanking also is to be launched by a Japanese firm under a contract with the national government.

A China-Berlin aviation line to be operated jointly by the Luft Hansa interests and the Chinese government is another proposed development. Soviet Russia refuses to let the line pass over its territory until "proper representation" has been made, however.

Meanwhile Chinese military chiefs are realizing the value of aircraft in modern warfare.

In Manchuria Marshal Chang Hseun-liang is developing a strong air force of bombers and scouting planes with the aid of French instructors. He learned his lesson at the time of the Russian invasion of Manchuria, when the Soviet air forces had things pretty much their own way.

In China proper, likewise, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek has met with unusual success in downing rebellions with bombing planes, and this may have been a factor in the Manchurian general's decision to increase his own air armament.

New Air Line Opens Area in West Canada

Edmonton, Alberta.—One of the most difficult and northernmost of air-lines in the world to open an immense trade area from Alberta to the Arctic ocean has just been established from Fort McMurray, Alberta, to Aklavik, on the Arctic ocean.

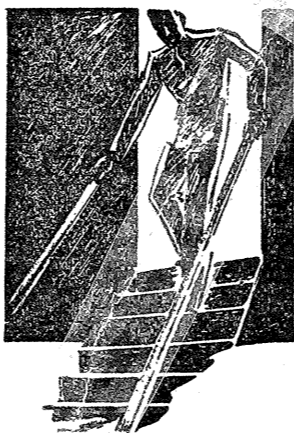

The airline serves a territory rich in mineral deposits and abounding in fur-bearing animals. The inhabitants are few in number, however, as only prospectors and traders live in the country.

It is hoped by officials of the Canadian government that new settlers will be attracted to the territory because of fast transportation afforded by airplanes to and from the larger settlements.

Fast ships will ply up and down the Mackenzie river. In winter, skis will be attached as landing gears and in summer, pontoons will take their place.

Mail and supplies will be transported. Low fares, considering the expense of operating the airline, will prevail. Freight and express will be hauled on a cost basis comparable to passenger fares.

Novesta township acquired its name in rather a peculiar way. At a meeting of the county board of supervisors, when that township came into existence, some 25 years ago, those worthy gentlemen were somewhat puzzled for a name for the "baby." The meeting was being held in an old hotel in Caro and the room was warmed by a stove with the lettering "Vesta No.—." The happy thought occurred to one of the supervisors that a transformation of these letters would make a good name, hence the name "Novesta."

of Joshua Aikens at Clifford, where she has lived after the Tewksbury home burned three weeks ago. Funeral services were held from the home of Rev. L. H. Mark of Clifford and from the Clifford Baptist church.

Besides her parents, she leaves one sister and four brothers, all at home. She was a member of the senior class of the Clifford High School. Mrs. Geo. Copeland Funeral services for Mrs. George Copeland, 75, were held Thursday afternoon at the Free Methodist church at Ubyl and burial was in the Ubyl cemetery. Mrs. Copeland passed away early Tuesday morning, November 11, at the home of her son, Harve Copeland, 1 mile south and 1/2 mile east of Wickware, after an illness of three days.

Mrs. Copeland has spent the last few years with her children because of poor health. Before that time, she had lived for some time at Ubyl. She was born November 19, 1855, in Canada.

MANY FARMERS USE ELECTRICAL POWER

The building of 1,200 miles of rural electrical lines and the addition of 5,500 new rural users of electricity in Michigan is pointed out as a trend of modern farm methods by members of the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State College.

The department estimates that 27,000 Michigan farmers now use central service electrical power for operating farm or household equipment. The number of farmers using electric power four years ago was 6,800.

The change has been not only in the number of users but also in the use to which electricity is put. The average monthly consumption of current four years ago was 30 kilowatts per month which is the average load for lighting a home.

The average amount used by rural residents is now nearly 90 kilowatts, which shows that the electricity is used not only for lights but for power requirements.

The agricultural engineering and the home economics departments of the college, this year, sent specialists to 80 meetings attended by 13,919 people where the use of electricity for running farm and household equipment was discussed. Specially built trucks, taken to the meetings, carried models showing economical ways of adapting electrical power to farm uses.

Sixteen per cent of Michigan's farms now use electricity.

HAPPENINGS IN THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS

Edward Zinger of Ubyl was in Minden City and closed a deal with Mrs. Loretta DaFoe for her undertaking business. He purchased the undertaking home near the postoffice building and all the undertaking supplies on hand.

Mr. Zinger says he may later place the business in charge of his son but for the present will give the business his personal attention.

Nearly every surface well in Peck has gone dry and if it were not for deep drive wells water would be a scarce article in the village. As it is, many of the citizens are forced to carry water from the latter wells.

The farmers in this vicinity are also short of water for stock. In many cases cisterns have been empty for weeks. In regard to wells, health authorities are warning the public to be careful in the use of water that runs in from day to day and that the only safe way is to boil the water.

Benjamin E. Buchkowski was arrested in Port Austin by Huron county officers on the charge of embezzlement of funds of the Argyle Bank several months ago.

He was placed in the hands of Sheriff L. C. Haged of Sanilac county, who took him to Sandusky Sunday night. Buchkowski went from Saginaw Saturday night to Port Austin to visit his wife. Justice Babcock bound Buchkowski over to the Sanilac county circuit court for trial. A representative of a chain store drug house was in Bad Axe a few days ago looking over sites. The firm may establish a store there, it is rumored. The company has a retail store in Saginaw and is planning extensions in other parts of the Thumb.

The largest slash in salaries in Sanilac county came in the office of sheriff, with a $1,500 cut. Under the new salary the sheriff will receive $5,000 per year and pay his own expenses including cost of his deputies. The former salary was $6,500 with the same arrangement. The sheriff is also allowed 25 cents for each meal served to prisoners, and statutory fees when outside Sanilac county on duty.

The undersheriff's salary remains unchanged at $2,000 per year with that official also to pay his own expenses. Martin Balaka, 45, single, drowned in water in the roadside ditch near Quanicasse when the automobile in which he was riding left the road and dropped upside down, pinning him in five feet of water. His companion, Frank Caluka, 40, was able to knock loose a floor board and thrust his head through the opening.

Caluka was in the water two hours, and many motorists passed him but failed to hear his cries or see his predicament. All requests for appropriations by charitable institutions made to the Sanilac county board of supervisors were refused at their recent meeting.

Lewis Taylor, a graduate last June of Caro high school, left last week for Kansas City, Mo., where he will be a Michigan delegate to the Third National Congress of Future Farmers of America. Lewis is president of the Michigan chapter of the organization, members of which have been or are at the present time students in agricultural high schools.

MICH. HOUSE JOURNALS AVAILABLE TO EVERYONE

Myles F. Gray, clerk of the Michigan House of Representatives, announces that House and Senate Journals, of the coming sessions of the 68 legislature, will be mailed any one desiring them. Mr. Gray says that not only individuals and corporations, but librarians, granges, Gleaner Arbors, farmers' clubs, public schools etc. may receive the journals.

He asks anyone wanting them to send to him at Lansing, a request, giving name and address in full, as he is now preparing a mailing list of those to whom they are to be sent.

DRIVER FALLS ASLEEP, SEBEWAING MAN HURT

Dr. C. M. Sigler was badly bruised in an automobile accident early last Thursday morning. The doctor went to Howell late Wednesday afternoon and when he reached Bay City on his return, felt too tired to complete the trip. He hired Edward Burnett, a cab driver, to bring him home. The driver fell asleep and the car hit a culvert four miles south of Sebewaing. Mr. Burnett received a bad cut in the arm and was bruised. The doctor was unconscious when picked up a few minutes after the accident by some men from the Bay City fish hatchery, who were returning from Bay Port. Both men were brought to Dr. Ritsema's office at Sebewaing where they received care and were afterward taken to their homes. The car was wrecked.

YOUNG BEAN THIEF GIVEN LONG TERM

Harold Rogers, 25, son of a Huron county farmer, was sentenced Thursday to serve from 15 to 30 years in Jackson prison by Judge X. A. Boomhower. Rogers pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing beans from a Pere Marquette railroad car.

The prisoner had confessed to other thefts and has served two sentences on criminal charges. He was identified by William Ternest of Ivanhoe as the robber who took $113 at the point of a gun from the Ivanhoe store Aug. 27.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S CLINIC WILL BE HELD DECEMBER 11

The clinic for the crippled children of Huron county will be held in Bad Axe on December 11, it was decided when a committee of Harbor Beach Rotarians met with a like committee from the Bad Axe club in that city.

Word has gone to the state that this date has been selected by the two clubs so that the state health department may make arrangements to have a physician and nurse on the job at that date.

Any Rotarian or school teacher in the county would be pleased to hear of any child who is crippled and who needs help.
