THE KENNEL MURDER CASE By S. S. Van Dine Copyright by W. H. Wright WNU Service

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Philo Vance, ex-pert in solving crime mysteries, is called in to investigate the supposed suicide of Archer Coe, wealthy col-lector of Chinese ceramics. District Attorney Markham has learned the circumstances over the telephone from Gamble, Coe's butler. Getting no response when he had knocked on his employer's bedroom door, Gamble said he had looked through the keyhole and had seen Coe seated, a revolver in his right hand and a bullet hole in his temple. The door was bolted from the inside. Mark-ham and Vance go to Coe's house in New York's 70s. They find Wrede, a friend of Coe's, there; also a Sig-nor Grassi, a guest. Sergeant Heath and Detective Hennessey burst in the door, revealing the death cham-ber. Coe is clothed in a dressing gown, but wears street shoes. Heath says it is a plain case of suicide. Vance says it is murder.

Vance says it is murder. CHAPTER II.—Hilda Lake, Coe's niece, says Coe deserved death—that he collected ceramics through un-fair means and incurred the enmity of Chinese; also that as her guar-dian he controlled her fortune and was parsimonious. Medical Exam-iner Doremus arrives and says sui-cide; then on being asked about certain mysterious features by Vance, he changes his mind. He declares Coe had been dead for hours when the bullet entered his head. It is found that Coe had been struck on the head and one of his ribs broken. Finally a small wound is found. The wound had bled in-ternally. Vance, from a closet, brings out a coat and waistcoat, with holes coinciding with Coe's wound abowout a coat and waistcoat, with holes coinciding with Coe's wound, show-ing Coe was fully dressed when he was stabbed. > "But that may be merely a coincidence," he returned after a moment. "In any event, no one in this house cared for dogs. There's never been one here. No member of this household brought that dog in, Markham. But had the dog got in by mistake. no member of the family would have hesitated to strike it.' "You think an outsider brought it in?" "No, that wouldn't be reasonable either." Vance frowned meditatively. "That's the strange thing about the dog's presence here. It was probably a terrible accident-a fatal miscalculation. That's why I'm so deuced interested. > AN EAR FOR PURITY OF SPEECH

DEAR Mrs. Post: Although I graduated from the University of X-with honors-and have excellent letters of personal recommendation from members of the faculty, I am unable to qualify for the position of instructor in an eastern college because of my voice and pronunciation. Both, I am told, are typical of the X section of our country, and seemingly displeasing to eastern prejudices. As a devoted reader of your column may I ask if you can possibly tell me what to do to acquire an attractive voice and pronunciation? I am intelligent, I think, and I am willing to go through any amount of intensive study if I only knew how to go about it.

Answer: The best advice I can give is to try to develop an acute ear for spoken sound. Every one knows what is meant by an ear for music, but very rarely does anyone emphasize the much greater importance of an ear for intonation, or the purity of the spoken vowel sounds. It seems to me that just as such naturalists and entomologists as William Hamilton Gibson and Henri Fabre have proved that not one pair of eyes in a million behold the romance and drama of insect life along every foot of counmile to a site beside the river where | try roadside, it is equally true that not one pair of ears in a million marshmallow roast. Telling of hear with precision the scale of spoken sound. And yet every child in the world has this exquisite sensitiveness, which grows each year less acute. Of course, I don't know whether we are as uncaringly deaf (as we are uncaringly blind to the insect life of the hedgerows) or whether at the end of babyhood our ears fail to hear clearly, just as our eyes at the end of middle age fail to see clearly.

As I have said, I can't think of better advice to give you than totry to HEAR. If you can hear the and a full round one, between a voice that comes down to rest onthe dominant note and one that hangs in the air; if you can hear the entire range of vowel sounds as clearly as a violinist hears musical notes, the chances are that your tongue will produce without effort what your ear exacts. © by Emily Post .- WNU Service.

Meaning of Schwarzwald

Schwarzwald is German for Black Forest; a mountainous region in southwestern Germany and a favorite resort for tourists. It embraces an area of some 1,800 square miles and is about 100 miles long and from 10 to 20 wide. It belies its title and is not all wooded but it does derive its name from the dark rue of the firs that grow in the region .- Pathfinder Magazine.

The Grasshopper Family The grasshopper, often called the locust, is distinguished from the true locust by its short, peaked head, long, slender "feelers" reaching backward, as long or longer than the body, and their slender build. The three well known species are the common meadow, the sword bearer and the lance-tailed.

Game of Caber

The game of caber is a competition rather than a game. A contestant grasps a log, balances one end of it against his chest, lifts the other end high in the air, takes a short run and heaves the log. The man who throws the log farthest wins.

birds should have the amount of mash they can eat in 15 minutes in the morning. In the evening the feed should be equal parts of cracked corn and wheat, as much as they will eat in 15 minutes. Later a range furnishing an abundance of succulent green feed is necessary if the capons are to grow rapidly. Rye grass, lespedeza, alfalfa, cowpeas, soybeans, and clovers are good. Scratch grain and plenty of water should be available at all times. About two ounces a day of laying mash should also be given for each bird.

Plenty of shade is necessary during the hot months. Portable summer range shelters provide an economic and suitable shelter. About 14 days of fattening are required to properly finish the capons.

Saved by new Vitamins of Cod Liver Óil in tasteless tablets.

Oil in tasteless tablets. Pounds of firm healthy flesh instead of bare scraggy bones! New vigor, vim and energy instead of tired listlessness! Steady, quiet nerves! That is what thousands of people are getting through scientists' latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its borrid, fishy taste or smell. • McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets', and they simply work wonders. A little boy of 8, seri-ously sick, got well and gained 10½ lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 3 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month. You simply must try McCoy's at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 3 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoy's -the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets' —approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Refuse all substitutes— insist on the original McCoy's--the there are none better.

Gluten Meal for Poultry Results of experiments at Cornell university indicate that corn gluten meal may be used to a considerable extent in poultry feeds, provided it is properly combined with other feeds. One-half the protein requirements of laying hens may well be made up of corn gluten feed, with the other half supplied by meat scrap. Hens fed in this way laid just as heavily as hens fed on rations containing meat scrap as the only source of protein. For growing chicks, gluten feed good results when combined gave with wheat middlings and wheat bran, along with 10 per cent dried skimmilk. If meat scrap were used, along with the gluten feed, the per cent of skimmilk could be reduced to 7.5. The chicks made good growth on rations of both types.

Shade for Poultry

In order to insure normal egg production from laying flocks and rapid growth of young birds during the hot months, some protection from the heat is necessary, according to a poultry authority writing in the Prairie Farmer. One of the cheapest and best means of supplying shade is through artificial shelters, made by driving stakes into the ground and making a cover of old feed sacks. The birds will eat more feed and drink more water if the feed hoppers and water troughs are kept in such places. In order to protect the young birds from the dangers of parasites and disease, the shelters should be moved every two weeks.

Kill Lice as They Hatch

The job of delousing a flock of birds really is two jobs. The first job is to kill the adult lice which are on the birds at the time treatment is given. The second job is the killing of the young lice as they hatch. Nicotine sulphate is so made up that it has plenty of reserve strength. Even after it has been on the roost for a long time it still serves as a destroyer of lice. Thus one finds that not only the older lice are killed, but the young lice are destroyed as they hatch out. and the flock is given a complete clean-up.

That exact evidence as to the origin of the nickname "gob" in connection with sailors of the U.S. navy is lacking, but the term was applied to the English coast guards many years ago. For a long time it has been the custom of vaudeville actors and musicians to mass in Tin Pan Alley. On Broadway, between Forty-sevon Forty-eighth street there are many booking agents. The vaude-villians and musicians would climb and finding no openings, would meet with their fellows down in the street and tell one another how good they were, how they wowed 'em out in Kalamazoo and had 'em rolling in the aisles in Keokuk. Coffee and cakes might be scarce with no prospect of becoming more plentiful soon, but it wasn't a had way to while away hours. Besides the breaks were bound to come. Instead of the breaks, the police came.

Complaints, mostly by women, caused the police to take action. on the stage, alleged that the unemployed actors and musicians insulted them as they passed. Merchants charged that they not only hid show windows but drove customers away from their doors. The actors and musicians objected to being hustled away--especially since they had no place to go. They argued that the Fourteenth amendment gave them the right to loaf wheresoever they chose so long as they were peaceable. But the police took a number of them to the station house and then into court.

* * * The magistrate before whom they were arraigned said he sympathized with them because of their lack of employment. But the law was the law and those complaints were serious. Thereupon, he found them all guilty and suspended sentence, adding, however, that they were within their rights in going to their agents but they must not congregate in the street. Now Tin Pan Alley isn't what it used to be since

JOB OF THE SCHOOLS.

The children trooping into the schoolhouses after their long vacation — what a colorful picture that, there was the firm belief that they make in their shiny new con clothes and with their bright eager faces. The shouts that split the air, and their irrepressible wrestlings and tumblings, how they tell of a tremendous alertness. These Actresses, some very well known children are capable of producing a marvelous advance in our country. The schools are like a mill that has to take all grades of material. If that mill must utilize defective wool, cotton, and leather, it won't turn out any first class product. The school is forced to take the industrious and the lazy, the willing and the unwilling. It is expected to turn out a uniform first class product of good citizens, which under existing conditions can't always be done.

Many of those growing minds are like young trees bent out of shape, which the good gardener may be able to straighten out. Innumerable children who made wrong start, are trained by devoted teachers to stand erect in the garden of life.

Genuine troupers, vince youth that only by toiling up they know every tank town in the country. Again quoting, while trouping, they have been dreaming of Broadway. They have arrived at last in a satirical aspect perhaps.

But no act gets more applause than another and if I am any judge, the applause is sincere.

Lesson for November 11

THE CHRISTIAN CITIZEN

LESSON TEXT-Galatians 5:13-26. GOLDEN TEXT-Then said Jesus unto him, Put up again thy sword into his place: for all they take the sword shall perish with the sword.—Matthew 26:52. PRIMARY TOPIC-Jesus' Law in

One Word. JUNIOR TOPIC-God's One Law.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC-How to Be a Peacemaker. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC-Thinking Peace Instead of War.

Doubtless the thought of the lesson committee was to take advantage of this memorial occasion and inculcate in the hearts of the youth the spirit of peace which grows out of a heart of love. It should be borne in mind that this value can only be a practical reality as the people are brought into a saving knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ. Love is the fruit of the Spirit made operative in the heart of the regenerate.

Paul, having shown in chapters three and four of the epistle that the believer is free from the law as a means of justification, in our present lesson makes the practical application of the doctrine. The divine method of doing away with war is to secure the regeneration of individuals.

I. Christian Freedom (vv. 13-15). 1. It is not an occasion to the flesh (v. 13). Liberty is not license. The notion that when one is free from the law he is free from constraint is wickedly erroneous. License of the flesh means not merely the indulgence of the fiesh in actual sinning, but in the expression of a self-centered life.

2. By love serve one another (vv. 13-15).

Freedom from the Mosaic law means slavery to the law of love. Love thus becomes the fulfillment of the law.

II. Walking in the Spirit (vv. 16-18).

This discloses the secret of how sing a special number. a life of service to another can be lived. Walking in the Spirit results in

1. Loving service to others (v. 13). 2. Victory over the flesh (vv. 16, 17).

By flesh is meant the corrupt nature of man expressing itself in the realm of sense and self. The renewed man has two natures, between which is going on a mortal conflict. The Christian must choose between good and evil. Notwithstanding the reality of this deadly conflict, victory is sure if one chooses the good.

111. The Works of the Flesh (vv. 19-21). By the works of the flesh is meant | ize an Epworth League.

Bags! Bags!

Dear Customer:

We wish to ask a small favor of you. Will you please go to your granary, barn, tool shed or any place you might have some sacks or bags and look over your stock. We have several thousand sacks and bags distributed in the vicinity of Cass City, probably only a few in a place, but taken all together it amounts to quite a lot.

Quite often when grains or beans are sent in, a few sacks or bags are taken home with screenings in. If you find any sacks or bags that have been borrowed from The Farm Produce Co., will you please make a Special effort to return them, even if it is only two or three.

We are glad to lend you the bags any time you need them, and all we ask is that you do not keep them any longer than necessary and return all of them even if they are dirty or torn. Thank you.

Eveready Prestone

The cost of anti-freeze protection cannot be measured by the price per gallon or the cost of the initial filling. The number of gallons required for complete protection as well as the lasting qualities of the protection must be considered.

The only correct basis of comparison is the TOTAL COST OF PROTECTION PER CAR for a whole anti-freeze season. The first expenditure for protection that must be renewed is, of course, only a part of the winter's anti-freeze cost. It is the total money expended by the car owner for an entire winter's protection that really determines the economical merits of an anti-freeze.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE-FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1934. AWAITING NEW DAY

ights of New York By L. L. STEVENSON

Fishing is far from being sport for the men of the beam trawlers that operate in the vicinity of New York. Some of the stout craft that tow the great nets-a beam keeps them open, hence the name-have power-operated equipment, which lightens the labors of the fishermen somewhat. But on many, the only power is that of human muscles. Once every hour the net is pulled aboard, a long and toilsome job and one requiring skill, since there is the possibility of losing a portion, if not all, of the As the net rises, it is catch. clamped shut carefully and as much rubbish as possible scraped off. Finally, when it has risen its length above the deck, with cascades of salt water pouring over the fishermen, a string is pulled and the catch pours out. Not until then do the fishermen know what luck they have had.

As quickly as possible, the net goes back into the ocean and the boat steams ahead another hour. The crew does not loaf, however, The catch has to be sorted. Varied is the take from the sea. There are evil-looking skates and blowfish, along with other "trash." There are green turtles, which eventually will make soup along Broadway. In fact, there are all sorts of marine life. Much of it is worthless and goes back overboard along with the rubbish scraped up by the net. The marketable fish are then cleaned and placed on ice. When that is done, it is time to haul in the net again. And so it goes hour after hour. * * *

Beam trawlers are accustomed to finding many strange things in their nets. In the days of prohibition, bottles were often part of the catch. Sometimes trinkets of various kinds are salvaged from the sea. But the crew of a trawler operating off the Rockaways recently had a real surprise. The net came in slowly and the captain reckoned that they had something more than a ton of fish. The catch wasn't fish, however. It was an airplane motor with a propeller attached, the whole weighing 3,000 pounds. The motor had been lost from a plane, which had crashed while being tested for the government.

While beam trawling is extremely hard work at all times of the year, in winter it is even more than that. Gales may blow, ice may cover lines, decks and even men, but fishing still goes on. Asked Capt. Charles Hanff, who commanded a beam trawler-the captain works right along with the crewfor many years, enough years in fact to send a son through college, why men chose such an arduous occupation: He replied that he didn't know-unless it was because didn't KHON they liked it! * * *

and pocketbook of a litigant of limited means. Difficulty is expected in drafting rules satisfactory in every part of such a varied nation, but those who urged the legislation believe that important results can be accomplished. The new rules in criminal procedure, adopted by the court shortly before it adjourned for the summer, deal with cases after conviction. Provision for Speed.

They include these provisions to speed apeals: Federal District judges must impose sentences without delay. A motion for new trial or arrest of judgment must be made in three days, except for newly discovered evidence, and in this case the limit is sixty days. An appeal shall be taken within ment of conviction. Clerks are directed to immediately notify the trial judge when an appeal is filed, so that the record can be promptly prepared.

Save in exceptional circumstances, the Appellate court must ing, for Miss Nellie Wills, who died set an appeal for argument not less suddenly Thursday evening, Nothan thirty days after filing the record of appeal. Preference shall be given in criminal cases in court of appeals. The Supreme court has in the past few years endeavored to set an example for the courts of the nation. It has disposed of criminal cases with exceptional rapidity, and at the end of each term of court has completed all cases that could be heard, and also has decided them.

In former years the high court often held a case two to four years before a decision was made.

They seem to be everywhere. Nothing escapes their attention. But to my mind, the meanest of them all were those who crashed the lines where 8-cent milk was being sold to those too poor to pay the regular retail price. Because of the chiselers, several thousand of the poor were unable to obtain milk badly needed for children. And a check also showed several thousand chiselers on the welfare rolls. There should be some special kind of punishment devised for such alleged human beings. For instance, they might be made to take the place of those they chiseled out of food.

For no reason at all, there comes into my mind at the moment the tale of the gentleman who attended one of those pent-house parties. Wandering out onto the terrace, he glanced down at adjacent apartments and what he saw interested him so that he borrowed a pair of field glasses from his host. Handing the leather case to a friend, he started a slow circuit of the terrace, the friend following with the case dangling from his neck. "What are you doing, anyway?' demanded another member of the party. "Oh," replied the case carrier, "I'm acting as caddy for a peeping Tom."

Romeo and Juliet Enter Lives of Young Russians Moscow. - Romeo and Juliet, Hamlet, King Lear and other Shakespearean characters are taking their places along with Marx and Engles in the literary diet of Soviet youth. For some years after the revolution, only the reading of books which accentuated "class consciousness," or gave technical instruction was encouraged by the state.

Storm Kills 500 Ducks

Ulysses, Kan.-More than 500 wild ducks were killed here recently by a dust storm. Earl Lytal and Jerry Sullivan found the fowls, which evidently had smothered in the thick dust that filled the air.

Texas Blends Beauty and Utility on Roads

Austin, Texas .- Landscaping the highways of Texas has been adopted as a permanent policy of the state highway commission, according to Gibb Gilchrist, chief engineer of that body. As a part of this beautification program the roads are being lined by rows of native trees and plants. In due time hundreds of miles of trunk highways of the state will have been converted into shady, flower-bedecked avenues, he said.

"Texas was the first state to evolve a purely utilitarian plan of roadside improvement," Mr. Gilchrist explained. "We are having our work done by our own maintenance department and the trees and plants are being dug up from 31. Texas fields and woods.'

One of the features of the im provements which are being made for the enjoyment of the traveling public is the establishment of roadside parks.
