LOCAL ROAD BUILDER GETS M-53 CONTRACT

E. B. Schwaderer to Build Six Miles of Concrete for $217,889.28.

E. B. Schwaderer, road contractor of Cass City, was the successful bidder on 6.029 miles of 20-foot concrete pavement on M-53, starting north from the intersection of M-46 and M-53. His bid was $217,- laying next spring.

Low bids were approved October 3 by the state highway department on six construction projects for a total expenditure of $667,642.40. The concrete project on M-53 involves the greatest expenditure of any one of the six.

The projects included a new shore road from Manistee south, part of a broad program to link that city with Ludington by a continuous shoreline route.

A new grade separation across the Pere Marquette tracks two miles northwest of Lansing on US-16 was divided into two contracts. Jutton-Kelly Company, of Detroit, submitted the low bid of $69,955.65 for the track work and construction of a temporary road. L. A. Davidson, of Williamston, had the low bid of $74,740.57 for the construction of the actual overpass structure itself.

Construction activities on projects should be under way with- sis. in ten days, according to State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner.

In addition to the M-53 and Lansing projects others were:

Emmet county-2.492 miles of grading and drainage structures on M-68, Alanson east to the county line, J. A. Campbell, Bay City, Berrien county-0.805 mile of 40foot concrete pavement on M-139, Pipestone to Britain street, city of Benton Harbor, West Michigan Construction Company, South Haven. $55,369.72.

The meeting was well attended, about forty ladies being present. Mrs. A. A. Hitchcock of Whitmore Lake, sister of Mrs. A. J. Knapp, was an outof-town guest. Mrs. L. I. Wood and her assistants presented the first lesson on "These United States" in an interesting and unique manner by taking their audience on trips through various portions of eastern United States. Mrs. C. P. Bayless gave personal impressions and experiences encountered on a trip east as far as Boston and while living in that city; Mrs. Grant Patterson of Trenton, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C.; Mrs. L. I. Wood of her trip to Florida last winter. Mrs. Lewis Law gave an instructive paper on Virginia and other southern states of the east coast. The ladies used maps to illustrate their subjects.

The next meeting of the club will be a musical matinee by Mrs. Ethel McCoy at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday, Oct. 22, to which several neighboring women's clubs have been invited. The reception afternoon's activities.

The Teacher's Ethics.

There came to hand recently a code with the title "Ethics of the the above lodge. Teaching Profession." It is a product of the National Education Association, and deserving of careful study, not only by teachers but par-

I note that the teacher is expected to be "impartial, just, and pro-fessional." And I am happy to say that most of them are. Many of the others would be, if they were The United States Steel corporator ter than the income of the business not cornered by favor-seeking parents of influence.

"Partisan politics, personal gain, and selfish propaganda" are taboo, and rightly so. Instead, the code emphasizes qualifications, worthiness, and professional growth as all necessary implements for "trystandards by which to measure a teacher's right to promotion. It's the familiar battle cry over again. "It's what you DO that counts, not what you or your political friends

With special pleasure, I read that 'intelligent cooperation between the home and school" is urged. When we realize that aim, we will have the great school we like to talk about. Teamwork between parent and teacher is the missing link in education, missing, but not

One provision of the code I wish to quote in full, for my words would not do it justice. It is this, "A teacher's own life should show that education does ennoble."

The success which the American public school enjoys is a tribute to the teachers who live by that rule.

OLD TIME WHALERS GIVE WAY TO STEAM

Modern Methods Easier, but Risk Still Remains.

Seattle, Wash.-The old whaling vessels, huge and cumbersome, carrying a nest of small boats to search out and kill the whales, as well as ing out" the blubber, have all but disappeared from the famous whalery grounds in the Bering sea. Still common in the Antarctic waters, they are seldom seen in waters about the Aleutian islands. In their place have come small, snubnosed "stream whalers."

Fourteen of these modern ships are roaming the cold Bering sea. With a 200-ton gross displacement each carries a Sven Foyn gun mounted on a high and flaring bow. No more do men row away from the motor ship in search of whales; with the modern gun and high speed, each vessel seeks out its own whales and shoots the harpoon from the bow gun.

The gun throws the harpoon, four feet in length and weighing a hundred pounds, from 30 to 40 yards. Behind the barb of the harpoon is a cap, containing a charge of explosives timed to go off three seconds after the harpoon has struck. The whales do not often run with these appliances; the "strike" is usually fatal.

Processed on Shore.

One of the great dangers of the older methods of whaling was that of fire. The blubber was "tried out." or cooked down, in great kettles carried aboard the ship. The crews turned from hunters to butchaboard the ship, to the accompaniment of an unholy odor and the constant danger that one of the cooking fires might get out of control and destroy the vessel.

Under modern methods factories for processing the whales are established on shore near the whaling areas. When a whale is killed it in inflated with air and marked with a flag. After the day's catch is completed the dead are gathered up and towed to shore, where the factory carries on the oil producing processes with a much greater efficiency than was possible under the old methods.

It's Still Dangerous.

Not all the danger and excitement has gone, though, from the actual killing of the whales. So testifies Capt. Peder Oness of Kodiak, master and gun man of one of the Bering sea whalers, when he said:

"It's just as dangerous as it used to be. No one has an easy time standing on the deck behind the gun, in a heavy sea—and the gales are bad off the Aleutian islands. The whale zips up for as long as you can say 'scat' and you are supposed to shoot him now. That is hard to do."

But the Bering sea whalers were jubilant as they started out this year. Prices on whale oil were double what they were last year and the prospects for a good catch were good. Best quality oil is used for soap making, while sperm oil, which comes from the head cavities of certain types of whale, is used in perfumes and medicines.

Only one company, that of William Schupp, known as the "whale king of the Pacific," operates in the Pacific whaling industry. The company operates seven boats from Seattle and seven from Canadian ports. Last year they got 814 whales.

Must Be True "Folks dat say 'I told you so'," said Uncle Eben, "simply shows dat dey wasn't of enough importance to get deirselves paid attention to."

Slugs Used on Coast In the early 1850's, when private companies and a federal assay office were the only gold coin makers in California, "slugs" were made and imprinted with the name of the official assayer or the private concerns, giving the weight and worth of the gold. The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

m ESTORING}$ and ornamenting fine old linens is both interesting and practical. It does not signify returning the articles to their original uses, but to others, equally good, and making the designs woven in the damask serve as needlecraft patterns. In almost every home there are tablecloths which have worn places in them which render the damask unfit for this use, although most, or at least a good proportion of the linen is firm and good. It is these strong portions that are excellent for napkins, centerpieces, doilies, cocktail napkins, etc. By ornamenting the articles with embroidery in outline stitches of any preferred sort, they become distinctive, especially when the work follows the pattern motifs of the damask.

Damask Embroidery.

This damask pattern decoration is unique, and gives a certain charm and point to the embroidery. The articles should be so cut that one complete design unit comes at one of the corners of each napkin. Use fine embroidery medium, and fine outline stitches and work the outline of each unit, being very careful to follow each smallest curve and angle of the pattern. The medium should be in contrast to the whiteness of the linen, that the tracery of the design is well defined, and delicate. For center-the chief pattern units and outline each one over the entire surface wherever it appears.

Floral designs lend themselves delightfully to this work, so also do leaf and foliage designs. Geometric patterns are not quite so attractive in this style of decoration but even they are good.

One of the decided advantages of mbroidery design. It is all ready without any transferring or stamping of the design. Moreover, in damasks the weave in background and design differ, and the embroidered outline accents by its inclosure this inherent beauty of the

A Smart Set.

A grape leaf design was effectively brought out by this outlining in a set of table linen I saw recently. A friend was restoring some old napery by the method I have described. Green silk embroidery was used for the outlining of the handsome linen set, once her grandmother's long tablecloth.

A dozen and a half 26 inch square napkins resulted from her work -measurements after hemming. Smaller and more worn clothes cannot be expected to supply so many, or else the napkins would be much smaller in size. Regular napkins should be no less than 18 inches square. Tea napkins may be smaller, so it happens that large napkins may be cut down for small napkins and doilies and for cocktail napkins. Filet or cluny lace is a good edge for round centerpieces and doilies, for runners and square centerpieces.

The grape vine leaf of the damask weave was delicately outlined in green silk.

Their Minerals and Vitamins Are Necessary.

By EDITH M. BARBER

TT'S the fashion nowadays, and a I very good fashion, to stress the use of fruits and vegetables in the diet, because of their minerals and vitamins. Important as these are, what would we do without bread? We use it nowadays because we like it, but when we eat it we are supplying ourselves with valuable

While we think of bread ordinarily as "energy" food, it supplies us with a worthwhile amount of protein for muscle building. As almost all bread is made with milk, we get additional value from it. Bread is one of our most inexpen-

Set in pan of hot water and bake until firm in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) for about twenty minutes. Turn out on serving dish and surround with eggs, mushroom or cheese sauce and garnish with sprig of celery.

Vegetables With Crumbs. 34 cup fine, dry crumbs

4 tablespoons butter

Melt one tablespoon butter, and over fire until light brown, then add broceoli, carrots, beets, cabbage, onions or cauliflower.

Stuffed Onions.

Peel six medium-sized onions, parboil them for six minutes, throw them into cold water and drain Scoop out the center of each onion and fill the cavity with a stuffing of sausage meat and bread crumbs. Arrange the onions side by side in a pan, dredge with a little sugar, a slice of bacon over each and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until the onions are tender and browned, about twenty minutes, and the bacon is crisp.

New Peas.

Shell the peas just before cooking them and cook covered in just as more than one-fourth cup of water will be needed for any quantity. When tender, in about fifteen to twenty-five minutes, add two tablespoons of butter and salt and pepper to taste. Little salt is needed when peas are cooked this way.

Americans prefer honey either as comb honey or in the extracted form but granulated honey is the most popular in some countries. The food value of honey is high, as one cup of honey contains about 9¼ ounces of sugar while a cup of 🎚 sugar weighs only seven ounces. A tablespoonful of honey has the same value in calories as 14 tablespoonfuls of corn syrup, four of maple syrup, or 11/2 of molasses.

The flavor of honey is due to the aromatic substances found in the flowers from which the honev is made. These substances differ 2

THE STORY OF JEREMIAH

LESSON TEXT-Jeremiah 1:6-10; 26:8-15. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt go to all that I send thee, and whatsoever I command thee thou shalt speak. Jeremiah 1:7.

PRIMARY TOPIC-The Story of JUNIOR TOPIC-The Story of Jeremiah.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR
TOPIC—Taking a Stand for God. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Attacking Entrenched Evils.

1. Jeremiah's Call (1: 1-10). 1. It was pre-natal (vv. 4, 5). Before Jeremiah was born God ordained him a prophet to the nations. 2. His diffidence (v. 6). This seems to have grown out of his youth and inexperience.

3. His hesitancy overcome (vv. 7, 8). God graciously appeared to him and made clear that he should go where sent, speak as commanded, and to be not afraid of the faces of his enemies. This was accompanied by the assurance of the divine presence. It matters little as to the strength of the foe if the presence of God is with the mes-

4. The divine message given (v. 9). The very words were put into thought but the proper words to express the thoughts.

5. The nature of his ministry (v. of prophesying. Six words were given as descriptive thereof. The first four are destructive in their implication: "root out," down," "destroy," and "throw down." The last two are constructive: "build" and "plant." The destructive precedes the constructive. II. Jeremiah's Grief (9:1).

The unbelief of the people made him feel that his efforts were fruitless. Seeing so clearly the awful doom which awaited this people, he wept sorely. The true prophet of God takes to heart the seriousness of his ministry and sorely grieves notice). over the wicked unbelief of the people.

III. Jeremiah's Prophecy in the Temple Court (26:1-24).

1. Jeremiah's solemn warning to Judah (vv. 1-7). The Lord commanded him to stand in a conspicuous place in the Temple and proclaim the judgment which was about to fall upon them. The object was to provoke them to repentance. If they did not repent, God would make the Temple as Shiloh. Shiloh was once the dwelling place of God: now it had fallen into decay. So will it be with the Temple. Jeremiah was sent to speak the words which his Lord had told him and not to diminish a word.

2. Jeremiah on trial (vv. 9-11). Cause of arrest. He was arrested for speaking all that the Lord had commanded.

b. The charge (vv. 8, 9). They charged him with a capital crime, which involved pretending to speak for God and speaking against the Temple and the city. This would make him to be guilty of blasphemy and sacrilege, both of which were to be punishable by death (Deut. 18:20; Lev. 24:16).

c. The princes sit in judgment (vv. 10, 11). We thus see that matters of state were not entirely in the hands of priests but in part were controlled by members of the royal family.

3. Jeremiah's defense (vv. 12-15). Threats of death did not deter him from preaching but only inspired him to repeat his message with clearness and tenderness.

a. Reiterated the divine commis-

b. He urged them to amend their ways and to obey God and thus avert the divine judgment (v. 13). c. He gave himself up (v. 14), He did not resist the powers of government. Knowing that God had sent him he was content to trust God for deliverance. d. Warns of fatal consequences.

He frankly told them that God had sent him and if they killed him they would be guilty of defying God. 4. Jeremiah saved (vv. 16-24).

a. The princes pronounce him not guilty (v. 16). They were convinced that Jeremiah was speaking

b. The elders plead for Jeremiah (vv. 17-23). They cited two cases: Micah (vv. 18, 19) and Urijah sermon. (vv. 20-23). They argued that killing God's prophets did not turn aside his judgment but intensified Place announced Sunday. it. Italian Troops Invade Ethiopia and the War Begins-Mussolini Warns Nations Not to Interfere— Craig Made Chief of Staff.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WAR is on in East Africa. Mussolini's troops in Eritrea invaded Ethiopia because, according to a note he sent to the League of

Baltingheta Heroul

Ethiopian mobilization, though this was not ordered until after the Italians had crossed the border and occupied strategic positions south of Mt.

roui, the Ethiopian foreign minister, sent to the league this message:

"A telegram received October 3 from Ras Seyum, informs the imperial government that Italian military airplanes this morning bombarded Aduwa and Adigrat, leaving many victims among the civilian population, including women and children, and destroying numerous houses.

"A battle is at this moment taking place in the province of Agame. "These events, occurring on Ethiopian territory, constitute a violation of the empire's frontier, and a breach of the covenant of the league, through Italian aggression."

A Reuters dispatch from Addis Ababa said the Italian force advancing on Agame had been defeated, but this report appeared to be false.

The Italians, moving south from the Asmara region, crossed the Mareb river frontier at widely separated points and converged in heavy columns toward Aduwa, the scene of the terrific Italian defeat 39 years ago. Government authorities in Rome at first denied that Aduwa and Adigrat had been bombed, but this action was reported by American correspondents with the Italian army. The whole operation was under the direction of Gen. Emilio De Bono, commander in chief of Italy's colonial arm-

Haile Selassie's order for general mobilization was carried throughout the empire by the ominous beating of the war drums, and his eager warriors responded by the hundred thousand. The emperor's first war order was to his chieftain, Ras Kabada, and three other generals, to take 50,000 men to Mt. Mussa Ali. The defense in the North was entrusted to the Negradas of Wollacho. It was estimated at Addis Ababa that the emperor could count on the services of about 1,250,-000 fighting men, and the women also are ready for active work in the conflict.

SIMULTANEOUSLY with opening of hostilities in Ethiopia, Mussolini gave the signal for tremendous mass gatherings of all Fascists in Italy. Millions of Black Shirts in all the cities dropped everything and assembled to cheer for the Duce and his African adventure. From the balcony of the Venetian palace in Rome the pre mier shouted the words that committed his nation to a policy that may mean either victory or ruin. He reiterated his determination to seize territory from Ethiopia but declared he would do everything possible to prevent the campaign from bringing on a European war. But he warned the League of Nations and all nations to keep their hands off, saying:

"To sanctions of an economic character we reply with our discipline, our sobriety, and our spirit of sacrifice. To sanctions of a military character we will reply with measures of military character. To acts of war we will reply with acts of war."

Summoned hastily to a meeting of the league council in Geneva, the statesmen of Europe found themselves confronted by the fact that an undeclared war was being waged by a league member against a league member. Article XVI of the league covenant provides for severe penalties for such a war when the aggressor has been determined. The sanctions range through an economic and financial boycott to final military penalties. Before going to Geneva, Anthony Eden of Great Britain conferred with Premier Laval of France in Paris. He had instructions to throw the full support of his movement behind league efforts to isolate or halt the conflict in Africa. French officials believed that if sanctions were applied by the league, they would be only economic, which would shut off loans and raw materials from Italy. The mobilization of the British navy in the Mediterranean and the Red sea continued with accelerated speed.

IRM assurance that the United 'States would not be drawn into a foreign war was given by President Rooscvelt in his address at San Diego. He said:

"We not only earnestly desire peace but we are moved by a stern determination to avoid those perils that will endanger our peace with the world. As President of the United States I say to you most earnestly once more that the people of America and the government of Immediately afterward he saw service in Cuba during the Spanish-American war, and in June, 1900, participated in the China relief expedition made necessary by the Boxer outbreak. After service in various army posts in this country, Craig, upon American entrance into the World war in 1917, was assigned as chief of staff of the Forty-first division and sailed with that outfit for France.

Later he became chief of staff of the First army corps, serving in that position until the armistice was signed. Then he marched into Germany as chief of staff of the army of occupation.

For his fine work in the World war he received the Distinguished Service medal, and he also was given the Legion of Honor and Croix De Guerre of France, Order of the Bath of England, Order of the Crown of Belgium, and Order of the Crown of Italy.

He offered several plans for voluntary methods which would reduce potato surpluses and raise prices. He continued: "Potato growers are in real trouble and the AAA wants their judgment on possible cures for potato problems. Potato prices are about half of parity and the AAA desires to get the full benefit of the judgmnt of potato producers concerning plans for increasing their returns.'

THE AAA announced a produc-I tion for cigar-leaf tobacco for four years beginning in 1936. It provides a maximum acreage production of 40 per cent. Benefit payments will guarantee producers not less than "fair exchange value," or parity, for the crop. Contract signers will be prevented from growing tobacco on farms other than those covered by the contract. Unused tobacco land can be used for pasture or home consumption ceived. Mr. Roosevelt set forth the chief accomplishments of the administration to date, and challenged his opponents to do better. He defended the legality of the New Deal doings and made it plain that he would continue to carry on experiments for the welfare of the people. Defining his idea of constitutional government, he said its true function is to promote the general welfare, not by interfering unduly with individual liberties, but by bringing to the aid of the individual those powers of government which are essential to assure the continuance of the inalienable rights which the Constitution is intended to guarantee. It is democracy in the good old American sense of the Coming to the AAA, in which his hearers might be supposed to be most vitally interested, the President asserted that "agricultural adjustment is an expression in concrete form of the human rights those farmer patriots sought to win when they stood at the bridge at Concord, when they proclaimed the Declaration of Independence, and when they perpetuated these ideals by the adoption of the Constitution.'

No matter what attempts may be made to tear it down, "the principle of farm equality expressed by agricultural adjustment will not die," the President told the crowd.

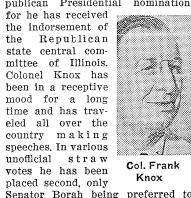

The AAA has made "honorable history," the President declared, and as a result smoke is pouring from chimneys again and workers without regular jobs are obtaining employment.

He served notice that it is the purpose of his administration to "use every square mile of the United States for the purpose to which it is best adapted." Nature must be harnessed instead of despoiled," he asserted.

At Boulder Dam the President assisted in the dedication of the great project and delivered an address in which he announced that government spending for employment purposes was nearing its end and that now private industry must take up the burden of decreasing the army of the unemployed. He defended the administration against the charges of "boondoggling" and said its efforts "meet with the approval of the people of the nation." He touched only lightly on the power question. Secretary Ickes, who also spoke, said Boulder Dam should be re-named Johnson Dam. in honor of Senator Hiram John-

VAN SWERINGEN brothers have regained control over the vast railway and real estate empire they built and lost to New York bankers. At the height of the boom this was valued at $3,000,000,000. Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a woman forty-three years of age and the only offer of marriage I have ever had was last night. I met a fellow at a party and he was drunk. He proposed marriage to me. He seems all right but I told him to sober up and then ask me to marry him. Did I do right? Sincerely,

I. M. HOMELY. Answer: Yes and no. He may not want you when he's sober.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am interested in the "Little Theatre Movement." I have interested some rich men and they are building a very odd theater. There will be no rows of seats, only boxes. In other words every person who comes to see our plays will be in a box. Can you suggest a fitting name for our odd theater? Truly yours,

Answer: As the "Little Theatre Movement" is popular, and as you have no rows of seats, and as you will probably do a big business, and pack the boxes, why not call it "The Sardine"?

ON THE MAN WHO IS TO LEARN TO KNOW HIS FAMILY

66 Y'M SORRY, I don't remember you." A shell-shocked war veteran, after an absence of 11 years, said that to his family who were gathered together to welcome him home.

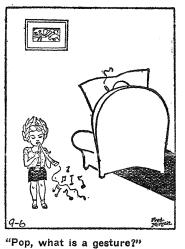

Mother, father, brothers, sister, wife and a son of eleven-he knew not one of them. His mind a complete blank regarding everything that happened before the war, even his right name is something that he has to take on trust. For during the interval of more than ten years that he was wondering about not knowing who he was, he acquired another name.

Out of the tragedy that struck this wounded soldier and his family one thought keeps forcing itself upon me. And that is the unique experience of becoming acquainted with one's own family. This man will know his family really as people—he will have a chance to find out whether he really likes them. The bond of the family tie that comes of the warp and the woof of daily living and a lifetime of close association, he does not know. On the other hand, he will not know the faults and acquired stigmas, the family judgments and prejudices which persist sometimes from childhood weaknesses to brand a personality within the family circle. The man who does not remember or recognize his family will start with a clean slate.

It will be up to the family to "sell themselves" to him. Naturally they will try to be at their best with him-as they would with any stranger with whom they were to become acquainted. And in so being treated like a stranger, this man who comes back has something to be thank- Notice of Hearing Claims Before ful for—and a head start to really Court.—State of Michigan, the liking his family!

Germany Plans Stronghold in North Sea.

Washington, D. C .- Sylt island may become a modern Helgoland of the North sea. Like Helgoland, whose cliffs gleamed with steel battlements until the close of the World war, Sylt may be made into a naval and air stronghold by the German government, according to recent news reports.

"Sylt, one of the North Frisian group of islands, is the largest German-owned land spot in the North sea," says the National Geographic society.

"A glance at a map of the island reveals its shape as that of a kangaroo facing the border line between Denmark and Germany. Its area is about one-half that of the District of Columbia with its widest portion only about seven miles wide. Summer Resort.

"Recreation, not war, has recently been Sylt's dominant feature. Only seven miles of water separate it from the continent. Its palatial hotels and bathing beaches have long been popular among German and other northern Europe vacationists who also are lured to it by the simplicity of life among the rural Frisian inhabitants who live contented in their straw-roofed houses. Next to recreation, farming and stock-raising is the island's chief industry.

"In the summer frequent steamer service from Hamburg brings merry throngs to Sylt, and for those whose curiosity would lead them inland there is a railroad which runs almost the entire length of the island, touching important towns and villages. Spurs lead to quaint spots off the main right-of-way, where ancient Sylt customs survive. For the motorist there also are good roads that link the chief towns.

"Normally Sylt's population is about 6,000, but torrid sun's rays and hot breezes in continental cities cause several thousand people to make the island their summer retreat. Nearly half of the 6,000 live in the town of Westerland, the Sylt metropolis which lies about midway the western shoreline.

Oldest Oyster Banks.

"Off the southern coast are oyster banks which the natives will tell you are among the oldest in Europe. They were, it is averred, discovered 800 years ago by Knut the Great. Their commercial value led Frederick II, duke of Holstein Gotorp, to seize and make them a royal pos-

"Sylt, also like Helgoland, annually gives up a portion of its unprotected coast to the storm tides of the North sea. Like a giant steam shovel the waves tear gaps into the island's rim annually. Many miles of walls have been built to protect the coastline, especially near the towns, while in sandy portions of the island dunes have been strengthened to curb the devastation of the

"Fohr island, lying south of Sylt, is about 30 miles in area and has a population nearly equal to its larger neighbor. Fohr and Armrun, both of which also are popular playgrounds, are the only other important islands of the North Frisian archipelago which includes many low, small, sandy as well as grasscovered land spots that appear as though they are floating on the North sea waves."

Tourist Parties to Use

Famed "40 and 8" Cars Paris.—Freight cars of the type which American soldiers rode during the World war are to be utilized as "tramping camp cars," for tourist parties, it is announced. Several hundred of the cars labeled, during the war, "horses, 8; men, 40" as an indication of load capacity, are to be painted white on the inside and outfitted with cookstoves and hammock hooks and rented to parties of from six to ten persons at about $1.35 a day or $26 for the month.

The cars will be hooked to freight trains for travel anywhere. But if desired, the campers may buy thirdclass tickets and have their cars attached to regular passenger

The old labels, "horses, 8; men, 40" will remain, and a third line added "Campers, 10."

Central Weather Bureau Established by China

Nanking.-Cognizant of the need for adequate facilities to study the weather phenomena which bring disaster to China in the form of flood and drouth, the government has taken steps to improve its meteorological service. A central weather observatory has been constructed on historic Observatory hill in Nanking, 222 feet above sea level. The buildings are of Chinese architecture and the tower, hexagonal in shape, was built on the lines of a Taoist temple which once occupied the site. The observatory, which is under the direction of Dr. Coching Chu, Harvard educated, issues a weather map daily, based on reports from about sixty stations in China, Japan, Korea, Formosa and the Philippines. Weather forecasts are broadcast every evening by radio.

MAKING CHERRY ALASKAN TOWN HAS PIES REAL ART

Out a Good One.

By EDITH M. BARBER

"CAN she make a cherry pie, Billy-Boy, Billy-Boy?" So goes the old song, with its answer, "She can make a cherry pie in the twin-kle of an eye." Evidently this was considered a test of the bride-tobe as far as her housekeeping abilities were concerned.

Even today when we are served with a really good cherry pie it is usually at the end of a satisfying meal where everything else is well cooked. First of all the pastry must be rich and flaky. There are just one or two tricks to pastry making. The proportion of fat to flour must be right. In general, one-third as much lard or hardened vegetable fat as flour. Usually it is best to cut the fat into the flour with a knife.

Perhaps you are saying to yourself, "Well, my mother always mixed pastry with her hands, and it was simply grand." I'm sure it was. But if your hands are as warm as mine you will do better if you will use a knife, or maybe two. It should not be cut as fine, however, as it is for biscuits because the large particles of fat make a nice flaky crust.

Now you are ready to add the water, which should be very cold. Make a hole in the mixture at one side and stir in a tablespoonful of water until you have a stiff ball of dough at that point. Then begin to add water at another point. When you have three balls of dough, take your hands and put them together with the extra flour left in the bowl. When the dough is smooth, put it in the refrigerator for at least an hour to chill and then it will be easy to roll.

Divide the dough into two parts and you are ready to make your pie and roll lightly into a round a little larger than your pan. Line the pan with one sheet, pressing it into the pan and cover the bottom with flour and sugar mixed together, one tablespoonful of each. Cover with a layer of cherries, sprinkle liberally with sugar and continue until your fruit is piled a little higher than the depth of the pan. Cover with the other layer of pastry and press the edges together. Cut the overlapping pastry evenly. With a fork press the two layers around the edge of the pan or bind the dampened edge with a thin strip of pastry. You may now get rolls of parchment paper which are designed especially for this purpose. Cut slits in the top of the pie to let out the steam which forms as the fruit cooks. Use a very hot oven, 450 degrees F., for the first 15 minutes for baking and then lower to 350 degrees for about 30 minutes longer. You may use this same method for all fruit pies which should be sirupy, not starchy, as is sometimes the case when too much flour is put with the fruit.

In all of these cherry recipes we make use of the sour cherries. The large sweet cherries are often put into tart shells over which a cherry glaze may be poured.

Steamed Cherry Pudding

2 cups cherries 1/4 cup butter 1 cup sugar 2 eggs

11/2 cups flour 3 teaspoons baking powder

1 cup milk Look over the cherries and cut in half and pit. Cream butter, and add sugar slowly and cream together until light. Add beaten eggs. Add flour which has been sifted with the baking powder alternately with the milk. Add the cherries mixed with a little of the flour. Put into greased mold, cover and steam three hours. Serve hot with hard sauce.

Cherry Dumplings

2 pounds cherries 2-3 cup water

1 cup granulated sugar

1 cup unseasoned mashed pota-1 cup flour ½ teaspoon salt 1/4 cup melted shortening

1 egg slightly beaten

Wash and stem the cherries, place in a covered kettle with the water and simmer covered 25 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking and to bring the pits to the top. Skim out the pits and stir in the sugar. Meanwhile combine the mashed potatoes, flour, salt and melted shortening. Drop from a teaspoon on top of the hot cherry

the hot sauce. Cherry Pie mixture for 15 minutes. Serve with

3 cups cherries 1½ cups sugar 2 tablespoons flour

Stone cherries, mix with the sugar and flour and bake between crusts or bake in one crust, in a hot oven, 450 degrees F., for ten minutes. Lower temperature to 350 degrees and bake about 25 minutes.

VIRGINIA CLIMATE

There's a Trick to Turning | Temperature Seldom Falls Much Below Freezing.

Washington.-Ketchikan, Alaska, is going into the public utility business. The city has arranged to buy up local electric light, power, water and telephone properties.

This is only another indication that Ketchikan is a strictly modern city, with very few of the characteristics popularly attributed to Alaskan towns," says the National Geographic society. "Its population of 3,800 would scarcely rate it a metropolitan standing in the states, but in Alaska it is second only to the capital, Juneau.

More Rain Than in Panama.

"Situated at the very southernmost tip of the long, Alaskan panhandle that reaches down the coast of British Columbia, Ketchikan is first port of call for all steamers entering Alaska through the inland passage. It is perched on a rocky hillside that falls abruptly into the waters of Tongass Narrows. Around it rise steep, wooded hills, green the year around, for winters n Ketchikan are as mild as in Richmond, Va. The temperature seldom drops much below freezing, and there is practically no snow. The winding sea channels and swift, mountain streams freeze. But there is rain, plenty of it; over thirteen feet a year, which is worse than tropical Panama. Yellow oilskins are the prevailing fashion in all seasons.

"The bare, rock foundations of the city provide neither soil nor level space for roads, so the streets are built of wooden planks. The business district is set on piles, close to the long line of wharfs. Stairs and winding board roads lead up to the residential part of town. There almost every home has a bit of lawn or garden, probably planted on imported earth.

is Busy Place. "Business is good in Ketchikan. It is a shipping center and supply base for a large district. The shops and stores are stocked with foods and merchandise fresh from the states. After all, Seattle is only 660 miles away, with regular steamer service winter and summer. Huge salmon canneries are frantically busy during the short season when salmon are running. Often the little river that rushes through Ketchikan, incidentally supplying it with electric power, is packed solid with pink and silver fish. The chinook, or king salmon, is the principal variety of the Ketchikan district. Halibut fishing is another big industry, and there are great cold storage plants where the fish are frozen before they are shipped south.

"Although there are several sawmills, lumbering has not been developed on a very large scale. But Ketchikan has all the potential resources for a great pulpwood industry-unlimited, year round water power and almost inexhaustible timber. The forests, which are mostly spruce and hemlock, mixed with some elder, willow, and cottonwood, are controlled by the United States forest service."

Turkish Woman Seeking Right to Cross Her Legs

Istanbul.-Whether it is an outrage for a woman to sit with one leg across the other is being discussed in Turkish Anatolia.
