

CRASH ON FRIDAY IS FATAL TO TWO MEN

Two Trucks Are Overtaken in Collision Three Miles West of Reese.

Vernon Roe of Owendale and Peter Kuzna, 28, of Munger were both fatally injured Friday when trucks they were driving collided at the intersection of M-81 and M-15, three miles west of Reese. Both trucks were overturned, the vehicle driven by Mr. Roe bursting into flames.

Mr. Roe passed away Friday afternoon in St. Luke's hospital in Saginaw. Mr. Kuzna died Monday morning in the same hospital.

Roe, driving for Art & Duff trucking company, was going west when his vehicle collided with that of Kuzna, driving his own gravel truck for a Bay City contractor, going south.

The Roe truck was destroyed by fire after overturning, Mr. Roe being dragged from the flames by a passing motorist and a gasoline station attendant.

Vernon Don Roe was born in Owendale, Brookfield township, on March 5, 1911, and was united in marriage with Miss Norma Youngs of Owendale.

Funeral services were held on Monday at 2:00 p. m. in the Owendale Evangelical church. Burial was in Williamston cemetery.

Mr. Roe had been employed by the trucking company, driving between Detroit and Chicago, for four years and this was the first accident of any form that he had experienced.

He leaves his widow and daughter, Dorothy, four weeks old; his mother, Mrs. Joseph Roe, of Owendale; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Taylor, Owendale, and Mrs. Leslie Schaffer, Detroit; and three brothers, Harry and Gordon Roe, Owendale, and Joseph Roe of Bay City.

His father, Joseph Roe, and a sister, Mrs. Lucy Lucas, died two years ago.

WEDDINGS

Simmons-McNeil

Miss Elizabeth Simmons, daughter of Mrs. Velma Simmons of this place, became the bride of Roy McNeil, oldest son of Mrs. William Bentley, also of Cass City, at a very quiet ceremony in the home of the groom's mother Wednesday evening. Rev. G. A. Spitzer, pastor of the Evangelical church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bentley of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeil left Thursday morning for a few days' visit in Metamora, Pontiac and Detroit and will make their home here where Mr. McNeil is in the blacksmith business with his stepfather, William Bentley.

Fuester-Whitfield

A quiet wedding took place Saturday, September 19, at high noon in the Presbyterian manse, when Miss Helen Jane Whitfield, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Whitfield, of Cass City, became the bride of Mr. Elmer James Fuester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fuester of Bad Axe. Rev. Paul J. Alured performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of wine colored shadow velvet with coat to match. She was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Lynn Fuester, who was gowned in black shadow velvet. The groom was attended by his brother, Lynn Fuester, of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuester left to spend the week-end with friends and relatives in Detroit.

The bride, who has made her home with her cousin, Mrs. Lynn Fuester, for the last three months, was a graduate from the Cass City high school in June of this year.

Hendrick-Tuckey

A pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening, September 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Tuckey on Pine street, when Miss Lanetta Hendrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hendrick, of Elmwood and Harold Tuckey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Tuckey, of Cass City were united in marriage by Rev. G. D. Clink of Decker.

Miss Marion Bullock of Evergreen was bridesmaid while Ralph Perry assisted the groom.

The wedding party took their places beneath an arch of ferns and autumn flowers while Miss Jean Tuckey, a niece of the groom, played the wedding march. The bride wore an ankle length brown crepe dress and carried an arm bouquet.

After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served to fifty guests.

Five generations of the bride's family were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuckey will make their home in Pontiac where Mr. Tuckey is employed.

Out-of-town guests included Rev. and Mrs. G. D. Clink of Decker, Rev. and Mrs. John E. Tuckey of Elkton, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Evans and daughter, Eldona, of Pontiac, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Campbell of Caro.

McEachern-Hoff

From Greenleaf Correspondent.

Miss Mary McEachern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McEachern, of Greenleaf township, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth A. Hoff, son of Mrs. Charles Hoff of Howell, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 15. The marriage was performed by the Rev. J. E. Zoller in Detroit. They were attended by Miss Frances Henry of Cass City and Ralph Luttermoser of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoff will reside in Detroit. Mrs. Hoff graduated from the Cass City high school with the Class of 1933.

CO. DEMOCRATS IN HARMONIOUS MEET

Elected Four Delegates Monday to Attend State Convention at Battle Creek.

ONE-THIRD PAY TAX DELINQUENCIES IN FULL

840 Tuscola Co. Descriptions Show No Back Tax Payments Since 1932.

On September 1, 1935, 2,664 tax descriptions in Tuscola county all showed unpaid 1932 taxes and some of these unpaid taxes of earlier years, according to Arthur Whittenburg, county treasurer.

A year and nine days later, September 10, 1936, 955 of these descriptions had taxes paid in full, 270 had paid one-tenth of the delinquent taxes under the 10-year moratorium plan, and 599 had paid two-tenths of their delinquency.

Eight hundred forty descriptions were left on which no delinquent tax payments had been made. It is these 840 descriptions in Tuscola county and hundreds of descriptions in each of the other agricultural counties, and thousands upon thousands of descriptions in urban counties on which delinquent taxes are unpaid that are causing a serious problem which faces the state legislature. In many cases, more taxes are due from these properties than the lands would bring if placed for sale on the market.

The county treasurers, in their state convention several weeks ago, recommended to state authorities that the state cancel its share in these delinquent taxes and let this real estate revert to the county in which it is located and give the county the right to dispose of the property in order to settle the unpaid county, township and village delinquent taxes and thus restore these descriptions to the tax rolls again for active participation in raising tax revenues.

Biblical Truth Demonstrated Here

The Biblical story which calls attention to the advantage of building on a firm foundation and the likelihood of a house tumbling down when built on sand has been aptly demonstrated here.

Some six years ago, when the Neeb gasoline service station was erected on East Main street, the floor was laid on top of the ground with no supporting foundation walls. Part of this floor was over what had one time been a cellar and which had been filled in part with old tin cans and other rubbish. Several months ago the floor and north wall of the service station office commenced to show cracks which grew larger and more pronounced as time marched on. This week the north wall of the building and part of the floor was removed. Solid foundation walls have been laid and a new north wall will be placed.

Alterations will be made which will make for more convenience for the new operators, Wright & Murphy, and their customers.

Literary Digest Straw Vote Ballots Reach Cass City

Individual ballots have been mailed to voters of Cass City and nearby communities in a new Literary Digest poll of over 10,000,000 persons to ascertain who will be the next president of the United States.

Michigan's returns in this 1936 referendum will be tallied as a unit so they may be compared with the voting in other states, it is announced.

The voting of the post card ballot is secret as no signature or other identification is required and the return postage is paid by the Literary Digest magazine. To guard against tampering and counterfeiting a specially manufactured cardboard is used for printing the ballot, according to the sponsors of the poll, and all spurious votes can be detected immediately and destroyed.

The ballot asks the voter's choice of the seven officially nominated candidates and for whom he or she voted in the 1932 election to reveal the general drift from one party to another.

This is announced as the fourth quadrennial national Presidential poll conducted by the Literary Digest. The three previous polls have forecast the Presidential winner with "uncanny accuracy."

Tap-dancing and Ballroom Lessons.

New classes forming for children and adults at the Cass City high school on Thursday afternoons. Teacher is Bill Wilson of Detroit. Special private instruction for advanced pupils, and dancing teachers.—Advertisement 2t.

COMING AUCTIONS.

Mrs. Catherine McDonald has sold her residence in Gagetown and will sell household goods at auction Saturday, Sept. 26, two blocks north of the Square Deal Hardware store in that village. Bob Wills is the auctioneer.

Andrew Krzyziak has decided to quit farming and will sell horses, cattle, swine, farm machinery and grain at auction, 1 mile east and 3/4 mile north of Shabbona, on Tuesday, Sept. 29. T. B. Tyrell is the auctioneer and the Pinney State Bank is clerk.

Clifford Campbell will quit farming and will have an auction sale of personal property on Friday, Oct. 2, 1 mile north and 1 1/2 miles east of Kingston. T. B. Tyrell will cry the sale and the clerk is the Kingston State Bank.

These three auctions are advertised in detail on page seven.

MISS DORIS MOORE

whose marriage with Donald B. Lester of Edmore, Michigan, will take place on Wednesday, September 30, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moore, in Grant township. Miss Moore has chosen the 75th anniversary of the wedding of her great grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Marvin W. Moore, as the date of her marriage.

WALLACE IS REGISTERING BOWLERS OF COMMUNITY

Cameron M. Wallace is registering the names of bowlers for a series of games at the Recreation. Players will be classified according to their ability, so beginners will not be embarrassed by being put in competition with Guy Landon, Dougald Krug and other "high rankers" of the community.

A penny a miss will be collected and placed in a fund to be used in defraying expenses of a banquet at the end of the season. It is expected several series of games will be played during the winter months.

FIVE IN FAMILY ARE INJURED IN CRASH

Joyce Schweigert, Seven, Had Skull Fractured Near Unionville.

Five members of a Unionville family were taken to the hospital in that village for treatment following an automobile collision at Eckfeld's Corners, three miles south of Unionville, on Sunday at 1:00 p. m.

William Schweigert, the father, suffered minor cuts while three daughters and his son, Robert, who was driving, were treated for serious injuries. Shirley, 7, sustained a broken left leg; Phyllis, 10, a broken right leg; and Joyce, 7, received a fractured skull in the accident. Robert was treated for serious arm cuts.

Schweigert's Ford pick-up collided with a Ford V-8 driven by Douglas Monte, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Monte, of Fairgrove township. He escaped unhurt. The Monte car going south on M-83 and the Schweigert auto going east met at the intersection. The Monte car was badly smashed.

VASSAR SEWER PROJECT WILL BE STARTED MONDAY

Vassar citizens expect that work on their sewerage project will start in that village next Monday. The cost of the project is estimated at $25,000. Twenty thousand will be paid from WPA funds and $5,000 by the village.

FIRE THREATENED J. A. COLE HOME FRIDAY

Fire had a good start on the roof of the residence occupied by the John A. Cole family on Pine street when it was discovered Friday noon. One side of the roof was a sheet of flames when the fire department arrived on the scene. The damage was confined mainly to the roof of the building.

RECOUNT DEMANDED BY LOUIS B. WARD

Vote Close in Race for Democratic Nomination for U. S. Senator.

Louis B. Ward, former Washington representative of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's national union for social justice, notified Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald Friday that he would demand a recount of votes cast for U. S. senate aspirants in the Michigan democratic primary.

On the basis of incomplete returns, Ward was trailing Congressman Prentiss M. Brown for the nomination by 3,950 votes with 34 precincts yet to be tallied. His telegram to the governor explained that he was asking a re-check "in the interest of good government" and because "this result is so close."

Ballot boxes of various sizes and types are being sent in to County Clerk S. W. Morrison by the 24 voting precincts in Tuscola county. A recount has been ordered of the primary vote for the Democratic candidates for United States senator. It is probable that the recount will be held at the court house as Secretary of State Orville E. Atwood has asked the county clerk if rooms are available in the court house for this purpose.

Flower Show Here Next Tuesday

The Woman's Study club will conduct a flower show in the League room of the M. E. church in Cass City on Tuesday afternoon, September 29. All entries must be made by noon of that day by members of the club.

Members who exhibit are requested to make entries in one of the following six classes: Basket of flowers, vase of flowers, bowl of flowers, mixed bouquet, home plants, and winter bouquet. Exhibitors are to bring and arrange their flowers at the church. The judges will make their decisions more on the floral arrangements than on the flowers themselves. Awards will be made for first and second places in each class.

RURAL SCHOOLS

Sand Valley School.

Teacher, Lucile Anthes. Reporter, Kenneth Robinson. We enjoy our new globe that Mr. Langworthy brought for us. The first, second and third graders have a chart on the wall. Every time they have a hundred in reading and in spelling, they put a star on it.

For art this week we made pictures of willow trees.

For morning exercise, we are reading "The Old Fashioned Girl." The fifth grade are studying South America and the seventh grade are studying Europe for geography.

The little folks are learning nursery rhymes for language. We had a good time playing football but when we got through everybody was hurt so I guess we will have to play a little easier.

Fox School.

Teacher, Jason Kitchin. The proof of our picture came on Wednesday. It was quite good. Someone said "pretty good." At least it was "pretty as a picture."

Evelyn Robinson left us to live in Detroit. Enrollment now is 40. Our flag, though badly frayed by the wind, was seen aloft Sept. 17 in honor of the anniversary of the signing of the U. S. constitution.

We are located just half way between Cass City and Sandusky so these schoolnotes appear in both papers. Thanks, Mr. Chronicle Man, for the free copy of your paper each week. We enjoy reading it.

Thursday, Mr. Kitchin read to us a story entitled "Kagax, the Weasel." It was a very interesting account of the weasel's last day of life.

We have enjoyed some good "sings." Some of the songs were old favorites from the Knapsack.

Some time was spent one day this week making maps of our county and locating highways, rivers, towns, railroads and townships.

The baseball boys chipped in and bought a baseball and softball. David, Eddie, Benny, Leon, Jim, and Leonard are building a wigwam. It's big enough for all of us but they say "no girls allowed."

Next week will be the fourth week. Teacher says there will be some tests. Will we like them? Don't know.

Reporters, Olive Fike and Serena Pringle.

Rescue School.

Teacher, Catherine MacLachlan. Reporter, John Ashmore. Seventh and eighth grades were glad to find their science books interesting.

We had art Friday. Everyone enjoyed it.

Those having 100 in spelling all week were: Marie Martin and Lawrence Summers.

Our visitors this week were: Mrs. John MacCallum, Gertrude Putman and Mr. Putman.

Fifth and sixth grades are making health notebooks for hygiene.

Seventh and eighth grades are making flower notebooks.

Third and fourth grades wrote letters to their father for language Friday.

We did not have school Monday as Miss MacLachlan went to teachers' institute at Bad Axe.

Sharrard School.

Teacher, Miss Agnes E. MacLachlan. Reporters, Fred Cooley and Edward Wiechert.

Eva Kipfer and Marie, Roy and Onnallee Rolph were absent two days this week.

We had to have a small fire in the stove this week.

We did not have school Monday on account of teachers' institute at Bad Axe.

Euleta Taylor and Nelda Wolfe were visitors this week.

Seventh and eighth grades are studying verbs and verb phrases for English.

We are expecting our new science books soon.

The third and fourth grades have been telling stories for language.

The beginners, first and second grades are learning the poem,

Order for Publication.—Appointment of Administrator.—State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Tuscola.

At a session of said court, held at the Probate Office in the Village of Caro, in said county, on the 17th day of September, A. D. 1936.

Present: Hon. H. Walter Cooper, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Mary L. Lounsbury, Deceased.

Townsend Lounsbury, having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to himself, or to some other suitable person,

It is ordered, that the 19th day of October, A. D. 1936, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, he and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Cass City Chronicle, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

H. Walter Cooper, Judge of Probate.

"The Man in the Moon," for language.

Those having 100 in spelling this week were Edward King, Robert Kipfer, Alice Wiechert, Genevieve Miljure, Eva Kipfer, Fred Cooley, and Edward Wiechert.

Weiss school visited us Friday afternoon. They were victorious in the games. The softball score was 11 to 12.

Greenwood School.

Teacher, Mildred Everett. We have an enrollment of 22 pupils. There are three new beginners Irene, Rowena and Rosella Hawley.

The fourth grade are sketching maps of North America. They are putting in the names of the largest countries.

The third grade are learning the poem, "The Swing" by Robert Louis Stevenson.

We have a new set of historical geographical maps of the United States, also a new pencil sharpener.

We like our stove much better now. It is moved to the back of the room.

We are learning new safety first songs.

We drew pictures of woodland scenes. We put birds, squirrels, and rabbits in our pictures.

We have the Great Seal of the State of Michigan hanging in our room.

The beginners, first and second grades made jointed Humpty-Dumpties.

The third grade made jointed elephants for their chart.

Reporters, Bernice Vorhes and Louis Gyomory.

WILMOT.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Clark, Glenn and Harry Clark spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mina Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clapp and family of Flint were Sunday visitors at the Cora Atfield home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis of East Jordan spent last week with relatives and helped to care for Mrs. Davis' father, R. B. Clark, who is very ill at the home of his son, Mina Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moyer spent Sunday with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Evans and sons, Gerald, of Pontiac visited friends and relatives.

Miss Greta Chapin of Flint spent the week-end at her parental home.

Eugene Ruthford of Rochester enjoyed the week-end with his sister, Mrs. Walter McArthur, and family.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Crandell are spending the week in the north visiting relatives and friends.

John Robert is able to be out again after a week's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chapin and children spent the week-end in Flint.

Burial Customs of Pharaohs

The mortuary customs of the Pharaohs, nobles and official class did not extend to the commoners, since they could not afford the expense of the elaborate preparations made by their superiors during life for death ceremonials.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

BILLY MINK BECOMES SUSPICIOUS

OF ALL the little people in the Green Forest there is none with sharper eyes, and keener wits than Billy Mink. Nothing goes on along the Laughing Brook, from its start in the Green Forest to where it joins the Big River, that Billy Mink doesn't know about. Billy is a great traveler. He is so full of life and energy that he cannot keep still very long at a time. Moreover, Billy is one of those little people to whom it makes no difference whether jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun is shining or gentle Mistress Moon has taken his place up in the sky, or the Black Shadups have wrapped everything in darkness. He takes a nap whenever he feels sleepy, and whenever he doesn't feel sleepy he travels up and down the Laughing Brook.

In these little journeys back and forth nothing escapes Billy's bright eyes and sharp ears and keen nose. Being such a slim fellow he slips in and out of holes and hiding places which no one save his cousin, Shadow the Weasel, could get into. Now it happened that one day Billy curled up in a hollow log under a pile of brush close to the Laughing Brook. In a jiffy he was asleep. Right in the middle of the pleasantest of pleasant dreams he was awakened. Instantly he was wide awake. He was just as wide awake as if he hadn't been asleep at all. Without stopping to think anything about it, he knew what had awakened him. Some one had just passed his hiding place.

Noislessly Billy crept out of the hollow log and peeped from under the pile of brush. Walking down the bank of the Laughing Brook was a man. "I've never seen that fellow before," muttered Billy to himself. "It isn't Farmer Brown's Boy, and it isn't Farmer Brown. He seems to be looking for something. I wonder what he is about. I think I'll watch him."

So, as silently as a shadow, Billy Mink followed the man down the Laughing Brook, and the man didn't once suspect it. You see, Billy can always find a hiding place if it be no more than a heap of brown leaves. He just slipped from one hiding place to another, always keeping the man in sight.

Billy became more and more interested and inquisitive as he watched that man. The man certainly did seem to be looking for something. He would examine every half sunken log in the Laughing Brook. He searched carefully every little hole. It didn't take Billy long to discover that this man seemed to be especially interested in those places where Billy almost always went when traveling up and down the Laughing Brook.

Billy stopped and rubbed his nose thoughtfully. He was growing suspicious. "I wonder," thought Billy, "if he is looking for me."

Kenneth Walker of Saginaw, John McArthur and James Newell of Deford are still patients at the hospital.

Carl Reed was able to leave the hospital Friday; Mrs. Stephen Harbeck left Saturday for her home near Cass City; and Mrs. Chris Labor was able to be taken to her home in Argyle Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Gregory Rutkowski of Kingston was admitted Tuesday evening, Sept. 15, and was operated on Saturday morning. She is still a patient.

Miss Mary Dobson of Cass City entered Tuesday and underwent an operation on Wednesday morning. She is still at the hospital.

Roy Hill of Cass City entered Thursday evening for medical care and is still at the hospital.

James O'Rourke of Gagetown entered Sunday for medical care and is still here.

Nicholas Thane of Caro was admitted Saturday evening and was operated on Sunday morning. He is still a patient.

Glenadeen Vyse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Vyse, of St. Louis underwent a minor operation Tuesday.

Several thousand baseball fans are expected at Sebewaing Oct. 4 to see Bill Rogell, Detroit Tiger shortstop, and his all-star team do battle with the Huron-Tuscola League All-Stars. With Rogell will be Gerald Walker, peppery right-fielder, Elden Auker, pitcher, and Jack Burns, first baseman, all of the Tigers, Russell Van Atta of the St. Louis Browns and other star players. The Sebewaing Municipal Band of 35 pieces and the Sebewaing Junior band of 100 pieces will furnish music before and during the game. The Junior band will give a marching demonstration. In the event of rain, the game will be played on the following day, Monday, Oct. 5.

Over 250 teachers in Huron county schools were in Bad Axe Monday for a one-day institute, which was high-lighted by an address by Eugene B. Elliott, superintendent of public instruction. Elliott counseled his listeners to carefully scan the proposed tax amendments which come up at the November election. He said that if the amendments were passed, it would mean that revenue for state schools would be insufficient.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY SECTIONS

Happenings Here and There Garnered from the Chronicle's Exchanges.

Miss Dorothy Fox, acting Sanilac county emergency relief administrator since the death of Joseph O'Hara in April, has been appointed permanent administrator by the State Welfare Commission. Miss Fox formerly served as secretary to Mr. O'Hara.

Because the skull of Jack, a 110-pound police dog, owned by Henry Neuman, was found crushed, after he had given warning of a fire which destroyed his master's beer garden and garage at Decker at 3:00 a. m. Sunday, Sheriff James Greenan has started an investigation.

Elkton team of the Huron-Tuscola Baseball League clinched the championship of the circuit Sunday taking both games of a series at the annual tournament held at Elkton. The top honor came when a postponed game with Fairgrove was played in the forenoon, Elkton winning 18-1. In the afternoon, Elkton defeated Gagetown, runner-up in the league, 5-1.

Perhaps the most valuable prize awarded at the state fair at Detroit went to 20-year-old Lee Flannigan, Marlette farm boy, who carried off the special prizes offered by a motor company and a farm equipment manufacturer. The prize consists of a motor truck, a late model tractor, plows, disks, harrows—all to the value of more than $2,500. The prizes went to Flannigan as the Michigan farm boy chosen as having been of the greatest worth in agricultural pursuits in 1935. Since his graduation in 1934 from Marlette high school, he has helped his father on the family farm near Marlette.

The proposal to revise the city government of Crosswell and to draft a specific charter for later consideration of the people was carried in the election Tuesday with a total affirmative vote of 314 against 151 opposing votes.

Nine commissioners were elected to make an extensive study and to draft a new charter setting forth proposed revisions in the local code. Before a charter could become law it would have to be fully approved by a vote of Crosswell people and would have to be approved by the state. It is expected that preliminary study will require several weeks.—Jeff.

Complying with the request of the state fire marshal's department, superintendents of the poor for Tuscola county are having installed at the county infirmary a tubular fire escape. The metal tube is being placed at the windows of the second floor of the men's building. Another improvement at the infirmary ordered by the board of supervisors is a new stoker.

Eastern High, an Example of Denver's Fine School Buildings.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

When you enter Denver, Colorado, you come to the urban hub of nearly one-fifth of the United States. A state capital, a great western city, a gateway to the mountains—all these Denver is and more. Spokes of influence extend from it into the entire Rocky Mountain area, and into large regions of the adjoining plains.

Later, when great riches were made in gold and silver and cattle, the fortunate ones moved to Denver and built the mansions and hotels and business blocks that started the solid structure of the city. Globe-trotters, adventurers, and capitalists flocked to Denver in the seventies and eighties.

With this rail contact with the eastern settlements established and with the steady growth of mining in the mountains, Denver drew to herself in a few years direct lines of railroad from the east. Now these highways of steel radiate north and south and east from Denver like the ribs of a fan.

Never Lost Dream While the transcontinental railways went their busy way north and south of Denver, the city never lost its dream of a line straight west through the mountains.

Greatest and most tireless of the dreamers was David H. Moffat, who visioned a six-mile tunnel through the Continental Divide under James Peak. He not only dreamed, but worked, and spent his fortune on the project. He did not live to see his plan realized, but on July 7, 1927, the Moffat tunnel was holed through.

You sense Denver's most astonishing physical achievement only when you let your imagination wander back seventy years. It is hard to believe that barely three score and ten years ago this great city, with its hundreds of miles of streets, lined now with fine, towering shade trees, was raw prairie. Not a tree was in sight; only a level plain covered with sparse grass, dry and brown through most of the year.

The price of the beautiful lawns is much moisture. At certain hours each day in the summer a virtual barrage of water is laid down over the 1,600 acres of lawns in the city's parks.

Use Water Lavishly Knowing that this is a dry country and that water is precious, you ask one of the officials of the water board about the heavy use of water in the city and run into a surprising paradox.

"It is very important that we use water lavishly today," he tells you, "in order that our grandchildren shall have enough for their vital needs. Visiting water-works experts think we are crazy when we make that statement, but it is literally true.

"This is an irrigation country. Municipalities, as well as individuals, must follow the laws worked out under irrigation conditions in getting their water supplies. Once you get hold of a flow of water, if you don't use it you forfeit it to some one who will. We are looking forward to a city of half a million or more by 1950.

One way in which Denver plans to increase its water supply constitutes and engineering romance. When the Moffat tunnel was dug, an eight-foot-square pilot tunnel was carried through the Continental Divide beside the large railway bore.

In education Denver's fame is great. Educators from the two hemispheres have beaten a path to this far-away city at the base of the Rockies to study its scheme of teachers' salaries, its indefatigable efforts to keep the subject-matter which it teaches abreast of all worthwhile developments, and even its school architecture.

The "Denver Plan" for teachers' salaries has been adopted by many municipalities.

A Practical School Another famous part of the Denver educational system that draws educators from afar is its Opportunity school.

Monsieur Chevallereau (the first two syllables of his name mean "horse" in French) wrote a letter to Jean Chiappe, president of the Municipal council, saying that he had been a cab driver since 1891 and that for the last two years he had been the one and only man left in that profession in the entire French capital.

The open horse cabs, picturesque survivals of the gay nineties in Paris, were retained chiefly as a tourist attraction.

Town History Enriched Monterey, Calif.—Federal research workers have established that an Argentine naval expedition under the command of a French captain captured and sacked Monterey in 1818. The Argentine flag floated for several days over the city making seven foreign flags that have at times been flown in California.

MIRACLES IN BIBLE TRUE, SAYS SAVANT

Sir Marston Points to Archaeological Evidence.

London.—"The reality of the unseen is now recognized by scientists. Indeed, the radio has familiarized us all with the fact that space is not empty.

That science is his own—archeology. Sir Charles thinks she is succeeding.

Having accumulated a manufacturing fortune, he has poured out his wealth in financing excavations among the shambles of Eastern civilizations.

He claims that evidence dug up in Bible lands has confounded the critics of the Bible and has shown their conclusions to be wrong and often downright silly.

Making public a summary of ten years' work entitled "Fresh Evidence About the Old Testament," Sir Charles Marston, veteran English archeologist, speaking, writes Newell Rogers in the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

"Those who study the science of physical research can go a stage further (than the fact that space is not empty).

"They are satisfied that intelligencies exist in space and at times communicate, and even manifest themselves on earth.

"It is only the materialistic speculations of the last generation which had led us to doubt them."

This pious scientist, who is also a lay leader in the Church of England, has married twice—both times to American women.

American Holds 25-Year Record as Huntmaster

Pau, France.—Frederick H. Prince of Boston has completed his twenty-fifth year as master of foxhounds at Pau. He is considered one of the best in France.

He was named master in 1910, and his term of service has lasted longer than that of any of the 27 huntmasters who preceded him as master at the Pau hunt, which was founded in 1842.

Many well known personalities have attended these hunts, including Edward VII, king of England, who then was prince of Wales.

Red coats, green collars, pale yellow waistcoats, and white breeches with turned-up hunting boots make up the regulation costume for hunters.

Most of the hunting takes place over a tract of country 30 miles long in the valley of the Gave de Pau, a fast flowing river in southern France. This region is rich in natural obstacles, and the Pau hunting entails much jumping.

Last Horse "Coachman" in Paris Gets a Medal

Paris.—The coachman of the last horse cab in Paris has been decorated with the Medal of the City of Paris.

Clean Fresh Air Aids Dairy, Hens

Dairy cows and laying pullets and hens are neither fresh air "fiends" or warm corner spongers in winter time, in the opinion of H. Jefferson, research assistant in agricultural engineering at Michigan State college.

He finds, however, that in the approach of winter weather dairymen and poultrymen can find usually a more profitable combination of ventilation, insulation and maintenance of comfortable temperatures in barns and poultry houses.

Where insulation is too costly, he recommends some sacrifice of fresh air in the dairy barn. Even in poultry coops in winter he suggests a damper in the outlet flue to combat excessively cold weather.

Most important to watch in winter time is the frost and damp air which are considered favorable to poor production and disease when walls, floors and litter become damp. Moisture rots the building and rusts the equipment.

In the poultry house, two intake flues between the windows in a 20x20 foot house permit fresh air to enter, rise between the studs and come out near the ceiling.

Rear intake flues admit air near the ground floor with an adjustable opening just in front of the roosts. Plans for ventilation construction may be obtained from county agricultural agents or from the agricultural engineering department at the college.

FREE CHOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

There may be a lot of corruption in politics, but one thing is clear, that election results are most always the free choice of the people.

Before the Australian ballot, it was a simple thing to buy up thousands of votes and get them delivered. The vote buying business is not good today.

THE PROBLEM OF RELIEF.

If you hear one set of political orators talk, you would believe that the distribution of relief in many localities is dominated by politics, and that a great mass of people are being pauperized and encouraged to live permanently on the government.

If you listen to the other fellows, they will tell you that everything possible is being done to abolish chiseling, and that if it were not for this relief, millions of pathetic people would go hungry.

Where is the golden mean of truth? The problem of the unemployed millions is too vast to be hastily surveyed. Whichever party wins the election, the distribution of relief must be inquired into with scientific accuracy.

REGISTERING THE VOTERS.

What is the chief influence in politics? Is it the fervent oratory of the spellbinder, who stirs his audiences with his eloquent elocution? Is it the persuasive smile of the handshaker, who in his warm hearted way makes everybody feel that he is deeply sympathetic? Is it the quiet influence of the newspaper, which enters every home, and presents the facts and philosophies that influence thoughtful persons?

Each one of the above forces is very powerful. But there is one other force, often the most powerful of all. That is the work of committees and individuals who get the vote out. A candidate may be a very good speaker, he may have an excellent manner for approaching the voters, and he may have good newspaper support.

But if there is no systematic plan to get the vote out, he may be beaten by some candidate who has an efficiently drilled organization working to get every last voter on the registration lists.

The great majority of people have made up their minds weeks previous to any election. They are not swayed by any oratory, by the personal friendliness of the candidate, or by newspaper support. However, the indifference of many to politics is so great, that there is at any time a great reserve of people who will not vote unless specially solicited to do so.

The vote of these semi-indifferent folks is a vast reserve which sways many elections. The party that gets this indifferent vote on the registration lists, is apt to be the winner. If you can once get a voter registered, he will probably be interested to vote. The day when registration closes is one when great political fates are decided.

YOUR WINTER'S COLDS.

A method for determining how much a person will suffer from colds during the coming winter was offered to the recent meeting of the American Chemical Society at Pittsburgh, Pa. The ability of people to resist the infections known as colds, it was stated, depends on the ability of the body to consume oxygen during exercise.

The capacity of people for labor and achievement is more or less depleted by these miserable colds, which often hang on for weeks. How can anyone do a good job of work, when his head feels like a hard boiled turnip, and his incessant coughing and the strain of a sore throat take all the energy out of him? If people want to avoid this source of weakness, they would better stop baking their houses and working places with dry and overheated air.

THE BLOODY WHIRLPOOL.

It is the belief of many observers that Europe will break loose in another great war within a year or two. Can America keep out of that whirlpool of blood?

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson, has just written a magazine article, in which he fears that the existing neutrality legislation will not keep our people out of war. His idea is that the desire to sell goods to the fighting powers may draw our people into the conflict.

For every dollar our people might earn or make by trading with warring powers, it could easily cost them many thousands of dollars to pay the expenses of a war. The big expense of a war is not for the armies in the field, but to take care of the soldiers after they return.

Ram Truck Date Set for Oct. 7

Starting in southern counties in Michigan this month is a renewal of the efforts of three organizations to promote more efficiency and profit in the state's several million dollar sheep industry through stimulation of the use of better rams for breeding.

In Tuscola county, according to information received by County Agricultural Agent E. L. Benton, the date for the appearance of the ram truck and for the ram exchange day is late afternoon on October 7, at the Caro fairgrounds.

The Michigan Purebred Sheep Breeders' association is cooperating with the animal husbandry extension service at Michigan State college and with the state's county agricultural agents. Through the ram truck, which travels to the scheduled county meetings, superior breeding is distributed, educational programs are conducted to stress sheep management, breeding, ram selection, judging and lamb grading.

"Maximum returns from the sheep flock during the coming year depend to a large extent upon the selection of a sire this fall," advises George A. Brown, Michigan State college animal husbandman.

"A little time spent now will repay the farmer many times next year when he markets his lamb crop. A purebred sire of striking masculinity, as indicated by a short broad head and a short heavily muscled neck, and an abundance of constitutional vigor as indicated by depth and fullness of chest should always be selected. Low-set, short-legged rams usually will produce quick-maturing lambs of the most desirable market form.

"The ram should also possess a straight strong back, great spring of rib, good width at the dock with long quarters of deep full twist. The fleece of the stock ram should possess not less than three and one-half inches length at a year's growth. The fleece should be reasonably fine in texture as indicated by a short rather fine trim, must possess good tenacity, should have a large number of fibers per square inch and should be uniform in length, density, and fineness on all parts of the body."

HURRY is the greatest driving hazard. Hurry brings on nervous tension, and high speed through congested areas brings on hazards that the average driver cannot cope with.

Speed does not always get you to your destination. Some people have never reached their destination after starting out on a fast drive. Somewhere in between they had a smashup, and the undertaker called for them and carried on their journey in a hearse.

Before you tackle excessive speeds—THINK!

Odd Rubber Curing African natives after rubber used to have a simple but unique way of collecting it. They would smear the sticky fluid from the trees over their naked bodies and leave the rubber there to dry.

WHAT DOES MARRIAGE MEAN TO MODERN GIRLS?

Men follow the line of least resistance; if a jumble of genial voices suggests all going to the "Rough House," it seems a good thing to do at the moment, and off the whole swarm goes.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"MEN are afraid to get married nowadays," a middle-aged doctor said at a dinner party recently. "Women are so darned independent, and they can do so much on their own that there isn't much a man can offer them!"

"It used to be," he went on resentfully, "that a girl wanted to get married to be independent. Marriage meant freedom, it meant that she was more important than her sisters, who sat around waiting for beaux to show up. She had her new name and her new house and a lot of new clothes, and she was just in Heaven."

"But today they have their new homes without bothering to get married. When a girl feels like it she says to the old folks that she wants to live by herself, and off she goes. Thousands of young women have broken away from the home nest, just as the boys used to do, and they're making their own money, too, just like the boys. They can stay out nights, entertain their friends, go to what shows or what parties they like, and they think things over pretty seriously before they decide to settle down with just one man, and confine their amusements to what amusements and their expenditures to what he can afford."

"The looking," he concluded mournfully, "for one of those shy little retiring women who raise big grateful blue eyes to the man who's going to rescue them from parental tyranny, and who want to run for slippers and babble about the baby and adore the man of the family for the next fifty years!"

"Beth in 'Little Women,'" someone suggested. "Exactly!" the first speaker said emphatically. "Why don't women get onto the fact that men like 'em loving and quiet and cuddly!"

Nobody was cruel enough to answer him as he should have been answered, but perhaps a good many of us were thinking the same thing. Perhaps we were all longing to remind him that twenty years ago, when he was twenty-five, no girl could be giddy or extravagant or artificial or shallow enough for him. He followed every will-of-the-wisp in petticoats that came his way, and finally settled his affections upon a certain pretty saucy little married woman who hadn't sense enough to control her own random affections, much less rebuff his.

The affair of the handsome doctor and the little married woman entertained their less charitable friends for several years; it was just one of those pleasant intimacies between a handsome man and an idle woman in which everyone knows that there is not the least HARM, but which manages to make a good husband feel cheap and cheated, and which takes Mother away from a small boy in the late afternoons, at tea time. When the husband finally got up his courage to ask for a divorce and took the little boy away with him, the pretty little wife was less pretty and less pert, and the big doctor drifted instantly and quietly out of the picture in the way the beaux of married women always seem to know instinctively.

Now, a few years after all this, the doctor could perfectly well marry his one-time sweetheart, she's still free, but instead he rails at the independence of the modern girl and longs for a cuddlesome little wife like Beth March!

The truth is that young men don't want domestic, honest, affectionate wives, or they'd find them. Up to the age of thirty-five some men won't look at a sensible woman, they are all for the girls who drink and jazz and pet, who obtain money somehow, by hook or crook, from Dad or a brother or in any other possible way, who waste it all on red finger nails and matinee seats, who "work" a man for champagne and orchids and then triumphantly tell the other girls how easy he is. The more completely imbecile a girl is the better she succeeds in the circles of night clubs and cocktail parties; indeed a good many girls assume a baby lisp and an idiot stare for those occasions. MILK ESSENTIAL IN EVERY DIET

Nutrition Value Is Now Generally Recognized.

By EDITH M. BARBER

IT is a habit of the day to sigh for the bountifulness of a by-gone time when foods were cheap and plentiful. While one and all we should appreciate lower prices for foods of all kinds, most of us would not exchange the variety, convenience, and safety which are provided today by modern methods of handling, preserving, and transporting them.

It is a satisfaction to know that most foods now available are of consistently good quality. Of all staple foods which must be used daily none is of more importance than milk, which provides so generously for the most important of the nutritional needs. With the knowledge, which is recognized as absolute by physicians, that children must have milk to grow and develop normally, it is one of the greatest responsibilities of the time to see that the milk which is provided for them is safe. It must, of course, come up to certain standards of quality so that the proper amounts of nutrients are supplied.

The first thought, however, should be that the milk is low enough in bacteria-count to be safe. While certified milk, produced under the aegis of cleanly conditions, is theoretically the best milk, it is expensive and beyond the price which most persons can afford to pay. It seems unnecessary in any case when safe milk can be procured at a moderate price in the forms of pasteurized, evaporated, and dried milks. Sweetened evaporated milk is known as condensed milk and is used more largely to take the place of cream than of milk.

Modern pasteurizing-plants demand, in the first place, that the milk brought to them be clean and of good quality. They help rather than hinder the enforcement of farm-milk inspection by city or state. The process of pasteurizing reduces the bacteria-count. The manufacturers who dry or evaporate (or condense) milk are also supplied from the farms with high-quality milk, and through their processes of preparing it in concentrated form for market it is pasteurized or sterilized.

Dried milk has had the moisture removed and is put up in cans ready to beat into four times its volume of water. It has the same food value as pasteurized milk, which has usually lost nothing but part of its vitamin C content. Even when raw milk is used vitamin C must be supplied by other foods, such as tomatoes or oranges. Under the new processes of preparing dried milk its flavor is changed very little, and if chilled after beating into water it can be used for table beverage.

In the process of making it is sterilized, and for that reason is absolutely free from bacteria. The high temperature used caramelizes the milk-sugar and gives a characteristic flavor to the milk. This process, however, seems to affect none of the nutritive qualities except the vitamin C, which must be furnished in liberal quantities by other foods even when fresh milk is used. An equal amount of water added to evaporated milk will make the food value slightly above that of most market milk. It may take the place of fresh milk in any recipe.

While evaporated milk is used for cooking and for infant-feeding, it does not as a rule furnish a table-beverage in the same sense that fresh milk does. It does, however, make a delicious drink when it is mixed with fruit-juices or with chocolate sirup and frapped with ice in a shaker. The fact that evaporated milk will whip if directions are followed, makes it possible to use it instead of cream in gelatin desserts, and for that reason is most useful where whipped cream is at a premium.

- Cream of Tomato Soup
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 teaspoon sugar
2 slices onion
3 cloves
1 bay-leaf
11-2 teaspoons salt
Pepper
1-4 teaspoon soda
11-2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
3-4 cup evaporated milk
3-4 cup water
1-2 cup grated cheese
Cook tomatoes and seasoning together 10 minutes, and strain. Add soda and stir until dissolved. Melt the butter, add the flour, and stir until thick and smooth. Add the tomato mixture, reheat, but do not allow to boil. Serve at once with grated cheese and crackers, or croutons or toasted bread sticks.

- Chocolate-Walnut Drops
1-2 pound sweet chocolate
1-2 cup condensed milk
1 cup dates
1-2 cup walnut-meats
Melt the chocolate with the milk in a double boiler. Remove from the fire, stir until smooth, and add the walnuts and dates. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased baking-sheet and bake for 20 minutes in a slow oven (275 degrees F.) until firm. This amount will make 24 cakes.

Meals on Farms Take More Time

Farm and village homemakers can find advantages and disadvantages in their ability to utilize time efficiently in the home as compared to the use of time by homemakers in cities, reports Miss Julia Pond, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State college.

In a survey initiated by the United States Bureau of Home Economics, which offers figures for Miss Pond's comments, the farm homemaker spends 2.2 hours per week in purchasing and management as compared to 4.2 hours per week by the woman in the city. For care of the family the farm wife uses 3.9 hours per week, the city homemaker 9.8 hours.

Other comparisons include 22.8 on the farm in a week for meals, as compared to 14.6 hours in the city, 9.6 hours for care of the house as compared to 7.4 hours, 5.3 hours for laundering and 3.2 hours in the city, 5.5 and 4.1 for mending and sewing, 2.3 and 4.3 for other homemaking. On the farm the total hours in the week for homemaking average 51.6, in the city, 47.6 hours.

Some of the differences are the result of rural advantages, says Miss Pond. In care of the family, the children in the country have safer places to play and more time to do thus eliminating adult supervision. Larger families permit the older children to care for the younger members.

Meal preparation, she thinks, can differ for several reasons. Farm housewives use more home produced foods which require more preparation. In many farm homes the increased hours necessary may be due to lack of modern conveniences, poor arrangement or more persons at the table.

Individuals can study their household and determine if inefficiencies are the result of poor planning, lack of equipment or poor arrangement. Time saved, says Miss Pond, need not be utilized for additional work, but for recreation or rest.

I think by now you most all know That I try to keep my prices low, According to the goods we show I believe 'tis better so. More apt to make our business grow, As folks like value for their dough. I'm not writing this to blow, But on Saturday, please don't be slow As we have bargains, O, boy, Oh! Cut price dresses, a big long row. Should anyone not know Just where to go I'll try to explain, by Jo! We're just one block east of the show, We're just east and west of Joe; You see at each side of us is Joe And each Joe has a son named Joe. Each building is owned by a Joe, Half of our salemen's names are Joe, We have other friends and folks called Joe. My namesake just married a man named Joe. They bring eggs in here thinking we're Joe. They bring in shoes for the other Joe, When doors are locked they holler Joe! When Joe goes in the back they 'foller' Joe, Anyway we quite often hear Joe. You may think it confusing so I've even been called Mrs. Joe. But if you think it bothers me, well, no, Because I always have liked Joe Meaning as a name you know!

How Much Did It Cost Before You Had Electricity

- Lighting your home, your office, your store?
- Refrigerating your food?
- Cooking your meals?
- Supplying your entertainment in comparison to what you receive over your radio?
- Washing your clothes?
- Ironing your clothes?
- Cleaning your rugs, drapes, floors?
- Pumping your water?
- Running your drills, presses, lathes and other power driven machinery?
- Pumping your auto tires?
- Pumping your gasoline?

Have you ever considered what it cost you before you had electricity? Then if you have some accurate figures, compare them with what it costs you today.

Electricity is cheap. When used correctly it is your most economical servant.

Predicts Buying of 10,000 Horses

More than $1,000,000 will go out of Michigan during the coming year for the purchase of more than ten thousand horses largely for replacement purposes because horses are dying faster than they are being raised in the state, according to R. S. Hudson, horseman at Michigan State college.

Important factors which have operated during the present season to reduce the horse population of Michigan have been the abnormal weather conditions, the prevalence of distemper and heavy mortality in foals, says Hudson. Even though there is a reasonable increase in colts foaled during the coming year, Hudson anticipates that it will be three to five years before Michigan may not have to import so heavily. The estimated average age of work stock in the state is ten years. Horsemen consider an animal's peak value is from the sixth to eighth year.

"Every farmer need not go into the business of raising colts for sale," says Hudson. "But the average farmer can well afford to raise colts for the replacement of his own supply. Raising horses on a large scale requires a combination of technical ability, equipment, and pastures as well as an aptitude for the business.

"A good brood mare should be regarded not only as a power unit but as a good cash crop producer replenishing the farm power needs and also a source of extra cash. It is fortunate under prevailing conditions that medium priced tractors are available to supplement the scarcity of horse power."

An important factor in the improvement of Michigan's position as a horse producing state lies in need for more equal distribution of good stallions, says Hudson. In various sections of the state, it is exceedingly difficult to find good stock. The present supply of stallions is inadequate to meet the demands made upon them in these sections.

The type of horse most desired by the Michigan farmer weighs from 1400 to 1600 pounds, is sixteen hands high, with short back and deep middle, stands on well built clean limbs and has feet which wear well at farm work without being shod. Even tempered, quick and active with ability to stand heat are other qualifications.

Draft horses to wear well, must have the short strong back apparent in Major H, new Percheron stallion in Michigan State College herd, says Professor R. S. Hudson, college farm and horse superintendent.

SOME PRACTICAL ICE CREAM TIPS

Things That Should Always Be Borne in Mind.

By EDITH M. BARBER

ONCE upon a time ice cream was a summer dessert reserved especially for Sundays and holidays. Although it has become a standard all the year-around dessert, it still remains a treat. With a few blocks of almost every house, good ice cream can usually be bought in a number of flavors. When unexpected guests arrive, it can be called upon to make the whole or to stretch the berries or sliced peaches which had been planned for the family.

In many households ice cream is still made occasionally at home, even when it means ordering a special supply of ice particularly for its making. The first step is always to scald the beater and the can, which have probably been put away covered. The next is to get the ice crushed in a burlap bag with a wooden mallet. The freezer can should then be put into the wooden bucket and clamped down to make sure that the handle will turn properly. The salt and ice may then be packed around the can. One part of salt to eight parts of ice should be used in alternate layers until the packing comes within an inch of the top of the can. The proportion of ice to salt is important in order that your cream will be smooth when frozen.

Your flavored cream or mixture of custard and cream should then be poured into the uncovered can, recovered and fastened. The mixture may stand five minutes or so in order to chill thoroughly before the turning is begun. When the freezer is difficult to turn you may be quite sure that your cream is hard enough so that the dasher may be removed. Be sure that the cover is carefully wiped before the top is unfastened so that you will not have an unexpected salty flavor. After the dasher is taken out the cream should be beaten until it is smooth. A cork should be put in the cover before it is put on again. The liquid from the melted ice should be drained and the can re-packed with salt and ice, this time in the proportion of one to four. The cream will continue hardening and the flavor will ripen in the next few hours.

If you prefer a mousse to ice cream, the cream should be whipped, flavored and packed in the freezer, which should not be turned. Recipes for mousses can be made equally well in a freezer or in a mechanical refrigerator. Ices and sherbets, which are generally made from fruit juices combined with water, and sometimes with milk, should be turned in a freezer, packed with ice and salt. No exact distinction is made between ices and sherbets, but the latter often have the addition of egg whites, which are added when the mixture has begun to harden. Fruits, when used with these mixtures are sometimes mashed and strained. Sometimes they are merely crushed with sugar or, occasionally, the fruit juice is combined with the sugar syrup. For water ices four parts of ice to one of salt should be used for freezing.

French Ice Cream
1 tablespoon flour
3-4 cup sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
1 egg or two egg yolks
2 cups milk
3 cups thin cream
1 1-2 tablespoons vanilla
Mix the flour, sugar and salt; add the egg slightly beaten, and the milk gradually. Cook over hot water 20 minutes, stirring constantly at first, until it thickens. Cool, add the cream and flavoring and freeze.

For fruit ice cream allow equal parts fruit crushed with sugar and cream or custard and cream.

Philadelphia Ice Cream
1 quart thin cream
1-4 teaspoon salt
3-4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla
Mix well and freeze according to general directions.

Raspberry Ice
3 1-2 cups ripe raspberries
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 1-2 tablespoons lemon juice
Mash the berries through a coarse sieve or a potato ricer. Cook the sugar and water together, allowing it to boil for three minutes. Cool. Add to the raspberry juice and the lemon juice and freeze. Since raspberries are of such varying sweetness it is best to taste the mixture before freezing to make sure sufficient sugar has been added. It should be sweeter than you wish the finished ice to be, since it loses sweetness during freezing.

Lemon Sherbet
4 cups milk
1 1-2 cups sugar
1-2 cup lemon juice
Mix ingredients well and freeze as follows: Crush ice fine. Use eight parts of ice to one part of salt, as this comparatively small amount of salt makes a cream or ice smoother than when more salt is used. After sherbet is frozen, turn off the water and re-pack, using four parts of ice to one of salt.

DEFORD

Lloyd Warner Funeral—

A large number assembled on Sunday afternoon to pay their last respects to the remains of Lloyd Warner. The funeral service was held at the Warner residence by Rev. George Marsh. Mr. Warner's whole life has been lived in our community. He was a member of the Deford church and lived a consistent, commendable life, a willing helper to anyone in need. During the past three years his health and strength have failed. The remains were laid to rest in Novesta cemetery.

Insurance Head Warns of Inflation

Says Continued Government Borrowing Threatens Policy Holders.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—M. A. Linton, president of the $300,000,000 Provident Mutual Life Insurance company, warned policy holders of the danger of inflation resulting from the Roosevelt administration's program of expanding bank deposits through federal borrowing.

His statement, printed in the company's magazine, was similar to many made by Col. Frank Knox, Republican candidate for the vice-presidency, charging that New Deal spending of two dollars for every one taken in threatens the savings of millions of Americans. It followed on the heels of the President's "non-political" conference of insurance company heads in an attempt to offset apprehension aroused by the Knox charges.

The belligerent Colonel's latest blast, made at Helena, Mont., was: "I repeat that under the present policies of this administration no life insurance policy is secure, no savings account is safe, because the present spending policy leads straight to inflation. It is not the insurance companies or the savings banks that are unsound. They are as safe as the Rock of Gibraltar. It is the administration of the United States government that is unsound."

Mr. Linton warned that insurance policy holders have a precious interest in balancing the budget of the United States.

"The essence of life insurance," he said, "is a promise by the life insurance companies to pay dollars in the future when a given contingency shall occur. The policy holder knows that the dollars of the future are going to be used to purchase the food, clothing, and shelter that his dependents will need if he is called away by death, or that he and his wife will need after his earning days are over.

"To maintain a sound currency a nation must live within its income. Emergencies may make extensive borrowing necessary in times of depression. However, the longer the borrowing is continued the graver the danger that the situation will get out of hand and lead to disaster."

A. A. Ballantine, former under-secretary of the treasury, in a statement issued from Chicago, charged the Roosevelt administration with sacrificing the security of policy holders and bank depositors upon the political block.

"Mr. Roosevelt knows which side his bread is buttered on politically," said Mr. Ballantine. "If it is necessary to plunge this nation so deeply into debt by reckless and politically minded spending that printing press money is the only logical outcome, he will do it unflinchingly—even if it makes a piece of waste paper every life insurance policy and savings bank book in the United States."

NOT ON CALENDAR.

In the list of circuit court cases for the October term in Tuscola county, printed in the Chronicle last week, two were placed there by mistake. That of Arthur LeFave vs. School Dist. No. 5, Elkland, is not ready for trial at this time and that of Albert Arnold, administrator of the estate of Alice Arnold, deceased, vs. Dougald Krug, is not a circuit court case. A civil case which was not included in the list is that of Evan Orlich vs. Djure Jakppinac, an appeal from justice court.

Sweden's Postal System
Sweden traces the history of her postal system back to the Sixteenth century when, during the 30 years' war stations were established throughout Germany. When it came about early in the Seventeenth century that an organized postal system was needed in Sweden, Andreas Wechel, former Swedish postmaster in Leipzig, was summoned by Chancellor Axel Oxenstierna to organize the system and become the first postmaster general. The ordinance which founded the post office organization was promulgated by Queen Christina on February 20, 1636.

Raisins Are Grapes
Raisins are grapes of a special type that are dried in the sun, or by artificial heat. They have a higher sugar content, and a flavor quite different from fresh grapes.

Life Span 6 Weeks
The average life of a bee that is born in the spring or summer is only about six weeks. In that period it works itself to death, producing about a teaspoon of honey.

It takes a water system in a house to make it home—The water does the runnin' so ye never have to roam—Ye're free from all that pumpin' in the drivin' rain and snow—Ye just turn on a faucet an' the water starts to flow.

Just washin' dishes takes a thousan' pails an' more a year—Gosh! That's cheap o' water for hand pump engineer! A water system does that job at mighty little cost. But, pumpin' water with your hands is just love's labor lost!

An' washday! 'Tis a nightmare every woman dreads to face—When every pail of water must be pumped and dumped in place. A water system saves her strength and keeps her younger too. Don't think it makes her lazy—she has plenty more to do!

'Twas truly said that cleanliness and godliness are kin—There's no doubt that a "clean outside" helps keep a "clean within." But when each drop of water must be pumped for every bath, it isn't any wonder that some folks stray off the path.

So that's another reason runnin' water is the thing—It makes a bathin' season winter, summer, fall and spring. Hand pumpin' water's out o' date as threshin' grain by hand. Don't be a slave to pumpin'—faucets put YOU in command!

An' where there's horses, cows or pigs or sheep an' poultry, too—There's many things that runnin' water helps a lot to do. Because fresh, runnin' water helps to make the yield more sure.

There's lots o' other things that runnin' water means to you. In scorchin' summer heat it saves the lawn and garden, too—And should that fearful cry arise of "FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!" A stream o' fightin' water gives protection you require.

There's no improvement you can make that gives you more for less—That means so much to life and health and daily happiness—That takes more young folks dreamin' to the cities they will roam—IT TAKES A WATER SYSTEM IN A HOUSE TO MAKE IT HOME!
