THE PRESIDENTIAL CONVENTIONS.

With the thought of the American people concentrated on the startling war news from Europe, two great historic events at home are not getting the attention they should. We have now come to the time when the two leading political parties of the United States hold their national conventions. History is formed and shaped at those influence in determining the future of the country than any action that can be taken elsewhere.

These two great meetings draw together the men who lead political thought, who make the laws, and whose opinions sway the mass of voters. The things that are said and done at these meetings show the direction which American thought and action will take for many more years than that.

produce calm deliberation. The galleries of the convention hall are filled with shouting enthusiasts, eager to boom the cause of their favorite candidates. The work of the convention is often stopped while the rooters for the various aspirants stage great demonstrations of enthusiasm. In the past these meetings have seemed like a college football crowd trying to induce their heroes to rush the ball over the goal line.

Probably the rooters in the gallery and on the floor are not so Evergreen. influential in shaping these decisions as has been thought. A few leaders often gathered in the by preaching at Wilmot. "smoke filled room," as somebody said, are often the real power by which these fates are decided. The American people hope and pray that calm judgment and practical common sense will always rule at these gatherings of destiny.

FREEDOM'S HOLIDAY.

The July Fourth holiday is dedicated to the ideal of freedom. When Patrick Henry rose in the Virginia convention of March, 1775, and said, "Give me liberty or give me death," he expressed the ideal that kept our forefathers fighting for six years, until they chanted the glorious song of vic-ed by kings, emperors, the heads of armies, and the mighty ones of the earth. The individual person was considered to have very few rights, if indeed he had any, shire of Alma College will deliver He had to go to war when his masters told him to, and if he said what he thought, he might easily find himself in jail or dead.

The earth's wise men dreamed of a day when men and women would be free. Many of them died to aid that cause, and gradually the idea of freedom penetrated into Sunday, June 30: the minds of the people.

It advanced most rapidly in the United States. The harsh tyrannies which held the masses of Europe enslaved were not so easy to apply in our grand spaces. The conviction grew in our land that every group 10:30. Preaching at 11:30. of people are entitled to a chance to work out their own destiny. People have to be willing to toil and if necessary fight for it, if they want to preserve it in this modern world.

MAN'S TIGHT COLLAR.

About this time the men protest against the demands of fashion which in the past at least required them to wear tight collars through the hot weather. The women adjust themselves to the burning July sun, by opening their throats to all-day meeting at the church next the cooling breeze. The men meanthe cooling breeze. Have a Good Time This 4th of July, But, Take It Easy!

Every July 4th all America turns out for one big day of fun. This celebration is, of course, "fitting and proper," but always present is the specter of accident and tragedy. Here are some of the main reasons accidents occur in such large numbers and a hint or two on how to avoid them:

According to the National Safety Council, accidents of all types claimed 8,800 lives last July. Traffic accidents accounted for 2,850 of Thursday evening at eight o'clock. carefully. Don't be a road-hog or a Mizpah Church—Sunday School, show-off.

Public accidents, other than motor vehicles, reach their year's peak in July. This classification includes drownings and one-fifth of all drownings occur in this month. Most of these happen at beaches where there is no supervision.

Fireworks add greatly to July's high accident rate. Despite widespread legislation against this common cause of blindness and infection many small children continue to hold private fireworks displays, with disastrous results.

Careless campers like the one above, just ready to toss a lighted cigarette to the winds, are responsible for many costly fires on the day, June 30: Church School at nation's big holiday. Be careful and thoughtful this Fourth.

That "natural-tan" we all envy, and some of us try to obtain in a single day's exposure to the sun on the Fourth, can be a dangerous thing. Not only is sunburn painful but there is the ever-present danger of heat prostration.

WALLS IN HOME ONLY PART OF INSULATION PROBLEM

Many a home is being built today that is only half insulated. Yet the man who is spending his money to build the house doesn't know a thing about it. These people, when they build, won't hesitate to spend $150 to $200 to make their walls weather-tight. They will buy the best insulation, the best moisture barrier, and use the best construction methods, but they over-look completely the fact that the walls of their homes have from ten to thirty great big holes in them that are filled only with windows. These holes must be filled with windows-windows that do more than harmonize with the ar-

Windows are just as permanent a part of the wall as insulation. Just as it is wise to spend those extra dollars for insulation-so it is wise to spend a few extra dollars to see that a window frame makes a permanent weather-tight joint with the wall, that window sash are precision fitted to the frame, that an efficient job of weatherstripping is done, that storm sash or double glazing is provided, and that the operating equipment used will give a lifetime

Lack of 'Friends, Men and Guns' Hurt French Cause, Says Petain; U.S. 'Coalition' Cabinet Selected

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

If all Henry Ford's tentative orders to turn out warplanes on a mass production basis materialize, this gigantic tool and die plant in his River Rouge, Michigan, plant will become the hub of the plane-motor industry. It is now the center of production for Ford moter cars and government defense engineers point out that once tools and dies are completed and set up to turn out a standardized plane, mass production could begin and continue at top speed indefinitely.

THE WAR: 'Too Few'

While his armies were busy with "mopping up" military operations against a badly batterd France. Adolf Hitler busied himself preparing the terms under which his soldiers would cease firing.

France, meanwhile, after cautioning her troops to fight on until the actual signing of an armistice was announced, dispatched her peace envoys in a snow white plane to meet the Germans and hear their terms of surrender.

As the nation waited, its 84-yearold premier, Marshal Henri Petain, explained why he had sought peace and why France had been unable to defend itself against invasion. France, he said, had too few friends, too few young men, too few guns and it had wasted the victory years following the armistice of November

Military deficiencies accounted in large part for the distress of France, in the premier's opinion. He pointed out that only 2,780,000 troops faced the Germans at the beginning of the "battle of France" along the Somme and Aisne rivers. This was a half million fewer than France had on the battlefield after three years of hard fighting in the World war. England had not nearly as many men on French soil in 1940 as she had in 1914-18, and in addition, the old ally, Italy, was an enemy and ally United States a "neu-

Biggest worry of ally England was the disposition of the French fleet following any armistice between France and Germany. If Germany gets control of the whole strength of this fleet, the Rome-Berlin axis will have sea power that could compete favorably against England's London was happy enough though over the appointment of Frank Knox and Henry Stimson to President Roosevelt's cabinet (See below). The British hailed this move as assuring a continued policy of U.S. material and moral aid to the allied cause.

These two important Republican leaders were asked to serve in what was termed a "coalition" cabinet-Knox as secretary of navy and Stimson as secretary of war. New Competition

Many are the economists who have forecast a trade war between Germany and the United States after Adolf Hitler has finished his political and military war in Europe. For from South America comes news that German steel companies are offering steel in that sector at prices below United States quotations and are giving a cash guarantee of delivery by October. To some observers this early beginning of the long awaited trade war seems a bit premature. For Adolf Hitler still has a few big obstacles to overcome before he can expect to compete with American business in this

Germany bases her ability to deliver these shipments of steel upon the fact that she has virtual control of 95 per cent of the French steel industry and this, plus the Reich's own output, combined with the Belgium - Luxembourg production, amounts to about 40,000,000 tons per year. Biggest problem is keeping all these steel mills running at capacity and still being able to maintain order throughout the "protected" nations. And after the steel is produced, Germany must reckon with Britain's still-effective sea

However, the big advance from the standpoint of recognizing cancer is that medical students of today can now see more cases of cancer in a week than the medical students of less than 20 years ago saw in a year.

As showing how interns (final year medical students) and young physicians are always on the lookout for cancer even in cases where the patients have entered hospital for reatment of other ailments, Dr. Howell says: "We receive 6 to 12 cases a year of breast cancer in our X-ray wards at the Philadelphia General hospital, in whose breasts the disease was not reported by the patient and was discovered by the interns in their routine physical examination."

1. In acute sinusitis (inflammation of the lining of the sinus), if mucous (or pus) can drain away properly the inflammation will generally clear up rather quickly under the usual treatment of astringents (salt solutions, adrenalin, ephedrine), packings and washings. In these cases, X-ray treatments are not necessary unless to hasten recovery.

2. Cases that are subacute or subchronic (where inflammation is not severe but has lasted for some time) respond well to X-ray treatment. Symptoms may have been present for months or years.

3. In old or chronic cases where there was thickening of the mucous membrane lining the sinuses, the majority were helped by X-ray

4. In cases accompanied by soft, enlarged growths—polyps—in sinus and nose, the X-ray gave marked relief and prevented a return of the growths in several cases.

5. In very old cases with widespread polyp formation, the X-ray gave little or no benefit.

A Long Range Prediction By JOHN ADAMS

On July 2, 1776, the delegates from the 13 colonies, meeting in Philadelphia, voted to separate from Britain. On that day, two days before the Declaration of Independence was signed, John Adams, later to become second President of the United States, wrote to his wife, Abigail:

"I am apt to believe that it (the day) will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festivals It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other. from this time forward evermore.

"You will think me transported with enthusiasm but I am not. I am well aware of the toil and blood and treasure that it will cost to defend these States. Yet through all the gloom I can see the rays of ravishing light and glory. I can see that the end is more than worth all the means; and that posterity will triumph in that day's transaction, even though we should rue it, which I trust in God we shall not."

Cheese Cornucopias-Salad Accompaniment.

Cheese cornucopias are an unusual, but delicious, salad accompaniment. Make ordinary pastry as for pie and roll out. Make tiny cornucopias (about 3 inches long) from any stiff paper. Wrap pastry around cornucopia and bake 12 minutes in paper and when cool, fill cornucopias with highly flavored cream cheese. Serve with any salad (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)
