Federal Government Offers | Michigan students include: to Pay 45% of Cost of System.

The village council, at its meeting Monday night, deemed it expedient, inasmuch as Federal funds are being made available for municipal projects, to secure informa-tion of the government's position regarding a grant for a sewer system and disposal plant at Cass City. President George West appointed Ernest Schwaderer, a village trustee, and Cecil U. Brown, Washington, D. C., where he spent street commissioner, as a committee to secure this information. They Shrine band of Saginaw. The band went to Detroit Wednesday and visited the office of the Public zations that attended the annual Works Administration, and then secured an estimate on the cost of making a preliminary survey. On their return, village officers decid-vention of the Shrine at the naed to have the preliminary survey made at a cost of $95 by Hubbell, Hartgering & Roth, consulting engineers of Detroit.

The Federal government, the council has been informed, will FIVE MET DEATH AT furnish 45% of the cost for a sewer system here with the remaining 55% of the cost being assumed by the village. The government offers to finance the village's portion of the cost by a loan bearing 4% interest running over a period of 25 to 30 years. The preliminary survey will be started within a few cola County in Years Oc-days, it is anticipated.

The 45% grant which the government offers on the sewer project here is made possible by the $4,000,000,000 appropriation made recently by congress.

If the estimated cost of the sewer system is deemed reasonable by the council, it is expected that taxpayers will be given an opportunity to express their approval of proceeding with the project.

God gave him all authority in heaven and earth. b. The commission of the apostles (vv. 19, 20). (1) It was to teach, that is, make

3. To teach the disciples obedience (v. 20). Profession is not enough. Obedience must issue.

The all-sufficient promise(v. 20). There would constantly be the blessing and fellowship of the allpowerful Savior and Lord.

2. The missionary program (Acts 1:6-8). The Church is under sol emn obligation to witness to all the world of the gracious salvation which has been provided in Christ.

3. The first foreign missionaries (Acts 13:12). The occasion for this enterprise was a meeting of certain prophets and teachers of Antioch. While these ministers were engaged in praying, the Lord laid heavily upon their hearts the evangelization of the world. This marks the beginning of foreign missions as a deliberately planned enterprise of the Christian Church. 4. Preaching the gospel in Europe (Acts 16:6-10). Paul's inclination was to tarry in Asia Minor preaching the Word, but he was carried along by the Spirit. The Holy Spirit is just as active in closing doors as in opening them. The time had come for the gospel to begin its conquest of another continent. Paul, being hemmed in on all sides, was given the vision of a man of Macedonia pleading for help. 5. Preaching Christ before Agrippa (Acts 26:12-20). Paul, having been brought before the king, took advantage of the opportunity to witness to him of the Savior. Ob-

a. His manner of life (v. 12). He showed that he had been in strictest accord with the most rigid sect of the Jews. b. His supernatural conversion (vv. 13-15). Christ had appeared to him on the way to Damascus and revealed himself to him. c. Jesus Christ commissioned him for a work (vv. 16-18). He was sent to the Gentiles to open their blind eyes, to turn them from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God. d. His consecration (vv. 19, 20). He rendered immediate obedience to his commission. He showed that the opposition which he now experienced was due to his vigorous prosecution of his work.

Thought

The key to every man is his thought. Sturdy and defying though he look, he has a helm which he obeys, which is the idea after which all his facts are classified.

79 Yr. Old Sufferer MAKES REMARKABLE RECOVERY

Mr. John Stearns, Ithaca, R. F. D. 5, says: "I am 79 years of age and have suffered terribly with rheumatism this past winter. I was full of aches and pains until my flesh was sore. My hip-joints would hardly work and it was very difficult for me to get around even with a cane. My back ached constantly, and it was very hard for me to stoop or raise up. My nights were disturbed by having to rise as often as a dozen times. I have taken four bottles of RE-JU-VA and it has cleared up my aches and pains. The hip-joints are fine, and I can get up and down easily. My back is now all right and I can sleep fine nights and only rise once or twice. I am now able to walk to North Star and back, a distance of three miles, without the aid of a cane. I recommend this medicine to all my friends."

Mr. Stearns has obtained most remarkable relief, which is all the more outstanding because of his age. His friends and neighbors are familiar with his past and now note the

To be relieved of aches and pains, together with stiff joints, means a great deal, but in addition, being able to obtain rest at night without being compelled to rise on account of the kidney or bladder disorder, is worth everything in the world to RE-JU-VA contains no alcohol, opiates or narcotics, but is absolutely harmless. The evidence of its merit are hundreds of users that are living advertisements.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have often heard that the worst blow one can receive is the kick of a mule. Do you think a mule can kick harder than a kangaroo? Yours truly,

ANN TIPODES.

Answer: I have never been kicked by a kangaroo, but once a mule succeeded in kicking me, and for the following six months every time I sat down I left "foot-prints."

Dear Mr. Wynn: A friend of mine has just returned from a trip through the South American tropics and he said that sometimes, while walking along, he would sink 10 and 12 inches in the ground. What struck me rather peculiar was his assertion that farmers lived there and cattle grazed all around. How could cattle exist in mud like that? Yours truy,

E. QUATER. Answer: Your friend is right. I have been where he speaks of and I have seen the mud so deep down there that the farmers had to jack the cows up to milk them.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

In the past ten days I have read in the newspapers of thirty-four men committing crimes. I discovered, by keeping tabs on them, that twenty-eight of the thirty-four men ran away to Canada. How do you account for that?

Yours truly.

C. KLUSIVE. Answer: I am surprised, as, I thought everybody knew that it was the only place "Toronto."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have an uncle who is so stingy every time he sends his pajamas to the laundry he sneaks a pair of socks in the pocket. Did you ever hear of anyone as stingy as that? Yours truly,

MOE BEEL Answer: The stingiest man I ever heard of was a man who starved to death in a "pay-as-youleave" trolley car.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Don't you think a man will succeed later in life if he goes by the following rule: "Live and let live"? Truly yours, HAMMOND EGGS. Answer: That's a great rule for every one except the butcher.

It Helps Police Detect Stolen Cars

CHIEF OF POLICE WILLIAM J. QUINN of San Francisco inspects Har-old Highstone's "Remembering Machine." The instrument, once it has been "told" to remember, gives a "reply" in less than two seconds. Its chief use is to detect automobiles wanted by the police. To use it, a pattern is first punched out, containing the license plate of the car sought, then an officer, stationed at a spot, such as a bridge, manipulates the eight-rowed keyboard, recording each number as a car passes. When a car sought appears, a bell rings and a lamp lights. The machine has other uses, such as finding serial numbers on money, comparing sets of fingerprints with every print on file, it will determine whether a suspect is on the list of known criminals through the Bertillon system. It will "reply" to a recorded word, sentence, or number once they are recorded on the machine's pattern. The inventor, Harold Highstone, of Oakland, Calif., is shown at the left with Chief Quinn of San Francisco at the right.

History of Bethel M. E. Church

At the spring home-coming and reunion of the Bethel M. E. church, four miles north of Cass City, on May 31, which was the 50th anniversary celebration of that society, a historical sketch was read relating the beginnings of the religious prepared by Mrs. Kate Karr of Bayless, present pastor of the church, and is printed in the following paragraphs:

It was during this interval that the Presbyterian church was organized in Cass City and their building erected. In 1879 the Reverend Horace Palmer was appointed to Cass City. It was under his leadership that the Cass City church was built, the cornerstone being laid May 13, 1880. Horace Palmer was instrumental in strengthening the whole work on the circuit. It was under his leadership that the observance of Children's Day (Student Loan Fund) Program was begun at each of the several points on the charge.

Following Horace Palmer came the Reverend Benjamin Reeve, a deeply spiritual man, under whom the work steadily developed-1881-83. Next came the Reverend Nathaneal Dickie, an earnest, sincere man. He held special services in the Winton schoolhouse. A gracious revival resulted, and the work was transferred from the Bird schoolhouse to the Winton and named the "Bethel" appointment.

WHOSE WORD WILL YOU TAKE FOR BLOWOUT PROTECTION?

LOW wheels, larger tires, and the high speeds of today make blowout protection in your tires vital to your safety as never before. Are you accepting exaggerated and unsupported advertising and sales claims -or are you accepting the judgment of men who risk their lives on their tires and know from experience the tire that gives them the greatest blowout protection?

Thirty-three race drivers and their mechanics lined up for the dangerous, gruelling grind of the 500-Mile Race at the Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. Firestone Tires were purchased and used on every one of the thirty-three cars.

Kelly Petillo won the race at an average speed of 106 miles per hour. Wilbur Shaw was second, flashing across the finish line just behind the winner. Both drivers broke the track record without tire trouble. In fact, not one of the thirty-three drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

Gum-Dipping is one of the outstanding reasons why Firestone Tires give such amazing performance. By this process every cotton cord is soaked and every strand is insulated with pure liquid rubber, preventing internal friction and heat, the main cause of blowouts. Gum-Dipping is a patented extra process not used in any other make of tire. When you consider that there were

882,000 automobile accidents in the United States last year, and of these, 43,000 were caused by blowouts, punctures, and skidding, you will more fully realize how very important it is for you to protect your life and the lives of others by equipping your car with Firestone Gum-Dipped High Speed Tires—the safest tires

It will be worth your time to read these three questions and their answers:

QUESTION 1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

ANSWER-Leading university tests show Firestone High Speed Tires stop your car 15% quicker than the best of other popular makes of tires.

QUESTION 2-"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"

ANSWER-Unequaled performance records for sixteen consecutive years prove that Gum-Dipping gives you the greatest blowout protection ever known.

QUESTION 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?

ANSWER—Thousands of car owners report unequaled mileage recordsevidence of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

CHAPTER II

A BLE ARMITAGE, justice of the peace in Tincup, looked over his spectacies into the face of the prisoner before him and a twinkle appeared in his keen blue eyes. He asked:

"Now, young man, you're charged with assault and battery on the person of Nicholas Brandon. Are you guilty?"

From the rear windows of his cluttered little office, Able had watched young Ben Elliott emerge from the status of a complete so I brought him along. stranger to the populace to that of its latest hero by sending Mr. Bull Duval to a damp and ignominious finish in the log birling. After that he picked up an old clarinet and commenced to play a halting, aimless and not completely musical tune.

He was so occupied either with the musical performance or with his thoughts that he did not hear the tramp of many feet on the walk outside and was unaware that he was about to be called on to function in an official capacity. When the door opened, though, and Ben Elliott, Hickens, the sheriff, and Nicholas Brandon, followed, it seemed, by the total male population of the county, surged through the doorway, the clarinet's squawking leaped into a shrill squeal and died away. The judge's feet dropped to the floor and he swung his chair to face the entrance. The sheriff stated his errand, the complaint was drawn, Nicholas Brandon affixed his signature and then for the first time Able looked closely into the face of the defendant.

It was a long and searching look and was met steadily by a pair of clear steel-gray eyes.

"Are you guilty or not?" Able repeated and Ben Elliott who had | nuts?" stood at ease before him, slouch hat | in his great brown hands, gave his head a grave twist. "Well, if pitching a man off the sidewalk into the mud is called assault and battery in Tincup, then I'm about a hundred per cent guilty," he said.

A stir in the room followed that and Able frowned, a convincingly judicial frown.

"Guilty, eh?" He cleared his "Now how about throat at length.

The sheriff spoke. "You see, Able, 'twas this way, Mr.--"

"Yeah. In the mud."

"Well, go on; go on. Go back to the beginning. I want to know all about this affair."

Elliott drew a long breath. "I started for Tincup several days ago. I was a long ways off, over in Minnesota. This morning I got down to the junction west of nere and while I waited for my train got talking to this old timer, Don plaining witness in this case, may I

He spoke drily and Elliott, watching the two, could see that his words stung Brandon. The justice straightened in his chair, however.

"But maybe we are delaying things. Now, Mr. Elliott, don't you think it a little out of the way to come into a town, a total stranger, and upset all that town's precedents? If you, instead of one of Mr. Brandon's hired men, had cleaned up on my man Harrington, for instance, it might not have been such a grave offense. But here you come and pick out the one man in Tincup who hasn't been struck or even threatened in longer than I can recall—a man who is regarded here about like most folks would regard a baron of the Middle agesand toss him out into the mud! His eye still held that far-away look, staring into space, and now and again he picked up the scrap of paper bearing the address young Elliott had written and scanned it closely.

Thereupon he rose, went to a

After this he stood for a time in the front window, peering out into the street. A man came along the sidewalk, a man of about Able's years, bearing a limp and rusty bag which stamped him as a physician.

He approached the entry. "Big day, Able,"—as the justice opened the door.

"Tough," muttered the doctor as he went out An hour later Able Armitage left his office. He moved with great alacrity for one of his years and stopped only once and that was to draw Bird-Eye Blaine from the throng of onlookers that lined the sidewalk. "Got your car in town, Bird-Eye?" he asked. "Have? Run her around by the jail, will you? Might need you; again, I might not. Best to be prepared, though."

Bird-Eye nodded assent and the old justice went on.

Ben Elliott, solitary prisoner in the county jail, lay on the least objectionable of the bunks he found there, smoking and staring at the dingy ceiling.

He raised his head sharply when a key grated in the big steel door leading to the cell block and stopped puffing on his pipe when the opening barrier revealed Able Armitage.

"Hello, Judge!" Elliott cried and grinned. Able wasted no time.

"I've just been talking with Bridger. "Bridger! He here?"

"Oh, no. I called him on long distance." Able smiled as the other gave a puzzled frown. "Bridger and I are old friends. We fought Spain together . . . and malaria when we had Spain whipped. I think a lot of Bridger. I've a great respect for him and his opinions."

SCIENCE GAINS RICH DATA IN GOLD RUSH

Knowledge of Cálifornia Geology Increased.

Boston.-Conditions which cause factories to stand idle in many parts of the world, and which result in widespread unemployment, are themselves responsible for the opening in California of gold mines which have been deserted for decades, writes Dr. Ralph W. Chaney, research associate, Carnegie institution, in the Boston Transcript.

With the opening of the mines there are uncovered not only the nuggets and dust of precious yellow metal, but ledges of rock containing fossil leaves, fruits, and wood-less valuable in the markets of the world, but of incalculable significance to the students of the earth's history.

When gold was discovered in California in 1849, the foothills east of the Sierra Nevada became the objective of the pioneer band which made fortunes and romance, and laid the foundations for the development of this westernmost unit of the United States. Hither came men from all parts of America.

Fortunes Made and Lost. Fortunes were made-and lostduring these early days when by crude mining methods the yellow metal was readily washed from the gravels bordering the Sierra Nevada. Then followed more pretentious mining known as hydraulicking; by the use of huge spouting streams of water the sands and gravels were washed away, leaving behind fragments of gold. When the white man had taken all he could from these diggings, the Chinese, who were always awaiting their chance, took over the task of of the golden grist. As recently as 1908, there was recovered $750,000,000 in gold by Chinese miners almost at the center of is still called Tai Flat in honor of the Chinese foreman under whose direction it was mined, after the white miners had decided that all of the gold had been removed.

During these later years, the low price of gold has made it unprofitable to carry on extensive mining operations. Tom Brady has continued to remain as custodian of the properties of the You Bet Mining company, but the question must have arisen many times before him and before the many other men left behind in these hills after the flood of the gold boom had ebbed. as to whether there would ever again arise the tented cities of the miners, and whether great streams of water would cut once more into the gravel cliffs, seeking the yellow fragments which man has always

Then came a change in the gold values as a direct result of unsettled money conditions throughout the world. From $22.67 an ounce, the price of gold shot up to $37 almost over night. Again it became profitable to work the Call-fornia placer mines, and today they are filled with men, with streams of water, with excitement, Another gold rush is under way.

Fossils Discovered.

During the early days of mining at You Bet, and at many other diggings in California, large pieces of petrified wood were uncovered in the gravels. So numerous were these that they were stacked in great piles: Tom Brady's house has its foundations built of them.

Annovance the miners may have felt at having to move this petrified wood, some pieces of which weigh many tons, was more than balanced by the fact that around these fossil trees the gravel was exceptionally rich in gold.

In the early days of mining activity, fossil plants were collected near You Bet, from the high ridge of gravels and clays known as Chalk Bluffs; these have been studied by paleobotanists, and important conclusions have been reached. With the closing of the mines, discoveries of fossils became there has been no addition to our knowledge of the ancient forests of this part of California. With the revival of mining activity, new fossil-bearing layers have been discovered by the miners, and by Harry D. MacGinitie, who is studying the history of plant life at the University of California.

Mr. MacGinitie reports the finding of more than 40 kinds of leaves, including figs, magnolias, palms, sycamores and avocados. Of these none have lived down to the present in the region of You Bet, although palms and sycamores occur in warmer parts of California, and some of the others grow under cultivation. These hills are now occupied by pines and oaks, constituting a forest similar to that found in many of the temperate areas of the northern hemisphere.

THE WOMAN OF FORTY CAN MARRY IF SHE WANTS TO

WE HAVE news from England that spinsters of forty are their own we mean not having a good enough time, thank you, but in getting husbands if they want them!

The news comes in the form of statistics that one out of every 34 English brides today is forty years old or more.

And that does not include widows or divorcees.

The actual number of brides over forty recorded was 9,179, "thus giving further evidence," it is commented, "that the woman of forty is still a very vital and engaging personality and can easily hold her own when she chooses to enter the matrimonial market."

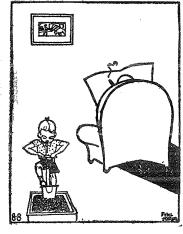

That comment, let it be remarked, is definitely a matter of supererogation. We knew it all along. That is, every thinking person knew it.

Our information from England is concluded with the statement that the most popular age for brides is still twenty-two. We might have surmised that too. There is no denying the attractiveness, the delightfulness of the downy cheek and pearl-like contours of twenty-two. But there is no denying either, the value, in marriage, of the developed sense of humor, the perspective, the consideration and understanding, that are the result of more years of

We are not holding forth that forty is the ideal age for a woman to marry. But we do affirm without hesitation that the woman of forty can usually "hold her own" as the report says, "if she chooses to enter the matrimonial market"and there is no reason why she

"More than 15,000 workmen have been engaged for nearly three years on this huge enterprise, constructed by American, French and British engineers. Although there are longer pipe lines in the United States, none of them has been laid under the difficult conditions that faced the builders of the Iraq-Mediterranean project.

Through Barren Deserts.

Barren, unpeopled deserts, differences in altitude from more than a half mile above sea level to 850 feet below sea level, wandering bands of hostile tribesmen, total lack of railroads for transport, and only desert tracks for the huge motor trucks carrying the pipe-these are a few of the problems faced by the men on the job.

"Under a concession obtained from the Iraq government, oil companies of four nations—the United States, France, the Netherlands, and Great Britain-will share the profits of the enterprise. The new line is of greatest importance to France, which has no oil of its own.

"The Mosul oil field, source of the thick black fluid which will pour through the new line and into the holds of tank ships at Haifa and at Tripoli, is a rectangular area about ten miles long and two miles wide, a short distance northwest of Kirkuk. Thence it crosses the famous pilgrim railroad which leads toward Mecca, and descends into the valley of the Jordan. In 18 miles the pipe line drops from 2,700 feet above sea level to 850 feet below, presenting perhaps the greatest problem in pipe line construction in the history of crude oil transportation. After crossing the highly-cultivated plain of Esdraelon the line reaches the sea on the Bay of Acre, near the spot where the Crusaders made their last stand against Saladin and his Saracens, a few miles north of the modern port of Haifa. "To keep the thick oil in motion from Kirkuk to the sea there are 12 powerful pumping stations, their positions depending upon the lie of the land. A revolving pipe cleaner is used to free the inside of the big tube from debris. At certain points valves can be opened, the cleaner inserted, and then driven to the next valve by heavy

"The annual 'throughput' of the double line is expected to be about 4,000,000 tons. The pipe line will eventually pay for itself, saving both time and expense of ships which once had to sail around the Arabian peninsula, and, in addition, pay duties at the Suez canal."

DELICIOUS FRUIT DRINKS

D URING the summer when much water is lost from the body by perspiration, more water should be taken in some form. The easiest drink one knows about is lemonade, refreshing, cooling and easy to take as well as make. Keep in the ice chest a jar of the lemon juice boiled with sugar and water to form a fruit sirup. A mixture of grapefruit juice, lemon and orange, is another drink well liked. Having a sugar sirup made to use for sweetening is a great convenience, as it sweetens at once and does not drop to the bottom like sugar and have to be stirred to be dissolved. Those who like honey use it often in preference to sugar, as it is the best sugar to give children, being easily digested.

When company drops in and needs quick refreshment on a hot day, try an orange ginger ale. For each person combine two-thirds of a cup of orange juice, one-third of a cup of acked ice and serve at once. a delightful ice cream soda serve a glass two-thirds full of orange juice and add a ball of vanilla ice cream. Stir rapidly and serve. Orange juice with lemon juice is liked by many as a combination drink. Iced coffee served as an ice cream soda the ball of ice cream and serve at once. One should remember when serving these refreshing drinks that they are not only cooling to the body, delightful to the palate, but are supplying the body with needed minerals and vitamins for health.
