Supervisors in Tuscola to take School Census

School Commissioner B. H. McComb has had added to his duties the appointment of school census enumerators. He has asked supervisors of the 23 townships of Tuscola county to act in that capacity. A meeting has been called for Friday evening, May 6, at the commissioner's office, when instruction will be given to the enumerators and supplies for taking the census distributed. The meeting starts at eight o'clock.

Coach Kipke at Bad Axe May 9

The Bad Axe Rotary club is making arrangements for a public meeting on Monday, May 9, when the famous U. of M. football coach, Kipke, will be an attraction to many sport fans. Harbor Beach, Cass City, Caro and other towns expect to send Rotarians with high school students. Cass City Rotarians will take 10 local basketball players, their coach, Kenneth Kelly, and manager, Harold Greenleaf.

Five hundred tickets for the banquet have been on sale this week. The banquet will be served in the K. of C. dining room by the Presbyterian ladies of Bad Axe.

W. S. C. Paid Tribute to Mothers Tuesday

The Woman's Study club paid tribute to mothers at a Mother's Day program at the home of Mrs. L. I. Wood Tuesday afternoon. Each member was accompanied by a mother as her guest. Beautiful thoughts were expressed in welcome greetings by Mrs. A. J. Knapp and in the response by Mrs. Harriet Dodge. Mrs. Lewis Law and Mrs. W. R. Curtis read appropriate poems and Mrs. Zora

Capitol Wives Found Handy Adjuncts To Business Heads

By V. J. Brown.

One of the finest examples of state commissions, how they are created, how they function, how they grow and how their cost is thrust upon lesser units of government came to light during the past month.

Township, village and city clerks all over Michigan will understand what it meant when reference is made to sets of blanks recently received by them from the state treasurer. These blanks call for information concerning strictly local expense and the levying of taxes therefor during the past five years. Hundreds of town clerks are still struggling to secure information from which the queries asked by an inquisitive commonwealth may be accurately answered.

Late in the session of 1931 there appeared a very innocent bill, introduced by Senator Claud Stevens of the Highland Park district. The bill created no discussion, slipped through the senate, went over to the house where a committee approved it and where it received an affirmative roll call during the closing hours of the session. Probably had it appeared earlier or had it been sponsored by a member whose judgment is less highly regarded, the bill might have been more closely scanned.

Day and Miss Reed sang two very pretty duets. At the close, tea and wafers were served, Mrs. C. L. Graham and Mrs. E. W. Douglas presiding at the table. The arrangements for the afternoon's program were in charge of the club's program committee—Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. A. A. Ricker.

The next and last meeting of the club year will be held at the home of the retiring president, Mrs. Lewis Law, on Monday, May 16, instead of Tuesday as scheduled in the printed program. A potluck supper will be served. Club members will meet at the home of Mrs. E. W. Douglas at three o'clock where automobiles will be in readiness to drive to the Law home.

JUSTICE POTTER AT CORNERSTONE LAYING

Ceremonies at New Court House Will Take Place May 27.

Friday, May 27, is the day set for the cornerstone laying ceremony at the new Tuscola county court house and Hon. Wm. W. Potter, justice of the Michigan supreme court, has been secured to give the address of the day.

The cornerstone will be laid by officers of the Michigan Grand lodge of the Masonic order, the ceremony to start at two o'clock according to tentative arrangements.

The three Legion posts of the county—Vassar, Caro and Mayville—and school children of the county will form in a parade preceding the ceremony.

Contents of the box to go into the stone will include a history of the county, emphasizing present day events, a list of the county officers, pictures of the old court house and the board of supervisors, a list of the ex-service men of Tuscola county, and a copy of each newspaper of the county of the week of May 27.

Ira L. Baguley, master of the Masonic lodge of Caro, called a meeting of representatives of Masonic lodges of the county on Wednesday night to arrange for the entertainment of grand lodge officers.

- Hester Kitchin, World history and Latin 1.
- Irene McComb, English 12 and advanced civics.
- Robert Allured, American history and physics.

CARO COUPLE HAVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson Settled on an Elmwood Farm 50 Years Ago.

Monday, May 2, was the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson. In honor of the event, their children, other relatives and a few old friends gathered at the home of the eldest daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Brock, at Caro, for a lovely dinner and an afternoon of visiting. A beautiful gold and white wedding cake with fifty yellow candles formed the centerpiece for the table. The day was also the 26th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Brock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson (Lena Wald) have seven children living, Mrs. Brock, Caro; Roy, of Juniata; William, who lives on the old home farm in Elmwood; Mrs. E. E. Hartwick, Cass City; Glenn and Miss Stella V. Jackson, Caro; and Mrs. A. L. Bogert, North Branch; and 21 grandchildren. All of the children were present for the celebration.

Two of the guests present Monday attended the wedding 50 years ago, Mrs. Chas. Livingston (Ella Anker) and Mrs. Sam Dean (Manda White). Other guests besides the couple's children and their families were present.

Detroit-Cass City Horseshoe Contest

The Greater Detroit Horseshoe team will meet the Cass City club's team here tomorrow (Saturday) night in a tournament, commencing about 7:30.

The quartet representing Cass City will be picked from the following players: John May, George Kelley, Bill Ruhl, Ivan Vader and George Dillman.

Each man on the local team will contest for points with each member of the visiting team.

Horseshoe pitching fans have promise of a real contest.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS MET AT ELKTON ON THURSDAY

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. Angus McPhail from Cass City and Mr. and Mrs. N. Karr of Kingston attended a meeting of the Thumb Funeral Directors' association at Elkton Thursday evening. William Glass was elected president. E. W. Douglas is the retiring president. Speakers on the program were Stanley Wallace, Saginaw, president of the Michigan Funeral Directors association, and Albert Hillecker, Detroit, secretary of that society.

Plans for 1932 Fair Considered May 10

Plans regarding a 1932 fair in Cass City will be considered at a meeting at the council rooms on Tuesday evening, May 10, called by John May, president of the fair association.

In order to encourage the work of the boys' and girls' live stock club in this community, a number feel that the fair should be continued, even if conducted on a less extensive scale than in the past. All interested are invited to attend.

CASS CITY HIGH TRIMS HARBOR BEACH

Eighteen Hits Including Home Runs by Kossanke and Ruhl Drive in 20.

Cass City's baseball team got an even break during the past week winning from Harbor Beach 20-3, losing to Sebawaing 8-6. Although outpitching Sebawaing, the locals were unable to bunch their blows effectively, and this, coupled with some shaky pitching in the early part of the game was enough to allow Sebawaing to hold their early lead throughout the game. With the bases loaded several times, the Sebawaing pitcher put on the pressure forcing the hitters to strike out or hit weakly into the infield.

The Harbor Beach game, however, showed a right about face on the part of the locals, hits rattling off their bats which included two runs; several two-baggers and a number of triples, totalling in all 18 hits, coupled with a few errors to produce 20 runs. The work of Shagena from the mound during the first four innings held Harbor Beach to two runs. Ruhl pitched the next three innings, allowing only one run, while John Kelly finished the mound duty, striking out two men and allowing no runs. The hitting attack was led by Ruhl with four out of five hits, including a home run, two doubles and a single, followed by C. Kelly with three out of six. Kossanke also smashed out a long drive for the second home run of the game.

Friday (today), the team will journey to Caro to take on Coach Stamat's baseball team.

LIKES HURON'S VERONA BETTER THAN ITALY'S

The Bad Axe Tribune has received this letter from Verona, Italy, from Prof. William Lyon Phelps, dated April 12:

"Only this is Verona, Italy, instead of Verona of Bad Axe. This is an older town and has many beautiful buildings as well as the tombs of Romeo and Juliet, but I do not love it so much as I do the Huron Verona.

"We have had a wonderful tour all around Greece to ancient Troy and Constantinople. Now we are motoring between Venice and Rome. After that, Munich, then Paris and London, then home.

"We sail from England June 11 and will be in Huron City before the first of July."

MERRIT ALLEN POPCORN INTRODUCED IN BRAZIL

Mrs. Urban Woolman of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, who visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dillman and other relatives here last fall, was given a sack of popcorn to take home with her that had been raised by Merrit Allen, of this place. Word was received last week from Mrs. Woolman that Mr. Woolman had sent some up to their fazenda to plant and also sent some to the state agricultural college. The head of this college is an American and was at one time head of the Florida agricultural college. He has decided to name this variety of corn the Merrit Allen Milko Pipoca (popcorn).

MAY 9 AND 10 ARE "CLEAN-UP" DAYS

Monday and Tuesday, May 9 and 10, have been designated as "Clean-up Days" in Cass City by the village council, who are anticipating hearty co-operation in the spring clean-up program.

Following the custom of former years, tin cans and other rubbish will be hauled away at the expense of the village. All debris should be placed in containers at the front or back of the lots by the householders in time for the village trucks.

FINE MICHIGAN VIEWS WERE EXHIBITED

C. A. Paquin of Conservation Dept. and Others Gave P. T. A. Excellent Time.

The last meeting of the Parent Teacher association for this school year was held Monday evening at the high school. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Walter Schell, and opened by singing "America," after which Rev. P. J. Allured offered prayer.

During the business meeting, the chairmen of the different committees were named: Program, Mrs. Schell; membership, Willis Campbell; recreation, Rev. Wm. Curtis; hospitality, Mrs. Stephen Dodge.

Twelve eighth grade girls favored the company with two songs, "Wanderer's Evening Song" by Rube W. Foster and "The Desert Song" by Henry Hadley.

C. A. Paquin of the Michigan Conservation department then showed three motion picture films. Mr. Paquin spoke on the pictures as they were shown. The pictures were "Scenic Beauties of Northern Michigan," "Wild Life of Michigan" and "Forestry and Forest Fire Prevention."

Governor Brucker to Speak at Cass City This Month

The ministerial group, in charge of the May meeting of the Cass City Community club, have been in communication with Governor Wilbur Brucker, endeavoring to complete arrangements to have him speak before that society. Owing to the legislature still being in session, the governor could not promise to be here next Tuesday, the regular time for the club meeting. The committee has therefore arranged for his appearance in Cass City later in the month, and while a definite date cannot be set at this time, it is expected that Gov. Brucker will speak here on Tuesday evening, May 17, or May 24.

This will be ladies' night at the club when members will have their wives as guests for the evening. Ladies of the Evangelical church have been asked to serve the banquet.

Plans Completed by Music Club for Concert; Sev- eral Artists to Appear

The Cass City Music club has secured an unusually attractive program for the evening of May 18 at the high school auditorium. Followers of the music world will be interested to learn that Emily Mutter Adams, violinist on the program, makes her debut with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in Chicago, May 10. Mrs. Adams won this audition from hundreds of other aspirants and will be the soloist in Chicago. This will be her second musical appearance in Cass City.

The program will be augmented by Miss Harriet M. Charters, professional dancer, and a graduate of the Chalf School of Dancing, New York City. Miss Charters comes here with some considerable reputation, having won the medal for being the most distinguished dancer on the program.

Gwendolyn Wilson Brooker, pianist, has arranged the entire program and will, in addition to accompanying Mrs. Adams and Miss Charters, give one group.

This is the only place in the Thumb that these artists appear. This rare treat is worthy of a large audience. Admission prices are 35 cents and 25 cents, with 10 cents additional for reserved seats.—Advertisement.

Crippled Children Clinic Here May 20

Miss Neva Pumfrey of the Michigan Crippled Children Commission was in Cass City Thursday morning making arrangements for a four-county clinic which will be held at the high school auditorium on Friday, May 20, when crippled children will be brought here from Lapeer, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties for examination by an orthopedic surgeon. It is expected that 75 children will be brought to Cass City on that day.

The Rotary club here is making the local arrangements.

CHECKING WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE

As Session Nears End, Many Ask of the Benefits Accomplished.

By Elton R. Eaton.

Official Lansing has been spending the present week checking over the work of the special session of the legislature in an effort to find out how much good has been accomplished for the taxpayers of the state so far as a result of the activities of the law making branch of the government.

It is certain that the highway bill, held for days in the house committee, is not going to do all the things many had anticipated. Highway Commissioner Grover Dillman has pointed out emphatically that a very substantial portion of the financial resources of the department cannot be diverted to other uses and the department continue to build roads and maintain them.

How to prevent additional unemployment and at the same time bring relief to some of the counties and municipalities of the state is the main question that members of the legislature have been considering. It is known that the transfer of the weight tax receipts and a portion of the gas tax moneys from the highway department to other purposes will immediately cause a large number of highway department employees and road workers to be thrown out of employment.

Highway department officials have not given an estimate of the number that will be deprived of work, but the number will not be small. This is about the only department of the state government that provides a substantial amount of common labor with employment. Members of the house of representatives have been endeavoring to save as much highway work as possible and at the same time use as beneficially as possible the proposed diverted highway funds for the benefit of property owners.

It is the highway bill which has been in the house committee for days that has been responsible for

Tuscola Ladies Feast Their Eyes on 200 Rugs on Achievement Day

Rugs to the right and rugs to the left, rugs in all colors of the rainbow, in braided, hooked and crocheted designs, greeted visitors at the achievement day exercises held at the Caro high school auditorium on Tuesday. Out of 354 home-made rugs made by members of home furnishing groups in the county, 200 were exhibited Tuesday and many were the admiring glances which these home furnishings received from the ladies present.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Wyley Kirk of Fairgrove was elected county chairman and Mrs. Lewis Gunsell of Caro, secretary-treasurer. The afternoon's program contained the following numbers: special girls' dance by two girls of the second grade of the Caro school; demonstration by members of Fairgrove Clothing club; vocal solo, Mrs. Edward Longnecker; summary of year's work, Miss Gertrude Reis, home furnishing specialist; project plans for the coming year, E. L. Hammond, county agricultural agent; presentation of achievement certificates, R. J. Baldwin, director of extension work in the state, gave the principal address of the day. He said that people did not have as

C. C. H. S. RETAINED ON N. CENTRAL LIST

Accredited by North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

L. D. Randall, superintendent of the Cass City high school, has recently been notified that this school has been accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for the period ending Mar. 17, 1933. In explanation of the term of accrediting the local school authorities have been advised that it is the established policy of the association to prepare each year a new list of approved secondary schools accorded this honor and that no school is accredited by the North Central association for a period longer than one year.

Before any school can be considered for accrediting by the North Central association it must be on the highest list of schools approved and accredited by the school authorities of this state. In addition it must meet the high standards which the association maintains with respect to the school building and its equipment, the school library, laboratories and instructional equipment and apparatus, school records, the requirements for graduation, instruction and spirit, salaries of teachers, the training and preparation of teachers, the teaching load, pupil loads, and the school's program with reference to physical education and to its athletic relationship with other high schools as determined by the State Athletic association.

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is an accrediting agency comprising 20 states and is the largest regional accrediting agency in the United States. The object of the association is to establish closer relations between the secondary schools and within the North Central states and in such other territory as the North Central association may recognize. All decisions of the association bearing on the policies and management of secondary schools

MAY TAX SALE BRINGS $3,128 IN TUSCOLA CO.

Fifty-one descriptions out of a possible 512 in Tuscola county were sold by County Treasurer McDurmon at the annual May tax sale, the receipts being $3,128.51. One thousand fifty-seven were advertised the first of the year, but settlement was made for 545 descriptions before the date of the sale.

LaFave Drain Let at $1.35 a Rod

The LaFave drain, located in Elmwood township and 360 rods in length, was let by Drain Commissioner Conrad Mueller on Wednesday to Homer Hillaker of Fairgrove. The price was $1.35 a rod, or 3.4 cents a cubic yard. Six contractors entered into the bidding, while a few others sat on the side lines.

There was but one bridge to be considered and that will be repaired and made serviceable by the township.

WANT TO HELP A BOY?

Any person having odd jobs that he wishes done may call the high school and a boy will be provided. The money will be used to help pay his expenses to the Y. M. C. A. camp this summer.

Mrs. W. H. Dawson and Miss Vera Schell of Saginaw were entertained Sunday at the home of their brother, Walter Schell. Miss Winnifred Schell accompanied her aunts to Saginaw and will spend some time there.

Notice.
The Pinney State Bank and The Cass City State Bank will be closed Thursday afternoons during the months of May, June, July, August, September and October. The banks will be open Saturday evenings from 7:30 to 10:00 p. m.—Advertisement 2t.

The WAY of LIFE

BY BRUCE BARTON

RHYTHM.

Looking back the record would be something like this: Unbounded optimism; "new era"; everything's going to be all right. Collapse; disillusionment.

Fear. Fear compels thought. "The fear of the Lord," says the Bible, "is the beginning of wisdom." Until we are thoroughly scared we do not start to recover.

Congress was thoroughly scared when it convened last December, and it has been the most sensible Congress in a long time. Business has been thoroughly scared, and more constructive business thinking has been done than for many years. Bankers have been thoroughly scared, and we shall have a sounder banking system.

The greatest impression that this experience has made on me is a fresh realization of the rhythm of human existence. The race does not move in a straight line forward and up, much as we should like to think so. It swings.

It swings too far to the left, bumps its nose, and swings back, too far to the right. In the course of these swings it edges forward.

But most of us fail to sense the rhythm. We are looking for a fixedness, a finality which does not exist. We do not realize that change is the one unchanging fact in the universe; that because a situation is so today is the one sure reason why it will not be so tomorrow.

In these depression periods we question everything. We probe with doubts. We react. And the reaction is beneficent.

For twenty-five years we worshipped "scientific progress." Now we wonder whether a lot of this so-called progress did not consist merely of filling up the world and speeding it up. We begin to wonder whether less things and more thinking may not lead to the happier life.

In education we have devoted to the practical, to training men and women to do things. We are swinging back to the old fashioned idea that education is an enrichment of the spirit and not a filling of the brain.

In government we have multiplied laws and bureaus and taxes. Now the worm is turning. The taxpayer rebels; government must simplify, deflate.

We had a great period of misdirected idealism, a passion for educating everybody, "improving" everything, enlightening the world. Now we are beginning to suspect that the older civilizations have fully as much to teach us as we have to teach them.

Action and reaction, ebb and flow, trial and error, change—this the rhythm of living. Out of our over-confidence, fear; out of our fear, clearer vision, fresh hope. And out of hope—progress.

ELMWOOD.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Seelye and sons and Mrs. Wm. Ewald spent the week-end with relatives in Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dean, Mrs. Theresa Wald, Miss Mary Wald, Mrs. Vincent Wald and baby son, Geo. Clayton and Miss Elaine Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hobart and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hobart and baby were the Elmwood folks who attended the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson at Caro Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Willson spent a couple of days of last week in Royal Oak. Mrs. Julia Willson, who had spent some time here, accompanied them and will remain for a time with her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Laurie, before returning to her home in Ontario.

Mrs. Hubert Root of Saginaw attended the missionary convention at the Ellington Nazarene church on April 27 and took dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren O'Dell.

Wm. Ware and Mrs. G. T. Leishman are among our sick folks this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Moore of Caro and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Silvernail and children were Sunday visitors at the Stephen Moore home.

Mrs. John Grey and Mrs. Wm. Burse spent one day last week with Mrs. John Burse.

WICKWARE.

Mrs. James Nicol visited Saturday night and Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Stonehouse, in Watrousville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Cleland and daughters, Lillian and Mary, and son, Douglas, of Pontiac visited friends and relatives over the week-end.

Mrs. Chas. Nicol and two children spent Sunday in Caro with her mother, Mrs. R. E. Durkee.

CAPITOL WIVES FOUND HANDY ADJUNCTS TO BUSINESS HEADS

Concluded from first page. began to hear from their constituents also. They were greatly surprised. They knew of the passing of no such bill. They went to the state treasurer from whose department the demand for these reports had come and that official calmly pointed to a joker tucked carefully away in the text of the law making him the dictator who is forced, under the act, to put in to effect a system of uniform accounting for townships, villages and cities. This system was devised by a commission appointed by the governor, under terms of the same law, and headed by the administrative board accountant.

Intricate Accounting. Every architect dreams of the day when he may create a great cathedral. Every engineer desires to some day draw designs for a monumental bridge. And so every accountant yields to the desire to create a system of accounting which none but he may master. And here was the opportunity sought. The state administrative board accountant must have been given a free hand. To provide the blanks required, budgets of the vocational school and the state prison were raided and the blanks printed by inmate labor. A lot of postage was required to send them out but that money was found about the capitol. But there is no convict labor out among the township and village clerks and local funds must meet the expense imposed upon those units by the state. Some of the information requested cannot be had from the township or village records. A trip by each clerk must be made to the county seat. Before the experiment is completed a complete set of record books must be had for every township.

This is the fourth of a series of articles dealing with state payrolls. Others to follow will go more into detail and some will do with a discussion of what will do with a discussion of what certain boards, bureaus and commissions are engaged upon. The facts stated are taken from original records on file at the state capitol and are available to any citizen of the state desiring information.

There are approximately 1400 townships in the state. A conservative estimate of the cost of supplying the present demands of the state and to provide even a modest set of binders and required record sheets for each township would reach to at least $40 for each or around $50,000 to be included in the 1932 local tax budgets. Cities and villages will be required to spend at least another $50,000. And there are hundreds of township clerks whose judgment and integrity are unquestioned who will not want to put in the time required to keep a set of complicated books for the simple business of a township. Eventually every township will be forced to pay more to their clerks.

Should every township engage a certified accountant as was recommended to the Ingham board of supervisors the cost would amount to $280,000 for the 1400 Michigan townships besides the cost of the records and the cost of checking them.

More Traveling Expense.

But even this is not all. To make the uniform accounting of townships of any account there must be traveling auditors to check the books and records. It costs the state $70,000 a year to audit county books—83 sets. What will it cost for the army of auditors required to cover all the townships and villages and cities of the state? Furthermore this is a separate commission set up to be operated by the state treasurer. County accounting is controlled by the auditor general. Why was not the present force in the department of the auditor general expanded to include lesser municipalities, if the work was to be undertaken at all?

Where did this idea spring from? Early in 1931 Governor Brucker appointed a special advisory group to aid him in steering the ship of state. Included among those called to this duty was Mr. Clarence Ayers of Detroit, who has had much to say about the extravagancies of local government. This bill was one of the most loved of the children born to this group of super-advisors.

When this mass of figures is assembled it will be of no value until tabulated, graphed, edited and printed. When completed it may interest a half-dozen persons of the state. But the taxpayer may just as well realize that a new bureau has been born to his already large collection of such luxuries and that it may be reasonably expected that it will consume at least $100,000 annually, perhaps much more—and that so far as said taxpayer is concerned its product will not be worth one-tenth of one per cent of that amount.

Much of existing bureaucracy came about by similar means. Much of it is of similar value.

Pay Check Question. The question of one pay check to a family has received much attention. During the winter months when the highway program was being used to relieve unemployment distress, staggered employment was urged from the state capitol and elsewhere. Is it practiced at the capitol?

Suppose we examine the payrolls for an answer.

In the department of conservation alone may be found nearly a score of women employees whose husbands are employed at good salaries elsewhere, most of them in some other state department. One husband is a well paid traveling salesman; another is in business at East Lansing while his wife brings home $1,600 in state money; another husband has a fine position with the Reo Motor Car company while his wife puts her money into squirrel coats and expensive finery. One young couple boasts they are banking more than $100 a month, both being employed in the same department.

Other departments show equally as flagrant violations of the rule to live and let live. There is a married woman secretary in the department of agriculture whose husband holds a responsible position in one of Lansing's leading industries. They have no children, drive a beautiful and expensive car and live on a high social scale. In another instance in this same department of agriculture are found both husband and wife with combined salaries of $3,100. They recently disposed of their own car and their neighbors report the state owned car placed at their disposal is subjected to much night and Sunday driving. At least one city mail carrier has a wife employed in the capitol at a salary equal to or greater than his.

$12,000 to One Family.

The state board of health payroll discloses a husband employed at $8,000 while his wife draws $4,000—$12,000 annually for one family. One wife here has a husband in the retail clothing business, owning his own store.

The scrutinizer finds them everywhere. A vice president of the largest bank in Lansing permits his wife to remain on a state payroll for $2,000. A wealthy widow with large real estate holdings draws $3,000 annually in other department.

There is yet another interesting sidelight on state payrolls. State jobs seem to run in certain families. Here is one example. A man and his wife are both employed. So is a brother. So is a sister and so is her son. That family ought to be able to deliver some votes. Many other family circles are dotted almost as closely with state pay checks while taxpayers go hungry.

A lot of people will be asking how these jobs are secured. Well, of course, every member of the house and senate is expected to ask for some patronage and some effort has to be made to appease this demand else department appropriations will not receive favorable consideration. Members are not expected to raise the question of high salaries as long as their political friends are being cared for. And so when a department head can be prevailed upon to open his employee and appointee lists for inspection it is found that a great many are backed by senators and representatives. A lot more are backed by big shots in the world of party politics.

Editor's Wife Has Job.

Then, too, there is the matter of proper and favorable publicity. One Lansing newspaper has fought hard and vigorously against any cut in state pay. The wife of the editor of that newspaper is employed in the department of state.

As one rambles through these state payrolls, he is struck with familiar names. Inquiry leads him to the discovery that a number of news correspondents assigned to cover state house offices for metropolitan dailies and the several press groups find it convenient to have their wives on the state payroll. Of course the money comes in handy and there might be hot tips now and then. It works out well for department heads, too, because every time the hand of the correspondent is poised for a word of criticism to let the people out in the state know of something off-color he remembers his wife's pay check and the next payment on the new car. The criticism is softened and the wife keeps her job.

Commissions Make Jobs.

Every time a new commission is thought of and long before the bills providing for new jobs are through the legislature one may find boosters around capitol corridors urging the passage of the bills. Already their eyes are on the jobs for themselves or their friends or both. Some are eminently successful in this respect.

SAND VALLEY SCHOOL.

Eva Marble, Teacher
Just two more weeks of school! Alice Sobieray spent Tuesday night with Virginia Shagena. Elizabeth Windy is taking a series of geography tests.

Vera Palmateer is finishing her sixth grade geography with the study of Central America. Mrs. Marble spent Friday evening at the home of Bert Strickland.

We are greatly interested in the study of the "Bob-o-link." We find that he is like the little girl who "when she was good she was very, very good, and when she was bad she was horrid." He is a great helper of the farmer when he is visiting us or during his mating season. But when he migrates to the south he makes himself a pest by eating rice and other grains. Southern people eat these birds and institutions of higher education are understood to be advisory in their character. The accrediting of schools by the North Central association is a cooperative undertaking. Membership in this association is purely voluntary. It must be the desire of the local authorities of a high school to have the school accredited by the association.

C. C. H. S. RETAINED ON NORTH CENTRAL LIST

Advantages that high schools realize as a result of being accredited by the North Central association can be summarized as follows:

1. The graduates of an accredited high school are privileged to enter institutions of higher education within the North Central states without entrance examinations, provided that they have credits in the high school subjects required by the college or university for admission. Since other accrediting agencies recognize schools accredited by the North Central association, this privilege of entering institutions of higher education without examination is extended practically throughout the United States.
2. The graduates of accredited high schools have the assurance that their high school diplomas will be acceptable to state boards having to do with the granting of certificates for the various professions of medicine, dentistry, law, etc. In states requiring graduation from approved high schools as a prerequisite to the obtaining of a teaching certificate, the graduates of schools accredited by the North Central association meet the requirements of such a law.
3. A high school approved by the North Central association must maintain high standards and consequently the community is assured of a program of modern high school education.
4. The examination of the school at regular intervals by inspectors and supervisors serves to stimulate progress and to prevent the development of questionable practices and tendencies.

5. A high school accredited by the North Central association enjoys a greater prestige in the surrounding country and therefore finds it easier to attract non-resident pupils.

6. The patrons have more confidence, and are generally more willing to support, an accredited high school.

Symbol of Authority

The mace in the house of representatives is about three feet long and consists of 13 ebony rods representing the Thirteen Original Colonies. It is bound together with transverse bands of silver in imitation of the thongs that bound the fasses of ancient Rome. The shaft is surmounted by a globe of solid silver about five inches in diameter upon which rests a massive silver eagle.

Turkish Toweling

Terry cloth was invented in 1848 by Samuel Holt of England. In 1858 he presented the first Turkish towel to Queen Victoria, from whom he received a medal. There is some doubt as to the origin of the designation "Turkish." Some authorities say that it was supplied because of the large quantities of the towels that were shipped to Turkey, where they were used in high esteem.

Panama Waterway

The Panama canal is 40.27 statute miles in length from shore line to shore line and 50.72 miles from deep water to deep water. The width of the canal is 500 feet in the sea level sections, from 500 to 1,000 feet in Gatun lake and not less than 300 feet in the cut.

A fellow has to be a Contortionist to get by these days. First of all, he's got to keep his back to the wall and his ear to the ground. He's expected to put his shoulder to the wheel, his nose to the grindstone, keep a level head, and both feet on the ground. And at the same time look for a silver lining with his head in the clouds.

In spite of the shape he's in, the farmer will find it necessary to sow some cloverseed and we have just what you want.

CHECKING WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE

Concluded from first page. The time marking of the lower branch of the legislature.

In the senate, the budget bill which has for its purpose a reduction of expenses of various state departments and institutions has been under consideration for nearly two weeks. The senate members have the same purpose as many members of the house, to force a greater reduction of higher-up salaries than a uniform 15 per cent cut for all would bring about. The senate has had compiled a complete salary list of all state departments and institutions and this list, consisting of many closely typewritten pages, has been on the desk of each senate member for nearly two weeks.

If the highway bill can secure senate where it must be returned immediate action in the house and because of amendments that the house contemplates making, and the senate will act speedily upon the budget bill, there remains nothing more for the legislature to do but adjourn and return home, something that members have been anxious to do for the past two weeks.

The recommendation of the governor that the legislature submit to the voters this fall the question of a constitutional amendment which would permit legislative enactment of an income tax law, did not meet with the approval of the house of representatives when taken up for consideration late last week. To send this question on the way to the senate for consideration would require a two-thirds vote of the house, which it failed to receive.

Two or three additional special messages from the executive office call for more legislative action. One called attention to the fact that many cemetery associations had not complied with state laws by paying the fee imposed. It pointed out that this was due to lack of knowledge of the requirements of the law and it recommended that legislation be enacted which would permit them to keep their charters even though the fees have not been paid.

The other message had for its purpose the restoration on presidential election ballots of the names of presidential electors rather than the names of the presidential candidates. Party leaders said this recommended legislation might keep certain names from influencing the decision of voters. The house has approved of a bill which permits longer periods for the refunding of municipal bonds.

"Father Nile" The Nile is unique among rivers of the world. Although it is 3,500 miles long, it has no tributaries for the last 1,700 miles of its journey to the sea, largely through desert. Several streams discharge into it above this point. The flow is so light in summer that the mouths of the Nile are entirely closed by dams, but at the height of the flood season or inundation it is a torrent discharging 15,000 cubic yards per second.

Herb In Middle English the usual spelling of this word is erbe, from the Old French erbe (Eleventh century). The word was occasionally spelled with an "h" after its Latin original, herba, in both Old French and Middle English, and since about 1475 it has retained the "h," which remained mute until the Nineteenth century, and is so considered today by many persons. In best usage, however, the "h" is now aspirated. In modern French it is spelled herbe.—Literary Digest.

The Children's Corner Edited by DOROTHY EDMONDS

Greedy Island In my Airplane to Greedy Isle, I went one afternoon. The many thousands miles away, Afar beyond the moon; And there I found the queerest tribe Of boys and girls, I ween. They really are quite different, From any you have seen. This country is most beautiful, As fair as our own land; The streets are broad and cleanly kept, The buildings tall and grand; But all these funny children In this isle I went to see, Have eyes right in the very place, Their "tummies" ought to be. I noticed when their mothers called For them to come to meals, They answered—tumbling with a rush, With greedy grunts and squeals;

They pushed and crowded right and left, Each scrambling for a place, And not one paused a moment, Nor bowed his head for grace. They never waited to be served, When once they had a seat, But reached for things, and without shame Began at once to eat; And not one used a knife nor fork, But dived into his food, With little fingers all unwashed, I'm sure you'd think them rude, And when they'd stuffed their little selves, 'Till they could eat no more, There yet would be upon their plates Enough for three or four; These greedy little children Wanted all that they could see, Because their eyes are in the place Their "tummies" ought to be. —Margaret Wheeler Ross.

Dept. of State News Bulletin

Many persons, who apply to the Department of State for information regarding ownership of automobiles, do not know that complete motor vehicle registration lists are furnished to all sheriffs and to police departments in cities of over 10,000 population.

Lists furnished the various enforcing agencies are accurate for all ordinary purposes and those seeking information, often will be able to obtain it from their local officials immediately. But where the information is to be used for legal purposes or where it is necessary to verify the local lists for possible transfers of ownership of vehicles, requests should be sent to the department. At the present time more than 200 requests are received daily.

Michigan's revenue from collection of the weight tax on trucks will be increased more than $100,000 in 1932 because of the use of official weight receipts, records of the Department of State show, according to Orville E. Atwood, chief of the motor vehicle division.

Records show that the new change in issuing truck license plates only upon presentation of an official weight receipt, has resulted in an increase in the registered weights of many trucks this year as compared with the 1931 weight for the same vehicle.

Poor Potatoes Grow from Diseased Seed

The selection of high grade seed potatoes and an inexpensive treatment of this seed will control several of the most important of Michigan potato diseases and will aid farmers in this state to produce the grade of stable stock which consumers demand and for which they are willing to pay top prices, according to the farm crops department at Michigan State college.

Potato scab, black scurf, and black leg can be controlled by treating seed potatoes with a solution of formaldehyde or corrosive sublimate. Fusarium wilt can be reduced to a minimum by discarding the seed piece cut from the butt end of the potato. Tubers which show brown stains in the flesh should be discarded unless the grower is certain this discoloration is not caused by the wilt or other disease.

Another group of potato diseases can be controlled only by the use of seed from selected stock. Seed stock of this sort is produced by growers who can distinguish plants affected with mosaic or other disease of that type and who remove from their seed plots all diseased plants before they produce tubers which may become mixed with the crop when harvested.

Any grower of potatoes can easily and cheaply treat his seed potatoes with formaldehyde or corrosive sublimate. County agricultural agents will visit any farmer and give detailed directions for this treatment. Special Bulletin No. 125, published by Michigan State college, gives complete information on all potato diseases and control methods. This bulletin will be mailed to anyone who requests it from the Bulletin Clerk at East Lansing.

Chick and Egg Show Planned at College

Plans have been completed to have the egg show and the chick show scheduled annually at Michigan State college, on the same dates and the combined shows are scheduled for May 17, 18, 19, 20.

Winners at the chick show are the pick of the 40,000,000 chicks which are annually hatched in Michigan and sold to farmers of this and many other states. Zealand, which might be called the capital of the hatchery world, shipped 15,000,000 chicks last year. There are 66 hatcheries located within 10 miles of Zealand.

Last year's show drew 73 entries which came from 12 states and one Canadian province. Chicks were shipped to that show from Bozeman, Montana, and arrived in first class condition. One of the requirements for entry in the show is that the birds be shipped, so those in charge of the exhibition can tell whether the birds possess enough vitality to make them good shipping risks.

The chick show provides regular classes for 20 breeds of chickens, turkeys, and ducks and usually the newest type of hatchery stock, pheasants, are included in the exhibits. All chicks will be sold at auction on the last day of the show.

The egg show is held to show both poultrymen and the visitors to the show what qualities are needed to make a first grade exhibit of eggs. First place winners must be of a quality which would command a premium on the market.

The show will be held in Demonstration Hall and entries may be made by hatcheryman or poultry raiser.

Bruce Malcolm and Leland Kelley attended the Port Huron Dist. Epworth League and young people's convention on Friday and Saturday at the First Methodist church in Port Huron.

In honor of the birthday of Miss Norah Silverthorn of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sherwood entertained at their home in Deford for dinner on Sunday, Miss Silverthorn, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Silverthorn and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Smith, all of Birmingham, R. Zimmerman of Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sherwood of Lum, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Silverthorn.

On Tuesday occurred the 74th anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Bertha Cooper. These years that have gone have dealt very kindly with Mrs. Cooper's appearance and genial good nature. She has spent the past week with her children, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Retherford and family were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Retherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Martin were Sunday afternoon callers of George Lombard of Northeast Kingston. Mr. Lombard is in extremely poor health.

Rev. L. D. Welton began, on Tuesday evening, a series of studies on the book of Revelation. He is making use of a large chart in connection with his talks. K. B. Steele of Elkhart, Ind., is assisting with crayon work. He preached to the congregation Tuesday evening and is a young man of considerable art ability.

The funeral service of Ambrose Huffman, a former resident of our community, was held on Thursday afternoon at the Evangelical church in Caro. He died in Caro Community hospital, following a short illness of bowel trouble. Those from Deford who attended the service were Mrs. N. R. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Spencer, Wells Spencer, Frank Spencer, Wm. Huffman, C. J. Malcolm and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Malcolm.

Wm. Bentley has been quite sick from Sunday to Wednesday but is out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Sadler entertained on Sunday, for dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kelley, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur VanBlaricom of Pontiac were also week-end guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jed Dodge entertained on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hillman and daughter, Marion, of Fairgrove.

Mrs. Josephine Mackie and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mackie, all of Detroit, were visitors on Friday at the Fred Ball home.

Mrs. Edward Sutton, Harold Sutton and Mrs. Mildred Howell of Detroit were Tuesday guests at the Ed Sutton farm home.

Milton Portice of Onaway was a visitor in town Monday.

Our local post office was the recipient of a friendly call from the postmaster of Decker on Tuesday.

Neil Kennedy and children, Jean and Jack, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Spencer called on Sunday afternoon at the home of their cousin, Mrs. John McCready, at Clifford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Funk and Roy

Courliss were Sunday visitors at Lamotte, at the Lloyd Osburn home.

Hiram Kelley is doing some carpenter work on the Warner Kelley farm house north of town.

Mrs. Alvah Spencer and little daughter, Alice Louise, visited Saturday at Caro, at the home of her brother, Ralph Kline.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold and daughter, Verda, and two small nephews, Robert and Charles Freeman, all of Pontiac, spent the week-end at the Wells Spencer home.

Miss Velma Spencer and boy friend and Robt. Spencer of Bad Axe were Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Spencer. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer also entertained for dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Colwell of Cass City.

Melvin Phillips, who has been a section man here for a number of years, has been promoted to foreman and was given the care of the section at Clifford, on the P., O. & N. division of the Grand Trunk.

We wish to congratulate the young men in their rendition of their male quartet number at the Sunday morning service at the M. E. church.

Sunday visitors at the Robert Horner home were Miss Irene Brooks of Argyle, Miss Edna Horner and Robt. Wethers of Flint and Fred Rickwall of Caro.

Miss Evelyn Chase of Flint accompanied Miss Edna Horner and spent the day at her parental home here.

Louis Keilitz is supervising the carpenter work on the new house of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pelton. The frame work is up. The building will be a bungalow in style, 24x44 ft., with full basement underneath. Mr. and Mrs. Boney Daugherty are entertaining for a few days their daughter and grandson, Mrs. Katherine Titus, and son, George, of Oxford.

ELKLAND ROLLER MILLS TOLD BY ROY

Vol. 7. May 6, 1932. No. 44

Published in the interest of the People of who want quality, youless the other women by the Elkland Roller Mills Edited by Roy

A good fellow is one who buys liquor for his friends with money he owes the grocer.

FOR SALE — Good horse, 6 years old.

Remember when you used to hustle around early in the morning on the first day of May with little baskets of flowers for your friends?

You might be able to stop the argument temporarily but when your wife insists on a sack of Cream of Wheat flour the nicest thing to do is to get her one.

WE PROPOSE that you try a Jamesway Brooder stove. If it fails to please you in any way, just bring it back.

It depends on what you are shooting at. If you want quality, youless the other women by the Elkland Roller Mills Edited by Roy Every good cook in the Cass City community will tell you there's a vast difference in flour. Cream of Wheat makes good every time.

Along with the robins, squirrels and dandelions, we notice a straw hat or two on the streets these days.

Our musical education was neglected. But when it comes to feeds there is none better than Wayne.

We understand the following conversation occurred at a gas station on Main street: "Would you like to try Ethyl in your car?" "No, I'm satisfied with Mabel."

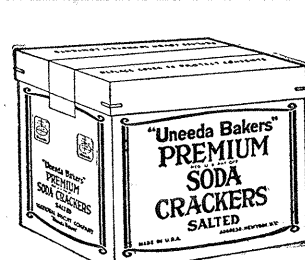

Happy thought for today: An incubator chick never sasses its mother.

"I'll never go back to wearing long skirts and corsets," a Cass City woman declared, "un-Cass City and vicinity you want quality, youless the other women by the Elkland Roller Mills Edited by Roy

POULTRY

FOOD MAIN THING AS PULLETS GROW

Oversupply of Chick Mash Not Wise.

The success or failure of the poultry industry depends upon the care and feeding of the pullets during the growing age, according to Prof. R. S. Dearstyne, head of the poultry department of North Carolina State college.

"Cockerels and pullets should be separated as early as possible," says Mr. Dearstyne. "This eliminates crowding, which tends to retard development in the young birds, which means a small hen with a correspondingly low egg production."

The feeding problem, while often neglected, is of major importance, states Mr. Dearstyne. It is a mistake to carry the young pullets through the developing period on chick mash, as such feeding tends to bring about an early lay and a molt when eggs are at a premium. The high protein feeds should be decreased when the birds are ten weeks old so as to bring them into lay about the first of October, he says.

When the birds are fourteen weeks old, a grain ration should be kept before them at all times and Mr. Dearstyne recommends that two-thirds grain and one-third mash be fed until the birds go into the laying house. The consumption of grain may be regulated by keeping grain in the hoppers all the time and by feeding mash several times a day for limited periods.

Flock's Need of Protein Made Scientific Record

Scientific research is just a high-sounding phrase to most of us, but that agriculture owes much of the advance it has made in the last half century to science is the plain truth. The laboratory yields its secrets only to its elect, but the results are often so simple that a child can profit by them. Examples of this are plentiful on the farm, and now comes an announcement from the research laboratory of a large commercial feed plant of a discovery which will interest poultry raisers, especially just now. Through scores of experiments in feeding many thousands of baby chicks these scientists say they have proven that a proper synchronization of proteins in the feed is necessary to produce best results in pigmentation, feathering, growth, and vitality. They refer to the discovery as an ingredient which no doubt will prove equally successful in all live stock rations.—Southern Agriculturist.

Increasing Hatchability

Hatchability of eggs has been definitely increased by proper feeding of flocks at Ohio State university. A basal ration containing 30 per cent yellow corn when fed in birds in confinement produced an average hatchability of only 38.9 per cent. Skim milk added to this ration showed considerable improvement; and an outdoor yard with bluegrass increased hatchability to 60.9 per cent.

When the percentage of corn in the ration was increased from 30 to 65, the addition of soybean has increased hatchability from 35.7 to 61.7 per cent; alfalfa hay to 59.4 per cent, and clover hay to 57.8 per cent. Bluegrass range jumped it to 64 per cent.—Prairie Farmer.

Green Feeds Necessary

An abundance of green feed is necessary at all times. A lack of it causes ill health and low production. Greens are a tonic that stimulate the appetite. They also aid the digestive tract to function properly, thereby securing for the birds a larger use from the feed consumed. Birds should be given all the greens that they can eat, once daily at a regular period. This is best given at noon or in the late afternoon. Sprouted oats is one of the best forms of greens and should be fed when the sprouts are from one to three inches in length.—American Fruit Grower.

POULTRY FACTS

Turkeys made a good return to Minnesota producers in 1931.

In spells of dark, cloudy weather, cod liver oil in the ration is a fine substitute for sunshine.

The poultry ration should contain all the elements required in body maintenance and the manufacture of eggs.

Hens give off more water according to weight than any other domestic animal. Therefore, they need a constant supply.

Lights in the laying house may not increase the total number of eggs laid in a year, but they do shift some of the heavy spring laying to the winter months when prices are better.

Knitted Modes Set New Style Pace

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS many a yarn which Dame Fashion is spinning these days in answer to the call of the mode for smart knitted apparel. It is not only that knitted togs in their modern versions are so good to look upon, but the fact of their being so thoroughly practical gives them a place in the heart of the sports world which none other can occupy. As knitted fashions stand today they acknowledge no superior when it comes to ultra-chic and beguiling charm. This, together with the fact that a knitted costume stands any amount of wear and tear without losing that well-groomed appearance which every proudfest woman covets, accounts for the increasing enthusiasm expressed for outfits which are knitted or fashioned of knitted fabrics.

Straight from la belle Paris come the two knitted costumes pictured. The suit to the left is of loose-knit jersey in green and white, with the scarf and corsage in the same colors. Its bellhop jacket, which stops at the waistline, together with the flat stitched pleats in the skirt testify that when it comes to style details there is no point missed by designers of knitted modes.

The costume shown to the right is a Paquin model as is also the suit just described. This sports ensemble chooses to combine red wool with Scottish check. The bolero which milady carries on her arm ready for wear in the outdoors is of the same. It is characteristic of French costumes as styled for spring and the coming summer that they accent color at the top, a treatment which has been most strikingly accomplished in the present instance.

For novelty, versatility and gaiety it is the sweater which carries the day with highest honors. The sweater, crocheted or knitted in loose open mesh, is a toptotch in fashion. Some of them are that open they look to be little more than of fishnetting. It's quite the swaggar thing to wear one of these openwork sweaters over one's sleeveless sports dress. Match it to the color of your frock or have it in striking contrast, as you will.

The new skirts with built-up waistlines have brought tuck-in sweaters to the fore. Necklines, too, come in for a great deal of attention in sweater designing, frills, fichu effects, jabots and all sorts of dressmaker details adding a piquant touch to the mode.

Very elaborate ensembles are being displayed, those in all white being notably lovely. Per example, a sports outfit recently shown consisted of a skirt knitted in simple stitch with a row of open stitch marking the separation between the gored sections which achieved a snug fit about the hips with a slight flare below the knees. The sweater below accented an extremely open lacy stitch. The sleeved bolero matched the skirt. A beret, a belt, a scarf and an envelope pocketbook knitted and crocheted in fanciful stitch and design added notes of interest. All in pure white, this many-in-one costume made a striking appearance.

For berets and scarfs designers are using rayon chenille with excellent results as the chenille crochets softly and prettily, being particularly effective in pastel colorings. Women who wield the crochet needle readily are adding a touch of distinction to their bought sweaters by crocheting a shell stitch chenille edge about neckline and sleeves as well as finishing various hemlines, adding perhaps a few crocheted buttons in decorative manner.

Miss Flora Endersbe was the successful participant at the gold medal contest held at Beasley Friday evening.

Supt. Frank H. Carroll of the P. O. & N. R. denies positively that there is any truth in the statement that the Grand Trunk has acquired a controlling interest in the P. O. & N. and will take possession on June 1.

Postmaster General Meyer has approved the detailed adjustment of salaries of rural free delivery carriers which will become effective July 1. The new schedule is as follows: Routes of 24 or more miles, $900 per annum; 22 to 24 miles, $864; 20 to 22, $810; 18 to 20 miles, $720; 16 to 18 miles, $630. Of the five routes out of Cass City, four of the carriers will receive the highest salaries on the list, $900 per annum, which will be an increase of $15 per month over their present ones. D. M. Houghton, carrier on Route No. 5, has the shortest route which is a little over 16 miles in length. His salary is also subject to an increase amounting to $4.50 per month.

John Mudge and Miss Nellie Shageny were united in marriage at the Evangelical parsonage Wednesday evening.

John Epplett has sold his residence on Third Street to C. W. Hulbert, who expects to move his household goods from Leonard this week.

The Anketell Lumber and Coal Co. is erecting another lumber shed at the rear of the present one. It will be 63 x 72 feet in size.

Otto Nique and Marvie Ehlers of Shabbona left Cass City early last week for Lansing. They returned here Friday evening, bringing with them an automobile of the Olds type for Chas. Bond.

The two proprietors of local hotels went to Caro yesterday, spent $1,000 and returned to Cass City sober after an absence of less than three hours. That's going some and they didn't buy an automobile either. The county treasurer has their money for liquor licenses.

Chas. Wilsey was appointed a village trustee at the council meeting Monday evening to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. J. Campbell. G. A. Striffler is also a new member of the council, having been appointed at a recent meeting to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. W. Heller.

Handy Bros. of Bay City are said to be the promoters of the Detroit, Bay City and Western R. R. and construction work on the same will be commenced within the next 60 days.

Arthur L. Travis, formerly a Cass City boy, writes the Chronicle to change the address of his paper from Manila, P. I. to Fort Robinson, Neb., where he will be stationed. Mr. Travis is not very enthusiastic in his praise of the Philippines. In fact, he dislikes the country very much and is glad to return again to the states.

Wm. Bentley has moved to his farm two miles south of town. The boys have once more commenced herding cows to the south river.

A. J. Knapp, who has been in the employ of J. D. Crosby, left yesterday for Bay City, having engaged to play baseball with the league team of that place.

Louis I. Wood, assistant pharmacist with T. H. Fritz, has secured a situation with Arthur H. Webber, wholesale and retail druggist at Cadillac, and will leave here next week.

M. M. Wickware, formerly proprietor of the Enterprise, has been a student at the Detroit College of Medicine and on Tuesday, together with a class of 80 others, received a degree of doctor of Medicine.

Word was received this week from James Perkins and J. A. McDougall, now at Waynesburg, Pa., that they are meeting with very good success in the sale of steel ranges and they each appear well satisfied with their situations.

The organization of the Cass City band was completed Tuesday evening with the following officers: Business manager and president, O. K. Janes; secretary, Calvin Ale; treasurer, Chas. L. Robinson. The band starts out with a membership of 14.

There were no liquor licenses taken out in Gagetown during the past year, writes the correspondent from that village, nevertheless liquor was sold just the same.

The talk is now being passed around that if a bonus of $800.00 can be raised, Miles McMillan will rebuild the roller mills at Gagetown.

SHARBONA SCHOOL.

The first grade was very proud of their picture which was taken as if they were in reading class.

We are busy trying to identify the new birds as they come back.

The seventh grade are working on their Michigan maps.

Mable Auslander and Virginia Leslie have the most achievement stamps for spelling. We are anxious to see who will be next.

We sent back our traveling library. All of us enjoyed the books.

Friday afternoon was clean-up day at our school. Each one had a job. We washed desks, scrubbed the floor, picked up shingles, raked the yard, and carried away the junk. Fred Nichols brought a team and a wagon to carry away the trees. We thank Mr. Boaks for the spruce tree and Mr. Auslander for maple(?) After this we enjoyed ourselves by having a marshmallow roast and by practicing for the track meet.

We are sorry that our track meeting was postponed until Monday.

Our visitors for the week were Betty Petteplace and Frederick Petteplace of Chicago. Reporter, Virginia Leslie.

PAUL SCHOOL.

Teacher, Mrs. Clara Korte.

In our spelling contest last week, Alice Anthes won in the fourth, Helen Kasturba won in the fifth grade, Eleanor Kloc in the seventh grade and Orton Spencer in the eighth grade. Eleanor Kloc spelled the school down.

We have received a package from a school in Donna, Texas, containing some cotton, a cactus and some other interesting things.

We are anticipating a treat Tuesday afternoon when a group of high school students are coming to visit us.

The eighth grade are studying all about flowers.

ARIZONA'S Development

Odd Formation in Monument Valley, Arizona.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.) (WNU Service)

ARIZONA, youthful state of the Southwest, where yesterday bandits chased the bounding stagecoaches and wildcat calls and Indian warwhoops echoed across sagebrush studded plains and barren hills, now is a land of modern cities with airports, golf links, western skyscrapers, fertile farms and thickly populated cattle ranches.

Although it was not admitted into the Union until 1912, Arizona has drawn from the cumulative experience of other states in politics, education and industry.

Years after the Chicago fire Apaches still scalped settlers in Arizona. Philadelphia saw the Centennial close before a railway crossed the Yuma desert, and Europeans by millions had migrated to our shores when Arizona boasted barely as many whites as New York now has policemen.

Dewey had sunk Montojo in Manila bay and old Chief Geronimo was selling signed pictures of himself for ten cents each at the St. Louis World's fair when Arizona, had barely emerged from her long social pandemonium of road agents, gold seekers, and fugitives from eastern justice.

Yet Spaniards had settled here, bringing the first cattle seen on our continent, introducing new plants, and teaching Pimas and Hopis to be better farmers, before the first English settlements were made in our eastern states. Tucson was old when Daniel Boone cut his name on a tree in Tennessee where he had killed a bear. In awe Cardenas of Coronado's expedition lifted up the cross at the Grand canyon scarcely 50 years after Columbus reached America.

Across Arizona Kearny led his army to California and Forty-niners fought their hard, hot way. Kit Carson battled here and Lieut. E. F. Beale made his famous expedition with imported camels as pack-trains in the Southwest—until infuriated prospectors shot the camels because they stampeded their burros. But killer Indians, the difficulty of hauling in goods, and preference for California kept colonization down. As late as 1890, all the whites in Arizona probably numbered less than 5,000.

Railways Brought Advancement. Then Civil war. From it Arizona received a further setback that lasted until railways finally came, hauling in mining machinery, and judges, law books, and locks for jail doors. Thus, after years of neglect, the nation that owned the territory gave it law and order.

Arizona's white population, not including Mexicans, has increased by 600 per cent since the Spanish-American war and its wealth has multiplied maybe twenty times. Lonely cow trails are changed to crowded motor lanes, and million dollar hotels flaunt their splendor where "dobe huts and desert skies were long man's only shelter.

Under the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848, the United States acquired land only as far south as the Gila river; by the Gadsden purchase in 1854 it received the rest of that terra incognita later called Arizona territory.

A few studious Americans, delving in early Spanish chronicles, learned that explorers like Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado, and early missionaries like Father Kino had found here "rivers with banks three leagues high" and mines rich enough to yield a silver nugget so heavy that two mules were lashed together to carry it! From beaver trappers, too, who had ventured down the Colorado, tales of Arizona's scenic wonders, and especially of its warlike Apaches, had been brought back. But to most Americans practically nothing was known of Arizona; it was too hard of access.

This inaccessibility, the character of the country itself, and its savage inhabitants kept Arizona for decades the most backward of all our territories.

Early Stage Lines. Buying Arizona was folly, eastern people said; its arid wastes were useless. Yet surveys began to show that, for all its evil deserts, it had big rich spots of much value; also, now that it belonged to us, we were free to make roads across it, to tie up Texas with southern California.

Yet for twenty years after the Gadsden purchase Arizona communicated with the outside world largely by water. Ships ran from San Francisco to the mouth of the Colorado river, via the Mexican ports of Mazatlan, La Pas and Guaymas.

A semimonthly mail and passenger stage line was started in 1857 from San Antonio to San Diego; but at times it cost the government $65 to carry each letter! A year later the historic Butterfield stages began running between St. Louis and San Francisco. An early writer says: "This was one of the grand achievements of the age, to span the continent by semiweekly stages, under bonds to perform, by sole power of horseflesh, a trip of nearly 2,500 miles within the schedule of 25 days."

It was the trek of people from the South to the West after the Civil war that began to give Arizona population. Previous to that the white man saw little of it, except the regions about Tucson, the Gila Bend, and Yuma.

Today passengers on fast trains through Arizona complain if in the shower in the club car is not cool, or if the barber's razor is dull.

But look out of the window. Those brush-grown mounds are graves of Apache victims. The sufferings of such pioneers from heat, hunger and thirst, from Apache torture, were almost without parallel in the history of human enterprise. Arizona really began to grow up with the development of her mines by Americans.

Quest for gold first brought white men here. Legendary gold-roofed temples of Cibola lured Coronado. He didn't find a golden Cibola. But for generations Spain helped pay the huge cost of her glittering European armies with gold and silver from Arizona and Sonora mines. From the Tough Nut, the Glory Hole, and other claims incredible wealth was taken, before a subterranean river drowned the miners out.

Vast Fortunes in Copper. More than $100,000,000 worth of copper has been taken from one Arizona mine. Fears that when mines were worked out Arizona might decline in wealth and population have been allayed since the World war. There are two reasons: First, the increase of farm settlers under new irrigation projects; second, discovery of ways to mine and smelt copper at lower cost.

Where low-grade copper ore occurs in great masses near the top of the ground, as at Bisbee, miners simply blast and use steam shovels. More than 1,000,000 tons of rock have been broken by one "shot."

One can grasp the size of Arizona's mining industry when it is known that the state employs more than 25,000 men and digs each year 675,000,000 pounds of copper, 17,400,000 pounds of lead, 6,000,000 ounces of silver, and $5,000,000 in gold. The annual mineral output sells for more than $100,000,000.

Irrigation in this region is old. Corn, beans and squash were watered by gravity ditches centuries ago. Mormons from Utah, settling near where Phoenix now is, made use of prehistoric canals. All over Salt River valley men dig up stone implements, relics of ancient farmers.

It seems quite natural, then, that here America's modern irrigation policy should have been first tried out on a big scale. It was here with the Roosevelt dam that the then newly formed reclamation service made its first experiment, begun in 1906. It worked.

Today there is the great Yuma project; the big new dams at Horse Mesa and Mormon Flat, and the new multiple-dome Coolidge dam on the Gila river, near San Carlos. At present about 4,400 Pima Indian farmers with 50,000 acres are the

Croswell School Wins Shorthand and Typewriting Contest

Commercial students of Croswell high school placed their school in first place in a contest at Caro in shorthand and typing subjects, earning 17 points. Caro was second with 13 points, followed by Sandusky and Cass City, each ten; Sebawaing, 6; Millington and Mayville, each 5; Unionville, 4; Elkton and Vassar each two.

In first year shorthand Eunice Root of Millington won first. Others who placed were Martin List, Sebawaing, second; Helen King, Croswell, third; Erma Binder, Sebawaing fourth; Eleanor Brown, Sandusky, fifth.

First place in second year typing went to Carolyn Hunt of Caro. Others who placed were Selena Jackson, Cass City, second; Jeanette Smalden, Sandusky, third; Arleen Schaffer, Mayville, fourth; Leota Elsholz, Sandusky fifth.

First place in first year team typing was won by Croswell; second, Cass City; third, Caro. First place in second year typing was won by Sandusky.

RATS ARE USED TO STUDY TOOTH DECAY

Find Soundness of Dentition Depends on Diet.

Baltimore.—Two Johns Hopkins university scientists have made public discoveries that go far toward explaining the ways in which diet causes, or prevents, decay of teeth. Two fertilizers, phosphorus and calcium, regulated by vitamin D, are the teeth savers.

The experiments showing how to work the combination of the three substances were explained in Science, official organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, by Dr. E. V. McCollum and Henry Klein. Their work was aided by grants from the American Dental association.

The tests were made on rats. In the laboratories their caretakers grew tooth cavities in the rodents almost at will, or prevented them almost entirely.

All this was done simply by giving the rats the right proportions of phosphorus and calcium. This correct ratio was about four parts of phosphorus to three of calcium. Proportions of three to two did not work.

Not only the ratio was important but the amount also. There was a minimum of the fertilizers below which they failed of effectiveness. When the rats were fed too little and in wrong proportions, the report states that 80 per cent of them developed cavities in 140 days. With properly balanced diet this decay was cut to 5 per cent.

The investigators further ascertained that the portion of the phosphorus in the blood is of vital importance, and that this is related to vitamin D.

Calcium and phosphorus are two of the principal fertilizers. They reach man daily in many different kinds of food, but their proportions vary greatly. Vitamin D comes both from eating food and from sunshine or ultra-violet light on the skin.

British Peerage

There are five ranks in the British peerage, which, in the ascending scale, are: Baron, viscount, earl, marquis, duke. All are commonly spoken of as lords and peers, being members of the house of lords or peers, just as all the holders of commissions in the army are spoken of as officers, without specifying the rank of each.

Properly Termed "Dry"

Tortugas is the Spanish word for turtles. Ponce de Leon gave the well-known islands the name. Dry was prefixed because no fresh water is found in the group except the rain which is caught when falling.

FINE MICHIGAN VIEWS WERE EXHIBITED

Each year thousands come from other states to visit this great commonwealth and each year thousands of Michigan residents extend their travels in their own state. Each year more and more use and better appreciate Michigan's Great Lakes shores, her fine inland lakes, her large and small streams, her forests, her game, fish and other wild life and her outdoor beauty.

Some of the best views of Northern Michigan are available from many of the state's forest fire towers. These towers are built for the purpose of quickly detecting and locating forest fires.

Michigan has many thousand acres of state-owned land. Year by year as fires are kept out the natural growth becomes larger and more beautiful. The forests embrace numerous lakes and streams where natural outdoor recreation may be enjoyed.

Isle Royale, situated in Lake Superior, a large, rough, rocky island 55 miles from Keweenaw Peninsula, is considered one of the great natural parks of unusual and wild scenery, rock hills and ridges, lakes, streams and timbered slopes, with an abundance of moose.

Many present thought this meeting one of the most interesting and educational of the year. At the end of program, popcorn and home-made candy were served by the committee in charge.

MEASURED IN MILES

SUPPOSE for a moment that advertising didn't exist—that there were no trade-marked goods—that everything you bought had to be judged solely by its feel or taste?

Imagine yourself setting out to do the morning's shopping under such conditions. You'd drive down the street, looking in windows for the articles you needed—the blouses for Johnny, the half-dozen towels, the toilet soap, the washing machine, the radio, etc. You'd stop, ask questions, examine the towels, smell the soap, wonder if here was your money's worth or if you might find something better farther on. And though you followed this procedure mile after weary mile, you could never be SURE.

Computed simply in terms of gasoline and tires and shoe leather, advertising saves you a startling sum every year. And if you add the value of your time, the amount is vastly increased.

When you buy a product that is advertised you know in advance what you will get, how much it costs you and where you can obtain it. That is why, in millions of modern homes, the newspaper advertising columns are a daily guide to purchases.

Read the advertisements, decide what you need, then buy with assurance.

Let Advertising Save You Time and Money!
