

OLD BURNSIDE BAND HELD REUNION HERE

Celebrated 30th Annual Gathering at the Wm. Martus Home at Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Martus entertained the Burnside Cornet Band Sunday at their home here, for the annual meeting of that organization. Nine members and 13 guests were present and enjoyed a delightful dinner at noon and a Dutch lunch in the evening. The rooms of the Martus residence were beautifully decorated with flags and bunting. Mrs. Dandell furnished the centerpiece for the table, a large birthday cake with 35 candles and the letters, "B. C. B." upon it.

Mr. Martus was a charter member of the band which was organized Aug. 11, 1896. Although they stopped practicing in 1904, they still meet annually. C. J. Dandell organized the band and was the instructor.

Officers elected Sunday for the coming year were: President, C. J. Dandell; vice president, Owen Henn; corresponding secretary, Wm. Martus; treasurer, Everett Stevens.

Thirty years ago the band met at the Martus home here and the following item is taken from the minutes of that meeting:

"Left Burnside at 10:30 a. m. Saturday, Aug. 10, to visit at the Wm. Martus home in Cass City. Arrived in Marlette at noon, bought crackers and cheese, drove three miles north, camped by roadside and ate dinner. Stopped at Novesta Corners and Cass City and played several selections in each place. Arrived at the Martus home at 11:00 p. m. Returned home Sunday afternoon. Expense of trip to Cass City, 75 cents."

Those from out of town who were present here Sunday, Aug. 23, were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dandell and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hossack, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Linck, Miss Eugena and Sarah Linck, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Henn, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Henn, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stevens and Albert Martus, all of Brown City; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Henn and Mrs. Adeline Martus of North Branch.

BEAN GROWERS TO HOLD MEETINGS

Bean marketing meetings are to be held in Tuscola county as follows:

Wednesday evening, Sept. 2nd, Cass City.

Thursday evening, Sept. 3rd, Court House, Caro.

Friday evening, Sept. 4th, R. J. McCoy's store, Reese.

A. B. Love, extension specialist of Michigan State College, assisted by D. B. Jewell, county agricultural agent, will have charge of these meetings. Mr. Love will discuss the work of the organization during the past year. The average price paid the pool from January to June was $3.86 cwt. This was within 54c cwt. of the price for which beans were sold the canners. Matters of organization will be discussed.

Locals are now formed at the following places: Saginaw, Merrill, Hemlock, Gera, Bay City, Auburn, Munger, Northern Bay, Middleton, Breckenridge, Ithaca, Watertown, Marlette, Snover, Decker. Tuscola county has a nice start on the work but it was necessary to stop during the busy season. It is expected that organization will be completed in the county so that those wishing to may market this year's crop during the same.

NEW FARM CROPS ARE TRIED AT UBLY

Uby's newest industry, the "Wormwood factory," has attracted a great many visitors the past few weeks, says the Huron County Tribune. Last year the Sleeper farms planted about 200 acres to wormwood. This year the crop matured and yielded a large tonnage. The product is cut with a grain binder and in the green state brought to the press. The latter is a large vat. After the cover is locked down tight live steam is forced through the vat and a suction pump draws out the bottom of the vat the liquid resulting from the steam and the pressure. As the liquid is drawn out by the pump the condensed water settles to the bottom of the container and the pure wormwood oil rises to the top and is run off and canned ready for market.

The highest and a good yield is 20 pounds of oil per acre. Much of the crop here is yielding that quantity. Two years ago wormwood oil was in good demand at $20.00 per pound. It is much cheaper now but at a normal price it ought to be a well-paying Huron county crop. The plants need cultivating like beans or corn but no re-seeding is necessary. The plant is a perennial and does not winter kill. The Sleeper farms in the vicinity of Uby are also harvesting about 50 acres of peppermint and spearmint.

These oils are extracted the same as the wormwood. Peppermint and spearmint have to be planted each spring.

TELEPHONE RATES ARE BOOSTED IN HARBOR BEACH

Notice has been given to Harbor Beach people that the Michigan Associated Telephone Co. is asking the Michigan Utilities Commission for an increase in telephone rates, says the Times.

STATE'S BEST GRAIN GROWERS GET PRIZES

Contest at State Fair Will Pick Michigan Leaders in Wheat, Oats and Barley.

Leading grain growers of Michigan will compete for top honors at the Michigan State Fair in the Ira H. Butterfield memorial contest, sponsored annually by the crops department at Michigan State College.

Yield per acre and commercial value of the grain will be the basis of awards, rather than the value of the crop for seed purposes. This gives the contest unusual practical value in picking the real leaders among state farmers.

The three classes of the event include wheat, oats and barley, with 22 different awards in each class. Fields entered must consist of five acres or more, with any farmer in the state eligible to file entry with his local county agricultural agent or the college crops department. Entries will close on Aug. 31, to give time to prepare for judging at the state fair.

Ira H. Butterfield, for whom the event is named, was a pioneer in Michigan agricultural circles. He served for many years as secretary of the state fair, and was prominent in many other agricultural organizations.

VASSAR CUT VILLAGE SCHOOL BUDGET $4,000

At a special meeting of the Vassar board of education held at the school building Friday night, the budget committee, composed of Howard W. Smith and W. C. Furman, recommended that $22,000 and a one-mill tax be spread on the district this year.

The recommendation of the committee was accepted. This budget means a cut of approximately $4,000 over last year and was made possible through the reduction in teachers' salaries and the elimination of two teachers.

Samuel Garner, president of the board, has also appointed a committee for lands and buildings, composed of Frank B. Tinglan and Ray Krieger; a purchasing committee, Frank Tinglan and Geo. Gray; and a library committee, George Gray and W. C. Furman.—Vassar Pioneer-Times.

FIND GREENLEAF BOY POISONING VICTIM

Officers May Exhume the Body of Woodruff Cook's Brother in Uby Cemetery.

That Woodruff Cook died at Cass City Aug. 5 of mercuric poisoning, from an unknown source and administered by person or persons unknown, was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest held at the Tuscola county court house Saturday. They rendered their verdict after deliberating less than five minutes at the close of the inquest in which testimony was taken from 10:30 a. m. until 4:30 p. m.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner C. N. Race of Tuscola county and Coroner J. C. Webster of Sanilac county. Woodruff Cook was a resident of Greenleaf township, and his death occurred in Cass City, Tuscola county, on Aug. 5.

Members of the jury were Guy N. Ormes, Fred C. Striffler, Geo. H. Moore, F. S. Riley, Leonard D. Hacker, and H. J. Austin.

The testimony of witnesses revealed that the Cook boy was taken ill near midnight on Tuesday, July 28, when he vomited and complained of pains in his stomach. A physician was called to the home in Greenleaf township and the boy was taken the next day to Pleasant Home Hospital at Cass City. Dr. I. D. McCoy, proprietor of the hospital, summoned a consultation of Dr. Webster, Dr. Malloy, and Dr. Young, who diagnosed the boy's illness as being due to poisoning of some kind. Mr. and Mrs. Cosgrove had the boy removed from the hospital to their home in Greenleaf township on Monday, Aug. 3, and called Dr. F. L. Morris. Woodruff Cook was then taken to the Morris hospital here where an operation was performed for obstruction of the bowels. He passed away two days later.

Physicians who were called to the witness stand were Dr. I. D. McCoy, Dr. S. B. Young, and Dr. F. L. Morris of Cass City and Dr. J. C. Webster of Marlette.

George Cosgrove, step-father of Woodruff Cook, in his testimony, stated that there was no poison about the premises except iodine and some potato bug spray. He knew of no reason why Woodruff would take poison and suspected no one. Mrs. Cosgrove, who was a widow when she married Mr. Cosgrove 13 years ago, said her son, Woodruff, had never been seriously ill before and had worked all day previous to the night he was taken ill. Wm. Cook, 22, a brother of Woodruff, said his brother was in good spirits previous to his illness.

Maurice Ransford, Tuscola county prosecutor, questioned the witnesses and was assisted in the examination by Attorneys Roland A. Kern and Herbert P. Orr.

Floyd Cook, 17, a brother of Woodruff, died three years ago with symptoms.

On Wednesday, Cass City won 765 points and Elkton 466. Cass City threw 315 ringers and Elkton 208. Bad Axe defeated Elkgrove on Thursday by a score of 739 to 635. Bad Axe players have 292 ringers to their credit and Fairgrove 246. In the finals Friday, Cass City defeated Bad Axe 722 to 678. In a close contest for ringers, Cass City had 365 and Bad Axe 351.

AUTO LICENSE TAGS SOLD SOON AT HALF PRICE

Automobile license plates go on sale Sept. 1 for one-half of their present value. There has been a reduction in this year's sale below that of a year ago in Tuscola county, says Henry Beecher, in charge of license plate sales, but he is anticipating a marked pick-up in sales next month and the sales for the year may come close to the 1930 record. On only one day since the 1931 sale started has Mr. Beecher failed to sell plates.

A person applying for license plates for the remaining months of 1931 at the half-price mark must make an affidavit that he has not operated the car previous to Sept. 1.

The Harvest

ALFALFA SEED CROP HANDLED WITH CARE

Survey Shows Methods Used by Michigan Growers to Prevent Harvest Losses.

That successful Michigan farmers handle their alfalfa seed crop with all the care and attention one would use in handling eggs, is shown by a survey recently completed by state college specialists.

"With high quality alfalfa seed worth from 30 to 45 cents a pound, losses from shattering at harvest time are costly indeed," says P. R. Miller of the Michigan State College crops staff. "Care used in handling this crop right pays good dividends."

More than 100 of the state's leading growers were interviewed in an effort to determine the practices most commonly employed. Highlights of this survey follow:

Eighty per cent of the farmers questioned harvest when pods are two-thirds to three-fourths brown. Ninety per cent harvest seed from the first crop, year in and year out. Fifty-eight per cent use mower with wind-row or pea attachment. Fifty per cent leave crop in bunches in field in curing. The majority use tight bottom racks, covered with canvas or building paper, to catch seed that shatters during hauling and hulling. Seventy per cent thresh from the field. Eighty per cent thresh with clover huller, large size preferred. Only 10 per cent had ever re-threshed, the general opinion being that re-threshing is unnecessary if proper equipment is used.

POULTRY RAISERS TO STUDY NEW METHODS

Michigan poultry raisers will study the newest developments and improvements in their business during a special round-up to be held at Michigan State College on Sept. 17 and 18, according to announcement made this week by officials of the college agricultural division.

The meeting will take the form of a demonstration school or short course, with leading poultry authorities conducting the work. In addition to local representatives, several prominent men from other states and Canada are listed on the tentative program.

Recent years have seen the adoption of an unusual number of new practices in the poultry business and these improvements will be discussed and explained to Michigan's growers. Problems of housing, feeding, brooding, and the like will all find a place on the two day schedule. The program will have special appeal for the average practical poultry man, rather than for the large hatcherymen.

The round-up will be made an annual feature, if the plans of the college poultry department are followed out.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Cuban Revolution Is Collapsing; Oil Wells of East Texas Are Closed Down.

Gen. Menocal.

WHEN Gen. Mario Menocal and Col. Carlos Mendieta were captured by the Cuban government troops and locked up in Cabanas fortress, it appeared to observers on the island that the revolution had collapsed. Indeed, President Machado started off the week with the announcement that the rebels were surrendering everywhere and that there would be peace throughout Cuba within a few days. The most important of the remaining leaders were said to be in Santa Clara province with rather small bands of followers. Aviators were sent out to fly over rebel territory dropping leaflets announcing that Machado would grant amnesty to all who surrendered immediately.

But the revolutionists had not yet reached the end of their resources. A filibustering expedition landed men from half a dozen countries and quantities of arms and ammunition at Gibara, near the eastern end of the island, and that port was captured and fortified. The government immediately moved against this force, and there followed one of the bloodiest battles ever fought in Cuba. The gunboat Patria destroyed the Gibara fortress and a land army inflicted a crushing defeat on the rebel troops and the filibusters. Meanwhile planes dropped bombs on the town, which was badly shattered. It was reported that about 500 revolutionists were killed and that the federal casualties were heavy.

Lifting of the censorship revealed that the rebels also had suffered severely in fierce engagements in Santa Clara province.

Despite these defeats, the revolutionary leaders still at large were insistent that their cause was not lost. General Menocal managed to smuggle out of his cell a proclamation urging his followers to continue the struggle, and there were indications that Machado's troubles were not over by any means. In Washington, though the State department would make no comment on the situation, it was the general opinion of officials that the only way Machado can prevent renewed uprisings is to enact speedily the reforms along democratic lines that his administration promised. Certainly the American government hopes he will adopt this course, for it has no desire to intervene in the affairs of the island republic and will not do so unless developments bring on a state of virtual anarchy there.

MRS. C. YAKES PASSED AWAY SATURDAY

Mrs. Catherine Yakes passed away Saturday evening, Aug. 22, at her home, corner of West and Seventh Streets, after an illness of but eight days.

She was married Sept. 12, 1883, to Elmer Yakes at Deckerville. In 1895, they moved to a farm near Cass City and four years later moved to town where Mrs. Yakes has since lived.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the local Baptist church where Mrs. Yakes has been a faithful member for over 30 years. Rev. Wm. Curtis, pastor of the church, officiated and burial was in Elkland cemetery.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of which Mrs. Yakes was one of the oldest members in years spent in the society's ranks, held short services Tuesday morning at ten o'clock at the home.

Mrs. Yakes will be greatly missed not only in the home and church but in the community where she was always ready with a loving word and a helping hand.

She leaves six children, Mrs. Stillson Rumble of Monroe, Mrs. Harry Vickers of Sandusky, Mrs. Alton Mark of Gagetown, Kenneth Yakes of Berkeley, Ray Yakes of Paris, France, and James Yakes of Royal Oak. She also leaves one brother, Hiram Willis, of Cass City and three sisters, Mrs. Anna McCallum, Pontiac; Mrs. John M. News Review of Current Events the World Over Cuban Revolution Collapsing After Bloody Battle at Gibara—Oil Wells of East Texas Are Closed Down.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Concluded from first page.

TEXAS has taken its stand beside Oklahoma in the fight against ruinously low prices for crude oil, and it was expected that Kansas also would adopt measures for curtailment of production. The net result, it was believed, would be higher prices for midcontinent crude oil and possibly the stabilization of the American oil industry.

Following action by the legislature, Gov. Ross S. Sterling ordered the complete shutdown of the 1,600 producing oil and gas wells of the great east Texas area, and then sent about a thousand National Guardsmen into four counties to enforce the order, martial law being proclaimed. No resistance was met, the larger companies closing their wells before the soldiers arrived.

Governor Sterling, himself an oil man, predicted higher crude prices and estimated the Texas and Oklahoma shutdowns would take about one million barrels a day off the market. He said martial law in east Texas will not be lifted until the state railroad commission has issued prorations orders.

Governor Murray of Oklahoma, who originated the idea of dealing with overproduction by declaring martial law, sent a message of congratulation to the Texas executive.

Most of the operators in the oil regions planned to care for employees during the shut down period. Drilling was continued as usual for there was no ban on bringing in new wells provided they were shut down immediately.

POLITICAL observers in Illinois saw, in the latest episode of the Frank L. Smith case, indication that the man who was elected to the United States senate by Illinois and was twice denied a seat in the upper house because of Samuel Insull's contributions to his campaign fund, might seek again to represent his state in the senate. What has happened is that Mr. Smith has made public the fact that Julius Rosenberg, Chicago financier, between the primary and the election of 1926, offered him stock in Sears, Roebuck & Co., then worth $555,000, to withdraw from the Rep-ican nomination. Mr. Rosenwald is too ill to be interviewed but his intimate friends admit the truth of the story and uphold the purity of the financier's motives in thus seeking harmony within the Republican party.

Mr. Smith, at his residence in Dwight, said: "I did not issue the statement for political purposes. If I intended to use it for such, I would have used it in my two campaigns for the senate and again last year. I issued it because others saw fit to write a book about the case and because they did not give the people all the facts.

"As to my future action politically, I shall be governed by conditions."

If Smith should file for the senatorship nomination, he will have Senator Glenn as his opponent in the Republican primaries. He was defeated for renomination in 1927 by Glenn in the upheaval which also retired former Governor Small.

THERE cannot be any general revival of prosperity until the nations of Europe settle their political disputes and the German reparations have been revised. Such is the opinion of the Wiggins committee of international bankers at Basel which was appointed to study Germany's financial needs and capabilities. The German government was greatly encouraged by the report, and one of its officials said that a new conference on finances, politics and reparations must be called immediately and that all Europe hoped it would be called by President Hoover.

RECURRING reports that President Hoover would call a special session of congress to deal with the unemployment situation were declared at the White House to be without foundation. The President feels, too, that it is unnecessary to call congress earlier than December to organize in time to consider the reparations war debt plan. He believes this can be handled in the regular session.

The President appointed Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telegraph and Telephone company, head of a national organization which will be charged with the task of mobilizing national, state and local relief agencies of every kind in meeting the unemployment crisis during the coming winter.

Jonett Shouse, executive chairman of the Democratic national committee, came out with a statement demanding of President Hoover "more positive action and less theoretical investigation." He asserted that the President is spending more time ascertaining how many persons will be out of work next winter than he is in taking measures for their relief.

DR. HENRY Prichett, president emeritus of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, in the annual report of the foundation makes the bold assertion that the leaders of the American Legion "intend to raid the treasury of the United States." And he questions the patriotism of war veterans who ask pensions or bonuses when injured. Under the subheading "Patriotism, Pensions and Politics," Doctor Prichett says:

"There has come about in our country a complex of patriotism, bonus seeking, and politics the like of which can be found in no other nation on earth. Organizations that started in pure patriotism have lent themselves to pension lobbying on such a form as to demoralize both the veterans and congress."

"Erroneous and unfair" is what Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion, says of the Prichett statement, adding: "The American Legion never has in the past or, in my opinion, never will in the future, ask anything that is unfair or that will place an unjust financial burden on the country."

He says the real objective of the veterans' organization has been to get disability compensation, but that it never has asked a pension for able-bodied men.

FROM a preliminary treasury statement is derived the unpleasant information that the government suffered a drop of more than $600,000,000 in internal revenue collections during the fiscal year 1931, the first full year during which taxes were effected by the economic depression and the falling stock market. Total collections for that year were $2,428,228,700. Income taxes yielded $1,860,040,400, a decline of $550,000,000, while miscellaneous internal revenue accounted for collections of $568,188,200, a drop of $61,698,246.

Corporation income taxes netted the government $1,026,292,699, a decline of $237,021,700, and individual taxes $833,647,700, a decrease of $313,196,900, reflecting the depressed conditions in the business world and the wide variations of collections in times of prosperity and in times of depression.

While both corporation and individual income taxes were cutting a deep swath in government revenues, miscellaneous taxes showed only a small loss despite the business slump.

All tobacco taxes for the fiscal year amounted to $444,276,500, a decrease of but $6,062,500. Of this total cigarettes accounted for $358,915,100, representing a reduction of $901,086.

The government stamp tax figures emphasized the extent to which business slumped in the stock market and commodities exchanges. Collections on capital stock sales and transfers dropped from $46,698,226 in 1930 to $25,519,900, representing a decline of $21,178,200.

The figures for the produce markets indicated that sales for future delivery had been cut more than half. The taxes on sales of products on exchanges were given as $1,682,600 for 1931, as compared with $3,599,875 during the previous year, when business conditions were better.

Notwithstanding the lowered collections, the government found that it cost more proportionately to gather the smaller taxes than it had during the years of prosperity.

QUITE recently Rafael Largo y Herrera, noted Peruvian political leader and former minister of foreign affairs, arrived from Lima by airplane. He has now been nominated for the presidency of Peru by the Economist party, and it is said stands an excellent chance of being elected. So Senator Largo started back home the other day to participate in the elections, and again he traveled by the air route. He thus was the first passenger to make a round trip by plane between Peru and New York.

During his brief visit to this country he spent a day or so in Washington, where he has many friends and admirers.

JOHN E. BAKER, American relief expert and adviser to the Chinese railway ministry, sends word that the flood in the Yangtze valley is China's most terrible disaster in the present century. About thirty million people have lost their homes and a third of them are destitute. The loss of life, already terrific, was increased when a great dike protecting part of Hankow gave way and several hundred persons were drowned. Typhoid, cholera and dysentery are epidemic, and industry is paralyzed. All foreigners were reported safe.

The Chinese government has made an offer to the federal farm board for part of its surplus wheat to help feed the refugees, and the idea is favorably considered by officials in Washington.

ONCE mighty but now fallen like many another, Prof. Augustinas Waldemar, former dictator of Lithuania, was put on trial before a court martial at Kaunas on charges of plotting a revolt a year ago to overthrow the present joint dictatorship of President Anthony Smetona and Premier Jonas Tubilius. Twenty-four of his followers were his fellow defendants. The plot was betrayed to the authorities by several of Waldemar's adherents, all members of the Iron Wolf organization, and it was expected their testimony would result in severe sentences for those accused. Professor Waldemar, who returned to Kaunas from his place of exile near Memel to attend the trial, said the charges were exaggerated, which sounds like a weak defense. There won't be any sympathy for him in Poland, for when he was in power he was the bitter foe of that country and of its dictator, Marshal Pilsudski.

DEVELOPMENTS in the New York legislative investigation of the administration of New York city may bring about a political feud between Governor Roosevelt and Tammany Hall that would have a decided effect on the governor's chances for the Democratic Presidential nomination. Some of his friends believe a break with Tammany might help rather than hinder his cause in that matter and would bring him support from other states where the leading Democrats have been holding aloof from the Roosevelt boom because of fear that he was too closely allied with Tammany. These friends think that even if Tammany should turn hostile, Roosevelt could carry New York state against Mr. Hoover unless there should be a great improvement in the economic situation within a year.

Leading members of Tammany would not discuss for publication their attitude toward Roosevelt because the Tammany policy apparently is to avoid an open break with the governor so long as he has the state patronage at his disposal and remains a decided Presidential possibility.

GOING back to Illinois for a moment: Newton Jenkins of Chicago has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator on a platform of opposition to the renomination of President Hoover. Mr. Jenkins, who is forty-four years old, an ex-service man and a lawyer, has twice before been a candidate for senator.

Experiments Show Milk Is Injured by Sunlight

Modesto, Calif.—Keep your bottled milk out of the sunlight if you wish to preserve its fresh flavor. That is the advice of the local branch of the dairy division of the University of California College of Agriculture, following tests. The experimenters said ten minutes' exposure to sunlight will give bottled milk a slight "off" flavor, and three-quarters of an hour will give it that "cardboard-like" taste.

SURPLUS OF WIVES GETS MAN 2 YEARS

"Marriage Complex" Lands Him in Chain Gang.

Lafayette, Ga.—John Tucker, twenty-five, must serve a two-year sentence in the chain gang because a "marriage complex" led him to take three beautiful brides in less than three months.

Judge James Maddox was about to sentence Tucker to a short term on the plea that the case be considered a misdemeanor, after Tucker's appeal to the Supreme court had resulted in a decision upholding his conviction.

Menace to Womanhood.

Prosecuting Attorney Smythe, however, objected.

"Your honor," he said, "since Tucker's conviction of bigamy we have learned that he is in reality a polygamist. The man seems to exercise an unholy influence over pretty women and apparently can't curb his matrimonial leanings. He should be given the limit, as a menace to the womanhood of this community."

Judge Maddox, startled, asked for proof. It was furnished by wife No. 3 in person. She was very beautiful and very indignant.

"I'm really the first one he married," she said. "Those other wives explain why he was away from home so much."

Investigation leading to the discovery that Tucker had a surplus of wives started after he married Miss Alice Kutz, twenty-three, of LaFayette.

A week after his marriage he went to Alabama on pretense of a business trip. He did not return for some time, and in the meantime Miss Kutz found that he had married an Alabama beauty less than a week after her own marriage.

Officers Awaiting Him.

Miss Kutz filed bigamy charges, and when Tucker returned to his Lafayette bride he found officers awaiting him.

He admitted he had something of a complex on the matter.

"I just couldn't help it," he said, modestly. "If I like a girl, I want to marry her. That's natural, isn't it? I guess I kind of forgot about the others girls I'd married."

"I was so much in love each time that I didn't think of anything until it was all over, and there I was married again."

"Money? Naw, it didn't cost me much. Two of my wives were working, and they even loaned me money." Wife No. 1 and No. 3 went with him to the chain gang to see that he was comfortable, and they will make their homes here, separately, however, until he has completed his term.

Then they will try to make some settlement.

Miss Kutz is suing for divorce.

Plan Monument to Honor Cowboy Flyer Lost at Sea

Billings, Mont.—A cowboy aviator, who dreamed of flying the Atlantic and apparently died in the attempt, will have a monument erected to his memory.

The monument, bearing the title "Where Dreams Are Born," will be erected in Yakima, Wash., to Urban F. Dittman, Jr., Billings stockman, lost on a lone flight over the Atlantic, October 3, 1929.

Unheralded, the cowboy flyer took off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, on the flight. He never was heard of again.

The monument will be modeled after a drawing at the time of the flight by Tige Reynolds of the Portland Oregonian.

The scene depicts a cowboy, mounted, gazing over a broad expanse of range, while above, in clouds, float an airplane, and the Golden Hind, the ship of Sir Francis Drake.

Dittman had named his ill-fated craft, the Golden Hind.

China Students to Do School's Janitor Work

Peiping.—The education commissioner of Honan province, Li Ching-tai, has issued an order that students in governmental schools must hereafter do the janitor work in their schools, to cut down expenses, according to the Chinese press here.

This is a new departure for China, where students have traditionally not been expected to do work with their hands.

Mr. Li said that educational funds are low, and students should be glad to help make it possible for students who so desire to get an education. So they are requested to wash floors and water gardens in the schools.

Reno Going Highbrow; to Build Art Gallery

Reno, Nev.—This city, known the world over as the home of the gambler and divorcee, is going highbrow.

The Reno city council has just donated a piece of ground near the Nevada State university to the Nevada Art Gallery association, which is being formed, and it is proposed to erect a building typifying the architecture of the Southwest. The gallery will be "dedicated to the memory of noble womanhood."

What! HAIR OINTMENT IN YOUR MOTOR OIL?

Petroleum jelly forms the base for many hair ointments—and many motor troubles. This heavy, jelly-like salve gives motor oil a false body which turns water-thin in engine heat. Ask the nearest Sinclair dealer for Sinclair Opaline—the motor oil which has had petroleum jelly removed at as low as 60° F. below zero—a temperature much lower than required for just removing wax. Ask the Sinclair dealer.

Deaths similar to those in Woodruff's illness, it was testified at the inquest. Floyd is buried in the Uby cemetery and permission to exhume the body for post-mortem examination was granted Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Cosgrove and son.

It is expected that application to Huron county authorities for permission to exhume the body of Floyd Cook will be made by Sanilac county authorities and have the vital organs analyzed to determine if mercury poisoning was present as was found in the organs of Woodruff Cook.

The first official action in this case was taken when Sanilac county officials requested Maurice Ransford, prosecuting attorney of Tuscola county, to make an investigation whether or not Woodruff Cook had died from natural causes. A post-mortem was held at the morgue of Knapp & Douglas at Cass City on Aug. 6. Dr. W. G. Gamble of Bay City performed the post-mortem.

The organs of the alimentary canal were removed and portions taken by Dr. Gamble to his Bay City laboratory and other portions were sent to the University of Michigan hospital for analysis. A lengthy report of Dr. Gamble was read to the jury Saturday. In it, the pathologist said the analysis showed the presence of mercuric poison.

SPORTS CLOTHES HOLD POPULARITY

Practical Appeal and Charm Is Cause.

The popularity of the sports frock continues unabated. Somehow it seems that the trig lines of such a frock suggests the business-like, trim, neat woman that one sees everywhere.

That every important designer and every small house include a whole section of sports clothes in each and every collection is proof that such frocks have come to stay. For most women prefer to spend the day in simple, well-tailored frocks of practical appeal and charm, rather than wear the fussy, dressy clothes that used to signify smartness.

It seems difficult to believe that we will ever return to such clothes. We are far too proud of our svelte figure and want to wear clothes that are expressive of our slim proportions.

What better choice could be made than the frock that we have dubbed "sports" frock for want of a better name to characterize its utility, verve and chic?

The new sports frocks would make even the most languid woman ambitious to get out each day for a brisk constitutional.

Formal Pajama Costumes

Now that formal pajama costumes are making their presence known at moonlight dances and summer opera, designers are seeing to it that they are styled with all the subtle elegances which add a glamorous beauty to the evening mode. In the realm of the most lovely there is nothing more beguiling than the alliance of exquisite lace with velvet especially when the costume as here pictured is a Worth creation.

White Satin for Sports Dress, Popular Fashion

White is so popular that there is no gainsaying the popularity of the white satin sports dress. It is one of the new sports fabrics this season and is particularly fetching when worn with a bright red patent leather belt.

The white dress may be sleeveless, but has a sheltering cap over the shoulder or a tiny puff or a point which does make it a more becoming dress than the narrow shouldered one of last summer. The white dress for active sports is often bifurcated.

The French colonial exposition has definitely registered in fashion more red, white and blue, in the browns and tans. The rough effects and the string and straws that go into the belts and bags are from that source. So are the mesh textured fabrics and many of the designs of new jewelry. Nothing since the Russian ballet has so influenced fashion.

So it is true that the drapery and the native tent and pagodas of the tribes of northern Africa are sweeping fashion for the summer.

Prompt Action May Save Many a Soiled Garment

The wise housewife, knowing that prompt action saves many a garment, has a special shelf or drawer where she keeps a supply of small articles useful in removing stains. The simple and necessary equipment consists of a bowl, a cup, several eye droppers or glass-stirring rods—one for each chemical, to use for dropping the chemical on the stain; white blotting paper, to lay under spots during the cleaning to prevent the formation of rings; soft clean cloths, a soft brush, starch or Fuller's earth, and chemicals. Among these there will be a grease solvent such as gasoline or benzene (inflammable) or carbon tetrachloride (non inflammable). Javelle water for bleaching white cottons or linens, oxalic acid alcohol and ammonia. A stain remover chart or one of the bulletins of stain removal, published by the United States Department of Agriculture, should be kept with this equipment.

WHY

Japan and China Were Given Ornate Nicknames

In the year 671 A. D. the Chinese gave the name Jihpen to the archipelago situated east of their empire. The first syllable of this name is represented by a character meaning sun, or light; the last syllable by a character meaning origin, or root. The word is thus translated as "origin of the sun." Japan being east of China, it is easy to understand how the name "Land of the Rising Sun" became applicable to this country. The Japanese, who borrowed their writing and many of their terms from China, adopted this name also, but modified its pronunciation to Nihon. Another form is Nippon, or Dai Nippon.

China is known as the Flowery Kingdom. This is a translation of the Chinese Hua Kuo, and is the most ancient name of China. It is not known whether it originally referred to flowers in the literal sense, but probably did not. Hua means flowery, elegant, or distinguished. It is supposed that the ancient Chinese so designated their country because they regarded their people as the most polished and civilized in the world. This term may have been employed at one time in the sense of "country full of flowers." According to one theory, the Chinese originally lived in a very barren region of Central Asia, and they called their new country the "Flowery Kingdom" in contrast to their old home in the desert.

Why Present System of Weights and Measures

In the early Colonial days of America the weights and measures used by the colonists were naturally those of the mother country, and in most cases copies of the home standards were brought over and entrusted to the care of special officers of the commonwealth. In the English colonies it was usually the yard of 1588 that was employed. At the time of the Revolution the new country naturally continued with its existing British standards, and although the Constitution gave congress the power to fix the standard of weights and measures, nothing was immediately done. Thomas Jefferson in 1790 suggested in congress the establishment of a decimal system. The question was again taken up in congress in 1817 and 1830. On July 26, 1868, the metric system of weights and measures was legalized by act of congress. In 1875 the United States joined with a number of others in the establishment of the international bureau of weights and measures in Paris.

Why Frost on Window

Window frost forms when a window pane is cold enough to chill indoor air below its dewpoint, and when that in turn is below the freezing point. The more moist the indoor air the higher its dewpoint, the more readily will frost form, but if a room is very warm the window pane is likely to be not cold enough and the air too dry for a frost display. The presence of a storm window tends to prevent the formation of frost on the inner pane, as the air space between the windows takes a temperature approaching that of the room. Pulling down the shades at night also eliminates a certain amount of heat loss through the glass and therefore tends to prevent frosting.

Why Ethiopia Bars Hunters

Big-game hunters have been warned to keep away from Ethiopia, especially from the most accessible districts along the line of the Franco-Ethiopian railway. United States Minister Southard at Addis Ababa has notified the State department that the emperor of Ethiopia has ruled that no more hunting permits shall be issued to anyone, native or foreigner, in any of the districts heretofore visited by hunters for big game. Such expeditions from the United States are especially discouraged by Minister Southard under existing conditions.

Why Roosevelt Got Prize

The outbreak of war between Russia and Japan began on February 10, 1904, and closed with the signing of the treaty at Portsmouth, N. H., September 5, 1905. Here it was where President Roosevelt came in. It was he who negotiated the treaty between these two nations; and for his efforts in connection with the settlement of this war he was awarded the Nobel peace prize, the first American to receive a Nobel prize.

Why "Old Hickory"

General Jackson received the nickname "Old Hickory" from the fact that he was supposed to be as tough as the wood from the hickory tree. It was an affectionate name given to him by his backwoods followers who admired him because of the hardy, outdoor life that he lived.

Why "Venetians"

Early explorers in South America named one region Venetia, Little Venice, because the Indians on a big lake lived in villages set on piles in the lake bed.

Why Known as "Watch"

The name "watch" is derived from the fact that portable timepieces were carried by night watchmen for calling off the "watches of the night."

Why Watch Gains Time

The lower temperature at night causes a watch to gain.

Dotted Net Is Charming and Chic

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHAT with the program of party frocks for the last several summers being mostly a matter of one printed chiffon frock after another, the idea of printed or embroidered cotton net suggests a most intriguing diversion.

The beauty about these very charming new quality-kind cotton nets which are now so smartly in fashion for evening wear is that they can be safely and successfully washed—no danger of colors "running" as heretofore. Then, too, these nets drape ever so charmingly, at the same time having enough body in them to stay crisp and fresh looking on the warmest evening.

Very newest printed nets carry the message that dots have appeared on fashion's horizon for midsummer evenings. For the slender woman the dress pictured is ideal. It is a very "young" frock for slim and svelte youth, and later providing you're the type.

A particularly summery and actually washable dune cotton net fashions this lovely gown. Of course, you will be interested in the deep capelet collar which reminds us that shoulders are generally covered this summer if only with a wisp of a scarf, or a tiny drapery which looks as if it might have started to be a sleeve and decided to "just pretend." We most forgot to tell you that the dots which pattern this particular dress are in "English Officer" red, from which striking color the hand-made silk apples, which form the corsage take their cue. A slightly stiffened peplum is featured, its hemline following the contour of the skirt hemline with considerable artistry.

Quite as effective, although not so unusual and new as the big coin dots are the charming nets which are patterned with colorful florals. These tune in every key from flamboyant rose motifs to demure Dolly Varden flowerettes.

You may have quite a time deciding whether to buy a printed or an embroidered net for your next evening or garden-party frock. Choose either and you will play safe. The inspiring thought in this connection is that through perfected processes these fine quality dune cotton nets no matter how delicate their tones and tints may be or how bold, they may be relied on as being fast color. This means they are not only appealing from an esthetic point of view, but they are also thoroughly practical.

Stunning Dinner Gown

This is a Lanvin replica of a dinner gown in black. The braided peplum is unique, as are the long satin gauntlets with jeweled bracelets.

Three Colors for Scarf; Worn With White Sports

There are all sorts of attractive scarfs, many of them made of red, white and blue. There are lots of clothes accessories in those colors, anyway. They are worn with white sports clothes.

There are, for instance, scarfs made in triangles of the three colors, oddly chunked together. There are scarfs of the three colors in wide stripes, others with the center portion of the scarf white, the ends striped red and blue. These scarfs, striped and triangles, are made of the finest wool crocheted in a loose, lacy stitch.

Other scarfs are made of the three colors striped lengthwise, in soft silk crepe. Still others are made of two colors on one side, lined with the third color.

HATS OF ALL SIZES APPROVED BY PARIS

There is nothing monotonous about hat fashions this summer. Sizes range from mere skull caps to cape lines, with brims a foot wide. There is as much variety in shapes as in sizes and more materials involved than there is room to list. Soft, fabriclike straws, crocheted or mesh straws are being used for new versions of the beret, and to make crowns for some of the brimmed hats. The familiar panama, baku, milan, leghorn and other well knowns are making all manner of brimmed hats. Stitching is used to give body to cotton and linen hats and to decorate brimmed sports hats of jersey and felt.

Among the small hats Agnes' French colonial creations and Suzanne Talbot's derby-brimmed hats are of particular interest. Agnes has taken the various headgears and hair dresses of the Moroccans, the Algerians, the Cambodians and translated them in a collection of peaked and wrapped and draped turbans and berets that are enormously smart. Furthermore, she has taken over the brilliant and exotic colorings that distinguish the original models.

Mesh Stockings Regarded Comfortable for Sports

Do you like lisle for sports stockings? Many women do, because it looks less dressed up and formal. Do you like mesh for sports stockings? Its open work seems next most comfortable to bare legs. Lisle and mesh conspire, therefore, to make comfortable, good looking stockings to go with sports costumes. And lisle mesh socks are a joy for tennis.

Socks continue to be worn for active sports, but usually over stockings. Bare legs may be worn for comfort, but only in private and informal places.

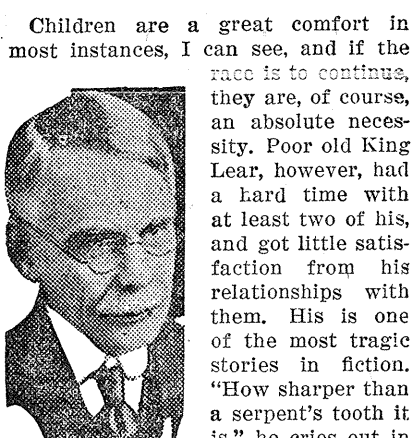

With the white clothes and the bright colors you will be wearing this summer you will find that a light clear beige is most becoming. This is the shade that tones best with your outdoor-darkened skin.

Women at Palm Beach adopted this shade almost universally in the daytime. In the evening they wore paler tones—nude and peach.

There is talk of white and off-white hose for wear in the evening.

Sharper Than a Serpent's Tooth

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Children are a great comfort in most instances, I can see, and if the race is to continue, they are, of course, an absolute necessity. Poor old King Lear, however, had a hard time with at least two of his, and got little satisfaction from his relationships with them. His is one of the most tragic stories in fiction. "How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is," he cries out in an agony of grief and disappointment of Goneril, "to have a thankless child."

When I was a little boy and used to drive into town on Saturday afternoons I remember often seeing the drayman of the town driving his team about. He was a big strong man almost of middle age then, black haired, broad shouldered, hard muscled. He lifted barrels and boxes about as if they had been a child's building blocks. His wagon was newly painted, and his horses were no common animals. They were carefully groomed, their sleek black coats shining in the sun.

That was fifty years ago or more, and I had long ago let the memory of him pass from my mind. There was a news item in the local paper a few weeks ago which attracted my attention. The old drayman had been taken to the poor house, it said. He was past ninety now, unable to work, not easy possibly to get on with, needing love and care and attention and having no one willing to give it to him.

When he had quit work a few years ago, so the story went, he had found himself amply provided for. He had saved money, he still had his farms and his children in whom he was much interested. He had faith in them and he decided to deed his property to them while he was still alive sure of being looked after as long as he lived. This he did.

Things changed then. Father was getting old and childish, it was said; it was almost impossible to get on with him.

And so he sits there alone, unloved, uncared for excepting in a mechanical and perfunctory way, pondering over the mistake he made, the ingratitude of his children eating into his heart.

King Lear was right.

Denies He's Typical

Representative Robert Low Bacon of New York was designated the other day by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, distinguished scientist and curator of physical anthropology of the National museum, as typifying the average American of future generations. But Mr. Bacon indignantly denied that he was a type. According to Hrdlicka, a race of tall, ruddy faced sandy haired people, browned and hardened by outdoor life, will inhabit the United States in coming years.

DAIRY FACTS

CAREFULLY CLEAN DAIRY UTENSILS

Vital in Production of All Sanitary Milk.

The careful cleaning of utensils is vital in the production of sanitary milk. Vessels should first be rinsed with lukewarm water or ordinary well or cistern water to remove the milk, then washed with moderately hot water, containing a small quantity of an alkali cleaning solution, after which they should be scalded in hot water and inverted to dry. They should not be dried by wiping with a cloth since that will cause contamination. Wiping is not necessary when scalding water is used, as the heated vessels will dry of their own accord.

While many dairymen depend upon the kitchen stove for heating water, a more dependable plan is to have a two-hole coal oil or gasoline stove or laundry stove on which fits a copper or tin boiler. Ample water can thus be quickly and economically heated. For larger dairies a small vertical steam boiler may be used. Such a boiler has the advantage of providing live steam by which the utensils may be more quickly and effectively sterilized.

Milking should be done with dry hands. A pail of clean water and a clean towel should be placed convenient to the milkers and they should wash and wipe their hands frequently.

Bacteria are minute, single-celled plants, so small as to be visible only under a powerful microscope. Twenty-five thousand averaged-sized bacteria placed end to end, would measure only an inch in length. A single drop of sour milk contains as many as forty millions of them. Under favorable conditions, one of these germs divides into two every half hour. Milk is an ideal medium for their growth. The bacteria commonly found in milk grow best at temperatures between 80 and 98 degrees Fahrenheit.

Buttermilk Excellent Feed for Dairy Calves

A reader who lives near a creamery that usually has a surplus of buttermilk to sell at a few cents a hundred, is anxious to know if buttermilk will take the place of skim milk in calf feeding. It will, says the Montreal Star. If very little wash water has been added to the buttermilk in the making of the butter, it will have the same feeding value as normal skim milk. Its value as a feed was well demonstrated by Mr. William Newman, Lorneville, Ont., almost a score of years ago. This leading creamery man was packing in a section where there was very little improved dairy stock. He conceived the idea of going to the cheese districts further east where there were good herds of grade Holsteins and buying a carload of calves that would otherwise be slaughtered, feeding them on the buttermilk from his creamery, with grain and roughage, and selling to his patrons. We do not know just how successful the plan was in improving the dairy stock of the community, which was the main objective, but we do know that the calves grew wonderfully well on the buttermilk and with less bowel trouble than would have been experienced with the same number of calves on skim milk.

Dairy Hints

Prevention of waste is accomplished in several ways by the use of silage.

When buying a bull to raise heifers from, look for proven milk production in the pedigree.

The feeding value of silage is due in large part to its succulence and palatability as well as to its actual content of food elements.

Calf scours are frequently caused in summer by unclean pails. Tin pails should be used and they should be washed every day and set out in the sun.

Animals eat silage almost completely, though they would refuse a large proportion of the forage from which it is made, if it were given them in the dry condition.

Cool the cream after skimming and keep it cool by setting the can in cold water, which is changed two or three times daily. Stir the cream at least twice a day and don't mix warm cream with cold cream.

The wide and growing use of silage is accounted for by its feeding value, its prevention of waste, and its convenience.

The silo is now considered an essential in economical dairy feeding, and has taken an important place in the feeding of beef cattle and sheep.

The cows that are obliged to fight flies by day and mosquitoes by night on short, burnt pastures, are the ones that will go dry and prove unprofitable.

Hard Work for Gifford
Rothschild's Amusement
The Robot Battleship
Back Comes the Bustle

At the President's request Walter S. Gifford, head of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, takes charge of the unemployment situation. Mr. Gifford, an able man, great organizer and executive, undertakes a job most difficult, perhaps impossible. Mr. Gifford is expected "to avoid the dole," also difficult. You can't handle millions of unemployed by sending nice ladies and gentlemen from the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., or the Salvation Army around to see what they need and buy it for them. If you can afford for each needy family $15 a week the best plan is to give the $15. What is needed is to put people back to work, but to do that you must have a plan and we have none. We are just wondering what ails us.

Baron De Rothschild, surviving grandson of Anselm Rothschild, who established the family, has celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday. He entered the House of Rothschild seventy years ago, and retired twenty years ago, to enjoy life and live long. His Paris house for years has been a center of social activity, and he is said to have amused himself watching the "best born" scrambling for the expensive presents that he sometimes gave to his guests.

He has given generously to charity, which will be forgotten when he dies, and has given millions to science, gifts that will live forever.

The old battleship Utah is to be a "robot" battleship, without a man aboard, directed by radio control far away. Radio will fire bombs, guns, big and small, steer the ship in any direction, lay down smoke screens.

The same can be done with airplanes with no pilot. Men have now fully achieved the art of fighting at a distance without danger to themselves.

In the midst of all our depression and trouble the able authority on fashions, Monsieur Tappe, arrived from Paris predicting that women's evening dresses this fall and winter will include hoop skirts "and a modified use of the bustle."

Why woman should change the beautiful form given to her in the Garden of Eden for things that make her look like a walrus with a big tumor is not easily understood.

But nature and evolution are undoubtedly working out some wise plan that will be understood thousands of years hence, but not now.

Somebody left a three-weeks-old baby in Lawrence Rutro's car, parked on Mason street, Greenwich, Conn. The child was neatly dressed and to it was pinned this note, in disguised handwriting: "This baby is a Catholic. Baptize it, please. I have no home for it. See it will be taken care of. Thanks."

There is a sad story back of that note, and it is not hard to guess what it is.

Miss Anita Grew, young daughter of the United States minister to Turkey, swam the Bosphorus straits from the Black sea to the Sea of Marmora—nineteen miles—in five hours. She swam the straits swim across once a night to visit the lovely Hero. Miss Grew's father with two friends followed in a small boat, giving her hot chocolate from time to time, playing music on a talking machine continuously.

Doctor Tyler, who investigates things at Teachers' college, Columbia, says the student of great individuality, or the highly strung, nervous student, does not get the high marks. They go to the "students of average type."

Later in life, the high marks go to those that have individuality and that are high strung. Being like everybody else is good in little things. Being unlike everybody else helps you in the big things.

Snowden, Britain's little fighting chancellor of the exchequer, objects to the talk about "panic" in England. "England has not tapped her overseas wealth," says he.

That is slightly exaggerated, for England is industrially tapping the world's greatest supply of diamonds in South Africa.

And England's gold mines are sending pure beautiful gold to London at the rate of $15,000,000 a month and more.

The trouble is, and hence the British tears, that as fast as England produces the gold France gets it. It reminds you of the modern golf practice field that rents you a palful of balls for 25 cents with the slogan: "You hit 'em, we chase 'em."

The English chase them and the French get them.

Our British friends pause in denunciation of our tariff long enough to announce that they also are going to erect a little tariff wall, being forced to come to it.

Germany, also distressed by our tariff, forbids absolutely importation of all articles fully manufactured and now forbids importation of nitrate fertilizers, to prevent competition with Germany's synthetic nitrate manufacturers.

DUBIOUS RECOMMENDATION

While in Switzerland a traveler was about to make an ascent, when he thought he might as well institute some inquiries about the guide who was to accompany him.

"Is he a thoroughly skilled climber?" he asked his hotelkeeper.

"I should say so," was the reply. "He has lost two parties of tourists down the mountainside, and each time has come off without as much as a scratch himself."

DEPENDS ON TACKLER

"When a player kicks the ball over that pole does it mean he is out?"

"That depends upon how hard his opponent hits him just before he made the goal."

Theory

A theory too often shirks its purpose as it stops. It's truly splendid when it works, But awful when it flops.

Changed Subject

"Look here, young man," said the playwright father, "this report doesn't say very nice things about your work at school."

"Coming up in the train, dad, I was reading about the play you had produced last night, and—"

"Better have your tea, young fellow."

Needed Help!

"Heavens!" exclaimed the preacher, "what's the idea of that stream of profanity?"

"Well," replied the tough little cad, "after a shot like that awful one you just made somebody had to cuss, and I know you didn't dare to do it yourself."

A Regular Devil

A bashful youth had been presented to a flapper and for ten minutes he sat speechless, growing redder and more embarrassed.

At length the girl said, sweetly, "And now let us talk of something else!"—Hummel, Hamburg.

Had Reasoned It Out

"What makes you think she doesn't like you?"

"She told me she thought there was a fool in every family."

"Well, what of that?"

"I had told her a moment before that I was an only child."

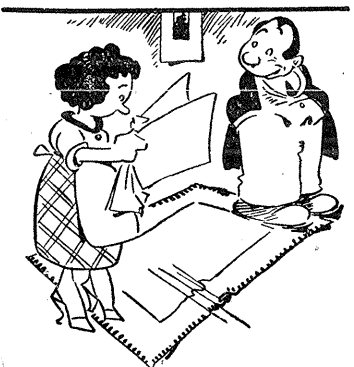

Loading It!

Marjorie—You'd better not call any more, Jimmy. I'm afraid something is going to happen!

Jimmy—What?

Marjorie—Oh, nothing. Only I saw papa putting lead in his wooden leg last night.

WHAT MISSILE?

Mrs. Joax—Here's an account of a mysterious disappearance. A woman misses her husband.

Mr. Joax—What did she throw at him?

Apparently Placid Stream

The river flowing on its way. Now bids our cares redoubled. The waterpower it may display. Can cause all kinds of trouble.

Not in the Budget

Irate Papa—What! You want to marry my daughter—why, you don't make enough to pay the rent!

Dumbissimo—Well, Eloise and I hadn't expected you to charge us any rent.

Oked With Her

Miss Fitt—How'd you like to take a nice long walk in the park?

Caller (enthusiastically)—Oh, fine!

M. F.—Then don't let me hold you back.

Correction

"Pop, hey, Pop!"

"Don't talk that way, Oswald, I'm in the grocery business, not a fountain clerk."

Catty

Jack—Doris is as graceful as some birdlike thing that floats in the clouds.

Marie—What do you mean? A balloon?

One Possible Way

"What do you think of a man who deceives his wife?"

"I'd say, he writes clever letters."

The Volga river of Russia is the longest in Europe. It, itself, is some 2,300 miles long, but with its tributaries furnishes more than 20,000 miles of navigable water. Fifty million people live along this waterway. The Oka and the Kama, two of the Volga branches, are each among the longest rivers of Europe. The head of the Volga is near Petrograd.

U. S. LAND VALUES SHOW A DECREASE

Data Indicates Fewer Farms, Fewer Owners, Less Livestock, Less Crops.

The farm census, recently compiled, shows again what has been known to be true of the agricultural districts for some time, that farms are decreasing in numbers, that land is constantly decreasing in value and that there are fewer owners now than there were 10 years ago.

Figures show that in 1920 there were 6,448,343 farms, comprising 955,883,715 acres and valued at $54,829,563,059, in the United States. In 1925 the data reveals 6,371,640 farms of 924,319,352 acres, valued at $37,721,018,222 and in 1930 there were 6,288,648 farms, comprising 986,771,016 acres and valued at $34,929,844,584.

A similar decrease was shown among owners and managers of farms, while tenants increased. In 1920 there were 3,925,000 operating their own farms, 68,449 managers and 2,454,804 tenants. In 1930 these figures had changed to 3,568,394 owners, 55,889 managers and 2,664,365 tenants.

Live stock also decreased, milk cows and chickens only showing an increase over the 1920 figure. The report was as follows:

	1920	1930
Horses	19,767,161	13,383,574
Mules	5,432,391	5,353,993
Cattle	66,639,556	54,269,996
Milk cows	19,675,297	20,496,329
Hogs	59,345,409	32,796,958
Chickens	359,537,127	378,888,128

Acres planted in all of the major crops except barley, flaxseed, alfalfa, clover, tobacco, sugar beets and cotton decreased considerably.

Many Salmon Varieties

It is estimated that there are about 100 varieties of salmon, but the important commercial varieties are as follows: Chinook or king salmon, the largest and best; blueback or red salmon; silver or coho (medium red); dog salmon (light flesh); humpback or pink salmon. They are caught near the mouths of the rivers on the Pacific coast, during the spring running, when their flesh is plump, firm and of good color. All Pacific salmon die soon after ascending the rivers to spawn.

Delicious Pomegranate

The fruit of the pomegranate is filled with numerous purple and red seeds, each enclosed in a layer of pulp. This pulp is used to make a refreshing drink and in some countries is made into wine.
