ROTARIANS DISCUSS SWIMMING POOL HERE

Several Stated Such a Community Project Would Be Most Popular.

At the Rotary Club luncheon on Tuesday, Rotarians were happy to welcome to Cass City, Walter J. Gamble of Detroit, a member of the first graduating class of the Cass City High School in 1887. Mr. Gamble related several incidents of the pioneer life of Cass City village in a reminiscent mood, much to the delight of his audience.

L. I. Wood, chairman of the international service committee, read an article from the Rotarian Magazine covering the phases of work of that committee, and Otto Priesskorn spoke on the duties and aims of the committee on community service. A discussion followed Mr. Priesskorn's talk in which several members of the club participated. In their remarks, members advocated the building of a municipal tennis court, the idea of presenting a Hallowe'en program this fall for young folks, the organization of a village band, and the building of a swimming pool as community projects. Most of those participating in the discussion advocated a swimming pool as being the most popular investment for the community for the benefit of the younger generation here.

President Harold T. Donahue appointed as a committee to investigate that kind of a project four Rotarians, O. Priesskorn, Andrew Barnes, W. L. Mann and G. W. Landon, and requested them to report at the meeting of the club on July 13.

Drive 6,500 Miles to West and Return

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Caister and the Misses Doris and Elsie Pringle returned Friday evening from a trip to Portland, Oregon, where they visited their grandmother, Mrs. John McCool, and other relatives.

They made the trip by automobile driving 6,500 miles and traveled through sixteen states, visiting many points of interest. Included were Salt Lake City, the California Redwoods, the Oregon Caves, Yellowstone National Park, the Bad Lands, the Black Hills and many interesting points in Upper Michigan.

Speakers Named for Bible Meet

The third annual session of the Bay Shore Bible Conference will convene at Bay Shore Park, Sebewaing, Monday, July 12, and continue through the week, closing on Sunday, July 18. John Zoller, the widely known radio preacher of Detroit, who is the pastor of the Wesley M. E. Church of that city, will open the conference speaking on Monday evening and also on Tuesday evening. Dr. Zoller is a native of Sebewaing.

Spellman, founder and president of the Missionary Tabernacle of Detroit. Rev. George Cole of Buffalo, will speak each morning at 9:30 on the subject "Your Bible and My Bible." At 10:30 each morning, Rev. Ralph Stewart will deliver a lecture, using a large chart, on the subject "First Century Christianity."

Fire in Folkert's Two Sisters Shop

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Folkert went to Traverse City Wednesday, being called there by a fire which damaged the stock of the Two Sisters Shop owned by G. & C. Folkert of Cass City.

The flames started in one side of a double store occupied by a men's clothing stock and soon forced their way through a partition to the other side of the building occupied by the Folkert stock of ladies' furnishings. Most of the merchandise of the Two Sisters Shop on the main floor was removed to safety, but that in the basement suffered considerably from the fire.

FIVE DEATHS FROM ACCIDENTS IN TUSCOLA

Two Killed, Three Die of Fatal Injuries in First Four Days of July.

Five deaths in four days due to accidents, in which two persons met death instantly and three died from fatal injuries, are a record in Tuscola County for the first four days of July.

Mrs. Florence Myers, 60, was instantly killed when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another car two miles from East Dayton shortly after noon on Sunday. Her husband, Clinton Myers, 65, died of injuries a few minutes after reaching the Mayville Hospital.

James A. Soots, 19, of Pontiac, driver of the other car, and John Burns, 18, of Kingston, a companion, were taken to the Mayville Hospital, suffering with bruises and lacerations.

Soots, in a statement to Sheriff George A. Jeffery, said that the Myers car turned directly in his path at a "blind" road intersection. Both cars were badly damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers formerly resided in Kingston, Boyne City, Caro and Bay City. They left Bay City in 1929 to take up farming near East Dayton in Tuscola County.

A double funeral service for Mr. and Mrs. Myers was held Tuesday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church in Caro, Dr. J. Leslie French conducting the service.

Surviving is one son, William Harold Myers, of 305 West Ohio St., Bay City. Mr. Myers leaves three sisters and one brother and Mrs. Myers is survived by two brothers and five sisters.

Wells Youth Drowns.

Becoming exhausted while attempting to swim across Shay Lake, Walter Billicki, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Billicki, of Wells Township was drowned Sunday afternoon. His body was recovered three hours later in 12 feet of water by Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Erb and Cecil Greenfield, an employee of the Michigan Farm Colony at Wahjamega. The young man attempted to swim the lake at a point where it was 500 feet wide.

Caro Woman Fatally Injured.

Mrs. Charles Parsell, 27, whose home is a short distance north of Caro, died in the Caro Community Hospital Thursday night of injuries sustained the same afternoon in an automobile accident on a county road 1½ miles north of Caro.

She suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries when her car struck a trailer loaded with scrap iron being drawn by an automobile driven by Burt Castle of Akron. That the trailer, becoming unfastened from its hitch, caused the accident is the opinion of an officer. Castle, in a statement to a deputy sheriff, said that Mrs. Parsell's car appeared to be weaving as it approached his automobile, and that he pulled as far over to the right as possible. After the woman's car passed him, he felt a bump. Looking back, he saw Mrs. Parsell's car.

LAST MINUTE VOTE AS- SURED CROSWELL CHARTER

Croswell held an election to adopt a charter on June 30. At three minutes before closing time a woman entered the polls and cast her vote in favor of the new charter. Little did she realize at the time that she was deciding important history for that city, but hers was the vote which settled the question. And so Croswell now has the charter.

STRAIGHT WAIT OF FOUR HOURS AT THE STRAITS

Mr. and Mrs. Dugald Krug celebrated the Fourth by taking a trip to the Soo. "I'll never go on a holiday again," said Mrs. Krug. "We waited four hours going up before we could cross the Straits, and we were considered fortunate to get over so soon. On the way back there was just a mile of cars waiting to cross; so it took a shorter time."

A. B. C. Increases Display Room to Show Three Cars

Repair parts and automobile accessories will be placed in a room which is being especially constructed for them in the A. B. C. Sales and Service building on East Main Street and the front of the building will be used exclusively for displaying cars.

Heretofore there has been room for but one model but the changes now in progress will provide space for displaying three cars. An archway connects the display and parts rooms.

"Painters will follow the carpenters," says Robert Agar, Jr., the proprietor, "and the interior of the first floor of the building including the auto repair shop will be redecorated."

These show that commercial, savings and other deposits in the two local institutions totalled $1,007,102.22 on June 30, 1937. This is an increase of $200,390.57 in total deposits over those reported in similar statements of a year ago.

Several Injured in Three Car Crashes

A Lincoln Zephyr car driven by Clarence Booms of Harbor Beach, going east on M-81, and another car belonging to Anthony Cundari of St. Clair Shores, turning west off M-53 to M-81, four miles east of Cass City, crashed just west of the intersection Saturday. Mr. Booms received a fractured left wrist, and chest ligaments and tendons were strained. He was brought to Pleasant Home Hospital and remained a patient there until Monday night when he returned home. Occupants of the other car escaped with minor injuries. Both cars were badly damaged.

Cars driven by Alex Cicura of Detroit and Ora Stevenson met in a head-on collision on July 4, a half mile southwest of Caro, on M-81. Mrs. Stevenson was injured and was taken to the Caro Community Hospital for treatment. Cicura was arrested on a driving while drunk charge by Deputy Sheriff Hillaker. In Justice McPherson's court, he paid a $50 fine and $7.50 costs.

Six persons were taken to the Caro Community Hospital suffering painful though not dangerous injuries sustained in a two-car crash Friday afternoon on M-15, two miles south of Vassar. Among the injured were Arthur Simmons of Flint, driver of one of the cars; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cook, their daughter, Mrs. Albert Tyrell, and her daughter, Onalle, age 12, and Mrs. Anna Russell, mother of Mrs. Cook. According to statements given to Sheriff George F. Jeffery, the accident occurred when Simmons attempted to pass a machine towing a house trailer. Unable to pass, according to statements to the sheriff, he applied brakes, his car swerving in the path of the Cook car, both being ditched.

FORMER CO. TREAS. FATALLY INJURED

Death of Peter S. Richardson Occurred at Bad Axe on July 1.

Peter Smith Richardson, 86, retired public official at Bad Axe, was fatally injured June 23 when struck by an automobile driven by Jesus Gonzales and died Thursday night, July 1, in Hubbard Memorial Hospital in that city.

Mr. Richardson had been a resident of Huron County since 1873 when he came there from Peterboro, Ontario, his birthplace. He was active in civic and political life, having served as Huron County treasurer from 1907 to 1911, road commissioner from 1923 to 1935, when he resigned, and as supervisor of Verona Township for several years.

SIMPLE SERVICE OF DEDICATION SUNDAY

The auditorium of the Methodist Church here has been redecorated during the time conference was held and the church was not used. The walls and ceilings were painted a light cream, and fresh varnish was put on the floor. The project is largely a gift of the Fourth Division of the Ladies' Aid in cooperation with the trustees' building program. Simple service of rededication was observed Sunday morning. This is one phase of the church improvement work which the congregation has carried on for some time.

Nuttall-Moore Wedding on July 3

The Evangelical Lutheran Church at Negaunee, Michigan, was decorated with fern, mock orange blossoms, and tall cathedral candles for the wedding on Saturday, July 3, of Elsie Nuttall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Nuttall, to Garrison L. Moore, son of Mrs. Mary Moore, of Cass City. The marriage ceremony took place at eight-thirty o'clock in the evening, the Rev. Otto Kaarto reading the service.

Mrs. Matt Nuttall of New York City, a sister-in-law of the bride, was the organist for the occasion, playing "Liebestraum" and other selections while the guests were arriving. Mrs. Otto Kaarto sang "Love Thoughts," and Matt E. Nuttall, brother of the bride, played a violin solo, Schubert's "Ave Maria." "Romance" by Sibelius and a selection, the prayer for "Finlandia," were played softly during the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white marquisette, fashioned over white satin. The bodice was styled demurely with a little turn-over collar, and trimmed with tiny marquisette-covered buttons from neckline to waist. The sleeves were puffed from shoulder to elbow. The long skirt was fuller in back, where the short circular train was cut in at the waist. A little cap of bridal veiling edged with orange blossoms on circlets of white satin held close to her head the folds of the white veil. Miss Nuttall carried a bouquet of gardenias and white larkspur.

Gertrude Nuttall was her sister's maid of honor, wearing a gown of blue-green chiffon, the fullness of the skirt caught in flat folds at the back. A matching bolero jacket covered the fitted bodice beneath and the sleeves were full and short. A head dress of matching material and color completed her costume. She carried a flat bouquet of salmon pink gladioli.

Leo J. Fairchild of Detroit assisted Mr. Moore as best man, and seating the guests were Matt E. Nuttall of New York City and A. John Hauserman of Ishpeming.

Mrs. Nuttall wore for her daughter.

Traffic Heavy in Vassar July 5

Sheriff George Jeffrey and Deputy Earl Laur kept tab on traffic passing the Hi-Speed station in Vassar at the intersection of M-15 and M-38 between the hours of 6:50 and 7:50 p. m. on July 5. During that hour, 972 cars passed the station. Had the census been taken a half hour earlier, the hour count, Mr. Jeffrey believes, would have reached 1,200.

Travelled 5,000 Miles to Yellowstone Park and Return on Capital of $5

Milo Vance and Grant Reagh, with Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming as their goal, left Cass City on June 16, on a hitch-hiking expedition. Each had $5.00 in cash and a small bundle of luggage consisting of an army blanket, a few clean clothes, a toothbrush, a cake of soap and other small articles.

To two Cass City men, they were indebted for their first lifts on their journey. They went with Dugald Krug as far east as M-53, and five miles down this highway, Andrew Champion picked up the boys and gave them a ride to Toledo, Ohio. From that city to Lake James, Indiana, they obtained a ride with a member of Bobby Grayson's Broadcasting Orchestra and another member of that organization shared his cabin with the boys that night. An auto driveway gave the two a lift to Peoria, Ill., and they found their army blankets a comfort in a vacant house there where they spent a rainy night.

They changed cars many times through the corn belt where they travelled for two days. The third day out they crossed the Mississippi River to Burlington, Iowa. At Des Moines, Iowa, and Omaha, Neb., they sighted large meat packing plants and from the latter point they decided the West began. A sleep in an overnight cabin at Buffalo Bill's Ranch at North Platte, Neb., the oil wells and refineries at Caspar, Wyoming, snow on the mountains with the roadside teeming with a high June temperature and trees in full leaf—all these were high lights of the first seven days on the road.

Then they entered the National Park. Here they remember most vividly, Hell's Half Acre, the Dragon's Mouth, Wolf River Canyon, Old Faithful Geyser, and

VALUATIONS CUT $281,755 IN TUSCOLA

Committee Fixes Amount at $23,996,265 for the 23 Townships.

Tuscola County supervisors concluded their summer session on Thursday, July 1, with the adoption of reports of several committees.

The hospital committee was authorized to investigate the cost of building, maintaining and operating a hospital for indigent people at the county farm, and in case of necessity, prepare plans for such a building.

The committee of roads and bridges reported that they had named through county roads and had prepared a map with such names and given it to the Detroit Edison Company for their approval. This was done at the request of the power company who some time ago had offered to prepare road signs for the county.

Due to the fact that many cattle herds in Tuscola already are tested for Bangs disease eradication and accredited, the agricultural committee deemed it wise to petition the state commissioner of agriculture to have the application of the supervisors of Tuscola placed on file that a county-wide clean-up of this disease be completed at the earliest opportunity. This report was adopted.

The county buildings committee recommended that the county clerk arrange and classify the county records in the basement of the court house; the register of deeds purchase a new typewriter; the geographical survey project be moved to the basement of the court house; the clerk employ help to copy birth and health records that are now in bad condition; the sheriff purchase two electric stop flares; the flag pole be painted. The recommendations were authorized by the supervisors.

The equalization committee recommended that $281,755 be deducted from the assessed valuations of the township supervisors, making the total valuation of the county $23,996,265. The report was adopted. The following table gives the amount deducted in each township and the equalized value after such subtractions:

KEEPING COOL.

It is about time for the annual discussion on how to keep cool. With would be humorists asking at every street corner "Is it hot enough for you?", it appears that people are really concerned about the heat of summer, and want to know what to do about it.

The nudists think they have a good solution. Public sentiment says their theory is altogether too airy, and that it is a good general rule that people behave better if they keep their clothes on.

People used to bundle themselves up with deep layers of garments under which they turned themselves into a sweat box. This was supposed to be necessary for reasons of modesty, and they exuded rivers of perspiration while conforming to this idea. The modern world says nothing is gained for public welfare by steaming yourself to death. A few dollars spent on cool summer styles means more health and efficiency. The bathing costumes of former years were enough to make the fishes and bullfrogs laugh.

In time it will probably be considered as necessary to produce artificially cooled houses in summer, as to have artificially heated ones in winter.

Some people think the thing to do in summer is to flee to some cool climate. Sometimes in such climate, they suffer as much from cold as the folks at home do from the heat. The small fry would like to spend most of any hot day in the swimming hole. Swimming pools should be made accessible to everybody. The idea of doing the bulk of the work in early morning hours and in the evening, and taking it easy through the noon hours, has much to recommend it. That is the way tropical countries have always endured their long heat.

THE NEXT DEPRESSION.

Some people were shocked soon after the World War, when the question was asked, "When will the next war come?" "How can there be any next war, when we have all seen what war means?" was asked.

So it is a shock to some hopeful people, when the question is asked, "What can be done to cure the next depression?"

Some sanguine folks think such depressions can be wholly prevented. Only put the management of finance and business in the right hands, they say, and there will be no depressions.

Human nature is going to be capable for centuries of committing follies that lead to industrial disaster. Speculation was one of the principal things that brought on the recent depression. If the human race has been cured of that kind of fever, it is not apparent as yet. People will still be looking for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, and paying down good money for hopes and dreams. When those visions go up in thin air, the crashing hopes will create an industrial smash.

A sound banking system will do much to prevent such a collapse. If all banks can be kept open and so strong that the depositors will not rush in at the same time to draw out their money, a dangerous peril will be averted.

Excessive burdens of debts create depressions. When people or governments owe too much money, many of them are unable to pay. That leads people to stop lending money, and when money lending stops, business stops. Debts and speculation are two wild horses that smash the country's business. Paying debts, curbing speculation, and creating strong banks, will do more than anything else to stop depressions.

THE USE OF DYNAMITE.

The act by which water mains belonging to a steel plant at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, were dynamited, is condemned by all good citizens, whether workers or employers. That kind of thing may work in lands like Russia and Spain, where people are used to being herded around, and where they are not considered competent to manage their own affairs.

The American people will never assent to such methods of argument. Those that resort to rough stuff simply create foes for their own cause.

WANTED, PEACEMAKERS.

The world needs peacemakers. Said Jesus Christ in the sermon on the mount: "Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the sons of God." Where are the sons of God who shall say the healing words that shall reconcile the warring industrial classes and the menacing nations?

One trouble with many would be peacemakers, is that they are partisans of one side or another in the conflict they seek to reconcile. In industrial warfare they see only the side of capital or the side of labor. In international controversies, they see only the arguments and interests of their own country. Like the partisans of the cause which they favor, they expect the other side to do all the yielding.

The old saying has it that it takes two to make a quarrel. It is not often when some great dispute exists, that the right is all on one side. It is human nature for people to see their rights and their claims more clearly than they see their duties and obligations. Most people see the difficulties from which they suffer more clearly than they do the troubles that afflict others.

The progress of the world drags while nations and classes quarrel. The money that could be spent on education goes into preparations to fight some other country. The energy that could go into increasing production and providing more goods for the workers, goes into industrial conflict.

Peacemaking calls for a fair temperament, one that does not attach itself to any particular point of view, but weighs all with just judgment. People of that type are heard with attention by warring elements, and frequently are able to make peace. Blessings on such folks, and verily they are the sons of God.

THE SUMMER BUNGALOW.

July and August bring some millions of our people out into bungalows and cottages, under the shadow of towering mountains, on the woody shores of shimmering lakes, and on the sands of the eternal sea.

The summer cottage may be a very tiny affair, in which you can hardly move without stepping on somebody's toes. You may have left the smooth and labor saving facilities of an ample home in Michigan for a primitive little shack, where you have to cook over a smoky stove, and lug water from a distant spring.

Yet sounds of cheerful merriment ring out of these secluded retreats. Perhaps the plainer it is, the better people really enjoy it. Modern homes are built on the idea of reducing work, but doing less work does not always create more happiness. Perhaps a primitive experience in which everyone has to get busy, so stimulates activity that everyone enjoys life better.

BOY SCOUTS AT WASHINGTON.

The hearts of Washington people have thrilled, as they have seen detachments and processions of Boy Scouts marching through the capital, in attendance on the Scout jamboree. There is something very affecting in such a demonstration of youth. How full all these young hearts are of hope, determination, purpose! What dreams are floating through the minds of those khaki clothed youths!

These youngsters are of course out for a good time, to see the grand sights of the national capital. Their effervescent spirits boil over like a kettle too full of superheated steam, but there is something in their hearts more than that enthusiasm.

Some boys join the Scouts just for fun, or because their friends do. But as a whole the order is made up of youths of energy and active aims, who are anxious to do things in the world. They have taken pledges of patriotism, courtesy, kindness, good citizenship. The youths thus enlist in a campaign of achievement are an army that may be more powerful than any division of soldiers armed with deadly weapons.

There is an element of pathos in such a gathering. Not all the buoyant hopes in those young hearts can be fulfilled. Many dreams will evaporate like rainbows. Many ambitious careers will be bogged amid discouragements.

The principles of this very fine organization are sowing seeds of character and usefulness in these youthful hearts. These seeds will grow and bear fruit. If all boys could be enlisted in such organizations that hold high ideals before them, our hopes for America would be very bright.

Invented Road Paving

Macadamizing was new to the western country back in 1837. The paving scheme was the invention of old John Loudon MacAdam, born in Ayr, Scotland, in 1756. He came to America in 1770, but returned to Scotland in 1783, where he began experiments with building roads of crushed stone. So successful was his scheme that parliament voted him 10,000 pounds for his work.

Lansing—Six months of history at the state capital have done much to reveal the personality of Frank Murphy, governor.

Working quietly with apparently no effort to assume the Rooseveltian role of aggressive leadership, Governor Murphy obtained results from the legislature that surprised his critics. One month ago prospects for a July 1 record of achievements were dismal indeed. The two houses were caught in a quagmire over civil service; labor relations bills appeared in a bewildering succession.

The one tendency in legislation which appeared early in the session and continued until the hectic night of adjournment was an indulgence to help home districts solve their local problems of government by granting liberal state aid.

Murphy's Philosophy

Differing from President Roosevelt in his philosophy of government, Murphy believes in the traditional balance of government. He has kept "hands off" of the legislature even to the point where responsible party leaders charged him with being "aloof." He considers that the judiciary should retain its independence. He exalts the function of the executive branch.

Declining to impose a "must" program on the legislature, Murphy invited leaders to hear his views. He let it be known that legislative prerogatives would be respected by the executive office.

The results were obvious. The legislature went on a spending spree, adding approximately 25 millions to the previously record high budget of the state. Only two new important sources of income were added: (1) A use tax designed to obtain revenue from out-state sales, and (2) higher liquor prices through a 55 per cent gross profit instead of 40 per cent.

Faced with a huge deficit, Murphy pleaded with legislators on the final night for a saving clause by which he could pare appropriations 10 per cent. This privilege was extended, and if the budget is balanced, Murphy can claim credit personally for doing it.

Liberal Legislation

It is rather risky to use the word "liberal" these days, for that phrase means one thing to the A. F. L. and another thing to the C. I. O.

This is best illustrated by the labor relations bill which as finally adopted was the fourth one to bear the numerical title of "House Bill 571." First came the original bill sponsored by the governor, drafted by his legal adviser with the aid of the attorney general's office. Labor objected to a requirement of mediation before the right to strike, so a substitute bill was brought out of the house labor committee with the governor's personal endorsement. This measure swung to the other extreme, in the opinion of employers.

The senate sought a compromise through three democrats and three republicans, and a senate substitute bill emerged for the house substitute bill. Passed by the senate, the new substitute bill went to the house where laborites protested loudly.

It was about 1:30 a. m., June 26—90 minutes after technical adjournment—that the fourth bill arrived from Murphy's office with the blessing of the A. F. of L. It was later that morning when the new bill was finally passed by both the house and the senate. A threatened house revolt was averted by Speaker George Schroeder who proclaimed the measure to be as near ideal as Michigan legislators could make it.

The C. I. O. Objects

While the American Federation of Labor approved the setup for peaceful picketing—really the heart of the new bill—the Committee on Industrial Organization has announced vigorous objection. What is liberal to the A. F. of L. is reactionary to the C. I. O.

All of which merely proves that labor is in disagreement over policies and principles.

Murphy has refused repeatedly to use force to require compliance with state law, as contrasted with the democratic governors of Ohio and Indiana. He has been consistently friendly with labor in its struggle for new power.

If he signs the new labor relations bill over the protest of the U. A. W. and the Conference for Protection of Civil Rights, mass picketing of plants by non-employees will become illegal. (The Monroe incident would have been a violation of law). The C. I. O. thus will find its greatest weapon suddenly taken away by the state.

As the final bill was passed only through his personal pleading, Murphy is again at the crossroads.

Profits from Liquor

The legislature's revision of state liquor regulations brought a change in basic policy.

In the name of obtaining needed revenue to enlarge hospital facilities, the legislature authorized the state liquor commission to increase the state's "take" in profit from 40 to 55 per cent. This additional 15 per cent is expected to bring in about three millions annually.

Whereas the Fitzgerald administration hewed to the line of regulating traffic, the Murphy policy has become that of increasing profit. Higher prices will appear soon. Half of the special liquor dispensaries are to be lopped off, and about 30 new state stores are to be opened. At present about 75 per cent of all liquor sold is handled by non-state agencies. But Commissioner V. F. Gormley plans to reverse the percentage.

Extension of the state control over liquor has been tempered by a tightening of enforcement of liquor laws. A "flying squadron" is in action, and errant night clubs have been closed. Furthermore, sale of beer to youngsters under the age of 21 was outlawed in the same statute that signalized the return of the saloon bar to Michigan.

Weather Is News

Southern Michigan is mired from heavy rainfalls. Rivers have been pouring flood waters into nearby lowlands. Vegetable gardens are a disappointment, as crops rot in the wet ground. Rain and hot sunshine in too close succession have ruined much of the celery crop.

Up-state, however, farmers have been complaining of drought. Cloudy skies but no rain has been the rule. The combination bids well to assure higher prices for the consuming public next fall and winter.

Children in Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield.

A young man who recently returned from visiting relatives in a city where a labor dispute was in progress today learned in court that the world did not owe him a living.

When apprehended in the act of burglarizing a gasoline station, he suddenly informed officers that it was no sin to rob a large oil company. In this particular instance, years of splendid home training were cast aside after an adolescent boy had witnessed the violence and hatreds that accompanied the labor disputes. The sons of rich and poor alike should be carefully shielded from such scenes for they not only cause youngsters to act in an anti-social manner but tend to stimulate class hatreds.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

LOVE is all mixed up with house plans and samples of chintz in a young lady's thoughts. So when her young man pops the question, he really shouldn't be nonplussed when she answers in terms of Chipendale chairs or broadloom carpeting.

We have a friend who is head over heels in decorating her new home now. But there are problems: The living room, for instance—the walls are of white, the carpeting burgundy, the Queen Anne sofa green damask, one chair is in off-white leather and one in amethyst velvet. Would yellow gold antique stain with an eggshell figure in it be all right? These will go over off-white Venetian blinds. The fireplace is off-white and stands against a wall paper panel that is papered in an apple blossom design on a white ground.

A girl should have her plans ready when her young man pops the question.

There are green leaves in the design for color. Another problem that perplexes this bride is the flowers to use in the room. Very rightly she realizes that they should be part of the decorative picture. Her vases are white Venetian glass (a pair of them) and a green pottery. And would we advise brackets on either side of the fireplace she asks, if so, should they be gold, white or mahogany.

We agreed about the draperies—yellow and eggshell would be just right here. As for flowers—we're inclined to like the idea of the yellow note here too—yellow tulips or jonquills or forsythia in the spring, yellow roses in the summer and in the autumn yellow chrysanthemums. And we'd like gold brackets on either side of the fireplace.

Isn't that wall paper panel around the fireplace a nice idea—it could be worked out also as a frame for an interesting piece of furniture.

Feeling Sorry.

If you were once a smartly turned out girl with a job, complete as to manicure and wave and time to dangle your legs in front of a soda fountain on a spring evening . . . you probably feel pretty sorry for yourself sometimes now when you're at the beck and call of doorbells, children, washing machine and dish pan, not to mention the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker (well anyway, the bill collector from the light company.)

A lady with a house does have her ups and downs. Because little boys will draw pictures on the walls. And little girls will cut paper dolls all over the living room floor. And there are always so many more important things to do with money than to buy waves and smart new dresses. And there's never a free minute to catch your breath.

Still and all, the smartly turned-out girls with jobs are getting their waves and smart new dresses just in hopes they'll get a chance to be at the beck and call of all the things that get you down around the house! So it looks as if we were all going around in circles.

The fact of the business is that running a house, even at its most hectic, is the thing a woman does best and most naturally. And raising a family is the really thrilling career. The most successful business women know this, too! And so do the most sophisticated.

The next time you're in the dumps over the empty-umphth dish you've washed and dried, try making a plan for some refurnishing. It's a grand cure for housework blues. A playground for the children, for instance, where all "don'ts" are out. Old furniture they can hammer and bang . . . walls they can draw on or nail on . . . floors they can tricycle on. If you've a basement or attic, that's the place. Paint the walls very light yellow and the woodwork and furniture bright blue . . . and have curtains of pongee dyed yellow. Leave the floors alone and simply scrub them good once in a blue moon. A commodious chest or closet will be good to get toys out of the way when the room is on company parade. And some gymnasium equipment wouldn't be a bad idea.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Comfort in Traveling.

LATELY, on a cross-country try prow, two of us invaded one of the remotest corners of the desert.

Until our car broke down we crawled along some of the roughest backways in creation, then escaped on what by quaint irony was called an accommodation train over a side-spur of a prehistoric railway line.

When we hit concrete high roads and a i r - conditioned fliers, I caught myself saying our forefathers put up with plenty of misery in order to move about. And then I realized that what we had endured did not date back to former generations. So soon have we grown accustomed to luxury with speed we forget that most of America, fifteen years ago, lacked what we now accept as common traveling comfort.

Why, less than two decades ago, for my sins, I rode on a certain jerk-water railroad in the deep South. The last work done on its tracks was in 1864 by General Sherman—he tore 'em up.

I made the mistake of trying to shave while en route. When I got through, I looked like one of those German student duellists.

But, nowadays, even those who use homedead trailers seem almost happy at times.

Diplomatic Busybodies.

W H O'LL be the next member of our diplomatic corps to open his mouth and put his foot in it. clear up to his hip-joint?

It has been nearly two months now since our ambassador to Germany had a bad dream and before-nurse could quiet him was proclaiming that a certain billionaire was willing to put up one of his loose billions to buy a dictatorship for this country. He failed to furnish the name and address. Maybe they got left out of the nightmare.

Hardly had paregoric wooed this distinguished sufferer back to hush-a-bye-land when our new representative in the Philippines began demanding that, when it came to drinking official toasts, his name must come higher up on the wine list or he wouldn't be responsible for the consequences. However, the excitement subsided before he could summon the Pacific fleet to bombard Manila. There's a rumor that Washington sent him word he needn't worry about being appropriately saluted—there'd be a nationwide Bronx cheer awaiting him on his return home.

Since then there's been a lull and the American public is getting impatient. We do so love a free show and especially when it's amateur night.

Hard-Bitten Females.

T O U R I N G about over certain Western states where open gambling either is by law permitted, or by custom winked at, I noticed this:

Generally speaking, the feminine patrons are the steadiest drinkers, the most persistent gamblers, the most reckless betters of all. And frequently their manners are the rudest and their faces the grimmest—determined seemingly to disavow the theory that their sex is the gentler sex.

On the other hand, the men patrons—descended, many of them, from old gun fighters, old prospectors, old path-finders—grow increasingly docile and subdued, absorbing less than their share of the hard liquor—maybe because they fear there won't be enough left for mama and the girls—and risking their dimes where the gallant ladies plunge with dollars.

Sometimes a fellow, watching the modern procession from the protection of the sidelines, gets to longing for the bygone days when, as Kipling might have put it and, in fact, almost did, a woman was only a woman, but a good cigar was ten cents.

These Candid Cameras.

O N C E a citizen had a right to object to the publication of a flashlight view showing him beating his wife or exhibiting his appendicitis scar or taking out his uppers or something.

That was before they began printing magazines for those who've abandoned the old-fashioned habit of reading and writing. And it's doing glamorous movie queens no real good when these betraying close-ups prove that maybe the glamor is only paint-deep.

Thus the last strongholds of our one-time personal liberty crumble. I used to think a passport picture was about the frankest thing we had in the line of intimate likenesses, excepting, of course, the x-ray.

But this candid camera business which catches you unawares—and often without your underwears either—is the most finished attack of all against our practically vanished privacy.

Test for Spine Injuries

By
DR. JAMES W. BARTON
© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

WHEN there is the possibility of the back being injured in an accident of any kind, it is not considered wise to have the patient move in any way until an X-ray examination can be made. A break or dislocation along the spinal column anywhere from the neck down to the hip bones may cause paralysis or death if movement occurs; the most careful handling of the patient is therefore absolutely necessary to prevent any movement.

There are times however when it is necessary and saves considerable time and expense and possible court action to learn as soon as possible if there is actually any injury to the spine.

For several years Drs. R. DeSoto and K. O. Haldeman, San Francisco, have employed a method that is extremely helpful in locating spinal injuries. They describe it in "Surgery, Gynecology and Obstetrics," Chicago.

Simple and Easy Method.

"The patient is placed flat on his back without pillows and the examiner places one hand on the breast bone of the patient with a slight pressure so that no bending can take place at the upper or lower back. At the same time the examiner's other hand is placed under the back of the patient's head and the head very gently bent slightly forward so that the head (chin) is on the breast bone. This bending of the head forward pulls on the ligaments attached to the bones of the spine (the little knobs felt when you run your hand down the spine) until it reaches the bone that is injured. This immediately causes pain which the patient can locate very easily."

The usefulness of this sign rests on the following facts:

1. It gives the exact location of recent fractures (broken bones) without moving or disturbing the patient.
2. It guides the X-ray operator to the right level to obtain his picture.
3. It shows whether the injury is in the spine (bony part of the back) or just in the soft muscle tissues of the back.
4. When it may be a "court case" (medico-legal) the patient is not aware of what the test is for and the true facts will be brought out.
5. If the patient doesn't complain of pain anywhere down the spine it is not likely that a spine injury has recently occurred.

Are the Glands to Blame?

You can really hardly be blamed when you find yourself eating less food in the 24 hours—not simply at meal time—than others, and yet are much overweight, if you begin to wonder if your overweight is really due to overeating. Why should it not be due to some gland disturbance in the body—the thyroid gland in the neck or perhaps the pituitary gland situated on the floor of the skull?

Now there is one way you can find out whether either or both of these glands may not be manufacturing enough juice and your doctor can arrange to have the tests made. If the thyroid gland is suspected, and in this case the excess fat is distributed over the entire body, a metabolism test is made. Before breakfast some morning you lie down quietly in the doctor's office or at the hospital and the rate at which your body processes are working is discovered by a machine which measures the amount of oxygen your tissues are using and the amount of waste that is being thrown off when you are doing no work, and no food is being digested.

If your processes are not working as fast as normal, are more than 20 per cent below normal—registering 80 instead of 100—then your thyroid gland is not active enough, and your doctor will prescribe thyroid extract to make the processes work faster and use or burn up the fat.

If it is the pituitary gland that is at fault the excess weight will be on shoulders, breasts, hips and abdomen, with forearm and lower leg free of excess fat, and the X-ray of the skull will show changes in the little hollow in the bone in which the pituitary gland rests, a growth, or other changed conditions about the gland. In this case pituitary extract will be prescribed by your physician.

However whether your overweight is due to too much food or to a deficiency of a gland or glands, what is called a basic diet is now prescribed by physicians doing special work in obesity or overweight. More exercise and less sleep is of course part of the treatment. Exercise consumes some of the accumulated energy, stimulates bowel movement, and causes deep breathing.

Summer Comfort

Electric fans are true companions during hot weather. There are two types, namely, suction and direct.

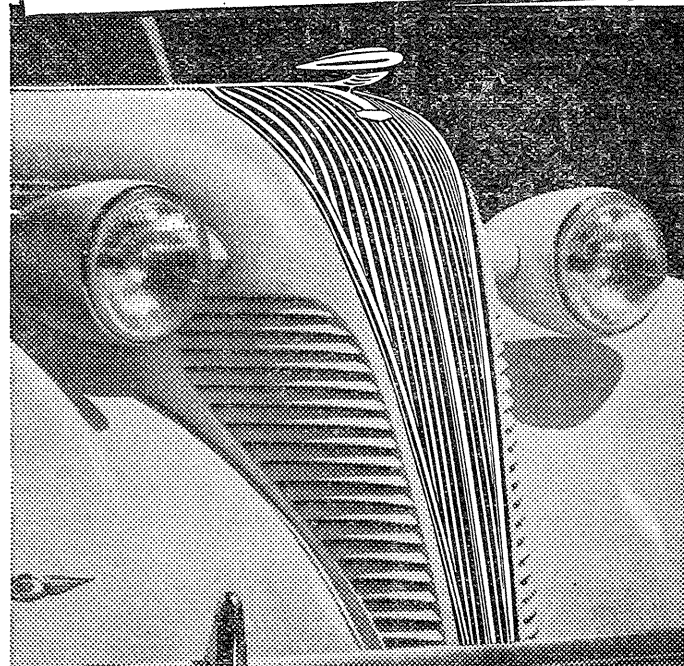

The suction type is one which removes the air from the rooms. This type is usually installed in the most desirable place for doing this job. During hot seasons there is an accumulation of air which becomes somewhat stagnant. Opening the door sometimes removes a portion, but due to conditions it is not possible always to secure proper circulation so that there is a proper change of air. The suction fan will maintain that circulation, removing all stagnant air and odors thereby permitting full benefits from incoming fresh air.

The direct fan is one used to disturb the air in homes and circulate it. By this process of moving the air, you secure benefits similar to opening the door and allowing fresh air to enter. Then too, the direct fan is used for many other purposes, such as drying fruits, and other similar operations so much needed in the home. In winter they are used for re-circulating heat, etc.

Electric fans have become a household necessity. You should, before the weather gets too hot, examine your fan and see that it is in operative condition. If you have none, prepare to purchase now. Your dealer will assist you in making the proper selection as to size and price. They are not expensive to buy or to operate. Call at one of our conveniently located offices, and we shall be pleased to inform you.

Missionary Brothers Buy Kinch Farm

The largest real estate deal in the past decade in Huron County was the recent purchase of Kinch manor near Grindstone City and 372 acres of adjoining land by Missionary Brothers, a Polish Catholic order, from Frank Kinch. The order plans to establish a monastery and ceremonies for its dedication were held Sunday, led by the superior of the community, Father Stanislaus, before a group of distinguished lay and clerical visitors from all parts of the state.

This half mile of shore property has a good bathing beach. Extensive improvements and additions to the property are planned. Mr. and Mrs. Kinch lived in the manor until 1937 when they purchased a residence in Port Austin for their home. Mr. Kinch has raised thousands of sheep on this farm.

Plans as outlined by Father Stanislaus, who aside from being the superior of the local monastery is the general of the worldwide order of Missionary Brothers, indicate that the new monastery will be the headquarters of the group, where the novice will receive his training and where all temporal and spiritual activities of the community will center. The monastery will also be a hospice for the occasional visitor as well as a sanatorium for the relief of aged male asthmatics, with all services and care of the institution and its guests and patients falling upon the lay brothers of the order, many of whom are registered nurses, while still others are accomplished artisans and craftsmen well trained and proficient in their respective roles.

A staff of five brothers will aid Father Stanislaus administer the monastery, which will be called Lourdes, after Our Lady of Lourdes, the Blessed Virgin Mary, patron of the Franciscan Order of monks. The Missionary Brothers of St. Francis was organized and founded in Poland by Bishop Ignatius Dubowski in 1921 and has approximately 30 members in the United States.

Mammoth Hot Springs. They spent nearly two days at the park and then headed for Montana. At Cody, Wyoming, they camped at the foot of Buffalo Bill's monument.

Five dollars will not last forever in travelling and in North Dakota, on the homeward journey, the boys found short jobs mowing lawns and weeding gardens to earn enough for meals. Such an amount will not supply funds for purchasing souvenirs, and in their stead the boys collected newspaper headings at the several places they visited on their journey.

The mining industry furnished many interesting views in Minnesota with the hundreds of cars of iron ore and the world's largest ore dock at Duluth. The last traces of their 5,000 mile trip on a capital of five dollars for each young man was through Michigan. Freeing a garden of weeds produced funds to purchase transportation across the Straits. On July 3, they arrived home declaring they had a wonderful and interesting trip which they wouldn't have missed for the world, and averring that one such trip was enough.

Land of the Triple "A"
The letter "a" probably gets heavier use in the Hawaiian language than in almost any other tongue. It is used not only singly, but in two's and three's. Examples are "Kaaa," a thread made of fiber; "laana," devoted, and "maaa," sea breeze.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

If Garnish Is Edible, Go Ahead and Eat It

DEAR Mrs. Post: I am a teacher of home economics and recently one of my students called attention to the fact that one does not eat the slice of tomato or the radish or whatever may be used to garnish a platter. We would like to have your opinion.

Answer: You may help yourself to whatever is your portion of the dish proffered, even to the decoration, if it is edible. Most people would not consider a trimming made of raw beet or turnip edible, but if you like one of these vegetables, there is no reason in the world why you should not eat even such garnishing if you want to.

Informal Lace Cover.

DEAR Mrs. Post: Is a lace table cover at a six o'clock informal dinner proper table covering? Answer: Yes, entirely so, if it is becoming to your room and to the things with which you set your table.

Reception Rhythm.

DEAR Mrs. Post: When there is to be no dancing at the reception, what type of music does the orchestra play? I wish we could have dance music but I suppose this would be unsuitable under the circumstances.

Answer: They play popular music of the day. This can perfectly well include dance music even though no one dances.

Telling the Newspapers.

DEAR Mrs. Post: May I announce my engagement in the newspapers, as I have no parents and am not especially attached to any relative whom I would like to have announce it for me?

Answer: According to best taste, you should write notes to all your friends, and that is all. At least it is not considered proper that a girl send an announcement to the newspapers in her own name. It would be quite proper, however, to have your nearest relative send a notice for you saying the engagement of Miss Mary Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, has been announced.

Land of Contradictions
Jamaica is a land of contradictions even in its native music. In the primitive communities, nail kegs are used for drums, and black hands take the place of drumsticks.

Money, Latin; Cash, French
The word money comes from the Latin, moneta, which originally meant "a mint," because the temple of Juno Moneta, in Rome, was the place where money was coined. Cash, on the other hand, is of French origin, derived from the word caisse—a box.—Pearson's London Weekly.

Old Stamps a Curiosity
Old stamps used by Federal departments before the days of franking, free postage, are framed in a room of the Interior building at Washington. Private firms printed them.

Rules of U. S. Navy
The crews on the ships of the United States navy are forbidden to throw anything overboard that will float, as such debris might be used as a trail by enemies in time of war and by spies wishing to watch maneuvers in time of peace.—Collier's Weekly.

No Water, No Steel, No Jobs

DYNAMITE temporarily stopped a back-to-work movement in the great Cambria Works of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation at Johnstown, Pa., scene of the most violent altercations among strikers, loyal workers and the law in recent days. Two explosions crippled the principal water mains supplying the plant just as Cambria once more had thrown open its doors and nearly half its 15,000 employees had fled through Steel Workers' Organizing Committee picket lines to resume their labors. It took several days to repair the damage sufficiently to allow part of the workers to return.

Gov. Earle

The blasts interrupted what had been the nearest semblance of peace—still not very near—since the C. I. O. affiliate called the strike on the big steel independents who refused to sign contracts with what they dubbed "John L. Lewis' irresponsible organization." The strikers committee "deplored" the explosions and "hoped no strikers had caused them."

Two hundred state troopers, part of the state force which had enforced the martial law declared for a few days and then lifted by Gov. George H. Earle, patrolled the Johnstown district in an attempt to apprehend the dynamiters and protect the water supply of the city itself from damage. Mayor Daniel J. Shields appealed to President Roosevelt again, declaring in a telegram that the majority of his citizens were opposed to the C. I. O. violence and, if provoked much more by the minority, "might take the law into their own hands," adding to the toll of deaths, injuries and destruction that already has been rolled up. He said the strikers were openly declaring that they had the support of the President.

As the plants re-opened before the blasts it had seemed that the real grip of the strike had been broken, although there were still some 250 pickets on hand. The day before the re-opening, the C. I. O., in a last-minute attempt to save its cause, promised a mass meeting, near the city, of 50,000 miners who would then lead the steel strikers in keeping the plants closed. Only about 1,500 showed up, and after listening to speeches by union leaders they dispersed peaceably.

F.D.R. Waxes Impatient

IT WAS believed that the pressure of public opinion in the steel strikes had driven President Roosevelt close to supporting federal legislation similar to that of the amendments proposed by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan for the national labor relations act. The President indicated at a press conference that he was as much put out at the C. I. O. for forcing organization upon the steel workers as he was with the corporations for refusing to negotiate in terms of a signed contract.

After a talk with Charles P. Taft, who had been chairman of the mediation board that failed to effect a settlement, the President said: "Mr. Taft and I talked over the whole steel situation and came to the conclusion that the nation as a whole, in thinking of the strikes, was saying just one thing—a plague on both your houses."

Senator Vandenberg's proposed amendments were designed to broaden the rights of employers under the Wagner act, forbid "sit-down" strikes and other "unfair" union practices, and provide severe penalties for unions which violated contracts with employers. His amendments:

1.—To give employers the same right which only employees now enjoy to appeal to the national labor relations board for an election to determine the representatives of employees.

2.—To require agreements in writing and to permit strikes only after a majority vote of all employees. Any group which broke its contract and did not repair the break after being ordered to do so by the board would be suspended from representation.

3.—Establish a code of practices for labor. This would: Prohibit compulsory political assessments on union members. Require that all union officers, agents and representatives be United States citizens.

Prohibit union organization by coercion. Prohibit damage to property, strikes intended to force any person to violate a contract or federal laws, and violations of "any person's rights in real or personal property."

Der Fuehrer Scores Neutrals

"FROM now on," Adolf Hitler told 200,000 Nazis at a party rally in Wurzburg, "we will prefer . . . to take the freedom, independence, honor and security of our nation into our own hands and protect ourselves alone. Disgusted, Germany withdrew from the non-intervention patrol of Spain, as Italy did likewise. Der Fuehrer warned that the Nazis would take independent action to protect themselves from attacks by the Spanish government. He described how Germany had been condemned for shelling Almeria after a Spanish airplane had bombed the cruiser Deutschland, and how, when the cruiser Leipzig was attacked by a submarine while on patrol duty, the non-intervention committee had done nothing about it.

A remedy suggested by Great Britain and France was that the patrol duty be left entirely to them, with Italian observers on French patrol ships and German observers on British ships to "judge the equitable, impartial working of the system."

Germany and Italy lost little time in refusing to accept the proposal. Sir Neville Chamberlain called the British cabinet in to see what might be done, but it was generally believed that if the Fascists continued in their policy of refusing to co-operate with the non-intervention patrol, Great Britain would scrap her entire neutrality policy. She might extend the right of belligerents to Gen. Francisco Franco and his insurgents, thus for the first time recognizing that a state of war exists in Spain. This would be regarded as a bit of sugar for the Fascist nations, who recognize the insurgent government as the government of Spain.

Montagues and Capulets
WITH all the family blessings save those of a political classification, Miss Ethel du Pont, daughter of Eugene du Pont, and Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr., son of the President of the United States, were married at Christ church near Wilmington, Del., in a "simple" wedding attended by a "handful" of about 400 picked guests. Bitter political hatreds were buried temporarily.

Senator Vandenberg's proposed amendments were designed to broaden the rights of employers under the Wagner act, forbid "sit-

Mediation Board Gives Up

THE mediation board of three, named by Secretary of Labor Perkins to sit in Cleveland and attempt to negotiate a settlement in the steel strike, gave up in despair. Its chairman, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, and the other members, Lloyd Garrison, former president of the national labor relations board, and Edward F. McGrady, trouble-shooting assistant of Mme. Perkins, were unable even to persuade Tom Girdler, Eugene Grace and other steel officials to sit around a conference table at which union leaders were present. The board explained its failure, "The only hope of settlement lies in such a meeting."

In criticizing the companies for their stand the board said, "Nothing can be made clearer today than that management and organized labor, when it really represents the wishes of the men, have got to learn how to live together, to reach agreements and to abide by them when made."

Steel officials handed Taft a written resume of their stand, that they would not make any agreement with Lewis' "irresponsible" C. I. O. They admitted that the Wagner act might force them to negotiate with the union, but declared another law provides that no one need make a contract he doesn't want to make.

Budget Trouble, U. S.

TREASURY figures indicated that the end of the fiscal year would find the President's economy program missing its mark by about $200,000,000. Last April he warned all departments that expenditures would have to be drastically cut, and revised his budget to $295,000,000 less than the forecast in January. His revised budget estimated that expenditures from July 1, 1936, to June 24, 1937, would be $7,781,000,000; actually they turned out to be $7,883,000,000, or $102,000,000 above the estimate. It was believed that, at that rate, there would be a difference of about $200,000,000 in the budget and actual spending for the entire fiscal year.

Budget Trouble, French

BUDGET trouble is bothering France in a serious way; in fact it led to the resignation of Premier Leon Blum and his People's Front government, to be succeeded by Camille Chautemps. One of Chautemps' first acts was to appoint Georges Bonnet, ambassador to the United States, as minister of finance, with orders to begin attempts to balance the budget.

Bonnet's first moves were to close the stock exchange and suspend foreign exchange and commercial payments pending a decision on whether or not he would be made an economic dictator temporarily.

Because the senate refused him this power, Blum and his cabinet resigned; the chamber of deputies twice had approved giving it to him. The senate finance committee approved virtually the same thing for Chautemps, 20 to 3, ten days after he had become premier. It would authorize the new government to promulgate decrees "tending to assure suppression of attacks on government credit, fight against speculation, promote economic recovery, control prices and balance the budget."

France, like the United States, operates on two budgets—ordinary and extraordinary. France's deficit in her ordinary budget, as estimated by retiring Finance Minister Vincent Auriol, is about $200,000,000, and the deficit in her extraordinary budget approximately $1,600,000,000. Rene Brunet, Bonnet's under-secretary, said they could be balanced in three years.

Most of the expenditures were for the extraordinary budget are for defense.

Pen for Jersey's Parkers

WHEN Paul H. Wendel, former Trenton, N. J., lawyer, "confessed" to the Lindbergh baby kidnapping, the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann was delayed three days. Now Ellis Parker, sixty-five, chief of the Burlington county detectives, and his son, Ellis, Jr., twenty-six, have been sentenced to serve six and three years, respectively, in the federal penitentiary by Federal Judge William Clark in Newark. They were convicted of conspiring to seize and torture Wendel to extract from him the false confession. Their attorneys announced an appeal would be filed with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Rebels Again Eye Madrid

HAVING taken Bilbao after months of siege, Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander, turned his guns once more upon Madrid and the sector north of Guadalajara. New troops were moved into the sections along the western and southwestern limits of the city. The loyalist government set out at once to strengthen its own lines, although it was not believed Madrid was in much danger of attack before the insurgents have "cleaned up" the northern provinces. Since the capture of Bilbao the Basque and Asturian forces have been virtually isolated from those of the Madrid-Valencia government.

CAN YOU STOP IN TIME?

Ask ten good drivers what they consider the most important safety factor of their automobiles, and at least nine of them will answer "Good brakes." Yet faulty brakes are a daily cause of accidents.

The annual car inspection campaign in Delaware in 1935 showed 46 per cent of all cars examined with defective brakes. Similar reports from Virginia gave 39.5 per cent. In Connecticut one-half of all cars rejected in the 1935 semi-annual inspection were rejected for defective brakes.

One of the first things a good driver does when he leaves his garage of a morning is to test out his brakes. If they work instantly and smoothly, his mind is at rest for the balance of the day. He knows he can stop in time.

But if your brakes are slow in action, if your car jerks about as you apply pressure, showing that you have uneven braking power and are likely to skid dangerously, better drive into a garage and have your brakes adjusted.

There is no more helpless and terrifying sensation than to find suddenly that your brakes are useless and cannot stop you from sliding into a smash-up, or perhaps striking some innocent bystander.

Selecting Indian Chiefs

In some tribes, such as the Iroquois and some Pueblo tribes, certain chieftaincies were always selected from a particular clan. While there were hereditary chieftaincies among certain other groups, as a matter of practice such offices were usually elective. It is possible that the political system of the Iroquois influenced the democratic style of government of the United States. Probably the only example in North America of a power analogous to that of a despot was to be found among the Natchez and neighboring tribes of the lower Mississippi. In this instance submission to the will of the chief was for the most part voluntary and based on reli-

Farmers' Day to Test Horses

A new type of endurance contest for horses is to be the opening feature of the annual Farmers' Day program which will attract thousands of farmers and their families to Michigan State College Friday, July 30.

In the annual view of better farming which rural business men of Michigan will get on the campus and farms, all of the agricultural departments of the college will offer demonstrations and information. Tests, research, new methods and new knowledge of fruit, grain, forage crops, pastures and truck crops, livestock, forestry, veterinary, agricultural engineering, soils and entomology are to be a part of the morning program.

This endurance test of horses, as announced by Ralph Hudson, farm superintendent, offers opportunity to any team in Michigan to match its heart and willingness against one good college pair of sorrel Belgian geldings.

The college animals are not trained specially for contest pulling. Although they weigh 3,000 pounds, any team of any weight has a good chance in this contest, which will be run from 10:00 to 10:30 a. m. to start the annual program.

Even a pair of light mustangs, if in good condition may win the endurance trophy offered by the Michigan Horse Breeders' Association. Each team, of any weight, will pull a load of half the team's weight. The winning team will be the one that goes the best distance in the trials.

Hudson has set Wednesday, July 21, as the closing date for entries. He suggests training any entries by giving them pulls on a stoneboat. After departmental programs, there is to be a central program in the afternoon in the center of the landscaped part of the campus.

Twin Colts Set All Time Record

Michigan livestock seems to be bidding for prolific honors, if the record of a horse on the farm of Irving Taylor, Perry, Michigan, is an indicator.

Twin colts are unusual, but a six year old mare owned by Taylor already has had three sets of twins in three successive years.

In 1935 the mare gave birth to a male and female, but these were weak and died. In 1936 another male and female set of twins was born and these are still on the farm. May 28 this year another set of twins arrived, again roan in color and male and female and healthy.

No record like this has ever been known, says George A. Brown, head of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College. Harry Moxley, horse specialist in Brown's department, concurs. The sire is a purebred Belgian kept on the farm. The mother is a grade Belgian.

A son, Richard Taylor, owns one of each of the sets of twins. He is a 4-H club boy and recently purchased a purebred filly to enlarge his activity in 4-H colt club work.

More unusual features which make the Taylor animals eligible to a "believe it or not" involve some extra feet. One of the 1936 twins has one extra foot, now small in comparison with the normal feet and in no way crippling the animal. The other 1936 twin was born with four extra feet but the pasterns absorbed them during growth.
