

Many Cass City Deer Hunters Make Way to the North

Equipment Varies as to Type of Camp but the Enthusiasm Is the Same.

Tents, bedding, miniature stoves and warm clothes were loaded on automobiles and trailers. Their cargoes differed only according to the type of camp toward which they were headed, but the enthusiasm was all the same.

Speaker Cites Disadvantages of Federalized Medicine

Dr. L. P. Foster of Bay City, secretary of the Michigan State Medical Society, addressed members of the Rotary Club, pupils of the senior and junior classes and a number of local citizens at the school auditorium Tuesday afternoon, on the subject of "Federalized Medicine."

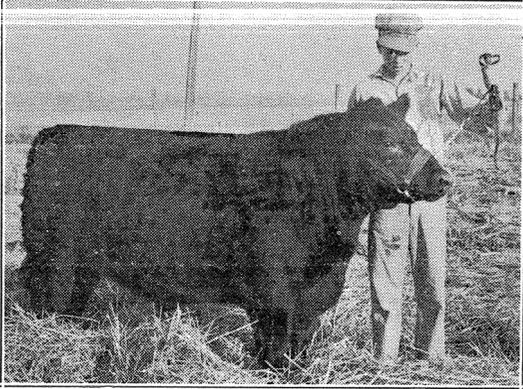

Dr. Foster said that the complete federalized medical program which has been proposed has its disadvantages in that it would have a decided effect on the quality of medical service rendered, a mounting cost to taxpayers and the elimination of the personal basis maintained between patient and doctor.

Complete socialized medicine is estimated at a cost of ten cents a patient per day. With a population of five million people in Michigan, the cost of such a service added to the present general expenditures of the state would require a sales tax of nine per cent to meet Michigan's expenses, according to the speaker.

Dr. Foster said Michigan had a partial program of socialized medicine in its care of the handicapped and insane persons and the medical association heartily supported it. Under present medical conditions, the nation has the longest life span, a low contagious disease rate and the shortest hospitalization of any country. No community with very few exceptions is farther than 30 miles from a hospital and the hospitals on an average are 70% occupied at present.

Dr. Foster's appearance here was under the auspices of the Rotary Club.

Will Show Aberdeen at Junior Show.

Here's another candidate for awards in the Aberdeen Angus class at the Junior Live Stock Show next month. The photo shows the Angus steer purchased from the Scripps Farm by Lewis Profit, a member of the Cass City Live Stock Club. The club will exhibit three Angus steers in Detroit in December.

This steer was sired by Bandoliere of Anoka, junior champion at the International Live Stock Show, and the dam produced one of the choice steers shown at Kansas City.

The calf weighs approximately 940 pounds. It won third place in both 4-H and open classes at the Michigan State Fair, was in the champion group of three steers from one county and was also a member of the group that won second in open competition.

Vassar Man Is County Surveyor

Irving E. Oakes Was Elected on Slips at the November Election.

Irving E. Oakes of Vassar, a graduate civil engineer, was elected county surveyor in Tuscola, the report of the county board of canvassers reveals. Mr. Oakes received 404 votes and Roscoe J. Black of Caro received 222. Both are Republicans. No party had a candidate for this office on the ballot, but both candidates passed out slips to their friends on election day. Mr. Black, defeated in the primary for the Republican nomination for drain commissioner, a position he held three terms, is a civil engineer. Oakes is a new man in county politics. He is an engineer employed by the Eaton-Erb Foundry in Vassar, who has also done some surveying for the Tuscola County road commission. The vote he received in Vassar Township elected him. In his home township he received 352 votes.

The canvassers' report shows that all amendments except No. 3, earmarking gas and weight taxes for road purposes only, were defeated in Tuscola County. The vote stood: No. 1—yes, 1,956, no, 6,258. No. 2—yes, 3,277, no, 5,057. No. 3—5,980, Uo. 2,866. No. 4—yes, 1,486, no, 4,791.

The report of the canvassers gave the official vote given candidates substantially the same as the unofficial figures received on election night.

Cass City Defeated Bad Axe Friday by 21-13 Score

Fired Last Shot in the Armistice Day Celebration at Bad Axe.

A determined and fighting band of football warriors from Cass City fired the last shot in the Armistice Day celebration at Bad Axe Friday afternoon by defeating the highly touted Bad Axe team by a 21 to 13 margin. Cass City, the underdog before the game, completely out-ran and out-passed their heavier rivals to overcome a 6-0 lead which Bad Axe had after successfully pulling the old "sleeper" play for a touchdown on the first play of the ball game.

Taking the second kickoff, the Cass City backs ripped and drove their way down the field behind the savage blocking of their line. Ball drove across for his first tally from the two-yard line and added the extra point in the same fashion.

Cass City's next touchdown came after bringing the ball 80 yards up the field to the Bad Axe seven from where Ball again took it over for the counter. McIntyre passed to Heussner for the point.

During this march down the field the local eleven displayed their best football of the year. They called on all plays in their bag of tricks and executed them perfectly. Their plunges packed power and drive; end runs had speed and blocking; passes were accurate and well placed; and their spinners and reverses had the de-

Clarence Quick, Church Clerk Quarter Century

Clarence Quick of Novesta Township has completed twenty-five years as clerk of the Church of Christ, three miles south of Cass City, and in all those years Mr. Quick has missed only one annual meeting of that society. All Jarman, who has served the society as pastor since June 1 and also at intervals while he was still a student, was engaged by the society for the ensuing year. During Mr. Jarman's short pastorate, fifteen have united with the church.

Proceeds from the recent chicken dinner served at the Church of Christ netted over $95. Mrs. Mack Little was the banner salesman of tickets, having disposed of over 100.

Geo. Rohrbach Holds Position with Farm Produce 21 Years

The average man changes jobs every five years it was stated by an authority on labor conditions recently so the citizen who stays in one position for a period of 21 years has a rather unusual record.

This month marks the twenty-first year that George Rohrbach has been in the service of the Farm Produce Company, with very few days off because of illness. Mr. Rohrbach, who is 65 years of age, has lived in this section of the Thumb district for the last thirty years. He resided in Shabbona before moving to Cass City twenty-four years ago.

Mr. Rohrbach has seen many changes made at the elevator. The machinery, run by steam 21 years ago, is now operated by electricity. A hammermill, a corn sheller and a feed mixer, all run by electricity, are a few of the improvements which Mr. Rohrbach says help to make the work easier and more rapid.

William Kilbourn is another employee at the Farm Produce Company, who has been employed there for many successive years.

Mrs. McBurney 91 on Tuesday

Was the Honor Guest at Family Gathering When Birthday Was Celebrated

Like all people growing older, Mrs. Jane McBurney finds the Sunday School birthday box involves a larger expenditure each year, but few, if any, are required to assemble so many pennies to make an annual contribution. Sunday at the Presbyterian Church school session, she deposited 91 cents. She celebrated her 91st birthday anniversary the following Tuesday.

Mrs. McBurney was honor guest Tuesday evening when 15 members of her family met at her home on West Main Street to celebrate her birthday. Guests who were present to enjoy the supper and social evening included Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McBurney, daughter, Mavis, and granddaughter, Rosella Cuff, Mr. and Mrs. William McBurney, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bayley and family and Mrs. Mary Gekeler. A beautiful cake with the inscription, "Grandma 91," was presented to Mrs. McBurney by her granddaughter, Mavis McBurney.

Mrs. McBurney, who was Jane Norton, was born November 15, 1847, in Scotland, and in 1855 came with her parents and two small sisters, to Wentworth, Ontario. Here she was united in marriage with Hugh McBurney, October 31, 1866, and ten years later they came to a farm, one mile west and one mile north of Cass City, where Mr. McBurney passed away in 1903. After his death, Mrs. McBurney remained on the farm until sixteen years ago when she bought the home on West Main Street where she still resides.

New Fiction Books for School Library

As the result of an arrangement with the Cass Theater the students of the Cass City school sold tickets for the recent showing of "Treasure Island." Due to the enthusiasm of these salesmen and the gratifying response of the public the school's percentage on the advance sale amounted to $53.20. This money will be used for buying new fiction books for the library.

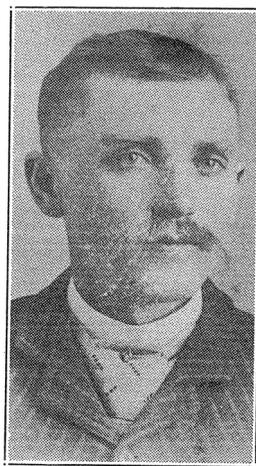

Extensive changes have been made in the library this year. The room on the main floor which it formerly occupied has been made into a recess room for the use of the grade children during inclement weather and for meetings not requiring a room as large as the gymnasium. The books have been moved to the shelves in the third floor assembly hall.

The new arrangement is a vast improvement. Books relating to special subjects have been put in the classrooms where those subjects are taught and are used to complement daily lessons. Books which hitherto had little or no circulation are actually being used for outside reading, research, etc. Under the new schedule of sixty-minute classes the last half of each hour is devoted to preparations for the next day or for supplementary work and the students thus have access to this specialized material.

The librarian reports that since the fiction, travel and biography books have been moved to the assembly room circulation has almost doubled over that of last year.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

Mrs. Knapp Added to Lecture Staff

In order to introduce the pretentious educational program which Mrs. Donella Meird and her staff of assistants of the lecture bureau department of The Gleaner Life Insurance Society have prepared for the coming months, under the direction of Herbert P. Orr, president of the Gleaners, the society considers itself fortunate in being able to add to its lecture staff a woman of the splendid attainment of Mrs. Alfred J. Knapp of Cass City.

In the Social and Personal News department of The National Gleaner Forum for October appear these paragraphs:

"Past President of the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Knapp is pastmaster in the art of program building—the type of which has as its objective stimulating people into taking an active part in better government, both locally and nationally.

"A brilliant platform speaker, an authority on parliamentary law, a peace worker and an ardent advocate of children's right, the society is indeed fortunate in being able to secure the services of Mrs. Knapp to address county and other large group gatherings."

E. A. Wanner Wins Sales Recognition

E. A. Wanner had some complimentary words said about his salesmanship in a publication issued by a manufacturer of water systems. The inspiration for the article came because of Mr. Wanner's success in placing 50 electric water systems, more than any other dealer of the company in the particular district in which Mr. Wanner is located. With the nice words came a nice bonus from the company amounting to $61.00.

Mr. Wanner recently received the appointment as collector of electric bills in this community for the Uby Electric Cooperative Association, the REA project in the Thumb of Michigan.

Two Fatalities in Tuscola County Auto Accidents

Fairgrove Man and Flint Lad Met Death within the Past Week.

Two more deaths the past week are added to fatalities in Tuscola County caused by automobile accidents.

The first occurred on Thursday, November 10, at 6:45 p. m. when George Partlo, 80, was instantly killed near the southern village limits of Fairgrove when he was struck by an automobile driven by Deputy Sheriff Homer Hillaker. His body was badly mutilated in the crash.

Mr. Partlo had been given a ride by Robert Kirk, who warned his passenger as he alighted from the Kirk car near Partlo's home, that he should exercise care in crossing the highway as there was an automobile approaching. Mr. Hillaker says he did not see Mr. Partlo until he was directly in front of the machine. A jury summoned by Coroner Lee Huston reported they found no negligence on the part of Mr. Hillaker and that the accident was unavoidable. Mr. Hillaker was engaged in his official duties as a deputy sheriff when the accident occurred.

Mr. Partlo was active as an octogenarian and this season cultivated, thinned and harvested 1½ acres of sugar beets on his little farm ¾ of a mile south of Fairgrove. He leaves his widow and five children. Funeral services were held Saturday.

Flint Boy Killed.

When a truck going east on the Bray Road in Arbela Township, driven by Nick Bodis, 51, of Flint, collided with an automobile going north on the Tuscola Road at 11:00 a. m. on Sunday, James Bodis, 10, was thrown from the front seat of the truck as the vehicles met at the highway intersection. The lad was killed by the impact, his skull having been fractured. Mr. Bodis, the driver, was seriously injured and was taken to Hurley Hospital in Flint. Another of his sons, Jack, was riding in the rear of the truck and escaped injury.

Horace Cantrell, 35, of Flint, driver of the car, with his wife and their daughter, Betty Christine Cantrell, suffered lacerations and were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Flint for treatment.

Excessively Noisy Caro Horn Blower Gets 5-day Sentence

Elmer Kaplan, 19, of Caro was arrested on Monday by Deputy Orville Wilson for disturbing the peace in the county seat by the excessive and unnecessary sounding of an automobile horn. Justice St. Mary sentenced the horn blower to five days in the county jail.

Everett Haske, 21, of Gifford, arrested for disturbing the peace by Deputy Sheriff Goslin on Tuesday, was brought before Justice Frank St. Mary. He was ordered to pay $15.35 costs.

Deputy Goslin also placed Peter Barodychuk, 28, of Colwood under arrest on Tuesday on a charge of "beating up" Barodychuk's father. Justice Frank St. Mary ordered a $25 fine, $8.55 costs and a 30-day jail sentence. In the event, fine and costs are not paid, 60 more days are to be added to the sentence.

THANKSGIVING

America discards her old customs but reveres the nation's richest tradition.

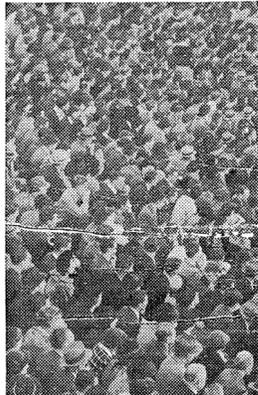

Like the early Puritan (typified above) modern Americans still keep in spirit the Thanksgiving observance started by Pilgrim fathers and made official by President Abraham Lincoln.

Likewise, King Turkey still reigns supreme on Thanksgiving day, a domesticated descendant of the wild turkey that offered a piece of resistance for the first Thanksgiving.

And, pitying the less fortunate, we provide bounteous Thanksgiving dinners for them. But where the olden Thanksgiving was a strictly "home" observance featured by a huge dinner, modern celebrants have smaller appetites and wider interests.

In 1938, Thanksgiving day football games are a major attraction. Some schools, like Pennsylvania and Cornell, have played their traditional Thanksgiving day game for years.

In New York, as in other large cities, the day marks a start of the Christmas shopping season. One Manhattan department store annually sponsors a parade featuring helium-inflated balloons.

Editor of Cass City Chronicle, Cass City, Michigan.

Dear Sir: Believing that the passing of Levi A. Maynard of Kingston which occurred recently, and the further fact that he was associated with me in the banks at Cass City and Kingston for 46 years, being advanced from a clerkship in the private bank owned by the writer in Cass City to manager of the private bank of McPhail & Maynard of Kingston, then to vice president and manager of the Kingston State Bank, will be of more than passing interest to residents of Tuscola County.

During these many years, Mr. Maynard showed more interest in so conducting the banks he was managing that the deposits in said banks would be at all times safe than he did in protecting and building up his own fortune. It was only by an unusual proceeding on our part by which we gave away to prominent and responsible men in Kingston a portion of our stock on which we paid repeated assessments, and persuaded these men to be elected to official positions that Kingston is enjoying the great benefits of banking facilities while banks in nearby towns were closed.

Being a senior partner and president and owning a much greater interest, Mr. Maynard might, without being severely criticized, depend on me to bridge over the great emergency that confronted us.

This was not in the least degree his attitude, and if any man exemplified during the many years I was associated with him the old adage "An honest man is the noblest work of God" that man was Levi A. Maynard.

Those attending from Tuscola were Charles Galliver, Unionville; Spencer Dunham, Caro; Elene Hickey, Marion Lane, Fairgrove; Marguerite Carpenter, Caro. About 600 young people from all sections of the state attended the banquet in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cranick received word of the death of Mrs. Cranick's cousin, Henry G. Reif, 74, of Buffalo, New York. Mr. Reif underwent an operation in the Deaconess Hospital at Buffalo on Friday and passed away Sunday, November 13. Funeral services were held Wednesday. Mr. Reif was quite well known in Cass City having visited at the Cranick home many times, his last visit being this summer. He is survived by his widow and two brothers.

Tuscola Exhibitors at Farm Festival

Tuscola County exhibitors at the Michigan Farm Festival being held at Grand Rapids November 14 to 19 inclusive are: Wiley Kirk, Fairgrove, wheat, barley, oats; Ellis Aldrich, Fairgrove, oats, barley, corn; George Aldrich, Fairgrove, oats, barley, corn; Foster Hickey, Fairgrove, barley, oats; Fritz Mantey, Fairgrove, barley, oats, beans, corn; Spencer Dunham, Caro, potatoes, corn, barley, oats, beans; Ed Riley, Caro, butter; Alfred, Viola and George Burns, Millington, eggs. The Millington and Akron 4-H Canning Clubs also have exhibits at the festival.

ELECTION ECHOES.

In the 780 general election ballots cast on November 8 in Elkland Township, the election board found just one spoiled ballot. This one was marked by a very impartial person who put a cross under the head of each of the 10 tickets on the ballot.

Elkland Township voted seven to one for Fitzgerald over Murphy and the vote on other state and county candidates was predominantly Republican. A straw vote in one of the grades in the Cass City school on election day showed the same trend. It was proposed by a little Democrat and she was surprised by the result. At home that night, she told the result. "I was the only one who voted for Murphy for governor," she said. "Daddy, and was my face red!"

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

THERE'S a fine art to this business of being a hostess. And for the sake of brides just starting out on their careers, here are some of the rules:

Yourself, first of all. No use to try to put a party over unless you are looking like a million. So have a festive dress all ready to slip into at the witching hour, and a schedule that permits a last minute primping after you've got everything finished in the kitchen.

The Menu—Whether it's to be a company dinner, coffee and cake on the porch, or iced punch in state, have one interesting touch. Something unexpected in homemade cake; sandwich filling that will enchant the men; a salad that is as beautiful to see as it is good to eat. If you have one high point, you can get by with staples for the rest. That makes even a big occasion easy to put over.

The Appointments—Have all the dishes and all the glassware you're going to need sparkling on trays ready to bring forth to set the table whether it's for buffet supper, formal dinner or tea on the porch. It will save no end of flutter or dish washing during your party. The ideal way is to settle on the kind of entertaining you can do best, then buy enough china or glass to serve as many people as you're likely to have at once. This need not all be such expensive ware, but it's better to skimp somewhere else in order to afford it.

The Decorations—Flowers arranged where they do most good and in colors that do things for the house. From the garden if possible, but when there isn't just the right thing available for the picking, don't hesitate to balance the budget to include some "boughten" blooms. They'll be well worth the investment.

The House Itself—Don't try to re-fix the whole place the day before company comes. If you start too many ambitious plans for changes just before the party, you'll get all involved and probably not finish anyway—only make a wreck of yourself. Just clean up enough to be presentable. Be sure there's a place for coats and hats and a good mirror for the ladies.

The Guests—Invite as few as possible just because you think you should.

You Can Picture the House.

"Our house is a genuine B. C. model—Before Cars," said a woman we met at a friend's bridge-luncheon. "And we still use the old barn for a garage, though it belongs to the days of bobtail horses and be-plumed ladies. You can picture what the house looks like!"

The entrance hall separates the house square in the middle with front and back parlor on one side and dining room and kitchen on the other. However, we are trying to do something about it. The dark gloomy woodwork is being painted cream and we've selected a misty soft scenic paper in cream and sepia for the walls of dining room, hall and both parlors. Then I'm having carpeting throughout—a grayed-green solid color in texture weave. The sofa in the back parlor I'm covering in burnt orange with one easy chair in the same material—this room is used as a library-living room. Two other chairs will have a figured chintz in antique floral colors on a parchment ground and repeating flecks of the dull green and orange.

"The front parlor will run more to pale orange and pale golds with accent pieces in rust. The lamps in both rooms I'm having in brass and copper. The dining room chair seats will be in a pale gold, but here accent notes will be pewter and old silver. Curtains for all the windows will be ecru with the figured chintz for draperies, finished with pleated ruffles of dull green.

"The furniture is walnut but nothing to brag about, so I thought a mellow yet compelling color scheme would bring the rooms together and soften the effect. We're as pleased as if everything were streamlined—maybe more!"

OBITUARY

Mrs. Edwin C. Leipprandt. Mrs. Edith Warner Leipprandt, wife of Edwin C. Leipprandt and step-daughter of the late George S. Farrar, passed away Sunday, November 6, in the Wayne General Hospital a few hours after she was critically injured in an automobile accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Leipprandt had attended morning services at the Presbyterian Church, and had spent the afternoon with the former's sister, Mrs. Moon, in Ann Arbor. On their return about 7:30 p. m., at the Ecorse and Henry Huff road, Mr. Leipprandt became blinded by bright lights of an approaching car. Losing control, the car left the road and hit a tree. Both were taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Leipprandt was born and spent her childhood and girlhood on the family farm one mile west and in Cass City where she graduated as valedictorian in the class of 1891. Other members of the class were Eva Wickware, Belle Munro, Mattie Spurgeon and Nelson McClinton. Later she taught in one of the rural schools.

Following the death of her mother in 1896, she made her home with her sister, Mrs. J. L. Purdy, of Gagetown, and was bookkeeper in the bank of P. C. Purdy & Son in that village.

She was united in marriage to Mr. Edwin C. Leipprandt of Pigeon August 30, 1899, and went to that city as a bride where the family home was established, and three sons were born, Victor W., Kenneth P., and Douglas E.

She was a member of the Pigeon Tourist Study Club and one year its president and worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star for three years.

In 1924, the family took up their home at 2359 Honorah Avenue, Detroit, where she resided until her untimely death. Her love for home and doing for her family was her greatest joy.

Besides her husband and three sons, she is survived by two grandsons, Warner and Richard, one granddaughter, Dorothy Jean, children of Victor Leipprandt, one sister, Mrs. Cora Purdy, of Gagetown, and one brother, Arthur M. Warner, of Davenport, Iowa.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday at one o'clock at the Funeral Home of J. P. Ferguson, by the Rev. George Bowles, pastor of the Campbell Street Methodist Episcopal Church, Detroit. Interment was in the family lot in Elkland Cemetery.

William Burman. William Burman, 77, of Kingston died early Monday morning in Pleasant Home Hospital, where he had been a patient for only two days. He has been in poor health for several months and was confined to his bed for a week. Mr. Burman has been a resident of Kingston for many years.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Kingston Baptist Church. Rev. B. A. Sherk officiated and burial was in Inlay City Cemetery.

William Burman was born July 22, 1861, in St. Marys, Ontario. He is survived by his widow; one brother, James Burman, of Royal Oak; one sister, Mrs. Fanny Sovereigne, of Richmond; one granddaughter and one great granddaughter.

A son, Robert, "Wild Bob," noted auto racer, was killed April 8, 1917, while racing in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Vader and Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Vader of Cass City attended the funeral. Mr. Burman was an uncle of Mrs. Vader.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 WAS THE ONLY ONE ADOPTED

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. VanWagoner expressed gratification this week over the adoption by the voters of a constitutional amendment guaranteeing the use of motorists' taxes for roads and streets.

The amendment, which was No. 3 proposal on the November election ballot, was adopted by a majority approximating 190,000. It was the only amendment submitted to the people which was adopted.

The amendment becomes a part of the constitution December 8, or thirty days after the general election.

Badminton Played in 1873 Badminton first was played in England around 1873. It was played earlier in India.

A Non-Partisan State News Letter
By GENE ALLEMAN
Michigan Press Association

Lansing—Swinging of the pendulum of public opinion in protest against labor radicalism—the 1937 sit-down strikes in automobile and manufacturing factories, retail stores and even private utility plants—has returned the Republicans into power and responsibility in Michigan.

It was not so much an affirmative vote of confidence in Frank Fitzgerald and the remainder of the Republican state and legislative ticket. It was a ballot protest.

For many months political observers have been aware of a "jelling" of public opinion against the over-enthusiastic demonstrations in Michigan of the C. I. O. Lewis' defeat in the Detroit municipal election was a forerunner. Gallup polls have consistently shown that the C. I. O. was in high disfavor with the electorate.

In the judgment of this commentator, the November election afforded the people of Michigan their first opportunity to spank the sit-downers. And in doing so, they had to spank Governor Murphy and his administration. It was just inevitable.

Republicans in Control
The beneficiaries of the ballot were the Republicans who return to authority again at Lansing.

Whereas Governor Murphy had an unruly state senate, with the balance of power in the hands of the Republicans and a few conservative Democrats, Mr. Fitzgerald will have no legislative alibis in 1939.

The senate is under Republican control 23 to 9, while the house is predominantly G. O. P., 74 to 26. Presiding over the senate will be 80-year-old Luren D. Dickinson, of Charlotte, a man of remarkable mental power who returns to Lansing for his eighth term as lieutenant governor. Dickinson's popularity is an indirect compliment to the "oldsters" in Michigan, many of whom favor the Townsend Plan. Fitzgerald catered to Townsend support with a promise to ask the legislature to pass a resolution urging Congress to consider the $200-a-month pension scheme.

Case and Brown
Country editors fared well in the Michigan election.

Within a few thousand votes of Murphy was Leon D. Case, secretary of state who publishes a weekly paper at Watervliet. Case led Nowicki, Starr, Fry and Gundry in popular support.

Next to Dickinson and heading other Republican nominees for state office was Vernon J. Brown, aspirant for auditor general. Brown is editor-publisher of the Ingham County News at Mason and is completing his tenth year of service in the legislature.

Significant also is the fact that Case and Brown consider their newspapers to be "independent" in politics.

Van Wagoner in Power
The No. 1 man of the Michigan Democratic party today is Murray D. Van Wagoner, commissioner of the state highway department.

Two weeks before the balloting his department conducted a secret "straw vote" throughout the state. It showed Fitzgerald to be a sure winner and estimated the plurality at 45,000.

Van Wagoner, a practical politician, had foreseen the election result last summer when he weighed the advisability of becoming a candidate for governor in open opposition to Murphy. Reviewing summer political events you will recall that Leo J. Nowicki, who opposed Murphy's labor policies and served sit-downers with a snappy ultimatum while the governor was away on a speaking tour, was also in a willing mood to sidetrack Murphy in the primary, if he could. Furthermore, Edward Fry, state chairman, had openly spanked the governor at Mackinac Island in a caustic statement that was almost unprecedented. His brother, Theodore Fry, had made no secret of his dislike of Murphy's policies and was quite reluctant to become a candidate for a fourth term.

All this is political history. Like a jig-saw puzzle, it assumes a definite pattern in the light of November 8.

Campaign Financing
The attitude of so-called "Big Business" in the recent campaign was unexpected.

Whereas you might have thought that industrial plutocrats would rush into the Republican state central committee's arms with open checkbooks—considering the labor grief which they have experienced and the possibility of a baby Wagner act and a wage-hour act in 1939—they actually did nothing of the kind.

Weekly News Review American Political Tradition Decried Republican Upsurge By Joseph W. LaBine

REPUBLICAN GAINS IN NOVEMBER ELECTION

States shown in black showed definite swing away from Democratic party by giving victory to Republicans in two out of possible three divisions (governor, senate, house); states shaded gave Republicans minor victory in house or gubernatorial election; states shown in white failed to record substantial change in political status or (Maryland, California, North Dakota) showed Democratic gains.

Politics

Like all natural phenomena and many not so natural, U. S. political fortunes run in cycles of liberalism and conservatism. Thus every lengthy Republican administration has been succeeded by a shorter Democratic one, attesting to the American people's inherent conservatism. Since the Republican party reached its latest low ebb under Candidate Alfred Landon in 1936, none but the most optimistic expected anything but a minor gain so early as 1938. But it has proved otherwise, thanks to (1) a growing belief that the Roosevelt administration's expensive recovery efforts have been unsuccessful, and (2) a fear that New Deal policies were encouraging the growth of radicalism.

Moreover, it has been apparent that the public must eventually protest against the political corruption which unavoidably gathers around so large a financial project as WPA. Though the Roosevelt administration may be blameless in this respect, political machines as that of Pennsylvania's Gov. George H. Earle have unsavory reputations.

Another consideration, one that received less attention than eventually proved justified, was dissatisfaction among America's numerically important farmers. Since the agricultural vote can control congress, it looked bad for the administration when this year's highly touted farm program failed. Despite Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace's sincere efforts, New Deal farm legislation has left producers in northern states without permanent relief.

Almost without exception the November general election has therefore made the U. S. return to its most normal political alignment in 15 years. (See Map). Always Democratic, the "solid South" has clung tenaciously to tradition. But this tradition does not mean the South will line up 100 per cent behind President Roosevelt, for South Carolina, Georgia and Maryland elected senators partially unsympathetic with the New Deal. Several other southern senators and congressmen, not up for re-election this year, are also unsympathetic.

Though in many cases the Republican trend is not so great as the above map might indicate, practically all northern states have shown a surge back to conservatism. This was especially marked in Minnesota and Wisconsin, where Farmer-Labor and Progressive partisans were ousted after long incumbencies. Michigan swung away from Democratic Gov. Frank Murphy largely because he sympathized with the radically tinged Committee for Industrial Organization. In all northwestern states the swing to Republicanism was due partly to agricultural dissatisfaction. New England's industrial population rebelled against allegedly oppressive taxation and the C. I. O., while this territory's traditional conservatism also played an important role. Substantially the same explanation can be made for votes in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The only important New Deal gains have come in California, where a rock-ribbed Republican governor was ousted; in North Dakota, whose notoriously unsettled political situation has freakishly placed a Democrat in the governor's chair, and in Maryland.

But such a resume does not tell the entire story, for even those states which remained Democratic have shown an amazingly strong Republican upsurge. New York's Gov. Herbert H. Lehman won by only 70,000 votes over his Republican opponent, youthful Thomas E. Dewey, whereas two years ago Mr. Lehman had a 500,000 margin. Illinois, which remains predominantly New Deal, increased its Republican house representation and returned a much larger conservative vote than in 1936.

Having gained at least 8 senators, 75 house members and 11 governors, the Republican party once more has a vocal minority in congress. Moreover its 1940 presidential hopes are better, despite the defeat in New York of Tom Dewey, once considered a likely candidate. If the 1938 election has created any new presidential possibilities, they are Ohio's Republican Sen. Robert Taft and Missouri's Democratic Sen. Bennett Champ Clark.

What the Republican upsurge will do for the U. S. remains conjectural, but post-election stock market activity has been encouraging. To aid industry, the American Federation of Labor is already banking on G. O. P. congressional aid in amending the Wagner labor relations act. The outstanding fact is that 1938's Republican party has emerged a liberal entity, well-spoken for its former ultra-conservatism.

Foreign

That a state visit can hold much international importance is sometimes hard to believe, since state visitors make a studied effort to avoid shop talk with their hosts. But diplomatic Great Britain refuses to minimize the significance of King George's visit to the U. S. next summer, and every sign indicates the English reasoning is correct.

Coupled with the U. S. visit is an invitation for French President Albert Lebrun to drink tea in Buckingham palace next spring, thereby returning the honor accorded by George's visit to Paris this past summer. While all this sounds like social pother, it really means that France and England are desperately trying to give the world a spectacle of democratic solidarity, offsetting the trumpeting of Premier Benito Mussolini and Chancellor Adolf Hitler. Though King George's visit will not result in a U. S.-British pact, it will certainly tighten the bonds between England and America.

This means that next spring and summer Italy and Germany will go into eclipse, while world democratic stages its show. There is every reason to believe the Fascist-Nazi nations appreciate this and realize they must gain their concessions from France and Britain within the next six months. That is why Hitler is pressing his demands for a return of British-mandated colonies, and why Mussolini is urging internationalization of the Suez canal.

People

The death of Turkey's dictator, President Kemal Ataturk, removes the most colorful totalitarianist of our era. A man whose passion was violation of every accepted rule of human behavior, he customarily stayed up all night, ate every food that disagreed with him, had an amazingly large capacity for raki liquor and champagne, was Turkey's champion cigarette smoker and drank gallons of coffee every day. He detested exercise. More benevolent and less anxious for self-aggrandizement than most dictators, Mustapha Kemal established a model nation out of the post-war debris of Turkey. At his death, the nation he founded looks in bewilderment for a successor, while Europe fears southeastbound Adolf Hitler may seize the opportunity to establish his economic strength in the Dardanelles.

Business

Government prosecution of combinations in alleged restraint of trade was known as "trust-busting" in the days of President Benjamin Harrison. In 1890 the Sherman anti-trust law began hacking at financial octopi in what was shown to be a legitimate campaign to keep American industry from killing itself by mushroomed growth.

Modern trust-busting is an outgrowth of the New Deal. Its intended victim is not the monopolistic trust of bygone days, but usually a group of powerful corporations which dominate an industry. But though the 1938 model trust buster can be credited with success (17 victories, 12 cases still pending, out of 42 filed since March 4, 1933) he might also be charged with making political capital of his job.

Thus it has been hinted that Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson, once an assistant attorney general, joined the anti-trust crusade last year largely in the hope of winning New York's Democratic gubernatorial nomination. If politics was the inspiration for some anti-trust suits, these same suits have now become such hot potatoes that a vanished political purpose does not justify the justice department's dropping them.

One possible example may be the trust case against the Aluminum Company of America.

To date this year-old investigation has failed to uncover much except a re-hash of testimony and evidence from the 1935 federal trade commission's probe, and a private litigation of a decade ago from which the company emerged with a clean bill of health.

Today's anti-trust division of the justice department has 90 lawyers compared with 15 in 1933, handling monopoly cases and proceedings connected with 31 other major acts of congress. Trust-busting boss is Thurman Arnold, whose fetish is investigating the price policies of industry. Says Mr. Arnold: "We are being forced to take control of inflexible price structures and coercions in restraint of trade today just as in 1933 we were forced to take control of the financing and marketing of securities."

Much interest now centers in the justice department's newly inaugurated suit against Delaware's Columbia Gas & Electric corporation for allegedly "conspiring to monopolize" the natural gas industry of Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Michigan. But in accordance with his probe of price policies, Thurman Arnold is probably more interested in oil. Since crude oil prices recently plummeted in the wake of alleged over-production by refiners, both the President and Mr. Arnold favor a program for state control over oil production and refining.

Harking back to the trust-busting days when Standard Oil's case first made the U. S. monopoly-conscious, the new probe will examine every phase of the oil industry from production to marketing. Though oil men will welcome an intelligent government program to stabilize crude oil prices, observers fail to see great consistency between this program to raise prices, and other monopoly quizzes which prosecute men for allegedly raising prices.

Religion

After 31 months of strife, four months of which cost 1,317 lives and left 1,150 wounded, Palestine's "holy war" is still not ended. The British-mandated territory has been Arabic for centuries but was set aside as a homeland for Jews following the World war, only to arouse Moslem fears that Hebrews would soon dominate the land. Using terrorism as their weapon, Arabs have attempted to force an immediate settlement on slow-moving Great Britain, but London has just announced its refusal to make an immediate decision. Great Britain proposes to call a conference of Jewish and Arab leaders whose compromise agreement would wash Great Britain's hands of all responsibility for the Holy Land. This would be fine except that Arabs refuse to arbitrate in this fashion, which leaves Palestine's problem still a hopeless muddle.

LOCAL PUPILS ARE WELCOMED TO WINDSOR

Concluded from page one. without a fortification? And still more remarkable than this is the fact that instead of fortifications the two countries build bridges to allow the free intermingling of Americans and Canadians. Governor Murphy in his inaugural speech in the dedication of the Sarnia-Port Huron Bridge remarked, 'Happy are the nations that build bridges instead of fortifications'. The friendship that has existed for the last one hundred years between Canada and United States should be an example of the binding strength of cooperative goodwill to the rest of the world.

"It was this friendly spirit that prompted your President to visit us last spring. It will be in the same friendly spirit that their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain, will visit the United States next spring. We know it is with the same feeling of good-will that has brought you Cass City students across the border to visit us today. These visits between American and Canadian high schools are significant not only for the educational standpoint but in the interest of International Peace as well, for it is to the youth of today that our Presidents, Kings and Prime Ministers look for the peace of the world tomorrow. We sincerely hope that you students will have as much fun visiting us today as we have had receiving you."

"Our only regret is that an afternoon's visit is much too brief for us to take you to Callander to see our 'Quints'. Had we known sooner that you were coming and had the Quints not been operated on for tonsil operations just at this time, we assure you that we would have brought them down here to Windsor to see you."

The Cass City group of students presented a program highly entertaining in character at the Windsor school assembly Tuesday. Mary Jayne Campbell as master of ceremonies presented theatrical stars, three Mexican guitarists, Walter Winchell impersonator, mechanical dolls, Little German band, style revue, one-man band, Four Harmony Boys, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, accordionists, tap dancers and Hawaiian guitar players. The Canadian audience decided the mechanical dolls and the German band the most popular numbers.

The local pupils were chaperoned by two teachers, Willis Campbell and Miss Edith Carlin. Pupils, teachers and bus driver were guests at a luncheon at the school and at a Rugby football game in the afternoon.

Safety in Cutting Trees Near Electric Light and Power Lines

Tree cutting near electric lines and power lines is a hazardous undertaking and the Detroit Edison Co. is willing to assist people in this work. C. L. Bougher, local agent of the company at Caro, in a letter to the Chronicle says:

"The Overhead Lines Department of The Detroit Edison Co. is always willing to send a gang of linemen to assist in any tree cutting operation to the extent of seeing that the electric light and power lines are kept clear. If an accident should happen during the cutting of a tree that would take down the power line, our employees are, of course, at hand to see that the wires are immediately replaced, thereby removing hazards to the public.

"The primary distribution wires carry from 2300 volts to 4800 volts. Where these wires are not at all dangerous in their positions, they create a hazard when they are lying on the ground.

"I do not wish to make an issue of this matter to the extent of alarming the public, but I know that our customers in this territory would be pleased to be informed that The Detroit Edison Co. is willing to send its line crews on occasion of cutting trees near electric light and power lines, and to see that the lines are properly protected. This protection, of course, is extended to the workmen who are cutting the trees."
