VOLUME 31, NUMBER 24.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1936.

EIGHT PAGES.

HORNING, WHITTENBURG, BLACK, MINTYRE, DONAHUE NOMINATED

Close Race for Coroner and Drain Commissioner; Vote Is Light and 2,000 Less Than in the 1934 Primary

The closest race in the primary election in Tuscola county on Tuesday was for the Republican nomination for coroner when Dr. H. T. Donahue of Cass City defeated Dr. L. L. Savage of Caro by 20 votes, according to early returns. Lee Huston was named the other coroner to succeed himself in that position. Another close contest was for the position of drain commissioner when Roscoe J. Black, present incumbent, was nominated by a vote of 2,616 to 2,484 for James Osburn, his opponent.

Clare Horning was nominated county clerk; Arthur Whittenburg, county treasurer; and George McIntyre, road commissioner. Unofficial returns for these offices and the votes of Republicans in Tuscola county for U. S. senator, governor, lieutenant governor, and state senator by townships are given in a table on this page.

The vote in Tuscola county was light and about 2,000 less than in the primary election of 1934.

In the state, Brucker, partial returns indicate, was nominated United States senator by Republicans by a vote of 313,280 to 190,441 for Couzens. For governor, Fitzgerald 453,434 and Fitch 54,430. For lieutenant governor, Dickinson 228,602 and Read 204,030.

The Democrats, early returns indicate, named Brown as the U. S. senator nominee with 119,896. Ward received 114,793, Liddy 67,884 and Muyskens 29,573. Murphy is named candidate for governor with 256,084. Welsh's vote was 121,051. Nowicki's vote for lieutenant governor was 98,765, Case 90,325, Hemans 55,548, and Glasner 49,915. These figures embrace returns from 90% to 95% of the voting precincts.

Incomplete returns of the Democratic vote in Tuscola county gave Murphy 293 votes and Welsh 151 for governor. Brown 181 for U. S. senator, Ward 128, Muyskens 41, and Liddy 41. For lieutenant governor, Case 136, Glasner 97, Hemans 95, Nowicki 36.

In the seventh district, Wolcott was named the Republican candidate for Congress with 29,887. Thompson, his opponent, received 10,086. Democrats named Wagner with 4,747. Wiegand received 2,844 and Mann 2,486.

Pangborn was named state senator in the 20th district over McDonald. The vote in Sanilac county was close, Pangborn winning in that county by 286 votes, according to early returns.

CIRCUIT COURT

In circuit court in Tuscola county on Friday, the petition of Anna Rohn to discharge a certain mortgage and give her clear title to her land was granted.

Newell Sutherland was found guilty by the court on a charge of breaking and entering. George Finkbeiner was also found guilty on a similar charge by reason of his testimony in court. Both were remanded to the custody of the sheriff to await their sentence.

The court gave judgment of $485 with interest in the case of John H. Moore, who brought action to collect on notes given by Joseph John Hennessy.

An order for temporary alimony was given in the case of Lulu Sparling vs. Wendell Sparling.

A divorce decree was granted in the case of William Strand vs. Josephine Strand.

On Sept. 14, the petition of August Balk, Sr., to dismiss the proceedings of probate court and restore to him the management of his affairs was denied.

FIFTEEN PARTIES CAN BE ON BALLOT

While only two major political parties of the state held primary elections Sept. 15, a total of 15 parties will be entitled to place the names of their candidates on the general election ballot of Nov. 3. Only those parties, the names and vignettes of which were filed with the secretary of state prior to May 4, are entitled to places on the ballot.

According to the records of Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, these 15 parties are: Republican, Democratic, Socialist, Communist, Farmer-Labor, Socialist Labor, Commonwealth, People's Progressive, National, American, Proletarian, Liberty, Progressive, The United Party and The Third Party. However, only those parties certifying candidates will appear on the Nov. 3rd ballot.

SUDDEN DEATH OF LOCAL BUSINESS MAN

Louis Krahlung Had Lived in Cass City Nearly Thirty-three Years.

The community was shocked on Tuesday morning to hear of the sudden death of one of its business men, Louis Krahlung. Mr. Krahlung had been in poor health for the last few years but had been about his work at the meat market. He had felt much better of late. Tuesday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Krahlung had planned to take a trip with guests who were visiting at their home but while on an errand earlier in the day was taken very ill and passed away soon after being taken to his home.

Louis Krahlung was born August 11, 1885, at Gadshill, Ontario, and came to Cass City about thirty-three years ago. He has lived here since except a few years spent at Canboro. He was united in marriage with Miss Alma Mark November 5, 1927.

Mr. Krahlung was employed in the Harry Young meat market for eight years until March, 1914, when he became a partner with A. A. Ricker in the Ricker & Krahlung meat market.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Evangelical church. Rev. G. A. Spitzer, pastor, officiated and burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Besides his widow he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eckert Krahlung, Gadshill, Ontario; two brothers, John of Gadshill and Edward of Hamilton, Ontario; three sisters, Mrs. Herman Deterling, Humbertstone, Ontario, Mrs. Albert Male, St. Catherine, Ontario, and Mrs. John Manning, North Tawanda, N. Y.

One of the Finest Memorials in This Community

One of the finest memorials in this community is that to Hiram Baxter. A sum of money was left so that the youth might enjoy the savings of an elderly couple.

In memory of her husband, Mrs. Baxter gave this money to the Cass City school to be used in the purchase of articles deemed most useful. Part purchased necessary books, part supplied the dishes for community gatherings, and now a new electric refrigerator has been purchased with the balance. A suitable inscription will be placed thereon which will long remind the community of that frugal couple who saved so carefully and provided so generously for the future of today's young people.

Eddie Brings Joy to Coach

When it was announced that "Eddie" Graham would not return to Central State Teachers' college at Mt. Pleasant, the publicity department of that institution sent out the following news flash:

"The first blow of the 1936 football season was suffered by Coach Alex Yunevich on the opening day of Central State's football camp with the news that the 'Cass City sophomore backfield' may be broken up.

"Clare Ballagh, plunging full-back, and Fred Ward, blocking right half, pulled in on schedule, but they brought word that their mate, Ed Graham, may not return to college. Graham is a signal-

TUSCOLA IS FIRST IN WOOL EXHIBIT

List of Livestock Awards to County Breeders at the State Fair.

Tuscola county wool producers may well feel proud to know that Tuscola county placed first in the county wool exhibit at the Michigan State fair, the requirements for which were at least eight fleeces shown by four exhibitors of the county.

4-H club enthusiasts will also be glad to know that in addition to previously announced winnings that a county boy, Waldo Garner, of Vassar, was the highest man in the 4-H club dairy judging contest held Friday morning in the State Fair coliseum. As an award for this honor his expenses with the two next highest boys will be paid to the National Dairy show to be held at Dallas, Texas, this fall at which these three boys will act as Michigan's 4-H dairy judging team.

Tuscola county 4-H clubs also won highest award with a special premium for having the neatest livestock exhibit at all times on the fairgrounds which was supervised and maintained by Fred Rohlfis of Fairgrove.

The following is a list of the Tuscola county state fair open class winnings in live stock of 1936:

Robt. Robinson, Caro—Stallion 3 yrs. old and under 4, bred by exhibitor, 1st place; stallion 2 yrs. old and under 3, 2nd place; Stallion 3 yrs. and under bred by exhibitor, 6th place; senior get of sire, 3 animals, 2 yrs. old or over, 4th; three animals, any age, either sex, bred by exhibitor, 4th; single (shown in harness hitched to suitable vehicle), 3rd; registered Belgian stallion, 1 yr. old and under Turn to page 5, please.

Carlson O'Dell, who exhibited Michigan's champion steer at the state fair last week, an Aberdeen Angus, realized $662.20 from the sale of the animal to a Detroit buyer. This steer of 860 pounds was sold by Governor Fitzgerald at auction, bringing 77 cents a pound. The animal was purchased from a farmer near Elkton in March, 1935, for $60. O'Dell will make a profit of approximately $500 on this steer when prize money and feed costs are considered. The steer dressed to 575 pounds of edible meat which is a very unusual "dress" of 66.8%.

DEFORD RURAL CARRIER ENDS LIFE

Lloyd Warner Became Despondent After a Year of Illness.

When Mrs. Lloyd Warner returned home Thursday, at 11:15 a. m. after delivering mail on Route No. 2, Deford, she heard her husband groaning in an upstairs room. On investigation, she found him in convulsions and immediately called a physician, who gave him first aid treatment.

Mr. Warner, they ascertained, had swallowed the contents of a four-ounce bottle of lysol and died about an hour later. Sheriff Jeffrey and Coroner Lee Huston were called and decided that death was suicidal.

Mr. Warner, 43 years of age, has been a rural carrier for 16 years on Route No. 2 out of the Deford post office. Because of ill health, he has been unable to deliver the mail since Oct. 3rd last. Wednesday, he traveled the route with his wife, who is substitute carrier, and returned home much exhausted by the trip, and friends believe, was seized with despondency. Indications are that he swallowed the poison on the first floor and then went upstairs.

He leaves three children, 4, 8, and 10 years of age.

RAM TRUCK DATE SET FOR OCT. 7

Starting in southern counties in Michigan this month is a renewal of the efforts of three organizations to promote more efficiency and profit in the state's several million dollar sheep industry through stimulation of the use of better rams for breeding.

In Tuscola county, according to information received by County Agricultural Agent E. L. Benton, the date for the appearance of the ram truck and for the ram exchange day is late afternoon on October 7, at the Caro fairgrounds.

A good attendance marked the first meeting of the 1936-37 year of the Woman's Study club at the home of Mrs. A. J. Knapp Tuesday afternoon. Because of the wind and the damp ground the meeting, which had been planned for the lawn, was held indoors.

During the business meeting, Miss Joanna McRae and Mrs. Alex Tyo were received into membership and Mrs. Levi Bardwell and Mrs. Stanley Warner, who were formerly members, were reinstated.

"Let us make our club a lighthouse, lighting the way for better living," said Mrs. M. D. Hartt, in giving the president's address.

Mrs. E. W. Douglas, in a very unique and clever way, gave her version of the club collect in poetry.

Arthur Holmberg sang "Till the Dawn Breaks Through" by Richard Kountz accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Ethel McCoy, and a piano trio, "The Witch's Flight" by H. M. Russell, was played by Ruth Jean Brown, Christina Graham and Carolyn Auten.

Mrs. M. D. Hartt will represent the Cass City club at the annual convention of the State Federation of Women's clubs at Manistee from October 5 to 8.

At the close of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed during which time ice cream and angel food cake were served by the program committee: Mrs. H. F. Lenzer, Mrs. C. L. Graham, Mrs. E. W. Douglas, Mrs. R. L. Keppen, who were in charge of the arrangements of the afternoon.

A public reception for the teachers is planned for Tuesday evening, Sept. 22, in the high school auditorium to which all teachers and patrons of the Cass City school and parents of all non-resident pupils are most cordially invited.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, Sept. 29, in the recreation hall over the council rooms at which time a flower exhibit will be held.

DROUTH-DAMAGED CORN IS GOOD FEED

The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

If the Senate Committee investigation of Michigan campaign expenditures is an average sample of Democratic master-minding then the tacticians of that party have been vastly over-rated.

After all the charges that have been made of administration interference in the state campaign in Michigan it would appear that the wisest thing to do would be to see that no more ammunition of this sort was handed to the G. O. P. The Democratic leaders evidently did not consider such charges worth bothering about and proceeded to set on foot another example of state government with Washington as the state capital.

The investigation itself was a joke. While the investigators did not specify any candidate or party as the subject for the quiz, it soon developed that Governor Brucker, a Republican, was their game. Brucker had two conferences with investigators and both seemed satisfied with their treatment and the information given them. Then arrived a telegram from Senator Lonergan threatening subpoenas if information were not forthcoming. Brucker then took the play away from the investigators by making a few charges of his own. Next move was the hurried departure of the investigators to Maine—another doubtful state. Net result—nothing, except that Brucker made it quite plain that the investigation was nothing more nor less than the old-fashioned "eve of election" piece of politics. What the Democrats expected to gain by the investigation is obvious, but how they expected to gain is a mystery. A few more moves like this and Michigan won't be in any doubt at all.

In this column two weeks ago, attempts of the publicity department of the Democratic National Committee to claim credit for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation for the Roosevelt Administration were discussed. Since that time Frank Murphy, the furloughed High Commissioner, has taken to discrediting the work of Senator Vandenberg on the deposit guaranty amendment. According to Murphy, Vandenberg deserves no credit for the amendment that bears Vandenberg's name.

Vandenberg replies that the first time deposit insurance was mentioned in Congress was in 1933 when he introduced a specific and definite bill.

Murphy says Congressman Steagall, a Democrat, supported the bill in the House and Senator Glass, a Democrat, in the Senate. Vandenberg admits Steagall helped greatly in the House, but that Glass certainly did not in the Senate.

Murphy says the president "but-tressed the banks with the plan of insuring deposits."

Vandenberg points out that Roosevelt sent a letter to the conferees of the House and Senate on the amendment demanding that it be eliminated from the banking bill.

Both Murphy and Vandenberg are truthful men. Both believe what they say to be true. The best test here is to ask each where they were at the time the fight to incorporate the amendment was going on. Senator Vandenberg would reply that he was on the floor of the Senate debating on the bill, fighting for it with individuals, studying it, improving it, and living for weeks with a piece of important legislation in which he took a vital interest.

Frank Murphy would reply that he was 12,000 miles away in the Malacan Palace in the Philippines. We think Mr. Murphy had better talk about something he knows after this.

The Murphy-Welsh fight toward the last became amusing. Murphy challenged Governor Fitzgerald to a debate. The governor replied that inasmuch as he was not the Republican nominee as yet and Murphy had not yet been chosen by his party, perhaps they had better not debate.

Much to Murphy's embarrassment, Welsh then challenged him to a debate and set up a point-by-point schedule of debatable questions. Welsh gave Murphy 24 hours in which to reply. Three days later Murphy declined the challenge on the grounds that a debate between two Democrats would not make for "solidarity in our ranks." The box score reads: Three candidates, two challenges, no debates.

I am going to ask a question here on the consumption of gasoline, as it is considered in the speed your car is traveling.

When do you consume the least amount of gas?
(a) At 60 miles an hour, because you are getting somewhere?

(b) At 50 miles an hour?
(c) At 30 miles an hour?
Statisticians have given this considerable thought. Gasoline companies report that a car which gets 18 miles per gallon at 30 miles an hour gets only 13 miles at 50 and 10 miles at 60.
Some of you speeders who brag about covering mileage at unusual speed to the discomfort of pedestrians and the passengers in your car are doing so not only at an increased cost but also at increased hazards.
Take it easy!

Northwest Elmwood.

Mrs. Joseph Grappan returned home Sunday after a two weeks' visit with relatives in Ohio, Canada and Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Campbell of Detroit spent the week-end at the John Weiler home.

Miss Selma Koch of Caro spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Koch.

Mrs. Ben Corbett and children, Peter and Marie, and Mrs. Elizabeth Poirer, all of Detroit, spent Sunday visiting relatives and friends in this community.

President McKinley's assassination was last Sunday's topic of local pastors and a large number of our citizens met Sunday evening at the M. E. church to hold services in honor of the dead president.

Revs. Gifford, Torbet and Brumm were the speakers.
A. J. Hughes has severed his connection with H. H. Gould's implement business at Gagetown and is now buying and producing for R. Walston & Co. of Bad Axe. Hugh McMillan is now manager of the business in Gagetown.

Mrs. Annie A. Parker is now engaged in the millinery business, having purchased the stock of Mrs. E. K. Wickware. She will be assisted by the Misses Laura Wickware and Bertha Benkelman in the trimming department.

Hersey Young has gone to Flint where he is at work in one of the many carriage factories. His brother, Charles, has taken his place at the elevator.

Hattie Deming, Lizzie Dulmage, Maggie Miller, Edith Marshall and Jessie and Minnie Deming are employed at the state asylum at Kalamazoo.

On Monday, James Schwaderer and Alvin Sansburn journeyed to the Michigan Agricultural College where they will attend school the coming year.

GREENLEAF.

Miss Elaine Reid is the new bookkeeper at the Greenleaf elevator.

Miss Lucile Stirton is taking a business course at the Ferris Institute in Big Rapids.

Mrs. D. McColl left Sunday afternoon for Pontiac. She intends visiting in Detroit, Clarkston and Owosso before returning.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy VanWie of South Lyons visited relatives in the community last week.

The old creamery building at Old Greenleaf is being fitted up for a gas station. A line of groceries will be sold, also auto parts for cars.

It is rumored that a store will be opened up shortly in the McLeod building at New Greenleaf.

DEFORD

Crawford School Reunion—

Toward 175 gathered at the schoolhouse on Saturday, Sept. 5, to enjoy the sixth annual reunion of the Crawford school district. A beautiful day helped make the glad reunion, handshakes and general good-will all it could be, and shortly after noon a potluck dinner was served under Mr. Douglas' tent, with ice cream and lemonade enjoyed by all.

Later in the schoolhouse, a short program was given consisting of songs, music and reminiscences from former teachers.

Officers were elected as follows: President, George Martin; vice president, Archie Hicks; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Maude Churchill. All committees remained as last year.

Games finished the delightful day, and late in the afternoon the good-byes were said, all promising to be back next year if possible.

GAGETOWN

Thomas Mullin of Chepstow, Canada, was a recent guest of his brother, Daniel Mullin. It is 46 years since Mr. Mullin has been through this part of the country. He says "many changes have taken place since that time."

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaiiah Montreuil during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. John Montreuil and family, Mrs. Jeffrey LaClair and Mrs. Fuller of Detroit.

Mrs. Margaret Harrison and daughter, Delores, and George Lanhard visited Mr. and Mrs. Hartwick and family at Stanton Saturday and Sunday. The trio, together with Mrs. Alphonso Rochelleau, went to Detroit Monday for a few days' visit.

Mrs. Peter Bushey of Alpena spent the week-end with Mrs. C. P. Hunter and family.

Victor Benninger went to Pontiac Saturday where he will be employed by the Fisher Body Co.

John Long of Chepstow, Ontario, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Stapleton and other relatives.

It is estimated that five hundred people attended the ball game here Sunday between Elkton and Gagetown. The game that went into the twelfth inning was a battle from beginning to end. The score was tied in the seventh inning, and neither side scored until the twelfth inning when Elkton made one run winning the game. Elkton is now one game ahead.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Werdeman of Detroit spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Theresa Wald.

Mrs. John Wooley of Grand Blanc spent the past week with Mrs. Hiram Spitzer.

Delayed letter.

Returning from a dancing party at Bay Port Sunday night, six people were slightly injured in an automobile accident that occurred this side of Pigeon. Raymond Comment was the driver and the other occupants were Miss Maxine Trudeau, Miss Marie Klein, Alpena, Angela Trudeau, Wm. Mullin and Douglas Comment of Detroit. The Comment machine was traveling south and the other party who reside in Caseville were going north. The Caseville car crashed head-on into the Comment car, forcing it into the ditch and turning the car over. The occupants of the Caseville car were not injured. The occupants of the Comment car were taken to Pleasant Home hospital where they received treatment and were later released. William Mullin received a fractured collar bone. Both cars were badly damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Palmer had as their guests last week the Misses Birdelle and Edna Sprague of Jackson, Mrs. Katherine Cosgrove of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chisholm of Detroit.

Mrs. Mary Kirby of Saginaw spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Comment and other relatives.

Lester Montreuil, who has been employed in Detroit, came Thursday to spend the month with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiiah Montreuil. I. Montreuil is confined to his home with a sprained ankle which was caused by jumping from a ladder while he was painting a barn at the farm home of Roy LaFave.

Miss Margaret Brennan of Detroit was a guest of Mrs. Agnes O'Rourke last week. Miss Brennan was language teacher in the high school last year.

Miss Margaret Howell spent from Friday until Monday in Unionville as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bohn.

Mrs. Anna Haidysz, having rented her farm, has gone to Detroit where she will make her home for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Freeman of Saginaw spent from Sunday until Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Rocheleau.

Mrs. Hannah Hartman and Ray Weiler of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Weiler of New Baltimore were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Shinska.

Miss Edith Miller spent Wednesday and Thursday in Albion with Mr. and Mrs. John Munro. Mrs.

O. Rogers of Vassar accompanied her.

Harold Sutton, who spent the past few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sutton, returned to Flint Tuesday.

Miss Kathryn Hibbler of River Rouge, who has been a guest of Miss Julia Mackay for the past two weeks, returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Freeman of Detroit were over Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Freeman. Mrs. Thomas Freeman went to Detroit with them for a week's visit.

Mrs. Catherine Ryan of Detroit spent from Friday until Monday with Mrs. Anna Benninger and other friends.

Mrs. Helen Sugnet, son, William, and daughter, Patricia, of Detroit were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McDermid from Saturday until Tuesday.

Duane Wood spent the week in Detroit visiting relatives and attending the fair.

Miss Pauline Hunter of Detroit is spending the week with her mother, Mrs. C. P. Hunter. Miss Hunter returned Sunday from a seven-day motor trip through Canada.

Mrs. Catherine McDonnell of Detroit came Sunday to attend the home-coming and visit friends and relatives.

Gagetown and Fairgrove played ball at Fairgrove Labor Day, Gagetown winning by a score of 11 to 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wood this week purchased the property owned by Michael Karner on Church street and will make extensive improvements to the buildings before moving to their recently purchased property.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Permanent Wave Gland

A DISCOVERY that might easily save American women millions of dollars every year has been reported from Prospect, Conn., by Carl Louis Mortison, artist and correspondent for the Waterbury (Conn.) Republican. According to Mr. Mortison, Mrs. Lester Green of Prospect and her daughter have permanent waves that are the envy of the neighborhood.

It seems that Lester Green, while butchering, discovered a minute gland which produced a fluid responsible for the curl or kink in a pig's tail. This fluid, when extracted, diluted with water and rubbed on the hair produced a wave for Mrs. Green and his daughter that not only promised to have lasting qualities but also defies rain. In fact, shampooing only freshens it and makes it more potent.

Mr. Green visualizes great possibilities for this magic fluid. He believes that its greatest value will be demonstrated in manufacturing bed springs. He says that by immersing steel or brass wire in the solution it coils immediately into a spring and he predicts that his discovery may revolutionize the bed spring manufacturing business. So far he has not patented the process and anyone who wants to try it and make their own bed springs is welcome to do so.

Peculiar Plant

"One of the world's most peculiar plants is the "half mense," which is found only in the Namaqua and Namib deserts of South Africa. It reaches a height of seven feet, has a large flower at the top which invariably grows with its face toward the north.—Collier's Weekly.

First Indian Reservation

An Indian reservation established in 1758 at Indian Mills in Burlington county, New Jersey, is supposed to have been the first such reservation within the limits of the United States.

Longest Mountain Range

The world's longest mountain range is the Rocky-Andean range, beginning in Alaska and continuing all the way down to Patagonia.

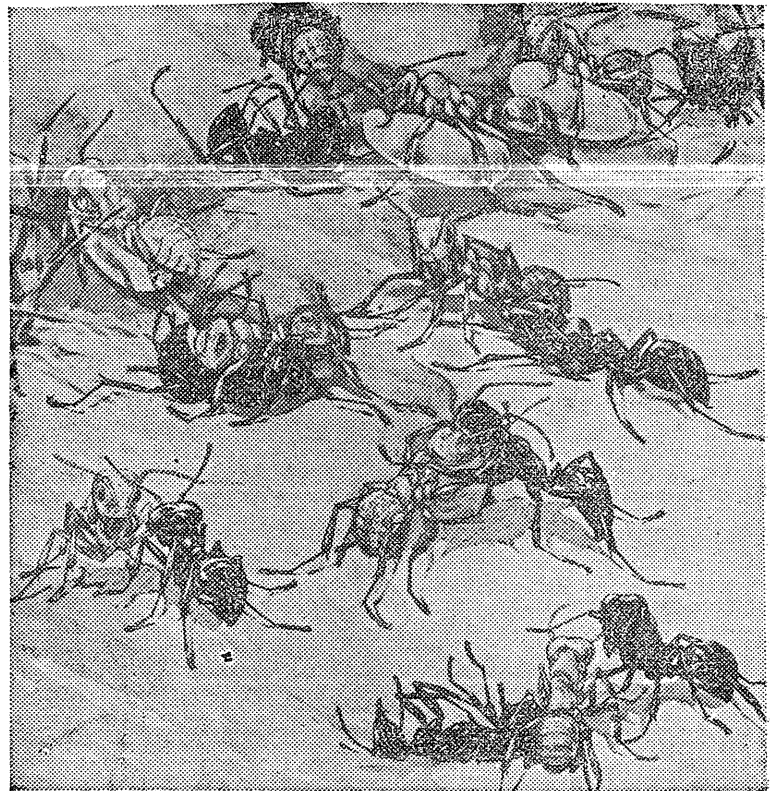

When the stone was turned over there was an entire colony of some sixty workers. Later, in the same locality, he found a similar colony, and specimens of these have now been distributed to all the important ant collections in museums all over the world.

No Female of the Species.

There were no females in either nest; so it is not improbable that this species lacks a special female, and that one of the workers functions as egg-layer. At night there came to light in the student's quarters a reddish ant, which from its general character was assumed to be the male of the species.

He had talked about Emeryella schmitti so much that it became well known to the scant white pop-

Ant Oddities

Fight to the Finish Between Red and Black Ants.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

LIKE humans, there are all kinds of ants—busy ants and ants that live on the accomplishments of others.

One often feels sorry for some of the industrious species of Formica, solid citizens, but really the "forgotten ants," because they seem to be preyed upon by every sort of warrior ant and their nests are nearly always shared with various guests and parasites.

Two kinds of ants, very different from each other, sometimes live together amicably, each occupying a separate part of the same nest, and contributing to the general welfare.

The little shampoo ant (Leptothorax emersoni), discovered by Dr. William Morton Wheeler of Harvard in the peat bogs of Connecticut, lives in the nests of Myrmica canadensis, a much larger species. When the Leptothorax worker needs food, it approaches the Myrmica worker and proceeds to shampoo and lick it. The Myrmica obviously enjoys this, for it regurgitates food to the Leptothorax.

One day in Brazil a scientist was investigating an ant nest consisting of a mass of earth six inches in diameter in a fork of a tree. He tapped this nest gently with his forceps, and the surface was immediately covered with small, reddish-brown ants of the genus Dolichoderus. When he gouged into the nest to find the various forms, a swarm of Odontomachus rushed out and one of them stung him. Odontomachus was a dozen times as big as the Dolichoderus and provided with strong biting jaws and a red-hot sting.

Finding a Rare Ant.

Often ant hunters get as big a thrill from a successful search for a rare ant as a big game hunter from the capture of gazelles or elephants. There is about as much physical exertion involved, too, turning over thousands of stones and logs, digging into the earth, chopping hard wood, and peeling bark from innumerable dead trees.

Luck infrequently plays an important part. In 1901 Father Schmitt, a Jesuit missionary, sent to the great myrmecologist, Forel, of Switzerland, a single specimen of a new and extraordinary ant from Haiti. Forel described it and named the genus after his good friend, Carol Emery of Bologna, and the species after the Jesuit (Emeryella schmitti). The lone specimen was long the only representative of its kind in collections.

In Haiti at the end of a month's work a student found one solitary worker along a roadside. He had no fine-tooth comb with him, but for two months he tried every other method he knew of to discover the nest of more of the workers.

Then one evening he went for a stroll just before dinner and noticed on the path a millpede, or thousand-legger, moving in an unnatural way. Bending over, he saw that the millpede was dead and was being carried by an ant. The ant was Emeryella!

It took all his strength of character to keep from seizing both ant and prey at once, but he smoked his pipe as calmly as he could and watched the ant till it leisurely entered a small hole at one side of a flat stone.

When the stone was turned over there was an entire colony of some sixty workers. Later, in the same locality, he found a similar colony, and specimens of these have now been distributed to all the important ant collections in museums all over the world.

No Female of the Species.

There were no females in either nest; so it is not improbable that this species lacks a special female, and that one of the workers functions as egg-layer. At night there came to light in the student's quarters a reddish ant, which from its general character was assumed to be the male of the species.

He had talked about Emeryella schmitti so much that it became well known to the scant white population of the island under the name of "Mary Ella Schmitt," and when he finally reported his discovery there was a great celebration among his fellow Americans, railroad men vacationing at Port-au-Prince.

Another missionary priest, Pere Salle, had sent to the museum in Paris from Haiti a curious nest of vegetable fiber, not unlike a wasp's nest.

A scientist, while rummaging about among the specimens, found it and tapped it on a piece of white paper. Several dead and dried ants dropped out. They belonged to the genus Macromischa, the most exquisitely formed of the ants and with beautiful metallic coloration—purples, greens, and reds. The genus is interesting, too, because it alone of the ants of the West Indies has developed into numerous species. About thirty are known from Cuba alone.

Fire Ant Is a Stinger.

The fire ant (Solenopsis geminata) is such a good traveler that one variety or another is found throughout the warmer parts of the earth. It gets its name from the painful, burning sting it can inflict. A colony contains vast numbers of workers. They have recently been reported as going great damage to young quail in the southeastern states.

Fire ants nest in almost any kind of locality and are extremely prolific. Even flood cannot daunt the fire ant, for it has been reported in Brazil that when the water rises and washes out a colony, the ants form a ball, queen and brood in the middle, and this living ball floats away to a tree or to higher ground.

The tailor ant (Oecophylla smaragdina) and a few other ants (Polyrhadina) are unique among all the ants' creatures, so far as is known, in that they use their young as tools in nest construction.

Few adult insects spin silk, but the larvae of many have this ability to enclose themselves in silken cocoons, from which they will later emerge as fully formed adults. Oecophylla utilizes this accomplishment of its young in making its nests. Scientists have often torn one of the leaves that form its box-shaped nest and then watched the proceedings.

At first there is a wild scuffle on the part of the ants, all in fighting mood. They cannot sting, but they bite annoyingly. After they have given up trying to find and destroy the intruder, worker ants seize larvae in their mandibles and bring them to the damaged portions. Other workers seize the edges of the leaves and pull them together, while those with the larvae pass them back and forth, stimulating the grub to exude silk, which sticks and holds the pieces of the leaves together.

Live in the Tree Tops.

In the Solomon islands this pugnacious Oecophylla abounds. On the island of Malappaina an ant hunter had for two weeks the unusual and delightful good fortune for a naturalist of being able to collect among the tops of high trees. A plantation company was felling the original forest, clearing the land for coconuts. One enormous tree after another was felled, and as soon as it came down he would go among the upper branches and collect.

Oecophylla was abundant, and he reported that there was scarcely a moment of daylight during those two weeks when an ant was not biting him on the neck. He would instinctively reach up and seize the little creature, break its neck between his thumb and forefinger, and go on collecting.

But once, as he crushed one of them, he noticed that it was unusually hard. It was another ant, a Podomyrma, rare and desirable. After that it was necessary for him to seize each attacking ant and carefully examine it before destroying it, so as not to crush a valuable specimen by mistake.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE. Published Weekly. The Tri-County Chronicle and Cass City Enterprise consolidated April 20, 1906.

Subscription Price in Advance. In Tuscola, Huron or Sanilac counties, $1.00 a year in advance. In other parts of Michigan, $1.50 a year. In United States (outside of Michigan), $2.00 a year.

Entered as second class matter April 27, 1906, at the post office at Cass City, Michigan, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879. H. F. Lenzner, Publisher.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Our congratulations go to the 4-H clubs boys and girls of Tuscola county for their excellent showing of exhibits at the Michigan State fair and the financial rewards which accompanied them.

Kathleen Norris, famous author, expresses the benefits of the 4-H club groups, in the following paragraphs:

"This junior livestock exhibition association is new to me. I wish it had been in existence when the many boys I have raised were small. For, while the boy thinks he is raising a steer, the steer is really raising the boy. The little animal, dependent upon the child for care and food, grows strong and straight; but the boy gains the more important lesson of kindness, learns to accept responsibility, learns to remember feeding hours and stable regulations. In short, at an age when most children are unthinkingly taking everything and giving nothing to the world in return, these youngsters have already enrolled themselves among the producers, the givers to life, the builders of the great agricultural country that is farming America. With dignity, with enthusiasm, with intelligence, and with real ideals of service this young army is growing in our midst."

"And in these days when we hear so much half-baked un-American doctrine, when infants in high school babble admiringly of Russia and girls in their teens murmur that India and China, as older civilizations have the real secret of philosophy it is as refreshing as a breeze right off the Rockies to meet these sun-burned, absorbed, loyal sons and daughters."

DEATHS

Mabel Taggett, 55, kindergarten teacher in the Caro public schools for 30 years, died Monday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roy McKenzie, of Buffalo, N. Y., following an illness of more than a year.

Miss Taggett was on leave of absence granted her when she became ill while visiting her sister in 1935.

Born April 3, 1881, in Corunna, Mich., Miss Taggett came to Caro when a young girl. She was a graduate of Caro high school and Alma college. She attended the Presbyterian church and was a veteran member of the Caro 20th Century club.

The body was brought to Caro for the funeral. Mrs. McKenzie is the only survivor.

A new machine capable of labeling as many as 24,000 cans per hour has been installed in the Crosswell plant of W. R. Roach & Co. The new unit replaces two machines previously used.

More and more it looks as though Sanilac county has found a splendid cash crop in peppermint. Three years ago Emmet E. Anderson studied the muck lands around Brown City and decided they were suitable to mint growing. He came in that year, 1933, and started his farm, setting out the rows of roots which now have developed into beds that are money makers. There are two cuttings of mint. Like hay, it is allowed to cure and then the still is fired up and this plant by the load is placed in it, where live steam is forced through it carrying the valuable oil out through condensation tubes into a tank where the light amber colored oil rises to the top of the water, and is run off into drums ready for shipping to market. An acre of mint may produce from 80 pounds to 80 pounds of oil, which sells at about $2.00 a pound this year.

With a total enrollment of about 312, the Bad Axe high school has this year entered the ranks of Class "B" schools. According to Supt. LeCronier, there are two post-graduates, 70 seniors, 73 juniors, 69 sophomores and 100 freshmen enrolled this year. Of these, about 160 are non-resident students and 152 are resident.

Harry Winkle, 23, living with his parents on a farm in Sigel township, died Sunday afternoon at Hubbard Memorial hospital at Bad Axe of injuries received when he fell from a silo at the farm.

Dr. Arthur J. Manske is spending the week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Manske, following his recent return from a trip to Europe in company with a group of students from various American universities. He was an instructor during a "student bicycle tour." While economic conditions in Germany are satisfactory, the country is one huge armed camp, he says, and that the general belief is that war must come in Europe sooner or later. In Denmark and Sweden he found conditions excellent with practically no unemployment. Dr. Manske is leaving this week-end for Peekskill, N. Y., to resume his teaching work there.—Sebewaing Blade.

Funeral services for Calvin H. Foster, 88, one of the two remaining veterans of the Civil war living in Huron county, who died at his home in Bad Axe Sunday, were held on Tuesday. Mr. Foster, who was born in Port Huron, Oct. 14, 1847, joined the Union army at the age of 15 and served during the duration of the war. He was one of General Sherman's advance scouts and participated in the famous March to the Sea. While acting in a scouting capacity he was captured by the Confederates and imprisoned in Andersonville prison from which he escaped. Following the close of the war, he resided for a few years in Caro and then came to Bad Axe where he operated a shoe shop until recently.

Superintendent Charles H. Bush of Akron village schools has been chosen to succeed Superintendent Ralph Brant, of Vassar, as president of the Tuscola county district of the Michigan Education association. NEWLY-WEDS HONORED AT TWO RECEPTIONS

About two hundred friends and relatives met at the Fred Seelye home to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Seelye, who were recently married.

Among the number present was William Hutchinson, great grandfather of Mr. Seelye. Rev. Mr. Hutchinson is nearing 94 years of age and has preached for over 50 years. He gave a talk which was followed by a duet by himself and his son, Charles Hutchinson, of Caro. Other numbers on the program which was arranged by Mrs. Aaron Turner were rendered by Lowell Sickler, Stephen Moore, Joe Godi, and Ernest and Alfred Seelye.

Ice cream and cake were served after the opening of the many beautiful and useful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Seelye, who will make their home in Detroit, were wished a long and happy life by their many friends.

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Seelye of Detroit, who were married Saturday, Sept. 5, the young people of the Evangelical church held a reception in the church basement Monday evening. Thirty-two were present and enjoyed music and games. Miss Laura Jaus, in behalf of those present, presented Mr. and Mrs. Seelye with a beautiful bedspread. A potluck lunch was served.

200 ATTEND MCCONNELL SCHOOL REUNION

About two hundred old pupils, teachers, and friends visited the McConnell school grounds to renew old memories on Labor Day. The committee had a very nice potluck dinner arranged, an interesting display of antiques and old pictures.

After dinner all gathered back of the school building and had a group picture taken. A program was presented next. Lowell Sickler from Novesta township rendered three solos. Several letters and poems from people who were unable to attend were read by the chairman. Mrs. William Harrison and Mrs. Richard Hartwick demonstrated with their spinning wheels how to "spin a yarn." John Wright and his daughter sang two illustrated songs and Fred White recited a poem. Mrs. Gertrude Wright Goertsen sang a solo and sang some songs with some of her old schoolmates.

Following the program, Jason Kitchin took charge of some stunts and games which were amusing.

It was voted upon and decided that all the officers succeed themselves for a reunion two years from now. The officers elected were as follows: President, Mrs. Charles Bond; recording secretary, Mrs. Earl Hartwick; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henry Klinkman; treasurer, Mrs. George Seeger.

Paint Domes White. White and light tints do not absorb and hold heat the way darker shades do. Astronomical domes are painted white to minimize the increase in temperature in the daytime. This is done so that the scientific instruments may be maintained at a temperature as constant as possible.

Kindly Comments. It is when we listen to a kindly bit of gossip about another person, that we discover the beauty of character of the speaker. If the person talked about has impressed us adversely, we are glad when we have another side brought to light. Every person has at least two sides to her nature. We may have been unfortunate in seeing the disagreeable side. The speaker shows us the other. But over and above this pleasant discovery, is the delightful revelation we have of the kind heart of the speaker. We warm to it, and our reactions are happy.

The spoken or written words of everyone are self revealing. We get the discredit or the benefit of the return of the impression created.

The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

EVERY guest room should have some reading matter in it. In order to have this suit the various preferences of the different personalities who may occupy the room, the assortment must be diverse. Current magazines, or even those of dates not so recent are a great help, as in them many topics are discussed. But magazines vary in contents, some stressing one subject, some another.

A woman might be glad to see a woman's magazine, but it would bore a man. A traveler would revel in one of the magazines devoted to journeyings and geographical subjects. Fortunately such reading matter appeals to women as well as men. Then there are periodicals in which fiction is given chief place, and whether a person is man or woman, serious minded or flippant, stories are read by them.

A guest room well-furnished with reading often has an assortment covering a wide range of tastes, from books on cooking to volumes on profound subjects. A book of poetry will be found well read. A Bible, or selected readings from it, should not be omitted from the shelves or the table. Also there should be one book of humorous tales or essays.

Summer Reading. During the summer be sure to have light reading included. A good detective story, or several, a few novels so that a person can have a choice, and a volume of short stories make a room have a summertime literary appeal that guests will be sure to like.

When the hostess's library is somewhat limited, or when the guest room cannot have its own book shelves of sufficient size to hold all the kinds of books, guests should be invited to make their own selections of books in the living room and take them to their rooms. They may hesitate to do this unless special invitation to do so is given.

Every guest room can have a Bible, a magazine or two, and two or three books, one on travel, a book of poetry and a novel.

The Spoken Word. Words are like boomerangs. They come back on the speaker,

100,000 DEATHS IS TOLL OF ACCIDENTS

Economic Cost to People of U. S. $3,450,000,000.

Chicago.—The American public, always the loser in the game of "Safety versus Accidents," heaped 100,000 lives on the altar of carelessness during 1935, declares the National Safety council.

In its 1936 edition of "Accident Facts," the Council reported that an additional 9,340,000 persons suffered non-fatal injuries in accidents of one sort or another and that to pay the economic cost of their disregard for rules of safety, Americans dug into their wallets for at least $3,450,000,000—about $27.05 for each of the nation's 127,521,000 men, women and children.

The Council's averages showed that accidents killed 274 persons every day of the year and that the estimated daily bill for lost income, doctor and hospital fees and the overhead cost of insurance alone was $9,500,000.

The Council credited to automobiles the largest block of accident deaths, which it said rose to a new all-time high of 37,000 in 1935. The year's totals also showed 105,000 persons were permanently disabled and 1,180,000 temporarily disabled in motor vehicle accidents.

Fatalities in Home.

Another set of totals indicated, the Council said, that members of American families, without apparent concern for loss of life, moved blithely about their homes—tumbling down stairs, falling out of windows, drowning themselves, getting cut and burned, dying by the thousands. The year's report listed 31,500 deaths in accidents that occurred in homes, placed at 140,000 the number of persons permanently disabled and at 4,460,000 the number temporarily disabled.

The third largest number of persons, 18,000, died in public accidents—drowning, burns, falls, heat prostrations, deaths by freezing railroad accidents, firearms accidents, poisonings, etc.—that occurred outside the home but not in occupational pursuits and that did not involve motor vehicles. This type of accident, the Council said, was responsible for permanently disabling injuries to 60,000 persons and for temporarily disabling injuries to 2,100,000.

Occupational accidents, those suffered while engaged in gainful employment, claimed 16,500 lives, 500 more than in 1934, the Council's statistics showed, and inflicted permanent disability upon 63,000. Less serious injuries were suffered by 1,340,000.

Of the total number killed in accidents during 1935, 47,800 were between twenty-five and sixty-four years of age. Other age groups and the number of accidental deaths which occurred in them, were: less than five years, 6,600; five to fourteen years of age, 7,600; fifteen to twenty-four years, 13,400; sixty-five years or more, 24,600.

Motor vehicle accidents were the greatest cause of accidental death in each age group except the "less than five years" and "sixty-five years or more" classifications. Automobile accidents as a cause of death were second to "burns" in the former group and second to "falls" in the latter group.

Fire, which the Council said annually takes an average of 8,000 lives, caused $250,000,000 property damage during 1935. Matches and the fire hazard connected with smoking cigars, pipes and cigarettes; defective chimneys and flues, petroleum fires, and defective stoves, furnaces and boilers, were given as the principal causes of the year's conflagrations.

Hazards on the Farm.

Of the total of occupational deaths the Council said agricultural pursuits, work on the farm, caused more accidental deaths, 4,400, than any other classification of gainful employment. Trade and service industries were next with 4,000 fatalities. Construction operations with 2,500 deaths was third on the list, while about 1,600 deaths were suffered by workers in mining, quarrying and other extractive industries. In the transportation and public utilities industries there were 2,100 accidental deaths and manufacturing accounted for 1,900 fatal accidents.

In relation to compensation insurance the Council said the largest slice of the total paid for industrial accidents, 28 per cent, went to accident victims injured in falls. However, falls caused but 22 per cent of all industrial accident cases.

The handling of objects—tools and material—caused 28 per cent of all industrial cases, the victims of which received 17 per cent of the compensation.

However, the Council said proof of the progress in industrial safety in the United States is offered in statistics for 1935 that show the accident frequency rate (disabling injuries per million man-hours of exposure) 61 per cent below the rate for 1928. These figures, it was explained, were taken from reports of only those companies which have been carrying on continuous programs of accident prevention. This select group, said the Council, also has a 1935 accident severity rate (days lost per 1,000 man-hours worked) that is 43 per cent below 1928.

RURAL SCHOOLS

Rescue School.

Teacher, Catherine MacLachlan. Reporter, Marie Martin. We were all very happy to start back to school especially since our school has been fixed over and painted.

We have twenty-eight pupils enrolled this year.

Our beginners this year are Arvilla Webster, Winton Ellis, Geraldine Martin and William Hart-sell.

We have two pretty bouquets of flowers in our schoolroom.

We are trying to earn certificates for perfect attendance each month and for having twenty perfect spelling lessons.

Marguerite Cummins visited us Tuesday afternoon.

Fox School.

Jason Kitchin, teacher. We found our floor nicely oiled when we returned on Tuesday. Thanks.

New pupils enrolled this week were Leonard Clark, Jim Townsend, and Rose Shaw. We now number forty-one.

Our morning news reports are proving very interesting. We are putting pictures on the Bulletin Board that illustrate these events.

Mrs. Pringle brought each a lovely bunch of grapes as a treat one day this week. We surely enjoyed them. Thank you, Mrs. Pringle.

Cecil and Joe Navarro have been absent for four days. We miss them.

Mr. Noble of Cass City came to our school on Monday and took our picture. No proofs have arrived. Hope the camera was not broken.

On Friday, Serena told us of her trip this summer. She visited six different states. She also had some postcard pictures of the places visited.

We extend an invitation to parents and friends to visit our school.

Ronald Chard was with us on Friday. Three of the teacher's former pupils have called on him since school started. They were George and Edsel Connell, former pupils at Shabbona, and Mary McEachern from Greenleaf.

Friday afternoon, we had an arithmetic contest. Iris Heronemus was the winner.

Reporters, Serena Pringle and Olive Fike.

Sharrard School.

Teacher, Miss Agnes MacLachlan. Reporters, Eva Kipfer and Marie Ralph.

We started school last week with an enrollment of twenty-four pupils.

First, second and third grades are learning "The Hay-loft," for language.

We have several new books this year. The teacher is reading "An Old Fashioned Girl" for morning exercises.

We had art Friday afternoon. Some of the girls have made a playhouse in the woods.

The seventh grade are learning latitude and longitude for geography.

We have clowns for our window decorations this month.

Those having 100 in spelling this week were Onaltee Ralph, Iva Dell Stockle, Eva King, Albertus Kipfer, Genevieve Miljure, Josephine Zaleski, Eva Kipfer, Fred Cooley and Edward Wiechert.

We have six new pupils of whom two are beginners.

Sand Valley School.

Teacher, Lucile Anthes. Reporters, Dorothy Klinkman and Lila Nowland.

We enjoy our new water fountain that Mr. Langworthy brought us Friday morning.

For geography, the fifth grade are studying Brazil and its products, so Miss Anthes brought them some coffee beans.

We think we will enjoy our "Useful Science" books.

For art this week, we drew a picture and named it "September Adventure."

Our visitors this week were Alice and June Schwaderer.

The third grade have started to do arithmetic in their books.

The fourth grade geography are studying soil formation. They have found a big stone in the school yard with big holes in it. They are going to watch and see if it will break and later form into soil.

For morning exercise, we are reading "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Paul School.

Eva Marble, teacher. School opened August 31. We have an enrollment of twenty-five.

We are busy practicing softball. We miss last year's eighth graders. We are practicing hard and hope the Quick school will play ball with us soon.

Our bell is fixed again. We are glad to hear it as school starts at 8:45 a. m. now. We dismiss school at 3:30 p. m.

Our eighth grade history class is keeping a scrapbook of "Modern Events in History."

Our bulletin board is filled with pictures of autumn scenes.

We are learning "Safety Songs." We don't want to be hurt in any kind of an accident.

The Dalton children went to the state fair on Saturday. Lily Smentek, reporter.

Winton School.

Teacher, Miss Beatrice Martin, for the third year.

Reporters, Wanda Karr and Joan Muntz.

School started Sept. 8 with newly painted walls and a new slide for the playground. We appreciate having both very much.

Our enrollment is 15 this year including all grades.

We have many bouquets of flowers in our room.

There is only one eighth grader this year.

We are planning to have electric lights and an electric clock in our schoolroom.

Miss Martin, our teacher, told us about her trip which she took up north last week-end. She went across the straits and as far north as Sault Ste. Marie. Miss Martin has been there three times and would like to go again.

Francis Clara rides his bicycle to school.

We have one pupil in the third grade, one in the fourth, and one in the fifth.

The first graders are having "Mother Goose Rhymes" read to them.

Elizabeth Butler, our third grader, is learning "September."

Poultry Tour Sept. 21, 22, 23

Poultrymen from all sections of the lower peninsula in Michigan are invited to participate in the sixth annual poultry tour Sept. 21, 22 and 23 in an itinerary that will include a start from the campus of Michigan State College at East Lansing and stops at poultry centers near Jackson, Monroe, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Flint and Owosso. Owners of farms have consented to show visitors their buildings and equipment and explain their methods of management, according to an announcement of plans by J. M. Moore, extension specialist in poultry husbandry at Michigan State College. Wax picking of poultry in a packing plant in Eaton Rapids will be on the first day's program Monday morning.

Other stops Monday morning will be made at the poultry plant on the college campus and at the farm of Earl Lowden, Rives Junction. In the afternoon the caravan of cars and poultrymen will stop at the Smiley Farms near Jackson, Paul Clement, Britton, and St. Mary's farm, Monroe.

Tuesday morning stops will be made at the Saline Valley Farms, Saline, Larowe research farm, Redford, and in the afternoon at the White Wing poultry farm at Utica; Associated farm, Disco; Kegler poultry farm, Romeo; and W. A. Downs, Romeo. The tour Wednesday will include the Walter Andrews farm at Holly and Roy Thompson, near Holly, and in the afternoon the Harry Burns farm at Millington and the Pineroft poultry farm at Owosso.

"Rag Baby" Currency During the currency expansion agitation of the late 70s the term "rag baby" was applied by the sound money advocates to the greenbacks, the government fiat currency issued during the Civil war. The term originated in a series of cartoons by Thomas Nast, published in Harper's Weekly in 1876, in which the greenback was depicted as a rag baby.

Yes, Sir We Appreciate Them!!

The other day I asked a man for his printing, and he told me: "Oh, our printing does not amount to much. All we have is a few little orders, and none of them ever run into anything that looks like money."

Those little orders are the kind that make our business.

Most of our business is in printing letterheads, small circulars, office forms, and other small orders. We appreciate a small order just as much as we do a big one.

So—if you have any small orders for printing we want you to know that we are glad to get them. We appreciate them just as much—and take just as good care of them—as if they actually amounted to hundreds of dollars.

WHAT FOODS TO BAR FROM DIET

Consider Those Affected by Certain Articles.

By EDITH M. BARBER

AT THE present moment, general rules for good nutrition are well established for the normal person. Every once in a while, however, you find a personal idiosyncrasy for one or more foods which demands that they be excluded temporarily or permanently from the diet.

There are a number of persons who are what is known as sensitive to certain foods and when they take them, even in small amounts, allergic conditions may be developed. The symptoms are hives, and nasal disturbances which are not unlike hay fever which is also caused by sensitiveness, in this case, to pollen.

A number of children are born with a sensitivity to such foods as eggs, whole grains and wheat and sometimes to beans and peas. There is an occasional reaction to milk. These conditions can be overcome in general by giving minute quantities at first and gradually increasing the amounts. It is quite common to find that strawberries and shellfish cause reactions. Sometimes this fact will be undiscovered until it shows after a nervous strain or disease. Often skin tests will show what food has suddenly become responsible for hives or a chronic cold. Usually the sensitivity clears up after other conditions are improved.

If there is a chronic condition which has been found impossible to correct, foods which are responsible must be replaced by others which will provide the same type of nourishment. If one member of the family is allergic, the meals for the family should be planned as far as possible with this consideration in mind.

Egless Mayonnaise.

- ¼ cup evaporated milk
  - ½ teaspoon granulated gelatin, soaked in one teaspoon cold water
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - ½ teaspoon paprika
  - 1 teaspoon sugar
  - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
  - Few grains cayenne
  - 1 cup vegetable or olive oil
  - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
  - 1 tablespoon vinegar
- Squid milk in the top of a double boiler. Add soaked gelatin and stir until dissolved. Pour into a bowl and chill until very cold. Add seasoning and oil, drop by drop, until the mixture thickens a little. Mix lemon juice and vinegar together and add alternately with the oil, one teaspoon at a time. Beat thoroughly after each addition. When mixing set the bowl in a pan of ice water.

Rye and Rice Muffins.

- (Without Wheat, Eggs or Milk.)
  - ½ cup rice flour
  - ¾ cup rye flour
  - 2 teaspoons baking powder
  - ¼ teaspoon salt
  - ¾ cup water
  - ½ tablespoon vegetable shortening, melted.
- Sift dry ingredients together. Add water and melted shortening and beat thoroughly. Pour into muffin tins, greased with a vegetable shortening and bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees Fahrenheit, 25 minutes.

Jellied Meat Loaf.

- 1 tablespoon gelatin
  - ¼ cup cold water
  - ¾ cup cooked salad dressing
  - 1½ cups cooked meat, ground
  - ½ cup chopped celery
  - ½ green pepper, chopped
  - Seasoning to taste
  - Sliced egg
- Soak the gelatin in cold water, dissolve in hot salad dressing. As the mixture begins to thicken add the meat, celery, green pepper and seasoning to taste. Turn into a mold, chill until firm. Remove from mold, garnish with shirred egg, and serve with sour cream dressing.

Sardine Toast.

- 1 can sardines
  - ¼ cup minced olives
  - 1 hard-cooked egg
  - 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
- Blend the ingredients thoroughly and spread on slices of bread toasted on one side.

Deviled Ham and Egg Canape.

- Butter
  - Deviled ham
  - White bread
  - Hard-cooked egg
  - Seasoning
- Cream the butter and ham together. Cut the bread into rounds a quarter of an inch thick, and spread with the mixture. Separate the whites from the yolks of the eggs. Season the yolks with salt, pepper, onion juice and enough salad oil to blend to a paste. Chip the egg whites and season. Place the yolks in the center of the canapes and sprinkle with whites around the edge. Allow one egg for each two canapes.

Criminals Used for Experiments

Condemned Chinese criminals were once used as subjects for experiments. Son Non is supposed to have been the first of the "holy men" to introduce this practice. It was from his study of vivisection that he came to the conclusion that there were five basic elements: Water, vegetation, fire, earth, and mineral. Herbal medicines are chosen and classified according to their relation to these five elements.

WEDDINGS.

Concluded from first page. Craig Blanchard, Frederick Blight.

Ushers were J. C. Blades, William Bell, Harlon Hinemiller, Donald Salsbury and Orville Nease, all of Detroit.

Immediately following the wedding a buffet luncheon was served the bridal party and fifty guests at the home of the bride's mother at 5615 Maybury Grnd, Detroit.

They will make their home in Detroit where Mr. Boulton is employed by the Burrough's Adding Machine Company.

Those from Cass City who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boulton, son, Clarence, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Sam Blades, Mrs. Edward Rush, Miss Phyllis McComb and Thomas Hennessy.

Hansen-Rowan. A pretty wedding was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 13, when Mrs. Jane B. Rowan, daughter of Mrs. George Burt of Cass City, became the bride of Axel Hansen of Detroit at the Burt home, on West street.

Rev. Charles P. Bayless, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, read the marriage service at 2:15 o'clock in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. A. Fredericks and Mr. Hathaway, all of Detroit.

The bride wore a gown of aquamarine net with royal purple accessories. Mrs. Fredericks wore coral organza and each wore a shoulder corsage of pale pink with a touch of yellow.

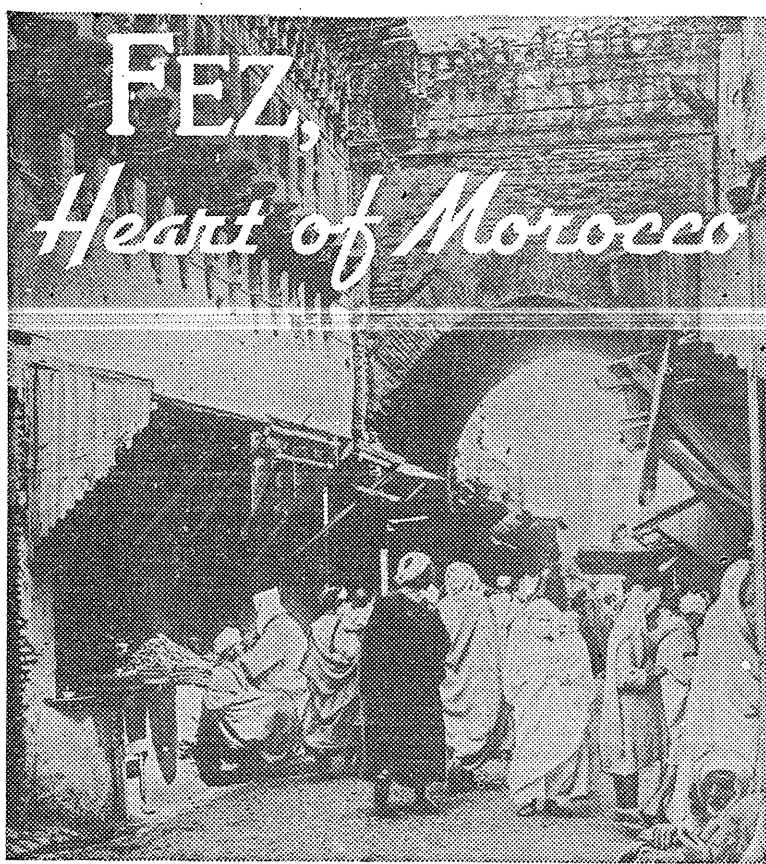

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served twenty-five guests at tables pretty with low bowls of cut flowers, all in shades of yellow.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansen left Sunday evening for Detroit where they will make their home and where Mr. Hansen is employed as a construction engineer.

Guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Somes of Sarnia, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Somes and three children of Sault Ste. Marie, Miss Ida Pallard of Onaway, Mrs. Hannah McKim, Mrs. Roy Smithson, Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Brown and children.

Shaw-Appel. Miss Helen Marie Shaw became the bride of Mr. Thorwald Appel of Saginaw at the Caro Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon.

Dr. J. Leslie French, pastor of the church, officiated. Mrs. Donald Seed of Pontiac, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor, and Lester Appel of Detroit, brother of the bridegroom, was his attendant.

Street Scene in Fez, Morocco

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service. IF RABAT is the brain of Morocco, Fez is its heart.

Almost equidistant from the Atlantic and the Mediterranean, and nearly a hundred miles from either is this storied city, still the political and religious center of Morocco.

From a hillside one looks down, in wonder and admiration, on the tree-shaded valley in which lies once-turbulent, always-exotic, now-peaceful Fez.

It is a chessboard, checkered in countless tiny squares which are the flat roofs of its myriad houses, the edge of the board being the lofty city walls.

Rather, there are two chessboards: Fez El Bali, Fez the Old; and higher along the steep slope is Fez Djedid, Fez the New. It was new in A. D. 1276.

Like chessmen left scattered aimlessly about the board stand the slender minarets of the many mosques. On every side rise the hills crowned with forts old and new, forts built by long-dead sultans to cow their rebellious subjects within the city, others erected by the French to defend Fez against the Berber tribes outside the walls.

Beyond the rounded hills, away to the south, are higher mountains covered with snow in winter. But in summer the arid steppes are waist-high in flowers.

Fez appears now as it did through the long centuries of Moslem domination, since Arab invaders built it somewhere about A. D. 800; as it was before ever the infidels entered it except as slaves or as missions of Christian states humbly seeking to propitiate the Sultan.

It remains as it was when still the home of the Sherifian rulers, the real capital, the enlightened, artistic, magnificent city second to none in all Islam, when in the twelfth century it boasted 735 mosques; 480 inns, and 120,000 private houses.

But hark! A humming drone fills the air; and high over the venerable city flies an airplane. France rules the sky above and the soil beneath; the Sultan is a shadow in Rabat.

Is Yet Unspoilt Being only recently opened to the outer world, Fez is as yet unspoilt and of deep interest to the traveler. Its size surprises. From one end to the other of the twin cities it measures four miles. Its population today is about 107,000, including fewer than 10,000 Israelites who are herded together in the Jewish quarter of Fez Djedid.

interiors are light and luxurious. The privacy of their pleasant gardens is guarded by eunuchs. There the fair occupants of the harem may cast aside their veils and ugly shrouding garments, and shine in all the splendor of massive jewelry and the bright hues of silken dresses that Arab and Berber ladies wear.

Seated on the ground with their backs against the walls of these houses are beggars, singly or in groups, mostly blind.

Here three men squat side by side, companions in misery. They are silent, their chins on their chests. In a sudden movement the three heads are lifted simultaneously, the haggard faces and sightless eyes upturned, three hands thrust out begging bowls, and three voices chorus in perfect time a long-drawn appeal for alms!

A Street of Misery "In the name of Allah, give us of your charity! You who have riches, pity the poor! You who have eyes, be merciful to the blind! God will requite ye! Alms! In the name of the Prophet, give us alms!"

The three voices cease together, the three bowls are swiftly withdrawn, the three heads are lowered, chin to chest again—all in perfect unison.

A bell rings clear and sweet; and up the steep lane hobbles a ragged man hugging under his left arm a wet and bloated hairy thing like the swollen carcass of a drowned dog.

Before the French protectorate over Morocco was established, the British government once sent a mission to the Sultan in Fez with letters and presents. Attached to it was a Scots Guards subaltern—he is a peer and a general today. He had visited the country on leave several times, so he was chosen to go with the mission.

When it rode in state into Fez, he was mounted on a big mule and clad in the full-dress scarlet and gold of his regiment, with the bearskin—the "hairy hat," as admiring Dublin street urchins call it—on his head. Tall and handsome, he presented a striking figure in his gorgeous uniform and appealed to the crowds lining the route to the imperial palace.

But the bearskin busby puzzled them. "What is that he has on his head?" cried a wondering citizen in the front rank of the spectators.

A newspaper correspondent in Morocco, riding in the procession, had lived many years in the country and spoke Arabic fluently. He turned in his saddle and answered the enquirer loudly in the vernacular.

"That is a water bag. His sultan has allowed him to wear it as a mark of honor for putting out a fire in his town."

DEFORD

Wedded—Miss Olive Churchill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Churchill, became the bride of Douglas Elder, of Manelona, at noon, on Thursday, Sept. 10.

The marriage vows were spoken at the Free Methodist parsonage at Wilmot, and the pastor, F. L. Crandell, performed the ceremony. The bride couple were attended by Rev. and Mrs. Burgess of Yale.

A wedding dinner was served at the Churchill home. Mr. and Mrs. Elder are spending a few days at Manelona, and on their return, their home will be at the Frank Hegler farm where Mr. Elder is employed.

Birthday Observed—Thirty-one relatives gathered on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Spencer.

Guests were present from Pontiac, Oxford, Saginaw, Bad Axe, Cass City and Deford. Mrs. Spencer was the recipient of some fine gifts.

Mrs. Roy Colwell of Saginaw brought a beautifully decorated cake, which graced the center of the table. Mrs. Spencer said never mind the number of candles required in the decoration.

IMMEDIATE SPRAYING OF APPLES NECESSARY

Immediate spraying of apples to control the late second brood of codling moth has been made necessary because of weather conditions, says Ray Hutson, Michigan State College entomologist.

Hutson has just completed a survey of Michigan's commercial apple sections and reports that considerable damage may be done this year's crop unless spraying is done as soon as possible.

Any of the standard codling moth sprays, such as were applied earlier in the season in the regular spray schedule, will be effective.

He cautioned, however, if arsenic sprays are applied that it will be necessary to wash the fruit before it is marketed.

The Dalmatian Dog The Dalmatian undoubtedly originated in Dalmatia, a province of Austria. At least this is where its name came from. Originally it was used for hunting purposes, as the popular pointer is today, but it possessed an inferior nose as compared with other hunting breeds, and its fondness for horses soon changed its status to that of a coach dog.

An Ancient Port Durazzo, a port of the youthful kingdom of Albania, was founded as Epidamnus at the end of the Seventh century, B. C. Quarrels over its ownership led to the Peloponnesian war of 431 B. C. It changed hands many times until the kingdom of Albania was created in 1913.

Loss of Memory "What some men manages to mistake for a clear conscience," said Uncle Eben, "is merely loss of memory."
