LETTERS

From Grover H. Burke.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 15, 1938.

Dear Herb:

After the 25th issue of the Chronicle, kindly withhold mailing me future copies. We expect to "pull stakes" on the 29th and will then be on our way back via the west coast then over to Savannah, Charleston, Washington and Williamsburg.

We go first to Sarasota to Ringling Bros. headquarters and art museum. By the way, I haven't had any acceptance by the bowling team as yet regarding the proposition I mentioned some time ago but I've been thinking that possibly I might enter some of those antique portraits in the art museum.

There's scarcely a spot in Southern Florida that we haven't seen from Palm Beach to Key West and it would take considerable space to relate in detail the whole story, so won't even attempt it.

The weather seems to be gradually getting warmer and averages about 10 degrees warmer than when we came down—now around 80 degrees, but for all that the crowd still seems to be here.

I trust you are getting some spring weather now for I understand it has been a rather disagreeable winter up there.

Very truly, G. H. BURKE.

8 simple rules FOR GOOD

"HOME-MADE LIGHTING"

To make sure you have proper light in every room of your home, you can prescribe your own home lighting by following these eight simple rules:

- 1 Use the right size lamp in the right fixture. Too large or too small a lamp can definitely cause eye discomfort. When you exchange burned-out lamp bulbs, make sure you get the size lamps suited to your needs.
2 Have enough light for each seeing task. Your eyes need more light for such tasks as sewing, mending, reading fine print, etc., than they do for relatively simple occupations such as dining, conversation, etc. There are definite recommendations to guide you in the amount of light required.
3 Avoid bare lamp bulbs... they cause glare. Raw lighting is poor lighting—even if there is plenty of it. Shaded lamps are always preferable.
4 Eliminate harsh contrasts (brilliant light and dark shadows). You can do this by having general room-wide light to supplement local lighting. It is bad practice to have bright pools of light in a dark room. It makes the room appear spotty and is a cause of eye discomfort and fatigue.
5 In your floor or table lamps, choose the type of lamp with a reflector bowl. The bowl helps to diffuse the light, assuring a soft, pleasant quality of illumination. Some of the light goes to the ceiling and is reflected back. Wherever possible, choose shades with a white lining. They provide more light for the electricity used.

6 Wipe lamp bulbs frequently with a dry cloth—also the reflector bowl of your floor and table lamps. Dust and dirt sometimes reduces by one-third the amount of light you get from a lamp.
7 Always bear in mind the decorative fitness of your lamps and fixtures. There is STYLE in lighting just as in household decoration, and the selection of lamps is important. Curtains and draperies that are suited perfectly to an ensemble in one room may be quite wrong for another, and the same thing is true of your floor and table lamps.

8 If in doubt about any phase of your home lighting, call in a Detroit Edison Home Lighting Advisor. He will give you helpful advice on your lighting problems. There is no charge for this service.

First Sunday After 'Paschal' Moon Is Astronomical Date for Easter

Astronomically speaking, Easter falls on the Sunday following the first Paschal full moon after March 21. But the date was originally set to help pilgrims who needed moonlight during their annual journey to Resurrection festivities.

Traveling day and night to reach the sacred shrines in time for this observance, the pilgrims decided to make the Easter date flexible for the sake of convenience. Therefore it may vary over a period of 35 days—from March 22 to April 25.

A coincidence accounts for the popular association of Easter Sunday with the arrival of spring. The day occurs almost simultaneously with the ancient heathen Roman celebration of the vernal equinox. So popular has this association become that spring clothing and spring flowers are used extensively as symbols of Easter.

The Easter Sunday fashion parade down New York's Fifth avenue has become a recognized American institution. Each nation has its own unique Easter Sunday customs. American children celebrate the day with Easter eggs and bunnies. In Germany spring lambs are sold for the feast.

Summaries of 4-H achievements in Michigan for 1937 indicate that the boys and girls in club work set new records in which a total of 39,853 participated.

All of the state's 83 counties are involved in the club work. There were 46,329 projects in the 24th year of 4-H in Michigan. Of these there was an 84.07 per cent completion, a slight drop from 1936 when 84.6 per cent completed what they started out to do.

A. G. Kettunen, state club leader, issues the report from club headquarters at Michigan State College. Those serving the boys and girls in the state include 71 county agricultural agents, 20 home economics extension agents, eight full time county club agents, 12 district club agents and a state club staff of 11.

In the 24 years of the work the total enrollment to date is nearly up to the half million mark. In recent years the enrollment of boys has been approaching that each year for the girls. In 1937 there were boys in 20,768 projects and girls in 25,561.

Most popular with the boys is the course in handicraft, offering five years of useful training, second is dairy calf club work. Girls prefer the five year clothing courses, with canning second.

Four new projects begun in 1937 are to be continued and expanded in projects for this year. These include forest fire study, pheasant raising, farm mapping and soil conservation and farm use of electricity. Kettunen pays high tribute to the 5,512 volunteer local club leaders, men and women who worked with the 4,908 organized club groups in 1937.

Michigan Mirror

A Non-Partisan State News Letter By GENE ALLEMAN Michigan Press Association

Lansing — Michigan farmers haven't put all of their eggs in one basket. When you count your blessings, one by one, don't forget the benefits of our diversified agriculture.

While industrials are a bit glum, awaiting for the much-expected spring upturn in business, the farmers have reason to smile over the fact that Michigan led all states in agricultural recovery last year. Cash value of all farm commodities rose from $188,000,000 in 1936 to $246,000,000 in 1937.

In total acreage of farm land Michigan rates 26th. Drouths are few, rainfall is usually abundant, and diversification of crops is effective insurance for a fair farm income, year after year.

Farmers Suffer Less
If the wheat crop fails, the Northwest suffers from hard times. If corn fails to mature, vast regions in the Mid-West feel the pinch of adversity.

But Michigan farmers suffer less, when a business recession arises or when drouth or rains jinx growers, because they haven't all their eggs in one basket.

The development of the dairy industry has been a source of protection against crop losses.

Michigan ranks first in cherries, second in potatoes and field beans, third in grapes, fourth in peaches and pears, fifth in apples, sixth in sugar beets and tame hay, seventh in flaxseed and timothy hay, eighth in rye, ninth in winter wheat, and tenth in corn and barley.

Business Aided
The stability of the Michigan farm income means much to the merchant on Main Street.

He is less subject to the rapid fluctuation of industrial indexes, and this is worth something when you consider that the tailspin dive of industry during 1937 was without parallel throughout our entire history.

Merchants in the large industrial centers are dependent, to a large extent, on the prosperity of the automobile industry. The fact that Michigan was allotted the largest share of the federal WPA appropriation—a larger share than any other state in the nation—is convincing proof of this statement.

All in all, the country town in Michigan is well off.

Decentralization
Labor troubles in the North combined with rising costs of taxation, have prompted many manufacturers to move plants from cities into small towns or to open branch plants in the South.

Take the factor of rents, for example. The bureau of home economics of the department of agriculture recently completed a survey of house rents paid in Michigan in small towns. The majority of villagers are paying $15 a month, leaving more money available to buy other things.

As Dr. Louise Stanley, bureau chief, put it: "This is one of the reasons why the village family in the moderate-income group is much more likely to have an automobile than is the family of the same wage status in the large city."

Annual Wage
Is it feasible for industry to guarantee the worker an annual minimum wage?

This proposal was advanced some time ago by President Roosevelt as a means to stabilize the building trades. Governor Murphy mentioned it for automobile workers during a recent tour of the Upper Peninsula.

The president's suggestion evoked criticism from both labor leaders in the building trades and from contractors who believe, it is said, that an annual minimum wage is not practical for construction work.

The Ford Motor Company submitted testimony to a senate committee at Washington that an annual wage was not feasible in the automobile industry because of the custom of annual models and the uncertainty of sustained buying. In a stabilized industry, like meat packing, the annual minimum wage has been demonstrated to be both feasible and practical. We all have to eat; but we don't have to buy automobiles or homes.

The annual minimum wage is a symbol of security. For that reason we will hear more of it in 1938.

Half Billion Taxes

Who pays the tax bill? The $545,514,000 tax bill, paid by Michigan residents last year, was twice as much as the gross income of all Michigan farms.

Booth Newspapers, sensing a public responsibility to tell the truth about taxes, delved into the records and found the half billion tax bill to be the largest ever paid by the people of the state. Twenty per cent of every dollar in income went to pay taxes. For a family of four persons, it is equivalent to having a fifth person at the table—an unseen boarder to feed, clothe and house.

Michigan's tax breakdown for 1937 follows:

|---------|---------------|
| Federal | $261,814,000 |
| Local | 146,300,000 |
| State | 137,400,000 |

A Detroit motor company recently found that each worker spent an average of $565 annually for dry groceries, dairy products, meats and poultry, produce, tobacco, soap and cosmetics. Of the total sum, $141.30 went to pay taxes . . . hidden, indirect, and unseen!

Rise in State Spending
The rise of state spending, through both Republican and Democratic administrations, is shown by the following figures for pay-rolls alone:

|------|--------------|
| 1933 | $14,566,898 |
| 1934 | 15,184,838 |
| 1935 | 17,197,310 |
| 1936 | 19,714,884 |
| 1937 | 23,485,319 |

This represents a jump of more than 37 per cent in five years. Expenditures of all state governments rose from $1,900,000,000 in 1935 to $2,500,000,000 in 1937, as contrasted with $200,000,000 increase for all local governments in the nation.

It is not a Michigan problem alone. It is a national problem.

Easter Seals
The Michigan Society for Crippled Children, Inc., through its many county and city committees, is again sponsoring the sale of crippled children Easter seals.

The campaign opens April 1st for the fifth consecutive year as a means of financially supporting the work being carried on by the international, state and local affiliated groups.

The Michigan Society was founded in 1921 to initiate, extend and improve services for physically handicapped persons—its program includes locating cases and securing for them medical care, special education, vocational guidance and training, and placing the adult in satisfactory employment.

Emmet Richards, editor of the Alpena News, is president of the organization.

Fourteen Flavors Are Grown on an Apple Tree
Jonesville, Mich.—It's the grafter who gets the apples—ask George Houseknecht.

Most successful fruit grafter in this part of Michigan, he has a tree bearing 14 kinds of apples, fall, winter, sweet, tart, yellow, red—almost any kind of flavor you may want.

He makes his own grafting wax and has worked out his own technique in choosing the part of the tree best suited for grafting. With some kinds of fruit he chooses a side of the tree on which leaves or small twigs have grown. For others he may select the end of a long limb.

Houseknecht has successfully grafted plums and cherries. With plums he uses the wild variety for the roots and cultivated varieties for the limbs.

Experimenting with cherries he grafted a limb of a black wild cherry tree to a garden variety. The grafted limb bore choke cherries.

1938 Spring Hats Will Be 'Saner'—Or Will They?

Spring stylists are getting more level-headed about hats, so they say. This collection proves them both right and wrong. You can draw your own conclusions about the little feathered bonnet worn above by Rita Johnson of the movies. The skyscraping quill is bright blue.

Rita changes to a tight-fitting little number that's given added height by a colorful bouquet of spring flowers. The soft veil adds "luxury." Nice, we'd say.

But wait a minute. What's this? Betty Furness, also of the movies, dons a "nose-length" veil sprinkled with sequin flowers, fastened on the top of her head with a handmade rose in center. This isn't a spring hat, really. It's for formal dinner wear, which makes us breathe easier.

Here comes Betty Furness in something less startling and more springlike. John Fredericks designed this number, a dusty pink hat with a black suede band around the edge. The crown is high and a soft veil covers the face. What's your verdict . . . are 1938 hats better or worse?

RURAL SCHOOLS

Sharrard School. Teacher, Miss Agnes E. MacLachlan. Reporters, Marian King and Aileen Kirby. We have received a set of traveling library books. We enjoy reading them very much. Harold King, Robert Kipfer, Jake Gross and Josephine Zaleski received spelling certificates this week. Miss MacLachlan is reading the story of "The Five Little Peppers and How They Grew," for morning exercise. Eighth grade are studying about the World War for history. Those having 100 in spelling this week were Richard Zaleski, Harold King, Kathryn Woolner, Alfred Dombrowski, Eva King, Robert Kipfer, Joseph Dombrowski, Joseph Figurskey, Genevieve Miljura, Marian King, Josephine Zaleski and Olga Dombrowski. We drew March calendars for art Friday afternoon. We had some interesting reports in science this week. We received a poster on safety rules this week. Kathryn Woolner is ahead in the first grade reading contest.

Rescue School. Teacher, Catherine MacLachlan. Reporter, Euleta Hartsell. If you lose your temper occasionally, you probably have provocation, or need a rest. If you lose it frequently, you will probably lose your job. The eighth grade are studying "I Have a Rendezvous With Death" for grammar. We ended the story of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Wednesday morning and enjoyed it very much. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades were making bird books for grammar Thursday. Mrs. Mellendorf visited us on Thursday for a little while. Leonard Hartsell is our new beginner. We received a new March calendar from the tuberculosis association. Those who received spelling certificates for having twenty perfect spelling lessons are: Sylvia Fay, Dean Powell, Harold Cummins and Betty MacAlpine. Those who are ahead in the reading contests are: Kenneth Martin in the chart class, Geraldine Martin in the first grade, Harold Cummins in the fourth grade, Theodore Ashmore in the fifth grade, and Clarence Kilpatrick in the eighth grade. We drew Dutch windmills for art Friday. Those who had one hundred in spelling this week are: Euleta Hartsell, Madelyn O'Rourke, Isabel Martin, Kenneth MacAlpine, Kenneth Martin, Lila Schenck. Alethe Schenck visited us Friday morning. The eighth grade are studying the World War for history. Jerome Longuski visited us on Friday. We had an arithmetic match Friday night and Clarence Kilpatrick and Justus Ashmore were captains. Justus' side won.

Greenwood School. Teacher, Mildred Everett. Reporters, Louis Gyomert and Lillian Kubat. The lower grades colored pictures of Chinese pictures. The fourth grade people made posters for language. Dorothy Smith is back to school after her recent illness. The eighth graders are studying about circles in arithmetic. They have just reviewed problems in parallelograms, rectangles, triangles and trapezoids. Miss Everett is reading the story, "The Dutch Twins," for morning exercises. Rev. G. B. Marsh was a caller at our school Wednesday. He gave us an interesting talk about some of the pictures on our walls. Dillman School. Teacher, Lucile Anthes. Reporters, Edwin Karr and Arthur Brown. We have two new pupils. Their names are Robert and Ruth Murphy. Now our enrollment is 22. For morning exercise, Miss Anthes is reading "Dawn" by Gene Stratton-Porter. We enjoy it very much. We have some pussy willows in our school. We hope it is a sign of spring. We are sending back the library books which we had from the state library. The basketball season hasn't closed yet as we have just started to play. We think it's lots of fun. The seventh grade are working hard in their work books. They are doing interest in arithmetic. They have finished their history and are now reviewing. Most of the reading classes have finished their books. The 4-H Handicraft club is getting along fine. Some are almost done while the rest have one or two things to finish. We are going to stop our hot lunches now if the weather gets nice and the days warm so we can play outdoors. Sharrard School. Those receiving perfect attendance certificates this month are Justus and Theodore Ashmore, Sylvia and Nelson Fay, Wilma, Elda, Rowland and William Hartwell, Grace and Winton Ellis, Dean Powell, Isabel, Geraldine and Kenneth Martin and Kenneth MacAlpine. We had an arithmetic match on Friday. Eleanor Longuski and Alton Summers were captains. Eleanor's side won. Sixth grade are studying percentage for arithmetic. Fourth grade are studying long division.

Greenwood School. Teacher, Mildred Everett. Reporters, Louis Gyomert and Lillian Kubat. The lower grades colored pictures of Chinese pictures. The fourth grade people made posters for language. Dorothy Smith is back to school after her recent illness. The eighth graders are studying about circles in arithmetic. They have just reviewed problems in parallelograms, rectangles, triangles and trapezoids. Miss Everett is reading the story, "The Dutch Twins," for morning exercises. Rev. G. B. Marsh was a caller at our school Wednesday. He gave us an interesting talk about some of the pictures on our walls. Dillman School. Teacher, Lucile Anthes. Reporters, Edwin Karr and Arthur Brown. We have two new pupils. Their names are Robert and Ruth Murphy. Now our enrollment is 22. For morning exercise, Miss Anthes is reading "Dawn" by Gene Stratton-Porter. We enjoy it very much. We have some pussy willows in our school. We hope it is a sign of spring. We are sending back the library books which we had from the state library. The basketball season hasn't closed yet as we have just started to play. We think it's lots of fun. The seventh grade are working hard in their work books. They are doing interest in arithmetic. They have finished their history and are now reviewing. Most of the reading classes have finished their books. The 4-H Handicraft club is getting along fine. Some are almost done while the rest have one or two things to finish. We are going to stop our hot lunches now if the weather gets nice and the days warm so we can play outdoors.

$25 Will Clothe High School Girl

How to outfit a high school girl so that she can be clothed in fashion this spring for $25 is a problem that has been studied and solved by Evalyn Mansfield, instructor in textiles and clothing at Michigan State College. A brief clothing budget is the secret. First on the shopping list, remembering to purchase what is economical but attractive, is a suit, Miss Mansfield finds. If the budget allows not more than $25 she suggests a wool flannel man tailored suit priced as low as $11. Popular colors are Oxford gray, light gray, black or navy blue. These suits are rather severe in their tailoring so the tailored type of blouse rather than the "fussy" kind can be picked out for as low as $1 in cotton broadcloth, or in silk or rayon for as little as $2. For hats, Miss Mansfield suggests a felt roller, costing as little as a dollar. There is a new type called the Outdoor Girl, made of doeskin felt and adding more style than the roller. Prices for these are a little under $3 for some of the hats. Fabric gloves in color are inexpensive. Some this spring have a narrow lacing of leather around the cuff and glove backs. This dents the budget to the extent of another dollar. Shoes, hose and purse complete the outfit. For the shoes the survey by the Michigan State College instructor indicates some more style pointers to consider. Perfect color match or make them contrast is the suggestion. Low but not flat heels on leather oxfords should cost perhaps $5 to $6, as more inexpensive shoes would not last long enough to prove bargains. Purse should match suit, or match hat or gloves. The hose should be four-thread with well reinforced toe and heel, costing perhaps 75 cents a pair. And that's the budget. Advertise it in the Chronicle.

THE GOOD EARTH... a Heritage

ONCE upon a time, not so many years ago, it cost $3,000 to build a mile of farm line to carry electricity. In many places the farmer was required to pay a large part of this line cost before he could have it extended. This meant that electric service was a luxury available to relatively few farm families. Now, all that is changed. In the area served by The Detroit Edison Company, farm electrification has been a large reality for ten years. This has been accomplished by continued efforts to reduce the cost of bringing service to farmers. Costs have been reduced in two ways: (1) Cost of building farm lines has been lowered by engineering developments. (2) The Michigan Plan for financing farm line extensions on a sound economic basis has brought rural electric lines to the farmer at little cost to him. A new type of line was developed by Detroit Edison engineers, and new ways of erecting the line. Lines were placed in fields some distance back from the road, to eliminate the expense of tree trimming and the danger of interruption to service by trees falling against the line during storms. To allow longer spans, we made use of aluminum wire with a steel core, which is stronger for its weight, and makes a farm line possible at lower cost. The result: Instead of $3,000 per mile, farm lines are now built for less than 50 per cent of the former cost. The plan known as the Michigan Plan, and the one which this Company offers, makes it easy for a group of farmers to finance an electric line. A base price of $500 per mile of new line is charged, from which is deducted a credit of $100 for each customer taking service on that mile. Where there are five customers per mile of line, the total of their credits equals the base price of $500, and the line is built without cost to the farmers. When there are less than five customers per mile of line, the Company assumes anyhow the lion's share of the capital expenditure of building the farm line, and the customer only contributes a small part towards paying for poles and wire, insulators and transformers, labor and supervision. Experience has proved this plan to be an equitable one. The results it has produced speak for themselves. It continues to stimulate economically sound electrification of rural areas. For the bounty of the earth, there is no substitute. The land is our heritage. Michigan is fortunate in its acres of rich farm lands. And in Southeastern Michigan, farm electrification has been a reality for ten years. The Detroit Edison Company

Motion Pictures—"Life at the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago," an innovation in religious promotional work in the form of a four-reel motion picture of the institute, will be shown in the First Baptist church in Cass City on Wednesday, April 6, at 8:00 p. m.

Actual everyday programs of work, study and evangelism are vividly portrayed in this interesting film, which is not a mere "story," but the day by day experiences of more than a thousand eager Christians who are studying the Bible and carrying on intensive Christian work.

Among the numerous interesting "shots" depicted in the four reels are the outreach of missionary endeavor and the fields where more than 1,700 Moody graduates and former students have done heroic work, and views of the students visiting the missions, jails and hospitals of Chicago. What it means to feed and care for hundreds of students introduces many surprises, as does the revelation that 35 separate buildings grouped on several city blocks are necessary for the work of this institution which is interdenominational.

Rev. L. A. Kennedy, pastor of the Baptist church here, is a graduate of the Moody Bible Institute.

Novesta and Austin Baptist Churches—R. T. Burgess, Pastor. Novesta—10:00 a. m. Sunday School. Classes for everyone. Melvin Chase, supt. 11:00 a. m., worship service. 7:30 p. m., B. Y. P. U. Lewis Crawford, pres. 8:15 p. m., Happy Hour service for young and old. Mrs. R. Burgess, song leader.
