

WHEAT ELECTION IN COUNTY SATURDAY

Ten Places Named to Register Growers' Attitude on Control Program.

All government wheat contract signers and anyone on a farm which grew wheat in either 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931 or 1932 should vote at one of the voting places next Saturday afternoon, May 25, sometime between 1:00 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. The purpose of this voting is to determine whether wheat growers desire that the government continue with their wheat control production program and benefit payments. Should the vote of the country be in favor of continuing it will mean that the wheat program will be revised for improvement and that new contracts will be prepared and presented to the farmers in plenty of time previous to the fall wheat program. Should the nation-wide vote show that farmers are not desirous of the program continuing it will mean that the benefit payments will continue for the present crop only. Farmers of Tuscola county have in the majority of cases received three checks to date in payment of the full benefits on 1933 and the first on the 1934 crop. More checks on the 1934 crops and the first on the 1935 will follow after the spring field compliance work. Final payment on the 1935 crop will be completed sometime during the coming winter.

Wheat growers may vote in one of the following places in charge of men formerly elected as local committeemen. It is extremely important that a good vote is had to get a correct impression of the majority wheat growers in Tuscola county.

Voting places and men in charge:
Millington, Warren McGinnis, High School.
Vassar, Grover Bates, Town Hall.
Caro, Lewis Gussell, Court House.
Reese, Carl Keinath, Township Office.
Fairgrove, Robert Davis, Town Hall.
Mayville, Alex Hunter, McIntyre Hardware.
Gagetown, Henry Dunn, Town Hall.
Kingston, B. B. Reavey, Jeffrey's Hardware.
Cass City, S. A. Noble, Town Hall.
Unionville, Herbert Irion, Town Hall.

Education a Help in Control of Insidious Disease

"For a number of years, we have had smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria, yellow fever, and Bubonic plague almost under positive control, and we shall never again have great epidemics of any of those diseases," said Dr. I. D. McCoy at the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday, who declared that venereal disease could be reduced in like proportions if the same earnest efforts were made to control it and the subject were brought out from behind closed doors, for the way to combat anything is to bring it out in the open.

The most insidious of venereal diseases attacks all organs of the body, is contracted and spread among innocent victims, and is the one and only disease known to man that is inherited. It has directly and indirectly cost more lives than any other disease; it ruins more families than any other affliction; it overflows our insane asylums; and the economic loss from this disease to the various nations of the world would stagger the imagination.

It is the sound opinion of conservative men that if the knowledge in the hands of the medical profession could be put to widespread use, this disease would dwindle in one generation from the unenviable position of the third great plague to the insignificance of yellow fever on the Isthmus of Panama, said the speaker.

The method of attack on this disease should be carried forward on two fronts. The one is by education in the homes, the schools, the Sunday School, luncheon clubs and civic organizations, and the other, said the doctor, is by the medical profession and their cooperation.

The Rotary club voted to appropriate $100 of its funds to the aid of crippled children.

HEARTWELL—EWALD.

Hugh Ewald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ewald of Coaling, and Miss Alice Heartwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Heartwell, of Akron were quietly married Saturday afternoon, May 18, at the Evangelical parsonage at Cass City, by Rev. G. A. Spitzer. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schriber, brother-in-law and sister of Miss Heartwell. The ring service was used.

The bride and bridesmaid were attired in blue crepe with white accessories.
A wedding supper was served at the Louis Schriber farm home, a mile north of Cass City. A wedding cake with blue tapers graced the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewald will make their home in Flint.

CARO AND MAYVILLE HERE MONDAY, TUESDAY

County Championship Hinges on Outcome of These Two Games.

By virtue of Tuesday's 13-3 victory over Fairgrove, the Maroon and Grey are still undefeated in the race for the county title. However, they must meet Vassar at Vassar Friday and then come home to meet the Caro aggregation next Monday afternoon. These two games, and especially the Caro contest, will determine the final champions of the county.

Against Fairgrove, the Hilltoppers combined 15 hits with 6 errors by the opposition to score in every inning but two. Ward led the Maroon attack with 4 safeties in 5 trips to the plate while the rest of the line-up followed his example and continued to pound the ball merrily throughout the afternoon. Fairgrove scored a run on two hits off the pitching of Hunter in the first two innings, and could touch Graham for 2 runs and 4 hits in the remaining seven frames. And these two runs crossed the plate when a bad peg to third base rolled out into left field. J. Adams, the pitcher, led the Fairgrove hitters, with two doubles in four at-bats.

Score by innings:
123 456 789 R H E
Fairgrove010 000 200—3 6 6
Cass City.....261 101 20x—13 15 4
Fairgrove—J. Adams and Yokutty. Cass City—Hunter, Graham and A. Reagh.

Saturday, Coach Kelly took his track athletes to Saginaw where they amassed 30 points but these were only enough to give them 3rd place. Clio and Oxford placed ahead of them. Tomorrow, Saturday is the state meet at Lansing and three Maroon men will be entered against the field. Reyes, Donnelly and Moore are the local athletes who will test their abilities against the pick of the state high schools.

Methodist Parish Has Annual Meeting

The annual business session of the Methodist Episcopal parish was held here Tuesday evening, May 21, with Supt. Frank M. Field of Port Huron, in the chair. Reports from various departments of the two churches on the parish were read and approved. The finances were reported in good shape, with the outlook for closing the conference-year with all claims met. The budget for the new fiscal year was reported and contained an increase in the amount guaranteed for ministerial support by both churches. Rev. Charles Bayless was invited to serve as the resident-minister for another year, by unanimous vote. Delegates to the laymen's conference at Bay City in June were confirmed. Fred Bigelow is the delegate; Mrs. William Profit is the reserve delegate.

AAA PAYS $68,000 TO TUSCOLA BEET GROWERS

Board of directors of control associations, factory representatives and extension workers gathered at the supervisors' room of the Tuscola county court house Wednesday to listen to C. R. Oviatt of the sugar section of the AAA as he outlined plans for compliance work in connection with the sugar beet production adjustment program.

A payment of $68,000 has been made to Tuscola county growers of the Caro sugar plant, which represents a dollar payment on each ton of the estimated sugar beet crop of 1934. Where growers have produced more than the estimated crop, the additional payment will come with the fall payment.

Committee of Three Are Planning for a Program in the Forenoon.

A Memorial Day program is being planned for Thursday, May 30, at the Elkland cemetery. An address and music numbers will be given in the forenoon, commencing at 10:30. It is expected that the Cass City Ladies' Band will give a half hour concert.

In the event of inclement weather, the program will be presented at the high school auditorium.

George W. West, village president, has appointed Rev. Charles Bayless, representing the Community club; Walter Mann, the Rotary club; and Cecil U. Brown, the village; as a committee on arrangements for the Memorial Day program.

Program at Church of Christ.
The churches of Novesta township will unite in preparing the program for Decoration Day which will be given at the Church of Christ on May 30 at 2:00 p. m.

Ball Game in Afternoon.
Cass City will have a baseball team in the Tuscola-Huron league this summer and has scheduled a game here between the home team and Caro for Decoration Day. The game is called at 3:00 p. m. I. Parsch is manager of the Cass City group and Leo Asher is the treasurer.

Miss Crawford, Bride of H. J. McComb

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Crawford of Novesta township on Saturday, May 18, at four o'clock when their daughter, Miss Mabel Lucile, became the bride of Mr. Harold J. McComb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McComb, of Cass City. The home was very pretty with decorations of pink and white. Rev. G. A. Spitzer, pastor of the Cass City Evangelical church, officiated.

The bride was attired in a gown of tea-rose crepe with white slippers and wore a corsage of pink and white sweet peas. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lessel Crawford, of Birmingham, who wore a lighter shade of rose crepe with white slippers and a corsage of pink and white sweet peas. Fay C. McComb attended his brother. Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served.

Only the immediate families of the happy couple and the groom's two grandmothers, Mrs. Harriet A. Fay, of Grant and Mrs. Louisa McComb, of Cass City were present at the wedding. Those from a distance who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crawford of Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Crawford and son, Danny, and Miss Lessel Crawford of Birmingham, Audley Walstead and Miss Irene McComb of Bay City.

Mr. and Mrs. McComb will make their home in Cass City where Mr. McComb is engaged in contract hauling.

A reception was held Saturday evening in the home of the groom's parents, on South Seeger street when ninety relatives and friends were present and spent a pleasant evening in music and cards. Refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. McComb received many lovely gifts. Among the guests at the reception were Mrs. Manley Fay and family of Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blades of Detroit, Miss Gladys Nicol of Lapeer, Miss Beatrice McCloy of Elkton, Alex Greenleaf of Chelsea, Mr. and Mrs. William Bullock and family, Miss Lulla Sadler and Charles Smith of Cumber.

SEVEN COUPLES PRESENTED WITH ANNIVERSARY CAKES

Henry Tate, manager of the Kroger Grocery at Cass City, delivered seven cakes to as many couples who are observing their 53rd wedding anniversary this year.

Kroger stores everywhere staged an elaborate "Birthday Party" in observance of the 53rd anniversary of the Kroger Grocery and Baking Company.

Couples who received cakes from the local Kroger store include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaven, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hartzell, Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Hiser, Mr. and Mrs. Orson Hendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Colwell, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Burse and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Schwadener.

NEWSPAPER CAMPAIGN ANNOUNCES NEW OIL

"More motor oil for less money" might be the title of the large advertising campaign which is now appearing in almost 1,000 newspapers. In publicizing its new Gulfube motor oil, a premium grade oil sold at 25c a quart, the Gulf Refining Company reports the facts to over twelve million readers. The latter learn that the lubricant, refined by Gulf's revolutionary Multi-sol Process, has practically all impurities "washed" away at no extra cost to the motorist.

In addition to the thousands of columns of newspaper space occupied by the Gulf Refining Company, extra miles of copy will appear at the behest of the 40,000 Gulf dealers located from Maine to Texas. These will go more into detail in advising car owners how to increase their mileage through the use of the new Gulfube and how this will give them quicker and easier starting in all kinds of weather.

MICHIGAN HAS SHARE IN BETTER BUSINESS

Increased Buying in South Benefits Manufacturing and Other Industries.

Michigan manufacturers had a substantial share in the increased purchases of southern farmers in the past year, according to Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

Waybills from four railroads in southeastern states show that shipments of furniture over those lines increased substantially in the period from July 1, 1933 to June 30, 1934 as compared with the corresponding 12-month period. Shipments of stoves and heaters grew from 6,251,271 pounds to 11,481,799 pounds. More than twice as many pounds of refrigerators went over the lines, and shipments of tables and chairs increased 1,010 per cent and 121 per cent, respectively.

Electrical appliances and woolen blankets were two other commodities which southern housewives bought in larger quantities.

Children shared in the new purchases with an increase in shipments of roller skates of more than 48,000 pounds. Purchase of toilet preparations for women were greater by 677,996 pounds.

Many other manufactured goods were bought in much larger quantities during the second year. The points of origin for all these shipments were in 16 northeastern states, one of which was Michigan.

Michigan has an interest not only in the state but also in lumber, iron, and wool used in manufacturing plants in other states. Increased buying of manufactured articles in any section of the country helps many lines of Michigan industry.

AKRON GIRLS HAVE BEST CLOTHING EXHIBITS

At a meeting of 4-H clubs at Caro Wednesday, clothing exhibits were judged by Miss Lolabelle Green, assistant state club leader. First place was awarded to Marie Metiva; 2nd, Elma Bushany; 3rd, Arline Harrington; and 4th to Nina Partlo and Mildred Hoyer. All these young ladies are from Akron. They will represent Tuscola county at the state contest at Lansing in August.

A meeting for instruction for canning and food preparation leaders was conducted Wednesday afternoon by Miss Green.

CORRESPONDENTS AND ADVERTISERS ASKED TO SEND EARLY COPY

Chronicle advertisers and correspondents are requested to send in their copy at least a day earlier for next week's number of the Chronicle because of the Memorial Day holiday.

It is planned to print the paper a day earlier and receipt of news and advertising copy a day or more ahead of the usual time will be greatly appreciated by the newspaper force.

LARGE GROUP ON LADIES' NIGHT

Rev. H. I. Voelker Gave Excellent Address on "Three Primary Relations."

Ladies' night of the Cass City Community club on Friday attracted the largest gathering of the monthly meetings of the club year and one of its best programs was presented. Two hundred forty enjoyed the fine dinner prepared by ladies of the Catholic church.

Rev. Fr. Wern, pastor of St. Pancratius and St. Columbkil churches, in a short talk, stressed the importance of a spirit of fellowship among denominations in community affairs. Rev. Fr. Anthony of the same parish was introduced as the newest paid-up member of the club. Rev. Paul J. Allured briefly told of the aims of the Christian Citizenship League.

The audience stood in silence for several moments as a tribute in loving memory of the life and passing of C. Wayne Price, past president of the club.

A delightful program of trio numbers by Miss Christina Schoonmaker, violinist, Miss Lelida Scott, violinist, and Miss Evelyn King, pianist, was greatly appreciated. The trio is remarkably well balanced. The young ladies are graduates of Olivet college, holding teaching fellowships as assistants in the music department of the college this year.

Frederick Pinney, representing the bankers' group who were responsible for the evening's program, introduced Rev. H. I. Voelker of Flint, a former minister in Cass City, as the speaker of the evening. His subject was "Three Primary Relations."

The speaker Friday evening emphasized three thoughts. It is the privilege of every citizen and also duty to be community, educationally, and spiritually minded. Every community has its problems, perils and opportunities. These can be met successfully only by an integrated citizenry. He commended the Community club in its ideals of tolerance, sympathy and strength.

Education, he said, consists in more than an accumulation or acquiring of facts; it is more than receiving the stamp of a certain school; it is a process that the individual undergoes which leads to beneficial activity. The finest of all arts is the art of living life well.

He said that no people ever found a purely intellectual education enough in itself. There must be a religious base, a spiritual element which will keep the social and governmental fabric from disintegrating. The soul of a nation dies without faith in God.

The Community club will resume its meetings next October when the farmers' group under the leadership of Lyle Koepfen will be responsible for the program.

Carrier Has One Sick Leave in 30 Years of Service

By Gagetown Correspondent.

Arthur O. Wood, rural mail carrier out of Gagetown for the past 30 years, is scheduled to retire on June 1, 1935, and Frank O. Jaynes, rural carrier out of Twining, will be transferred here. Mr. Wood, who has been a resident of Gagetown all his life, started carrying mail at the age of 19 years, first as substitute and a little later was appointed as regular carrier.

It was 30 years ago that Mr. Wood took the civil service examination and accepted the position as rural mail carrier, at a salary of $60.00 per month. The route then was 24 miles long and at that time there were four routes out of Gagetown. The routes have been consolidated and now there are only two.

In 1905 when Mr. Wood first carried mail, he had one horse and a double buggy and as the roads were very bad, especially in winter with a great deal of snow, and in fall and spring with a great deal of mud, with no good roads at that time, it took the greater part of the day to make the route, and sometimes part of the night. Later on, the double buggy was replaced by a one-horse mail wagon. This means of delivering mail was too slow for Mr. Wood so he purchased a motor cycle. In the later years, the roads, now nearly all gravel, were traveled by automobile in about three hours. The route has been 38 miles in length the past three years.

During his 30 years as carrier, Mr. Wood has had only one sick leave which was in 1934 when he injured his foot causing him to be confined to his home for ten days. "Art," as he is known to all, has been an efficient mail carrier, ever serving his patrons to the best of his ability. Mr. Wood, who is the father of twelve children, (two died in infancy), will be retired at $100.00 per month.

Mr. Wood has a 40 acre farm, 1 mile west and 1 1/4 miles north of Gagetown, and will devote some time to growing fruit and raising chickens. He has purchased 2,200 red raspberry and 1,200 strawberry plants.

JUSTICE MILLER OFFICIATES AT HIS FIRST MARRIAGE

Justice William Miller officiated at his first marriage ceremony on Thursday night, May 16, when he was called from Dreamland to join in matrimony Mr. Glen Collins of Deford and Miss Anna M. Beach of Mt. Morris. The marriage was witnessed by Clarence Merchant of Cass City and Miss Iva Karr of Gagetown and took place at the home of Mr. Miller.

CONDITIONS IMPROVE IN DAIRY INDUSTRY

Owners Have Chance to Get Back Money Spent for Feed and Labor.

Further evidence that Michigan dairymen are in an improved business position is furnished by the latest reports from state herd improvement association records which show that only one tested herd in four Michigan counties failed to return feed costs or more.

This does not mean that all of the owners of the herds were making a profit on their dairy enterprises, as feed costs are only about one-half of the total costs of milk production. It is apparent, however, that the higher receipts from sales of dairy products are enabling the owner of high class cows to be a little more optimistic.

Only two per cent of 12,186 cows tested were culled out because of low production during the month. This decrease in the culling rate is due to the fact that higher prices enable the border line cow to show greater returns for the feed and labor expended upon her.

Seven per cent of all the cows tested produced 50 pounds of butterfat last month. Cows of that quality enable their owners to buy feed without having heart failure.

Use of pasture will also enable dairymen to produce milk and milk products more cheaply than has been possible with the cows on dry turn to page 5, please

One Hundred Ladies Attend Library Tea

The year's activities of the Woman's Study club were climaxed Tuesday afternoon by a library tea at the spacious home of Mrs. M. D. Hartt, one mile west of Cass City. About one hundred ladies were in attendance and approximately $17.00 were added to the library fund. Mrs. Alice Nettleton and Mrs. R. A. McNamee presided at the tea table which was prettily decorated with cut flowers and lighted tapers.

During the business meeting annual reports were given by the various officers. It was voted to sell poppies for the benefit of disabled veterans with Mrs. Audley Kinnaird as chairman. Mrs. Joe Diaz was accepted as a new member.

After the business session, the following program of music was enjoyed: Piano solos, Mrs. Ethel McCoy; instrumental trios, Miss Lucy Wadsworth, Mrs. Raymond McCullough and Mrs. Ethel McCoy; and selections by the high school girls' glee club and the Treble Clef club.

At the close of the afternoon printed programs for the ensuing club year were distributed by Mrs. L. I. Wood, a member of the program committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. C. W. Price, Mrs. S. G. Benkelman, Mrs. G. A. Spitzer, Mrs. A. J. Knapp and Mrs. Robert Brown.

ELECTRIC LINES BEING EXTENDED EAST OF DEFORD

The Michigan Electric Power Co. is extending its electric lines from a point 1 1/2 miles east of Deford for 2 1/2 miles farther east. Work has commenced in placing the poles and a number of farm houses have been wired. It is expected that service will be started about June 1. It is reported that the following farmers will have electric lights in their homes: Charles Silverthorn, Clinton J. Bruce, Sil Pratt, John Kapral, Orville Wilson, John H. Pringle, Hazen Warner, Robert Horner, Martin Paladi and Harvey Palmateer.

TUSCOLA STUDENTS WIN IN NATIONAL TEST

Dorothy Holcomb and John Marshall Are Awarded Fountain Pens.

Two Tuscola county high school students, Dorothy Holcomb of Cass City and John Marshall of Kingston, are listed among the winners from Michigan in the fourth annual newspaper contest conducted by Scholastic, American high school weekly. Both will receive fountain pens as prizes.

More than 50,000 students from over 700 high schools were entered for the examination. The average score for all papers was under 40 and less than 10 per cent made a score of 65 or over.

To reach their prize winning marks of 76 for Mr. Marshall and 66 for Miss Holcomb, placing them among the select 13 top students in Michigan, the young people had to be familiar with such bits of information as the names of the Sha of Iran, the president of Uruguay, and the chairman of the London county council. Other facts demanded of them were the names of their own district leaders, mention of the essential weakness of the Townsend plan, the number of states with unemployment insurance and the probable cause of the next war.

There were only two students who made an hundred percent, and only ten percent of the 50,000 students who took the exam reached even the necessary 65 percent. In more than half of the 700 schools entered, not a single student reached that mark.

Miss Holcomb is a pupil of Miss Gertrude Hale, teacher of history and English in the Cass City high school.

Memorial Service Sunday Evening

Sunday evening, May 26, the annual union memorial service will be held in the Baptist church beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. Charles Bayless, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the sermon, using for his subject, "Hunger and Thirst."

Sunday evening, June 2, the union service will convene at the high school auditorium for the baccalaureate address.

Union Vacation School Planned

The fourth annual Community Daily Vacation Church School was planned at a meeting of the four resident ministers held at the Presbyterian manse Monday. A three-weeks' term from Monday, June 10, to Friday, June 28, inclusive was scheduled. Courses for children between the ages of 4 and 14 were outlined, following the standard grouping of Beginners (4, 5), Primary (6, 7, 8), Juniors (9, 10, 11), and Intermediate (12, 13, 14).

The courses for the various departments are: "Let's Go Out-of-Doors" (Beginners); "Exploring God's Out-of-Doors" (Primary); "Living in Our Community," with the emphasis on "being Christian neighbors" (Juniors); and "We All Need Each Other" (Intermediates). The subjects for study involve the use of the Bible, Christian hymns and poetry, simple materials gathered from the out-of-doors, and Christian biography. They are skillfully adapted to both the vacation-attitude of the children, and to their varying abilities in the different age-groups. The text-books for 1935 are those for the second part of a three-year plan, prepared by an inter-church commission of the International Council of Religious Education. Leaders in children's work have been recruited from all the major denominations for this highly important task. The Cass City vacation school in 1934 used part one of this standard material.

Application has been made to use the Cass City high school and grade school equipment as in previous seasons.

Bethel Church Plans a Home Coming

Bethel Methodist church is planning a home coming program for Friday, May 31, to celebrate their fifth anniversary. A family basket picnic will be held at noon and a program of reminiscence and greetings from former members and pastors will follow the dinner. Rev. John Yoeman, one time minister of the Grant church, has been invited to deliver the main address of the day. Further details will be announced next week.

Last Review of Northern Armies

THOUGH the designation of the thirtieth day of May as Memorial day is officially attributed to the general order issued in 1888 by Commander in Chief John A. Logan of the Grand Army of the Republic, there was a historical event that occurred in Washington three years previously which foreshadowed the custom, followed ever since Logan's proclamation, of setting aside a day "for the strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country." The South had already chosen May 30 for this purpose, observes a writer in the Kansas City Times, several of the Southern states having set aside this day for honoring their dead. But the grand spectacle of the last review of the Northern armies at Washington, which took place May 23 and 24, 1885, may be regarded as the first movement to pay honor to the living soldiers and to preserve the memories of their missing comrades who had died in defense of the Union. It was one of the most solemn and moving celebrations that Washington, or the nation, had ever witnessed. Thousands of eyes were dimmed with tears as the procession of veterans passed the reviewing stands, and hundreds of thousands throughout the land shed their tears by vacant firesides as they read the accounts of that last grand review.

In the pages of Harper's Weekly of that date, and in the reminiscences of Ben: Perley Poore, the veteran journalist, and other contemporary chroniclers, graphic accounts by eyewitnesses are given of the thrilling spectacle. The review was staged at one of the darkest moments of the nation's history. A month before Lincoln had been assassinated. At the very time the parade of the veterans was taking place, preparations were being made for the trial of Mrs. Surratt, Harold, Atzedot and Payne, charged in the Booth conspiracy, and at that time confined in the old penitentiary near the arsenal. Their trials be-on muskets already bright; musicians rehearsing some new march; little boys bracing up drums half as high as themselves; important adjutants riding to and fro to hurry up the formation of their respective regiments; elegantly attired aids de camp galloping like mad and endeavoring to avoid mud puddles; batteries thundering along. A few words from one man reduced confusion to order. When General Meade gave the order, "Forward," the apparent snarl of humanity and horses began to be unraveled in a single, unbroken line, and the column moved from the Capitol toward the reviewing stands along Pennsylvania avenue.

Few of those that marched in that great parade of veterans and first day of war memories are alive today. To most of us the names of those, captains and colonels and commanders, so glowingly mentioned by that old chronicler, mean but little. Other days, other wars and other heroes of wars. But it was a national thrill—an epochal thrill that last review of the armies of the Union. For five years the nation had been divided, millions had been under arms, hundreds of thousands slain and as many more disabled for life. For the first time the armies marched in peaceful review, glorying in the end, mindful of their battles and of those who fell in them. A month afterward, the general order disbanding the armies was given by Lieutenant General Grant. On June 1, 1865, the movement of disbandment began and from then on until the autumn of that year 786,000 officers and men were mustered out of service and returned to peaceful pursuits.

Grant's address to the army was a memorable one, Napoleonic in its eloquence and fervor. He said:

"Soldiers of the Army of the United States: By your patriotic devotion to your country in the hour of danger and alarm, your magnificent fighting, bravery and endurance, you have maintained the supremacy of the Union and the Constitution, overthrown all armed opposition to the enforcement of the laws and of the proclamation forever abolishing slavery—the cause and pretext of the rebellion—and opened the way for the rightful authorities to restore order and inaugurate peace on a permanent and enduring basis on every foot of American soil. "Your marches, sieges and battles, in distance, duration, resolution and brilliancy of results, dim the luster of the world's past military achievements, and will be the patriot's precedent in defense of liberty and right in all time to come. In obedience to your country's call, you left your homes and families, and volunteered in her defense. Victory has crowned your valor and secured the purposes of your patriotic hearts; and with the gratitude of your countrymen and the highest honors a great and free nation can accord, you will soon be permitted to return to your homes and families, conscious of having discharged the highest duties of American citizens. To achieve these glorious triumphs, tens of thousands of your gallant comrades have fallen and sealed the priceless legacy with their blood. The graves of these a grateful nation bedews with tears, honors their memory, and will ever cherish and support their stricken families."

Monument to the Vanquished

The United States government erected this monument to the memory of 3,384 Confederate soldiers and sailors who died while prisoners of war at Point Lookout, Md. An undetermined number of the unidentified dead prisoners are buried here. The bodies of others were shipped to their home states following the Civil war. The monument is located about four miles from Point Lookout, where, backed by evergreen trees, one may see beyond to the Potomac river.

Eating Their Breakfast Around the Bivouac Fires.

them all, by Johnson, the President of the United States, by his cabinet.

But the scene cannot be fitly depicted in the cold words of more than seventy years after. Let us recall the glowing words of eyewitnesses, Poore and others:

"The night before the grand review of the army of the Potomac was wet and dreary enough, but as day dawned the clouds disappeared and the scene in Maryland avenue, between the Long bridge and the Capitol, and the large plain east of that building, was warlike and interesting. Brigades marched at route steps; bivouac fires, around which groups were eating their breakfast; orderly sergeants insisting in very naughty but impressive language on the use of sandpaper

Largest Elevator Structures

Manhattan boasts the tallest and the largest elevator structures in the world, notes a writer in the New York Times. In the Empire State building a freight elevator travels 986 feet from the sub-basement to the eighty-sixth floor. In the Port Authority building an elevator with a carrying capacity of 40,000 tons lifts four loaded trucks. The platform of the elevator, 17 by 34 feet, stopped all traffic in the Hudson tunnel for two hours when it was carried through. It negotiated the tube with two feet to spare.

Thirty Million Miles of Ford Economy

MORE MILES. Faster miles. Greater economy . . . that is the story of the Ford V-8. There are conclusive figures from owners to show that it is the most economical Ford car ever built.

A particularly interesting and complete report of costs comes from a national fleet owner who has owned 854 Ford cars which have run more than thirty million miles in business use.

175 were Model T Fords which were run 5,017,075 miles. 599 were Model A Ford cars which were run 24,041,632 miles. 80 are Ford V-8 cars which have been run 2,982,886 miles.

This owner's cost records show that Ford V-8 cars cost 12% less to operate than the Model A Fords and 31% less than the Model T Fords. And they covered more miles per month! The monthly average for the Model T Fords was 1509 miles. . . . For the Model A Fords, 1866 miles. . . . And 2571 miles for the Ford V-8.

Each year the Ford car gives you more in value and performance and costs you less to operate.

From Gulf's Multi-sol process now comes a PREMIUM MOTOR OIL
FOR 25¢

Newly-discovered refining principle puts premium qualities into famous 25¢ oil

TODAY you can go into any Gulf station and buy more motor oil value for a quarter than ever before!

What has happened? Just this . . .

Gulf has built a giant refinery unit to utilize a new refining process. It is called the Multi-sol Process—and gives Gulf-lube the qualities of a premium oil!

This process employs solvents of opposite actions which act as chemical "policemen" in the oil. They separate the desirable from the undesirable parts of the oil . . . get rid of all the "mischief-making" elements.

Today, no other 25¢ motor oil in America is refined by this process!

And here's what this means to you . . .

With the new Gulf-lube you'll get better motor protection even during the longest, hottest summer runs. You'll get less wear, less carbon, less sludge. You'll save the cost of many a repair and carbon-cleaning bill.

Use Gulf-lube, and you will add less oil between drains. For the Multi-sol Process has stepped up Gulf-lube's already high mileage 20% to 25%!

Try the new Gulf-lube today—only 25¢ a quart at all Gulf dealers. Your car will know it's a premium oil—but your pocketbook won't!

GULF REFINING CO.

No other 25¢ motor oil gives you all these quality points!

1. It is Multi-sol processed.
2. Its already high mileage has been stepped up 20% to 25%.
3. Highly resistant to oxidation—non-sludging . . . extra long life.
4. It has a high viscosity index—thins out less under heat . . . easy starting year-round. Thoroughly de-waxed.
5. Forms far less carbon.
6. High film strength—a pure mineral oil that will not corrode new alloy bearings.

The Week at Lansing

By Frank D. Brown, Special Correspondent.

A certainty now exists that shortly after this week's column reaches its readers that the 88th regular session of the Michigan legislature will become a matter of history. The coming week is expected to produce a much welcomed adjournment and thereby finish will be written to a record which in practical accomplishment has meant little or nothing to the people of the state. This legislature like its predecessor has been embroiled in political and patronage squabbles to such an extent that the quality of work turned out has suffered materially. This session will probably be remembered for some years to come as the "do-nothing" session; a serious indictment of the private and political interests that have been in the saddle and have ridden high while it lasted.

The Senate early in the week adopted a resolution setting May 23 as the date of adjournment. The resolution was transmitted to the House where an attempt was made to give it immediate consideration. It was, however, shunted to the House rules committee where it has remained pending action on certain important bills including the PWA enabling bills demanded by the democrats. Indications are that the resolution will make its appearance early next week and while the actual date may be altered by a few days, it is now conceded that the session will not continue much beyond the 28th.

Efforts to effect a recess rather than an adjournment have been abandoned by the democratic leaders in the House who a week ago were quite active in stirring up sentiment in favor of such a procedure. The past week has brought about the surface-healing of some of the sore spots which existed between the governor, the democrats and the insurgent republicans. Lieut-Gov. Tom Read and his coterie of "young" republican senators have sought to make peace with the executive office and for the first time during the session there appears to be a semblance of unity and harmony among the several factions. Though too late to do any good, evidently there is a desire to part as friends.

Continuing his efforts to keep legislative appropriations within the scope of anticipated revenues, Gov. Fitzgerald has sent a special message to the lawmakers pointing out that already more than eight million dollars has been voted over and above all possible income for the next biennium. Determined to balance the budget, the executive intimates that if necessary he will exercise the full extent of his authority. This is taken to mean that he will veto certain appropriations if necessary to fulfill his earlier pledges of curtailing governmental expense and thwarting the levying of new taxes.

The controversial and much discussed school-aid bill which has occupied the center of the stage almost from the start of the session is now only one step removed from becoming law. Both houses have finally been able to agree on its many complex provisions and have laid it on the governor's desk for his signature.

In its final form, the measure provides for a $22,500,000 appropriation, a figure half way between that proposed by the governor and that insisted upon by the school people of the state. Although the sum is two and a half million over that which Gov. Fitzgerald declared would be the maximum amount he would approve, it is believed he will sign it.

Among the provisions of the measure are the following:

1. Provides for an appropriation of $36,040,000 for 1935-36 less the primary fund estimated at $18,800,000 to $14,400,000.
2. Provides for an appropriation of $37,400,000 less the primary fund for 1936-1937.
3. Sets up a continuing appropriation for each year thereafter of $38,000,000 annually less the primary fund.
4. Requires local units of government to levy at least two and one-half mills to come under the benefits of the act.
5. Sets aside 11 per cent of the total appropriation yearly as an equalization fund to help needy districts unable to provide the minimum education program of $48 for each elementary child and $65 for each high school child.
6. Creates allowances for transportation for rural districts voting to close, thus encouraging voluntary reorganization of school districts in the interests of economy.
7. Limits the use of state aid to operating expense.
8. Gives township and rural agricultural school districts transportation aid up to $40 per child

"When in Darkest Despair You Gave Me Health"

Elkton, Michigan, May 21 — "Hundreds can testify that out of the darkness of despair, I have been the means of bringing them health."

This was the declaration of John Kegell of this village, to a reporter who was investigating his sensational healings.

"Would you mind telling me how you acquired this strange power?" the reporter asked him.

"If my story will help anyone, then probably I should tell it, although for obvious reasons I would prefer not to mention it. 'However, I presume I might as well tell it. It all started simply enough,' John Kegell continued. 'One day about 20 years ago when I was in Pittsfield, Mass., I was sitting with a sick friend who was tormented by pain and suffering. His burden of torture was more than I could bear until my heart cried out in sheer desperation—'O God, stretch forth Thy Hand and deliver this man out of his agony.'"

"Instantly the answer came—'I have no hands but human hands. Your hand is the channel for my Hand; stretch it forth and to those who believe in Me give HEALTH or WHATEVER you will and I will establish it.'"

"I obeyed. I placed my hands upon my sick friend. He was healed. Out of this remarkable experience I have helped hundreds of discouraged sick find health and peace of mind."

"Who can be healed and how long does it take?"

"A simple readiness to accept health is all that is needed. Some are healed quicker than others but all are benefited if they are receptive."

"Is your healing gift available to all?"

"It is. I would be neglecting my duty if I withheld God's gift to the afflicted. You may be a chronic sufferer, you may have tried many things, for relief, but do not give up hope. No matter how stubborn your ailment may be, call on John Kegell at Elkton, Michigan. (Fourth house EAST of the NEW BLUE SUNOCO OIL STATION). This Oil Station is three short blocks NORTH of the CENTER of Elkton.—Advertisement.

and an increase in the amount of aid allowed for elementary children. Additional allotments for township districts maintaining outlying schools is also provided.

9. Requires payment of high school tuition costs by the state direct to the districts.

The dispute over the exemption of certain items from the sales tax is nearing a solution, although it has been definitely decided by the adverse vote of the Senate that foodstuffs will not be placed on the free list. The only exemptions provided as the bill now stands take in farm seeds, fertilizers, feed for farm animals, and items consumed in the process of manufacturing articles for resale.

Aid for property owners who have found it impossible to keep abreast of their tax payments is provided for in a measure which received the governor's signature this week. The time of paying 1933 and 1934 assessments without penalty has been extended to November 1. The new law sets a collection fee of four per cent whereas under the general tax laws penalties and interest charges have amounted to as much as 14 per cent.

The name of Jackson prison has been changed by final action of the legislature on a proposal designating the institution as "The State Prison of Southern Michigan." The measure was urged by the business interests of the city of Jackson who have objected to having their community referred to as the "prison city."

Work on the old age pensions and welfare appropriation bills is being rushed to get under the adjournment deadline. The House has appropriated five million a year for old age pensions and ten million for state welfare relief. Senate amendments later cut the old age pension fund to two million and the welfare fund to eight million. The bills are now in conference committee with the likelihood existing that the figures may be raised to the original levels.

Emerging from the House taxation committee a few days ago is a joint resolution which would submit to the voters next year a proposed income tax amendment to the state constitution. Revenue from a graduated tax, it is variously estimated would increase the state's revenues by as much as eight to 15 million dollars annually. The resolution has a proviso that not less than one-third of the money so raised should go to finance the old age pensions and welfare relief, and another third to school aid.

As the legislature swings into the final week both houses are angling for the advantage in the last-minute jam which always occurs. The House is attempting to hold back Senate bills until the Senate has acted on House measures. Likewise the Senate is disposed to consider its own bills before it does those originating in the House. In the end the large part of all remaining bills will pass by the boards.

CONDITIONS IMPROVE IN DAIRY INDUSTRY

Concluded from first page. feed. Pasture conditions for the state have been almost ideal during the early months. Cool weather and plenty of rainfall have helped pastures which were seriously injured by last year's drought.

LAST PERFORMANCE HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Songs, dances, plot thrills, and laughs by local actresses and actors in the production, "Crazy Politics," will be presented for the last time this (Friday) evening, following the initial performance of Thursday night. The cast, choruses and groups promise a performance that will long be remembered. Horace Pinney, as the lady mayor, will bring down the house in "her" hilarious campaign of howls.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

Farmers

Weevil in Beans has been in occasional lots in every bean growing county in the state. Should infestation become general, it would RUIN the industry.

Best and cheapest method of control is through fumigation of seed.

THE LORD'S SUPPER

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 26:17-29;
1 Corinthians 11:23-29.
GOLDEN TEXT—This do in remembrance of me. I Corinthians 11:24.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Supper
Jesus Gave His Friends.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Why We Have
the Lord's Supper.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR
TOPIC—Why Observe the Lord's Supper?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT
TOPIC—The Meaning of the Lord's Supper.

1. It was Instituted by Christ
(Matt. 26:7-30).
1. The time of (I Cor. 11:23). It was on the night of the betrayal of Jesus, just after the betrayer had been announced.
2. The circumstances of (Matt.
26:26). It was in connection with the eating of the Passover. At the command of Jesus the disciples had made ready the Passover, and while they were eating he took bread and blessed it and gave to the disciples.
3. The elements used (v. 26).
Bread, doubtless common bread of the Passover feast, and the cup which was the fruit of the vine.
11. The Significance of the Lord's Supper (I Cor. 11:24-26; cf. Matt.
26:26-28).
- Jesus took natural and literal elements and made them to be symbols of his own body and blood.
Just as our bread and drink are transformed into brain and brawn, becoming integral parts of our bodies, so by means of these symbols the communicant partakes of Christ. We are in him and he is in us.

1. It is a memorial of the Lord (Luke 22:19). When he left the world he left the bread and the cup by which the disciples would remember him. Every true disciple will gladly avail himself of the opportunity thus to remember his Lord.
2. To show the Lord's sacrificial death (v. 28). Jesus Christ did not die as a hero or as an example of unselfish devotion, but as a substi-tutionary ransom. On the cross he made expiation for sin.
3. It is a guarantee that our sins are forgiven (Rom. 4:25).
"It was the signet of the Son of God attached to redemption."
4. It symbolizes the believer's reception of Christ (I Cor. 10:16).
The communicant thereby participates in the body and blood of Christ, becoming a member of his body.
5. It is a forward look to a completed redemption (I Cor. 11:26).
When faith is exercised in Christ,
redemption begins and its completion will take place at the coming of Jesus Christ (I Thess. 4:16, 17).
The bread and the cup constitute the keepsake of the Lord until he returns. These elements possess not only a spiritual, but a tremendous psychological value, both as a memorial and as a prospect.

- III. Qualifications for Participation in the Lord's Supper (I Cor.
11:27-29).
1. A proper apprehension of its meaning (v. 27). Eating and drinking unworthily primarily refers not to the demerit of the communicant, but the failure to grasp the meaning and importance of the ordinance.
To engage thoughtlessly in this service is to do it unworthily. Only a regenerated person can discern the Lord's body. Faith in the integrity of Christ's person and work is essential. Anyone who does not believe in the absolute deity of Christ and his vicarious atonement is an unworthy communicant.
2. Church membership (I Cor.
11:18-22). Christ's body is the Church, which is composed of regenerated men and women united to him as head and to each other as members of that body by the Holy Spirit.
3. Orderly walk. Conduct which disqualifies for participation in the Lord's supper is:
a. Immoral conduct (I Cor. 5:1-13). It is most perilous for one who is guilty of immorality to approach the Lord's table (I Cor. 11:30).
Sickness and death are often visited upon such. This explains why some are mysteriously taken away in death.
b. Heresy (Tit. 3:16; I John 4: 23). The one who does not believe in the deity and incarnation of Christ is a heretic. Such should be excluded from the Lord's table.
c. The one who stirs up party strife (Rom. 16:17). Those who cause divisions in the Church should also be excluded from the Lord's table.

Better Than Precept

What better thing can come to us than to be able to give to others the best that lies within ourselves, that by our living we may show them the way in which to live, and by so doing build up only that which is truest and best in their natures, and so, unconsciously, proving the truth of that old adage, that "Teaching by example is better than by precept."—Christian Cynosure.

Church News

Presbyterian Church—Paul J. Al-
lured, Minister. Sunday, May 26:
Morning worship and church school, 10:30 to 12:30. Sermon:
"Jesus: Shall We Worship Him or Follow Him?" Guild class: "Study
VI—Our Possessions." Adult class:
"The Lord's Supper." Matt 26:17-30.
Christian Endeavor, 6:30.
Union Memorial service, 7:45, at the Baptist church. Sermon by Rev. Mr. Bayless.

Erskine United Presbyterian Church — Rev. R. J. Devine will deal with another interesting theme Sunday afternoon at 2:30. The subject will be: "Can a Christian Sin?" This will bring to light the Bible teaching on the dual nature in the Believer. Come at 2:30 Sunday afternoon and enjoy a quiet hour of worship and Bible study.

Baptist Church—Preaching Sunday morning at 10:30. Theme, "In Memory." We owe the day in sweet memory to those who went to danger, and even at the loss of their lives at the behest of our nation's call, in the protection of our lives and homes. The following Thursday will be Decoration Day.
Union memorial service will be observed in this church in the evening, all of the churches invited.
The Rev. Charles Bayless will be the speaker of the evening and the service will begin at 7:45.

As our covenant meeting would come on Decoration Day, it will be postponed one week.
Tuesday next is the annual association meeting of the Huron Association of Baptists at St. Clair.
Several will go from here to that meeting.
W. R. Curtis, Pastor.

Town Hall Services—"The Prodigal Son's Brother" is the unusual topic for Sunday night's message.
Very seldom is this character made the subject of a message. Yet the elder brother of the prodigal son presents food for thought that is interesting as well as instructive.
The meeting will commence with a hearty service of song at 7:45 p. m.,
—and how the folks do sing. An overflow crowd gathered last Sunday to hear the closing message on the prodigal.

Services will be held next week only on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Friends are asked to make a note of this change.
During those three nights Mr. Devine will present what the Scriptures actually teach concerning Heaven and Hell.

No emphasis is placed upon finances in any of these meetings.
Those unable to fellowship in the expenses are just as welcome as though they had much to give.
"The entrance of Thy Words giveth Light."

year was held Monday evening in the Purdy hall with Mrs. Alphonse Rocheleau hostess and Miss Margaret Burleigh as chairman of the program. President Cora Purdy opened the meeting with words of welcome to the guests, followed by a reading given by Mrs. Edward Fischer. Miss Donna Rogers, instructor in tap dancing, and some of her pupils from Mariette did some fancy tap dancing. Alphonse Rocheleau, accompanied by Mrs. E.
Fischer at the piano, played a special number on the violin. Miss Peet of Mariette gave an excellent talk on Persia. Mrs. Ralph Clara sang, followed by a reading by Mrs. C. P. Hunter. A piano solo by Marie Lenhard concluded the program. Lunch, consisting of sandwiches, pickles, ice cream, cake and coffee, was served. Tulips were the flower decorations and the favors cornucopias of crepe paper.
Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Sly,
Mrs. Charles Fetting, Mrs. McRae and Mrs. Bert Libkuman, all of Mariette.

The Big Demand of Truck Buyers Today is for Economy

IT PAYS 3 WAYS
TO BUY CHEVROLETS

1½-Ton Stake (157-inch wheelbase)

Today, when every wise buyer of trucks is particularly interested in getting dependable transportation at lowest cost, the money-saving advantages of Chevrolet Trucks have a particularly strong appeal. Truck buyer after truck buyer is discovering that it pays three ways to buy Chevrolets. And truck buyer after truck buyer is deciding to take advantage of the big savings which Chevrolet offers. You, too, will get better haulage service at lower cost by buying a Chevrolet Truck because of these triple economies:

1. Chevrolet Trucks sell at the world's lowest prices.

THE LUCKY LAWRENCES

By Kathleen Norris

"The next morning, while Dot and I were figuring it out how we'd get home, and we'd gone over to the bus to see what time it would leave, Buddy and Larry found us. They said that they were sorry and asked us to forgive them, and said they'd drive us home quietly and the whole thing would blow over."

"I was—well, of course I hadn't slept all night, but it was a sort of pleasant excitement, too; I felt—sort of swimming, in emotion, you know, and I said I'd like to watch the Pebble Beach golf for a little while, so we went there. Van was there, looking stunning of course, and terribly sweet; and we had a few words together."

"I wanted to get home and get rested, and have things go back to normal. So we started at about twelve, and then—then of course the accident came. Dorothy had left us, and I was driving."

"I thought Van would come to me the minute he heard. But he didn't. And then when he did show up in court he didn't say anything about an engagement."

"Once, when I said something, he said his stepfather would cut him off without a cent if he ever dreamed of it! He said that the main thing was to keep out of jail."

Gail could hear him. She could remember the ethereal little Ariel of three years ago; she remembered the casual, laughing Van, Ariel struggling with the saddest problem any woman ever knows—youth, faith, gaiety, security wiped away at a blow—and Van noisily jovial over her whispers, her asides, her anxious smiles and too-ready tears.

"You see, almost from the first, Gail, I knew what had happened. It wasn't the Hetty Sorrel business. I was sure. Ten days after that trial I knew what I was facing. And he didn't even like me; he didn't come near me. I telephoned, I sent notes, but he wouldn't come. You and Edie were so pleased that the trial had sort of—exonerated me, and that I was sobering down. I saw it, and every one was so happy making plans. Dorothy well and safe and talking about going east for Christmas, and all the time—this thing tearing at me."

"You poor little thing!" It was the first note of sympathy that had come into Gail's voice, and Ariel answered it by a quick blinking of filling eyes.

"It was all my own doing, Gail!" "Isn't it always?" Gail asked slowly.

Those had been happy days for her. Days in which she had discovered Dick, discovered her own heart. And all the time the little sister had been walking in the shadows deeper than death, beside her.

"You can't think what it was," Ariel said. "I told Van. I didn't know what else to do! He didn't believe me, or he said he didn't." Ariel resumed. "And the next thing I knew some one told me calmly that he had gone east. There was just one thing, Gail—" She paused. "Just one thing that kept me from killing myself," she added. "And that was you."

"Me!" "You. You kept talking about how we had all to hang together, and get through the hard years, and carve out our destinies for ourselves. And I just couldn't do it! I couldn't shame and hurt you that way."

"The day after Van left I told Dorothy. And she said what he said, that she didn't think it was true. But they went away, too, Gail. She must have told her mother, and do you remember that Mrs. Camp took Dorothy east to school, right away?"

"Beasts!" Gail whispered, looking away.

"Dorothy only laughed about it," Ariel stammered, with a memory of that youthful agony and shame flushing her cheeks again.

"Laughed!" "I couldn't tell you or Edith; I was afraid to tell Phil! I went to see old Doctor Somers, and he only said that he would rather have seen one of my father's children dead than have to tell her what he had to tell me."

"Ariel—you poor child!" "Van didn't answer my letters, and time kept going on, Gail, and I had no money! I couldn't get away, and I couldn't stay home."

"And then I thought of Dick, and that maybe if I was nice to him he would want to marry me right away—in time."

She laughed bitterly, fell silent again.

"What a fool I was!" she said. "But he didn't. He was wonderful, but he didn't care—that way."

"And then Christmas week came, and Dick was going on Christmas afternoon to Los Angeles, on a case for three weeks, and I wondered if he would get me a job, any kind of a job. So I went to his office—and I told him the whole story."

"He was wonderful! He never said a word of blame; the only thing he seemed to think of was how to get me out, and how to spare you and Edie and Phil. He adores our family, of course."

"He said that since I was a minor a very serious charge could be brought against Van. At first I wouldn't consider that. But he talked me over, and he composed a letter to Van, as my lawyer, and sent it off that afternoon, a few days before Christmas, a few days before my eighteenth birthday. And Dick told me just to keep quiet and not worry, and that he would keep working at it, and it would all come out all right."

"Van wouldn't write me, ever, through the Clippersville post office, for fear we'd be discovered. We had rented a box in the Greenvale post office, and I used to take the trolley over there and ask for letters. And during this Christmas week I went over and there was a letter—from Van. He just said that he was not going back to college, but that his father had staked him to a year's trip around the world, and he and his chum were going. Gail, it went through my heart like a bullet."

"You should have wired his mother!" Gail said passionately. "You oughtn't to have let him get away with it!"

"Gail, she knew, of course."

"She couldn't!"

"Of course she did!"

The older sister was silent.

"Gail, do you know that I never felt—bad."

Gail reddened in embarrassment.

"I know what you mean."

"I mean," Ariel said, "that I loved him—I did care. I was carried away; I'd never loved anyone before!"

"But what I did feel, Gail, was fury. Fury at myself for being such a fool! Like some cheap little factory worker—like a servant girl. Why, the servant girls have more sense! I could have torn myself to pieces, having Van smile and go his way, and Dorothy and her mother clear out."

"You have a child, Ariel?"

"Wait. Well, I lay awake all that night of Christmas eve, after we had come back from church, and I thought and thought—how to get away, what to do! And it seemed to me that I was going raving mad—I was, too. I thought the people in the church were looking at me, and I knew you and Edith would find out, long before they did."

"And then quite suddenly, peacefully, I made up my mind to go away with Dick, to make you think we were eloping. I thought that if Van sent for me I could tell you then, and if he didn't Dick would fix some way out!"

"I got up at four and packed my bag and dragged it down and shut it in the old woodshed. And that afternoon, when you thought I had gone to Miss Val's, I went out and waited for the trolley, and took the bus to San Jose, and bought myself a ticket to Gilroy. That was as far as my money would go."

"After the train was started I walked all through it, and I found Dick talking to a man, and he came right back with me, and I told him what I'd done!"

"And was he wild?" "Wild? Oh, no! He said that he thought I had done right. He was wonderful!"

Gail's eyes flashed darkly blue.

"Dick—" she breathed.

"He said he thought it was the right thing to do. And he said not to worry, and that he would arrange everything the next day. He asked me if I had anything with me, and I said, Oh, yes, my suitcase. So I took his berth and he sat up all night—thinking, he said."

The havoc she had left behind her, the havoc she had wrought in his life, had meant nothing to her then, and meant nothing to her now.

"He didn't mind," she said vaguely.

"We were going to be married the next day, Wednesday," she presently added. "But you can't do that down there. Dick wrote you that we were getting a license, and we did. But we couldn't get married, not for several days, and meanwhile Van wired, wired to Los Angeles. You see, he'd had Dick's letter, and it was true that he was going around the world, but by way of Panama. He wired that he would be in Los Angeles in sixteen days, and would see Dick."

"Then Dick said it would be much better to wait and see Van. To make sure, he cabled the ship in Havana. And Van cabled back, 'All right!' He was afraid of being arrested, on account of my being so young."

"Van's ship got in and we were married, and Dick and I swore that nobody should ever know. I hated him, then; I didn't want to marry him at all. But Dick said he would start legal proceedings."

"So we were married, and Van went on, on the next ship, and nobody knew. Dick had to go to Las Vegas for months; but he sent me money every month, and if he was in town he'd come to see me and take me to a movie or something. And I got work to do—you don't have much chance in the movies. I got a start—Ariel Adair they called me—only I didn't like it much. It's all right for the stars, but I never would have been one. So I got small parts with a stock company. We played Hollywood and Venice and Glendale and Pasadena. That was kind of fun."

"And then last year, when Murchison's Mills failed, Van came to Los Angeles again, settling things, and he came to see me. He told me that he had never looked at another girl, and he wanted to have me go back east with him. But then it was my time to say No. Ariel ended with a little curl of her lip."

"But you haven't told me, darling. What happened to you? Were you ill?"

"Oh, yes—or not so terribly ill. They said it was all wrong from the very beginning—it never would have been a healthy baby," Ariel said. "They said it was luck it died."

Motherhood. The magic word, the magic estate of which Gail had dreamed. She was silent from sheer shock, sheer inability to speak.

"Anyway, I was in a hospital for three weeks, in a ward," Ariel went on bitterly.

"That was when?" "February. While Dick was in Phoenix. He had cases all over everywhere. And I was taken ill very suddenly, and hadn't much money."

"You poor kid!" "All that made me feel that I never wanted to see Van Murchison again. But he was having his hard times, too. Everything was crashing, and he was working hard in the New Jersey plant to save what he could. He's there now."

"When he came last year we had lots of long talks, and in a way he did what he could. He said he knew he had behaved terribly, but that he was a spoiled kid."

She was not very angry at him, even now. Gail saw, with a sort of stupefaction, that what the great Murchison did was still sacred, still above criticism, to Ariel.

"Finally, we arranged it that if he went back and got a good start, with these people who have bought the mills," she resumed, "then I'd come on and we'd announce our marriage. And that's what has happened."

"You're on your way east now?" "He meets me in Chicago next week."

A pause. Then Gail said, "You still love him, Ariel?"

"I don't love the idea of living in New Jersey," Ariel said, after a brief pause.

"But you're not unhappy?"

The old bored, haughty look.

"Oh, no," Ariel drawled. "But mind you, I was as much to blame as he!" she added with sudden force.

Gail mused on the whole story, her eyes on her sister's face, tumult in her heart, and the drum-drum of the rain falling softly on the porch roof.

"You came here just to announce it?"

"Not exactly. Dick thought I ought to come home and explain."

"Was Dick at your boarding house?"

"Not even that!" Ariel said, with her scornful little laugh. "I tell you he never so much as put a finger tip on me!"

"But you saw him all the time?"

"Off and on. He wasn't in Los Angeles much. But he would turn up and ask me if I had money enough."

"What a friend!" Gail said under her breath.

Ariel made no response. She was looking about the old kitchen.

"I can stay here, Gail, in spite of the Wilber tribe?"

"Darling, of course! And they're not such a tribe," Gail answered, laughing with a touch of hurt and reproach. "Just Lily and the boys. And look—this is the baby. This is Gail."

"They named her Gail?"

"Lily would have it."

"You might know she'd take your name, Gail. I suppose she's more a Lawrence than us Lawrences!"

To this Gail could make no reply. She said tactfully, "It's a quarter to seven, Ariel, and it looks as if either Phil had to be at the shop tonight, or had gone to Lily's mother's. You and I'll have dinner anyway. But what a buzz when the marriage is announced!" with a sort of mild awe. "Let's go upstairs, Ariel."

Ariel sat on at the table, a mutinous, dark look gathering in her eyes.

"Everything's changed, and I miss Edith!" she burst out suddenly, laying her head on her locked hands and beginning to cry.

Gail came over to her, and bent down to crook an arm about Ariel's bowed head. Her own eyes were brimming.

To be continued.

Learn to Relax.

Forty years ago Annie Paysin Call wrote a book called "Power Through Repose." It enjoyed a large sale for many years and is still widely read.

The author proposed that Americans relax. By relaxing she said that we would sleep better, talk better, and walk better. "Americanitis" is the name that she gave to our peculiar muscular tenseness.

Few people, she said, know how to sit in a chair. The chair does not hold them; instead they hold themselves on the chair. They refuse to submit to the law of gravitation. Railroad travel exhausts them because they have never learned to let go of their muscles.

Mrs. Call said that the shrillness in the American voice was caused by taking with the whole body.

"Take the bone and flesh sound from your voice," she advised. Relax the hands, shoulders, and feet. She noted that "women talk all over themselves" and at the end of a party are utterly fatigued.

She scorned the notion that one should brace up to a pain. She said:

"Most of the nervous fatigue suffered from dentist's work is in consequence of the unnecessary strain of expecting a hurt, and not from any actual pain inflicted. The result obtained by insisting upon making yourself a dead weight in the chair, if you succeed only partially, will prove this."

Some people have learned to concentrate well because they try to think with their muscles. Tell one man to concentrate his mind on a difficult problem until he has worked it out, and he will clinch his teeth, tighten his throat, hold nobody knows how many more muscles in his body.

This is not concentration, Mrs. Call held. The man who behaves naturally, if told to solve the same problem, will forget that he has a body and with a quiet, earnest expression, not a face knotted with useless strain, seek the answer.

Both may master the difficulty equally well, but one will suffer far less physical fatigue.

Mrs. Call suggested that we observe cats. From them we may learn the art of complete relaxation and economy of effort.—Imperial Type Metal Magazine.

Keeping Political Promises.

There is one Senator in our State Legislature who cannot be accused of falling down on at least one political promise he made to one of his constituents, and that is Andrew L. Moore, of this district, an attorney of Pontiac. Senator Moore in his campaign for reelection, promised Andrew L. Moore that he would try to cut down Andrew L. Moore's taxes, and if Senator Moore's tax cancellation plan carries, Andrew L. Moore will have kept his promise to Andrew L. Moore. But more and more we believe Andrew L. Moore will fail in his endeavor to put through his pet measure—regardless. — Rochester Clarion.

How to End Depression.

Do you want to really and sincerely bring the depression to an end. Well, the way is an easy one—let Henry Ford run the government for the next two years—make him president of the United States with the right to hire and fire. We will guarantee to you that if this was done, there would be no unemployment at the end of six months. At the end of the first year of his administration, factories would be working overtime and farmers would have a market for all they could produce at good prices. At the end of a year and a half, there would be nation-wide prosperity and at the end of two years, every one would be happy and the government would be out of debt. Educated nincompoops and politicians would be productive citizens or they wouldn't be eating. But of course office holders and politicians do not want to end the depression. There wouldn't be any more easy money for them to grab. —Plymouth Mail.

For Our Heroes

By Mrs. J. E. Leslie in Detroit News

SOUND the taps softly
For heroes asleep.
Strew flowers richly,
Our loyalty keep.

Sing their songs bravely—
"We're Tinting Tonight,"
"Marching Through Georgia,"
And "Justice and Right."

Songs for the Riders
Who took San Juan hill,
"A Hot Time" and "Dolly," We're singing them still.

Songs of the laddies
Who marched "Over There"
"Keep the Fires Burning,"
And "Pack Up Your Care."

Songs for our heroes,
Sweet flowers for them, too.
Soldiers in khaki
And brave boys in blue.

Banners wave o'er them,
And tears for them shed,
From Shiloh to Flanders,
Our loved, honored dead.

RURAL SCHOOLS

Winton School.

Teacher, Miss Beatrice Martin. Reporters, 4th to 8th grade.

We have finished our final examinations. Every one passed but one in the fourth grade and one in the first grade. We were pleased to have both of our eighth graders pass.

The sixth and seventh graders are studying Africa in geography. On Friday afternoon, May 17, the school children and the teacher went to the woods to hunt flowers.

Besides flowers, we found a puff ball, a toad, a baby bird, worm nests and a squirrel.

Our school is out May 24. We are planning to have a baseball game in the afternoon. For pot-luck dinner, we are having sandwiches, potato salad, escalloped potatoes, jello, cake, lemonade and ice cream.

Proof Coins

Proof coins are coins especially struck from polished blanks and dies, and finished by hand, which gives them a mirror-like, smooth, reflective surface, the most nearly perfect condition known. DEFORD

Funeral Service—

The funeral service for Shirley Rondo was held in the Deford church on Monday. Little Shirley, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rondo, of Pontiac, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark of Deford, was severely burned about four weeks ago when she and some other children were playing at a bonfire where a neighbor was cleaning the yard. Her clothing caught fire and the skin was burned from her entire back and sides. She was taken to the Pontiac hospital at which she died in great distress after four weeks of extreme suffering. The funeral service was held by Rev. Mr. Ambrose of the Caro Baptist church and interment was made in Novesta cemetery.

Silver Medal Contest—

A silver medal contest will be given Tuesday evening, May 28, at the Church of Christ. Contestants are Virginia Parks, Homer and Harold Cox, Millie Randall and Onelle Sherwood. Everyone is welcome to attend the contest. No admission charge.

Special Services—

Two weeks' revival services are being conducted at the Deford M. E. church. The meetings are well attended and an enjoyable message is brought each evening by Rev. Scholtz of Pontiac, evangelist. Special singing is contributed each night by various churches—Riverside, Marlette, Mooretown, Snover, and others. The closing service will be on Sunday night beginning at 7:30.

The Ill—

C. J. Malcolm is very poorly at present.

Edgar Pelton is quite ill this week.

Electric lines are being extended 2½ miles east of Deford, including the Harvey Palmateer farm residence. A total of eight homes are being equipped with electricity.

The local post office is receiving a new coat of paint.

Mrs. N. A. Samaras of Hoopston, Illinois, Mrs. Edith Myres of Royal Oak and Mrs. William Retzlaff of Flint spent Sunday at the H. D. Malcolm home.

N. R. Kennedy and children and Helen Dennis spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Spencer at Blakesley, Ohio.

Mrs. R. E. Johnson attended the funeral services of her aunt, Mrs. Nichols, at Columbiaville on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zemke and George Palmer attended the 84th birthday of Mrs. Bessie Young at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Vatters at Argyle. Forty-three friends and relatives were present.

Donald Evo and his father, Frank Evo, left Monday for Ann Arbor.

Myron Edgerton of Allenton visited at the Lloyd and Hazen Warner homes on Sunday.

Sunday visitors at the Edgar Pelton home were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crittenden of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Donat Gaudreau and two sons of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Collins.
