Injury to Three— As Mr. and Mrs. Peter Glaser and daughter of Detroit were coming here Saturday to visit relatives, Mr. Glaser lost control of the machine on the icy highway one mile south of the junction of M-81 and M-53 and the machine careened into the ditch, throwing Mrs. Glaser through the windshield and cutting her hands and head. Mr. Glaser received leg injuries and the baby head cuts. Robert J. Willis, who was passing by at the time, took the trio to Pleasant Home Hospital at Cass City where they received treatment and later Mr. Willis took them to the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gies. The machine was badly damaged.

Fire Causes Slight Damage— Sparks from the chimney caused a roof fire Saturday at 5:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Loomis which might have spread rapidly but was noticed in time by Howard, who was going to the barn. Assistance was summoned and the fire was quickly put out. A large hole was burned in the roof and the water did considerable damage to the room below. Insurance covered the loss.

For window decorations, we have pictures of Benjamin Franklin in honor of his birthday this month.

The lower grades made posters of Jack and Jill for art this week. Wednesday afternoons are our 4-H club days.

We received a poster from the American Automobile Association. It says, "Keep Away from Between Parked Cars."

Miss Everett is reading the book "The Animals Came to the Circus" by Elizabeth Gale to the lower grades for their language work.

Those who were neither tardy nor absent during December are Wilma Bodie, James Burrows, Yvonne Palmer and Bernice Vorhes.

The sixth and eighth grades are reading the poem "Evangeline" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Sharrard School.

Teacher, Miss Agnes E. MacLachlan. Reporters, Olga A. Dombrowski and Josephine Zaleski.

Onnalce, Marie and Roy Ralph are our new pupils. We have been able to do lots of ice skating lately.

We were glad to get back to school after our Christmas vacation.

Fifth grade are struggling along with fractions for arithmetic class. We have started to study Evangeline for seventh grade reading.

Seventh and eighth grades are having budgets for arithmetic. We received a new nickel drinking cup for our water fountain.

The beginners and first grade are learning the poem, "The Man in the Moon," for English. Seventh and eighth grades have commenced the study of the Civil War for history.

Those having 100 in spelling for the week are Genevieve Miljure, Aileen Kirby, Josephine Zaleski, and Olga Dombrowski. Those receiving spelling certificates were Aileen Kirby and Josephine Zaleski.

Rescue School.

Teacher, Catherine MacLachlan. Reporters, Wilma Hartsell and Madelyn O'Rourke.

We started a new spelling contest. Elda and Rowland Hartsell are captains. Rowland's side is ahead.

Lansing—Henry Ford successfully defied the "Blue Eagle" during NRA days. He continues to display the same defiant fighting spirit in his present battle with the National Labor Board.

The flivver king of Dearborn has a well-earned reputation for courageous independence.

You will recall that 24 years ago, back in 1914, he precipitated a revolution in American industry by doing the simple and astounding thing of paying his workers a minimum daily wage of $5. At a time when the machine age "speed up" was allegedly retiring workers at a progressive rate of early age, Ford did the opposite—he increased the average age of workers during each decade of the century.

This year bids well to bring a showdown in the labor fight between Ford, the motor independent, and the C. I. O. which views with considerable envy the rich fields of potential memberships in Ford's many factories.

Illegal Seizure

Ford's latest maneuver against the National Labor Relations board, in appealing its recent verdict, is predicated on the extraordinary conditions which prevailed in Michigan during the sitdown strikes of 1937 when workers seized plants illegally and "got away with it."

The motor company in its petition maintains:

"The policy adopted and openly avowed by the C. I. O. and U. A. W. was that, in the very midst of an era of production and prosperity, the workers in a plant should not merely lay down their tools and cease to work, but should occupy the plant and prevent those who desire to work from doing so.

"In the epidemic of C. I. O. and U. A. W. sit-down strikes that swept the State of Michigan, industrial plants were seized by force and their production suspended. Men wishing to work were forcibly prevented from doing so and even forcibly restrained from leaving seized plants. The governor of the State of Michigan announced that ordinary agencies of law enforcement could not or would not function. Whether the governor was forced to this by the action of the C. I. O. or whether the fault was his own, is not the question here.

"The important fact here is that industrial plants were in fact seized and their production was in fact suspended, that men wishing to work were thrown out and their families placed on relief, that the treasury of the state was in fact depleted to pay for the relief and that purchasing power was destroyed."

Issue in Campaign?

Whether the Ford defense, as set forth, will be an issue in the coming gubernatorial campaign is yet to be revealed.

It is certain, however, that if the issue is raised, it will not be of the Democrats' choosing. And it is equally certain that the state administration, for many months, has been preparing an answer for it in the form of newspaper headlines of the Chicago labor riots and other blood-spilling battles. "Such did not happen in Michigan" will be the strategy, as reported at Lansing.

Ford's appeal statement raises a point of factual accuracy which apparently needs clarification. Here is a quotation:

"To cite but a single instance, at Flint, Mich., there was a pitched battle between police and pickets, at which shots were fired and men killed, while workmen, who were unlawfully occupying the plant itself at the instigation of C. I. O. and U. A. W., tore up machinery and hurled it as missiles through the windows."

"Men killed" are two words of devastating power.

Labor Relations Bill

The sitdown strikes of 1937, repudiated months after by Secretary of Labor Perkins, were responsible as much as anything for the attitude of the Democrat-Republican conservative coalition in the state senate which led to downfall of a labor relations bill in the first special session.

The senate coalition did not retreat from its position.

And Governor Murphy, having vetoed his own bill after the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. attacked it, was left without any mediation machinery to employ in future strike trouble.

At Monroe where citizens took law in their own hands to prevent illegal blockading of access to a steel plant, the mayor, Daniel Knagg, was re-elected by an overwhelming vote.

When the special session of 1938 convenes at Lansing, it will be interesting to observe the fate of a labor relations bill in the senate. There have been few developments to indicate that the conservative coalition has changed its attitude which "jelled" at the time of the 1937 sit-down strikes.

"Fascist Nativism"

Michigan's "law and order" leagues, which sprung up during the 1937 sit-down era, represented to a minor degree the Fascist tendencies which inspired the recent Black Legion in Michigan.

While civic law-and-order groups sought only to mobilize public opinion against future labor lawlessness, the Black Legion went all the way.

According to Elmer Akers of the University of Michigan's department of sociology, the Black Legion reflected "Fascist tendency to substitute force for reason, the policy of liquidating the enemy. The violence of this outbreak of vigilante nativism was in keeping with Fascist policies in the world today—a natural resurgence of the perennial nativism found in most rural and small town communities of the Americas."

It is estimated that the Detroit industrial pool contains 100,000 Southern whites, few of whom ever intended to make Detroit their permanent home. Living in a "social vacuum," they respond without usual inhibitions to such "vigilante nativism."

Professor Akers warns that another depression will bring a revival in Michigan of this fascism probably in some new form.

Billion Bounty

The national farm income was the best since 1929.

Michigan's income increased 14 per cent, due mostly to marketing of holdover crops and despite a sharp decline in 1937 crop prices.

National receipts were almost double those of 1932.

With an eye to 1938, it is worth noting that all records will be broken in 1938 when more than a billion dollars is scheduled to flow from the Treasury in Washington into direct aids for agriculture.

A total of $1,035,000,000 will find their way into pockets of farmers; one out of every seven dollars of taxes collected by Uncle Sam. This is more than the annual cost of our army and navy.

Regardless of what happens to business in 1938, farmers are assured of a billion bounty from Washington. Business in small towns is dependent, for the most part, upon prosperity on the farm. In view of this fact, we dare a prediction that business in 1938 will not be bad on Main Street.

WILMOT.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Woodruff and baby of Detroit were week-end guests at the Charles Woodruff home.

Twenty-five Years Ago.

Jan. 10 and 17, 1913.

J. B. Cootes was one of the first to send and receive big parcels through the parcel post. The outgoing parcel went to a Greenleaf township citizen and the one received was a wagon spring from the Delamater Hardware Company of Detroit. This was the first parcel post order handled by this big wholesale house.

The local fire department's salary has been increased from $100 to $200 annually by the common council.

Stockholders of the Cass City Telephone Company re-elected the directors of that company at the annual meeting Tuesday. They are: J. D. Brooker, J. D. Crosby, Edward Pinney, B. F. Benkelman and J. C. Corkins.

D. Crawford has arranged to purchase the Central Meat Market from A. L. Johnson.

John J. Gallagher's residence on Main Street West is nearing completion and is a nice addition to that part of the city.

Pigeon Progress: Clifton Heller, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heller, had a narrow escape from choking to death Monday. While on the floor, he found and swallowed a tidlywink which became lodged in his throat and only by strenuous efforts of his parents and neighbors was it finally dislodged.

Sunday was the first time in 25 years that Edwin Eno missed milking one of his cows at least once a day. The reason he missed Sunday was that his only cow "went dry."

At their meeting Monday afternoon, the Woman's Study Club decided to offer a scholarship of one year's tuition to any college in Michigan to the student in the graduating class having the highest standing for the four years' work in the Cass City High School. At the annual election on Monday afternoon, the club elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Charles Wiley; first vice president, Mrs. A. D. Gillies; second vice president, Mrs. Elias McKim; secretary, Mrs. G. A. Tindale; treasurer, Mrs. F. J. Nash, Jr.; librarian, Mrs. Etta Rowley; critic, Mrs. J. H. Hays; instructor, Mrs. John Schwaderer.

Thirty-five Years Ago.

January 16, 1903.

W. W. Bender and wife of Gagetown entertained a "frozen" party of Cass Cityites on Wednesday night, who braved the wild winds of the northwest to call on their friends who formerly resided here and belonged to their royal order of merrymakers. Packed in like sardines, amid robes, furs and blankets, the party was conveyed to their destination in two bob sleighs.

A large and appreciative audience greeted the Tudor-Geeding Concert Company in the opera house last evening.

While at Newbridge, Ontario, a short time ago, W. Fallis attended a very singular funeral. The deceased was in his hundredth year, he was the father of eight children and has 37 grandchildren and 67 great grandchildren.

Will Coates, who has been employed by J. Cootes since the opening of his hardware store here, has joined the "knights of the grip" and will travel for the Art Stove Company of Detroit.

Ida Striffer, who has been employed at J. F. Hendrick's jewelry store, is taking a vacation this week.

The Marlette Canning Company, after a successful year of business, is again making contracts with the farmers for next season.

DEFORD

Mrs. Jane Stevenson was taken very ill quite suddenly on Friday night after the family had retired. Her call brought members of the family. A physician was called. Mrs. Stevenson is still confined to her bed, but is some better. Her home is with her daughter, Mrs. Nelson Hicks. Her daughters, Mrs. William Wood and Mrs. Morley Palmateer, of Imlay City stayed a few days to help care for her.

Samuel Sherk and Lewis Retherford are both a little improved in condition and Jesse Sole continues about the same, still confined to his bed.

After the church service on Sunday morning, as Rev. and Mrs. Marsh were returning to Kingston, a slip on the icy road put the car in the ditch and in collision with a tree, damaging the car to the extent of about $50.00, and bruising the occupants some. Mrs. Marsh was cut about the face, but fortunately nothing serious.

Evangelistic services are being conducted at the Town Line school house in charge of Rev. Mr. Troutman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Funk, Mrs. Maud Collins, Mrs. Ruby Osburn, and Miss Crawford attended the funeral services of Mrs. Otha Niles on Monday at Marlette. Mrs. Niles was a resident in this vicinity some years ago. She passed away at her home at Lapeer where burial was made.

Miss Letitia Tallman attended a quarterly meeting of the Free Methodist church held at Port Huron. Miss Tallman was absent Thursday to Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Kennedy of Cass City were dinner guests on

HERE IS WHAT Light Conditioning MEANS!

"Light Conditioning" is very simple. It means providing the right amount and the right kind of lighting for SEEING, COMFORT and BEAUTY . . . wherever eyes are used in work or play. Light Conditioning is scientific—there is no guesswork about it. But it is also flexible: If you wish, you may Light Condition a single table, a chair, a room. Or you may Light Condition your entire house.

The first step is to call in a lighting Adviser—one of our Home Lighting Advisers will be glad to help you—to measure your present lighting and to advise you as to the types of lamps needed. "Light Conditioning" is not expensive: Very often, it is just a matter of rearranging reflector lamps and lighting fixtures.

Light Conditioning brings new beauty to your home . . . color and warmth to your furnishings . . . soft, diffused light to your rooms. But it also helps to provide restful, easy seeing, and helps to guard against eyestrain and fatigue caused by poor lighting conditions.

Why not Light Condition your home NOW? You can start with a single room if you like. But the important thing is to make a start. Telephone our Home Lighting Division for a survey of your home lighting. There is no charge for this service, and no obligation.

Dog Tax Notice

If your dog tax is unpaid, it is due and should be paid either to your township treasurer or the county treasurer. If the tax is paid by mail, the dog owner is requested to tell in which township he resides and to give a description of his dog. Any dog three months of age before March 1 or over is required to have a license.

A change in the dog law is that the last date for license payments is Feb. 28. If paid on a later date, the fee is twice the amount now required.
