

Largest Class in History of School Awarded Diplomas

'38 Graduates Present the School with 25 Dictionaries as a Memorial.

The class picture of Cass City High School's 1938 graduates now hangs in place across from the library on the first floor of the school building. The seventy-five students comprising this year's senior class are the tenth group to have the composite photograph of their class placed in the hall, a symbol to succeeding students that these pupils have completed high school education and have participated in commencement exercises.

It is especially significant for the class graduated on Tuesday evening, the tenth anniversary of commencement exercises in the present school building, to include the largest membership of any senior class of Cass City High School. Competition was greater, making honors well earned. With a larger class from which to choose, selections for the various parts of Tuesday night's program was limited to those of outstanding talent. The many friends and relatives who attended the commencement exercises were especially impressed with the ability possessed by the diverse performers.

Charles Rawson, as the master of ceremonies, linked the various parts of the program together well with introductions and comments which delighted the audience with their originality and fluency.

Lila Chapman's salutatory, the president's address by Edna Whale and Annabelle Papp's valedictory were speeches of the evening which expressed the regrets and hopes of the class. In the retrospect, Betty Stirtan pointed out the highlights of the 1938 class during their four years in high school.

Humor predominated in the class prophecy by Donald Hicks, Grant Hutchinson's anecdotes; the giftatory by Mark Gruber, and the class will by Mark Kelley. The jokes, although really understood mainly by those definitely connected with

New Authorized Gamble Store Agency Opens Here Saturday

Cass City's new Authorized Gamble Store Agency located between the D. A. Krug and Otto Priesskorn stores will be opened here Saturday, June 11. Harold Waldie, owner and manager, has been busily engaged for some time getting the store set up for the opening. New, modern fixtures are being installed.

Everything will be in readiness Saturday when the people of this community will have their first opportunity to inspect the extensive lines of merchandise handled by this new store. This merchandise consists, in part, of automotive supplies, featuring tires and batteries, paint, radios, and household necessities.

All stores bearing the "Authorized Agency Gamble Stores" sign are owned by the man operating the store. These merchants are in business for themselves. The investment is theirs—they do their own ordering—they place their own advertising. It is their business. Yet the vast resources of Gamble Stores are behind them.

This new Gamble Store Agency is one of 1580 Gamble Stores and Gamble Store Agencies now operating in the middle west.

Tallmadge Becomes an Octogenarian

Hale, Hearty and Friendly, He Is Happiest When Busiest.

Twenty children and grandchildren of Charles Tallmadge honored him Sunday, June 5, when they met at his home to help him celebrate his eightieth birthday. The gathering was a complete surprise to Mr. Tallmadge. All of the children and grandchildren were present except one granddaughter, Miss Helen Tallmadge, who was attending school at Ypsilanti.

Charles Tallmadge was born in Redford, Wayne County, June 5, 1858, and came with his parents to Caro when he was eight years of age. He was united in marriage with Miss Emma Bauer on Christmas Day in 1882 and they moved to the farm, two miles south and three miles west of Cass City, where they lived until they purchased and moved to a residence on Garfield Avenue, sixteen years ago, and where they have since resided.

Mr. Tallmadge is hale and hearty and is possessed of friendliness as well as an acute mind. He is keenly alert, has a fine sense of humor and keeps well posted on politics. He keeps busy as the house, lawn and garden must be kept in perfect order.

Among the many gifts Mr. Tallmadge received Sunday was a comfortable porch chair. Looking at the chair he remarked, "But I won't have time to sit in that."

Those attending the party Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell and Mrs. Ethel Callan of Cass City; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tallmadge, Grant and Donald Tallmadge, of Sandusky; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hulbert, daughter, Phyllis, of Lapeer; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Livermore, Misses Margaret and Casol Livermore, Mr. and Mrs. Evert Williamson of Detroit; Mrs. Edward Parker of Flat Rock.

Swimming Pool Opens Next Week

Finishing Touches to Projects Are Being Made This Week at Park.

Youngsters who have been waiting longingly for the opening of the swimming pool at the City Park will have their hopes realized early next week when the pool will be filled with water and ready for use.

Finishing touches are being made by workmen this week to the pumps and other machinery in the bath house. Posts have been set around the pool to hold the wire fencing which will inclose the area and electricians are wiring the pool for the four 500-candle power flood lamps used for illumination.

The bath house is equipped with showers and toilet facilities for boys and girls and storage room for the clothing of bathers. The pool is 35 by 75 feet in size with a depth ranging from 2 feet 9 inches to 8 feet 6 inches. The filtering process is a continual one. A gravity feed forces the water into the filtration system and is then pumped back into the pool, effecting a complete change every four hours.

The village council, in July last, voted to furnish the site for the pool and agreed to assume the maintenance and management of the project when it was turned over to the village free from debt.

Started last summer under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club, the project was made possible by the subscription of funds by residents of the Cass City community. Three local contractors, Andrew Barnes, E. L. Schwaderer and E. B. Schwaderer, were liberal contributors of time and the use of their equipment in construction work.

Little tots are going to have as much fun as their older brothers and sisters at the park this summer. A wading pool has been provided for their enjoyment. Arthur Holmberg, science instructor in the local school, will be manager of the pool during the summer months.

Guess This One? Taken When We Were Young

All guessers on the picture in this column last week were correct in their estimates. Up to Tuesday night, three registered with the Chronicle—Robert Charlton, A. A. Jones and Herbert Maharg—and they named Charles Seeley as the man photographed. Mr. Seeley for 60 years was a resident of Elmwood Township.

This week's picture is that of a man who, in the Chronicle's opinion, is as widely known as any person in this community, among older residents. Telephone, write or drop in the Chronicle office, and state your guess.

Large Audience At Baccalaureate Sunday Evening

The Successful American Serves His Community, Said Rev. Mrs. Supernois.

Opportunities are diversified, they often come in disguise and they sometimes lead over rough roads, Rev. Mrs. Libbie Supernois, pastor of the Nazarene Church, told members of the Class of 1938 of the Cass City High School, in the baccalaureate exercises at the school auditorium Sunday evening, at a union service of local churches.

"Opportunity means obligation for where much is given, much is required," the speaker said. "The true successful American is one who finds time to make not his business, job, or profession the end of life, but serving his community. A man is bigger than a farm, job or profession. Courage, perseverance and determination are all requirements of opportunity. Man is a trinity—body, soul and spirit—and these three realms are interdependent in the equipment for life."

"You Class of 1938 have your problems, more maybe than the older folk realize, and you cannot go by our experiences, each must learn for himself," said Mrs. Supernois in her closing remarks. "You may remember none of my words here today, but I wish you to carry away some words of authority from One who is authority, both because He spoke them and because He is able to fulfill. They are: 'Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you and learn of me for I am meek and lowly.' Turn to page 5, please.

Famous 'Passion Play' Film Coming Here

A capacity audience is expected at the Methodist Episcopal Church here on Tuesday night, June 21, at 8:15 o'clock to see the new and beautiful motion picture film of the "Life of Christ," and the "Passion Play," depicting the story of Jesus, from the Nativity to the Ascension, based upon, and patterned after the world-famous Freiburg and Oberammergau "Passion Plays" of Europe. This picture was actually filmed in Europe, the Holy Land, and Egypt, at a tremendous cost.

A complete and appropriate musical score will be played throughout the entire film, on special sound equipment, reproducing some of the world's choicest and most exquisite orchestral, organ, and choral music by famous composers, blending with the magnificent scenes, which portray, in authentic and historic fashion, the Life, Crucifixion, and Resurrection of Jesus. The film was produced in Europe, Palestine, and Egypt, and has won the profound admiration

Tasty Salt Pork With Cream Gravy

Old-Fashioned Dish Is Always Strong Favorite

By EDITH M. BARBER

THE other night at a supper party, conversation turned to food. We all declared our favorite dishes. Among them were many old-fashioned favorites.

Really, there is nothing better than this simple dish, especially if you serve tender griddle cakes with it. In olden days this combination was often used for breakfast, but it is as good for lunch or for supper.

Salt pork, of course, belongs with baked beans, and I agree with a critic who bewailed the fact that there is not always enough pork used in this dish. I suppose it is actually supposed to add flavor and fat, but most of us like to have a portion of pork with each service of beans.

As is usually the case, corned beef hash proved to be another favorite dish. All agreed that it must be well browned. Poached eggs are, of course, often served with corned beef hash.

Salt Pork With Cream Gravy. 1 pound thinly sliced salt pork 2 tablespoons flour 2 cups top milk Salt, pepper

Soak slices of salt pork one hour. Drain and wipe dry. Dip each slice in flour and fry until crisp in hot frying pan. Remove pork and keep hot. Leave two tablespoons of fat in the pan, blend in flour and add the milk, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth.

Corned Beef Hash.

2 tablespoons bacon fat or drippings 2 tablespoons chopped onion 2 cups chopped corned beef, cooked 2 cups cubed boiled potatoes 1 cup stock or milk Salt and pepper to taste

Melt the fat in a frying pan, add the onion, and brown slightly. Add the remaining ingredients, well mixed. Spread the mixture evenly in a pan and cook over a slow fire for half an hour. It is best to cover the pan at first so that the mixture may become thoroughly heated.

OTHER FAVORITES

Biscuits

2 cups flour 3 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt 4 tablespoons shortening 3/4 cup milk (about) Sift dry ingredients together. Rub or cut in shortening with a stiff knife. Stir in milk. Work lightly into smooth dough.

Add milk, and then dry ingredients all at once. Beat until thoroughly mixed and bake in hot waffle iron about five minutes.

Stratford Sauce.

1/2 cup cream 3 tablespoons chopped apple. 2 tablespoons horseradish 1/4 teaspoon salt Whip cream and fold in other ingredients. Serve with cold turkey.

Scalloped Oysters.

5 tablespoons butter 4 cups soft bread crumbs 1 1/2 teaspoons salt Pepper 1 tablespoon lemon juice 1 pint oysters Melt the butter, add crumbs and seasonings and mix well. Drain oysters and arrange in alternate layers with the buttered crumbs in a greased baking dish.

Bread Pudding.

2 cups dry bread crumbs 1 quart hot milk 3/4 cup sugar 1 cup chopped figs 1/4 cup melted butter 3 eggs, beaten Salt 1/2 cup chopped nuts Add bread crumbs to hot milk and set aside to cool, then add all other ingredients and pour into greased baking dish. Although June is the month of weddings and roses, it is also important for end-of-the-school-year parties. Ice cream, cake, games, mother and little brother and sister guests, gifts for teachers, and happy faces featured many of the parties held in the six lower grades of the Cass City School this week. This morning (Friday) students returned to school for the last time in the 1937-38 season for diplomas and report cards.

It's an ill wind that does not blow someone some good, avers Mrs. John Wagner. Her son, John, recently was laid off because of the slowness of industry in Detroit and returned home in time to take up the household duties of his mother. Mrs. Wagner, by the way, is incapacitated as a housekeeper because she has been carrying her right arm in a sling since Friday when she stumbled and fell in the back yard, breaking her wrist. Son John has been doing remarkably well with the housework since the accident, his mother proudly states.

KATHERINE KELLY AND ROBERT MILLER MARRY

maids respectively. Their bouquets were of roses and snapdragons.

The groom was assisted by Gignera Miller and Henry Crist of Saginaw.

Mrs. Joseph Miller attended the ceremony in light blue with grey accessories. The bride's mother, Mrs. Thomas Kelly, wore navy blue georgette.

After the wedding, breakfast was served to forty—participants in the ceremony, members of the immediate families, and friends at the Lincoln Tavern in Bridgeport. A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Miller was held at the home of the groom's parents in the afternoon.

Plans for a wedding trip were not definitely arranged, but after this week the couple will live at Carol and Second Avenues in Saginaw where Mr. Miller will continue his present occupation as junior auditor at the City Hall.

60-Minute Periods for School Classes Here

The curriculum of the Cass City High School for the coming year will provide for a three-year course in home economics instead of two years as now prevails. A three-year course in manual arts will be maintained as at present.

Sixty-minute class periods will probably be introduced into the high school next year. The advantages of the hour period over the present 45-minute space for classes are said to eliminate half of the study hall period in which many students waste time, give time for "directed study" of the next day's assignments to students, and make possible a better arrangement of the school's schedule. By adopting the 60-minute class periods the double periods of vocational subjects are avoided.

About fifty of the 275 schools in the North Central Association of Secondary Schools have adopted the 60-minute class periods in recent years.

Rhubarb Heralds Summer's Foods

It takes rhubarb and some of the many pastries into which "pie-plant" can spring to let Michigan families really know that a new season of homegrown foods has arrived.

Two dishes suggested by Jeanette Lee, instructor in foods at Michigan State College, are typical.

One is a pastry called spring tartlet. Ingredients are one cup of flour, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one-third cup of butter and two tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice and some ice water.

Blend the butter with flour and salt and moisten with cold water to which the lemon juice has been added. Line muffin tins with the pastry and bake in a hot oven.

When tartlets are cool, remove from tins and fill with rhubarb mixture.

The rhubarb mixture is simply made. A well seasoned rhubarb sauce is mixed with diced pineapple and strawberries, garnished with sweetened whipped cream.

For another standby, Miss Lee recommends individual deep dish rhubarb pie.

This takes four cups rhubarb cut in half inch pieces, two cups sugar, quarter cup of flour and quarter teaspoon of salt and one egg.

Mix together the sugar, flour and salt and egg which has been slightly beaten. Combine thoroughly with rhubarb and arrange in individual casseroles. Prepare plain pastry—roll out and cut circles large enough to well cover the top of the casseroles. Gash pastry in center of circles—place in casseroles and press edges firmly in place. Bake in a very hot oven (450° F.) for 30 minutes. If top crust browns too quickly reduce the heat after the first ten minutes, and finish baking at 375° F.

Reefers Widely Used in State

Marihuana addiction in juvenile delinquency has been reported by juvenile court judges in nearly every industrial county in Michigan and as far west in the Upper Peninsula as Marquette.

Widespread increase in the use of the drug, which has more than 100,000 addicts in the United States, is having a serious effect on the delinquency problem, according to the Delinquency News Letter of Child Guidance Institute at the University of Michigan. The great majority of marihuana addicts, the News Letter states, are of high school and college age.

The plant from which marihuana is made will grow anywhere, the report continues, although it is found chiefly in small plots within cities. Growers in this illegal business, it says, reap a harvest of about 1,000 pounds per acre. About 1,700 cigarettes are made from each pound. They sell for 15 cents apiece or two for 25 cents. Profits are high, but the business has not as yet been organized by the underworld, the institute reports.

Canada's Drouth Is Laid to Recession of Glaciers

Toronto, Ont.—The climate of Canada was hotter than the tropics 400,000,000 years ago, according to Madeleine Fritz, of the Royal Ontario Museum of Paleontology, and now an age of drouth is foreseen by Dan McCowan, Canadian naturalist.

Dr. Fritz says that between three hundred and four hundred million years ago coral reefs abounded on the southwestern fringe of Ontario, and sponges lived in the seas over Hamilton; sea lilies, a kind of shellfish, flourished on the present site of Peterborough.

The prairie provinces, about the driest place in the Dominion were a great inland sea 50,000,000 years ago, she theorizes.

McCowan blames the recession of Rocky Mountain glaciers for drouth conditions in western Canada. "If the glaciers keep on receding in the next fifty years as they have in the last half century the rivers will be nothing more than rivulets," he believes.

Metal and Rubber Alloy Is Perfected by German

Berlin.—A new alloy called "Schwingmetall," made of metal and rubber and joined by a vulcanization process, has been discovered by German technical experts.

The alloy, it is said, can be used in the manufacture of china, as a ready shock absorber when used in bedplates; shipbuilding, to lessen vibration caused by propelling machinery; elastic couplings of great simplicity and safety, and rubber springs for lorries.

With the help of the alloy, vehicles running on rails can be fitted with rubber-sprung wheels, the tires being held to the wheel with rubber rings. Through this method rail vehicles run silently even on curves.

Sailors' Girls Wear Souvenir Garters

Durban, South Africa.—Many South African girls are wearing souvenirs of the British navy in the form of garters bearing names of units of the fleet. A sailor aboard the Amphion, which recently visited Durban, is responsible for the new fad. He made the garters out of tatty ribbons and sold them to his mates, who gave them to girls.

One large truck is built to serve as a stage for the entertainers and to hold motion picture projector and screen; and another carries the Ford Show's own electric power generating equipment.

Some MANIACS Murder with guns---others KILL with SPEEDING CARS

"BANDITS HOLD UP BANK, TWO KILLED" . . . "BYSTANDER KILLED AS POLICE AND GANGSTERS SHOOT IT OUT" . . . the headlines scream . . . and you shudder! But, my good citizen, you can deal death far more brutally than a gun in the hands of a gangster. Deaths resulting from automobile accidents are far more numerous each year than death resulting from gang murders.

To you, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, is entrusted the privilege of handling a dangerous weapon. The automobile, though one of the greatest boons to mankind in history of the world . . . can be its most destructive peacetime weapon. Are you worthy of the trust placed in you? You have been given the privilege of driving an automobile on our highways. In order to protect you . . . your life and the lives of others . . . certain traffic rules and regulations have been laid down . . . not for the other fellow, but for you . . . for everyone! Do you know them . . . do you know what you can and cannot do? If you don't know . . . and if your ignorance is responsible for your killing some one in traffic . . . then you are guilty of murder . . . Drive carefully!

Potato Marketing Agreement Offered Growers and Handlers

Potato growers of the Thumb together with the growers in the other late potato producing states may have the opportunity, about the middle of July, to vote on the continuation of a marketing agreement, as the present one expires July 31.

Commercial Michigan potato growers voted for a marketing agreement last September. As a result low grade potatoes were held out of interstate shipment giving the consumer better potatoes at a reasonable price. The agreement helped in maintaining a price to the potato growers, during the past season, which was much more satisfactory than the ruinous prices which have prevailed in some former years when the crop was not so much a surplus as the huge 1937 crop.

Hearings on the proposed marketing agreement will be held at Gaylord, June 13; Stanton, June 15; and Lapeer, June 17. Producers, handlers, and other interested people will be welcome to attend these hearings.

Michigan Mirror

A Non-Partisan State News Letter By GENE ALLEMAN Michigan Press Association

Lansing—Results of the Iowa democratic primary Monday, June 6, were being studied this week at the Michigan capital city as a possible "straw in the wind" on how the federal government's new relief spending program will affect the Michigan election in November.

In the case of the Gillette-Wearin primary row, WPA administrator Harry Hopkins announced that if he were voting in the Iowa primary he would support Representative Wearin "on his record." The record consisted principally of the fact that Gillette voted against Roosevelt's court reorganization plan, while Wearin voted for it.

Arthur Krock, Pulitzer prize-winning Washington correspondent of the Democratic New York Times, interprets Hopkins' statement as openly putting "all the relief billions into Democrat party politics," and he points out further that during the 1936 campaign "there were many evidences that relief workers were shepherded by their state politician-bosses to vote the Democratic ticket solidly."

Mr. Krock continues: "Since the administration has spent about $21,000,000,000 in various forms of relief—of which more than $14,000,000,000 has gone into non-recoverable items—and since millions of men and women look to Washington for continuation and favor on the rolls, the importance of the Hopkins' revelation is clear."

Recent WPA-relief figures for Michigan disclosed that one of every four persons is dependent today on the government. In view of this fact, it is more and more apparent that the vast federal pump priming program, spending billions through WPA and direct relief, will be no insignificant factor in Michigan's 1938 general election regardless of what party leaders may have to say.

Getting Your Share

When the federal government has billions of dollars to hand out, whether for highways, parks, swimming pools or whatnot—you can find few voters who do not insist on getting their share. The same voters may disapprove of vast public spending, as a recent Gallup survey showed, but if it is to be done, local leaders rush to Washington to make sure the home community will get its proportionate part of the cash.

The psychology is this: "If you have to contribute by taxes to spending, get as much of the money as you can."

Scores of federal postoffices have been built in Michigan, largely due to this public pressure.

Once you come to this conclusion, the next step is to favor the election, or re-election, of a representative who stands well with the White House and has a good chance of getting a slice of the pie.

More than one Republican voted for Murray D. VanWagoner, state highway commissioner, because he wanted local highway improvements and believed that "Pat" could get more federal road money than an anti-New Dealer. Vice President Garner put it this way: "You can't beat an administration with billions of dollars to spend." It looks like Jack was right.

Fry Sounds Warning

In view of the possible implications of vast federal relief spending, the recent utterances of State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry, an old-line, stalwart Democrat, are quite remarkable.

Now serving his third term Treasurer Fry warned that the WPA and PWA was tending to increase dependency upon government and that continuation of such paternalism over any length of time would inevitably result in a "millstone . . . of ever increasing taxation."

In view of the increased relief spending in Michigan, $14,500,000 of state money being expended since last July 1, Fry's declaration indicated that taxpayers might have to foot higher costs of welfare either directly in form of new or higher taxes or indirectly in form of higher commodity prices. He warned further that in England where a fourth of the population depends on a dole, citizens are taxed one-fourth of their income. How about Michigan? Draw your own conclusion.

Swing to the Right

Frank Fitzgerald, Republican candidate for governor, has indicated that economy and home-rule for relief may be his leading campaign issues, if he wins the party nomination next September.

Harry Toy, rival candidate, has been emphasizing law and order. With these statements in mind, observers here find it significant that the state administration has made definite "turns to the right," of which Fry's speech at Fremont was one. Budget Director Harold Smith, collaborating with Governor Murphy, announces he will institute so-called drastic economies for the next fiscal year, starting July 1. Department heads are warned to curtail expenditures or else run the risk of the state being unable to meet payrolls, now over $2,000,000 a month.

And to the Toy appeal for law and order, Governor Murphy told 5,000 members of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. at Saginaw that "unions must stop unauthorized strikes and the seizure of property." The reference to "property seizure" recalls the 1938 seizure of utility plants by the C. I. O. and the widespread sit-down epidemic of 1937.

Labor and Industry

Because of C. I. O.—Goodyear labor trouble at Akron, a representative of the Akron Chamber of Commerce recently told B. C. Forbe, Hearst financial writer, "it was useless to attempt to attract any new industry whatsoever to Akron."

Akron's ill fortune, however, has been the good fortune of one Michigan small city—situated far from the automobile belt—which has secured a Goodyear tire factory, employing 200 persons, and only recently received inside confirmation to double the plant facilities.

Reverse the order and you have a possible picture of what may happen in certain Michigan industrial centers.

Boy Bites Dog. Lapeer—That old typical example of what a news story is actually took place here recently. Four-year-old Jack Connors stopped at the home of Mrs. H. C. Kudner for his daily cookie. His dog, Peggy, found a baby robin on the ground in the Kudner yard and brought it to her master. When the dog refused to give up the bird, Jack bent down and bit Peggy on the forehead, whereupon the dog dropped the robin.

Must Like School. Crystal Falls—If she completes this, her senior year, without an absence or tardy mark on her record, Miss Krja Koivo will have achieved an attendance mark that has been bettered by only one or two students in the history of Crystal Falls schools. She has not missed a day nor been late for a single class since she was a student in the sixth grade.

CHAPTER XV
 For once Mrs. Edwin Dana defeated the press. The betrothal of her daughter to the son of her dearest friend was kept an absolute secret. Tenderly triumphant letters went from Danavale to Detroit and Detroit to Danavale, but the colony itself had only surmises and the public was in ignorance.

It was to be a rather long engagement—until Sarah Lynn was walking normally—and the wedding would be the simplest and quietest possible. She fed her fancy upon that. There had been enough publicity before to pollute a reticent lifetime. She shaped the notice she herself would send to the papers:
 "Miss Sarah Lynn Dana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dana of Danavale, and Mr. Duncan Van Doren of Detroit were quietly married at four o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, the seventh, at the family home on Loma Vista drive,
 with only the immediate relatives
 present. Mr. and Mrs. Van Doren sailed the following day for the Orient and after a few months of travel
 will make their home in Detroit."

The vision of it in type restored
 the years that the locusts had eaten.
 Sarah Lynn traveled to new milestones of progress and left them behind. She could sit up for half the day; she could walk about the room; she could walk about the garden; she could be taken for gentle rides in the family motor-car. On one of the first drives her mother took her to call upon Lynn Dana.
 His chair was on the lawn in the bright winter sunshine and the elderly chauffeur drove the machine close so that they might talk without Sarah Lynn's leaving the car.
 Mrs. Dana did most of the chatting. Then they went to see dear Aunt Helena where Duncan met them for tea.

Sally Ann came back but she stayed in San Francisco and came down for a day or two at a time,
 only.
 Lynn Dana had her for luncheon
 with Mary Dana Webster and Conrad Jordan.
 "What do you hear from Gun-nar?" the traveling cousin asked the flier once.
 "Nothing."
 Sally Ann stared.
 He shrugged. "He never writes, and I don't. I had a brief and very formal note of thanks after he left."
 "Then—he doesn't know about Sarah Lynn's recovery?"
 "Not from me. He clearly wanted to make a clean break. What point would there be in telling him now? She's going to marry Van Doren."

"Besides," Mary Dana Webster
 said crisply, "to rush back now when she's well, after bolting when it seemed hopeless, wouldn't be very handsome, would it?"
 Gunnar Thorwald's only defender
 was silent.
 Sally Ann said: "I'm off to New York in a week or so. I've seen Sarah Lynn, and that's what I came home for. I've seen her four times
 —and I haven't seen her at all. Dis-
 can was there, or Cousin Adelaide,
 but even if I'd had her alone I doubt if I could have punctured that
 —that cellophane calm which covers her!"
 The aviator said, "Why try?"
 "Yes, why?" the man in the wheeled-chair wanted to know.
 "Good Lord, Sally Ann, if she has achieved peace—if she's happy—"
 "Peace?"
 "Happy?" The two women scorned him hotly. "She's like a sleep-walker," Mary said. "She's deliberately doped herself with Duncan and Detroit; that's my analysis.
 She has simply ceased to matter to herself; she simply doesn't count—
 and she doesn't care—and it's too hideously cruel and I could howl my head off!" She wiped away angry tears.

Jens, the valet, came upstairs at his slow and lumbering tread. Miss Pennington was calling, and it was very, very important, and she must see Mr. Dana immediately.
 "Send her up, of course, Jens," Lynn Dana said, but she passed the man-servant in the doorway.
 Her cheeks were pale and she was out of breath. "Oh, Mr. Dana,
 I found him on the drive—coming to the house—I made him come here
 first—I made him—he doesn't know—"
 There was the sound of someone taking the stairs in bounds and suddenly the little old Hank Dana house was full of drama and confusion
 and alarm and Gunnar Thorwald
 was among them.
 He didn't seem real. He didn't seem to be a living person, but a presence which they had conjured
 up out of their grief and rebellion.
 He was utterly white and his eyes were bluer by contrast, and he was thin and gaunt. He looked older and he seemed taller, so tall that he towered over them, and his harsh and urgent youth made them seem soft and safe and middle-aged.

 He made no amenities of greeting. "I have come for Sarah Lynn,"
 he said simply. "Twelve days I have been coming to her; I can no longer wait." He made a slight gesture toward the governess who had delayed him. "I will take her with me. Or—if the doctors do not allow—I stay beside her until she can go." The small sentences came out roughly, hammered into crude shape on an anvil of strong feeling.
 "I should not have gone; she turned from me, she sent me away, but it was the pain, the drug. Now I know. I flew away, but—" he groped for words—"but I did not leave her;
 always she was with me, land, sea,
 air, in my work, eating, sleeping.
 To forget was my wish. It is finished, I said, but it was not finished. So, now, I come again. If she says, 'Never fly,' then I do not fly. I take her or I stay beside her."
 He stopped talking and turned toward the door. "Now I go to her."
 Conrad Jordan was on his feet.
 "Stop, Gunnar! Wait! You don't understand—"
 The tall youth nodded. "I understand. She will shrink from me still?" His face worked. "At first, maybe. No matter. I go to her."

 The older flier said desperately,
 "Gunnar, I must tell you—"
 He gave a muffled cry. "She lives!"
 "Yes, but she"—he laid a hand
 on Gunnar's arm but he shook it off, striding toward the door.
 It was Mary Dana Webster who blocked his way.
 "Gunnar—wait! I've got to tell you—you've got to take it. Sarah Lynn is well again. She's been walking for weeks, now, and she won't even be lame. But—" she cut through his shout of joy—"Gun-nar, listen to me! She's going to marry Duncan Van Doren next week."
 Gim Jung, the cat-footed Chinese second-boy, came padding up the stairs to tell Mrs. Dana that a lady was calling, and she went down to find Ardine standing in the hall.
 The serene sunniness of her face clouded over a trifle. Ardine had never come to see Sarah Lynn in all her long imprisonment, although expensive flowers had arrived at the hospital with the card of Mr.
 and Mrs. Keaton Dana.
 Ardine did not even return the thinly gracious greeting. "I thought you'd like to know," she said. "Gun-nar Thorwald is back." She was out of breath with hurrying, and her hot-looking hands with their crimson nails were trembling.
 "Here?"
 "Here. I saw him, just now, going into Lynn Dana's house." Mrs. Dana drew herself up with the ancient gesture of a lady putting an upstart in her place. She was milk-white. "Thank you. I—I appreciate your thoughtfulness, not,
 of course, that it could make any difference now, but—"
 Ardine lifted one full shoulder in a languid shrug. "All right. I just thought you'd like to know." She let herself out of the front door.
 Mrs. Dana stood still in her handsome hall, clenched hands pressed to her jaw-bones for long moments.
 She went to her own room and rubbed her pale cheeks with a rough towel and pinched them and went back to Sarah Lynn and Duncan,
 who were playing chess.
 He smiled up at her ruefully.
 "Your daughter is about to checkmate me!"
 "Oh, no!" Mrs. Dana said sharply. "See if I care!" Duncan said ardently. "When I remember that this time next week we'll be 'way out on the Pacific; that's Wednesday, and this is Saturday, today, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday—" he counted off the days on his slender fingers.
 "And everything finished and ready now!" Mrs. Dana said with an odd laugh. "You could—you could be married tomorrow—or this evening!"
 "That's an idea!" Duncan agreed fondly. "Why not?"
 Sarah Lynn said, "Your family won't be here until Monday." She waited for Duncan to move.
 "Of course!" her mother said.
 "We couldn't disappoint them. But if you should want a romantic elopement—Everything's ready, even to the license!"

 Duncan deliberated with his knight. "Not our line, is it, Sarah Lynn? Old and settled and se-date—" he moved the piece.
 Sarah Lynn's hand hovered over the board, hesitated, came to rest on the table's edge. She spoke in a voice they had not heard for a long time. "Duncan, are you very sure?
 I mean, are you satisfied?"
 "Of course I am," he said quickly. "Your play!"
 "I haven't tricked you, have I?"
 she went on. "You said you'd be content with half a loaf, but sometimes I think it's just a few crumbs."
 Duncan. She looked at him steady-ly. Sally Ann would have seen a crack in the cellophane. "Are you sure?"
 He gave her hand a pat. "I'm sure you're going to beat me in a minute!"
 After a pause Sarah Lynn made her move. "Check!" she said in her usual voice.
 Her mother went to her own room
 and talked agitatedly over the telephone to Aunt Helena. The family seeress was startled but she pulled her serenity over her head like a sweater. Dear Adelaide was to lie down at once without a pillow, with an iced towel over her eyes, and relax, drawing long rhythmic breaths. There was not the slightest cause for alarm. The intruder would hear from Lynn Dana of Sarah Lynn's impending marriage and he would go again.
 To be continued.

Origin of Pack of Cards
 Playing cards originated in Hin-dustan, early in the Seventh century. It was not until 1392—100 years before America was discovered—that a Frenchman, Jacques Gungoneur, designed a deck of cards similar to those in use today.
 He fixed 52 as the number of cards, one for each week of the year. He put on 365 spots, one for each day in the year. He used 13 cards to the suit, one for each lunar month
 of the year and four suits, each suit representing one of the four classes of society of that day. The suits were pique (pike) signifying soldiers
 —treffe (clover) was the emblem
 of agriculture—carreaux (diamond)
 representing the diamond-shaped tile used by artisans —couer (heart) which was originally used to identify the clergy.

Mrs. McDonald Celebrated Her 80th Birthday on Sunday

Near the town of Berlin, Ont., there was born June 7, 1858, to Mr. and Mrs. John Mall, a daughter whom they named Josephine. When but a child she helped her father who was a weaver and cooper by trade, weave cloth, making the spools. Her education consisted of six weeks of schooling as children at that time were not compelled to go to school and an education was not thought necessary.

She was married in Canada on

MRS. JOSEPHINE McDONALD.

October 9, 1878, at twenty years of age to James McDonald and they with their family of three children landed in the Thumb of Michigan March 21, 1884, and purchased and settled on a forty-acre farm east and south of Gagetown. The highway past their farm at that time, says Mrs. McDonald, was only a wagon trail with high brush and trees on the roadside, making it almost impossible for the wagons to pass one another. There was no road on the east side of the farm as there is now. The family lived on this farm for three years and then moved to the stone quarry near Bay Port where the husband secured employment at his trade of blacksmith. They resided at the quarry for three and one-half years when Mrs. McDonald together with her family moved back to their farm, Mr. McDonald joining them later.

When six years had elapsed, they ventured in wider fields and bought the forty acres adjoining their forty and moved to this newly acquired property. On August 30, 1905, this house and contents burned but soon a new brick house was built on this site. In the meantime the family lived in an old house which formerly was used as a tool shed. Her husband, who was ill at that time, and her son, who suffered a paralytic stroke, passed away within thirty-six hours of each other, on January 12 and 13, 1906, shortly after they moved in the new house. Funeral services for father and son were held on the same day.

Mrs. McDonald lived on this farm twelve years when she and her sons purchased the eighty acres across the road. This farm was formerly known as the Poppleton farm, to where they moved. She and her two sons lived on this farm six years. Mrs. McDonald and son, Lawrence, then moved to Gagetown, having sold the last acquired property to Francis McDonald, her son.

Mrs. McDonald's hobbies are gardening and piecing quilts. Mrs. McDonald still has remarkable eyesight and she has pieced eight quilts this last winter and spring and helped make seventeen quilts.

Her family consisted of nine children, Mary, Edward, Lawrence, Gertrude, Anna, John, Florence, Francis and Mary. The father, one daughter and three sons have passed to their eternal reward.

Mrs. McDonald was entertained Sunday at a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hall in Imlay City. Tuesday, her sisters went to her home with baskets of eats and enjoyed a six o'clock dinner. Cards were played during the evening.

COMING AUCTION.

LARGEST CLASS IN HISTORY OF SCHOOL AWARDED DIPLOMAS

Concluded from first page. The school, stimulated much laughter from the entire audience.

Musical talent was exhibited in a vocal duet by Phyllis Kefgen and Martha McCoy, accompanied by Mrs. J. I. Niergarth, and a piano solo by Laverne Douglass.

During the evening a book stand containing twenty-five dictionaries occupied a prominent place on the stage. Toward the end of the program Harmon Smith presented the books to Supt. J. Ivan Niergarth as the memorial gift from the 1938 class to the school. In remarks accepting the gift, Mr. Niergarth said this was one of the most practical gifts given to the school.

The first part of the evening's program was the part usually included in Class Night exercises. The latter division was the final climax of the entire commencement activities—the distribution of diplomas and honors. Scholarship medals were awarded by Principal Willis Campbell to the thirteen honor students in the class. Then Supt. J. Ivan Niergarth presented each graduate with a high school diploma in a red leather book-cover.

Edith Powell closed the program with the student benediction, and seventy-five more Cass City graduates passed from high school ranks to the alumni.

Fiery Crosses Drive Gypsies from Thumb

From Detroit Free Press. Fiery crosses in the midst of Gypsy camps in Lapeer and Tuscola Counties Monday night and early Tuesday gave warning that militant residents of Otter Lake want no visits from the nomads this summer. The terrorized Gypsy band asked protection from State Police and sheriffs of three counties.

According to Sergt. Bruce McGlone, of the State Police, the Gypsies hastily broke camp at Otter Lake after a group of men and boys had lighted a cross near their camping grounds. The wanderers fled from Lapeer County into Tuscola County, stopping at Millington, when one of their cars ran out of gasoline.

A crowd of "young gaffers" from Otter Lake followed them, Sergt. McGlone said, and ignited another cross at the Millington camping ground. Again the Gypsies broke camp, abandoned the fuelless car and dashed across the line into Genesee County, stopping at Davison.

From Davison they called Flint State Police, Tuscola County Sheriff George Jeffrey, Lapeer Sheriff George Carrigan and the Genesee Sheriff's Department in Flint. State Police went to the rescue.

With a police escort the nomads went back to Millington for their abandoned car. Upon returning to Davison, Genesee County deputies took charge and escorted them to the Oakland County line. From there they headed south, the Gypsy leading promising that "we won't stop until we get clear out of the state."
