Lesson for November 5 PAUL IN JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:1, 2, 22-31. GOLDEN TEXT—Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. II Cor. 3:17.

I. The Controversy in the Church at Antioch (vv. 1-5).

The occasion of the controversy was the return of Paul and Barnabas from their first missionary journey. Upon their return they gathered the church together and rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles.

II. The Deliberations of the Council (vv. 6-21).

1. Peter's address (vv. 6-11). He argued that God had borne witness of his acceptance of the Gentiles by giving his Holy Spirit unto them as unto the Jews (Acts 10:34-47).

2. Paul and Barnabas rehearse their experience (v. 12). They told how that God had set his seal of approval on their preaching of salvation by grace through faith apart from works, by the working of signs and wonders through them.

3. The argument of James (vv. 13-21). He showed how the truth declared by Peter harmonized with the prophecy of Amos (Amos 9:11-15). He made it clear that the reception of the Gentiles was not in conflict with God's plan, but in strict harmony therewith.

a. God would visit the Gentiles to take out from among them a people for his name (v. 14). This is what is now going on—the worldwide preaching of the gospel and the calling out of the church.

b. After the completion and removal of the church from the world, Israel as a nation will be converted and restored to their land with all its privileges by the Lord himself upon his return (vv. 16, 17a). The building again of the tabernacle of David means the restoration of the Davidic throne.

c. This will be followed by the conversion of the world through the agency of converted Israel (v. 17b, cf. Rom. 11-15). He showed that there is no conflict when the Scriptures are rightly divided.

d. James' proposition (vv. 19-21). His judgment was that the Gentiles should not be troubled with the things which were Jewish, but should be warned against the perils of heathenism, such as meat offering to idols, fornication, from things strangled, and from blood.

III. The Decision of the Council (vv. 22-29).

The mother church accepted the resolution offered by James and came to an unanimous agreement. They not only sent a letter stating the decision of the conference, but took the wise precaution to send influential men along with Paul and Barnabas to bear the same testimony by word of mouth.

IV. The Decision Delivered to the Church (vv. 30-35).

The church at Antioch was called together to hear this report. Its reading brought great rejoicing. Paul and Barnabas were now free to promote the great missionary work.

A. R. C. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTS NOV. 11

Concluded from page one. The greatest task ever undertaken by a relief agency in the history of private charity is drawing to a close with the final distribution of cotton clothing to more than five million families by the American Red Cross.

At the direction of the Congress, beginning eighteen months ago, the Red Cross undertook to control the wheat and cotton surpluses of the Farm Board into food and clothing for the unemployed and needy.

In the ensuing months the Red Cross converted 85,000,000 bushels of wheat into flour and bread and gave it to 5,803,000 families. The distribution was through 3,700 Red Cross chapters and hundreds of other charitable agencies.

The clothing—dresses, underwear, overalls, jumpers, sweaters and stockings for men, women and children, and even blankets and comforters—was distributed to 5,465,410 families.

More than 54,000,000 ready-made garments and 92,000,000 yards of cotton cloth were given to the needy. This clothing came from 844,000 bales of cotton.

The wheat distribution was concluded in June, 1933, and final distribution of cotton clothing is occurring in the fall months.

In handling these tasks voted to it by Congress, the Red Cross will expend from its own treasury $735,000. At the same time the organization carried on its regular program of disaster relief; of service to the veterans of all our wars; of educational and welfare work through the Junior Red Cross; of health education and public health nursing and of life saving and first aid.

Funds for this work come from the membership roll call the Red Cross chapters conduct from Amistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, when every one is invited to join the Red Cross and aid in this vital relief work.

Storing Vegetables Is Good Practice

Can Save Home Garden Crops Quicker, Cheaper Than Canning.

By A. E. Hutchins, Vegetable Specialist, Horticulture Division, University Farm.

Many home-grown vegetable crops can be stored successfully for a considerable length of time. This is especially true if the home garden has been so planned as to provide the right products at the right time. Storage pays in money saved, in satisfaction, and in convenience.

Where applicable, storage is a quicker, easier, and cheaper process than canning or drying, and is the only method of keeping certain vegetables. To insure reasonable success, however, storage must be properly done.

Proper storage conditions for the various crops is important and persons expecting to store vegetables should begin well in advance to prepare a place that will furnish the right conditions. In general, vegetables may be divided into four classes on the basis of their temperature, humidity, and air circulation requirements:

1. Those requiring low temperatures, moist conditions, with ample air circulation: celery, rhubarb, kohlrabi, leek, brussels sprouts, parsley, endive.

2. Those requiring low temperatures, moist conditions, with little air circulation: potatoes, beets, carrots, horseradish, parsnips, winter radish, rutabagas, turnips, salsify, and cabbage.

3. Those requiring low temperatures, dry conditions, and ample air circulation: onions and garlic. These should be stored in shallow trays or slatted crates.

4. Those requiring warmer temperatures, dry conditions, and ample air circulation: sweet potatoes, squashes, and pumpkins.

Salt, Other Chemicals Very Toxic to Swine

To the veterinarian it is well known that salt and certain other chemicals are very toxic to swine under certain conditions. Some of these conditions can be traced to unscientific compounds, especially when force fed. Moreover, such preparations are rarely necessary, especially where pigs have been farrowed in clean quarters, allowed free range of pasture and fed a well-balanced ration.

In certain sections of the country there are no doubt poisonous plants that cause considerable trouble, and in some cases a high mortality. Rickets, antritis, paralysis and similar conditions, can be prevented by proper feeding and care, and can be corrected by the administration of calcium and iodine in proper amounts. Paralysis of breeding sows is thought to be caused by an improper ration, and can usually be cured by the administration of iodine in some suitable form.

So-called milk fever in sows affects plethoric animals, especially if the quarters permit of little exercise and easy access to feed.

Produce Trucking Grows

The truck-to-market movement is showing steady increase, according to figures produced by the Department of Agriculture. Last year eight large center markets reported that the equivalent of 158,000 carloads of fruit and vegetables reached the market directly by truck, an increase of 22,000 over the previous year.

Corn Crib Capacity

In determining the size of corn cribs, it is common practice to figure on two and one-half cubic feet in storage space for each bushel of cleanly husked ear corn. To calculate the capacity of a crib in bushels of ear corn, multiply the volume in cubic feet of storage space by four and divide by ten. Snapped or jerked corn husks will reduce the capacity about one-fifth. A bushel of small grain or shelled corn occupies approximately one and one-fourth cubic feet of space.

Oils on the Farm

More than 2,125,000,000 gallons of petroleum fuels, including gasoline, kerosene and distillate, together with approximately 90,700,000 gallons of lubricating oils were used on farms in the United States in 1930, according to the bureau of agricultural engineering, United States Department of Agriculture. More than half of the fuel and lubricating oil, 1,240,500,000 and 46,500,000 gallons respectively, was used in automobiles. Automobiles consumed one quart of oil per 100 miles.

SEBEWAING DEFEAT IS FIFTH VICTORY

tuting for Rus Quick, crossed the Huron's goal line, and a pass, Graham to Knight, was good for the extra point. This was the first time that "Chick" had carried the ball for the Maroon and Grey all season and he scored! Coaches Kelley and Keppen sent in numerous substitutes at this time, and only one senior was seen in the line-up during the remainder of the period. Sebewaing, desperate, pulled a double reverse good for 20 yards, a pass for 15 and scored their third straight first down on the Maroon and Grey's 30-yard line. The "shock troops" held and Graham punted. Eberlein returned the punt 35 yards to the Cass City 28-yard line. Again the locals held and recovered on the 30-yard line. Four straight first downs brought the ball deep into Sebewaing territory as the half ended. Score—Cass City 19, Sebewaing 0.

The third period showed signs of a Cass City letdown. Time after time, double reverses, spinners, and passes by the Dutchmen brought the ball into Cass City territory. Graham's punts invariably sent the Huron's again deep into their own territory. Once Rus Quick recovered a fumbled lateral pass on the Sebewaing 11-yard line. Graham lost 12 yards on the first play, and on fourth down a pass into the end zone spoiled a local score. The quarter ended at this point.

After an exchange of punts, Sebewaing had the ball on their own 30-yard line. A sustained drive, featuring the hard running of Eberlein, the passing of Captain Ruebelt, and the efficient plunges by Lange brought the ball to the Cass City 4-yard line. The Maroon and Grey line held three times, but on the fourth try Eberlein scored from the one-foot line. The kick was wide. Towards the end of the game, Sebewaing was forced to punt from behind their goal line. The ball traveled only to the 21-yard line. Ballaugh made 5 yards, but before the next play could get started, the gun had ended the last Cass City scoring threat.

Knight, Quick, and Ward, as usual, along with Ballaugh and Kosanke were outstanding for the locals. Captain Ruebelt and Eberlein were the "power" of the Sebewaing team. Incidentally, the Sebewaing team was the scrappiest and most inspired team that the locals have played this season. They have been greatly underestimated, as their reverses, spinners, and passes proved to be the most "deadly" that Coach Kelley has seen all season. The locals have not to learn how to "mix" their plays, as did the Dutchmen, before they can again reach their top stride.

The line-ups and summary: Cass City Sebewaing Kosanke.....LE.....Runick McCallum.....LT.....Hornbacker Kelly.....LG.....Bock F. Withey.....C.....Kuisel C. Stafford.....RG.....Reithel B. Quick.....RT.....Gall Ward (c).....RE.....Kling Graham.....RQ.....Eberlein R. Point after touchdown—Knight (pass). Today the Maroon and Grey team journey to Marlette. Sandusky handed Marlette a 67-0 drubbing the week after they were defeated by Cass City but last year Cass City was four touchdowns better than Marlette, only to take a severe 13-0 defeat. Another letdown by the locals may be costly!

Wheat Production and Acreage Statements of Members of the Wheat Production Control Association of Tuscola County, State of Michigan

The following is a statement of the production and planted acreages of wheat in the years 1930-31-32 and planted acreage for 1933 of producers of Columbia, Elmwood, Ellington, Novesta, Koylton, Kingston, Elkland and Dayton, who have submitted applications for farm allotments. This publication is made in compliance with the regulations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. It is made so that a check may be made on all statements claims, and so that reports may be made to the county Wheat Production Control Association on any inaccuracies which may appear in the statements.

The allotment for this county has been definitely calculated from official records of the United States Department of Agriculture, and is 285,514 bushels. This is the total allotment for the county. Therefore, if any farmer receives a greater allotment than his past production warrants, he is thus depriving other farmers in this county of their just share.

Total production figures of those who apply for contracts, together with those who do not, must be consistent with the official county production as shown by the records of the United States Department of Agriculture. If the county totals are greater than the official totals, it will be necessary to make a downward adjustment.

Any person may make a confidential report if he finds any statement here which he believes to be inaccurate. Such reports should be made to the community or county Allotment Committee, either in writing or verbally. The reports will be strictly confidential. A farmer whose statements are said to be inaccurate will need to prove his production figures.

Farmers have been asked to furnish evidence of production and evidence of sale, such as thresherman's certificates, elevator certificates, or other records and receipts. Satisfactory evidence will be required of any farmer whose statement is questioned.

The following statements have been condensed to save space. "A" represents acres planted and "bu." represents bushels harvested. The "3-year average" represents the 3-year average acreage and production of 1930-32. Farmers should refer any questions regarding this publication to their Community Committee or the County Allotment Committee.

Signed, AUDLEY RAWSON, Chairman County Allotment Committee. S. A. NOBLE. WARREN MCGINNIS.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Copper is the big color for fall. The theater hat comes into its own. Black costume jewelry is the new idea.

Capelets of feathers are matched with hats. Peplum effects accent the two-piece idea. Velvet blouses are worn with cloth suits.

Tassels with jeweled tops are new trimming fabrics.

Hosiery With Buttonholes Is New and Practical Idea

Women who like to spend as little time as possible in dressing will like a brand new idea to simplify the underwear problem. New hosiery is made with buttonholes in the hems, and is held up by buttons on elastic tapes attached to the inside of a pantie or an all-in-one type of undergarment eliminating the need for a garter belt.

These new stockings may also be worn with your favorite corset or elastic girdle, too—the buttonholes are embroidered so that they prevent garter runs from starting, and they are so placed at the front and back of the stockings that they fasten at just the right points to keep the seam straight at the back of the leg.

It is a simple matter to get the correct length of fastening—there are two rows of buttonholes in the stocking hem—one near the top and one near the lower edge—and the elastic tapes inside the pantie made especially for these stockings are adjustable.

Rip Van Winkle Siestas There are numerous tales similar to the one about Rip Van Winkle, Epimenides, the Greek poet, was supposed to have slept 57 years. Such legends hang around the names of King Arthur, Charlemagne, Barbarossa, the Seven Sleepers of Ephesus, Tannhauser, Sebastian, Roderick, Peter Klaus, and many others.

Lightning Makes No Noise Lightning is an abrupt electric discharge of great magnitude through the air. It is not a sound of any kind. It produces thunder by suddenly heating the air along its path to a very high temperature, and thereby causing it to expand in an explosive manner.

Roman Exercise Discs Found Antiquarians have identified curious relics found by forestry workers on the old bowling green of Gwydyr chapel in Llunwrst, Wales, as disks used in exercising by Roman soldiers. They resemble quoits and were as popular among soldiers of ancient Rome as football is to soldiers of today.

Referendum Referendum has several meanings. It is a direct popular vote on a proposed measure. It is also a note from a diplomatic agent to his government, asking for instructions.

Kingdom of Prester John The Kingdom of Prester John has never been identified. He was supposed to have been a Christian king and priest living in the Middle Ages probably in Asia or Africa. Letters from this mysterious personage addressed to the Byzantine emperor or the pope were circulated, describing the inhabitants and wealth of the country.
