DEMOCRACY AND STRIKES.

People who enjoy living in a democracy might as well make up their minds to the fact that democracy's shortcomings have to be accepted along with its benefits.

But we need to recognize the fact that this sort of thing, costly and destructive as it is, nevertheless is one of the things we bargain for when we pin our faith to the democratic processes.

Russia has no strikes because there is not, strictly speaking, anyone for the workers to strike against except themselves.

The Italian worker can't strike because, if he does, he strikes against a government which will have no hesitation in bringing its iron hand down on his neck.

Under a democracy, neither of these solutions is possible. There must remain, then, an amount of freedom within which either the employer or the worker can, if he feels justified, precipitate industrial warfare.

We have a democracy and we mean to keep it—and our strikeless millennium will just have to wait until the whole industrial field is pervaded by the justice, the public spirit and the sense of responsibility which are, ultimately, democracy's greatest safeguards.

THAT WONDERFUL ADVERTISING.

A smartly dressed, smooth talking gentleman has dropped in to discuss a few matters with John Doe, the grocer.

"This advertising is something different," he tells the grocer. "You can't get it anywhere else.

But before signing here, there, or anywhere else, it might be smart to stop and ask yourself how anything that good escaped the men who spend millions of dollars yearly for advertising.

Men who spend millions for advertising also spend thousands to test their advertising and be sure that they are getting their money's worth.

General Motors, Henry Ford, the big oil refiners, department stores, and food men don't spend their money for advertising in home newspapers because they like the editorial policy or because they haven't been offered hundreds of schemes and novelties.

Gadget advertising has no place in the retailer's budget, unless he can afford to be more wasteful than the big boys.

HOMES IN PLACE OF WAR.

Several pages of the Congressional Record show just what the World War cost us in money and men without a single dollar or acre of land from the millions and millions of loot divided at the treaty of Versailles.

According to the best statistics obtainable, the World War cost 30,000,000 lives and $400,000,000,000 in property.

There will be more geniuses in the world when folks are not so easily satisfied. In our modern world Little Willie learns to thump out a few popular tunes on a piano or make a violin produce some tones that sound a little better than two tomcats fighting on a back-yard fence and then Little Willie rests on his laurels.

still have sufficient money to set aside a sum at five per cent interest which would pay for all time to come a $1,000 yearly salary each for an army of 125,000 teachers, and addition to this pay the same salary to each of an army of 125,000 nurses.

But what would the poor arment people do for a living—Star-Clipper, Traer, Ia.

SQUARE DEAL IN BUSINESS.

The long depression has been a severe test on small business as well as on large. The small business has the handicap of lack of elasticity in organization as well as lack of reserve which is generally available in large businesses.

Those small businesses which have survived the depression are obviously based on sound methods. They have been directed with intelligence. Above that and exceedingly important to their success, they have been on honest practice.

The business that does not consistently treat its customers with fairness must eventually find new customers or close its doors. Those who have been mistreated will not return.

Therefore, ethics in business in the long run pay dividends both in money and satisfaction. The man who creates and maintains a lasting business institution knows a feeling that is denied the dealer in sharp practice and short enterprise.

Business, to continue with success, must not only have intelligent management but it must have honesty. The depression has emphasized the value of the square deal.

HOSPITALIZATION.

One of the important questions facing authorities these days is hospitalization for folks unable to pay hospital bills. The American public has been educated to use hospitals.

Modern marvels of medicine and surgery should not be denied even the most humble, although, of course, abuses will have to be avoided. When a person is told that only an operation, a period of rest in a hospital, X-ray and other observations or special treatment will save a life or a life as a cripple, then it seems necessary to provide the remedy.

Education has been called the nation's biggest business. More than 25,000,000 pupils attend American schools, ranging in size from one-room shacks in distant country sides, to the magnificent stone structures in our major cities.

PROTECT THE NATION'S CHILDREN.

The nation owes these children a great responsibility—that of providing them with maximum protection from fire. The tragic records of the past show how badly we have failed in discharging that duty.

Past surveys have demonstrated that the average school is literally a fire-trap—and some of the newest and most expensive schools are as dangerous in this respect as those built thirty years ago.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters is considering a survey of schools throughout the United States, as a preparation for a general report on school properties, construction and equipment.

SATISFACTION.

There will be more geniuses in the world when folks are not so easily satisfied. In our modern world Little Willie learns to thump out a few popular tunes on a piano or make a violin produce some tones that sound a little better than two tomcats fighting on a back-yard fence and then Little Willie rests on his laurels.

All too often a merchant learns how to operate a store after a fashion and earn a moderate living. He curls up and takes it easy. New methods, advertising and scientific

To The Pioneer Woman

One hundred years ago, or more, or less, You braved the perils of a wilderness! You faced the hardships of a bleak frontier— Courageous, earnest, noble Pioneer!

Yours was the spirit humble, brave and free That guided well a nation's destiny; Yours was the fortitude and wholesome grace That made a cabin joy's abiding-place;

That grows more glorious from age to age, We voice our veneration for you here, Courageous, earnest, noble Pioneer!

selling of goods do not interest him.

A mechanic learns how to change a tire, clean a spark plug and grind valves. So he does such things and ekes out an existence.

The editor of one of largest magazines once told the writer: "You'd be surprised how many jobs there are at the top of any profession, jobs which are just waiting for a man who is qualified to come along and take charge of them."

In the schools of the country thousands of students get the groundwork for a complete musical education. But after school days are ended the trumpets rust, the piano grows dusty and the violin is silent.

Because it takes real work to go ahead, because a man or woman must devote many hours each day for years to practicing uninteresting scales before becoming a real artist.

When the people develop a thirst for real success there will be fewer jobs half-baked.

Anything worth doing is truly worth doing well. If we laid bricks we'd want to lay them neatly and well.

We could publish Wayne County News with half the energy and expense. But nothing is spared in maintaining the high standard set many years ago.

A pessimist is a former optimist who lost his money backing his optimism.

The fine thing about your job is that it offers a new adventure every day—if you look at it that way.

The experts who declare that American life is moving in cycles are just adopting a more comforting way of saying we are running around in circles.

Reading of some magazines makes one wonder what kind of stuff the editor rejected.

DINING SERVICE

DEAR Mrs. Post: While dining in the house of a stranger the other night I noticed that her waitress brought in a dessert plate with a fine lace doily on it and on top of that a finger bowl.

Answer: I don't think I understand your question. I don't see how the cake could possibly come in contact with the doily.

My dear Mrs. Post: (1) How does one remove watermelon seeds from the mouth at table? (2) A friend told me that tablespoons are not the real serving spoons.

Answer: (1) Remove all that you can with the fruit knife and fork, before lifting a piece to the mouth, and any seeds left in the fruit are removed between thumb and finger, or dropped into the cupped hand.

RURAL SCHOOLS

PAUL SCHOOL.

Eva Marble, teacher. We had quite a large crowd for the first P. T. A. meeting Wednesday night, September 26, considering the stormy night. The first, second and third graders are listening to a very interesting story for language. The name of the story is "Billy Woodchuck," by Scott Bailey. The fifth graders have a store. It is to help them learn how to make change. The seventh graders are reviewing division of decimals for arithmetic. The following had perfect attendance for the month of September: Donald DeLong, Betty Hower, Alfred Sealey, Pauline Anthes, Josephine Kloc, Thelma Sickler, Alice Anthes, Clara Sealey and "Bud" Sickler. Our percentage of attendance for the month was 95.4%. The following received an average A in spelling: Thelma Sickler, Josephine Kloc, Emmett Dalton, Alice Dalton, "Bud" Sickler and Gordon Anthes. We had a spell down on Friday afternoon. Virginia Koch was one captain and Alice Anthes the other one. Alice's side won. "Bud" Sickler, reporter.

RESCUE SCHOOL.

Teacher, Catherine MacLachlan. Reporter, Roy J. Martin. Memory Gem. "This world that we're a living in is mighty hard to beat; You get a thorn with every rose, But aren't the roses sweet?" — Frank L. Stanton. Our beginners are coming along fine in their new reading books. We had our monthly tests this week. Billy Delling is our new scholar. He is in the fourth grade. Those being neither tardy nor absent this month are: John, Justus and Theodore Ashmore, Marguerite Cummins, Edna Ellis, Isabel Martin, June and Melvin Martin and Billy Putman. Those on the honor roll are: Grace Ann Clemons, Marguerite Cummins, Elinore Eugene and Gladys Longuski, Isabel Martin, Marie and Roy Martin, June and Melvin Martin, Clifton Summers, Audrey Webster. We received two truckloads of coal Thursday. Fourth and fifth graders are studying the states and capitals for geography.

HERON SCHOOL.

Florence Slack, teacher. Madelyn Heron, reporter. He who is honest is noble, Whatever his fortune or birth. —Cary. The fourth grade are having lots of fun making boats for geography. They are interesting to look at. Miss Madelyn Heron and her father and sister spent Sunday evening at the Joe Youngs home near Owendale. The fifth, sixth and seventh grades are studying poems for language. Miss Charlotte Fay spent the week-end with Miss Marjorie Croft of Cass City. Misses Violet, Grace and Betty Brown spent Sunday with Miss Lulu Ashmore of Rescue. The monitors for the girls' cloakroom this week are Martell Guisbert and Betty Brown, and the boys, Clare Rawson. Miss Madelyn Heron and her father and sister spent Sunday with Jake Sparring near Bad Axe. Miss Slack attended the P. T. A. meeting at the Decker school on Wednesday evening. Dane and Martell Guisbert spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. Fred Hitchcock, in Kingston. The fourth grade are studying letter writing for language. The "Frisky Five" are painting ten little green chairs to go with our little green table. We hope they look nice when they are all finished. Miss Slack is reading us a very interesting book called "Rebels of the School," by Meade. Donald and Cecil Martin spent Sunday with their grandmother in Bad Axe. We will have an honor system this year with the following rules: 1. All keeping report cards clean will receive a red star on the honor chart. 2. All who have a "B" average will receive a blue star each month. 3. To have a "B" average one must have not more than one "C" on the card for said month. 4. To be on honor roll one must have nothing lower than a "B." Honor roll for first month: 8th grade—Nora Maharg, 5B, 1A, Violet Brown, 5 B, 1A. Fourth grade—Bobby Day, 4B, 3A; Donald Doerr, 5B, 2A; First grade—Lorelei Doerr, 3A, 2B. We had only four people absent this month and our percentage is up to 98.6%. We are quite proud of it, but hope we can do better.

TANNER SCHOOL.

"Whenever a task is set for you, Don't idly sit and view it, Nor be content to wish it done; Begin at once and do it." We are glad to be back in school after our happy vacation. Several in the group have taken very interesting trips. There are 21 pupils enrolled.

Our room is kept attractive by flowers. The little folks have a great time playing in the new sand bin. The older folks spend their recesses and noon hours playing softball. We have two new balls. Clifford Robinson loaned his bat. The seventh and eight graders have a collection of weed seeds. They hope to be able to identify them in the grain and clover seed. The Nature study class is learning to identify the local trees. We have had interesting discussions about the grasshopper, walking stick, the bat, and the monarch butterfly. These specimens have been brought in by the pupils. We hope to keep the monarch butterfly alive. The flies were getting to be a big problem. Our director, Earl Hewitt, solved it by patenting a holder for the fly ribbon. We enjoy the Weekly Readers and Current Events very much. We find that we have improved in reading. James Hewitt modeled the Brazilian Clippe from clay. We were sorry to see him take it apart. It is almost time for our report cards. We are looking for good results. Mr. and Mrs. L. Johnson of Coleman called at our school this week. Visitors welcome. Reporter, Velma Bailey.

WRIGHT SCHOOL.

Teacher Hazel Hower. Reporter, Helen Joos. We had our monthly tests last week, and we received our report cards Monday. Our percent of attendance during September was 99.2. Those who were neither absent nor tardy were: Barbara Hoagland, Carleton Buehry, Ruth, Betty and James Tuckey, Leon, Lawrence and Lyle Holik, Paul Ellis, Helen Joos, Keith Buehry and Russell Striffler. In history, the eighth grade is studying about the period of colonization of America. The little people have learned some poems for language. Some of them were: "The Cow," "A Little Birdie," "Who Likes the Rain" and "The Woodpecker." Russell Striffler has a record of 100% in spelling every day of last month, and 100% on the test.

Harold Wallace of Caro visited at the Harold Chapin home Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Theron Henry have moved to the Freeman Clark house.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the right dose of a properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a more natural movement without any discomfort at the time, or after. The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys. Doctors are generally agreed that senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action. It gently helps the average person's constipated bowels until nature restores their regularity. You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store, ready for use.

DEATHS

Lafayette Sargent. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock from the Stillard Funeral Home in Royal Oak for Lafayette Sargent, who passed away suddenly early Sunday morning at his home in Royal Oak.

Mrs. Samuel Champion. The community was saddened Wednesday morning to learn of the death of Mrs. Samuel Champion. She had been ill all summer, gradually growing worse until Wednesday of last week when she was taken to Pleasant Home hospital, where she underwent an operation in hopes of improving her health.

Edith Blankley was born in Big Prairie, Ohio, and was united in marriage with Samuel Champion September 21, 1897, and has made her home in Cass City since that time.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon (Friday) at two o'clock from the home, on East Third street. Rev. P. J. Allured, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, will officiate and interment will be in Elkland cemetery.

Mrs. Champion is survived by her husband, three sons and one daughter, Clifton, Andrew and Mrs. Lyle Bardwell of Cass City and Frank Champion of St. Louis; two brothers and one sister, A. J. Blankley and Mrs. Bay Brown of Toledo, Ohio, and W. W. Blankley of Sylvania, Ohio, besides a host of friends.

Hugh Graham. Funeral services for Hugh Graham were held Thursday afternoon at 2:30, from the Presbyterian church in Bad Axe and burial was in Bad Axe cemetery.

Hugh Graham was born February 15, 1870, in Ontario. He has lived in Verona for fifty years and passed away Tuesday, October 2, at his farm home there, after an illness of two days.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Sheriff John A. Graham of Bad Axe and James A. Graham of Cass City; two daughters, Mrs. Lon Rapson and Miss Flossie Graham, both of Bad Axe; his father, Alex Graham, Port Huron; four brothers and two sisters, Alex, John, and Mrs. Wallace Marke of Bad Axe, Angus of Detroit, James and Mrs. Arthur Baldwin of Port Huron.

DEFORD

Marriage—Leland Lewis, son of Mrs. Carrie Lewis, was united in marriage with Miss Lillian Ertel, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Ertel, of Cass City, at a quiet wedding ceremony performed on Saturday at 8:30 p. m., at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Willard Fader, at Colling. Rev. R. Wilson of the Remington M. P. church performed the marriage ceremony. The groom was attended by Ernest Ertel and the bride was attended by Miss Alice Schultz of Colling. A wedding luncheon was served for the bridal pair and guests, after best wishes had been extended. The young people will make their home for the present at Deford.

Death Message—Our community was exceedingly sorry to learn of the death of Lafayette Sargent, who died at his home at Royal Oak on Sunday morning. Mr. Sargent died within 15 minutes after the first symptoms of illness caused by gas crowding the heart. He was 44 years of age. As a boy and young man and until about 10 years ago, his home was at Deford where he was united in marriage to Miss Nellie Rock, also of Deford. Mr. Sargent was employed at the Ford plant and was in his usual health on Saturday. Funeral services were held at Royal Oak Wednesday and burial was made in the cemetery at Royal Oak.

Beer Gets Body Blow—

Sandusky—Action on the beer question has been taken by two county cities and more is to follow in one instance, it was indicated Tuesday. The Sandusky council rejected the application of Lon Gordon, said to be from Port Huron, for a license to operate a tavern in the Frank Conlin building on East Sanilac avenue which has been pending for several weeks, and the Marlette council employed a special night watchman to quiet imbibers of brew and spirits in that south county town. Further developments, Mayor Schlichter stated, may be expected during the next 10 days. Opposition to the opening of a tavern at Sandusky materialized first because it was generally considered that two beer places were sufficient for a city of this size and second on the grounds that issuance of a license would have permitted the beer business to become rooted in a residential section.—Sandusky Republican-Tribune.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

By Home Economics Specialists Michigan State College

It pays to mind the methods of cooking when preparing foods to be included in the menu for their vitamin or mineral content value, according to home economics extension specialists of Michigan State College.

Some ways of cooking save the minerals and vitamins in vegetables, while other methods will partially or completely destroy the nutritional value of the foodstuffs.

Mineral salts in vegetables are not destroyed by heat, but they are readily soluble in water. If too much water is used when cooking these particular vegetables and then the cooking water is discarded, valuable food material is thrown away.

Calcium, the important bone building mineral, and iron, the blood builder, will dissolve in this manner. That is the reason food specialists advise cooking vegetables in very little water and serving the liquid with them in a sauce or gravy.

The hot-pack method is best for canning vegetables and most fruits so as to save the minerals by filling the cans with the liquid in which they have been precooked.

Saving vitamins is more complicated. No two behave exactly alike when they meet a combination of water, heat, and air, as in cooking and canning. Water dissolves some, while heat, that is long continued heat, has a bad effect on several, and oxygen in the air destroys still others.

Vitamin A isn't seriously affected by the cooking process, but both vitamins B and C are destroyed by heat and oxidation and are easily dissolved in water. Short, quick cooling at the boiling point or just below is advised by specialists to save as much of these vitamins as possible. The rule of cooking vegetables until just tender—no longer, is good for saving vitamins. Vitamin C is so easily destroyed by cooking, that the experts advise eating some vegetables or fruits raw daily. In winter, when the supply of fresh vegetables is not so plentiful, canned tomatoes will solve the problem of getting sufficient vitamin C in the diet, because they will provide it whether raw, cooked, or canned. Because tomatoes contain acid, they hold most of their vitamin C during both cooking and canning. Advertise it in the Chronicle.

Bees Had Bad Time To Hunt for Honey

Even the bees sat on their front door steps and talked about the weather which made it impossible for them to gather good stores of honey this summer, according to specialists in apiculture at Michigan State College.

The experts agree that the bees did not lose ambition and that they continued to send out scouts to locate nectar bearing plants but the task was hopeless and the honey supply will be only half of normal this year. Feed stores for the bees themselves will be short and many colonies must be fed before winter if they are to survive until spring.

The professor said to weigh the bees to find whether they need a pail of syrup. He failed to state whether bees are to be led or driven upon the scales but, as a hive is supposed to weigh 100 pounds if feed stores are sufficient, perhaps you weigh the colony on a dark night with the hive entrances plugged.

Syrup is made equal parts of sugar and water brought to the boiling point. Supply enough to each colony to bring the weight of the hive to 100 pounds.

Packing the hives with tar paper and wood shavings at a cost of 15c per colony will save $1.20 worth of honey during the winter. Cut lengths of yard-wide tar paper to make outer walls for the hive, tack laths over the bottom of the paper, and pour in enough shavings to make a two-inch blanket on the sides and an eight-inch on the top. Fold the top of the paper in and secure it with the hive top or with a cap of tar paper.

A windbreak for the apiary will save many colonies of bees in severe weather. The protection should be on the west and north sides of the colonies and the hives should face east or south. Packing should be completed by Thanksgiving Day.

Methods of feeding and packing bees will be discussed at a district meeting of the Michigan Beekeepers' Association to be held at the farm of Arthur Dodd, near Niles, October 10. The annual meeting of the association will be held at Saginaw, December 6 and 7.

PERSONAL LIQUIDITY

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

In these days of economic uncertainty the wise man sets his house in order. Waiting until a crisis arrives before planning for its possible occurrence has many times met with disastrous results. The man most likely to succeed is the one who is always prepared to embrace an opportunity. Such preparation requires years of education and training. Who ever heard of a man waiting until a job turned up before he got himself prepared to take it? By the time he had completed that preparation some other person would doubtless have spent years in successful work at that particular task. Does it not seem strange that so few persons prepare for emergencies or opportunities? When caught unawares in a financial difficulty we need sufficient reserve strength to weather the storm. There is a liquidity of moral and intellectual resources as well as financial. We emphasize the latter, but too frequently forget the former.

Liquidity of moral values means a reserve power ready to meet any moral crisis. Thus fortified no person can be caught off guard. No temptation can assail one greater than he can bear. Many persons convicted of crime have confessed that had they taken time to think the matter over, the crime would not have been committed. No crime is instantly born. It is the result of a long series of temptations each one stronger than the previous attack; without proper restraining power. With sufficient financial liquidity a bank can successfully withstand any "run." Its reserves enable it to weather the storm. The man with sufficient moral liquidity is not likely to go wrong.

There is also a liquidity of spiritual forces which needs serious consideration these days. Life is uncertain at best. Not only may the rich man of today become the poor man of tomorrow, but the most healthy man of today may be "absent" from us tomorrow. With this uncertainty staring us in the face how many are seriously prepared to meet it?

We set our house in order by preparing for the inevitable in the form of adequate life insurance and other means with which to meet the financial problem. What do we do about the moral and spiritual?

TEST NEW 'AEROBOT' TO AID IN FLYING

Device Is Called Great Factor of Safety.

Los Angeles, Calif.—Elimination of that dangerous factor in flying—the human element—seemed nearer recently following demonstration of the "aerobot."

Hailed by no less an authority than Art Goebel, trans-Pacific flyer and speed pilot, as "one of the greatest developments in the history of aviation," the "iron pilot" promises to become an important safety factor in peace and a mighty destructive weapon in war.

The invention of George De Beeson and developed at the Korman laboratories in Glendale, the "aerobot" is nothing more than a one-foot square metal box, inside of which is an intricate nest of levers designed to hold a plane on a true course, bank it, raise or lower it—all with a superhuman sensitivity to adverse air conditions.

War-time possibilities of the invention were explained by Korman, who said it was entirely possible with the use of the device to send up a plane loaded with explosives with no human aboard and direct its flight and attack by radio.

In transport flying, Korman and Goebel believe, the invention will immeasurably increase safety. Goebel enthusiastically pointed out that, once the plane is in the air, the pilot can set the "iron mike" to work, and devote all his own time to radio sending and receiving and navigation (the instrument does not allow for wind drift, which must be calculated), and meanwhile the ship will be progressing under unerring control.

The "aerobot" works by a vacuum system of poised balances. There are three controls—rudder, elevators and ailerons.
