LARGE ATTENDANCE MARKED CONFERENCE

Dr. Patmont Spoke Here Friday on "America Facing the Crisis."

The first anniversary of the Thumb Bible Conference held at the Baptist Church in Cass City Friday was marked with a large attendance at all three sessions. At the evening session, the auditorium was completely filled, and 40 people in the Bible class room at the rear of the church building and 75 in the basement were able to listen to the program through a public address system. Even utilizing these extra rooms, all were unable to secure seats and some left without hearing the program. One-half of the number at the three sessions were delegates and visitors from points in the Thumb of Michigan district.

At the election of officers of the conference, Rev. Richard Nyburg of Deckerville was chosen president and Rev. F. W. Dean of Brown City, secretary-treasurer. Both succeeded themselves in these offices.

Dr. L. R. Patmont, world traveler and lecturer, showed pictures on Russia at the evening session. In his address, "America Facing the Crisis," Dr. Patmont portrayed graphically what he termed a very perilous situation for this nation from political, social and religious standpoints, emphasizing the Communist elements at work in America.

The Spirit of Easter

Posed by Loretta Young.

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from Heaven and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning and his raiment white as snow. And for fear of him the keepers did shake and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women: "Fear ye not; for I know ye seek Jesus, which was crucified."

"He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay."

—St. Matthew 28:1-6.

FARMERS PLAN NORMAL ACREAGE OF SPRING CROPS

Reports Indicate Increase in Plantings of Potatoes, Soy Beans and Barley.

LESS NUMBER OF ACRES
TO BE DEVOTED TO BEANS

Lansing—In keeping with good agricultural practice, the farmers of Michigan are planning on a normal total acreage of spring crops this year. Reports to the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service indicate that there will be some shifting from oats to corn, some increase in the acreages of barley, potatoes, and soy beans, and no material change in other crops from the acreages harvested in 1936. Many acres of crops were not harvested in 1936 because of drought losses and weather damage. The intended total acreage for this year will, if weather conditions are nearly normal, exceed that harvested last year by one per cent although actual plantings may be two per cent less.

For the country as a whole, indications point to an increase of 87 per cent, or nearly 10,000,000 acres, of spring wheat over the 11,212,000 acres harvested in the drought year of 1936. Nearly all other crops show increases, some of which appear large; but with supplies on farms reduced by drought and with the demand for most farm products showing definite signs of recovery, the intended acreage does not appear to be abnormal. With the exception of spring wheat and hay, the intended acreages are below the 1928-32 average for each of the leading crops.

Hundred Women at County Meeting

By Gagetown Correspondent.
One hundred guests attended the fourteenth annual meeting of the Tuscola Federation of Women's clubs which was held on Monday, March 22, in the M. P. Church at Gagetown. The meeting began at 10:00 a. m. and continued through until 4:00 p. m.

The forenoon session was taken up by the reading of reports by the various clubs of the county and election of officers. The officers elected for next year are: President, Mrs. J. Wells, Vassar; vice president, Mrs. R. E. Willis, Millington; secretary, Mrs. D. A. Crawford, Gagetown; treasurer, Mrs. Grant Patterson, Cass City. Two humorous readings, given by Mrs. Reavy, supplied relaxation before the enlightening forum which was conducted by Mrs. D. C. Atkins, Jr., of Vassar, Mrs. A. J. Knapp of Cass City and Mrs. Alex Marshall of Kingston.

Luncheon was served at noon by the M. P. Ladies' Aid.

The afternoon session brought with it two very interesting lectures. Mrs. William Springer of Flint spoke on the making of the Constitution and Rev. P. J. Allured of Cass City familiarized his audience with facts which cause "An Agitated World." Royce Russell of Gagetown rendered two guitar solos and community singing was conducted both morning and afternoon by Mrs. J. Ivan Niergarth of Cass City.

Easter Seals Will Help Finance Physical Corrections of 15,000 Crippled Youngsters

The Sale of Easter Seals in this community will be conducted in much the same manner as the Christmas Seals are at holiday time, says M. B. Auten, local chairman for the distribution of the Easter Seals. Letters will be mailed to people of the community with a number of seals in each, requesting them to purchase as many seals as they desire and remit the amount of their purchases.

Whether many crippled lads will have their chance to be physically corrected depends to a great extent upon public support of the fourth annual sale of Easter Seals, conducted by the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, Inc. This campaign is carried on in behalf of 15,000 crippled youngsters in this state.

Seals are now on sale in Michigan and many other states identified with the International Society for Crippled Children.

The Michigan Society for Crippled Children, organized in 1921, has constantly pledged itself to see that everything possible is done for our crippled youngsters.

Your contribution will help to send a crippled youngster to camp, noon by Mrs. J. Ivan Niergarth of Cass City.

The guests then adjourned to the basement of the church where they enjoyed a social hour at a tea sponsored by the Gagetown Study Club which was in charge of Mrs. F. D. Hemerick and Mrs. Alfonso Rocheleau.

Much credit for the success of the day is due to the committee on general arrangements, Mrs. C. L. Graham, Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Mildred Helmbold.

Mrs. C. L. Graham of Cass City, who has served the county federation as president for the past two years, was tendered a rising vote of thanks in recognition of her efficient services.

Mrs. M. D. Hart, president of the Cass City Woman's Study Club, served as chairman of the Resolution's Committee at Monday's meeting.

An invitation from the Kingston Club for next year's meeting was accepted.

$125,000 TO TUSCOLA AND SANILAC FARMERS IN FEDERAL CHECKS

Funds in Soil Conservation Program Were Distributed by Officials Here.

1937 PROGRAM SIMILAR TO THAT OF LAST YEAR

The Tuscola County Soil Conservation Association officials have been engaged the past two weeks in distributing approximately $62,000 among the farmers of Tuscola County. These checks are the first payments made here for the 1936 conservation program and do not represent one-half of the applications made for conservation funds last year by farmers of the county. Payments were distributed last week to agriculturalists in Elkland, Elmwood, Novesta, Kingston and Ellington Townships.

Checks sent out the past few weeks for the 1936 program represent sugar beet, soil building and soil diversion payments. In the diversion program, lands formerly devoted to crops which depleted the soil were put into clover and other soil conserving crop land.

"The 1937 soil conservation program is quite similar to that of last year with slightly larger payments for soil building this year," said John M. Reagh, president of the county association Wednesday. "Payments in Tuscola County for the 1937 program will be about the same as in the previous year."

$63,128 to Sanilac.

Last week was payoff week for 900 Sanilac County farmers with $47,208.11 in government checks being distributed among them by Frank Sweet, chairman of the Sanilac County Soil Conservation program.

The checks which arrived Monday from Chicago, brought the total amount already sent to farmers of the county to $63,128.95. Previously 300 farmers in five townships had split a $15,920.84 melon.

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION.

A school of instruction will be conducted by County Clerk Clare Horning at the court house Monday, March 29, at 10:00 a. m., for the election officials of the 23 townships in Tuscola County. Election supplies for the April election will be distributed at that time.

RUNNING INTO IDEAS.

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said that the greatest day in any man's life is the day when he turns the corner of a street and runs into an idea. The power of that idea may change his life. So the power of some new idea that has been conceived by the people changes the life of nations.

During so-called prosperous times, the world runs along smoothly and does not do much thinking. It does not run around many corners, or run into new ideas during those periods. When the going is bumpy, and the people keep getting their shins barked as they fall into holes, then their minds are given a shaking, and new ideas evolve. Many of these ideas prove to be visionary, but in many of them there is a germ of a great truth or principle which bears fruit in due time.

What great ideas have been shaken into being, as the result of the bumps we had to take in the recent depression?

Among such ideas which have become widely current, three might be specially mentioned. One is that old age must be better cared for, that worthy people who have worked all their lives and have been able to accumulate nothing, are deserving of better care. Another idea is that unemployment is a terrible evil, and ways must be found to provide regular work for industrious workers. Another is that farming is the country's basic industry, and that there must be a reasonable chance to make a living on a farm.

Not all the measures suggested to accomplish these ends would do any good. Many of them are so impossible that they could not stand the strain of experience. However the people, as they rounded the corner of the depression, have run into these ideas, as Mr. Emerson said. They call for some kind of action to apply them to daily life.

CENTRAL THOUGHT OF EASTER.

When an ancient custom comes down through nearly 20 centuries, it must have some deep hold on the human mind. So we can't pass by the Easter observances as being of slight importance. They must have given comfort to uncounted multitudes of people.

We see our friends daily and meet them on the streets. At frequent intervals some of them drop out of sight. The loss may be irreparable. What has become of that vital presence, yesterday so full of energy and hope, today hushed in silence, never more to speak? No question that can arise in our daily life, as to earning a living, seeking pleasures, determining our methods of government, is so really vital as this: Where do we go when we leave this earthly life?

Easter has lived because it has seemed in some measure to answer this question. While the destiny of man is still the most profound mystery, yet the history and teachings of Jesus Christ and His followers seem to throw more light on this eternal riddle than the philosophies of any other leaders of human thoughts.

Jesus taught the infinite value of human personality. He held that every human soul is to be regarded as a child of the eternal Father, to be protected and cherished and aided to accomplish its destiny. This idea seems logical, for the mind that can think and the will that can resolve seem a higher product of the universe than the grandest star whose light shines to us over uncounted millions of miles.

It seems inconceivable that this superlatively valuable essence which we call the soul should be dissipated into nothingness when the life seems to leave it. This is the central thought of Easter, because of which multitudes through the churches, and the anthems echo through the world.

LIVING IN THE CELLAR.

Many Americans have adopted the idea of living in their cellars—especially during the hot months. With oil and gas furnaces eliminating dust and dirt this is quite feasible. Bright colors predominate in the treatment of walls and furniture. Games of various sorts are played.

But in Europe people are taking to the cellars for different reasons. They are accustoming themselves to this mole-like existence just in case present international estrangements develop into stranglements by the gas route.

According to the New York Times, there is one palatial cellar in Paris that has a 42 foot concrete and iron ceiling. It is equipped to harbor and feed more than fifty people for a long time. It has its own electric light plant, huge gas storage tanks and hospital facilities. Steel doors weigh a ton. Protected telephone wires connect with the outside and arrangements are complete for enjoying the outside bombing by radio. Driven wells and air purifying machinery make it a perfect prohibition hideout—prohibiting the horrors of war from reaching them unless they are buried for too long under debris. Wot a wuruld!

HISTORY WHILE YOU WAIT.

Have you wished that you might have lived in the days of Henry the Eighth, of Napoleon, of Joan of Arc, of Constantine? Those days may have been exciting. But isn't it true that things are being recorded in newspapers today which will be in history books tomorrow?

Gildes Seldes, writing in Cosmopolitan for April says: "Today is beyond comparison the most exciting time in the history of mankind. For the first time in recorded history, all the nations of the world are passing through a crisis at the same moment. Today, this month, this year, all civilization takes another step through one of those notably rare periods of transition which form the character of generations to come. Such times in the past have touched a nation, or at most a continent; but the present crisis is as acute in China as in England, in Africa as in America.

"Not all transition periods are dramatic, either. The decline of Rome, for instance, was a long business. It was important because it changed the history of Europe, leaving it without a central government to impose laws and order (and taxes). Europe broke into a dozen pieces. Centuries later, a brilliant era of transition came with the Renaissance and the Reformation. It had a direct effect on us because the spirit of the world changed from obedience to experiment—and during the experimental stage, fortunately, America was discovered.

"There was a great era of upheaval and change after the American and French revolutions, and in this era the right of human beings to rule themselves was established. Running under this political change there was the great transition from handwork to machine work, and this created the very system under which we still live today. What the present crisis will lead to is largely a guess."

One advantage of remaining poor and obscure is that you are never sued by a blond woman for breach of promise.

What Uncle Sam should do is not to grant Europe a loan but to let Europe alone.

Speaking of labor troubles wouldn't it be a real calamity if mother should engage in one of these sit-down strikes?

LETTERS

Congratulations.

"We note that you have won recognition in your state Better Newspaper Contest and we want to extend congratulations," writes Will W. Loomis, vice president of the National Editorial Association, to the Cass City Chronicle. "Such an honor tends to keep everyone in the organization keyed up and the people of the community have a new regard for your newspaper."

Early Merchant Writes.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 20, 1937.

Editor, Cass City Chronicle, Cass City, Michigan.

Dear Sir:

Sixty years ago today I packed up a load of soap, soda and matches and some other things which I bought of J. D. Wilsie & Co. of Caro, on credit, and started for Cass City. I had a big sleigh load and I never saw better sleighing. It took me about four hours to make the trip.

I had been teaching school for $45 per month and couldn't see that I was getting anywhere very fast. Notwithstanding that I had taught the same school for two winters, I decided that teaching was not my job and was ready to take a chance doing something that might promise better. The deal with the Wilsie's was simple. They furnished the goods to start a small store which I had previously rented in Cass City and I furnished the day's work.

Cass City had, probably, two hundred inhabitants and was from sixteen to twenty-five miles from any other place of importance. It had several stores with good stocks and I made up my mind that I had to make my new store attractive and get people talking about it. Lately, while I have not been active in business and have lots of time to think over the past, I amuse myself by remembering some of the stunts I pulled off to make the new store popular.

The bargain was that we were to take an inventory at the end of six months and that I was to have one-half of the profits. When this inventory showed that I had $2300 worth of goods and owed only $1000, making our net gain $650 apiece, I was a very happy boy. While I was entitled to draw this money out of the business, I was very glad to leave it in the firm's assets.

We went on together for five years, during which time I started an exchange office in the back end of the store and the next year started the Cass City Bank in the same place. During the sixth year I dissolved partnership with the Wilsie's, selling them my interest in the store and taking over the bank. At that time, 54 years ago, I built the present bank building. The Cass City Bank, C. W. McPhail, owner, had a capital of between eight and nine thousand dollars.

I could write a lengthy letter describing Cass City fifty-five years ago; telling of the various business men who were then prominent; their peculiarities and the many amusing incidents that happened while I was working up my business from one little German boy by the name of Theophilus Ahr to a business that had four clerks but time will not permit, and I cannot trespass on the space of your paper to write further.

C. W. McPHAIL.

From Flood District.

East Prairie, Missouri, March 10, 1937.

Mrs. F. McGregory, Cass City, Mich.

Dear Friend:

I take the pleasure of writing you. I am the woman that got the quilt you sent. I am one of them out of the spillway in Mississippi County and was glad to get the quilt, for my home was washed away. We lived within nine miles of East Prairie. We lost our household goods and clothes, feed for eight head of horses and two cows.

We are not back home yet; will go back Saturday if they get our house done. We are farmers and there are seven in our family. We sure have been having a hard time—a family and no home—and we had a good living before the flood but it soon went. This is the worst I ever saw and I was 40 years old the 21st of October.

Now, if you get this, you want to write me. I will be glad to read a letter from you to pass off the time. I also got an address of a woman on a dress and I'm going to write to her this afternoon.

Goodbye from

MARY GRIMES.

Fighting Cancer with Knowledge

The Sanilac County Health Department expects and hopes that much good will come from the intensive educational program that is now under way during the national observance of Cancer Control Week. Cancer is curable in its early stages and when each individual knows the early signs of cancer, recognizes the need of immediate attention, and takes the precaution of routine physical examinations the trend of the disease will be downward instead of upward. Physicians now have an increased understanding of the disease and with increased surgical skill, X-rays, and radium, are effecting a cure in a higher and higher percentage of cases. However, the patient must first present himself to his doctor before the cure can be accomplished, and in this respect the public has been negligent.

The official cancer death rate in this country is showing an annual increase of about two per cent, and has risen to second place in rank of the causes of death. In Sanilac County there were 28 deaths in 1934, 37 in 1935, and over 30 in 1936. This means that there are now about 100 people within that county that have some form of cancer.

Get in touch with the local organization that is participating in this cancer educational program, contact the Health Department, or, better still, see your family physician. The information gained may save your life some day!

SIGNAL THE MAN BEHIND.

Our two hands are seldom more useful than when driving an automobile. But aside from the mechanics of driving, we can use them to prevent accidents, if we know how to do it.

Let's remember that the man in the car behind us cannot know what we intend to do unless we tell him. But if we do tell him clearly, he certainly will make every effort not to interfere with us, and so will avoid an accident.

The National Conference on Street and Highway Safety recommends three standard hand-signals:

1. For left turn, hand and arm extended horizontally.
2. For right turn, hand and arm extended upward, or moved with a sweeping motion from rear to front.
3. For a stop, hand and arm extended downward.

The Conference also prescribes that these signals should be given from the left side of the car, and should be given continuously for 100 feet before turning.

It is only fair to give these signals, and to expect them from others. If you live in a community where a different set of signals is commonly used, familiarize yourself, of course, with them and use them continually.

Washing Clothes

The art of washing garments is older than the art of weaving fabrics. Peculiar to say, the basic principles are the same today as they were many thousand of years ago.

The immersion of garments in water with exertion of force to loosen the soil and dirt is the first principle. The second, is the extraction of soiled water and loosened dirt. The third, the hanging of the garments up to dry.

Originally, all operations were done by hand. Today, the hand method is still used in many parts of the world, even in countries that we consider civilized. Only on this continent is it possible for the humblest family to own an electric powered washing machine which does the hard work of washing.

Washing clothes, defined, is simply the passing of a solution of water and soap through the pores of fabric. The wash board, having a corrugated surface, permits this action to take place in passing the clothes up and down over the corrugated surface.

The electric washer performs the same work by combining an agitation of the water and soap solution and clothes. This agitation, being in the nature of a force, drives the water and soap solution through the pores of the fabric, removing in its passage, the soil or dirt which has adhered to the fabric.

Rubbing clothes on a board, if precaution is not taken, causes considerable wear on them. This is eliminated entirely when the electric washer is placed into action. Consequently, there is greater wear to be secured from garments washed in an electric washer, than there is when washed on a board. Then, again, clothes that are washed in an electric washer retain their whiteness much longer. This is caused by all soil or dirt which is removed being deposited in the bottom of the tub, and not returned into the garment.

Washing clothes is one of the hardest jobs of the household. Why not remove the hardest part of the hardest job? Purchase an electric washer. They are inexpensive, and will give dollar for dollar return on the amount invested, in continuous service, plus.

Death at Sea

SCURVY is a disease we practically never hear about any more. But up to a hundred years ago it was one of the horrors of sea life. It was a slow, creeping scourge that made sailor's teeth fall out, robbed them of their energy and pep, and finally made them sink into a lethargic lassitude that often ended in death.

On long voyages, it was not unusual for half the crew of a sailing ship to die of this mysterious disease. We know now that scurvy is caused by lack of vitamin C in the diet. But two centuries ago, when salt pork and hard tack were standard ship fare, and cream of tartar and elixir of vitriol were the usual medical treatment, its cause was "unexplainable."

Captain Hawkins, of the Royal British navy, the man who first found an effective cure for scurvy, was not a physician and knew practically nothing about medicine. In 1593, while in command of a ship on a long sea voyage to Africa, many of his crew fell ill with the dread disease. Without avail, the ship's doctor administered all the remedies then known to medical science.

As a last resort, Captain Hawkins broke out a case of limes from cargo, and ordered the sailors to suck them. Miraculously most of them recovered in short order.

The only thing left to commemorate Hawkins' act is the fact that the British sailors are still called "limeys."

Created Backgammon

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Keeler of Bad Axe were out-of-town guests.

One of the most delightful affairs of the season was held Friday afternoon when Mrs. I. W. Hall entertained fifteen March birds (ladies whose birthdays are this month) at a party in her home on Garfield Avenue. Bingo and pick-up-sticks were played, several prizes being given, and numerous Irish stories were told. At five o'clock, a delicious three-course dinner was served, favors being in keeping with the Easter season.

Surprised indeed was Henry Smith Monday evening when 24 of his friends came to his home to help him celebrate his birthday. Progressive euchre was played at seven tables and prizes were won by Lloyd Reagh, Mrs. John Pethers, Mrs. Alfred Goodall and Ralph Partridge. Walter Goodall and Mrs. Sam Blades tied with Lloyd Reagh and Mrs. Goodall, but lost in the draw. Mr. Smith was presented with a gift as well as two birthday cakes. Refreshments were served.

Chronicle advertisers will not only favor the printers but will insure for the announcements more attractive typographical display by handing in their copy early in the week. It is important for merchants as well as the publisher that the paper reach its subscribers promptly on time and this is hard to accomplish if delays are occasioned by copy submitted in late hours. The receipt of copy, both advertising and news, several days before press time, whenever possible, is greatly appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Randall of Detroit spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. Randall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Randall. On Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Randall entertained a number of neighbors and friends in honor of the sixth wedding anniversary of their son. The time was spent in playing cards and visiting. Lewis Calls Strikers Out

Six thousand sit-down strikers are to evacuate eight Chrysler Corporation plants in Detroit immediately under terms of a three-part agreement which was arranged on Wednesday evening by Gov. Murphy.

John L. Lewis, militant union leader; Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the automobile corporation which bears his name, and the Governor were parties to the pact which was made after eight hours of negotiating in the State Capitol.

It was provided that strike-settlement negotiations would be resumed at 10 a. m. Thursday and would continue until an accord has been reached on collective bargaining.

There is a provision in the agreement that, while negotiations are in progress, no manufacturing operations will be attempted and no effort will be made to move tools, dies and equipment away from the struck plants.—Detroit Free Press.

The Window Called Today

by Laurence Hawthorne

© Western Newspaper Union.

Through the window of the present
All my life must come to me!
Freedom, happiness and friendship—
These great beauties I shall see
Only as they near my casement;
Then my heart must bid them stay,
For God's blessings always enter
Through the window called today.

Care may cast a fleeting shadow
On my precious windowpane,
But I know that sunshine gathers
Added splendor from the rain;
So, I find that each glad morning
Life is glorious and gay,
As it greets my eager spirit
Through the window called today.

Equable Isle of Man
The extreme range of temperature in the Isle of Man, in the Irish sea, is less than 17 degrees.

"Sammie" Dog
The "Sammie" dog is mistaken repeatedly for a breed known as the Spitz, which is much smaller than the pure-bred Samoyede. The coat of the Samoyede is a strong attribute to distinguish it from a Spitz dog. "Sammies" are clothed in a more luxurious stand-off silky coat.

Signal for Man Wanted

The Shrub Lavender
The shrub lavender (lavandula stoechas) grows three feet high, but is not as fragrant as the true lavender (lavandula vera). The perfumers of England and France raise lavender vera. It prefers a light, chalky soil overlaid with loam and will not tolerate a wet soil.

Michigan Mirror

A Non-Partisan
State News Letter
By GENE ALLEMAN
Michigan Press Association

Lansing—Aimed to check the flow of erring youth into Michigan's prisons and hospitals is the Orr plan for prevention of juvenile delinquency, now before the state legislature here.

Not in farm counties does this problem exist, but rather in industrial centers like Detroit where the likelihood of a boy or girl getting into trouble with the law is 18 per cent above the state average.

A master clinic would be established to furnish scientific service for juvenile courts. The state would provide aid to schools in establishing child guidance clinics.

The Orr plan is sponsored by Senator Flynn, Republican, of Cadillac, and Senator Palmer, Democrat, of Flint. It is known as Senate Bill No. 149.

"Santa Returns"

When the cook at the Boys' Vocational School in Lansing served roast pork and potatoes and the storekeeper issued new clothing, the youngsters at the state institution thought at first that Santa Claus had returned.

The occasion, however—at least, according to dissatisfied members of the school staff—was a scheduled visit of inspection of two legislative committees.

Staff members ask increase in their pay and better and more food for their charges.

Downstate and Upstate

A proposed referendum in 1938 on a constitutional convention was defeated the other day by the legislature, after a heated discussion over the need for liberalizing of the state's charter had simmered down to an old-fashioned downstate-upstate debate.

Wayne County is resentful over its failure to gain adequate constitutional representation in the present legislature. A constitutional convention, if called, would be dominated by upstate interests, so Wayne leaders maintain.

A Republican representative from the Detroit district advocated the referendum as a chance to obtain more legislators, and a Democratic representative from Escanaba voiced rigorous opposition.

The vote was 36 yes and 57 no.

Band Festival at Elkton on April 16

The Thumb's annual band and orchestra festival will be held again at Elkton High School on Friday, April 16, with W. W. Norton of Flint again the guest conductor and critic.

These festivals have been held annually at Elkton since 1933. A review of participants shows that orchestra enrollments are on the decrease while band enrollments at the festivals have increased over 200%.

At the 1933 festival, 138 orchestra players appeared in seven different groups, while 190 band members played in six bands. Last year 180 orchestra members appearing in five groups participated, while 395 band members were in eight groups. The record to date, this year, shows 151 orchestra players appearing in six units will participate, while 451 band members will play.

Besides, each orchestra playing two numbers in the afternoon and each band playing two numbers in the evening, each program will be concluded by having a selected group form the ideal orchestra and band from the standpoint of balance and instrumentation.

Orchestras and their directors are from the following schools: Fairgrove, T. H. Campbell; Sebewaing, Mrs. Mildred Hall; Deckerville, John K. Mitchell; Crosswell, John K. Mitchell; Harbor Beach, George D. Miller; and Unionville, T. H. Campbell.

Bands and their directors are as follows: Bad Axe, John K. Mitchell; Caro, Reuben J. Hill; Pigeon, Edmund F. Talaga; Crosswell, John K. Mitchell; Sebewaing, A. E. Scheiwe; Harbor Beach, Charles Kleinknecht; Cass City, Robert B. Clayton; Unionville, T. H. Campbell; Kingston-Fairgrove, T. H. Campbell; and Elkton, Orval E. Jessup.

This year, orchestras will play selections, as follows: Fairgrove, "Le Tambourin" by Rameau and "Festival March" by C. M. von Weber; Sebewaing, "Spanish Dance" by Moskowski and "Marche Militaire" by Schubert; Deckerville, "Gold and Silver" by Lehner and "New Horizons" by Czibulka; Crosswell, "Parade of the Wooden Shoes" by Jesse and "Winged Hours" by Bath; Harbor Beach, "King Rose" by Bernard and "Pomp and Chivalry" by Roberts; Unionville, "Entrée de Processional" by Batiste and "Air de Ballet" by C. M. von Gluck.

Bands will play the following numbers: Bad Axe, "Mignonne" by Braumann and "The Dandy Fifth March" by Deulin; Caro, "Symphonique" by Vandercook and "The Second Regiment March" by Hall; Pigeon, "Electric Park" by Southwell and "Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa; Crosswell, "The Light Cavalry" by Suppe and "The General Mixup" by Allen; Sebewaing, "In a Monastery Garden" by Ketelby and "The New Colonial March" by Hall; Harbor Beach, "The Valedictorian" by Morris and "Washington Post" by Sousa; Cass City, "Hermit of Kildare" by Holmes and "The Thunderer" by Sousa; Unionville, "Saskatchewan" by Holmes and "Our Director" by Bigelow; Kingston-Fairgrove, "Barcarolle" by Offenbach and "Officer of the Day" by Hall; Elkton, "Panorama" by Barnhouse and "Silver Jubilee" by Frankeneck.

Michigan Leper Escapes Colony

Jesus Ayala, Mexican beet field worker from Owendale, Huron County, one of the rare cases of leprosy reported in Michigan, has escaped from the U. S. Public Health Service Leprosarium at Carville, La., according to word received by Dr. C. C. Slemmons, state health commissioner.

Ayala, in company with two other Mexicans, walked away from his life of ease at the leper hospital almost on the second anniversary of his commitment there on March 11, 1935. Ayala, with an active case of leprosy, is described as about 46 years old, black hair, brown eyes, weight about 150 pounds and five feet eight inches in height. Health officials would appreciate any information as to Ayala's whereabouts.

Leprosy, a rare disease in the temperate climate, has been reported just four times in Michigan in the past five years. Three of these cases, including Ayala, were committed to the federal leper colony at Carville where 350 lepers from all over the United States are segregated. Due mainly to Biblical influence, the fear of leprosy is almost without parallel, but investigations have shown that the disease is communicable with difficulty and only under special conditions.

JUNIORS READY TO PRESENT ANNUAL PLAY

Other elements contributing to the complication of the plot are: The "loss" of Angela Forbes' pearl necklace, which casts more than a shadow of suspicion on Henry, the butler with a police record; the estrangement between Mr. and Mrs. Forbes, as a result of the attention of one Schuyler VanDyke, another of Dulcy's guests, who is to impress Mr. Forbes; and an elaborate moving picture synopsis by the modest and obliging Vincent Leach.

Believe it or not, the distressing situation unravels itself to the satisfaction of all, including the audience. "Bill" Parker, Dulcy's brother, can be thanked for this.

As one would expect, the play is very artistically developed, and affords good opportunities for varied personality portrayal.

MICHIGAN FARMERS PLAN NORMAL ACREAGE OF SPRING CROPS

enced heavy losses of bean acreages, disappointing yields, and poor quality of the 1936 crop, report an intended acreage only equal to that harvested last year notwithstanding that the price in recent months has been the highest since 1929. This is 22 per cent, or 129,000 acres less than the 1928-32 state average. The states of New York and California report a considerable intended increase over the 5-year average while the other leading bean states show moderate decreases. The total for all states is 75,000 acres less than average but 11 per cent, or 169,000 acres, greater than the reduced acreage in 1936.

An increase of nine per cent from last year's harvested potato acreage is intended by Michigan growers for the current year. This is 17 per cent above the 5-year (1928-32) average, whereas the majority of the other leading potato states are planning only small increases over last year and a less acreage than their respective 5-year averages. In the 11 states producing early potatoes a 9 per cent increase over 1936 is expected; in the 7 intermediate states a 3 per cent increase is shown. In the 18 surplus late states an increase of 6 per cent is indicated, while in the 12 other late states only one per cent increase is in prospect. In spite of the reported increase in the surplus late states, the total for that group is 5 per cent below normal.

Michigan onion growers plan to reduce their acreages as shown by the intentions report, which indicates a state total of 11,000 acres as compared to 11,400 acres harvested in 1936. Reports from growers in the late group of states indicate a reduction of 3 per cent below the 1936 acreage. Growers expect to plant more cabbage in Michigan and in most of the other late states. The total late domestic acreage is expected to show an increase of 13 per cent and the Danish types an increase of 3 per cent over the respective acreages for 1936.

Poultry

SPROUTED OATS
GOOD WINTER DIET

Tender Plants Should Be Free From Mold.

By J. C. Taylor, Extension Poultryman, New Jersey College of Agriculture, WNU Service.

Green food for winter feeding of poultry can easily be obtained by sprouting oats. Oats to be sprouted should be good seed oats and free from any must or smut, and a home-made oat sprouter, consisting of trays two feet square and four or five inches deep with fine hardware cloth for the bottom, is satisfactory equipment.

Soak the oats in warm water overnight and then spread them on the trays about an inch thick. Keep the temperature of the room in which the oats are placed between 60 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit and water the oats once a day. When the sprouts are three or four inches long, they are ready to be fed to the birds at the rate of one square inch of oats to each bird daily.

The most serious trouble in sprouting is mold. Great care is needed to avoid its appearance and no oats should be fed which have any trace of mold. Careful washing of trays and tubs used in sprouting oats in a five per cent solution of formalin is a good practice to follow. If this fails to control the mold, use one teaspoon of formalin to every six quarts of water and allow the oats to soak in this solution for 12 hours.

Houdans a French Breed, Takes Name From Village

The Houdan is a French breed, taking its name from the village of Houdan. It is a rather popular breed in France and is kept to a certain extent in the United States for the production of table poultry. It is a bird of good substance with good length and depth of body, making it well adapted for the production of meat. The back is long and of good breadth, sloping slightly toward the tail. In many respects the Houdan somewhat resembles the Dorking, an English breed. The standard weights in pounds are: Cock, 7; hen, 6½; cockerel, 6½; and pullet, 5.

A characteristic feature of the Houdan is the presence of a fifth toe, practically all other breeds and varieties of chickens having but four toes. The Houdan also has a well-developed crest and a beard. The comb is V shaped.

The Mottled Houdan has black plumage with about 1 feather in 2 to 1 feather in 10 tipped with positive white, depending on the section of plumage. The fluff is black, tipped with gray. The under-color in all sections of both sexes is dull black. The ear lobes are white. The color of the beak is dark horn; the shanks and toes are pinkish white, mottled with black.

The White Houdan is the counterpart of the mottled in type and has pure white plumage. The ear lobes are red. The beak, shanks, and toes are pinkish white.

Problems of Disease

With the increase in poultry population, and local concentration, have come problems of disease—plenty of them. Some of the expert stations, notes a writer in the Rural New-Yorker, in states where poultry is a large industry have research laboratories comparable to those of the great hospitals. Germ and parasite infestation, bodily defects, nutritional deficiencies and disorders are studied to find the exact causes, so that prevention, vaccination or medical treatment may be recommended. Easily administered capsules are available for many poultry troubles, such as intestinal parasites. We all realize that disease prevention through sanitary measures is of prime importance, but many poultry disorders do yield to modern treatment so that it is not necessary to chop off a hen's head at the first sign of ailment.

Hatching Eggs

When we hatch eggs from a pullet, not much can be known about her ability to live. If, on the other hand, eggs from her are hatched when she is two or three years old, she has then demonstrated her ability to endure heavy laying and to resist disease and adequately assimilate large amounts of feed. Regardless of the cause of the high mortality, it would seem logical to breed more from hens that have lived long and produced well.

Loss From Red Mites

Red mites and body lice frequently cause serious loss in egg production. Deaths also may follow a bad infestation among both young and old stock, and considerable time and care may be required to bring the flock back into condition after the trouble has been overcome. Carelessness or insanitary conditions are usually responsible for the presence of these pests. They thrive on dirty hens and multiply rapidly in filth if it is allowed to accumulate in the henhouse.

HOW ARE YOU TODAY

DR. JAMES W. BARTON
Talks About

Proteins in Reducing Diet
ONE of the things the overweight individual cannot understand is why he or she is not permitted to eat food in proportion to their size and weight. They notice that those weighing many pounds less are permitted to eat as much or even more food. What they fail to understand is that those of normal weight have really as much active tissue on their bodies as have those who are overweight. The whole point is that fat tissue is not an active tissue and doesn't have to be kept up, or built up, as have the active tissues of the body such as muscle.

The amount of food that should really be eaten is the amount the individual needs for his proper or normal weight, not what he or she weighs at present with many pounds of fat stored in and on the body.

The second point the overweight individual must remember is that while all foods stimulate action of the tissues in the body, there are some foods that have more stimulating power, make the processes and tissues work faster and thus create more heat.

Thus, fat foods are the richest form of food in that one gram of fat—butter, cream, fat meats—will supply 9 calories (heat units) whereas proteins—meat, eggs, fish—and carbohydrates—bread, potatoes, sugar—supply only 4 calories for each gram. Fat foods from the heat standpoint therefore are more than twice as valuable as proteins and carbohydrates (starches).

Thus from the fuel or food standpoint—giving energy to the body and storing away excess fuel or food as fat—the starch and fat foods (while valuable to the thin individual or the one of average weight) should be cut down in those who are overweight because they store away excess food as fat on the body.

Proteids Don't Store Fat.
Now while proteids—meat, eggs, fish—are the foods that repair worn and make new tissue, they can likewise supply energy to a great extent and do not store fat. (Perhaps if fat meat, fat fish, and egg yolks were eaten to excess, some fat would be stored).

This is the main reason then that in all reducing diets the proteid foods are not reduced; they keep the body cells repaired, build new ones, and give energy. They prevent to some extent that weak feeling that is felt by overweights using a reducing diet.

However there is another point about the proteid foods that is sometimes forgotten and that is the great stimulus they give to the activity of the tissues. The very taking of the food itself raises the energy output, or the amount of energy, but some foods give greater stimulus than others.

Fats and starch foods are like hard coal or wood—good heat producers—and proteid foods are like coal oil, kindling or coke which burn up fiercely, not only burning themselves but burning up other fuels more quickly also.

Thus the rise in metabolism—rate at which the body processes work—after eating carbohydrate or starch food is only 6 per cent of the total fuel value of the food eaten (106 calories for every 100 calories of starch food eaten); the increase caused by fat is only 14 per cent of the total (114 calories for every 100 calories eaten); but the rise in metabolism after eating 100 calories of protein is much greater, amounting to 40 per cent or 140 calories of energy output.

Vincent's Infection.
A common infection of the mouth that attacked all the armies engaged in the World war is known as Vincent's infection. It attacks the mucous membrane of the gums and lining of the mouth, causing ulceration and decay (sloughing), some of the gum which covers the teeth being lost.

The breath has a very bad odor which is characteristic of Vincent's infection.

These symptoms come on suddenly and are often accompanied by a metallic taste, increased flow of saliva (the digestive juice of the mouth), swelling of the glands in the neck, a tired feeling, rise in temperature, and mental depression.

Some physicians believe the symptoms are due to lack of vitamins and prescribe green vegetables, oranges and lemons. Many mouth washes have been recommended, containing antiseptics to kill the organisms responsible for the destruction of the mouth tissue. Hydrogen peroxide diluted with equal parts of water has proved very effective, as are freshly prepared sodium perborate solutions, both of which are recommended by Conrad F. Hellwege, D. D. S., Philadelphia. Both preparations clear away the gray or yellow membrane, remove the odor, and destroy the organisms causing the disease.

EXPLORERS' CHIEF

A few distinction for variously distinguished Vilhjalmur Stefansson world famous American explorer, scholar and author, was his recent election as president of the Explorers' club, New York. Renowned for his many expeditionary studies of Arctic archeology, anthropology, ethnology and geography during the past quarter-century, Stefansson holds degrees, medals and other high honors.

After spending half the night celebrating a birthday party, two young men left in separate cars for home. They drove different routes but as they lived in the same neighborhood, they eventually had to cross their route somewhere. It so happened that while driving at reckless rate of speed, they collided at one of the intersections. Both of them got out and were about to engage in a heated argument about driving while drunk when suddenly they recognized one another.

This driving while under the influence of liquor is a subject that comes up frequently in safety discussions and to me there is only one sound piece of advice to eliminate this type of accident. Here it is:

If you must drink, don't drive. If you must drive, don't drink.

dog races, and twice the senate has rejected it.

With rumors flying that Gov. Murphy would undoubtedly veto it, even if the senate pronounced its blessing, Floyd FitzSimmons' 1937 measure went sailing through the house a few days ago. Lobbyist FitzSimmons enjoys favor as a "squaresooter." The statehouse story is that the house passed his bill as a personal favor—probably feeling that the senate would kill it anyway. Among its supporters in the house were the Rev. James W. Ellwood of Kent County and Mrs. Elizabeth L. Belen of Ingham County.

Farm Product Advertising
In the states of Wisconsin and New York the state appropriates funds to stimulate the sale of farm products through advertising campaigns. Apparently taking a tip from the success experienced in these states, Senator Earl L. Burhans of Paw Paw has introduced a bill to appropriate $30,000 annually for the next two years. The state would pay half the expense of advertising "major" farm products of the state.

Civil Service Stalled
Chances of action in the house on the civil service bill passed by the senate grow less daily in proportion to the approach of the spring election.

Politicians are not anxious to "stick their heads out." Rated highest by the Civil Service Study Commission are the state conservation department and the state police department, both of which operate on an informal merit system.

With retirement on April 1 of three Republican members—Harry H. Witeley of Dowagiac, Philip K. Fletcher of Alpena, and M. J. Fox of Iron Mountain—certain Democrats view the prospect of a new crop of plums, bill or no bill. And jobs look mighty good to politicians, regardless of their party.

Low Oven Heat Best for Roast

Juicy roasts showing the least amount of shrinkage come out of an oven after a constant but comparatively low temperature.

Oven tests recently conducted in kitchens at Michigan State College refute the old supposition that the heat must be juggled during meat roasting in order to sear and then roast at high temperature.

Recommendations are simple, says Miss Alberta Young, instructor in foods at the college. A constant low temperature of 300 degrees Fahrenheit for the entire period in the oven did a far superior job than was evidenced in a similar piece of meat that was given a 450 degree roasting.

The two roasts were practically identical before they went into the oven. One weighed 10 pounds, 2 ounces, received the 450 degree treatment until a scientific meat thermometer pronounced it done in 2 hours, 54 minutes. It came out of the oven weighing 7 pounds and 5 ounces, a roasting loss of 2 pounds and 13 ounces.

The other roast weighed 10 pounds and one ounce but lost only 1 pound and 2 ounces in roasting three hours. The first roast lost 27 per cent of its weight, the second only 11 per cent.

Additional pointers suggested by Miss Young include preparation of the meat for the oven. Roasts should be cleaned with a damp cloth and placed on a rack in the roaster with the fat side up. None should be covered except a roast of veal, and no water need be added.

by a New kind of ZINC Coating

A NEWLY perfected electrolytic process known as bethanizing applies a zinc coating to bethanized fence that in its entire thickness is 99.99 per cent pure zinc, the purest ever applied to wire.

Free from the embrittling, rust-inviting iron contamination and other impurities unavoidable in older zinc-coating processes, the bethanized coating has remarkably high resistance to the weather. It is also so ductile and tightly bonded to the steel base that there is no loss of protective value from the wrapping at the joints in weaving. It affords the same heavy protection here as on the unbent wire.

Yet bethanized fence costs no more. While bringing greater value and longer fence life it sells for usual fence prices. Ask to see this new, better-protected fence.

Just received a carload of this fencing. Also have very good prices on spools of Barb Wire.

Rural Rehabilitation Activities in County

Rural rehabilitation activities under the Resettlement Administration have been a safety net, preventing many farmers in Tuscola County from falling into the tenant farmer class, according to John McDorman, county supervisor of rural rehabilitation.

"Approximately 17 farm families in Tuscola County who have title and equity in their lands have been helped to maintain their ownership status by standard rural rehabilitation loans and chattels, by debt adjustment, and by supervised farm operating plans. Without this aid many of them would have lost their equity and become tenants," Mr. McDorman said.

"By extending similar aid to 49 families who are tenant farmers on a cash-rental, lease, or share-crop basis in Tuscola County, the Resettlement Administration has helped them lay the foundation for future ownership. They are being helped through arrangements for longer and better leases and through standard RA loans to own their livestock, machinery and equipment. This constitutes the first step toward farm ownership.

"Improved conditions for many others among the 1045 tenant farmers in Tuscola County are expected to result from the tenancy legislation now before Congress. How serious the situation is in the nation is indicated by the fact that less than half the farmers own the farms they operate, and tenant farmers are increasing at the rate of 40,000 a year," says Mr. McDorman.

"The number of tenant farmers in Tuscola County increased from 737 in 1930, to 1045 in 1935 and probably would have increased even more, except for rural rehabilitation."
