...writes of "THE MASTER EXECUTIVE"
 Supplying a week-to-week inspiration for the heavy-burdened who will find every human trial paralleled in the experiences of "The Man Nobody Knows."

THIRD SECRET OF SUCCESS.

Having gathered together his organization, there remained for Jesus the tremendous task of training it. And herein lay the third great element in his success—his vast unbending patience. The Church has attached to each of the disciples the title of Saint and thereby done most to destroy the conviction of their reality. They were very far from sainthood when He picked them up. For three years He had them with Him day and night. His whole energy and resources poured out in an effort to create an understanding in them. Yet through it all they never fully understood.

In spite of all He could do or say, they were persuaded that He planned to overthrow the Roman power and set himself up as ruler in Jerusalem. Hence they never tired of wrangling as to how the offices should be divided. But Jesus never lost his patience. He believed that the way to get faith out of men is to show that you have faith in them; and from that great principle of executive management he never wavered.

Of all his disciples Simon was most noisy and aggressive. It was he who was always volunteering advice, forever proclaiming the staunchness of his own courage and faith. One day Jesus said to him, "Before the cock crows tomorrow you will deny me thrice." Simon was indignant. Though they killed him, he cried, he would never deny! Jesus merely smiled—and that night it happened. . . . A lesser leader would have dropped Simon. "You have had your chance," he would have said, "I am sorry but I must have men around me on whom I can depend." Jesus had the rare understanding that the same man will usually not make the same mistake twice. From that time on there was no faltering in Peter.

The Bible presents an interesting collection of contrasts in this matter of executive ability. Samson had almost all the attributes of leadership. He was physically powerful and handsome; he had the great courage to which men always respond. Yet Samson failed miserably.

same handicap. He tried to do everything and do everything; and was almost on the verge of failure. Then Moses took the advice of his father-in-law and associated with himself a partner, Aaron, who was strong where he was weak. Together they achieved what neither could do alone.

John, the Baptist, had the same lack. He could denounce, but he could not construct. He drew crowds who were willing to repent at his command, but he had no program for them after their repentance. The same thing might have happened to the works of Jesus. Yet because of the fire of his personal conviction, because of his marvelous instinct for discovering their latent powers, and because of his unwavering faith and patience, he molded them into an organization which carried on victoriously. A few decades later the proud Emperor himself bowed his head to the teachings of this Nazareth carpenter, transmitted through common men.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Lesson for September 25.

Review: Moses Honored in his Death.

Deuteronomy 32:48-52; 34:5-8.

Golden Text: Psalm 116:15.

The lessons for the last quarter have dealt with the career of Moses. The narrative for this Sunday describes his death at Mount Nebo, and his burial in an unknown tomb. It affords a fit opportunity to pause and meditate upon the significance of this massive soul, the founder of the Hebrew religion. He it was who definitely made Jehovah the national God of the Israelites, and established the initial stages of their religious and political organization. Truly he was God's man of destiny.

Let us glance at his spectacular biography. We note that he was fortunate, as a child, to fall under the protection of Pharaoh's daughter, who nurtured him as her own son. Thus he was a highly favored lad, reared in an environment of luxury and learning. But happily these privileges did not blind him to the sad plight of his brethren.

The curtain rises again and we find our hero brooding in the desert of Midian. Here an imperative divine call to leadership is sounded from a burning bush. Moses hesitates and objects. But he finally obeys, and the rest of his life is a revelation of the magnificence of his response.

Some one has said that nothing is wasted in human life when once a great idea takes hold of it. The idea of liberty, with justice, under God, took possession of the conscience and will of Moses with compelling power, so that all he had done in his long days of preparation came to his aid, and he became one of the greatest organizing geniuses in history, exhibiting a practical and powerful executive ability.

We see him steadfast and intrepid through the stormy vicissitudes of plague, passover, crossing of the sea, and wilderness wandering. He emerges as a world figure whose Ten Commandments are the Magna Charta of humanity.

The great man, Carlyle reminds us, is "the living light-fountain." Such was Moses. But let us remember that the secret of his greatness lies in the directing providence of God Who always remains with the man He chooses to serve Him.

Only FRESH Gas Unleashes Full Power

Staleness steals the power of gasoline. Little by little, the lighter parts—important "easy starting" elements—evaporate! Also a chemical change takes place—so that, as staleness increases, power decreases!

And the staler the gas, the more it knocks—and the stickier it is—more apt to foul a motor.

The whole petroleum industry has long sought a way to stop gasoline deterioration. Now Gulf announces a system that assures every motorist of getting FRESH-MADE gasoline! How?

By making the best possible gasoline and refining out certain complex elements that cause fast deterioration.

And by rushing this FRESH gas to you like some perishable food!

SPEED! The whole Gulf organization is geared to it. Huge Gulf refineries in many sections of the country put every Gulf filling station close to a source of FRESH gasoline. A vast fleet of tank trucks speeds FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day.

Get FULL power for your gasoline dollar. Get FRESH-MADE gas—delivered FRESH. Get Gulf exclusively—and you'll have a motor that's faster. A motor that's cleaner. And quieter.

Get that Good Gulf gasoline—it's FRESH

Now the Time for Chic Velvet Hat

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WOULDN'T add an unmistakable touch of chic and an air of newness to your mid-season and early fall appearance? Here's how! Women keenly alert to those subtle moves which make for good style are finding immediate appeal in the idea. That is, they are topping their flowery chiffons and afternoon prints, their pastel country club frocks and other of their dainty gowns which are too pretty to lay aside until the "frost is on the pumpkin," with perfectly stunning little velvet hats such as all Paris is wearing in restaurants, to theaters and at all smart gatherings.

And if you have already acquired your "first" fall frock or suit, why of course you will be wanting to wear with it one of the new fascinating velvet chapeaux which milliners are now featuring, so as to stamp your costume with that last-minute look which all covet. Ruby is the newest color for the alluring little toques which are now gracing the style picture. For that matter, even the newest velvet sail-or is apt to be in that flattering shade. However, be assured that black and white are definitely holding their own. That "touch of white" which fashion so persistently calls for is frequently supplied by the little toque or beret of twisted or braided or otherwise draped white velvet.

Perhaps you are partial to brims. If so you will find waiting to answer your bid and call attractive black velvet capelines. Decidedly shallow-crowned are these newest models. They sure do a lot for any costume in the way of topping it with style. Milliners are placing considerable emphasis on this type of hat for immediate wear.

The new cuffed hats are proving just to the liking of women who seek a change from the cap-fitting little berets and toques such as have been holding the center of the stage so long, and yet do not fancy the wider brims. These little hats with a cuff are smartly in fashion at the present moment. The perky little cuff effect at the top of the picture to the left brings velvet back in truly Victorian manner.

Just below this model the hat shown is of gray velvet, for gray as a millinery color is high style for fall. The velvet is in this instance handstitched and the crown and brim are made on a stiff wired crinoline frame—a very new and significant move in the realm of millinery, for it has been many a day since hats were worked on a foundation. We forgot to mention that the little violet velvet hat above described is also done over a frame.

The wee toque at the top to the right is conjured of velvet which is stitched to form a checkered effect. By the way, milliners are doing all sorts of fancy stunts with velvet this season in the way of stitching, tucking, shirring and such.

And now we come to the concluding number in this group—a velvet sailor, than which there is no more important type foretold for the coming months. The model shown is a very conservative one. Some ultra sailors have amusingly shallow crowns with narrow brims worn tilted over one eye.

NEW-LENGTH JACKET

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ONE-PIECE FROCKS SIMPLE IN DESIGN

Simplicity is the "keynote speech" of some of the new one-piece knit frocks that are going to be much worn when the election results begin to roll in next November, says an authority, in the Kansas City Star. Monotone for the most part, these slim frocks have either short or long sleeves. One still sees the boucle suit in some of its younger moods. A rum brown boucle, made in three pieces, had a three-quarter length coat and a slim skirt, worn with a cream color fagotted (magic word, this fall) blouse. The coat has widened smartly seamed sleeves, tightly buttoned cuff bands, a pull-through scarf with ends of brown galyak and a slightly fitted waistline.

The one-piece frock with the detachable high-necked cape is not to be crowded off the smart street scene this autumn. In a rich wine novelty woolen it has matching octagonal buttons tipped with silver metal that fasten the cape, trim the sleeves, and aid a deep side pleat in achieving a wrap-around effect. These coat frocks, by the way, are tremendously important for early fall wear—you really should have one.

Velvet Now Being Used for Hats and Turbans

Now that the heat of summer is in full blast women are thinking about furs and wools and velvets. They are not only thinking about velvet hats but are wearing them. French designers are using velvet for little turbans, small-brimmed hats and crowns of hats that have straw or other materials for brims.

Three-Quarter Coats

This new length between the knees and the ankles is the smartest for summer coats whether they be of wool, silk or linen, or one of the gay new striped cottons.

How Sheep Breeder Can Reduce Outlay

Ohio Specialist Urges Use of Home-Grown Feeds.

By L. A. KAUFFMAN, Department of Animal Husbandry, Ohio State University.—WNU Service.

Savings in the cost of producing sheep may often be made by feeding home-grown protein. Feed represents the largest single item of expense in sheep production. Under average Ohio conditions, 60 to 70 per cent of the total cost of raising the flock may be charged to feed and pasture.

High quality legume hays supply both protein and minerals. They are unexcelled for meat and wool production, keep the digestive tract in good condition, and permit the use of larger amounts of other farm-grown roughages such as corn fodder and silage.

With a high quality legume hay wider use of home-grown grains can be made. Less protein supplements are necessary. If it is impossible to grow alfalfa, clover, or sweet clover, I would suggest that soybeans be raised for hay. They are a splendid emergency legume hay crop and are especially high in protein if cut when the beans are just forming on the pod.

Fly Repellents That Are Recommended by Experts

The Nebraska College of Agriculture suggests three formulae for making fly repellents. A mixture of one gallon of used crank case oil and one pint of oil of tar or coal tar stock dip will be effective in repelling flies from live stock and will serve to repel the flies from ten cows for 90 days.

One application daily of the following formula is said to be effective: One gallon fish oil, one-half gallon oil of tar, and one ounce crude carbolic acid.

Another formula consists of 3 bars laundry soap, 4 1/2 quarts coal tar dip, 4 1/2 quarts fish oil, 3 quarts kerosene, 2 quarts whale oil, and 1 1/2 quarts oil of tar.

If these preparations are applied very lightly they will not injure the animals or discolor the hair.—Missouri Farmer.

Feed Bred Ewes

"Bred ewes should be so fed that they make a constant gain from the time of breeding until lambing time," states D. J. Griswold, professor of animal husbandry at North Dakota Agricultural college. How much this gain should be will depend upon the condition of the ewes at breeding time.

"If the ewes are thin when bred, the gain should be greater than if they are already in strong condition," he says. "Ewes that are in good condition in the fall should gain at least as much as the weight of the lamb and the increase in the weight of the wool. This will usually mean a gain of ten or twelve pounds or more per head in about five months."

Browse Plants Numerous

The browse plants, of tremendous value to stock raisers who find grazing scarce, are of wide variety. The Department of Agriculture has made a study of at least 500 different types ranging from weeds to small trees. The term browse is applied to tender shoots, sprouts or twigs upon which animals, both domestic and wild, can feed. It is estimated that there are 300,000,000 acres of pure browse land in the West and experiments have indicated that a use equally as important as animal feeding may develop from a study of the plants. Some of the plants have been found to be a possible source of latex for manufacture of rubber.

Greater Corn Yields

Corn planted thicker than the ordinary rate under irrigated conditions in Colorado produced increased yields. Four plants per hill produced a yield of 5.5 bushels per acre compared to 1.5 bushels from three plants per hill. When drilled in rows three and one-half feet apart and planted nine inches apart in the row, seven and one-half more bushels per acre were obtained than when the corn was planted at a distance of 12 to 15 inches between plants.—Nebraska Farmer.

Agricultural Hints

The estimated income from Ohio farm products for the last year was 17 per cent under the 1910 to 1914 level.

Based on income, wheat is the most important crop in Idaho, providing a gross income over $19,000,000 and $12,000,000 in 1929 and 1930.

Farm-family partnerships—really an advanced phase of 4-H club work—are the means of keeping scores of Minnesota young men and women interested and satisfied on the farm.

The price of a pound of grain is about the same as the price of a pound of milk. If an additional pound or two of grain makes a cow give an additional two or four pounds of milk, it pays to feed the grain.

McCALLUM-SLACK.

With 31 guests in attendance, the marriage of Miss Helen Madonna Slack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Slack, Bad Axe, and Arnold MacCallum, Gageton, was solemnized at 6 p. m. Thursday in the Slack home in Bad Axe.

Rev. Ralph Milk, pastor of the Snover Free Methodist church, formerly of Bad Axe, officiated. He was assisted by Rev. George Hosmer, pastor of the Bad Axe Free Methodist church.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Slack. The best man was Howard MacCallum, the bridegroom's brother. The bride was attired in a white satin gown and carried white roses and larkspur. The bridesmaid wore pink and carried pink roses. The bridal party stood before a colorful array of season flowers.

Miss Doris Moore, Cass City, who played Lohengrin's "Bridal March," wore a white organdy dress.

Michigan home owners will be benefited by the new Federal Home Loan bank system which was established in the closing hours of the recent session of Congress.

President Hoover promptly appointed the following board of directors: Franklin W. Fort, banker, of New Jersey, chairman; Wm. E. Best, lawyer, of Pennsylvania, President of the U. S. Building and Loan League; H. Morton Bodfish, of Illinois, executive manager of the U. S. Building and Loan League; Nathan Adams, banker, of Dallas, Texas; Dr. John M. Gries, economist, of Ohio. These men are all very eminent in their business and professional lines.

The new board has divided the country into twelve districts, each to have a home loan bank. Michigan and Indiana comprise the sixth district and a home loan bank will be located at Indianapolis with a capital of $8,000,000. The members of the home loan banks, that is, the subscribers of their stock, are confined to building and loan associations, saving and loan associations, co-operative banks, home-stead associations and insurance companies.

Building and loan associations who become members of the home loan bank will have to make an original stock subscription of one per cent of the aggregate of the unpaid principal of the subscribers' home mortgage loans, but not less than $1500.00. The government will put in a part of the capital on the start but this will be gradually withdrawn. It is impossible to go into all the details of the home loan bank system in this short article. The following contains the chief points relative to the functions and objectives of the Home Loan Bank System:

1. To refinance existing mortgages with a view to reducing installment payments, and to meet the needs of withdrawing members and depositors of the subscribing institutions. In the present depression many such individuals have found that their funds are frozen and unavailable.

2. To provide members with funds temporarily to carry worthy borrowers who are not able to meet their obligations.

Startling Victory of Democrats in the Maine Election—Hoover Calls for Big Budget Cuts—Von Papen Triumphs Over Reichstag.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

GREAT rejoicing among the Democrats, and corresponding dismay in the Republican camps, Maine, normally a rock-ribbed Republican state, has gone Democratic, and everyone is quoting the old adage: "As Maine goes, so goes the Nation." Whether or not that is true, this September election certainly gives immense encouragement to the supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Nor did the Hoover forces attempt to minimize its importance.

For the first time in 18 years Maine chose a Democrat for governor. He is Louis J. Brann, mayor of Lewiston, whose plurality over Burleigh Martin was nearly 1,400. The Democrats also elected two out of three congressmen, the victors being Edward C. Moran, Jr., Rockland insurance agent who twice ran for governor, and John G. Utterback, an automobile dealer who was once reform mayor of Bangor. Congressman Carroll L. Beedy, Republican, was re-elected in the First district.

Republican National Chairman Everett Sanders sent a reassuring telegram to President Hoover, but the Chief Executive was not to be deceived. His reply wire said: "The result of the election in Maine imposes need for renewed and stronger effort that the people may fully understand the issues at stake. We have known all along that, owing to the ravages of the world depression, our fight is a hard one; but we have a strong case and a right cause. Our task is to acquaint every man and woman in the country with the facts and issues which confront the nation."

"We are greatly disappointed," admitted Vice President Curtis. "But it will only make us work the harder, and we will carry Maine in November."

The Democratic Chairman Farley grinned exultantly as he said he was impatiently awaiting a Republican explanation of the Democratic victory in Maine.

"The Democrats do not concede a single state," he added. "I think it must be admitted by Mr. Hoover's supporters that in this particular commonwealth the Democratic prospects were no better, to put it mildly, than in the least promising (from our point of view) of the so-called doubtful states. Maine was no harder hit by the depression than the rest of the country and had no more reason to resent the evasive policies of the administration."

PRIMARIES were held in various states during the week. In Michigan Gov. Wilber M. Brucker, Republican, easily won renomination and Representatives Walcott and Person also were victors. The Democrats named W. A. Comstock for governor. Senators George H. Moses of New Hampshire and Porter Dale of Vermont were renominated by the Republicans, as was Senator E. D. Smith by the Democrats of South Carolina. Cole Blaise being rejected. In Louisiana Representative John H. Overton, friend of Senator Huey Long, defeated Senator Broussard, who sought renomination.

MR. HOOVER poked a stick into a hornet's nest when he made public the report of Attorney General William D. Mitchell on the bonus army and the regrettable incident of its ousting from Washington. Mitchell said his investigators found that most of the E. E. F. members were honest, earnest and law abiding, but that perhaps a quarter of them were criminals, many were radicals, many were arrant fakers, and the worst were among those who were evicted by troops with tear gas and flames. The attorney general defended the manner of eviction and the conduct of the troops used, and the President said: "This report should correct the many misstatements of fact as to this incident with which the country has been flooded."

But many newspapers and individuals, hotly discussing the report, declared it was misleading generally and absolutely false in certain vital parts; and it is a question whether it did not still further alienate a considerable part of the body of war veterans from support of the administration. Of course, it was one of the major topics of talk among the members of the American Legion when they assembled in Portland, Ore., for their annual convention.

Of greater importance to the Legionnaires than this affair was the demand for immediate cash payment of the bonus. The resolution calling for this was adopted by a vote of 1,167 to 109 after a noisy debate. The delegates thus disregarded the warning of President Hoover and General Hines, director of the veterans' bureau, that the payment would cost the treasury between two and two and one-half billion dollars and impose an intolerable burden on taxpayers.

Other resolutions adopted called for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and the immediate modification of the Volstead act, opposed cancellation of foreign war debts and favored adequate national defense. Chicago was selected for the 1933 convention, and Louis A. Johnson of Clarksburg, W. Va., was elected national commander.

HOW the problem of intergovernmental debts may best be solved is the puzzling question that is now being considered by a new organization of business leaders of the nation, seventy-six men prominent in industry, agriculture and labor.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, is the chairman, and the vice chairman include Henry A. Wallace, farm paper publisher of Des Moines; Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university; James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio; John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain; Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois; E. A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, and Louis Tabor, master of the National Grange.

Mr. Sloan's new forum, it is announced, will devote itself to "mobilizing practical opinion" on the international debts question.

PRESIDENT HOOVER started off the week well by calling on the heads of departments and the executives of all other federal activities to cut out all non-essentials from budget requests for the next fiscal year. The President said he had requested Director of the Budget Roop "to make every effort to secure a reduction of at least $500,000,000 in the estimates of appropriations for the next year from the appropriations made for the current year, and the co-operation of the responsible administrative officers is necessary to achieve this end. A part of this can be accomplished in reduction of construction, activities which have been so greatly speeded up during the past few years as an aid to employment."

From administration sources it was learned the President hoped the total budget reduction might be $800,000,000.

Just before sending his message to department heads, the President announced that the government would go ahead with that portion of the construction program which the relief act made contingent on the ability of the treasury to raise the necessary money. He said he had instructed the various departments to speed up the program by the amount of slightly less than $200,000,000.

On Tuesday the War department, to advance the government's employment relief efforts, approved a great construction program that calls for the expenditure of $41,577,260 on flood control and rivers and harbors projects. The department expects these activities will provide work for 25,000 persons now jobless.

THOUGH supported by only one-fifteenth of the reichstag, the government of Chancellor Von Papen of Germany remains in power, for it has the backing of President Von Hindenburg who seems to agree with the chancellor that parliamentary government in the reich is a failure. When the reichstag met Monday Von Papen tried to read the command for its dissolution given him by the president, but Herman Goering, the Nazi president of the parliament, refused to recognize him until after a vote of non-confidence in the government had been moved by a Nazi and carried by an overwhelming majority. Von Papen walked out, leaving the decree of dissolution on Goering's desk. That gentleman announced it was not valid since the reichstag had already overthrown the cabinet. Later he admitted that both the dissolution and the vote of non-confidence were legal, after being rebuked by the president for his action. Government officials said there would be new elections within sixty days, according to the constitution, but the Deutsches Zeitung, mouthpiece of the government, said: "There will be no new elections—no decision on a date of election is expected in the near future."

AS WAS forecast a week ago, France rejected the German demand for equality of armaments, though in a conciliatory way, asserting that the other allied nations and also the United States would have to assent to the proposal before it could be granted. Chancellor Von Papen thereupon announced that German delegates would not attend further sessions of the disarmament conference, which reassembled Wednesday.

FROM Riga comes the interesting statement that Josef Stalin, dictator of Soviet Russia, has lost his influence and before long will be replaced as secretary of the Communist party — by M. I. Kaganovich. This latter man, however, is a devoted disciple of Klem E. Voroshilov, commander of the Soviet armies, so it is taken for granted that Voroshilov will thereafter direct the policies of the Communist party and of the nation.

Stalin's reign, it is said, is being brought to a close because of failure of the five-year plan to industrialize the country, coupled with the growing shortage of food, which is causing workers everywhere to desert the industrial undertakings and return to the villages.

Another reason for the fall of the dictator is said to be Moscow's hope to obtain American recognition by a radical change of internal policy. Voroshilov is anxious to obtain America as an ally against Japan, whose plans, Russians fear, threaten Siberia.

MANCHOUKUO, the "independent" state set up by Japan in Manchuria, is now a full-fledged nation for Japan gave it recognition by signing a protocol Thursday at Changchun, which city was renamed Hsiching, meaning "New Capital." There was great rejoicing in Tokyo and a display of intense resentment in Chinese cities.

CHILE narrowly escaped another revolution during the week. A military clique led by Col. Arturo Benitez, air force commander, served notice on Carlos Davila, the Socialist President and former ambassador to Washington, that unless he resigned the Presidential palace would be bombed or attacked by troops. The clique already had forced the resignation of the cabinet, and the men and planes of the air corps gathered at Santiago ready for action. So Davila gracefully stepped down and out.

GATHERED in Sioux City for the purpose of considering the needs of the farmers, governors and other representatives of nine middle western states outlined a proposed federal program for financial aid to farmers. Among other things they suggested tariff revision to protect farm products, "sound" expansion of currency, Reconstruction Finance corporation loans to farmers, a moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures and crop surplus control legislation.

This program seemed fairly satisfactory to the farmers who were on "strike," and there was an immediate decrease in the picketing that had kept much farm produce out of several large cities, especially in Iowa.

FOR several days it was believed the "Flying Family," made up of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hutchinson, their two small daughters and a crew of four, had perished off the coast of Greenland on their flight by stages to Europe. Their huge amphibian plane was forced down and smashed in the ice, but all of them were found alive and unhurt in an Eskimo settlement and were taken to Angmagssalik by the British trawler Lord Talbot. The projected flight of the Hutchinsons over Greenland and Iceland was not approved by the Danish government, and the taking of the children has been severely criticized.

No Sore Thumb.

Tripping about as district governor of Rotary International, we spent part of last week in Michigan's thumb district where crops are fine and spirit good in spite of the fact that the area has had its full share of adversity. Belts pulled tight, they are looking forward to the very much better times that they believe are just around the corner. Crosswell, Bad Axe, Cass City and Caro were points of call.

At the meeting of the Crosswell Rotary Club, whom should we meet but Frances Jewell Rankin, known just as Frances Jewell in Alpena. She was our first county nurse. She is winning support for a county nursing service to be established by the Red Cross for a five-months' trial period in Sanilac county after which it is hoped that the county will maintain it, as we do in Alpena.

Karl Kinsey, secretary of the Rotary Club, is owner of the good hotel at Caro. He told us the hotel burned down several years ago. Before the embers were cold, before the sun had set that day, the people of Caro got together and placed a huge sign over the ruins: "This hotel will be rebuilt at once on this site." And they made good. You can't beat community spirit of that kind. At Caro, we enjoyed a visit with Spencer J. ("Cappie") Stewart, state highway department engineer, formerly here. He's well and happy, living in Port Huron.

At Bad Axe, they took us to a farmers' picnic being held in the evening, a new idea. Two thousand ruralites were guests of the community club. The farmers brought their own cake and the club furnished ice cream to go with it. They had a great evening of worry-chasing fun and it didn't cost anyone very much.

At Cass City, Dr. Sheldon B. Young, president of the Rotary Club, remembers Dayton Closser of Alpena as a classmate at Michigan State College. The good doctor is childless himself, but the pride of his heart is the Cass City High School, built in 1926 when he was president of the Board of Education. Somewhat smaller, but still fronting 250 feet on a shaded street, it reminds you much of the beautiful school at Petoskey. It is the heart of all community activities. Here again we sound a note of pride for Alpena, for it is Willis Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell of Alpena, who heads the agricultural department of the school and leads what is admittedly one of the greatest 4-H club projects in the country. Boys and girls come as far as 25 miles to attend the Cass City school. Campbell's 4-H club boys came back from the 1931 Michigan State Fair with $1600 in prize money. Their exhibits included five grand champions. Two of his boys took a carload of pure bred stock last year, trading and peddling their way to Texas and back. Willis is busy now helping his boys get three carloads of stock ready for display and competition at the State Fair next month. Cass City and its environs laugh at the depression, thanks largely to Willis Campbell, who has been there eleven years.—Alpena News of Aug. 22.
