

GIRL OF 13 IS FARM BARN FIRE HEROINE

A. Fort Lost Barn and Contents Saturday Valued at $12,500.

Fire destroyed one of the finest and best equipped farm barns in Tuscola county when lightning struck the building on the Alfred Fort farm, 4 1/2 miles north of Cass City, during the electrical storm Saturday night.

Besides the barn, there were destroyed 70 tons of hay, 700 bushels of oats, 230 bushels of barley, 344 bushels of wheat, 300 bushels of corn, 300 bushels of beans, 24 bushels of clover seed, grain drill, hay slings, cream separator, bottle capping machine and other dairy equipment, besides a purebred Jersey bull and a Beagle hound.

Heroic Deed of Girl of 13.

Clayton Hunt is the manager of the farm for Mr. Fort and he and his family occupy the farm residence. Kathleen Hunt, 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, was in the house with some younger children when the lightning struck the barn about eight o'clock Saturday night. She was partly undressed when she discovered the barn was on fire. She rushed to the telephone and sent out an alarm to neighbors and then ran to the barn in her bare feet and released 10 of the 13 cows of Mr. Fort's fine herd of Jerseys, fighting her way through the smoke and sparks. Audley Rawson was among the first of the neighbors to arrive on the scene and he freed the remainder of the cows and the horses. Kathleen is being praised on all sides for her heroic action.

Loss is $12,500.

Mr. Fort estimates his loss at $9,000 on the barn and $3,500 on the contents. Insurance of $5,500 was carried on the building and about $3,500 on the contents.

"The barn was the best equipped on which we carried insurance," said Frank Hegler, vice president of the Tuscola County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co., "and is the heaviest loss in the history of the company."

The barn was equipped with a tank large enough to supply water for 40 head of cattle for three days, individual drinking and salt cups for live stock, all steel stanchions, ventilators and lightning rods and modern dairy supplies.

130 Attend Reception at Evangelical Church

Over 130 gathered at the Evangelical church Tuesday night to attend a reception given by members of the congregation, welcoming the bride of the pastor and bidding adieu to Mrs. Seeger, a sister of Rev. Geo. Spitzer, who has been his housekeeper for the past two years in Bay City and Cass City.

An account of the marriage of Rev. Spitzer and Miss Alice Klump at Saginaw on Oct. 12 was printed in the Chronicle last week. Mrs. Spitzer was born in what is now the Evangelical parsonage, when her parents resided at Cass City, and where she now reigns as "parsonage queen." Her father, the late Frederick Klump, was the founder of the Cass City Chronicle in 1899.

The church basement was made attractive for Tuesday night with rugs, floor lamps and autumn decorations. Words of welcome to the bride were extended by Mrs. E. W. Kercher and the Misses Lena Joos and Katherine Joos, readings were given by the Misses Lucile and Alice Anthes and Lucile Bailey, and the following musical numbers were presented: Hawaiian guitar duet by Bert and Leonard Elliott, vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ricker, and a vocal trio by Leonard Elliott, Floyd Boulton and Bert Elliott. Lawrence Buehrly presided as chairman of the program.

Mrs. A. A. Ricker made the presentation speech when gifts were tendered Mrs. Spitzer and Mrs. Seeger. Both Mr. and Mrs. Spitzer responded with short talks. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

REDUCED PAYROLL BOOST IS EXPLODED

State Flooded with Departmental Self-praise Articles from Lansing.

Never before in the history of this nation has propaganda in such huge doses been administered to the reading and listening public. An American can scarcely pick up a newspaper that his eye does not rest on some glowing promise of relief which has emanated from some Washington bureau. To the same degree is the citizen of Michigan being regaled with publicity prepared at his own expense in some tax supported department, bureau or commission. Much of it is as far removed from the facts as the moon is above the sea.

Scarcely a department at Lansing can now claim immunity from the charge that paid publicists are eating up the revenues of the state poured in by a distressed and perplexed citizenry. Every newspaper office in Michigan is being virtually submerged under a barrage of colored publicity, all too much of which is finding its way into the public print and which is being taken at face value by a gullible public.

One of the latest attempts to deceive the public is to be found in a recent release to the press which purports to show a marked reduction in the number now on the public payrolls of

CASS CITY ON WAY TO THUMB TITLE

Caro High School Proves No Match for Hilltoppers, Losing 45-0.

By Lewis Pinney.

Caro high school received its worst beating in years on Friday at the local gridiron. They were outplayed in every department of the game, and only fumbles and one inaccurate pass kept the score from being better than 75 for the Maroon and Grey. However, the county seat team did show an excellent defense, one arranged especially for the Cass City method of attack, and it was not until late in the second quarter that the locals were able to score. Then the fireworks started.

On the third play of the game, "Rus" Quick circled his own right end for 55 yards and over the goal line, but a Cass City man was off-side, so the locals made a minus 15 yards on the play. From here on until the middle of the second quarter, the Purple and Gold team halted nearly every Cass City play. Cass City's first score came only after a sustained drive of 78 yards with Clare Ballaugh finally scoring. Graham's place kick was blocked.

Caro fumbled on its own 30-yard line after the kick-off and Cass City recovered. In five plays the ball was on the two-yard line, but a Maroon and Grey fumble was recovered by Caro. With two minutes to play, Quick circled his own right end again for 24 yards and the second Cass City touchdown. Graham's kick was good for one point. Caro received the kick-off and bucked three times—stalling for time—then kicked to Dave Knight at mid field. Knight streaked between four Caro tacklers down the side line and was across the goal line without being touched by a Caro player. Graham's kick was wide. The gun ended the first half before the first play after the kick-off could be made. Score, Cass City 19, Caro 0.

Only a few plays after the opening kick-off, "Rus" Quick shot off tackle, reversed his field, and jogged the 45 yards for another score. A pass from Graham to Knight was good for the point. Caro, now set on trying to be the first team to score against Cass City's first team, rushed in McDurmon to pass. Knight intercepted one of these in Cass City's territory and raced 35 yards before being stopped. In four plays, Quick scored from the 12-yard line, and Graham's kick was good. The third period ended two plays later with Cass City leading 33-0.

Graham lateral passed to Kosanke on the first play of the final period, and the latter raced the remaining 30 yards and across the line, but a Cass City player held—and it was a minus 15 yards. Quick brought the ball 25 yards to the 18-yard line where Knight scored easily. A pass for extra point failed. Cass City received the kick-off, and in eight plays were again across the line. This time it was Knight again for the last 5 yards. Cass City failed to convert the extra point. This was the last scoring done in the game, but Cass City threatened twice more. Two of Graham's passes bounced out of receiver's hands over the goal line before the final gun was heard.

DRAIN BOND COM. OF FIVE IS NAMED

October Session of Tuscola County Supervisors Completed on Monday.

Supervisor Haas, chairman of the committee to make a contract with the Tuscola County Medical Association for the treatment of poor and needy citizens of Tuscola county, reported to the board of supervisors that the committee recommended that a contract be entered into with the society with the same provisions as last year's contract and that in addition the county pay for insulin, serums, x-rays, syphilis medicines and narcotics with the provision that these special costs shall not exceed $500 in a year. The board adopted the committee's recommendations. The contract with the medical society last year provided that the physicians of the society should receive $7,500.00 per annum to be equally divided among the members of the society in payment for medical and surgical work among the poor and needy residents of Tuscola county.

The supervisors appropriated $200.00 to the Eastern Michigan Tourist Association, but all members of the board expressed themselves as opposed to an appropriation of county funds for foul brood eradication among honey bees.

The Sebawaing River Drain bonds were the subject of several lengthy discussions by supervisors during the October sessions. Finally on Monday, the closing day of the session, Chairman Osburn was authorized by the board to appoint five supervisors to serve with the chairman on a committee who were given authority to act on any question pertaining to the Sebawaing River Drain bonds and interest. Supervisors Haas, Keinath, Hutchinson Dillon, and Rawson were appointed.

In their program to cut down expenses, the supervisors voted to pay no more for telephones in the court house than Caro business houses pay for similar service.

Superintendents of the poor and the county welfare director were authorized to turn over to the Soldiers' Relief Commission all cases of indigent soldiers and their dependents for investigation and work with them to the best interest of all concerned.

Mileage was fixed at 2 cents per mile for all distances travelled by supervisors in coming and returning to all sessions of the board.

Clerk Morrison read a communication from B. H. McComb, chairman of the county allocation board, suggesting that the deficit in the county budget set by that board and approved by the board of supervisors which will be caused by using the equalized valuation of 1933 be spread as a debt service county tax.

The recommendation of the printing committee that the minutes of the April, May, June and October sessions be printed in The Caro Advertiser, Cass City Chronicle and Vassar Pioneer-Times was adopted.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered James Osburn for the courteous and efficient manner in which he conducted the duties of his office as chairman of the board.

Hard to Distinguish Hawks

It is difficult for the novice to distinguish between the various hawks as they sail overhead. Some are slow flyers and sail along leisurely looking for rodents, frogs and other ground inhabiting creatures, while others, like the sharp-shinned sparrow and Cooper's hawks, show remarkable speed on the wing and waste little time when they are after food.

Bird's-Eye Maple

Bird's-eye maple may occur in maple growing in any part of the botanical range of the tree. Commercially, however, exploitation of maple for "bird's-eye" effects is limited in this country largely to upper Michigan and Wisconsin, and the Adirondacks in New York. Trees having a "bird's-eye" figure are not common. Fortunately, "bird's-eye" can be quite readily detected in maple timber by those familiar with the appearance of the affected trees.

BREEZES FROM THE HILL

By Elaine Turner.

One day last week I peeked in on the Kindergarten, who were peeling apples and cutting them up into one large kettle for applesauce. They plan to cook carrots sometime soon. It seems that the children believe in getting their cooking lessons early.

We all are more than satisfied with our football team since they ran all over Caro in the game last Thursday, piling up a score of 45 to 0. Because of our excellent standing in not having lost a game so far, we are headed for the Thumb championship. Today (Friday) we play at Sebewaing and the boys are going to do their very best to gain another victory for good old Cass City high. Won't you all try to go to the game and help us cheer them on to the winning end.

After the game last week, a homecoming party was given for Cass City Alumni and for Caro and Cass City high school students. This crisp autumn weather is having an effect on the younger students for on the playground they seem to play a little harder and their voices have lost their dreamy, summer tone. I have also noticed many brightly colored leaves, false faces and jack-o-lanterns going in to class rooms with them.

In American Literature class, we have just completed studying Edgar Allen Poe's life and his stories. The entire class seemed to enjoy the discussion. We are beginning the very interesting study of Nathaniel Hawthorne and his literary career.

The pupils and teachers wish to extend their deepest sympathy to Mr. Price because of his recent illness and the death of his mother.

Patents

The terms patent pending and patent applied for mean that an application for patent has been filed at the United States patent office, but the patent has not yet been granted. When the word patented is used it means that a patent has actually been granted.

First Eyeglasses

Eyeglasses were invented some time during the Thirteenth century. The circumstances and, for that matter, the name of the inventor are unknown. The credit is attributed by some to Alessandro di Spina, a monk of Florence, and by others to Roger Bacon, the English monk and philosopher.

About thirty attended the council fire fellowship for young people Sunday evening at the "South" river, just west of the railroad bridge. Some typical statements of E. Stanley Jones, world famous missionary and author, were quoted by Rev. Charles Bayless, who had charge of the meeting, in connection with the Bible study. One keynote utterance on the Christian missionary motive ran as follows: "There are three attitudes with which I cannot trust my disciples, says Jesus in Matt. 23. One is that of the self-appointed leader, another is that of the arrogant teacher, the other is that of the arbitrary father. But with the attitude of the humble sharing servant I can trust you, for 'He that is great among you shall serve' the best interests of others. Coming into a fellowship with Christ we find in ourselves an overmastering impulse to share Him with others. He has become life to us. We would share that life."

Because of the showing attempted to be made is quite in contrast with statements made by the writer in previous articles and because the showing attempted to be made is not in accordance with the true facts, this article is prepared to subject the alleged payroll report to at least a degree of analysis and scrutiny.

The casual reader will of course accept the contrasting totals and at once jump to the conclusion that considerable progress has been made in the matter of reducing payrolls. When the true facts are presented he will not rejoice to any great extent.

Highway Figures in Error.

According to the records of the highway department for June of 1931 on file in the office of the auditor general, department employees exclusive of laborers and mechanics engaged in actual construction work on force account number exactly 797. When Mr. Stack gives the number as 3,815 he must have taken the names of all employees, many working part time, out on the road doing shoveling, holding scrapers, ditching, spreading gravel and similar work. Never in the heyday of the department has the administrative and engineering forces numbered as high as a thousand. In June of 1932 the number employed on the administrative and engineering payrolls of the highway department stood at 763. At that date a number were being given work on half time in order that the work be divided and the maximum number be given at least living wage, this in an effort to avoid the actual discharge of many faithful and experienced men who had been with the department for years.

In 1926 when Mr. Stack states there were 2,006 employed there were actually on the department administrative and engineering payrolls considerably less than half that number notwithstanding construction work was at its peak and more than $30,000,000 a year was being expended for new highway work. In 1929 the expansion was still at full speed ahead. In 1932 the legislature called a halt on state trunk line extension and passed a law that beginning January 1, 1933 all the weight tax and a portion of the gas tax was to be sent back to the counties to aid in the paying off of bonded indebtedness and to aid the counties in maintaining their county road systems. This leaves less than $5,000,000 available in 1933 for new state work. Notwithstanding this a careful examination of the department administrative and engineering payrolls will disclose the presence of nearly as many administrators, engineers and supervisors in July of 1933 as on July 1932 when every effort was being put forth to bring the big program of former years to completion.

Car Ferries Shift.

Further than this the payroll of the Michigan State ferry between Mackinac City and St. Ignace has until the present year been carried as a part of the highway department payroll. It will be observed that this payroll is now being carried separately. This accounts for another boasted employee reduction of 112.

When the present payroll of the highway department is compared with those of former years when vast sums were being expended upon state construction and when it is remembered that very little state construction, outside of the little now being carried forward from federal funds, is not even contemplated, the payroll of 1933 appears inflated rather than deflated.

So much for the highway false claims department. How about the others? The health department is shown as having reduced its force by 33 since 1931. Practically all of this reduction was accomplished as the result of the special session of 1932 and in no wise is to be credited to any policies adopted by the present administration. The department of public safety was also reduced by action of the special session of 1932 and by drastic reductions in the amount appropriated by the 1933 legislature. This is a non-political organization like the department of health and such reductions as have been accomplished in these two divisions of government cannot under any circumstances be claimed as administrative accomplishments.

State Officials Responsible.

Suppose we turn now to the departments headed by elective state officers. There are six of these, namely, the executive office, the department of state, the state treasury, the auditor general's department, the attorney general's department, and the department of public instruction: Five of these are headed by democrats while the office of secretary of state is still presided over by a republican. Here the administration may take full credit for any economy but must bear full responsibility for any failure to economize.

If the reader will turn back to the schedule he will observe that the executive office is given credit for a drop of 18 since 1931 but if he inquires deeply he will learn that until 1933 there were 19 carried on the payroll of the executive office but now carried separately on payroll of the division of pardons and paroles. This slight correction places the executive staff of 1933 alongside the all-time high of 1929.

The number employed by the state treasurer remains unchanged since 1929 notwithstanding the staff since the bank holiday has been forced to carry a much heavier burden of clerical work than in any former year.

Changes in the laws covering the advertising and sale of delinquent tax lands should have resulted in considerable less work in the department of the auditor general. The tabulation issued by the auditor general shows a reduction of 21—but a careful examination will disclose the fact that 15 formerly carried on the auditor general's payroll have been slipped over on a separate payroll under the title of uniform accounting. In truth they are as much a part of the department as the inheritance tax examiners or the head bookkeeper. This leaves Mr. Stack with a reduction of exactly six when compared with the payroll of July, 1931, a percentage of .003. Due regard for economy would dictate a much greater reduction.

State Lawyers Multiply.

Back in 1926, Michigan prided itself on the character and prestige of its attorney general's department. The legal business of the state then required 23 lawyers. By 1929 this department had grown to number 44. In 1931 it had dropped to 34, but on July of 1933, according to the administration's own schedule, it had leaped to 52, more than twice the number required in 1926 and 18 more lawyers than were required in 1931. Exactly 24 more state lawyers are on the July 1933 payroll of the attorney general than are shown by the July, 1932, payroll one year ago.

Good Showing.

The superintendent of public instruction has reduced his force from 64 to 48, an exceedingly creditable showing, the salaries for the month dropping to $7248.09 as compared with $12,625.55 in July of 1931.

The department of state also made a good showing. No one is heard complaining of the service rendered by that department and none of its former duties have been abolished, yet the work was being done by 47 fewer employees than in July of 1933 than in July of 1931. The payroll costs the taxpayers $7,000 a month less in 1933 than it did two years ago.

The director of agriculture is one of these appointive officials who has taken on editorial work and each week issues a sheaf of bulletins intended to make the work of the newspaper editor much easier and to acquaint the public with the importance of his department and the great service being rendered. A recent bulletin issued to secretaries of county fairs called attention to the lesser number of employees as a reason why certain inspection services heretofore rendered could not be attempted this year. He asked the fair officials to do it for the department. Now comes the statement of the auditor general which discloses the fact that Mr. Metzger has more employees on the payroll than ever before in the history of the department.

19 More Janitors.

Then too, it takes 19 more janitors and watchmen to keep the state capitol in order than it did in 1931 according to the same report. The board of auditors has struggled along with seven employees since 1926 but in July, 1933, there were eight.

Newly created commissions certainly do grow with great rapidity once they sprout. Mushrooms have nothing on a board or commission once the fungus takes root. Four new agencies of government were created by the new deal last winter. The first month of the fiscal year the emergency welfare board charged with spending $12,000,000 of state welfare money had a payroll of 30; the liquor control commission boasted of 184; the new public trust commission had 13 drawing pay; while the sales tax commission was up and coming with 14 in July. On October 15 the payroll of the sales tax board showed a total of 110 employed in this new department, a jump of 96 in three months. This force is now eating into sales tax revenues to the tune of about $13,000 a month or $156,000 a year.

Tax Conferees.

On October 15, the sales tax administration board payroll shows a director at $4,000, his assistant at $3,600, an office manager at $3,000 and three conferees at $2,400. Conferees are something new, not elsewhere to be found. Their duties are not clear. There are 44 inspectors, all with expense sheets which take another big bite out of the sales tax plum.

When proper deductions are made to make up for payroll reductions for which the administration is in no wise responsible and proper additions are made to account for increases for which the administration is solely responsible, one is amazed that the state officials dare raise the issue of alleged economy.

CASS CITY IS ON WAY TO THUMB TITLE

man, cracked a rib in the game. It is not known just how serious the injury is, but it is certain to have a bearing on the remaining games. He could always be counted on for a few yards on a buck and was often seen taking out two opposing players in one play. But his greatest asset was his hard tackling when he was backing up the Cass City line. Fred Withey, local center, was also hurt, receiving a hip injury. Lloyd Donnelly replaced Fred in the second play of the game, and "Bud" was a great menace to Caro ball carriers. George Hillman, who replaced Ballaugh in the final quarter, showed he could buck the line, as he reeled off gains of 3 to 5 yards on each play.

Knight	RH.....Gornak
R. Quick	LH.....Allen
Ballaugh	FB.....Seeland
Cass City	0 19 14 12-45

Touchdowns—Ballaugh; R. Quick 3; Knight 3. Points after touchdowns—Graham 2 (place kicks); Knight (pass).

An interesting thing to note about this game is that during the last three games the Maroon and Grey have scored 109 points, while 110 points have been scored against Caro in its last three games.

By this victory, Cass City high school now has undisputed claim for the Tuscola county championship again for the second straight year. Caro and Vassar play today for the runner-up position.

Cass City is a heavy favorite to win the Thumb championship. Each team that the Maroon and Grey have yet to play have lost at least one game, but each will consider their season successful if they can defeat or tie Cass City. In other words, Sebawaing, Marlette, Pigeon and Bad Axe high schools are all practicing "to beat Cass City."

Today (Friday) the Maroon and Grey eleven play Sebawaing, last year's Thumb champs, at Sebawaing. Next Friday, they play at Marlette and on Nov. 10, they play at Pigeon. Then on Nov. 17, Bad Axe will be played at Cass City. If you would like to see as good a team as Cass City ever had, attend at least one of these games.

CHILD PROBLEMS DISCUSSED AT SAGINAW THURSDAY

Several problems relating to the child and the home were discussed at the Presbyterian Field Day held in Saginaw Thursday.

In the forenoon meeting, the discussion was taken up in three steps: 1.—The ideal home and the problems confronting it. 2.—The evils that make the question such a problem. 3.—The problems confronting the church in trying to overcome these evils and the solution to the problems.

In the afternoon, the problems of the youth today and their Christian solution was discussed. Dr. Forrer, pastor of the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian church of Detroit, gave a very interesting and inspiring address on "The Print of the Nails" at the evening meeting. Those from Cass City who attended the meetings Thursday were

Rev. P. J. Allured, J. L. Cathcart, Mrs. Henrietta Rowley and Miss Myrl Rowley.

Pirates Still in Game

The China coast is the greatest remaining center of pirate operations, while they also operate off the north of Africa. The principal depredations in Chinese waters are around the Bias bay regions, where coastwise trade is the chief sufferer.

Animals and Electricity
Writing for Everybody's Magazine, a biologist confesses, "Why some fish should be capable of generating electricity is a mystery, because no animals or birds can do so, nor can any reptiles. All we know is that they do, and that they use their deadly power to keep their foes at bay and also as a weapon of offense."

BETHEL GROUP HAVE FIRST HOME MANAGEMENT LESSON

The Bethel Group of Home Extension work met at the home of Mrs. T. Herron Tuesday, Oct. 16, for their first lesson in Home Management.

The lesson was given by Mrs. Ray Hulbert, local leader. In the subject of good management in the home, the leader gave many helpful ideas on the proper way of keeping the home in a sanitary condition. Ventilation, disposal of garbage, washing dishes and proper handling of food in the home was discussed.

The fact to be a "good home-maker" rather than a "good house-keeper" was the new idea brought out in the lesson.

In the effort to be a good home-maker, the group was taught to be mindful of the health of the family, not forgetting to consider one's own self; also to see that the "head of the house" has a place in the home, where he too can feel at

Why the Sudden Change to Liquid Laxatives?

Doctors have always recognized the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be controlled.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is at all druggists. Member N. R. A.

ease, both physically and mentally.

The other leader, Mrs. John Doerr, gave demonstrations on making materials for cleaning, making wall paper cleaner, dustcloths, floor wax, crack filler, silver polish and a cleaner for leather was explained to the class.

In the year's work, the ladies of the group are expected to pass on the good things to their friends and help at least two on each lesson.
