Mrs. Ball Honored on Eightieth Birthday

A party was given Sunday in honor of Mrs. Arminda Ball of Cass City honoring her eightieth birthday which takes place the thirty-first of August. The event was celebrated at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Reid.

A bountiful potluck lunch was served at noon. The centerpiece was a birthday cake adorned with eighty white candles.

Mrs. Ball was one of the early settlers of this community. She came to Cass City, the bride of the late John A. Ball. They made their first home in a log cabin on a farm in Greenleaf township on the Tuscola-Sanilac County line. They remained there and later built a new house which still stands on the property.

She has five daughters, Mrs. Turn to page 8, please.

To Be Charged with Negligent Homicide

When cars driven by John McVicar of Port Huron and Carl Schrader of Reese met in a head-on collision two miles west of Vassar on M-24 on Sunday night, August 7, Henry Bielert, 58, riding with Schrader, was seriously injured. Mr. Bielert died Tuesday morning, August 30, in a Saginaw hospital.

Schrader was arrested shortly after the accident on a charge of driving while drunk. Justice McPherson sent him to the county jail for 30 days and assessed a $50 fine and $10.35 costs. If fine and costs were not paid another 60 days were to be added to the jail sentence.

Since the death of Mr. Bielert, officers say Schrader will be brought to trial on a charge of negligent homicide.

Practical House without Unnecessary Frills Is Found in New Seeger Street Residence

A practical house without unnecessary frills is the Mrs. Clara Folkert residence being built on North Seeger Street. It is a good example of the charm that plain lines lend to a snug and comfortable five-room house with bath.

One approaches the front porch by a winding walk and enters the living room, very pleasant, of good size with plenty of wall space. A bay window to the south and two west windows afford abundance of light and ventilation.

The dining room, a bright cheerful room, is entered from the sitting room through a large archway. It has two east windows and a door leads to the kitchen, on the south.

A smaller cased opening takes one from the sitting room north to a hall leading to the bedrooms and bath. A cloak room is off this hall.

The two corner bedrooms, with bath between, are on the north side

New School Bus Route Established

A permanent school bus route has been established which will bring grade and high school students from territory between Colwood and Cass City. It runs nine miles west of Cass City and one mile north to Colwood, then three east, ½ north, one east, one and a half south, one east, two north, one east, one south, ¼ east and retrace, one south, one west, one south, two and a quarter east, retrace ¾ mile, then one north, and two and a half east to Cass City.

Wm. Martus is the contractor on this line. If enough students desire a route established in the Greenleaf territory, one will be started shortly after school commences here.

Wm. Martus has purchased two school busses from Joseph Knepper and with one goes the contract to bring pupils of the Paul School district to Cass City. Mr. Knepper retains the bus route which brings pupils from the Shabbona community to the high school here.

Peck Man Gets 1 to 10-Year Sentence

Vandall Nemeth Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Larceny from the Person.

Vandall Nemeth, 44, of Peck pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny from the person in the Tuscola Circuit Court Monday and was sentenced to spend from one to 10 years in the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, by Judge L. C. Cramton.

Nemeth accompanied an acquaintance, Andy Gaul, 72, on a trip on Aug. 20, and when Gaul returned home 1½ miles north of Colwood, he discovered he was short his zipper pocketbook which contained $21 and his citizenship papers. Sheriff Jeffrey located and arrested Nemeth in Saginaw the next Monday. A week later he received his sentence in circuit court.

Frank Flores pleaded guilty to the charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile. Judge Cramton, on Monday, remanded Flores to the custody of the sheriff to await sentence.

Burglars Take Road Contractor's Tires

Burglars entered a warehouse at the gravel pit between Tuscola and Vassar Monday night and made way with seven truck wheels and tires and a Ford battery belonging to E. B. Schwaderer, local road contractor.

The tires had apparently been taken before a rain and rolled down the road and then a car came along after the rain and the stolen articles were loaded and taken away. Officers are investigating.

Another Landmark Torn Down This Week

When J. E. Seed sold the small barn on Oak Street, at the rear of his Seeger Street residence, another landmark was eliminated from the streets of Cass City. Alfred Ekstrom of Route 4, Caro, the purchaser, hauled the last load of lumber away Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Ekstrom, for many years a building wrecker, says there was some exceptionally fine white pine in the structure.

Mrs. Seed says the barn formerly was located on Downing Street, just north of the Audley Kinnaird residence, and in that spot 52 years ago, a family by the name of Jeffery was engaged in weaving carpets in that building.

The building was purchased by Hugh Seed and moved to its Oak Street location, about a block south of the high school building, 35 years ago.

Marihuana Found Growing in Wells

Sheriff George Jeffrey drove into Cass City Wednesday afternoon with the back of his automobile heavily laden with marihuana, the dangerous drug weed which is smoked in cigarettes and which leads many young people on paths of degradation who use the weed.

The crop had been discovered on the farm cultivated by a foreign-born inhabitant of Wells Township. He was warned by the officer to discontinue the practice of cultivating the weed or else he would find himself in serious trouble.

Samples of the weed were distributed to many interested and others were left at the school building.

Police officers over the state are doing what they can in a campaign to stamp out the weed in Michigan.

Flower Show Had Beautiful Exhibits

More Interest Shown and More Entries Than in the Previous Events.

The committee in charge of the flower show sponsored by the Woman's Study Club was much pleased with the success of the affair. More interest was shown this year than in the exhibit last year in that the attendance was much better, a larger number of entries were made and greater care was taken in arrangement.

The show had pleasant and convenient quarters at the Baker Electric Shop. The front windows were very pretty with a bird bath, from which nodded white water lilies in one window and the prizes tastefully displayed in the other.

The following is a list of the prize winners:

Best arrangement in basket—1st, Mrs. Albert Creguer; 2nd, Mrs. Delbert Profit.

100 Partridges Set Free at Fairgrove

First distribution of Hungarian partridges from the state game farm since last spring was made last month and totalled 300 birds.

Two hundred "Hunkies" were released in Saginaw County near Frankenmuth and 100 were set free in Fairgrove Township, Tuscola County. A number of birds were released last March and February.

With about 250 pairs of breeders on the farm, more "hunky" eggs were laid at the game farm last spring than at any previous time since the department of conservation undertook propagation of this bird. The 1938 egg production totalled more than 8,500 compared to about 3,000 in 1937.

Records of the number of eggs laid by each hen at the farm are maintained to show which are the most productive. Those which lay the most eggs are generally retained at the farm for breeding while the others are removed for release at various points in the state. As a rule the practice is to keep the younger birds as farm stock and use the older ones for distribution.

Dr. Phelps Reviewed Books He Enjoyed in His Annual Lecture at Pointe Aux Barques

Dr. William Lyon Phelps, professor emeritus of English literature at Yale University, described "Dawn in Lyonesse," by Mary Ellen Chase, as "the finest American novel of the year," in his annual book lecture Sunday night at Pointe Aux Barques, given for the benefit of Hubbard Memorial Hospital of Bad Axe.

"The books, 'The Prodigal Parents,' by Sinclair Lewis, 'This Proud Heart,' by Pearl Buck, 'Action at Aquila,' by Hervey Allen, and 'Nobody's in Town,' by Edna Ferber, had a chilly reception from critics and the public," Dr. Phelps said. "These authors are recognized members of the first rank of living American novelists, but their latest books were not successful."

"I, myself—while I do not think these books equal the preceding best works of the authors—enjoyed reading them and regard them as important. Therefore, I have included them in my list of books I enjoyed reading."

Chronicle Invites Women to See "Star in My Kitchen"

Cooking School in Motion Picture Provides Instruction and Entertainment.

The Chronicle has just been successful in securing the new motion picture cooking school, "Star in My Kitchen," which will be presented at the Cass Theatre on September 16 and 17.

Mark the days on your calendar because every woman—and man—in the community is hereby extended a cordial invitation to see, absolutely free, this fascinating picture which weaves helpful, intelligent lessons on cooking and home-making into a humorous and romantic plot.

The motion picture cooking school is a brand new idea. First conceived last year, it has met with acclaim from women throughout the country, who like the happy combination of sparkling entertainment and close-up cooking instruction. Seats in the back row are as good as those in the front row—the motion picture permits everyone to hear and see every trick in frosting a cake, making a pie, or cooking bananas.

"Star in My Kitchen" was produced in Hollywood, and the audience may recognize many of the rising young actors and actresses who take part in it. Women young and old will appreciate the humaneness of the romantic story, in which home problems are approached from an entirely new angle.

The motion picture school has graduated beyond the demonstration course in the wide variety of household equipment assembled in clear view of the audience. All of the practical equipment is seen in Turn to page 5, please.

Fred Maier and Miss Cooley Marry

A marriage of interest to many folks of this community was consummated in Fayette, Ohio, on Monday, August 29, when Miss Fern N. Cooley and Frederick W. Maier were wed by Rev. Mr. Rainsberger in the M. E. parsonage. They were unattended.

The bride was attired in a traveling suit of heavenly blue wool with hat to match, pure white lace blouse, and black suede shoes and purse.

The wedding trip included a visit to Notre Dame University at South Bend, Indiana, and at Elkhart, South Bend and Michigan City, Indiana, and up shore to Grand Vista and Grand Haven, then to Grand Rapids and Lansing.

Mr. Maier has been associated 32 years with the Cass City Meat Market, 14 years of which he has been a partner with Harry Young under the name of Young & Maier.

Mr. and Mrs. Maier are planning to build a residence this fall on East Third Street, just west of the residence of Mr. Maier's mother.

KROGERS ENLARGE SALES ROOM, CHANGE INTERIOR

To provide more room for customers to do their shopping, Krogers have moved the partition which divides the store from the stock room, thereby lengthening their salesroom by adding nine feet to that department. This provides for more shelving and another counter and more space for customers to transact their business.

Built over 800 years ago, shortly after Norway had become a Christian land, this church and many others of that period were decorated with elaborate wood carving in which dragons were a dominating motif.

Michigan Mirror

State News Letter

Association

Lansing—In face of Governor Murphy's demand for economy, the state payroll was higher for July.

In 18 months it has jumped $9,420,285, as compared with a $4,530,000 payroll increase during the Fitzgerald administration and a $2,631,000 wage boost during the Comstock regime.

Now, at a time when the Murphy administration deficit may reach the $13,800,000 mark (August 1 estimate), the Civil Service commission is asked to increase the minimum pay of state employees from $80 to $100, the latter being C. I. O. demand. Commission employees receive $80 to $160 a month, while pay for technical, professional and executive work begins at $150 a month and rises to $500.

Furthermore, the civil service pay scale for skilled tradesmen is $28 to $30 under union wage rates. The rub is this: State pay is regular while union tradesmen, paid by the hour, are subject to irregular work.

State Finances

According to Harold D. Smith, state budget director, Michigan is in a much more favorable financial position than most of the other states.

Michigan operates on a "pay as you go" policy, its bonded debt being insignificant.

Thirty-five of the 48 states have a per capita debt greater than that of Michigan which is $4.43. The average for all states is $17.83. For example, New York's is $41.55; Illinois, $25.69; California, $18.20; and Pennsylvania, $11.80.

Including bonded indebtedness in the basis of comparison, Budget Director Smith says that Michigan is one of 21 states which have decreased their debts in the last seven years, while 25 other states were increasing theirs.

California's general fund deficit in 1937 was $7,500,000, but the state had $44,000,000 in relief bonds outstanding. Michigan has issued no relief bonds, "paying as we go." Our entire bonded indebtedness in 1937 was $26,274,000.

As a non-partisan state news commentator, we present the above facts for what they are worth.

Crop Outlook Bright

Diversified Michigan agriculture is producing good crops this year. In fact, the composite index for 16 leading crops as of August 1 was 79.9, the third highest for any August in ten years although below that for 1937.

The wheat crop estimate is 19,827,000 bushels, the largest since 1919. A harvest of corn averaging 36 bushels to the acre is estimated with a total yield of 57,240,000 bushels as compared with 55,650,000 bushels in 1937.

A potato crop of 29,904,000 bushels is estimated, while the beet sugar yield of 1,102,000 tons would be double that of last year.

The fruit harvests, however, are considerably below those of 1937. Only peaches will yield a larger crop, it is announced by Verne H. Church, senior agricultural statistician.

Gasoline Price Fixing

When gasoline dealers cut prices, motorists benefit in reduced costs. Gasoline taxes and motor vehicle registration fees amounted to $51,510,000 in Michigan last year. You can't blame automobile owners for wanting to get gasoline at lower prices.

Last year the legislature was induced to enact a "fair trade" statute, lobbied for by the Retail Gasoline Dealers' Association, a state group formed for the specific purpose of increasing dealer profits through curtailment of competition. Ballots are now being sent out by the association to determine the average operating costs of a gasoline station.

The poll is said to presage attempts to peg the minimum price of gasoline at 17.6 cents a gallon, just a cent higher than prevailing prices in Detroit. In 1936 Michigan service stations sold within 5,000 of one billion gallons.

Translated into money, the one cent price hike would mean a mere ten million dollars—believe it or not!

Dairy Profits

Price-pegging of milk will be sought from the 1939 state legislature.

This movement is indicated by the warm reception given by dairy farmers to political denunciation of present low milk prices at wholesale.

In New York state the firm of Ernst & Ernst, public accountants, was hired by farmers and dealers to find out what became of the consumers' milk dollar. Here are the results: 44 cents to farmer; 26 cents to labor; 11 cents for rent and repairs; nine cents for bottles, cases and hauling; two cents for power, light and heat; less than one-half cent for official salaries, and less than three cents for profit. The average profit per quart of milk during 1937 was one-eighth of a cent.

In California a decline in milk consumption (7% nationally) was averted by a three-month campaign of newspaper advertising. The California Retail Grocers' Association reports that sales remained normal. So did milk prices.

The mirage of political control, however, is veryuring. But even a legislature can't regulate the old law of supply and demand.

Found Indians in Venezuela

The Venezuelan coast was first sighted by Columbus on August 1, 1498, on his third voyage, and was successively explored by Alonso de Ojeda, Alonso Nino, Amerigo Vespucci and others. The country at that time was inhabited by about 150 tribes of Indians, speaking 11 different languages and 150 dialects, among which the Caribs and Teques were the most warlike. They succeeded for many years in preventing the permanent settlement of the country. It was here that the Spaniards encountered more resistance from the aborigines than anywhere else in America.

Two King Pins of Labor Day

While the community and nation call a halt in business and industry for Labor day, labor forces themselves watch the two leaders of "enemy" camps, William Green (left), head of the American Federation of Labor, and John Lewis, president of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Another week-end holiday is before us. Labor Day brings thousands and thousands of vacationists to our vacation-lands and adds to the number of cars on the highways.

Recently a newspaper editor published a warning on the front page of his paper prior to one of these week-end holidays. It announced that any automobile driver who intended to violate all the rules of the road during these crowded days, who was going to pass cars on hills, go through stoplights, and drive recklessly, should leave a complete obituary with the editors so reporters would not have to bother relatives after the smashup. Very timely, quite forceful, and effective.

We endorse this recommendation.

He came last Thursday, surprising his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Striffler, at Cass City and expects to remain over the Labor Day holiday.

DAM TO ERASE OLD TOWN OF BOOM DAYS

Pioneer South Dakota Settlement Is Doomed.

SHERIDAN, S. D. — Sixty-one years ago Judge Granville G. Bennett tossed his saddlebags on the floor of a log cabin here, peered around the room, and told the assembled frontiersmen that the first district court in the Black Hills was convened.

Next year, though, Judge Bennett's courtroom will be under 20 feet of water—and so will the rest of Sheridan.

Once it was the county seat of Pennington county; once it was the location of the United States land office; once it was the headquarters for South Dakota miners; and once it was the town where men came simply to spend money. It was a true boom town.

But now the Rapid City-Hill City Izaak Walton league and the Harney national forest have made all necessary arrangements, and Sheridan is going to be flooded.

A dam site to flood the entire valley has been located in the national forest. The forest service will build the dam. Arrangements are being made to buy the land which will be flooded, and more than 150 acres have already been purchased. Options have been obtained on the majority of the unpurchased land.

The lake created by the dam will fill the entire valley covering nearly 400 acres to an average depth of 60 feet. It will be filled by Spring creek, Horse creek and other small streams, draining a territory of 150 square miles.

The Izaak Walton league plans to develop a resort around the lake. Present plans call for construction of a lodge, leasing summer home sites, and installing facilities for all kinds of water sports.

Tin-Can Mail for Isle During Hurricane Season

LONDON. — The strangest postman in the world is in London on a holiday. He is Charles Stuart Ramsay, manager of the trading station at Niuva Fo'ou, rocky South Sea island.

During six months of every year in the hurricane season, Niuva with its population of 1,200 natives and three whites is cut off from the outside world, as no ship can approach its rocky slopes. Eleven years ago, Ramsay, an excellent swimmer, arranged that a monthly tourist steamer plying between New Zealand and Fiji stop long enough at the island to drop mail overboard sealed in a tin can and receive another can from the shore. So every month Ramsay, with two native companions, swam out to the ship through hurricane seas, carrying the outgoing mail tied to sticks of bamboo, deposited it in a bucket dangling from the ship's side and returned with the precious tin can of mail for the islanders.

Youngster Claims to Have Made Artificial Radium

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—If sixteen year-old Wallace L. Minto Jr. has what he claims to have science soon will be worshipping at his feet much as it has bowed down to Mme. Curie. For Minto claims to be able to produce artificial radium from cheap ore at a cost of about one-hundredth the genuine product.

How he does it is a highly technical story, but production of his artificial radium is based on discovery of four new elements he claims to have discovered.

That his claims are being given serious consideration is indicated by the fact that he has been invited to address the Eastern Electronic Research association and to demonstrate his experiments.

Queen Elizabeth Banned 'Must'

So proud and imperious was the old Queen Elizabeth of England that even when dying, as her physician tells her she must go to bed, she rebukes him with, "Little man! Little man! The word 'must' is not used to kings."

Great Nose Indicates Great Man

A great nose indicates a great man—genial, courteous, intellectual, virile, courageous, is a quotation from Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac."

BONES OF "MISSING LINK" DISCOVERED

Anthropologist Believes He Has Real Thing.

JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA.—The right upper jaw of a primeval man, believed to constitute the "missing link" between the ape and man, has been found by Dr. Robert Broom, famous British anthropologist, in the Sterkfontein caves near Krugersdorp, Transvaal. "We have the rather startling fact revealed," Doctor Broom said, "that the canine tooth is enlarged as in the chimpanzee or gorilla and is typically human. It is even smaller than in most human skulls."

"Further, there is no gap between the incisor and the canine so that the teeth form a continuous series as in man."

In 1936 Doctor Broom found in the Sterkfontein caves the greater part of an adult skull, without mandibles. This discovery, he called Australopithecus Transvaalensis.

At that time Doctor Broom already had the greater part of the braincase of the top of the skull, with the frontal ridges and bones, and the nearly complete upper jaw of the right side. Later he discovered the upper left jawbone well preserved, with the first and second molars and the sockets of the incisor and canine. Later Doctor Broom discovered the lower wisdom tooth, the upper wisdom tooth, much of the upper first incisor and the badly worn wisdom tooth of an old individual.

Now he has been successful in finding a good right upper jaw with the incisor, canine, a premolar and a molar.

Sun Spots' Cooling Power Found Best Refrigerator

MINNEAPOLIS.—Sun spots are the best refrigerator known to man, and they work on the same principle as man-made refrigerators, according to Prof. John W. Evans, acting chairman of the University of Minnesota astronomy department. He explained that "the heated gas expands and cools the atmosphere. While the temperature of the sun is 10,800 degrees Fahrenheit, the center of this whirlpool is only 7,200 degrees. The sun spot could make an object taken from the sun's atmosphere 3,600 degrees cooler."

Magnetic storms seem to correlate closely with the appearance of sun spots, he said. The aurora borealis also apparently is correlated with sun spots crossing the sun. Experiments at the University of Arizona have proved that trees grow better at a maximum period of the sun spots, he said.

"Although the sun spots appear black," he said, "if all light from the sun were shut off, they would be too bright to look at. If an observer from another planet saw our tornadoes they would appear similar to the sun spots, which travel at a rate of 150 miles a second."

Glass Springs Are Used in Scales for Accuracy

SCHENECTADY. — Scales with springs of spun glass are used in General Electric company laboratories to record changes in the weight of materials under varying atmospheric conditions.

The springs, tiny threads spun from fused quartz and shaped into coils, indicate differences as minute as 1-28,000th of an ounce.

Quartz was chosen for the super-sensitive weighing apparatus because it does not corrode or lose temper when subjected to moisture or high temperatures.

Filaments for the springs are drawn from fused quartz rods heated to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The threads, about 6-1,000th of an inch in diameter, are reheated and then wound into coils about one inch long, with 50 to 80 turns to the inch.

Measuring moisture absorption of fibers is one of the uses of the springs. This feat is accomplished by saturating the fiber with water vapor, and then weighing the fiber in a vacuum. The water absorbed is noted in the stretch of the spring.

Dentists Find Courage Lacking Only in Men

TULSA, OKLA.—Delegates to the Oklahoma Dental society said they were ashamed to admit it, but a woman patient is more courageous than a man. "When a woman makes up her mind to go to the dentist she goes through with it," said Dr. J. J. Wells, of Shawnee, Okla. "But the men—why, they get inside the office, or even in the chair, and suddenly remember a previous engagement."

Wells recalled an experience in his school work in Chicago. He was a member of a class watching some dental work done and the patient was a husky soldier. The soldier sat up in the chair and wiped his brow. "Boys," he gasped. "I must 'phone my wife!"

Boston Lowers Red Flag as Quarantine Emblem

BOSTON.—A 237-year-old law requiring red flags to be placed near the home of persons with infectious diseases has been removed from Massachusetts statute books.

A new law permits municipal officials to "give the public notice of infected places by such means as in their judgment may be the most effectual for the common safety."

CHRONICLE INVITES WOMEN TO SEE "STAR IN MY KITCHEN"

Concluded from first page. active use, and because "seeing is believing," the audience will soon learn that pies and cakes and salads can make them "stars in their kitchens."

Experienced housekeepers will thrill to the adventures of the young Dedee Abot, who suddenly finds herself with a large home to manage and several mouths to feed—as well as a handsome young movie actor to impress.

What happens when she tries to make a fluffy lemon meringue pie or a marshmallow chocolate cake? What happens when the "man of the hour" drops in for dinner?

To unravel the mystery in advance would be to rob this clever tale of its novel approach. However, the audience is due to share in a rollicking good story and to learn much about home-making at the same time.

Every listener will find a harvest of practical ideas among the suggestions for more efficient home-making, covering such daily problems as laundry, refrigeration, up-to-date entertaining, beauty secrets, news of modernized home equipment and tips on making these mechanical servants yield the highest degree of usefulness.

It will be a real cooking class, just as though the model kitchens were right on the stage, and all of the popular features of the old-type cooking school are retained: Free recipe sheets, the atmosphere of congenial informality, the wise counsel, the hints on clever shortcuts, and the distribution of daily gifts and real surprises.

Accept the invitation of the Chronicle and plan to join your neighbors in the Cass Theatre on September 16 and 17.

"Passing the Buck"

The expression "passing the buck" means shifting responsibility and originated in the card room. In various card games a counter or marker is placed on the table before one of the players to remind him of his turn to deal. The marker, which is to prevent mistakes as to the position of the deal, is called the "buck" and is passed from one player to another as the turn to deal goes around.

Early Machine Manufacturers

The first successful sewing machine manufacturer was Isaac Merritt Singer of Boston, Mass., in 1851. The first sewing machine patent was probably No. 2466, granted to John J. Greenough on February 21, 1842.

FARM TOPICS

SHOULD CHECK ON GROWTH OF CHICKS

Flocks May Be Developing Too Slow, Too Fast.

By Dr. W. C. Thompson, Poultry Husbandman, New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, WNU Service.

It is a part of good business management for the poultry producer to know whether his chick flocks are growing at about the rate which should be expected of average, well bred, healthy chicks.

It may be that the rate of growth being shown by a given lot of chicks is not up to par, or it may be that they are growing faster than experience has indicated as being optimum. Chick growers, therefore, should have some sort of standard so that the development of chicks during the growing season may be measured.

This does not mean that it is necessary for the poultryman to weigh all of the chicks every week or two. He may obtain a good average by weighing any ten chicks caught at random at each weighing time. Average White Leghorn pullet chicks should weigh 39 pounds per 100 at the end of the first month; 68 pounds at the end of the sixth week; 109 pounds at the end of the eighth week; 171 at the end of the twelfth week; 240 at the end of 16 weeks, and about 338 pounds per 100 pullets at the end of 24 weeks. The seven corresponding weights for heavy breed pullets, such as Rhode Island Reds, New Hampshires or Barred Plymouth Rocks, are 18, 43, 83, 130, 213, 304, and 427 pounds per 100 birds.

These weight standards can be copied on a card and nailed on the feed room door or kept in another convenient place for comparison with average weights of this year's pullet flocks determined from time to time. One need not worry if pullet flocks are running at just about the level of these standards, or somewhat heavier, but if they are running at considerably under these standards, inquiry should be made as to the probable cause. Experience teaches that unless pullets develop at approximately these rates, they cannot reasonably be expected to reach egg-laying maturity at the normal time and be in condition to continue through a long year of normal egg yield.

Next year's pullet layers are in the making in this spring's chick flocks and this summer's growing pullets. It is important to keep an eagle eye on their rate of growth and make sure that it does not depart too far from normal expectancy.

Many Soybean Varieties Needed for Varied Uses

Breeding to improve the soybean is only beginning, but the chances are bright, says W. J. Morse of the United States Department of Agriculture. New varieties are needed, even though the department and the states have already imported more than 10,000 lots of seed.

Soybeans are particular in their local requirements, are more variable than many plants, and are grown for a variety of purposes. A good forage bean may not be a good milling bean, or be useful as a vegetable.

Some growers want soybeans for forage; others for oil and meal processing; still others as vegetables. The result is that each local area in the soybean regions needs a soybean variety that will do well in that particular place and for a definite purpose. Such an area may even need two or three varieties—one for forage, one for high oil or protein content for the mills, and a third for the table.

The soybean is a self-fertilized plant. Artificial crossing is difficult and tedious, but it can be done.

In the Feed Lot

Train beans to a pole or a fence for maximum yield.

There are 19 million acres of land under irrigation in the West.

Hens of all ages should be carefully culled until September 1.

Chickens take dust baths to rid themselves of bird-lice.

A correctly adjusted plow does better work, saves time and pulls easier.

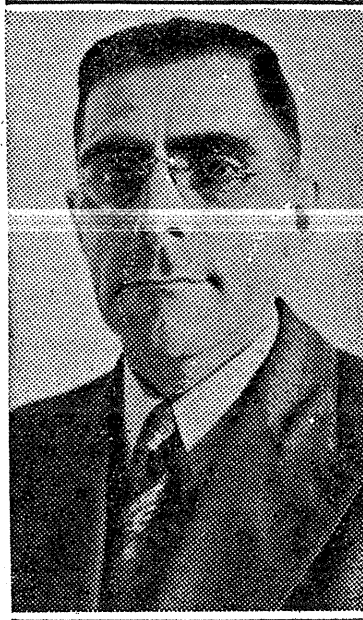

Eggs are an important source of iron. They also contain calcium, sulphur, and phosphorus in goodly amounts.

Eggs at room temperature beat more quickly and to a greater volume than do eggs beaten when taken from the refrigerator.

For fence posts, black locust is the tree to plant, but other kinds are white cedar, European or Japanese larch.

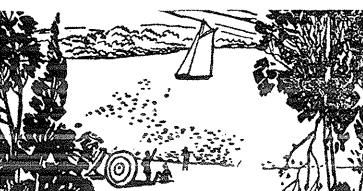

Every hour of the day and night, a thousand pound cow breathes in and out about 2,880 bushels or 3,600 cubic feet of air. This air weighs about 270 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walton were here for Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Myrtle Holmes and Miss Pearl Spinks are employing expert tree trimmers to trim the trees on their lots. As a result a great improvement is quite apparent.

Friends were delighted to greet Mr. and Mrs. Dorien Russell of Grand Rapids this week-end. The Russells were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Knapp and were among those from Oak Bluff who attended the book lecture by Dr. William Lyon Phelps at Pointe Aux Barques. Others attending were Miss Margaret Card, Clark Knapp and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Burke.

Many plan to remain at Oak Bluff until late September or early October, and those whom the opening of school calls back to town will be spending the week-ends with us at least.

Potato Digging Contest at Mayville

Any farmer in Michigan who wants to risk his reputation as a rapid and efficient potato digger will have opportunity at one of the 10 contests scheduled throughout the state in September.

Announcement of the contests with dates and places calls attention to Michigan's importance in potato production as well as the importance of keeping a market for this state's produce by marketing quality food.

Sept. 8 is the date for the first meeting at Pelletier's farm near Chassell in Houghton County. Others are Sept. 10, County Infirmary near Dagget in Menominee County; Sept. 12, Reiser Bros. and Hopp, Rogers City; Sept. 13, H. C. Bailey at Gaylord; Sept. 14, Duncan Morrison farm near Traverse City. Succeeding dates are Sept. 15, Michigan State College experimental farm at Lake City; Sept. 16, Harbert Moore, Greenville; Sept. 20, Percy C. King, Waterford; Sept. 21, Lee Fowler, Mayville; and Sept. 27, John Woodman, Paw Paw.

In addition to the hand digging contests based on speed and quality of work, machine digging contests are scheduled at each of the day's programs. Machinery exhibits also are planned. Digging, grading and storage equipment will be on display.

CHAPTER VI

Jonathan Farwell sat at his study table. Under his right hand lay a pile of loose sheets. His stub pen was traversing one after the other in relentless fashion, like a plough moving at high speed across white fields. As each page was finished, it was thrust aside and the pen continued its drive. So were the clergyman's sermons drafted. To the final word.

There was a sudden pause as the worker lifted his head at the sound of a step on the stair.

"Is that you, Dale? Please come here." The pen hung suspended above the paper. Farwell looked up into his son's face. "I meant to tell you before, Dale, and it slipped my mind. We are having guests for dinner Thursday."

"You don't mean . . . Not tomorrow!"

"Yes. Tomorrow. I hope you have no other engagement." The minister's eyes wandered back to his unfinished page.

"But I have! I'm . . . Who are your guests, Father?"

"Mr. Marblestone and his family are dining here with us." A slight emphasis on the last word.

"Oh!"

"I wished to pay that one obligation while I was sure you would be in town." The pen crossed out an undesired word.

"That does put me in a jam!" Dale exclaimed in frank dismay. "It's rather late to . . ."

"Yes," his father agreed. "Quite too late to recall our invitation. Your place of course, is at our table. Please be good enough to arrange it that way."

Farwell was writing again. The incident appeared to be closed.

Dale turned on his heel without a word and sought his own room. With the door closed behind him, he stood staring out the window in helpless wrath.

Thursday. Lee's twentieth birthday. She was having a dinner party. He had been counting the days almost. And now . . .

Lee had been as excited as a little kid when she told him about the party.

"It's going to be ever so informal, Dale. Just some of the crowd I grew up with. And you."

"It's mighty nice of you to include me," had been his grateful reply. "Wild horses couldn't keep me away. You know, something tells me it's going to be the nicest party I ever went to."

"Nonsense! You're getting your expectations raised too high."

"Aren't you going to have ice cream?"

"Maybe."

"And you're going to be there. So it will be the nicest."

"I wonder . . ." Lee had flashed him a little smile and left that sentence unfinished.

How could he tell her at almost the last minute he wasn't coming to the wonderful party? Hanged if he would! It wasn't fair.

Dale turned with a clenched fist and scowled at the punching bag hanging near by. That would help. Too childish. And noisy.

Instead, he stalked downstairs and into the kitchen where his spirits were not lightened at the sight of Pink polishing the best silver.

"Hi, kid."

"Look here. What's all this about company for dinner tomorrow night?"

"You mean that . . . Quarry outfit?"

"Marblestones."

"I never can remember that moniker. They're comin'. That's all I know. Except the dominie told me to try and dish up somethin' special swell. Don't tell me you wasn't in on it."

"I wasn't," Dale snapped. "It's no joke. I've accepted an invitation to the Bradys' for dinner tomorrow night. It's Lee's birthday."

Pink emitted a low whistle.

"Say! That does sort of put you on a spot. Well, it's what you get for two-timing. I'm sorry. No kidding. The dominie's lookin' for you to be here, I take it."

"He just told me so. But I can't now," Dale answered.

"Wait a minute, kid. You can't go and let him down like that. It's the first party he's thrown here. Don't walk out on him. That Brady gal seems like a nice little sport. Go tell her what you're up against. She'll see it your way."

Dale strolled into the lower hall and paused irresolutely near the telephone. Pink was right, he concluded moodily. After all, it would be best to tell her. Dale rather hoped she would refuse to accept such an eleventh-hour excuse. Then he could submit the matter to his father again.

Reluctantly he dialed the Brady number. A familiar voice answered.

"Say, Lee . . . I'm up against it." He blurted it out with no preamble. "Father has just told me he is entertaining company for dinner tomorrow night. He expects me to be on hand, of course, and . . ."

"But you must, Dale. If your father needs you."

"That's sweet of you. I wanted to tell you . . ."

"I understand. It's quite all right," Lee said it very quietly.

"It isn't!" Dale exclaimed miserably. "I may be a little late, but . . ."

"I understand," Lee repeated. "Good-by." She hung up.

Dale slowly replaced the receiver as he heard the click at the other end of the line. He said one word under his breath.

Pink Mulgrew outdid himself to make that first formal dinner at the parsonage "something special swell."

"I got an idea," he said affably to Dale, "these swells wouldn't mind showin' me up if I give 'em a chance. You said you ate at their shack once. Who waited on table?"

"A maid passed the things."

"I hoped you'd say that. I learned to deal 'em off the arm a long time ago. But when I was in Chi last time I went and bought me a book on how to buttle. Gives the whole works. I've been wantin' to try it out."

GAGETOWN

Pastor Returns for Fourth Year—

People of the Gagetown and Brookfield community will be glad to learn that Rev. Wesley Dafeo is to return as pastor of the M. P. Churches here for his fourth year. Mr. and Mrs. Dafeo returned Monday from Gull Lake where the Michigan conference of the Methodist Protestant Church convened.

During his pastorate here, Mr. Dafeo has won the confidence of the community at large. The churches have experienced a steady growth, many improvements have been made on the church property and others are on the way.

Services will be held at the same time as last year. Morning worship at 10:00 a. m. in the Gagetown church with Sunday School at 11:00 a. m. Sunday School in the Brookfield church begins at 10:30 a. m. and morning worship is at 11:30. Sunday, Sept. 4, marks the beginning of another church year and everyone is invited to attend these services. The evening service this week will be in Brookfield Church.

What might have been a fatal ending resulted, however, in a happy landing. Sunday afternoon James Lindsay, owner of the boat, and James McGinn, Alex Crawford, and Preston Fournier, occupants, became stranded in the middle of Saginaw Bay opposite Caseville when the battery went dead. The boat was anchored at Harbor Beach and was being brought to Bay Port. S. O. S. signals were sent by burning some of their clothing. The flares were first seen by Harry McGinn who was at Caseville beach and he informed the fishermen of the distress signals. They were putting out to rescue the men when the S. O. S. signals ceased. The party broke boards from the deck of the boat to use as oars and reached shore at 10:30 safely.

READING LAMP?

A GOOD reading lamp is a necessity in the home, because the whole family spends so much time on tasks involving close visual application. Whether you use your eyes for reading a newspaper, writing, studying, sewing or other occupations, proper illumination is essential to avoid eyestrain and fatigue. An evening of reading or working under poor light may be more tiring physically than an equal amount of time spent at hard manual labor.

What constitutes a good reading lamp? The new I. E. S. reflector-type floor and table lamps are ideal for the purpose. These lamps have a diffusing bowl under the shade, which eliminates glare and assures soft, pleasant illumination. They are scientifically designed for easy, comfortable seeing, and provide adequate light for reading, writing, sewing, etc. Reflector-type Pin-It-Up lamps are also excellent. They may be pinned on the wall over a desk or table, or beside your favorite easy chair.

Perhaps you have a floor or table lamp of your own, one that is perfectly good but which was purchased some years ago and lacks the advantages of a reflector-bowl under the shade. In this case you may buy for very little money a clever new unit called an "I. E. S. adaptor," which transforms the old lamp into one utilizing the principle of a modern Better Light - Better Sight lamp. CAR DITCHED WEST OF
CASS CITY SATURDAY

A car driven by Charles Berendt of Hammond, Indiana, went into a highway ditch four miles west of Cass City Saturday night and was abandoned for a time which caused the sheriff's department to make an investigation and search for the owner. With Mr. Berendt were Andrew Kerekis and Marie Fox. Injuries to the driver and passengers were not serious.

Mr. Berendt told Sheriff Jeffrey that he was driving south and turning on to M-81, he suddenly spied a boy on a bicycle pedaling in a westerly direction. The car missed the boy and went into the ditch.

LEONARD J. PATERSON
REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE for
STATE SENATOR
20th SENATORIAL DISTRICT

TO THE VOTERS OF HURON,
TUSCOLA AND SANILAC
COUNTIES:

As it will be impossible for me to call upon you personally for your support in my campaign for the office of Senator for this District comprising Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties I must, therefore, appeal to you through this advertisement.

I was born and raised on a farm, operated a farm eight years, I own a farm, my brother is a farmer, and as a lawyer I am working for the farmers and dependent upon them for my income. THE FARMER MUST SUCCEED IN ORDER FOR ME TO SUCCEED. Therefore, if I am elected to this important office of State Senator I will do all in my power for the benefit of Agriculture.

In 1925 I began the study of law in Detroit College of Law and graduated in 1928. I passed the State Bar examination and was admitted to practice the same year. I practiced law in Detroit until 1931 when I opened my office in Crosswell. In 1932 I was elected to the office of Prosecuting Attorney and was re-elected in 1934 and 1936. I feel that my experience on a farm and the study of law has qualified me for this office.

To express to you my stand with reference to this District in general, I wish to say that I have made no promises or pledges of any name or nature to any person whosoever either directly or indirectly, excepting that I will support those measures which are for the best interest of the majority of the people concerned and that I will not be dictated to by any individual or faction.

I EARNESTLY SOLICIT YOUR SUPPORT.

LEONARD J. PATERSON.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

WE'D a lot rather go shopping than go buying. Because when we just go shopping we can look to our heart's content, and the sky's the limit as to price and utility. Whereas, when we embark on an expedition to really buy this or that, well, that's something else again. We have to stick to the things we can afford, for one thing. And for another, we have to consider wear, usefulness, practicality and a host of other dull and necessary points.

The other day we started out bright and early on a shopping expedition with only carfare in our purse. We hadn't the slightest intention of buying so much as a paper of pins. We were just in search of bright notions and new ideas. And we found some beauties. Such as:

A perfectly delicious quilt-bedspread in white, quilted intricately all over with a garland flower border applied on all around the edges. Then to match, a quilted slip cover for the headboard of the bed. The one we saw had the flowers intricately shaded out of separate patches. But to save a lot of work, an enterprising lady could copy the idea by cutting out garlands from a piece of chintz or cretonne, then applying them on and outlining the flowers with quilting. A fresh cool-looking bedspread of pink and white striped seersucker finished with white ruffles was another find. Can you think of anything prettier, unless it would be a white and pink birthday cake and 10 party-dressed little girls around a pink and white table?

A yellow chintz dressing table petticoat with ruffles of white eyelet embroidery such as we once wore on our long-sleeved nighties. Very sunny looking.

Hassocks for the porch made out of awning striped canvas—why wouldn't that be a good idea for recovering old bedraggled hassocks? Or for padding and covering some seat-high packing boxes that might be handy around the place. Flowered chintz cushions with ruffles all around in plain color—the edges of the ruffles pinked. Looks blithe and saves hemming or binding.

What to Do With Drab Windows

"Deep in the doldrums," writes Ella K., "would describe my mood. And all because my windows look so dull and drab. Yet there's no use to think that I can go in for fancy draperies. I couldn't even afford the price of fine material, much less the time to make them. So what's a lady to do? I'd like to add some simple valance to dress up the windows but I haven't an idea in my head. Can you suggest something interesting that I could do without taking too much time or money? And thereby win my undying gratitude."

We have lots of tricks up our sleeve for you. So take your choice: For a rather dignified room, arrange a swag valance hung through rings (as illustrated) which fasten to the top of the window frame. A swag like this needs to have its folds very carefully arranged and basted in at the corners. The cascade at the sides that join it should be nicely draped too. Most fabrics used this way should be lined, but there are some that will fall nicely without lining. This valance can hang over sheer curtains and sheer draperies.

For an informal room, take a six-inch width of buckram and cover with a plain colored material on which have been stitched three horizontal rows of contrasting ball fringe. Attach to a flat curtain rod by sewing five curtain hooks with two-inch braces on the back of your strip. This makes a nice finish for the top of a simple curtain. You can make tie-backs to match if you like. We saw this worked out with curtains of ecru, valance covered in old blue with ball fringe in ecru.

Another idea for dolling up a plain-jane window is to use a plain piece of material with rows and rows of rickrack in a contrasting color—then have tie-backs to match. © By Betty Wells.—WNU Service.

AAA ANNOUNCES NEW BUTTER PURCHASE LOAN

Additional loans up to $7,250,000 to the Dairy Products Marketing Association, a non-profit organization of producers cooperatives, have been made by the government through the Commodity Credit Corporation. The purpose of the loan is to buy up to 25,000,000 pounds of butter to help stabilize dairy prices in the face of large surpluses caused by a nine-year high in milk production.

The loan is a 50 per cent increase over an original loan of $14,500,000 authorized in June for buying up to 50,000,000 pounds of butter. From June 16 to August 19, 1938, the Dairy Products Marketing Association bought about 43,000,000 pounds of butter. This means that the association is now in a position to purchase 32,000,000 pounds.
