TWO ROBBED DEFORD BANK OF $636 MONDAY

Cashier and Assistant Cashier Ordered into Vault When Bandits Leave.

Two youthful robbers visited the Deford Bank of A. Frutchey & Sons about 1:15 p. m. on Monday, took $636 from the cash drawer and escaped in an easterly direction, and though strenuous efforts have been made by officers to apprehend the bandits, their efforts resident and total number of pupils before Monday. up to Thursday noon had been unsuccessful.

George McIntyre, cashier of the bank, and his wife were alone in the bank at the time. Mrs. McIntyre, assistant cashier, absorbed in her work, did not look up at once to see who entered the building, but when she did glance up, was surprised to see her husband with hands held high above his head. She, too, received the command to put her hands up.

One robber remained outside the bank office as he pointed his revolver through the grille over the counter while the other went back of the counter into the office. Informed that the cash reposed in a drawer in the counter in answer to his question, "Where is the cash?" Intyre, while his left hand reached back of him and extracted bills from the drawer which he stuffed into his coat pocket. Most of the "haul" was in five and ten-dollar bills, the robber leaving bills of twenty and fifty-dollar denominataking place, the bandit in the entry jerked at the telephone attempting to break the cord and disconnect that instrument but in this he failed to accomplish his purpose.

No attempt was made by either of the robbers to enter the bank etful of bills, the pair ordered Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre into the vault,

The seven-point resolution adopttion in the matter of the approaching Italian-Ethiapian conflict is a wise step and will save this country from many annoyances and embarrassments that always come to a non-combatant nation. The resolution provides an embargo on foreign conflict, licensing of munition manufacturers, a ban against American or foreign ships carrying supplies to belligerents, directly or ligerent nations into this country. Congress showed wisdom in passing the resolution before conflict started. The nations involved now a working plan.

Bermuda Women Ultra Modest Women were so modest in Bermuda three centuries ago they did not want to show even the edge of their ankle-length petticoats. Thus fireplaces were built with raised hearths so that the women who tended them would not need to bend over. In many of the old Bermuda homes there are three types of fireplaces, the ankle, knee and waist high. The two latter types were for the sake of modesty.

There's lots of room in the FORD V-8

EVERY ONE who steps into the Ford V-8 for the first time is surprised at its roominess. There's exceptional seat room, leg room and head room in all body types — the whole car gives you a feeling of substantial size.

The Ford gives you extra body room because of the compact design of the V-8 engine — an exclusive Ford feature at a low price. This V-8 engine takes up less space in the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used for passenger comfort. TIMOTHY

LESSON TEXT-II Timothy 1:1-GOLDEN TEXT—Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed handling aright the word of truth.—II Timothy 2:15. PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Timothy.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Missionary in the Making.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR
TOPIC—Training for Service.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC-Training in Home

proper training for every child. In the measure that such training be given there would be a more abundant supply of Christian workers.

Timothy's training would be the

I. Timothy's Parentage (Acts 16:1).

His father was a Greek and his mother a believing Jewess. On his mother's side at least, he had a godly ancestry. Usually the influence of the mother makes the son. A pious mother and a pious grandmother were back of Timothy.

II. Timothy's Training (II Tim.

1-5; 3:14, 15). A wise and faithful mother and grandmother carefully nurtured him in God's Word. Through this training, he knew the Scriptures from his childhood. The faith which came to him from his grandmother through his mother did not come through the laws of heredity, but through careful training and teaching. Grace is not received by the laws of heredity. The factors involved in his training were a godly ancestry, a home where God was feared, and a diligent study of the

III. Timothy's Call (Acts 16:1-3). While on his second missionary journey in company with Silas, Paul found Timothy at Lystra near Derbe. Perhaps he had been converted on Paul's first missionary journey, but, hearing a favorable report of him by the brethren, Paul circumcised him so as not to offend the Jews because his father was a Greek. This was not contrary to the decision of the Jerusalem council. It was a case where conciliation could be made without compromise of truth. IV. Timothy's Character.

Tim. 1:6). He had received a gift from God at the hands of the apostles, but it needed to be stirred up; that is, fanned into a flame. Such a temperament would mature in touch with a great personality like Paul. 2. Courageous (II Tim. 2:1-8). Having been stirred up, he was freed from the spirit of fear and deliberately identified himself with Paul in his suffering and trials. 3. Faithful. He continued in the difficult field of Ephesus during many years. He was really the only man of the needed fidelity to minister to the Philippians (Phil. 2:20). The secret of his faithfulness in such a position was his fidelity to the Word of God. V. Timothy's Ministry.

1. As fellow missionary with Paul (Phil. 2:22). 2. As pastor of the church at Ephesus. Here he labored for many years, tactfully meeting the difficulties of that great church. The Christian minister must believe in the Scriptures as God's Word and be able to rightly divide them so as to meet the need of those who hear

VI. Paul's Farewell Message to

Timothy (II Tim. 1:1-14). 1. Personal relationship (vv. 1, 2) Timothy was Paul's spiritual son, therefore a peculiar love went out to him. This strong affection was a vital factor in influencing Timothy's life.

2. Paul's deep interest in Timothy (vv, 3-5).

a. Prayer for him. While a prisoner in a lonely dungeon, he thinks of Timothy and prays for him. b. Longed to see him. This reveals the vital reciprocal affection between Paul and Timothy, and also Paul's inner self. He was intensely human.

3. Gives Timothy Earnest Counsel

(vv. 6-14). a. To stir up the divine gift within him (vv. 6, 7). To stir up means to fan into flame. Enthusiasm of the Christian worker has a tendency to wane and, therefore, needs to be constantly stirred up.

b. Be not ashamed (vv. 8-12). He must be willing to suffer affliction for Christ's sake.

c. Hold fast the essential truths of the gospel (vv. 13, 14). This means the fundamental truths of Christianity, including the incarnation, atonement, resurrection, and coming again of Jesus Christ. These doctrines have been committed to God's servants as precious deposits. Servants of Christ are charged with the solemn obligation of guarding them as the shepherd guards his sheep or the soldier that which has been committed unto him.

UNITED STATES

The Constitution of the United States is divided into seven Articles. supplemented to 1934 by twenty-one Amendments. The text follows, with

Preamble: THE CONSTITUTION

PREAMBLE

We, the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I. Section 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States. and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not. when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons. The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three. Massachusetts eight. Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations one. Connecticut five. New-York six. New Jersey four. Pennsylvania eight. Delaware one. Maryland six. Virginia ten, North Carolina five. South Carolina five, and Georgia

Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies. No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen. The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided. The Senate shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present. Judgment in Cases of Impeach ment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, according to Law. Section 4. The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

Section 5. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behaviour, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their Judgment require Secrecy: and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those Present. be entered on the Journal.

Neither House, during the Session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Section 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses. and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other

No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil Office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been encreased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office.

Section 7. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered. and if approved by two thirds of published from time to time. that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Navs, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill. Section 8. The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defense and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Con-

Amendments.—In the Constitution as originally adopted, slight provision was made for the guaranty to the individual of a sphere of liberty not to be encreached upon by the Federal Government. To remedy this defect, the first Congress after the adoption of the Constitution passed and submitted to the States for ratification a series of ten Amendments, which were duly ratified and declared in force on Dec. 15, 1791.

The Eleventh Amendment was passed in 1793, and declared in force Jan. 8, 1798.

The Twelfth Amendment was added in 1803, and from then until the time of the Civil War no others were adopted.

The Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments were embodied in 1865, 1868 and 1870, respectively, as part of the Government's Reconstruction policy, securing to the liberated slaves the benefits of citizenship.

The Sixteenth (Income Tax) and Seventeenth (Election of Senators) Amendments were adopted on Feb.

25 and May 31, 1913, respectively. The Eighteenth (Prohibition) Amendment came into force on Jan. 16, 1920,

The Nineteenth (Woman Suffrage) Amendment was adopted on

Aug. 28, 1920. The Twentieth ("Lame Duck") Amendment: Ratification formally announced Feb. 6. 1933. The Twenty-first (Prohibition Repeal) Amendment was adopted Dec.

A proposed Child Labor Amendment, passed by both Houses of Congress in 1924, had (by July, 1933) been rejected by 24 States and ratified by 15.

The MAN from YONDER by HAROLD TITUS

CHAPTER XIII

Copyright 1928-1934, Harold Titus. WNU Service.

FURIOUSLY, Nicholas Brandon saw as the days passed the wreckage of his power pile up on a floor of public resentment, of loosened expressions of distrust and contempt and hatred which had grown and festered unobserved for years.

As he walked along the street he saw faces leering at him from windows, and men he passed averted their glances in a gleeful sort of embarrassment, or looked at him with surly, defiant glares.

In yard and mill he was conscious that his employees were thinking only of his fall. He discharged one man for loafing and the fellow only laughed at him. . .

"There's plenty of room at Hoof Owl for good hands," he said and laughed again.

That mob had not wrecked the town as they had threatened but the ruin they left was of far more consequence. Their coming had stripped Brandon of everything but his material possessions and now Back in the office he paced the place like a caged animal. Mail arrived. He took the packet of letters and drank deeply from his bottle again.

He thumbed the letters absently. until the script on one caught his eye. The envelope contained a single sheet of note paper and he unfolded it with trembling fingers. On the sheet was written:

"I never want to see you again. 1 know now what the whole country has known and been afraid to admit for years. I have thought you were my friend but now I know you are my worst enemy, as you are the sworn enemy of those I love most.

"DAWN." He stood for a time staring at the paragraph; then read it again and drained his whisky bottle. Such a note, now, was to have been expected by an ordered mind, of course, but his fevered brain had not foreseen any necessity for abandoning this, the most precious of his hopes. A meticulous office man was Nicholas Brandon, and though he had suffered the severest blow of his experience just now he mechanically went about his habitual procedure. He had received and read a letter. It required no reply. The next step in orderly procedure was to file it. In the great safe to which only he had combination and keys reposed two files side by side. He took both out and placed them on the desk. He opened one and a cruel smile twitched his lips. It contained letters on namer of warving size and quality. He riffled through these, stopping now and again to read a phrase, a sentence, a paragraph.... Pleas, these were; a writing begging for help . . . and he smiled again. In the other file were more letters, some yellowed by age and these older ones had been written in the unformed script of a child. . . "Dear Uncle Nick," they all began. Always that, though the handwriting grew formed and mature until it was identical with that on the single sheet he had just read.

These were Dawn McManus' letters to him, saved since her childhood. He ran through them almost idly, his senses dulled by whisky and the calamity which had befallen him. A narrow slip of tablet paper fell out. He looked at the penciled note on

"Meet us at Antler Lodge this afternoon.—Dawn."

Happier memories, that brought: of the time Dawn had brought girls home with her from school for Thanksgiving and had taken them to the hunting camp for a week-end. Brandon had gone with the party and it was there that he had first remarked Dawn's emerging womanhood, that the desire for her had keen kindled in his blood; there in the camp where her father, as the whole country knew, had been with Sam Faxson on the night when Faxson fled to his death. But Dawn had never known that. She had laughed and been happy at Antler lodge.

"Meet us at Antler Lodge this afternoon,-Dawn," He read it again. It bore no date; it was unsoiled; it betrayed no indication of the time that had passed since its inscription. The note had been left on his desk for him three years before. . . . He leaned forward sharply and his eyes narrowed. . . . After a moment he straightened and smiled oddly. A look like relief, almost like happiness spread over his face. Fine strength of body healed Ben Elliott's wound rapidly. By midweek he was dressed and sitting before the fire with Dawn, talking of his return to Hoot Owl on the mor-

"And all the time I've been wondering, Dawn, why you wouldn't let me come. . . You've been so kind, so generous, so . . . so friendly. And yet, only a few days ago you all of the story, he realized. She did not know, for instance, that the tragedy which preceded McManus' disappearance took place in Antler lodge; she did not know how far her father had gone in his attempts to drown sorrow of his wife's death by drinking. But she did know that Faxson was dead, that her father was blamed and that a dusty warrant for his arrest on a charge county records. Next day he declared that he felt fit to drive back to camp and for an hour argued with Dawn, trying to win her promise that he might come again, but she begged him to stay away for a time, at least.

told me I must never come again. Why was it, Dawn? Why, when I love you so?" "Don't!" she begged in a light whisper. "Please!" "But it's beyond any power I have to keep still. I love you, Dawn, better than life. Can you believe that, when I've seen so little of you?

Look at me!"-fiercely. "Don't you like it, Dawn, being loved?" "Ah . . . Like it? It's wonderful, Ben. . . . It's too wonderful? She averted her face. "And loved by me?"

"Yes, yes! It's all wonderful. It's too wonderful, Ben. Things like it just can't be!"

"Why not? It's wonderful, you say, and yet . . . Can't you ex-

"You can't understand, perhaps. Sometimes I can't understand myself. Always I've wanted to be loved by . . . by you, Ben Elliott! It's given me the only true happiness I've ever had.

"And then I had to remember what I am. Can't you see that a girl who is known as the daughter of a murderer can't let any man

"That's foolish! . . . It's terrible know for you to bear. But let me help, dear girl; let me stand by your side and help!" "No, no! I can't bear it! I your children. . . . And it's all a | Cass City, mistake, all a lie! My father was no killer!" Her voice rose in sharp conviction on that. "He was kind and gentle; he never would hurt another. All these years I've known it and others know it, but just being sure in our own minds isn't enough. The whole world must know! Something tells me my father is alive somewhere, waiting, watching, suffering. . . . But until we can prove that or something else comes up to banish this cloud. . . . No, don't kiss me again! I can't stand it, I tell you! I can't stand it. Ben!"

Sobbing, she fled from the room. He made no further moves toward love making after that but far into the night he talked with Dawn of her father. She had not heard (To be continued.)

Hearing the door slam, announced to Mr. Mc-Intyre their departure and he at once opened the vault door and spread the alarm. State police from Bay City, St. Clair and other points in the state were in Deford in a remarkably short time and searched the surrounding country.

Both bandits were young men, probably 21 years of age, and roughly dressed. One was about six feet in height, thin faced, and 4-H CLUB TAKE weighed about 140 pounds. The PREMI other was of more stocky build and swarthy looking.

They drove a green car with a Michigan license. The car is thought to be a 1933 Chevrolet. Officers are working on the theory that the robbers transferred from the green car to the automobile of a confed-

Mrs. McIntyre thought the robbers were unusually considerate when one inquired if there was danger of smothering in the vault, and when Mr. McIntyre said there steer. was no chance to secure any air, the robber said he would not lock them in. Herbert Case had a different opinion regarding one of the bandits, however, and thought him very rude. Mr. Case was working on a ladder scraping paint from the front of the building when the pair entered the bank. He had just descended from the ladder and was about to enter the bank to inquire about the paint for redecorating the building when the robbers were leaving. In their hurry, one of them stepped on Case's toes and never stopped to apologize. Not until the pair were well down the road in their car did Mr. Case learn a robbery had been committed within fifteen feet from where he was working. He said that state police from Bay City were in Deford in a remarkably short timein 30 to 35 minutes, he estimated.

Odd Fellows Order

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows first originated in England during the first half of the Eighteenth century, probably as an outgrowth of rivalry to the Masonic fraternity, which had been revived about that time. The biggest English friendly society, the Manchester Unit of Odd Fellows, was organized from various lodges in 1813, and this society introduced the order into America in 1819. The hundredth anniversary of American Odd Fellowship was celebrated in 1919. For some years the American order was affiliated with the Manchester Unity, but in 1842 relations between the two were severed, and they have remained-independent since.
