Recovery Act Blue Eagle Becomes the National Bird—Code Making Continues—President Plans War on Kidnaping and Racketeering.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

H. S. Johnson

BLUE eagles of NRA by the hundred thousand are flying all over the United States; innumerable men and women, jobless for long, are going back to work; shorter hours and higher pay are being installed in factories, shops and offices. American commerce and industry is fast being regimented. President Roosevelt and his whole administration are pushing forward in the recovery campaign determinedly. Following out the President's program, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, has "drafted" citizens in all the states to lead the great drive. Nine members were appointed on each of 48 state "recovery boards," and seven members were named for service on 26 district "recovery boards" for the recently made codes. The telegraphic notice sent each of the former by General Johnson was:

"President Roosevelt has drafted you as one of the nine members of the state recovery board for the state of . . . as explained in bulletin No. 3 of July 20. He has requested you to volunteer your services without compensation in this great drive for national rehabilitation. As a member of this board your duties will be to get every patriotic American citizen, employer and consumer to co-operate in this program. Please give acceptance immediately, and you will receive further instructions."

The advisory board for public works is doing its part in the re-employment campaign by dealing out further large sums from the public works fund. Its head, Secretary of Interior Ickes, announced allotments totaling $118,282,000 for one state and five federal projects. Added to allotments already made, brought the total thus far earmarked out of the three billion three hundred million dollar fund to $1,068,166,201.

The state project to be financed by the government was beneficiary of the largest allotment. Sixty-three million dollars, Secretary Ickes announced, is allotted for construction of the Grand Coulee dam in the Columbia river basin.

The upper Mississippi 9-foot channel project, already approved by President Roosevelt, was allotted $11,500,000. This is a federal project to be undertaken under the government's rivers and harbors program.

Another $22,700,000 of the public works fund was earmarked for the Caspar-Alcova reclamation project in Wyoming, for many years the pet scheme of Senator John B. Kendrick of Wyoming.

The federal forest service was allotted $15,282,745; the coast and geologic survey, $2,600,000, and the geologic survey $2,500,000.

REPRESENTATIVES of the oil, coal, steel and many other industries were busy trying to agree on their codes in Washington. In each there were factions with conflicting ideas, and it was not easy to reconcile them. This was especially true of the oil men. Among them were many advocates of federal regulation of petroleum prices, but they were told by Administrator Johnson that he would not recommend to the President any price fixing until the effect of production control has been determined.

Formation of the coal code was complicated by the riotous strike in the mining zone of southwestern Pennsylvania. Thirty thousand miners were out and Governor Pinchot called out state troops to control the situation after a quarrel with a sheriff. The National Coal association, controlled by nonunionized operators, asked Administrator Johnson to look into the trouble in the strike region, and he designated Edward F. McGrady, labor adviser to N. R. A., to investigate the situation.

IN BOTH the coal and steel code discussions there was controversy over the open shop versus unions. The steel men took the open shop clause out of their proposed code to facilitate settlement, but they declared plainly that they would stand for the present systems of employees' councils in the industry to carry on collective bargaining.

Mr. Johnson said he would not approve any code that does not provide for advisory councils. On the old issue of how collective bargaining should be carried out, the administrator reiterated that N. R. A.

provides for collective bargaining through employees chosen by the workers.

Robert P. Lamont, former secretary of commerce and now president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, which represents 98 per cent of the country's producers of pig iron and steel ingots, was the chief spokesman for the iron and steel industry at the hearing. William Green, president of the A. F. L., challenged various sections of the offered code, especially the minimum wage and maximum hours provisions. Secretary of Labor Perkins, who had been making a tour of the Pennsylvania steel mills, wanted the wage rates altered, especially criticizing the 25 and 27 cents minimum hourly rate set up for the southern and Birmingham districts.

Shortly afterwards Mr. Lamont announced the industry had agreed to raise the minimum pay in those two districts to 30 cents an hour.

Both Green and Miss Perkins urged that the 40 hour week would not bring about sufficient re-employment in the industry.

Defending the proposed code, Mr. Lamont said:

"It is estimated that on the basis of a 60 per cent rate of operations and a 40 hour week, substantially all the 49,738 employees who were not receiving work July 1, 1933, would be given employment. On less than a 40 hour week the industry positively could not operate the mills and meet any demands on them in excess of present production."

"The code establishes a minimum rate of 40 cents an hour for common labor in the Pittsburgh, Youngstown, north Ohio, Canton, Massillon, Cleveland, Detroit-Toledo, Chicago and Colorado districts. This rate is only 9 per cent less than the highest base rate paid during the last 11 years, where living costs were above the present level."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, continuing his vacation at his home in Hyde Park, N. Y., called into conference there Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley and discussed with him a plan to put all the force of the federal government into a campaign to wipe out the two great evils of kidnaping and racketeering. Professor Moley was then relieved temporarily from his departmental duties and placed at the head of a special survey to determine where and how the federal power can best be used as a weapon against the criminal. He is well fitted for this work, for he is an expert criminologist, was an adviser to the New York crime commissioner and is the author of numerous surveys of crime, notably in Ohio and Missouri.

As for racketeering, both the President and Moley see in the new recovery act the authority, which the federal government has heretofore lacked, to intervene in criminal cases involving business conduct. Until now, unless a criminal act infringed upon some specific federal statute, such as one of the postal laws or the internal revenue act or a law based on interstate commerce, the federal government had no means of jurisdiction.

In the past the anti-trust laws have prevented the smaller industries and business units from banding together. Such a condition provided a fertile field for the racketeers, for illegal combinations, and for violence.

The national recovery act, however, provides directly for the abrogation of the anti-trust laws in cases where they interfere with the working of the recovery program. Industry and business are forced into trade agreements. The federal government sanctions and imposes those agreements and any act in violation of such agreements or tending to destroy the effect of the recovery act is made a crime.

Against kidnaping, the President is counting on a super police force modeled in a general way on England's Scotland Yard, the postal regulations, the income tax law, and the recently enacted kidnaping statute.

Recent instances of kidnaping are familiar to all newspaper readers. The "snatchers" have received large sums for the release of their victims in several cases. The relatives of John O'Connell, Jr., of Albany, N. Y., paid $40,000 for his freedom, and the ransom of Charles Urschel, millionaire oil operator of Oklahoma City, is said to have been $200,000.

RESULTS shown by the civilian conservation corps are deemed so satisfactory by the administration that plans are being made to continue the experiment for another six months. Orders are to be sent out for the re-enlistment of all those who desire to go on with the work.

Enlistment is on a six months' basis. The first "hitch" expires in November. There are at present 310,575 men in the corps, including 25,000 former service men. The forestry army is located in 1,438 camps in all parts of the country. The cost to the government is approximately $20,000,000 a month.

SENATOR HUEY P. LONG'S arbitrary rule in Louisiana was seriously threatened when District Judge A. C. O'Donnell began an open court investigation into the election of last fall in which Long's gang is alleged to have resorted to fraud in order to win. The judge ordered fifteen election commissioners, arrested on charges of certifying to false returns, brought before him; and he granted permission to District Attorney Stanley to examine ballot boxes in open court. Governor O. K. Allen, a Long henchman, in trying to halt the investigation, had declared New Orleans under martial law, but revoked the order after eight soldiers had been detailed to guard the grand jury. The latter body appeared to be dominated by the Long crowd.

The United States senate committee announced it planned to resume its investigation of Louisiana elections within two months. The Times-Picayune called upon President Roosevelt to take note of "political racketeering" in Louisiana and not to overlook it in his "war on gangsters."

POLITICS and sugar are making the Cuban situation very difficult for the administration in Washington, and for Ambassador Sumner Welles. Though it was announced that the political situation on the island was clearing up, and though President Machado issued an amnesty proclamation, the troubles there are continuing. The Cuban people are in distress, the school teachers in Havana have been demonstrating because they are not paid, and the veterans of the war of independence undertook to hold a parade to call attention to their inability to collect their pensions. The old soldiers were attacked by police and severely beaten, right under the eyes of Mr. Welles, and it was reported the ambassador would demand that Machado revamp his cabinet and dismiss Gen. Alberto Herrera, the cause of much of the recent disturbance.

The Cuban ambassador in Washington is persistently demanding a larger import quota for Cuban sugar. This and this alone would make the island fairly prosperous and would lead to the subsidence of the political disorders.

At present the sugar conference has tentatively set Cuba's sugar exports to the United States at 1,700,000 short tons of raw and only 110,000 tons of refined. Ordinarily United States importation of Cuban refined sugar is about half a million tons.

THE apprehension of war between the United States and Japan, entertained by not a few Americans, is apparently felt in Japan also, despite official denials. The army and navy heads of the island empire have just submitted to the finance ministry estimates for the 1934-35 defense expenditures larger than any in previous history and 45 per cent greater than the appropriation for the current year. These estimates included 130,000,000 yen ($50,400,000 at current exchange rates) for new naval construction and 75,000,000 yen ($21,000,000) for modernization of capital ships.

The navy ministry asked for the fiscal year beginning next April 1 the sum of 680,000,000 yen ($190,400,000), which is 30 per cent more than the estimates of 1921-22, the largest previous estimates for the sea forces.

The combined Japanese fleet began preparations for maneuvers several hundred miles southeast of Tokyo, in which the major problem will be a battle with a hypothetical enemy. This will be preceded by a four-day defense of the Tokyo district against a sham aerial attack from the sea.

CHESTER S. LORD, who as managing editor of the New York Sun for nearly a quarter of a century was admired and loved by two generations of newspaper men, died at the age of eighty-three years, in his home in Garden City, N. Y. The "Boss," as one of his reporters once wrote, "was never known in all the years of his managing editorship to utter an unkind word to any man on the paper, no matter how humble his station."

ANDORRA, the little old republic in the Pyrenees, underwent a bloodless revolution, and the young people won the right of franchise, hitherto confined to the heads of families. The revolters were supported by the state council, and the authority of Andorra's two co-princes was defied. These co-princes are the bishop of Urgel in Spain and the head of the French state as represented by the prefect of Perpignan.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change. We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you.

By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable.

Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

Tuition Rates Lowered

Tuition rates in the Cass City High School have been reduced from $80 to $65 per annum. As the school district from which the non-resident pupil comes pays $60 of the annual tuition, this leaves but $5.00 for the pupil to meet. This is $2.50 per term, payable the first week of each term.

We have tried to meet the needs of a rural community by offering courses in the following fields: Home Economics, College Preparatory, Agriculture, and Commercial. The records of these departments speak for themselves and in spite of the times, the work offered this year will be of a larger scope and, we believe, still better. The teaching staff is an experienced one, each teacher having from two to twelve years in this school. All are college graduates trained in their respective fields. The teaching staff has NOT been reduced.

Our tuition rates have been lowered and terms made easy; the living costs in Cass City are the lowest in years; text books are cheap (few changes have been made the last few years and many used books are available); everything is in your favor to get that high school education now. Be ready and prepared for those better times when we get around the corner.

If you are interested in attending school and are concerned about a place to stay, the matter of your tuition, or getting necessary books and supplies, call and see the school officers. Perhaps any one of a number of arrangements can be made.

Address all inquiries to J. A. Sandham, President of Board of Education.

TRY IT... then watch the oil level!

ISO-VIS<sup>63</sup>D<sup>99</sup>

means fewer quarts between drains

Why shouldn't Iso-Vis "D" last longer? It forms no sludge to stick piston rings—even tends to loosen up rings already stuck by ordinary oils. And next to high speed, stuck rings are the most important cause of high oil consumption. The use of Iso-Vis "D" actually tends to reduce the oil requirements of even an old car. Start now to cut down your motor oil costs by draining the crankcase, flushing clean, and changing to Iso-Vis "D".

When a car looms above its field like that, there can't be any argument about it. It must be an all-round better buy. And that's exactly what Chevrolet offers you. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for August 13
HANNAH

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 1:9-22, 24-28; 2:1, 2.
 GOLDEN TEXT—Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain; but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. Prov. 31:30.
 PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Gift of Mothers.
 JUNIOR TOPIC—An Honored Mother.
 INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What We Owe to Our Mothers.
 YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Devout Motherhood.
 As indicated by the lesson committee, the lesson text practically covers chapters one and two of I Samuel. In order to get a full view of this unusual woman the salient features of these chapters should be made to stand out.
 I. Hannah's Sore Trial (1-18).
 Elkanah had two wives, in violation of God's law. God's primal thought for man was one wife only. Therefore, for Adam he made Eve. Hannah's sore trial grew out of jealousy which naturally springs up between two women, wives of one man. The violation of this law of God concerning marriage has always been attended with trouble. Since Hannah's name is mentioned first, we may legitimately infer that she was his first and lawful wife.
 II. Hannah Prays for a Son (1:9-18).
 She had the good sense to take her trouble to the Lord. Believers should do this even though the troubles result from sin.
 1. Her bitterness of soul (v. 10).
 Though Elkanah loved her and sought to lighten her burden, he was unable to bring to her heart the needed solace. Only in God can help be found sufficient to stay the soul in time of great trial.
 2. Her vow (v. 11).
 Hannah asked God for a son. In connection with her asking this gift from God, she vowed to give the child back to God. Samuel was therefore a Nazirite all the days of his life. Much can be expected of children born into the world under such circumstances.
 3. Hannah misjudged by Eli, the priest (vv. 12-16).
 The priest observing the motion of her lips and not hearing the sound of her voice concluded that she was intoxicated, demanded that she put away wine. She defended herself against this vicious inference, assuring Eli that in bitterness of soul she was pouring out her heart to God in prayer.
 Even good people may be too ready to impute evil motives to others. The devout Hannah must have been shocked and grieved that Eli should so unjustly accuse her. The Golden Rule should be applied in judging others.
 4. Hannah blessed by Eli (vv. 17, 18).
 Her explanation satisfied Eli, who in turn pronounced a blessing upon her, joining in prayer that God would grant her petition.
 III. Hannah Consecrates Samuel to the Lord (1:19-28).
 1. Her prayer answered (vv. 19, 20).
 So definitely did she realize that God had answered her prayer that she named the child Samuel, which means "asked of God."
 2. Samuel taken to Shiloh (vv. 20-24).
 Hannah refrained from going to the place of yearly sacrifice till Samuel was weaned.
 3. Samuel lent or returned to the Lord (vv. 25-28).
 According to her vow, she took Samuel at an early age to the sanctuary and gave him over to the charge of Eli, the priest, to minister therein. It is a beautiful sight to see Samuel in his tender years ministering before the Lord. Godly mothers will train their children for God's service. It was, no doubt, a trying experience for Hannah to part with her child. She dedicated him unto the Lord to the end of his life.
 IV. Hannah's Thanksgiving to God (chap. 2).
 1. She rejoiced in the Lord (vv. 1-10).
 So really God had answered her prayer and so definitely had she consecrated Samuel to the sacred service, that she wholeheartedly rejoiced in that she could give up her child in the service of the Lord. She declared that none was so holy as the Lord and that there was none other like unto the Lord. She realized that the Lord was almighty and that the blessings which had come to her were from him.
 2. Her love for Samuel (vv. 18, 19).
 This was expressed in the making with her own hands a coat for him and taking it to him from year to year as she went to Shiloh with her husband to worship the Lord.
 The priestly blessing upon Hannah and Elkanah (vv. 20, 21).
 The old priest highly prized the ministry of Samuel and expressed his appreciation by pronouncing a blessing upon his father and mother.

BUDGET SAVINGS LOST IN TANGLE OF OVERDRAFTS

Concluded from first page.
 Written into the 1933-1935 budget were wiped out by reason of the deficits created during the previous two-year period. Had there been no new taxes created and had there been no allocation of funds back to the counties and municipalities and schools as contemplated under the welfare and school aid bills, the state tax for 1933 would of necessity have been just about as it stood in 1931 except that the legislature for 1933 to 1935 made an honest effort to avoid a repetition of deficit-creating fiscal policy. In other words had the state continued to have operated on a property tax basis, and had the tax levy for 1933 been in the same amount as in 1931 and if all had been collected, Michigan would just about have climbed out of the red ink mire in which she has wallowed during the past several months.
Property Tax Broken Down.
 However the property tax system had broken down. The people of the state were virtually upon a taxpayers' strike. They had adopted a constitutional amendment to the effect that not to exceed 15 mills of tax could be levied against the assessed value of any property. Something had to be done. Not only was it necessary to create new revenues for state purposes, it was also deemed necessary to provide state money to help out local units of government in the relief of the destitute unemployed. Many local school districts also found it impossible to operate their public schools within the 15-mill tax limitation, and state aid seemed unavoidable.
 After months of discussion and debate and conflict of interest the straight three per cent retail sales tax was decided upon. This tax was estimated to yield about $32,000,000 annually. When all the demands upon the state treasury had been computed and all revenues from sources other than the sales tax had been estimated, it was found that not sufficient money was in sight to wipe out all the state property tax as the governor hoped. Consequently $3,500,000 was levied for the partial support of the university and Michigan State college, eight-tenths of a mill having been reserved by the state for just this possible emergency. This left then $16,600,000 as the possible revenues to be depended upon from mill tax, corporation taxes, insurance and other taxes, beer revenue and the receipt of delinquent taxes levied for previous years, the latter being estimated at $2,000,000. This $16,600,000 deducted from the total budget which including deficiencies amounted to $29,700,000, left $13,100,000 to come from the revenues to be derived from the retail sales tax.
 Cost of administration of the sales tax must be calculated and possible leakages in collection estimated, this bringing the probable revenues from the bill as drawn and then intended to be administered down to around $28,000,000 for the first year, possibly less. Adding the $13,100,000 to the $12,000,000 demanded for welfare and insisted upon by the federal authorities before a cent of federal aid would be promised, made a total of more than $25,000,000 to come from the sales tax revenues before anything could be made available for public school aid. The sales tax must yield more than $40,000,000 in order to assure the schools their full share of state aid as provided in the Sias-Thatcher act.
To Sum Up.
 To sum up, the 1933 state budget for actual current necessities amounts to $19,000,000 annually. Deficits which must be covered within the next year amount to $10,000,000, a total of $29,000,000 if the state was operated as under the old regime and no money was provided for diversion to local municipal units for school and welfare aid. With these two new demands included, the budget immediately jumps to $56,000,000 to which must also be added to get the grand total a sum no one as yet dares to estimate which will be required to administer the beer act, the sales tax act and other new state ventures.
 It is no wonder there is confusion of mind in respect to the budget and new taxes and deficits and new spending. "It's as clear as mud," one member was heard to remark to the director of the budget after a lengthy discussion and an attempted explanation.
The Administration Measure.
 The original administration bill providing for a gross sales and gross income tax was intended to yield from $45,000,000 to $60,000,000. The sum of $31,000,000 was expected from a three per cent sales tax upon the purchase of necessities by the public; $7,500,000 from a three per cent tax on personal services of doctors, lawyers, dentists, repairmen, plumbers, blacksmiths, cobblers, carpenters, painters, and every other individual in the state who holds himself out for service other than one who draws a salary; $5,500,000 from a three-tenths of one per cent tax on manufactured products.
 Imagine the great corporate industrial interests of the state having their state tax wiped away and their local taxes cut in the middle and more by the 15-mill limitation and then being taxed to the tune of only $55,500,000 under the proposed 3-10 of one per cent tax while the individual who bends over his bench to resole worn shoes, the motor mechanic who crawls around in the smear and grease and their co-laborers in other fields dig into their meager earnings of $7,500,000. The legislature rejected the manufacturer's tax, not in response to the lobby as charged but because members could not see the equity of such a tax and so agreed to leave them out along with the garage mechanic and the watch repair man until a better plan can be worked out.

Money Talks, in Prison From 2 Pigs, How Many? Flood, One Mile High Still the Wonder Crew

Today "money talks," even in prisons. The United States has summarily suspended a chaplain, Rev. James A. Ordning, and two guards, of Leavenworth prison, for making a gangster convict too comfortable. Mr. Terrence Druggan, the comfortable gangster, was first made a "trusty," then assigned to drive a truck. He drove the truck around town on various social errands, including a visit to a "lady friend."

Man "dressed in a little brief authority" with money in his pocket must be amused, if you want to get the money out of his pocket into yours.

When Sherman was marching to the sea, somebody marching with him stole two pigs from the estate of Jefferson Davis.

Capt. Thomas Jefferson Davis of our army has often told Lieut. John B. Sherman, grand-nephew of General Sherman, that something ought to be done about the pigs. Recently General Sherman's grand-nephew sent two pigs, nicely crated, to Captain Davis, and that matter is settled, almost, not quite.

Lieutenant Sherman has yet to learn what "interest" means.

Captain Davis says two pigs are not enough. He will have statisticians figure how many pigs the original two would amount to now, after 70 years, and calculates off-hand that the descendants of General Sherman will owe him 150,000,000 pigs at least.

Exciting news tells of a wall of water rushing into the city of Denver, following a cloudburst.

The damage, thanks to instant precautions, was comparatively slight, although considerable sections of the city were flooded.

Denver doubtless will erect concrete walls that will hereafter efficiently control "Cherry creek," so often a menace in pioneer days.

A flood in a city one mile above the level of the sea seems strange, but anything can happen anywhere.

The United States government is determined to make kidnaping dangerous for the kidnapers, and will carry on a relentless crusade against that and other gangster forms of crime.

In the fairy story, when something pleasant happens, the good fairy is always back of it, and it is in modern government.

The administration good fairy, Professor Moley, is to take charge of the anti-kidnaping campaign.

You consider how many things that man knows and two lines come back to you: And still they gaz'd and still the wonder grew That one small head could carry all he knew.

As it happens, Professor Moley, before becoming official pooh bah, had specialized in crime prevention, and no better man could have been chosen to worry the kidnapers.

Even the New York Stock exchange is on the mourners' bench, saying "I love Franklin D. Roosevelt, and I am going to be a better boy."

Mexico has a "revival of prosperity" plan. Plutarco Elias Calles, Mexico's "iron man" and former President, will have charge of the undertaking, running over six years.

This country is gratified by the statement that Mexico includes in its plans a trade agreement with the United States.

General Calles tells ten thousand Mexican workmen that the world is about to face a most serious crisis and that Mexico will co-operate fully with other American countries.

Hitler lets it be known that what he says he means. In Altona four "reds," convicted of attacks on Nazis, were beheaded. It seems strange, in these days of electric chairs and "lethal rooms," that kill criminals with gas, to think of cutting off a criminal's head.

And, strangest of all, the German headman does his work in "full evening dress"—swallow-tail coat, big open shirt front, white bow tie.

Hanna Anderson, twenty-six-year-old member of the Creek Indian tribe, after a life of drudgery, got word from the government that she had won a lawsuit over oil lands, and would receive accumulated moneys amounting to $1,050,000.

Many will suggest that the Creek lady will spend so much money foolishly, and perhaps she will, but not more foolishly than young white gentlemen that inherit similar sums.

Kraft Paper for Building A new thin, flexible insulating material consists of kraft paper faced on each side with waterproofing compound and bright metal foil. It is said to insulate to the same extent as 20 to 40 inches of concrete, to be fire-retardant, wind and vermin proof.
