Miss Knoblet and C. H. Schember Marry

The Riverside M. B. C. Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Thursday evening, May 30, when Miss Ruth Marguerite Knoblet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rinerd Knoblet, of Cass City became the bride of Mr. Clarence H. Schember, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schember, of Elkton.

Rev. E. M. Gibson, pastor of the Cass River Circuit, read the rites at 8:00 p. m. before a company of 75 relatives and friends.

Apple blossoms, lilacs and bouquets of tulips decorated the church, while lighted tapers shed a soft light over the scene.

Miss Knoblet, who was given in marriage by her father, was a charming bride in her floor length gown of snow white satin, trimmed in lace and cut on princess lines with train. Her finger tip veil was held in position by a beaded crown and clusters of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies and a white Bible.

Miss Martha Knoblet of Cass City, her sister's only attendant, wore a floor length dress of peach silk net and lace over satin, also cut on princess lines. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and delphinium and wore a crown of pink snapdragons.

O. Schember of Elkton attended his brother as best man.

Little Miss Charlotte Knoblet, sister of the bride, and Bobbie Schember, brother of the groom, carrying bouquets of roses, dropped rose petals along the way as the bridal party approached the altar,

June 20 Is Date Set for the Old Settlers' Picinc

Early-day residents of the Novesta Township community have set Thursday, June 20, as the date for the annual old settlers' picnic which will be held again at the Deford Methodist Church. In a short program, the welcome address will be given by Mrs. Phebe Ferguson of Novesta and the response by Mrs. Hattie Koppelberger of Kingston. Mrs. A. J. Pratt will give a reading and Ali Jarman will offer prayer.

Musical numbers will include selections by the Church of Christ quartet and the Deford quartet and a duet by Mrs. Audley Horner and Miss Maxine Horner. The program will open by the group singing "God Bless America."

Howard Retherford is president of the organization; Mrs. Robert Horner, secretay; and Charles Kilgore, treasurer.

The old settlers' annual gathering had its inception on October 20, 1913, when Mrs. Ross Allen invited a few of the old settlers to their home to celebrate Mr. Allen's 65th birthday. The day was spent in telling stories of pioneer days and was so thoroughly enjoyed that they agreed to meet once a year. No record was kept until 1920 when they met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Snover. At that time, Loren Churchill was elected president and Mrs. Jesse Sole, secretary-treasurer. The program committee that year was Mrs. Etta May Weeks, Mrs. Jesse Sole and Miss Addie Bunker.

Meetings were first held in the homes and later in Randall's and Bridges' groves, and the Church of Christ, and now at the Deford church. Of the earlier members numbering 88 only 40 are left.

Wants More National Spirit among Youth

Declaring that the United States is inherently strong and almost unlimited in possibilities potentially, the nation does not possess the strength it should in the face of a crisis, said Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti in an address before the Rotary Club here Tuesday noon. The nation's problem is the problem of every community.

The speaker advocated that the community strengthen the national spirit among its youth and that Washington officials be encouraged in their program of military and naval defense.

Mr. Cleary was introduced by Frederick Pinney, program chairman. They were classmates at the University of Michigan.

Independents Win from Vassar in 9th

After losing their first two league games—one to Akron 12-2 and one to Fairgrove 14-7—Cass City Independents came from behind to defeat Vassar in a thrilling contest.

The teams went into the ninth inning deadlocked at five runs. Vassar scored two runs and things looked very bad for the home team, but two walks, a fielder's choice and three hits spelled defeat for the Vassar nine.

Bates, Vassar pitcher, allowed 10 hits and struck out seven. Hicky, for Cass City, allowed 12 hits and set 12 down on strikes.

Loyalty Is Greatest Memorial Said the Speaker Thursday

A sprinkle or two of rain threatened to mar the Memorial Day program at Elkland Cemetery on Thursday afternoon, but after a few drops had fallen, the sun shone again in all its splendor.

The Cass City High School Band under the direction of Arthur Hesburn opened the afternoon's program with two selections and Rev. Frank B. Smith, pastor of the Baptist Church of Cass City, was introduced as the speaker of the day by State Representative Audley Rawson.

Speaking on the subject, "The Greatest Memorial—Loyalty," Mr. Smith said: "Those who have gone on have left us that precious heritage and inspiration—loyalty, the answer to present day problems. Loyalty to our country, to the principles on which it was founded and to its leaders; loyalty to God, to His word, to prayer, to His will, and to His Son."

The program was concluded with the rendition of "America" by the band.

As in former years, many people came from distant points to attend the exercises and to decorate the graves of loved ones. The occasion made possible the exchange of greetings between friends and acquaintances whose meetings are infrequent.

Charming Scenes in Grade Operetta

The charming scenes of the grade operetta, "Dream Boat," soon made the audience forget the cool breezes scampering across the Cass City High School lawn on Wednesday evening. A group of singing children were first on the outdoor stage. Soon they answered the call of the dream man in the distance and climbed aboard the pink-sailed dream boat which came into view. This scene was one of the most striking in the entire production.

The second act took place in the Queen's court on top of the mountain of dreams. The little children from earth were guests, and entertainment was given to them by the dream people. Pirates, Indians, fairies, gnomes, talking flowers, night moths, hillocks, and the chorus delighted the little visitors and also the watching audience.

The names of about two hundred children from grades 1 to 6 were listed on the program as active participators in "Dream Boat." The helping teachers and mothers behind the scenes made the success of the year's rendition of the annual outdoor operetta due to many interested workers.

HEAVEN AND HELL.

If people want to know what the difference is between heaven and hell, they might well look at the contrast between America and Europe. The difference between the future states of the righteous and the wicked may not be greater.

In America, we have the advent of the "good old summer time." On the ball grounds we hear the pleasant crack of the batted baseball, and the ecstatic shouts of the rooters. From the swimming pools come the happy shrieks of the bathers. The pleasure parties are zipping along the motor roads, while from the open windows drift the pleasant rhythm of radio music. A happy scene, and our troubles seem little.

In poor, battered, bleeding, war torn Europe, what a contrast! The mind is appalled, it can not comprehend a hundredth part of it. Millions of pathetic refugees are plodding along the roads, weary, bedraggled, despairing. The homes of many are in ruins. Many of them have lost members of their families. Most of them see no hope of a happy life again. They drag wearily along, carrying what little they can of their miserable belongings.

The American people should not gloat over this contrast, or their freedom so far from the horrors of war. We owe our relative safety to the wisdom of our ancestors, who had the sense to flee from such lands of horror. So our immunity, for the great majority of us, is due not to our own foresight, but simply to our luck in being descended from peoples who had the sense to put a great ocean between themselves and this misery.

The American people should look across the sea to those lands of sorrow and despair, and give out of their relative abundance to those who are stripped of all.

THE MONTH OF WEDDINGS.

The June wedding has become a kind of tradition, as a picture of beauty, sentiment, and the happiness of united lovers. Nature pours out a wealth of floral triumphs in June. Countless brides take advantage of this colorful time to turn their weddings into pictures of romance and artistic effect.

Weddings are beautiful apart from the loveliness produced by decorations, costumes, and the fateful words of the marriage service. A wedding touches very closely to the chords of human emotion. We see two people starting out on a great adventure, the creation of a new family. The world is an uncertain place, with difficulties and dangers on every hand, but the wedding couples face the mists of the hidden future with a resolute heart.

They are inspired by the strongest emotion that moves human life, the passion of love. They make solemn pledges to bear the burdens of life unitedly. The courage thus displayed is a reminder to us all that however severe the trials of life, they can be borne if families meet them with a resolute heart and combined effort. There can be hope and confidence in the darkest day, and the rocky roads of life can be surmounted.

So the blessings of friends and neighbors and the whole community go out to all who unite their fortunes in a June wedding, or at any time in the year. There are days when there is hot and dusty work to be done, with no one playing any wedding march and no line of friends saying best wishes.

Every wedded couple should look back to the wedding day, and try to carry out every one of those solemn promises. Then when the sunset of life comes, they will have made a good journey, and have been rewarded with life's best gifts.

GRADUATION DAY.

One of the great days of the journey through life here in Michigan is that time when the youth graduates from a school or college. The day marks one of those deep lines of division which separate the eras and periods of experience. If the graduation is the final one, completing the student's education, it is like a great bridge over which he crosses into an unknown future.

Yesterday he was a mere student, struggling to learn the wisdom of the ages, and acquire some skill in handling the tools through which we build something worth while. The thoughts of thousands of wise men, philosophers, poets, scientists, have been poured into his mind. He has been given access to the libraries of the world, to find what the human race has learned in its upward climb.

Tomorrow he becomes one of the workers of the world, or at least he tries to become one. A mighty array of new problems arise to torment him. He not merely has to sell his services to the world, but he has to make the services so pleasing to the world that he will receive bread and meat and house rent in return.

To the public the most interesting kind of graduation is perhaps the program in which leading members of the graduating class are given a chance to utter their own thoughts. The world thereby gets an idea of what they have learned through these years of study. It is a pleasure to see what wise and mature thoughts are presented on these occasions. The graduates know a lot more than their parents did at the same age.

They say the candidates for office usually promise too much. But when it comes to promising how about the promises of the average voter who shakes hands with the candidate a day or two before the election?

FATHER'S DAY.

June 9 is named to be observed as Father's Day. It does not appear how extensively this occasion is observed. Father will not be overwhelmed by any great multitude of gifts, tributes, and appreciation. There are times when Father is regarded as something of a joke. His day may be observed in some families by the suggestion that he celebrate his own day by taking the kids to the ball game.

Perhaps one reason why Father's Day is not regarded with more general recognition is that Father does not invariably attend strictly to his duties as a Father. The family would have a hard row without Father's efforts. In the main he wears his harness faithfully, and pulls the load over countless hard places. Give him a break on Father's Day.

A 50,000 PICNIC.

They had the second annual all-states picnic June 1 at Ontario, California, at which guests were expected from every state in the United States, with tables set for 50,000 people. It was a gesture of friendship for all the states of the union, and symbolic of the tie of neighborliness which should hold all the states together.

When people go on a picnic anywhere, they forget the petty jealousies of their families and neighbors. They are so busy eating ham sandwiches and batting balls on the picnic ground, that they disregard some mean things the neighbors have said. A picnic for all the states is a reminder that we are all neighbors, and should work together as harmoniously as people do for the fun of picnic day.

The next census in Europe won't be anything for the various chambers of commerce to brag about.

A popular slogan for the campaign this year might be "billions for defense but not one cent for taxes."

By the way, what has become of the old fashioned wise cracker who said that this was a phony war?

Some people have queer ideas of the mechanical cases of accidents. An automobile is only as safe as its driver, and if the driver is satisfied to operate an automobile, knowing that the mechanical equipment is faulty, then the car itself is not the direct cause of any resulting accident.

Senseless machines never cause an accident.

Faulty brakes have been the cause of more accidents than any other mechanical defect. You should be able to stop your car when required; but keep in mind, too, that mechanical brakes cannot perform the impossible. Excessive speeds coupled with the wrong conditions contribute not only to the frequency but to the severity of our automobile accidents.

Keep your car in first class condition.

Excess Weight Causes Heart Added Labor

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

MANY smile as they speak of a friend as acquiring, or having acquired a "middle-aged spread" although he is in his early 30s. As a matter of fact, this individual is or has aged himself by a number of years.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

Aside from the natural disadvantages of overweight which slow up the individual's physical activities, one of the more serious results is the increase in blood pressure. It has long been said that a man is as old as his arteries, meaning that as the arteries (bloodvessels) lose some of their elastic tissue, the loss is made up by hard or nonelastic tissue. As blood cannot be pumped into a hard resisting tube as easily as into one that is soft and elastic, the heart has to use that much more pressure to push blood onward. This means more wear and tear on the heart.

Dr. Barton

Even when the blood vessels have not lost their elastic tissue, excess weight makes it necessary for the heart to push more blood through the blood vessels and the pressure needs must be considerable higher.

In Proceedings of Life Extension Examinations, Dr. H. A. Ley says:

"As age increases and its accompanying changes take place in the body, it is well known that an increase in weight will usually be related to an increase in tension of the bloodvessels — increased blood pressure. After a reduction in weight of 5 per cent or more, the blood pressures of a group of 3,516 applicants for life insurance were reduced despite the fact that the applicants were then five years older. Increases in weight showed greater increases in blood pressure than might be attributed to advancing age. Loss of weight in people of normal weight produced greater reductions than did similar losses in the overweight. Gain in weight among the normal weight persons showed less increase in blood pressure than similar gains among the overweight."

Epilepsy and Routine Treatment

ALTHOUGH attacks of epilepsy can be prevented entirely in many cases, and can be reduced in number and severity in others, there are still some cases in which attacks occur despite the usual, routine treatment. This treating is the cutting down on all starch foods and on all liquids, increasing the amount of fat foods, and the daily use of phenobarbital in the dose prescribed by the physician.

Physicians are often asked to advise young men and women whether it would be wise to marry when there is a family history of epilepsy. This is often difficult because epilepsy is sometimes caused by injury and there may be the history of but one case as far back as the family history can be traced.

Epilepsy History Traced.

Dr. W. G. Lennox, Dr. F. A. Gibbs and Erna L. Gibbs, Boston, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, state that although the opinion that heredity is an important influence in epilepsy is widespread, only one epileptic person in five is able to name any relatives who had or has epilepsy. By means of electric equipment they were able to record on paper the brain waves of 128 persons—parents or children of 78 persons with epilepsy, and 50 healthy persons.

"Definitely abnormal records or tracings were obtained in 54 per cent of the relatives of epileptics against 6 per cent in the 50 healthy persons (control group), who were not related to epileptics. In 46 of the 78 families, records were made of both parents. In 28 per cent both parents and in 94 per cent at least one parent had abnormal records."

From the above records, these research workers believe that the abnormal rhythm or regularity of brain waves is "inheritable" and may represent a predisposition to epilepsy or similar ailments.

War Brings Up Channel Tube

Tunnel Project Is Again Considered by France and Britain.

LONDON.—Work on a railroad tunnel beneath the English channel, suspended nearly 60 years ago, may be resumed after the war.

Anatole de Monzie, French minister of public works, declared in the French chamber of deputies that construction of the tunnel would be one of the first public works undertaken when peace comes.

The war has served to focus attention anew on the project as a possible national defense measure—to provide a life line safe from plane and submarine attack by which food may be sped to this island and by which troops may be sent to France.

More than a mile of the tunnel was bored some six decades ago before construction was halted in 1882 by Joseph Chamberlain, father of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and then president of the board of trade.

Halted by Injunction.

Chamberlain obtained a permanent injunction to restrain the Channel Tunnel company from boring any further toward the French coast without parliamentary sanction.

Regularly since then, advocates of the tunnel have attempted unsuccessfully to obtain this sanction. The present prime minister only last year said he did not believe that the tunnel would provide any extra protection to the food supply of the country in the event of an air attack.

However, Winston Churchill wrote in 1936 that such a tunnel would be of inestimable value in wartime. And De Monzie in his French chamber speech said:

"We see now the great international need of the tunnel."

A tunnel linking England and France first was proposed in 1802 by a French engineer named Mathieu, but it was not until 1872 that the first channel tunnel company was formed.

The first actual work was started by the South Eastern Railway in 1881. Later that same year, the Submarine Continental Railway company was formed with a capital of $1,250,000 and took over the work, absorbing the original Channel Tunnel company.

Work continued until Chamberlain obtained his injunction. The construction company still is in existence, though it reverted to its original name of the Channel Tunnel company in 1887.

The nearest that the tunnel company came to obtaining official approval since the suspension of work was in 1930, when a parliamentary committee voted in favor of the project. It was rejected in the house of commons, however, by a seven-vote margin.

The cost of the tunnel has been estimated by M. Dautry, chairman of the French Channel Tunnel committee, at $120,000,000. Under his plan, the tunnel would stretch beneath the channel for 20 miles, with its lowest section 300 feet below sea level.

Since British and French experts have estimated receipts the first year would total nearly $15,000.000, Dautry said, the tunnel would be self-supporting.

Picture Address Letter Reaches Its Destination

OGDEN, UTAH.—The mail must go through—even though it lacks an address.

To prove that nothing feazes United States mail carriers, R. A. Garner, directory clerk of the Ogden post office, delivered a letter whose only address was a portrait of the high school girl for whom it was intended.

When the letter arrived Garner reasoned that the picture on the letter was of a girl about high school age. He went to school officials, who recognized her and called her to receive it.

The letter was for Lois Behling, of Ogden, and the creator of the novel system of addressing was J. P. Bartlett, formerly of Ogden, but now attending school in Chicago.

Miss Behling said the sender "must have mailed it that way for a joke—he knows my address."

Device Is Invented to See Through Heavy Fogs

BOSTON.—A device for "seeing" through fog promises to end one of the chief dangers to sailors and airplane pilots.

William H. Priess, president of the International Television Radio corporation of Jersey City, described his "invisible light" machine on a visit to Boston.

It consists of special photo-electric cells that will pick up the invisible infra-red rays which can penetrate the thickest of fog banks. The rays then will be changed into a continuous moving picture of the landmarks and dangers lying ahead.

LEICESTERSHIRE, ENGLAND.—Monks at St. Bernard's monastery, Charnwood forest, Leicestershire, were proud of their beards. That was before the war. Now they are clean shaven. They found that beards and gas masks didn't go well together.

$250 in Prizes for Best Photos Taken in State

Attention, camera enthusiasts!

Amateur photographers of the Thumb area have an opportunity to win cash ranging from $100 to $1.00.

The Michigan Press Association of which the Chronicle is a member announces the opening of the second annual amateur camera contest with $250 in prizes in addition to ribbons and state-wide recognition. An exhibit of winning photographs and those receiving honorable mention will be held at the 1940 Michigan State Fair, contest co-sponsor.

Last year's competition attracted more than 130 entries. The $100 first prize went to a Kalamazoo man who used an inexpensive Michigan-made camera. The $50 second prize went to a Highland Park hobbyist whose camera was an inexpensive Brownie. Chief photographers of the three Detroit newspapers served as judges together with two publishers: Philip T. Rich, Midland Daily News, and George R. Averill, Birmingham Eccentric, both camera enthusiasts.

"Here is an opportunity for everyone to participate in a Michigan amateur camera contest and perhaps win a valuable prize," stated Floyd T. Miller, general manager of the Daily Tribune at Royal Oak, who is president of the state newspaper association. "Michigan offers a wealth of scenic beauty spots. Children and animals make interesting camera subjects."

Professional photographers and employees of the State Fair are ineligible to compete. Further details will be announced later.

IN LOVING memory of our precious wife and sister, Susie Vogel Shoemaker, who slipped away one year ago, June 3, 1939:

The Departed.
GOD CALLED.

A gardener walked through his garden,
He saw a flower there—
A full-blown, lovely flower
He had watched with tend'rest care,
He stooped and whispered gently,
"Come, brighten, my little room,
There are others there, but I need you."
And he plucked the fragrant bloom.

The Master walked through his garden
And saw a life made pure,
A soul that leaned on Jesus,
And leaning felt secure.
"Child of my love, I'm calling—
His voice with tenderness shook—
"There are others in Heaven, but I need you."
And the lovely life he took.

We question the all-wise Master,
For we cannot understand
Why we should bear the burden
His infinite love has planned,
But we who bow in sorrow
Must trust the God above;
For on some glad tomorrow,
We'll meet the one we love.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Identification: A rule in existence ever since the establishment of its lost and found department was broken by the Third avenue railway system when a motorman found a charm bracelet evidently of great sentimental value. Ordinarily the railway company would merely have awaited a claimant. In this instance, however, the lost article was advertised by means of cards in various cars. The woman owner soon turned up and the motorman received a reward of $15. But what I started out to say was that the incident disclosed the fact that among the articles left by passengers each week, an average of two sets of false teeth are found. There never is a question of ownership. The owner is usually so pleased to recover the property that he or she pops it into his or her mouth immediately and if there is a fit, the worries of the railway company come to a happy ending.

* * *

Street Scene: Youngsters on sidewalks in the district known as Hell's Kitchen . . . Little girls playing with dolls, the faces of which are chipped and broken . . . Yet evidently loved though a leg or arm may be missing . . . Small boys, seemingly oblivious of the girls, engaging in various antics, including much wrestling . . . A pale woman watering geraniums standing behind a shining window . . . A street cleaner stopping to read a bit from a discarded newspaper before throwing it into his little cart . . . A big car, driven by a hard-faced youth, rapidly approaching . . . Brakes scream and the car pauses . . . Then dashes on . . . The driver looks back with a laugh . . . But there are tears in the eyes of boys and girls as they gather around a mangled puppy.

* * *

Stew stuff: Maybe this one is old but I'd never heard it before and so I giggled when Alice Frost told it:

A man was sitting at a bar downing one drink after another and laughing boisterously. Frequently, as he mumbled to himself, he held his hand as if in protest. Finally the bartender's curiosity got the better of him.

"Excuse me," he remarked, "but what do you think you are doing?"

"Nothin'," replied the souse. "Just tellin' myself jokes."

"But," persisted the barkeeper, "why the hand in the air?"

"Oh, that's when I stop me if I've heard it."

* * *

Manhattan Mirages: (As imagined by Deane Janis) A taxicab speeds up to a hotel with a fare comfortably parked in the back seat . . . The fare digs into his pocket for change . . . The cabby hops out and opens the door . . . "Two dollars even," he says . . . "Here's two and a quarter," remarks the fare . . . "Sorry, sir," returns the driver politely. "I never take tips" . . . Two beautiful girls, plainly quite lonely, sitting on a Central park bench . . . Two sailors look earnestly at the girls as they pass . . . The girls smile . . . One sailor turns to the other and inquires, "What kind of a bird is that in that tree over there?"

Suggestion: A feature of a recent chamber music concert given by the Curtis quartet was the rarely heard "Forellen," or "Trout" quintet of Franz Schubert. The number was received with great applause and the next morning one of the quartet's admirers, to signalize the triumph, sent the artists a choice brook trout. Writing to thank him for the novel gift, Orlando Cole, cellist of the ensemble, reported, "And I think you may be interested to know that we are now rehearsing Hadyn's 'Ox Minuet.'"

* * *

End Piece: Allen Prescott tells the one about the movie executive who whizzed by his receptionist and babbled, "I'll be back in ten minutes. If anybody calls, tell 'em I went downstairs for coffee." Then he dashed out, hesitated a moment, returned, stuck his head in the door and shouted, "Make that tea!"

U. S. Is Becoming Scientific Center

Nine Nobel Prize Winners Now Located Here.

BERKELEY, CALIF.—As a result of the war and unsettled conditions in Europe, the United States has attracted the top rank scientists of the world, and is becoming not only the haven for science but the world center of it, officials of the University of California agree.

This is indicated, it is pointed out by the fact that five of the last six Nobel prize winners in physics are working in the United States, while the records of the Nobel foundation show that several prize winners in other years also are carrying on in this country.

Two of the last six winners, Dr. Enrico Fermi of Columbia university and Dr. Ernest Lawrence of California, are working in the campus of the University of California, Dr. Fermi is the holder of the Hitchcock professorship and Dr. Lawrence heads the university's radiation laboratory.

Facts and figures on the Nobel prize winners in physics, as gathered by Prof. Raymond T. Bridge, reveal the impressive part that this country is playing in the development of physics studies.

Nine of the Physics Nobel prize winners are in the United States.

The five of six latest winners include Carl D. Anderson and V. G. Hess, both of the California Institute of Technology, who won the prize jointly in 1936; Dr. Clinton J. Davisson of the Bell Telephone laboratories, who shared the prize with Dr. George P. Tompson, noted British physicist in 1937, and Dr. Fermi and Lawrence, who won the prize in 1938 and 1939 respectively.

The other four winners working in this country are Dr. Albert Einstein, compounder of the Einstein theory of relativity, now at the Institute for Advance Study of Princeton university, winner of 1921; Dr. Robert A. Millikan, University of Chicago, winner in 1923; Dr. James Franck, Johns Hopkins university, winner in 1925 with Dr. Gustav Hertz of Germany, and Dr. Arthur H. Compton, University of Chicago, winner in 1927 with Dr. Charles Rees Wilson, another noted British physicist.

Altogether, 46 scientists in many countries, have won the Nobel prize in physics, the first being William Konrad Roentgen, who created the Roentgen ray.

Plane Industry Sets U. S. Record for '39 Exports

WASHINGTON.—Harry L. Hopkins, secretary of commerce, announced that exports of aeronautical products during 1939 set a record for the industry, topping the 1938 figures by 86 per cent and those of 1937 by 197 per cent. France and Great Britain headed the list, accounting for 66 per cent of the 1939 total of $117,081,212, which was in itself 32 per cent of all aeronautic exports ever sent from this country.

France was the leader of the 91 nations buying aviation products from the United States last year, spending $42,484,742. France's total expenditures for similar purposes in 1938 were $878,775. Great Britain ran second with $34,484,800. Her 1938 expenditures were $3,916,117.

Twelve hundred planes were exported last year. Their total value was $66,386,866. Other exports included 1,380 engines, worth $14,120,035; parachutes and parts valued at $775,389, and aircraft and engine parts, instruments and accessories worth $35,798,922.

London Drops to Third Place Rank Among Cities

LONDON.—Evacuation and war conditions have robbed London of its title of being the world's biggest city.

Before the war, the populations of the world's largest cities were London, 8,202,818; New York, 6,930,446; Tokyo, 6,000,000; Berlin, 4,250,000. But London now is in third place with a population of barely 5,000,000.

Some 12,000 people have moved from one suburb alone; 15,000 from another; 18,000 from another. And there are still 464,000 mothers and children living in country areas.

The governor of the Gas Light and Coke company, Sir David Milne Watson, says there has been a decrease of 1,500,000 customers in London since war began. Taking an average of two people to a home only, this accounts for fully 3,000,000 people.

Dutch Seaman Learns English in Hospital

SEATTLE.—It looked like misfortune to Antone Steenbergen, Dutch seaman aboard the Holland-American liner Orechtdyk, when he fell 35 feet from a painting scaffold into the ship's engine room.

But after 15 weeks in a hospital here, he was ready to admit he actually fell into a knowledge of the English language.

Nurses taught him the language. "It didn't take me long to learn," Steenbergen said. "I had to speak English or not at all."

Michigan Mirror

Non-Partisan News Letter

Lansing — Germany's blitzkrieg threat of European domination and America's belated awakening from pipe dreams of peaceful isolation have just about put Michigan politics and state affairs into near-total eclipse.

Verily, these are days of confusion and fears.

The fast-changing situation is bewildering, to put it mildly.

History is being written with lightning speed. Issues are reshaping in similar tempo. How the voter will react to such issues as economy, deficits, isolationism, unemployment, social reforms, business recovery and "keep out of war" when the British empire appears tottering, France has its back to the wall, and Roosevelt is being criticized for not spending enough money on armaments is one of those dizzy situations that nobody foresaw a month ago.

A Republican bigwig remarked the other day: "The issues are changing so fast it's impossible today to tell what will be needed to win the election in November." And it looks like he was right.

Michigan to Benefit

Exports have been declining and farm products particularly are being hard hit, but Michigan remains a bright spot on the nation's economic map.

For several months we have enjoyed business "better than average."

Because of our high development of mass production methods in industry, Michigan stands to receive major benefits from the sudden spurt of rearmament orders from Washington. Steel, motors, machinery, retooling, army trucks, artillery guns, shell forgings, cartridge cases, and other military items will all be manufactured in Michigan.

Michigan industrial centers will be an important hub in this feverish rush to arm ourselves on lines of modern blitzkrieg warfare. Motor companies are gearing to turn out machine guns, cannons, gunsights, tanks, airplane engine parts and even torpedo boats. Among the products which Ford will probably turn out are submarine chasers and airplanes, both on assembly line schedules.

Thousands of other parts come from motor company supply firms, many of which are located in small towns in Michigan and other Middle Western states.

Be Thankful!

At a time when Hitler is outdoing Napoleon and when democracy is falling back before the grim march of dictatorship, we should be devoutly thankful that we live in the United States.

One of the most enlightning word portraits of the American democracy of free initiative and liberty which we have ever read was voiced recently by a Michigan educator—Dr. James Thomas, president of Chrysler Institute of Engineering, Detroit.

"In 1790 we took a country that had 400 millions of income and in 140 years we raised that to 80 billions," he said.

"We took a country that had a new wealth of 500 millions, and in 140 years we raised that to 375 billions.

"We took a country that had three millions of popuation and raised that to 125 millions.

"We took a country with no roads at all and built 600,000 miles of paved roads, 3,000,000 miles of roads, and we put 25,000,000 automobiles on those roads in our anxiety to get somewhere, only exceeded by our anxiety to get back to where we started that we might start somewhere else.

Wealth of America

"We produce 85 per cent of all the automobiles produced in the world. And did you know that we have more radios than all of the rest of the world combined? We have more bathtubs than all the rest of the world.

They say that 7 per cent of the population of the planet, living here in the United States, tilling 5 per cent of the tillable acreage in the world, produce half of the food crops produced on earth. One English authority said that we had created and owned half of the wealth of the world since the Revolutionary War. Whether that is true, 60 per cent of all the minerals extracted from this planet are taken out of the ground of the United States.

"And I know this—that half of the world's communication facilities are here in America and that nearly half of all the railways and nearly half of all the electrical energy on the planet, and this 7 per cent of the population of the planet enjoys such high standard of living that we drink half of the world's coffee, use half of the world's tin, a little over half of the world's rubber, three-fourths of the world's silk, one-third of the world's coal, and two-thirds of the world's crude oil."

Education, Too

And if you hastily conclude that we Americans have gone sled-length for crass-materialistic culture, then listen to these facts:

"That in the 140 years we built three times as many colleges and endowed them with nearly five times as much money as all the rest of the world in any period of 140 years.

"We built three times as many libraries and put nearly five times as many books in those libraries as all the rest of the world in any period of 140 years.

"In 1933, when we were right at the bottom of that other depression, we found that we had 29,500,000 boys and girls and young people in schools and colleges in this country and employed 1,000,000 teachers to teach them. That is 30,500,000 people working at this thing we call idealistic culture.

"Between 1870 and 1940 our population increased 218 per cent and in spite of that, the gainfully employed increased 291 per cent right at a period when we were making our most rapid technological development."

More Persons Employed

And here's one for the books!

"Would it surprise you if I told you that more people are gainfully employed in 1930 than was true in 1870, 1880, 1890, and 1910? That is what our census shows.

"Would it surprise you if I told you that in 1875 only 324 people out of each thousand were gainfully employed, and in 1900, only 100 out of every thousand, and that between 1900 and 1930, that is, the 30-year period of our most rapid technological development, we created 20,000,000 new jobs, and that now one workman out of seven is making things his father never saw if he is past 55, and one man out of every four is making things his grandfather never saw if he is past 60?"

Yes, we should be thankful!

Fascism's Failure

Fascism's triumphs on the battlefields, paid at a staggering toll of human blood, are in sorrowful contrast to the lowered standards of living which fascism has imposed on the peoples of Germany and Italy.

According to official Italian statistics, the wages of farm laborers have declined from an average of 14 lire per day in 1927, 13 in 1929, 10.90 in 1931, 9.25 in 1932 and only 8.90 in 1935—a slump of 37 per cent in eight years. Because the prices of consumption goods have fallen only slowly, the actual purchasing power of wages in Italy has dropped to a level of at least 15 per cent below the level prior to advent of fascism.

Since 1930 both the quantity and quality of food available in Italy has fallen, so the records show. Average wheat consumption is less today than it was before the first World War. Two-thirds of farm land are held by a tenth of all farmers; sharecropping has increased; labor unions have been abolished; even the eight-hour day has been forgotten.

All this, too, is on the record.

Yes, we in Michigan should be thankful!

Germany's Price

German industrial wages are only a fraction of those paid in Michigan.

Here is a table of hour rates for Germany workmen compared with average rates for American workmen:

General building labor—German 22.5c; American 95c.

Skilled metal worker—German 22.2c; American 65-95c.

Paper processing, skilled, male—German 23.2c; American 62c.

General steel labor—German 13.9c; American 48c.

Approximately 10 per cent of the German worker's pay is deducted at the source for insurance payments—unemployment and old age pension. Wage and poll taxes exact another 3.5 per cent. So-called "voluntary" contributions for the labor front and winter relief fund amount to 8 or 9 per cent.

Germany workers and white collar employees therefore receive net wages and salaries averaging only 77.4 to 81.5 per cent of their gross earnings, according to competent authorities.

It is a costly price to pay for loss of personal liberty and freedom and for lowered living conditions.

Here in Michigan, blessed generously by nature and molded by man into a mighty industrial empire, we can be truly thankful.

At this moment when the future seems uncertain and discouraging, thank God that you live in the U. S. A.

Before you go to bed tonight, get down on your knees and thank God that you live in Michigan—first among all states in industrial hourly pay, first in recreational income, eighth in per capita income and high up in the column for per capita retail sales—a state whose technological achievement makes it stand out this June, 1940, as "better than average" on the economic map of the world's great democracy.

U. S. Orders Mystery Boats

High-Speed 'Mosquito' Craft to Be Used for Coastal Patrol.

WASHINGTON. — The United States navy has moved to build the nucleus of a powerful fleet of high-speed "mosquito" boats for coastal patrol as President Roosevelt directed creation of a new naval district for Puerto Rico and the Virgin islands in a step to bolster vital Caribbean defenses.

Charles Edison, acting secretary of the navy, placed a $5,000,000 order with the Electric Boat company, Groton, Conn., for 11 motor boats and 12 motorboat submarine chasers, designed by Hubert Scott-Paine of the British Power Boat company.

Scott-Paine, famous speedboat racer, recently demonstrated the new "mystery" boats, which rely on speed and deception, to American authorities. They were reported unofficially as capable of making 50 miles an hour.

Building Sub Chasers.

The new craft, which will be built with American labor and materials, are in line with the navy's experimental program to develop a type of small torpedo boat and submarine chaser which can be produced in mass quickly in an emergency. It has building four submarine chasers ranging from 110 to 165 feet long, and eight motor torpedo boats ranging from 54 to 75 feet, all of American design.

The navy plans to concentrate the new craft at Norfolk, Va., into a special squadron. They will be under a unified command, and each type will be rigorously inspected to determine the best type for any mass-production program. On the basis of World war and other experiences, the tiny vessels have proved efficient in making surprise raids and in patrolling.

Using Old Destroyers.

Such ships might be used to bolster the neutrality patrol by the Coast Guard and navy. The navy is now using 73 old World war destroyers on this patrol.

"It is hoped that a thoroughly satisfactory high-speed military motorboat of American design will be developed from these ships, but to develop a prototype for massed production, if that should be necessary, both American and British boats are to be used in experiments for that purpose," Edison said. "The military motorboat received considerable attention abroad during the World war and up to the present time."

Chinese Mystery House Baffles Japanese Army

NANKING, CHINA. — A house whose doors the Japanese found locked when they occupied Nanking, stands as a baffling mystery here. Nobody knows what is inside. Nobody has dared to enter.

The building stands in the compound of the former central political school where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek used to lecture students every week.

Numerous attempts to open the doors of the "locked safe," as it is called here, have been made during the last 10 months, but in vain. As it is feared that the building may contain explosives, dynamite has not been used.

One theory is that the building contains a huge amount of Chinese gold.

Mexican Relics Found Of Ancient Civilization

SALT LAKE CITY.—Charles E. Dibble of the University of Utah has in his possession relics he believes indicate an archaic civilization flourished near Mexico City between 200 B. C. and 400 A. D.

Dibble found the relics—specimens of clay and pottery figures and jars—while "kibitizing" on construction of a Mexican federal highway near Mexico City. Dibble said when he saw the specimens turned over by workmen he asked for and was granted permission to search for other relics in the dirt.

Dibble, assistant professor in the university archeology department, said the new road passes over the site of a town that once flourished on the shores of an ancient lake that was called Lake Texcoco.

Explains Why Mexicans Call Americans 'Gringos'

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Why Mexicans call Americans "gringos" was explained recently by Capt. John B. Reybold, commander of the Second cavalry. "When the Second Cavalry fought in the Mexican war of 1846," he related, "the men rode into Mexico singing an old Irish drinking song, 'Green Grow the Rushes.' The Mexicans heard that song so frequently that they called the cavalrymen 'gringos,' which was the way the opening words sounded to them."

Historic Medical Shop

One of the restorations in the group of buildings in historic Yorktown, which add materially to the Eighteenth-century flavor of Colonial National Historical park in Virginia, is the old medical shop. The shop belonged to Corbin Griffin, one of the eminent physicians of the period. He studied medicine at the University of Edinburgh and was a surgeon in the Virginia line during the Revolutionary war. After the surrender at Yorktown on October 19, 1781, he served for many years as justice of York and was also a member of the state senate. Dr. Griffin died in 1813.

Carolina Gulf Stream

The Gulf stream flows against a bank of cold water off the coast of North Carolina. In winter weather, a coast guard cutter 240 feet long was placed directly across the "wall" of the stream, and tests showed the water temperature at the bow was 34 degrees, at the stern, 56 degrees.

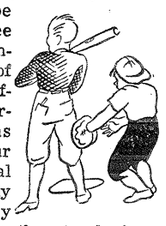
Spring Menus

Planning meals can be fun, if you'll let your imagination and your conscience be your guides! Meal planning does require imagination and a bit of originality, too, if you don't want the responsibility of three meals a day to be a bore, and three meals a day without that touch of "something" different can be boring—to you as well as to your family! A meal may be properly and carefully "balanced" from the standpoint of proteins and carbohydrates and vitamins and minerals—and still be a drab and uninteresting affair.



That seems to be particularly true in spring, when appetites are likely to be jaded, and you seem to be running out of menu ideas. And that's exactly the time to try something different, a little trick to add newness and interest to soups; a tasty and unusual meat dish; and a salad or dessert that makes use of some of the refreshing spring vegetables and fruits.

Just for variety, for instance, when I want to serve hot soup as the first course of a meal, I combine equal parts of canned consomme and tomato juice, simmer the resulting mixture for about 5 minutes with a bay leaf for flavor, and serve it very hot with a spoonful of salted whipped cream sprinkled with chopped chives or green onion tops. And I serve green onions and crisp, succulent radishes in place of the relishes I've used all winter. I use rhubarb for sauce or for dessert, just as soon as the price comes down within reach of my budget; I shred young carrots, or cut them in thin slivers, and cook them with an equal amount of onion, sliced fine; drain them and season with salt, pepper and butter. Or I cook carrots and potatoes together and mash them just as I would for mashed potatoes, to serve with the rich brown gravy of a pot roast.

Here are three spring menus that I like.

Menu No. 1.
Corned Beef Hash Patties
Spring Vegetable Salad
Hot Corn Bread
Rhubarb Dessert

Menu No. 2.
Steak Roll
Mashed Potatoes and Carrots
Cabbage and Green Pepper Salad
Hot Rolls
Chocolate Upside-Down Cake

Menu No. 3.
Economy Bridge Menu

Porcupine Meat Balls
Potatoes au Gratin
Grilled Mushrooms
Nut Bread
Plum Jelly
Mixed Green Salad
Rhubarb Tarts

Corned Beef Hash Patties.
1 16-ounce can corned beef hash
⅓ cup chili sauce
8 slices bacon (cut in halves)

Place can of corned beef hash in refrigerator and chill thoroughly. Open can at both ends. Push corned beef hash out of can, slicing it in ½-inch slices. Place slices in buttered baking pan. Place 2 teaspoons chili sauce on top of each slice and top with two half slices of bacon. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for 10 minutes or until corned beef hash slices are thoroughly heated and bacon is crisp.

Johnny Cake or Corn Bread.
(Makes 1 Johnny Cake)
or
(12 Corn Meal Muffins)
1½ cups yellow (or white) corn meal (uncooked)
½ cup general purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon soda
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 egg
1¼ cups sour milk
3 tablespoons butter (melted)

Mix and sift dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Combine beaten egg, sour milk and melted butter and add to dry mixture. Stir lightly and pour into greased shallow pan, muffin tins or corn stick pans. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 25 minutes.

Steak Roll.
(Serves 6)
1 slice round steak (½ inch thick)
2 tablespoons butter
½ lb. ham (ground)
¼ cup thin cream
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Salt and pepper
¼ cup bread flour
1 cup canned tomatoes

Wipe steak with damp cloth. Melt butter in frying pan and brush over one side of steak. Mix together the ground ham, cream, and mustard, and spread over buttered side of steak. Roll like a jelly roll and secure with skewers or string. Sprinkle roll with salt and dredge with flour. Saute in remaining butter until golden brown. Remove roll to baking dish. Add tomatoes to fat in skillet and heat to boiling. Pour this tomato mixture over the roll; cover with a lid and bake in a moderately hot oven (350 degrees) for 1½ to 1¾ hours, or until tender.

Chilled Rhubarb Dessert.

For an extra-special fruit dessert try the following: To one pound of rhubarb (cut in ½-inch pieces; add 1 cup sugar, ¼ cup orange juice and 1 tablespoon grated orange rind and cook in a double boiler 30 minutes or until tender. Serve cold.

Rhubarb Cream Tarts.
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups rhubarb (diced)
1¼ cups sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 eggs (separated)
¼ cup thick sweet cream
⅛ teaspoon salt

Melt butter, add rhubarb, and 1 cup of the sugar. Cook slowly for about 10 minutes or until the rhubarb is soft. Combine remaining fourth-cup of sugar with the cornstarch, the well beaten egg yolks, cream and salt.

Add to fruit mixture and cook until thick (about 3 minutes). Pour into baked tart shells. Top with meringue made from the 2 egg whites, beaten stiff, with 4 tablespoons sugar beaten in. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) until brown (about 18 minutes).

Chocolate Upside-Down Cake.
1½ cups cake flour
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 sq. bitter chocolate (1 oz.)
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup broken nut meats

Topping.
2 tablespoons cocoa
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water

Sift and measure the flour. Then sift flour, ¾ cup granulated sugar, baking powder and salt together into a mixing bowl. Melt together the chocolate and butter; mix with the milk and vanilla. Stir into the dry ingredients. Add nuts and blend thoroughly. Pour into a well-greased deep layercake pan.

Topping—Now mix together the cocoa, brown sugar and the ½ cup granulated sugar and salt. Spread this over the top of the cake batter. Over all pour the cup of boiling water and place in a moderate oven, (350 degrees) to bake 1 hour.

This is a rich chocolate cake with a chocolate sauce underneath. Turn it out for serving. It is best served slightly warm with whipped cream.

Porcupine Meat Balls.
(Serves 6)
1 pound beef (ground)
1½ cups rice (uncooked)
½ cup bacon (diced)
1 tablespoon onion (minced)
1 tablespoon green pepper (chopped)
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 No. 2 can tomatoes

Mix all ingredients thoroughly in order given. Form into small meat balls. Place in greased baking dish and cover with tomatoes. Cover baking dish. Bake approximately 1½ hours in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Jury Decided Caro Village Not Liable for Tree Damage

The Tuscola County Circuit Court spent Wednesday in hearing and deciding the case of Ray Potter vs. the Village of Caro. The jury after deliberating about 20 minutes brought in a verdict of no cause for action.

Mr. Potter sought damages to the amount of $597.00, claiming that a tree situated on property owned by Caro Village was defective and during a wind storm in July last year it was blown down and fell on a trailer owned by Mr. Potter. The trailer was located on land leased by Mr. Potter which joined land owned by the village.

Pontiac Sedan Is Wrecked Employed in Samaritan Act

When Gerald and George Gould, both 14 years of age, solicited the aid of Clarence Zapfe, also 14, to take them to their home in Caro Saturday morning, Clarence decided to serve as a Good Samaritan without securing the consent of his father, Floyd Zapfe. Accordingly he left Cass City, taking Ray Strickland, 16, as the fourth member of the group. The rain had made the roadway on M-81 slippery and when they left the cement highway five miles west of town, the youthful driver lost control of a new Pontiac sedan and it turned over and was completely wrecked. Some of the occupants of the car received cuts and bruises. They were taken to the Caro Community Hospital for treatment. George Gould left the hospital for his home shortly after, a victim of chickenpox.

When Frank Wrobel of Detroit backed away from the curb in front of the Chronicle office here Monday morning, his car went into the path of an automobile driven by Mrs. Myrtle Sangster of Decker which was traveling in an easterly direction. Glass in the Sangster car window was broken and the side of the automobile damaged.

Wm. Johnson received a cut face when his car, parked at the upper bridge near Caro, was struck by an auto driven by Albert Dixon of Caro on Sunday evening.
