TO ERECT $300,000 GENERATING PLANT

REA Engineer Outlined the Thumb Project in Talk
Here Friday.

A $300,000 generating plant to furnish power for the Rural Electrification Administration's Thumb of Michigan project is a possibility for Cass City, said C. A. Winder, consulting engineer of the Michigan Public Utilities Commission, in a short talk at the dinner given Friday evening by Rotary Club members in honor of 30 of their farmer friends at the Hotel Gordon.

The site will be decided within the next six to eight weeks. While Cass City is ideally located geographically for the power site, being in the center of the proposed project area, the quality of water supply, transportation facilities and other factors will also be considered by the administration. It is probable, according to Mr. Winder, that four different sites will be considered. Ugly citizens are making an effort to locate the plant in that village. Engineers are making chemical analysis of Michigan coals to determine whether coal or oil will be used as fuel in the generating plant. Nine thousand gallons of water will be needed each hour for three turbines and many times that amount for cooling purposes. Nine to 12 men will be employed in the plant.

As stated in the Chronicle last week, the Thumb project, one of four in Michigan, includes Sanilac, Tuscola and Huron counties, and parts of Saginaw and Bay. The Thumb project embraces 1,800 miles of electric lines and 5,500 farmers have signed for it.

According to Mr. Winder, there has been allocated to the Thumb project by federal authorities $2,000,000. The largest single allotment previous to this time was $700,000 to a California area. The Thumb project is three times greater than any other area now established because heretofore projects have been county projects. Electricity for rural communities has been serviced by utilities in the more densely populated farm areas with five to seven customers to the mile. In sparsely settled areas now untouched by the utilities, electricity will be within reach of all farmers of the Thumb district through the REA, said Mr. Winder.

Outside of highly specialized labor, the work of erecting rural lines by the administration may be done by farmers who may contribute labor in exchange for wiring their farm buildings, thereby securing this equipment without a cash outlay. In an Arkansas project, 98% of the farmers paid for wiring their farm buildings in this manner. A project is financed by a loan from the government to the cooperating company in which the owners are the consumers. A mortgage on the lines is taken for the loans and is the only security required, not a cent of liability being assumed on the part of any individual farmer.

Every farmer is entitled to rural electrification, said Mr. Winder, and it will be as wide-spread as Turn to page 8, please.

McCullough Group Leads Bowlers

The McCullough team are leading local bowlers by a safe margin and are assured of first honors of the series which ends in three weeks. The Knapp group are also hopeful. They have occupied the cellar position for a long period and now have advanced to share the low spot by tying the Wallace team. The latter, however, have played three less games than the Knapps and have a chance to "come out from under" in their next evening's play.

The standings on Wednesday night:

McCullough	37	8	.822

Arlington Hoffman and Cass City King Ben Pose for Picture at King's New Home

No, the animal is not masquerading. Neither did he forget to comb his hair after tumbling out of bed this morning. That hirsute adornment is natural. If you doubt it, ask "Barney" (Arlington) Hoffman at the Milton Hoffman farm, 1/2 mile north of Cass City, who has been appointed special "care taker" of Cass City King Ben, the steer pictured above.

Of the 24 steer projects entered by members of the Cass City Livestock Club this season probably none is creating more interest than the one undertaken by the club as a whole—that of feeding a Scotch Highland steer as an educational program. "Barney" was chosen to care for this animal, but club members will contribute toward the feeding program and all will feel great pride in being part owner of this unusual specimen as they exhibit him with their other 4-H club animals at the big fairs this fall. He has been insured with a reliable livestock insurance company for a year.

Grant Hutchinson, Arlington Hoffman and Meredith McAlpine were appointed as a committee to act with Willis Campbell, club adviser, to make the purchase which was done a few weeks ago. The animal came from Ilderton, Ontario.

"We were looking for him at the dock at Sarnia," said Mr. Campbell, "when suddenly 'Barney' spotted a crate on the back of a passenger car. 'The barber shop for you,' said the youthful stockman as he unfastened the rope preparatory to transferring him to the pick-up."

As far as club members here know, Cass City Big Ben is the only animal of his breed in the United States. They have knowledge of but two Scotch Highland herds in Canada. The raising of this breed was started in Scotland where their meat is considered the best obtainable. It is not uncommon to find a Highland calf winning the blue ribbon at some of the leading stock shows in Scotland.

The first "public appearance" of this Scotch Highland steer will be at the school auditorium here, at a poultry meeting tonight (Friday) sponsored by the Frutchey Bean Company.

The home of the Scotch Highland breed is the highland of Perth, Turn to page 8, please.

SPORTS HELP STOP YOUTH DELINQUENCY

C. C. C. Speaker Advocated a Directed Recreational Program.

With a great deal of leisure time at their command during the summer vacation months, school children have great need of a directed recreational program, C. H. Nickle, professor of speech of the extension department of Michigan State College, told members of the Cass City Community Club, at the April meeting of that society Tuesday night. Grade and high school pupils have recreational facilities during the school year, but vacation time, with many leisure hours presents an opportunity for a community recreational program. An all-year program of this character is needed for youths just out of high school who are without jobs and not definitely settled as to their life work.

Active in recreational programs in Lansing, Prof. Nickle has found that softball and baseball games and other clean sports in that city during the summer months have gone a long way in the elimination of juvenile delinquency. These sports, provided at no expense to youths, have taken care of much of their leisure time, has kept them out of gangs and helped them develop hobbies.

Preceding his address, Mr. Nickle led the audience in group singing, with George Dillman at the piano. The merchants' committee sponsored Tuesday night's program. Dougald Krug, committee chairman, introduced the speaker. A chicken dinner was served by ladies of the Catholic Church.

President B. H. Starmann announced that C. M. Wallace was chairman of the bankers' group responsible for the ladies' night program of the Community Club in May.

Junior Farm Bureau Organized

The Tuscola County Junior Farm Bureau was organized last Tuesday evening at the Recreation Room of the Court House. Thirty members were present.

Officers of the newly formed organization are:

President, Alton Reavey, Akron. Vice president, Walter Goodall, Cass City.

Secretary-treasurer, Marguerite Carpenter, Caro. Reporter, Spencer Dunham, Caro. Recreation committee, Mildred Hover, Akron, and Irlis Fox, Vassar.

Donald Gager, membership and resale representative of the Farm Bureau in Huron County, was speaker. Mr. Gager spoke on the sales tax bill which has been introduced in the present legislature.

The Junior Farm Bureau urges all farmers to write to the governor, their state senator, or their representative and urge them to oppose the bill.

Horse Specialist to Visit Tuscola Co.

Harry Moxley, horse specialist of Michigan State College, will spend two days next week in Tuscola County. Mr. Moxley will demonstrate and discuss proper handling of untrained or unruly horses. He will particularly stress proper care of feet of growing horses, emphasizing the importance of keeping the feet well balanced thereby making a more valuable horse at maturity. Horsemen may see Mr. Moxley in action:

Tuesday, April 20, 1:30 p. m., at the Robert Horner farm, 2 1/2 miles east of Deford.

Tuesday, April 20, 7:00 p. m., Tuscola Horsemen Banquet, Hotel Montague, Caro.

Wednesday, April 21, 1:30 p. m., Robert Robinson farm, 5 north, 1 1/2 west of Caro Standpipe.

Farmers should bring horses about which they have questions to either of the afternoon meetings. Purebred horsemen and colt development owners are invited to attend the Tuesday banquet to discuss a county horsebreeders' association.

ROTARY ENTERTAINS FARMER FRIENDS

Thirty-two Guests with Club
Members Heard Burr Lincoln Give Address.

Thirty-two prominent farmers from Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron Counties were guests of the Cass City Rotary Club at a Farmer-Friend dinner served at the Hotel Gordon Friday night. The entertaining of a group of agriculturalists is an annual event of the Rotarians and the club on Friday saw almost an entirely new set of faces from those of last year's guests.

A Rotary quartet of G. W. Landon, A. C. Atwell, G. A. Tindale and Leslie Townsend sang the melodious strains of "O, Mammie Riley!" and responded with an encore. J. Henry Smith combined farmer and Rotarian voices in leading the group singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "Home on the Range."

President Willis Campbell was in a generous mood and showed his liberality in assessing and collecting fines, right and left, from Rotary members. Vice President H. Theron Donahue scattered advice and was kept busy acknowledging gifts for Richard Theron, his new born son—bank books showing gift deposits by the two local banks and a large package of garments for the youngster from his Rotary uncles.

J. Henry Smith, F. A. Bigelow and Wm. Miller were appointed a committee to select a Rotary bowling team to compete with a town group who have "champeen" ambitions.

State Representative Audley Rawson introduced Hon. Burr Lincoln, state commissioner of agriculture, as the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Lincoln, a Huron county farmer, in his opening remarks, referred to the prosperity of the Thumb of Michigan, and said it ranked well in the production of live stock and the 13 major crops of Michigan. He told his audience of some of the functions of his department, and its regulations regarding sanitation and other standards.

The western producer gets the high dollar for his crops in Chicago and other large marketing centers because of his methods of grading and marketing. Mr. Lincoln said Michigan is behind the procession with its old marketing system and has remained so because of its diversified crops. The importance of grading was emphasized and he advised each community to enter into the study of marketing to the best advantage its particular crops so that better prices may be realized.

Representatives of the Rural Electrification Administration were present at the meeting and outlined the Thumb project of rural electrification, a report of which is given in another column of this number of the Chronicle.

The annual gatherings of farmers and Rotarians have been truly enjoyable events and have tended to cement friendships and enlarge the circles of acquaintance of the men of the community.

At the close of the regular meeting of Echo Chapter, O. E. S., held Wednesday night in Masonic Hall, a social hour was enjoyed. Sandwiches, friedcakes and coffee were served.

DECKER—BOND.

Clara Margaret Decker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Decker, and Charles Edwin Bond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bond, both of Greenleaf Township were united in marriage Saturday, April 10, at 2:00 p. m. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul J. Allured at the Presbyterian Manse.

The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jackson. Mrs. Jackson is a sister of the bride.

At four o'clock, a sumptuous dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Decker to immediate relatives. The table and a three-story wedding cake were beautifully decorated.

The bride and groom left for Detroit where they will spend the week with relatives.

Capacity Audience at Music Festival

A capacity audience, estimated from 300 to 350, filled the auditorium and chapel of the Cass City Baptist Church on Monday evening to hear the music festival in which were featured Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hines, radio singers of Cleveland, Ohio, and the young people's orchestra of the First Baptist Church of Bay City.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines appeared in solo and duet numbers and Mr. Hines conducted chorus singing in which the audience entered heartily. Rev. John Raymond of Bay City contributed a short address on the subject, "Ye Are Not Your Own."

Delegations came from Bay City, Caro, Deckerville, Vassar, North Branch and other points of the Thumb to attend the festival.

Kingston Couple Married 25 Years

From Kingston Correspondent.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCool celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday, April 10, at their farm home, north and east of Kingston. About 40 were in attendance and they left many useful and valuable gifts.

William McCool and Flossie Hampshire were united in marriage at Kingston, April 10, 1912, by Rev. Mr. Sutphin, and to this union four children were born, Mrs. Earl Sables, Mayville; Mrs. Ronald Congdon, Kingston; E. J. and William, at home.

Mr. and Mrs. McCool were both reared in this community, having attended Beverly School together.

A lunch, consisting of sandwiches, pickles, ice cream, cake and coffee, was served to guests at a late hour. Mrs. Earl McCool and Mrs. Otto Sheffield made the wedding cake. Cards, visiting and music passed the evening and all departed for their homes, having spent a very enjoyable time.

KIRBY—WAGNER WEDDING.

A quiet wedding took place at the Methodist Parsonage in Owendale on Wednesday, April 7, at six o'clock in the evening when Miss Ruth M. Kirby, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kirby, became the bride of Herbert C. Wagner, the youngest son of Mrs. John Wagner of Cass City. Rev. Mr. Blackmore of Owendale performed the ceremony. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Vern Kirby, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Immediately after the wedding, the young people returned to the home of the bride's parents where a wedding dinner awaited them.

They will make their home on the Milton Hoffman farm, one and one-half miles north of Cass City where Mr. Wagner is employed.

On Friday and Saturday nights miscellaneous showers were given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kirby for Mr. and Mrs. Wagner—the first evening by neighbors and friends and the second by relatives. Friends and relatives from Merrill, Flint and Pontiac attended the showers. The bridal couple received many useful gifts.

Winton School Votes to Close

At a special meeting of patrons of the Winton School, District No. 3, Elkland, on Tuesday evening, it was voted to close the school next year and transport the pupils to the Cass City School for their instruction. The vote stood 81 to 2.

On March 19, the proposition was defeated 23 to 19, but later patrons petitioned the board for another election which was held Tuesday night.

The Winton School is the third within the past year in which patrons have voted to close their grade school and send pupils to the Cass City School.

Caro Man Dies on Way to the Doctor's Office

Milford Snyder, 25, of Caro died very suddenly at Vassar shortly after midnight Saturday while he was being taken in an automobile to the office of Dr. E. C. Swanson for treatment. Coroner H. T. Donahue, who was called on the case, said death was due to acute dilation of the heart.

While dancing in the Commercial Hotel at Vassar, Mr. Snyder became ill and went to an adjoining room with a pain in his side. At his request, three young men placed him in an automobile to be taken to a physician's office. He died on the way. Snyder had been suffering with rheumatic heart trouble for some time.

Born July 5, 1911, in Caro, he had lived in that village all his life, and was employed by the Robert Park Co., wholesale egg merchants. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Huston Funeral Home in Caro, conducted by Rev. W. F. Boettcher.

Mr. Snyder leaves his father, Percy Snyder, Sr., a step mother, a brother and a sister, and three half-brothers and sisters.

THE FARMER'S BOY.

What inducement has the boy or young man of today to stay on his father's farm? He hears all the talk about surplus production of farm products, and he asks what hope of a happy life there is for him, if he is in business which constantly produces more than the country will buy. The majority of these boys are asking how they can get away from the farm.

Some day this surplus of farm products is going to be taken care of. Either new markets will be discovered, or so many men will leave the farms that there won't be any surplus. When that time comes, the young man who knows farming scientifically will be sure of comfort and health at least.

PERMANENT C. C. C.

President Roosevelt is asking that the Civilian Conservation Corps be made a permanent agency of the government. This form of relief has provided employment for hundreds of thousands of young men, many of whom otherwise might have been idle and drifting. If it had not been for this opportunity to work, some of these boys might be stealing rides on freight cars, or even degenerating into plain ordinary bums.

The boys employed in this form of relief have done much to make American forests a source of greater wealth. Probably this agency should become permanent to some extent, to care for boys who can't find work. But it is not intended to be a substitute for a real job. It is up to every boy to wear out shoe leather and spend many patient days seeking for a job in industry, business, or farming.

COMMUNITY SIT-DOWNS.

A New York minister, Rev. J. B. Langstaff, preached at St. Edmund's Church in that city, against what he called spiritual sit-down strikes. His idea was that many church members, who have received a commission to go out and do the work of the kingdom of God, don't do anything about it, and they sit comfortably at home and demand their share of eternal bliss. If they sit still doing no evil, they feel they are entitled to the same reward as those who go about doing good.

The members of churches are not the only ones who can be said to indulge in such sit-downs. We are all of us called on to do certain work for the benefit of humanity, to take our share of the labors of the community. "Let George do it" has become the popular motto.

On the days when elections and primary meetings are held, it is the duty of good citizens to get out and vote. Even the most hotly contested election may see 20,000,000 people staying at home and letting somebody else do the work of carrying on the government.

If a meeting is called in the home town to plan for needed measures for the benefit of the community, only a handful of people will probably be present.

All the folks who without good reason thus fail to take their part of the work of the community, could be called sit-downers. It may be said that they do not prevent other people from working, as striking sit-downers usually do. Yet their lack of co-operation throws a cold blanket of discouragement over all useful work.

The country is tired of sit-downers who stop the work of industrial plants and it ought to be tired of the sit-downers who fail in their community to do the active work that needs to be done for the benefit of all.

THE PEOPLE STILL RULE.

They had an election in Michigan a few days ago, in which the results were fairly close, and quite different from those recorded on November 3 last. Which is an indication that the people still have absolute control over politics and government. Dictators may order the people of Europe as to every step they must take during the day, but the American people still control their own affairs.

The most disturbing things about that election was that less than 800,000 people voted, whereas 1,800,000 went to the polls last November. Yet the officials chosen the past week had great and important responsibilities to carry, largely affecting the welfare of their state. Why should not the good citizen go to the polls for every election?

ONE CONFLICT ENDED.

The country heard with thankfulness that the great strike of employees of the Chrysler automobile plants had been settled. This conflict lasted almost a month. Business people in Detroit say it will cost $10,000,000 in loss of payrolls, and $14,000,000 in retail and wholesale distribution.

When people stop work, and fail to gain the money they might have earned, there is just as great a loss of wealth as if they had taken the 10,000,000 or 14,000,000 dollars, and dumped them in Lake Michigan. There would be a great outcry, if somebody should take $14,000,000 worth of gold and dump it into the lake. So far the country sees all this loss of productive power going on, and finds no way to persuade people to settle their disputes without such loss of production.

STILL BORROWING.

The government will have to borrow some more money before its fiscal year ends June 30. Hopes have been held out that the government's receipts would equal its expenditures in the year 1937, but the way things are going now, this seems very doubtful. The states and the cities are clamoring for liberal aid from the government to reduce their relief expenditures. Unless these expenditures can be cut, or unless the receipts from taxes can be greatly raised, the government will have to keep borrowing a good deal longer than 1939.

The people know what happens to a business when it keeps borrowing indefinitely. They know also that when a family's expenses constantly exceed its earnings, it either has to cut its expenses or increase its income.

DEAD TOWNS.

The newspaper humorist tells how the real estate man took the visitor around a certain town. The visitor remarked that it was the first cemetery he had seen that had lights.

Now that real estate man did not probably realize that his town did not look like a live one. He had seen it so many times, that its faults did not impress themselves on his mind. The decadent looking places seemed good enough to him.

It takes the visitor who sees everything with fresh eyes, to discover how everything really looks. He can tell in a short time whether a town is a live one or not. If the business places are neat, substantial, well cared for, if the homes are well repaired and with orderly grounds, he knows those folks are on earth and going ahead.

Automobile travel is easy now, because guideposts mark the way on every important road. Advertising is the guidepost that marks the best way to find the goods you desire.

HOW ARE YOU TODAY

Talks About

Dinitrophenol

YOU are not hearing or reading as much now about the use of dinitrophenol for reducing weight. The fact that about one in every seven using it develops a skin rash, and that cases of cataract, collapse, and even death have resulted has naturally made overweighters somewhat afraid of this drug.

It is perhaps fortunate, generally speaking, that many are afraid to use dinitrophenol because its use by anybody and everybody without a physician's supervision is dangerous.

However, Dr. W. G. Campbell, chief of the federal food and drug administration (Washington), points out "that dinitrophenol now forms the basis of a half dozen or more patent medicines on the market. The indiscriminate use of these preparations will most likely be followed by poisoning."

Fortunately one of the physicians who has done most of the research work on dinitrophenol, Dr. M. L. Tainter, Los Angeles, outlines in the Journal of the American Medical Association a form of treatment for those poisoned by this drug. "As there is no special drug that overcomes dinitrophenol, the treatment is directed toward getting the drug out of the body. When the patient is first seen the stomach should be washed out with large volumes of water containing baking soda (about a tablespoonful to the quart of water). A large amount of water may be left in the stomach to take the place of the water lost by profuse sweating. If pure oxygen is available the patient should breathe it in through a mask. To reduce fever, the victim should be placed in a bath tub containing ice water or in an ice pack."

The point then is that by washing out the stomach and putting the victim in a bath tub of ice water—a treatment that can be given at home—the lives of these victims may be saved in many cases.

Poisoning Cases Rare.

However, poisoning occurs only at rare intervals and usually from using doses that are too large. Dr. Tainter and his associates, Drs. A. B. Stockton and W. C. Cutting, who have studied this drug for over five years report as follows on its value for the treatment of overweight: "One hundred and seventy selected overweight patients (20 males and 150 females) were given sodium dinitrophenol by mouth for an average of 88 days, each being given an average daily dose of 5 1/2 grains. The average increase in metabolic rate (rate at which the body processes work) was about 11 per cent for each 1 1/2 grains daily dose. The average loss of body weight was 17 pounds for each patient with an average loss of about 1 1/2 pounds weekly. Their food intake was not reduced but they were not to eat more food than had been their custom."

Now why were these physicians able to get such excellent results from dinitrophenol? It was because the drug was free from impurities and the patients were under supervision at all times.

These research physicians from results obtained feel justified in giving dinitrophenol to almost all overweight persons as it will promptly and certainly increase the rate at which the body processes work, greatly increase the heat and thus reduce weight in a manner and to an extent not approached by any drug previously tried. It has the disadvantage, however, of producing undesirable reactions in some patients which cannot be known beforehand and which occasionally are alarming.

Dizziness

When an attack of dizziness occurs there is often the feeling on the part of the patient that there is something wrong with his heart. As a matter of fact most cases of dizziness come from a disturbance in the ear or in the liver. Generally but not always when the objects about the patient seem to be going "around and around", or the patient himself seems to be going around and around, the trouble is in the ear, whereas when things appear to be going up and down or the patient feels that he is going up and down the liver is at fault.

When the ear is at fault, that is, the part of the ear that "balances" the body, it is very often due to some trouble in the nose and the sinuses adjoining the nose. Acute or chronic catarrh, or infection of the sinuses immediately behind the nose are the commonest causes of this dizziness which is usually accompanied by nausea or a "tinkling" noise in the ear.

Treatment during attacks consists of any quieting medicine such as phenobarbital. While this is a most helpful drug, there is the chance that the patients may acquire the "barbital habit."

The attacks of dizziness due to the liver are prevented or controlled by cutting down on rich starch or fat foods.

Kingly Cabbage Bows to Worm

It only takes a lowly worm to make Michigan's kingly crop of cabbage bow down, yet wise growers whether in commercial production or just trying to make a few heads burst into size in a backyard garden can take steps to cut down the cabbage maggot population and insure a crop.

Two methods are suggested. One commonly used in field production is to treat both seedbed and also treat plants at transplanting time with a corrosive sublimate solution. One ounce in eight gallons of water poured on the ground in a seedbed every seven days is suggested by C. B. Dibble, extension entomologist of Michigan State College.

Flies lay eggs near the stem of the plant soon after planting in the field, or sometimes these eggs are laid along rows in seedbeds or along hardening rows. The maggot hatches and eats roots or may tunnel into the stem of the plant. The results include dead plants or plants so weakened that there are fewer tons of cabbage to the acre or fewer heads to the garden.

In gardens the application is slow and expensive. So an inventor has shown up with a tarpaper disc to hang around the stem of the plant at planting time. These discs now are available at supply houses. Once on the root they provide protection throughout the period during which the maggots may be appearing.

Other crops as well can be protected from maggots, either by the application of chemical or use of the disc. These include only cauliflower, Brussels sprouts and broccoli, but no other types of vegetables.

There never were greed and cunning in the world yet that did not do too much and overreach themselves.

Farm Fence

Armored

by a New kind of ZINC Coating

A NEWLY perfected electrolytic process known as bethanizing applies a zinc coating to bethanized fence that in its entire thickness is 99.99 per cent pure zinc, the purest ever applied to wire.

Free from the embrittling, rust-inviting iron contamination and other impurities unavoidable in older zinc-coating processes, the bethanized coating has remarkably high resistance to the weather. It is also so ductile and tightly bonded to the steel base that there is no loss of protective value from the wrapping at the joints in weaving. It affords the same heavy protection here as on the unbent wire.

Yet bethanized fence costs no more. While bringing greater value and longer fence life it sells for usual fence prices. Ask to see this new, better-protected fence.

Just received a carload of this fencing. Also have very good prices on spools of Barb Wire.

Many times in this column I have brought out the fact that courtesy is a very important item in the prevention of automobile accidents. Personally, I believe that through the practice of courtesy on the part of pedestrians and the automobile driver, 90 per cent of our accidents could be avoided.

The other day I saw an unbelievable thing! A truck driver stopped his truck at a busy downtown crossing to help an old lady across the street to safety. One reads about these things occasionally, but this was the first time I had personally had an opportunity to see it. The action of this driver not only built up good will towards the firm he represented, but he impressed me with the fact that courtesy will prevent accidents. Had he been reckless, careless, or had he taken seriously the fact that the "Go" sign was with him, this old lady might have been involved in an accident.

Courtesy builds good will—courtesy prevents accidents. Try it!

You will have to act promptly, however, because as soon as the quantity set aside for this sale has been used up, the price will advance. If you expect to paint at all—even later on—better let us set aside what you will need before it's all gone

Lansing—The next big act on Michigan's industrial stage, on which the sit-downers have occupied the spotlight by force for three months, promises to be a long drawn out fight between C. I. O. Leader Lewis and flivver famed Ford.

Capitol observers size up the situation about as follows:

Ford defied the NRA and "got away with it" when Gov. Hugh Johnson discovered that the Dearborn industrialist paid unusually high wages to his employees and otherwise was a "good boy."

Ford plants at Detroit furnish employment to about 87,000 workers at a scale of near $7 a day and a five-day 40-hour week. The automobile workers receive high wages. Under present circumstances they do not contribute any amount of earning to unions.

General Motors Penalized

By carrying the ball for the automobile manufacturers at a time when the referees wouldn't enforce the rules, General Motors is regarded as the principal sufferer in the sit-down warfare. Governor Murphy and the White House afforded the opportunity for labor to get its inning while public sentiment was slowly crystallizing against the new labor technique, imported from Europe.

With the automobile workers openly defying the court and warning the governor not to enforce the court's edict, General Motors was helpless.

Chrysler, victim No. 2, fared better than G. M. when Murphy applied pressure against labor to abandon its organization of illegally seizing private property.

Principle Established

The Chrysler settlement is regarded as a costly victory for labor whose lost wages run into millions of dollars. The United Automobile Workers' union gained the right to organize without interference and to bargain collectively for its members. This is nothing more or less than unofficial recognition of the Wagner labor act to which big corporations have thumbed their noses on advice of the counsel.

The Reo and Hudson strike settlements follow closely the formula laid down in the Chrysler pact.

Legislature Acts

In the meanwhile, developments at Lansing have been favorable to the automobile workers' next opponent, Henry Ford.

Not heeding Murphy's wish to make an outright issue, Michigan's state senate, led by Democratic Leader Palmer, passed a bill making a felony for workers to engage in a sit-down strike and another measure making it a felony for employers to negotiate with employees holding property illegally.

Word of the senate's courageous action was greeted by Homer Martin, president of the U. A. W.: "That is like locking the stable after the horse is gone."

Which just about tells the story. Labor "stole a march" on industry by employing a mass seizure of property. It was fine for the organizers as long as they could get away with it.

Walkout May Be Different

If the legislature adopts the Palmer bill at Lansing, Henry Ford will find himself fortified with the moral, if not legal, backing of the state government at a time when congress at Washington is making another investigation of the whole mess.

It is one thing for workers to sit down in the plants and thus preventing use of machinery in production by other workers.

But it is quite another thing, it is pointed out, for labor to rely upon a walkout to force Ford to recognize the new U. A. W. Lansing developments appear to favor the industrialist rather than the U. A. W.

Costly for Taxpayers

Michigan's sit-down strikes have been costly to the consumer who is footing the bill, in part, through an increased cost of unemployment relief. This time it was the house of representatives at Lansing that took a whack at the state's emergency relief commission by withholding a requested $1,000,000 deficiency appropriation.

Dr. William Haber, relief administrator, declared that Michigan strikes have stepped up the cost of relief and that another million is needed to carry his department through the fiscal year ending June 30. He warns that relief clients—strikers and non-strikers—would suffer if it were not forthcoming.

Members of the house are demanding that the ERC make an accounting of how relief money is being spent.

Rep. Harry Glass, Jr. of Grand Rapids, an able fighter when in action, declared "no ground has been more serenely contemptuous" of legislative dignity.

Mediation Board

Governor Murphy is expected to take full advantage of the United States supreme court's rulings giving the states full power to regulate industrial relations through minimum wages, maximum hours, arbitration, and price fixing. It was being forecast freely that the Lansing legislature will consider before adjournment (1) a "little NRA" that will set minimum wages and maximum hours and (2) a "little Wagner act" in which collective bargaining rights would be established and mediation machinery set up to adjudicate differences.

JUSTICE COURT.

J. R. Cook of Silverwood paid a $10 fine and $10.90 costs in Justice Atwood's court on Saturday. He was charged with failing to give a title to the purchaser of a second-hand car.

Wilson Young was arrested in Millington on Sunday on a drunk and disorderly charge. He was bound over to the circuit court for trial as a fourth offender, he having been found guilty of offenses three previous Touching Off the Crazy Streak in People.

MRS. Nellie Hanrath of 1324 5th St., Kenosha, Wis., said: "Following an illness a few years ago my nerves went to pieces. I didn't sleep very well and felt too weak to do any work. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and I soon found it was helping me. I was surprised the way I picked up. My appetite increased and then I improved just wonderfully." NEW USE FOR OLD MILK CAN

An old milk can makes an ideal place in which to put rolls of seeds to be tested for germination, says H. R. Pettigrove, above, scanning the results of beans he has had in the container at Michigan State College.

Seed Germinator
Uses Milk Can

Use of an old milk can to make an easier job of farm quantity seed testing is recommended following tests of the process at Michigan State College.

The milk can keeps temperatures uniform and prevents the prepared rolls of seeds under test from drying out while waiting for germination, says H. R. Pettigrove, crops specialist who developed the idea. Farmers can obtain the same conditions for making tests with these cans as the college obtains in using a more scientifically built germinator.

Seeds as small as timothy or as large as corn, beans or peas can be tested, although beans were used in the experiment because they are Pettigrove's specialty at the college.

Strips of newspaper first are prepared. Two double sheets are spread out and then folded to make a layer of paper about 11 inches wide and about 36 inches long. Seeds are spread on this so that no two touch, beginning about 10 inches from the end which will be the inside of the roll, spread out to within two inches of each border and to within six inches of the other or outside end. Then a corncob is used for a center of roll and the newspaper is rolled up just tight enough to hold the seeds inside the roll.

Ends are kept together by string tied loosely around the roll or with rubber bands. Then water is poured into the open end of the roll until it is well soaked. When seed is to be tested in quantity as many as 20 to 24 rolls of seed can be placed in a milk can. A small amount of water may be placed in the bottom of the can, but rolls must be placed on top of some small container in the bottom to keep them out of this extra water. Readings may be made in from four to eight days. In the meantime a can cover is kept lightly on top of the can to prevent excessive drying. If the rolls dry out, they can be soaked again and the can covered more tightly.

Tons of Food
Eaten by Coeds

Palates and hunger were well satisfied, if the tons of food consumed in Mary Mayo women's dining room at Michigan State College can be used for a guide.

The 200 girls consumed 6,942 gallons of milk and 5,860 pounds of butter in addition to cream and ice cream supplied by the college dairy in the last school year. A survey was conducted by Mildred Jones, instructor in institution management at the college, to determine if the menus were containing sufficient variety and proper foods.

More than 30,000 oranges were supplemented with grapefruit and tangerines during the year. More than five tons of fresh vegetables other than potatoes went into kitchens and fresh fruits were used in addition to canned supplies.

Potatoes had a total weight of 20,505 pounds. A little more than an egg a day meant orders for 4,035 fresh eggs. American cheese and cottage cheese, plus meat, fish and some poultry were additions to the diet. The menus, according to the survey, were ample as far as present knowledge of the nutrition needs of the average healthy adult are known.

Other foods included head lettuce, approximately one head of lettuce served each person each week. Whole grain cereal products were placed with refined cereal products on the tables and students eating in the dining room were encouraged to choose.

Beef served in meals weighed more than 5,300 pounds, pork more than 3,200 pounds, bananas more than 3,300 pounds and cabbage about the same amount. As for spinach, the girls ate more than 1,100 pounds of this vegetable purchased fresh and freshened their breath with 610 pounds of onions.

Memorial to Strauss

The most important memorial to Strauss in Vienna, a statue unveiled in 1921, stands in the Stadtpark, in the heart of the city. The composer is represented in gilded bronze, playing a violin, while behind him rises a pergola of white marble from which figures in relief seem to break, as if from the waves of the Danube, and to dance to his famous waltz. Other parts of Vienna, too, have memorials of the life of Strauss. His birthplace is 15 Lerchenfelderstrasse, and the cottage in which he composed his first waltz, at the age of six, stands at Salmansdorf, near the city.

Inverness, and Argyll, and the Hebrides off Western Scotland. It is commonly supposed to be descended from the native wild white cattle of Britain.

The animal is of blocky build. The animals are rather small, the male weighing about 1200 pounds and the female about 900. The body is covered with long shaggy hair and on the face it is a veritable mane. The horns are very long. The breed matures slowly but the meat is unsurpassed in quality. The grain is very fine and the fat is well mixed with the lean. The Scotch Highland cattle are very rugged and winter on the range in the Scottish Highlands. They thrive on what they are able to find, often under the snow.

Macaroni Chinese Invention

Facts that are hard to believe should lead off with this one: Macaroni is a Chinese invention. This paste, which we associate with gondolas and balcony serenades, was originally a product of those clever Orientals across the Pacific. It was introduced into Europe by way of Germany and did not find a home, and fame in Italy until some time later.
