Plant Bureau Detectives Find Moles Assist Mice

WASHINGTON.—The department of agriculture has organized a staff of animal, insect and plant disease detectives along the lines of the famous justice department's agents.

The work of the "A-men" is under the direction of three bureaus: biological survey, for animals and birds; entomology, for insects, and plant quarantine, for plant diseases.

Grasshoppers are the "public enemy No. 1" among insect pests.

The most recent case solved by the bureau of biological survey was that of the ground mole, accused by gardeners with eating valuable bulbs.

The bureau absolved the mole of actually committing any crime, but found he was "an accessory before the fact."

"The myriad tunnels dug by the mole often become runways for the actual criminal, the small, short-tailed pine mice, or, in some instances, the field or meadow mice," the bureau said.

"These rodents are the real offenders. They are vegetarians and eat roots and bulbs of garden plants. The mice may be destroyed by poison bait, but such repellents placed in the runway merely cause the mole to dig a new tunnel around it."

Family Gathering and Farewell—

Thirty-nine of the Hicks family met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Morrison in Caro, Sunday, November 19, to bid farewell to their son and brother, George Hicks, who will be leaving in the near future for his home in Denovic, Ontario. George Hicks came 1,700 miles to be present at a most unusual family gathering when 110 of the Hicks clan met at the Hicks homestead to celebrate the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hicks of Deford. Again, Sunday November 19, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, with their ten children, their husbands and wives and 17 grandchildren had another grand opportunity for a glorious day together. Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hicks, who are still young in spirit, hope to meet with their family again November 5, 1940.

Full House at Home-coming—

The revivals which have been so well attended at the Novesta Church of Christ the past two weeks came to a close Sunday evening, November 19. Services began at 10:00 a. m. and lasted until 9:30 p. m. Guests were present from Owosso, Pontiac, Flushing, Lapeer and local churches. Special music was furnished in the morning service by Audley and Maxine Horner, Joan Atkin and Marvin Pratt. Baptismal services were held at 12:30 in White Creek, one mile south of the church. A potluck lunch was enjoyed in the church basement at 1:30. Afternoon services began at 2:45 with Brother Ralph Woodard of Lapeer as guest speaker. Special music was furnished by the ladies' quartet and the mixed quartet of the Church of Christ. Christian Endeavor began at 7:30 followed by an old-time hymn sing, a solo by Mrs. Audley Horner and the evening sermon by Brother Ali Jarman.

Mrs. Hattie Pelton helped her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Collins, celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary in Kingston Sunday, November 19. Other guests at the Collins home were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crittenden and family. Mr. Collins left Monday to go deer hunting while Mrs. Collins and son, Dickie, are spending the week with Mrs. Pelton.

William Gillis of Imlay City came Thursday for a few days at the John McArthur home.

Mr. and Mrs. George McArthur visited Sunday at the Charles Henderson home.

Amy Deneen spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Binder.

BIG INCREASE IN LIQUOR SALES IN '39 IN MICHIGAN

and unfair trade practices—safeguarding youth from evils of alcohol—promoting temperance—and so forth. It's a big assignment!

To regulate the profit motive, the state "freezes" prices and turns over to the state general fund a substantial slice of revenue. During 1938, for example, liquor sales netted the state treasury $8,806,810.93, while the sale of stamps, licenses and other tax items brought in $5,084,357.35. (The state welfare appropriation for the present fiscal year was $8,750,000.)

What to Do?

In handling a subject as controversial as liquor, obviously the state commission must strike a "happy medium" much of the time—the middle path between two possible extremes of public opinion. Hence answers to the following are not easy to arrive at: First, should the number of liquor outlets be reduced? Through several state administrations since repeal of the 18th amendment, the number of selling places has been gradually increased until today there are 16,202 different spots in Michigan where an adult can purchase a drink. This number is exclusive of the 100 state liquor stores.

In the opinion of many observers, this number is excessively high. Too many liquor dealers invite winking at the law because of intense competition and resultant lessened net profit per outlet. On the other hand, to reduce the number below reasonable needs would only invite the return of the "blind pig" of prohibition days.

Second, when should such places be required to close? The present closing hour is 2:00 a. m. but there has been some agitation for a midnight limit. This matter is complicated in some places by night work shifts in mass production industry. There is also the "blind pig" alternative.

Third, how can sale of liquor to minors be prevented? The state law forbids sale or serving of drinks to minors 18 years old or under. How is the bartender to know the youth's age? Should the state issue license cards to drinkers? (The tax implication of this one evoked a cloakroom tempest at the 1939 legislative session.)

Politics Again

Fourth, how can politics (or favoritism) be eliminated from the state's handling of liquor goods? Remember, the state is the employer of 730 persons who handle and sell liquor and otherwise participate in administration and enforcement of the state act and the commission's regulations. How can favoritism be removed from selection of liquor goods by the state for sale in Michigan? (Here is a potential source of major corruption. Even the "gifts" of liquor goods to politically favored individuals at the 1937 Lansing Christmas season caused a mild scandal and a public rebuke from Frank Murphy, then governor.)

It has been said many times that national prohibition was largely the result of an indifferent and selfish liquor industry. Distillers and brewers in their rush for profits condoned or overlooked abuses which finally outraged sensibilities of American voters everywhere. (Contrast to this the voluntary policing of movies by the motion picture industry through Will Hays, control of baseball by the major leagues through Keneshaw Mountain Landis.)

Hence advocates of state liquor control maintain that reasonable safeguards against liquor abuses are actually for the best interests of the liquor business itself. Control thus supercedes revenue as the state's primary objective. It is social rather than economic in purpose.

Because of the importance of the above pending problems, considerable importance is being placed by Lansing observers on the appointment to be made by Governor Luken D. Dickinson, within the next few weeks. The term of V. F. Gormley, Newberry, expires on December 15. The appointee must be a Democrat.

Uses of Cork

Cork is more than a bottle stopper. It is used with great success in offices for both walls and floors, its brownish tones adding warm spaciousness, and its porous properties minimizing the distractions of noise. It is also used as a floor covering in nurseries, in natural or stained colors. Easy to clean, and soft for infant spills, it is also saving of mother and dad's temper in that it successfully absorbs the rattling noises of toys, miniature machinery, falling blocks, etc.
