Japanese Girl Slays Giant "Snake"

Tourist visitors to Japan recently enjoyed witnessing the Tsuna-Hiki festival in Osaka, in the course of which a girl priest cut eight knots of a huge coil of straw in the re-enactment of the slaying of a great snake with eight heads. This ceremony took place at the shrine of Susanoo-no-Mikoto, who is reputed to have killed the monster in the dawn of Japanese history.

Los Remedios Aqueduct

The Los Remedios aqueduct had its source in the town of Los Remedios, in the Federal District of Mexico, and a short distance northwest of Mexico City. It dates from 1620 and was built under the direction of Don Alonso Tello de Guzman. The aqueduct has not been in use for many years. The water was obtained from a strong spring that threw a high stream. Around this stream a tower was built and circular runways provided through which the water passed to a lower level where the aqueduct began. The passing of the water through the runways provided its momentum.

Human Skin Book Binding

Asbestos is an unusual book binding—though aluminum, wall paper, and Japanese umbrella-cloth have all been used for that purpose. But strangest of all book bindings was one made from human skin. Another curious use for human skin, Ziska, military leader of the Hussites—a sect of pre-Reformation Protestants, like our own Lollards—directed that his skin should be made into a drum when he died. Though it must help the Hussites to fight more fiercely. — Answers Magazine.

Height of River Traffic

The height of the steamboat river traffic out of St. Louis was probably reached in 1858, when there were 60 regular packets besides 30 or 40 transient or tramp boats. Schedules hours ran on regular schedules from St. Louis to Miami, Kansas City (St. Joseph, Omaha and Sioux City).

Did Your Car Start Hard This Morning?

It's time to change to a winter grade of motor oil for easier starting. Don't put off having the oil drained and run down the battery making it work overtime every morning.

We can solve your lubricating problems. . . . Just drive down today and let us fill your crankcase with Gulfube Motor Oil of the winter variety. You'll appreciate the difference in easier starting. . . . Or you can find a Gulfube dealer near you who can give you this service.

Then, too, a tankful of that GOOD GULF GASOLINE makes the car start easier. Try it.

Mr. Farmer, to attract buyers to your auction sale, advertise in the Chronicle.

THE results you get from GULFPRIDE OIL can be obtained from no other motor oil in the world! For only GULFPRIDE is made from choice Pennsylvania crude . . . refined to equal the best motor oils on the market . . . and then further refined by Gulf's exclusive Alchlor process. This process was developed by Gulf after 15 years of scientific research—the kind of painstaking research that is behind every Gulf product. Read the facts below. Then replace your summer-worn oil with WINTER GULFPRIDE now. At all Gulf dealers.

(Left) BEATING THE BEST. No other process refines oil so thoroughly as Gulf's Alchlor process. When a blend of 6 of the finest Pennsylvania motor oils—already highly refined—was put through this process, 20% waste came out. Proof that the Alchlor process makes GULFPRIDE finer than the finest other Pennsylvania oils.

A GULFPRIDE USER drove from Bennington, Vt. to Portland, Ore., averaging 400 miles a day. He did not add a single drop of oil. An unusual record, yes. But expect GULFPRIDE to take you farther before you need a quart than any other oil you ever used.

EASTERN AIR LINES' Great Silver Fleet uses GULFPRIDE only in every one of its 21 mighty planes. No other oil will do, because no other oil can match GULFPRIDE—the world's finest motor oil—for safety, stamina, and low cost per mile. That's just as true in your car, too.
