SIX MILLION SICK FOLKS

There are 6,000,000 people sick enough on an average winter day so they can not work, attend school, or engage in customary occupations, according to the National Institute of Health. When the breadwinner cannot work, he loses his purchasing power, and can't buy the products other people create. So his sickness means that someone else is unemployed. School terms have to be longer because a certain number of children are always out on account of sickness or ill health, which increases the cost of maintaining schools.
 Thus sickness costs us all something above what we pay for doctors, nurses, hospitals and medicine. It reduces the production of the nation, and thus less can be paid in the form of wages and other income.
 Of this total of 6,000,000, it is estimated that about one third are suffering from colds, influenza, and pneumonia, diseases largely produced by winter conditions. Meanwhile 500,000 are always laid up by accidents.
 If people took care of themselves as they should, the burden of sickness could be largely avoided. Unfortunately the carelessness of one person may convey germs that attack someone who obeys all laws of health.
 The accidents which lay people low could mostly be avoided if people were not in such a tearing hurry. If they were willing to let the other fellow go ahead when they drive automobiles, if they would keep off rickety stepladders, and fix their rugs so they would not slide over slippery floors, and keep their eyes open all the time, they would not spend so many days in the hospital. The family can make good use of the money that it costs to be sick.

TRAINING FOR MARRIAGE

The chief of the Indiana bureau of health complains that the young people are not given the training they need to make a success of married life. They have training to make a success of law, medicine, agriculture, or modern plumbing, but they get no such education for marriage.
 Young people often get married without more preparation than they take for a week's automobile trip. Many of them regard marriage merely as a super-picnic, all roses and honey. When they find it means hard toil and self sacrifice, it is something that did not occur to them. Somebody should have pointed out the thorns on those roses.
 A community is a group of people who live together, and supposedly unite to obtain the advantages of modern life. These advantages will not be obtained, unless the people so living together are willing to give time and effort for the common good.

"BUY WISELY" CAMPAIGN

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is starting a movement to induce the women to "buy wisely," so as to combat the recession. It is suggested that the fears of women may have led to the restriction of the nation's purchasing power.
 The successful buyer of a business concern goes slow on his purchasing when prices are zipping up too fast, but he loosens up when prices come off. There are signs already that prices have been slipping, which is when the good buyer gets his work in.
 The women should do likewise. The place to learn the proper time to buy, is in the newspaper advertising. When the women folks see business people advertising things they are going to want, and offering them for bargain prices, they will do well to follow their national leaders and "buy wisely."

ORGANIZED EFFORT

It is frequently remarked in politics, that some particular candidate was very well qualified for the job which he sought, but that he had no good organization backing him, so he was passed by in favor of others.
 The same principle works in city and town life. It takes organization to accomplish any kind of result. A community in which there was no organization would be hopelessly stuck in its old fashioned ways. The individual by himself can do but little in the way of community welfare, but when he and his neighbors get together, form good organizations, appoint officers who do some real work, then results are achieved, and the community gets the benefits it needs.

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS OF SCOUTING

Twenty-seven years ago on February 8, the Boy Scouts of America were first chartered under the District of Columbia. Now the organization has swept through the country as a great national movement. Probably every state has flourishing troops of Scouts.
 It was once thought you could guide and inspire youth by lecturing them. The youngsters of the present day are not keen on moral lectures, and the inspiration has to be given them in a kind of sugar coated pill. The fascinating pursuits of Scouting are as sweet as sugar to them. They become so attached to the movement, that they learn things they need to know about good citizenship and conduct.

WHY CROWD IN GREAT CITIES?

A recent forecast of growth in New York City predicts that by 1960 that vast metropolis will have a population of 9,384,000. The 1930 population was 6,930,000.
 Thus 2,454,000 people were expected to crowd into that vastly overgrown burg in 30 years. Now what sense is there in jamming so closely into that narrow area, when in most of the country the costs of living are less, and probably the chances of getting work better?
 Young people used to say that a place where there are so many people must have more opportunities. They flocked down there by the millions and the greater part of them have had to flock back. Some day people will discover that life is lived most comfortably in smaller places.
 The man who won't favor the enterprises of his home town when it comes to spending his money, sometimes finds his home town not enthusiastic about favoring him.

cle, No. 4, Ladies of the G. A. R., were installed Saturday, Jan. 24, as follows: Pres., Alice Houghton; sr. vice pres., Belle Wood; jr. vice pres., Marinda DeWitt; sec., Anna Hunt; treas., Ellen Aplin; chap., Mary Jane Wright; con., Clara Deming; ass't con., Almira Beach; guard, Elizabeth Baxter; ass't guard, Mary Ford.
 A party of Bad Axe young men visited our village Wednesday evening. Messrs. Stelle, Graves, Fisher and Campau of the party bowled against four of our young men, Messrs. Seeley, Rowe, McKenzie and Schenck. Three games were played, the latter winning by nine points.

The Walking Fern
 The walking fern (Camptosorus rhizophyllus) is one of the native ferns. In a moderately shady spot in a rock garden it "walks" to multiply itself. The drooping narrow leaves extend themselves until a tip touches the ground on a bit of favorable soil. There it roots and a new plant forms and extends its exploring fronds until it can find another favorable footing.

Children in Court

A court officer discovered that a delinquent girl shared two rooms with her parents, nine brothers and sister and two additional relatives.
 She was practicing communism in its broadest interpretation. As this child owned nothing herself, she had no conception of the fact that police are provided for the protection of the individual and his property. Therefore, she came to regard police officers as enemies who were constantly prying into what she considered a legitimate means of adding to the family income.
 When this child was placed in a country boarding home, and given a bedroom of her own and various personal belongings, her entire attitude toward property rights underwent a decided change.

Judge Predicts Crime Increase.

St. Joseph, Mich., Jan. 26—Judge Malcolm Hatfield today stated that courts cannot compete with the cheap dance hall, divorce mill, road house, pool room, and questionable theater and magazine. He asserted that thousands of children will soon turn to crime if indifferent parents are not educated to their duties and responsibilities. The judge lays down specific means of treating disobedience, dishonesty, temper tantrums and other symptoms that indicate future criminal careers, in his book, "Children in Court," which is being released by the Paebur Co. of New York City.
 Judge Hatfield, whose work with youthful offenders is closely followed in parent-teacher, religious and educational circles, added that the ten million children who are affiliated with no church cannot be expected to develop character and high ethical standards of morality.

A De Facto Government
 A de facto government is a government which is actually exercising governing power in a particular territory, irrespective of its legal authority. De facto government is distinguished from de jure government, the latter being a government which exists by legal right or by international recognition.

Footprints Carved on Memorial
 Near Chatsworth, N. J., stands a unique memorial on the spot where Emilio Carranza, the Mexican aviator, crashed to his death in July, 1928. Carved on its face, says Collier's Weekly, are bare footprints leading to the ground, symbolic of this airman's last journey—back to the earth.

People are prone to blame accidents on weather conditions. The human being never wants to blame himself for failing to do something that might have prevented an accident.

A study of highway conditions made recently indicated that 75 per cent of the accidents occurred on dry roads. 85 per cent of the accidents happened in clear weather.

Here is an amazing fact—95 per cent of the vehicles involved in all automobile accidents in 1935 were apparently in good condition. We have repeatedly warned that brakes should not be overlooked. Braking power is needed; good lights are needed. These are mechanical contrivances that must be checked regularly to keep the automobile in perfect condition.

But the driver must be in perfect condition also.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

A Tribute to Miss M. M. Kinnaird, a Great Teacher

The following paragraphs are taken from The Acorn, a bi-weekly publication of the Muskegon Heights (Michigan) High School:

When the word came that Miss Minnie M. Kinnaird had passed away at Mercy hospital early Friday morning, teachers and pupils realized that they had lost more than a teacher from their midst. She has moved among us quietly and unostentatiously. Her every thought has been how to be of most service to her students. The words are echoed by alumni and students, "She is the best teacher I have ever had."

Her own frailty and often times suffering have never been permitted to interfere in any way with the performance of her duty. Many difficulties have been smoothed out by her keen sense of humor and her ready wit. Above all she sought to be fair and open minded.

As teachers and pupils we mourn the loss of our friend and we extend to the members of her family our deepest sympathy.

With Tenneyson Miss Kinnaird would have said,

"May there be no moaning of the bar when I put out to sea." Her last conscious words, "I have established my citizenship," ring with significance to those who knew her best.

A Master Passes.

With the passing from the classroom of Miss Minnie M. Kinnaird, there has gone also a spirit of kindness and courage, a courage almost unexampled in view of her severe illness during the past few months, a sympathy and tender understanding of a sort rarely experienced by fortunate students anywhere.

Her death came as a shock to the student body as a whole, and with a distinct sense of loss to the community which she has served faithfully and well for many years. The thousands whom she came to know in her school life were not slow to recognize her ability as a teacher not only of chronicled events, but of a way of living.

Then there is a yet smaller group, among whom are a number of very intimate friends on the faculty, and close friends among students who came to know her as others could not. That some came to realize their ambitions, perhaps to be graduated from colleges over the land, was owing in large measure to Miss Kinnaird's unselfish financial aid and sincere inspiration.

But it is of little use to attempt to write a eulogy of this kind without falling far short of the truth, or else being accused of unmeaning flattery. Let it suffice to say that this great teacher's undying faith in young people lives on in the minds of thousands, forever. We who knew her will never break faith with this sincere trust she put in us. If history were made according to her precepts, future generations would study from beautiful books devoid of the paragraphs telling of strife and social evil, envy, jealousy, and human suffering. For in her world, there could be none of these.

GAGETOWN

Death of Mrs. Bartl— Mrs. Catherina Bartl, who has been ill for 12 years, passed away at her home here on Friday, Jan. 21. Dropsy is given as the cause of her death. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Fr. McCullough on Monday morning, Jan. 24, at St. Agatha's church, and burial was made in the parish cemetery.

Catherina Messenger was born in Austria Hungary on Oct. 20, 1876, and was married to John Bartl on Jan. 11, 1903. She came to Tuscola county in 1911 from Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Bartl was a member of the D. M. F. U. A. L. V. of Sebewaing, who had charge of the funeral.

She leaves her husband, and two brothers and four sisters, the brothers and sisters living in Hungary. Two sons preceded the mother in death.

Community Club Organized—

Questions and Answers

The program committee for the February 8th meeting of the Cass City Community Club are making the above offer, and the contest is open to everyone. The lists which are chosen by the committee will be used as part of the program for that meeting. It will be fun to make up a list, and you will enjoy having your questions used on the six contestants that night. Make more than one list if you wish. Just put on your thinking cap and follow these instructions:

1. Each list must contain six questions, and the correct answers.
2. Your name should appear on the same sheet of paper with the questions and answers.
3. All lists must be turned in by Monday night, February 7th, and may be left at either bank or given to Willis Campbell, High School Principal.

MAGICIAN

Is Coming to

H. S. Auditorium, Cass City

Friday night will be "Magic Night!" The Great Marquis, sensational magician, will appear Friday night in the High School Auditorium, under auspices of the Rotary Club. Marquis will wave his mystic fingers through the air and spirits will appear from the "nowhere" and rove about the auditorium, rats will leap from the Marquis' finger tips and bewitchingly beautiful bathing beauties will step from an enchanted "Bath House" previously explored and found to be "overflowing with emptiness." Living, breathing persons will undergo amazing transpositions and Marquis, himself, will with lightning like rapidity change character and his clothes "quicker than a woman can change her mind," before your startled eyes. The audacious Marquis challenges his spectators to discover his secrets. The stage is closely guarded during the Marquis performance and only his assistants are permitted backstage.. The Magician promises to thoroughly befuddle your mind and leave you as completely mystified as millions of other people, who have beheld this wierd and wonderful exhibition.

50,000 OF YOUR NEIGHBORS
HAVE Switched TO
ELECTRIC COOKING

You CAN afford it!

A few years ago, an electric range cost several times as much as an ordinary stove. Today, an electric range costs no more than the average stove of comparable size and features: the price is just about the same. . . . And look at the VALUE you receive in an electric range!

An electric range is built to serve you many years. Twelve years is the average length of time a family keeps a stove. That means that the stove you buy today will be cooking for you in 1949. "Electric cooking is MODERN cooking—it is the latest thing"—that is what many women say when they switch to electric cooking. During the past year 10,000 women in and around Detroit have switched to an electric range, and today 50,000 of your neighbors cook with electricity.

Consider these advantages of an electric range—features that no other stove and no other cooking method can give you: Absolute CLEANLINESS, with pure heat from a glowing wire—heat as clean as sunlight. BETTER FLAVOR—meats and vegetables cooked in their own juices to melting tenderness. Healthful WATERLESS COOKING, with precious minerals and important food values sealed-in. And best of all, the ease with which you can keep your kitchen bright and clean and sparkling . . . because an electric range does not burn fuel and therefore walls and curtains stay clean and utensils remain bright. There are no matches or flame in the kitchen.

When you buy a new stove, GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH! If you are paying the same price, choose the stove that will give you more. Only an electric range has these extra advantages of electric cooking!

See the new Electric Ranges on Display at Department Stores, Electrical Dealers and at all Detroit Edison Offices
