Grand Champion 4-H Steer Sold in Detroit at 26c a Lb.

Steers Exhibited by Local Breeders at State Fair Averaged 161/8c Pound.

Steers exhibited by Cass City breeders at the Michigan State Fair and sold at the fair auction brought an average of 16% cents

The top steer was the 4-H grand champion which was shown by Jeanne Muck, a member of the Cass City Livestock Club, and sold for 26 cents a pound. The animal weighed 930 pounds. The reserve champion in the 4-H class was exhibited by Norrine Goodall, also a member of the local club. It sold for 19½ cents a pound.

Five other local exhibitors in the 4-H division sold their animals for the following prices per pound: Stephen Dodge, Jr., 15c; Kathleen Smith, 13%c; Robert Matthews, 134c; Don Koepfgen, 134c; and Frances Koepfgen, 13½c.

Mack Little of Cass City, who exhibited Polled Shorthorns, received 141/2 cents per pound for animals sold.

Judging by prices received, Detroit buyers think well of animals grown by local breeders. The Card Schedules prices were higher than the average received, says Willis Campbell, club adviser.

New Chevrolet Goes on Display in Cass City on Saturday

First showing of the new 1941

"Car buyers everywhere are going to get a real surprise when they see the new 1941 Chevrolet," Mr. Bulen said. "From the standpoint of beauty, performance, economy, safety, and all-round value, the careful automobile buyer will find it entirely to his liking. The new car has a longer, larger, wider Fisher body, sturdier valve-in-head engine, and unbelievable beauty."

A cordial invitation has been extended by Mr. Bulen to everyone in the Cass City area to come in Saturday and see this new car.

Bowling Scores Denote Players' Lack of Practice

Five of the Sixteen Teams Week's Schedule Unbeaten

Bowling activities have been resumed in the community and the first week of scheduled play has been rolled. Scores posted show the lack of practice and the long rest throughout the summer months has played havoc with the midseason form of many individuals. However, plenty of enthusiasm exists and each week will see many changes on the honor list. Only five of the sixteen teams were able to come through the first week's schedule undefeated. "Irish" Kinnaird's 205 was the only 200 game posted, while Bob Keppen and Fred Pinney helped themselves to good three-game totals which starts them off at the top of the wood mauling aggregation.

Cass City Opens Football Season

Cass City High School's football team will travel to Flint Friday to open the season against Flint Beecher. The Flint team is the darkhorse on this year's schedule this being the first time the two schools have ever met in athletic competition.

The Maroon and Grey team is shaping up as well as can be expected this early in the year, but Coach Ross is still looking for a pair of ends to replace Spencer, Butler and Huessner who guarded the flanks last year.

This week's game is not a league game so it will give the coach a chance to look over some of the new material and see how they stand up under fire.

Scrimmage has taken up most of the practice sessions this past week and some of the new boys are giving the veterans plenty of competition. The team is small, so aggressiveness is the prime essential which some of last year's men are overlooking.

Forty-three men are making the trip to Flint this week and this will be the first game some of these boys have ever seen.

There's something so homey and with 2 tablespoons of cold water to tasty about a good stew, that most | form a paste. Cook, stirring confolks feel cheated unless a stew of stantly, until the gravy thickens. Arone sort or another appears on the family table fairly regularly.

There are stews and stews, of course—lamb stews with feathery light dumplings and an assortment of vegetables to add flavor (and vitamins!): hearty Mulligan stews: and stews of chicken that masquerade under all sorts of fancy names. There are even "Cinderella Stews," which start out as leftovers and end up as a well-seasoned onedish meal.

Remember that "serving a stew" is an economical measure, and a time-saving one, as well. Stews and meat pies usually make use of the less expensive cuts of meat. Their preparation is simple, and they make a satisfying "One-dish meal,"

Lamb Stew With Mint Dumplings.

- 1/4 cup butter 2½ pounds lamb (cut in pieces)
- 4 cups boiling water
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper 34 cup carrots (sliced)
- 3 cups potatoes (cut in cubes)
- 3 onions (sliced) 1½ cups tomatoes (canned)
- 1/4 cup flour 1/4 cup cold water

Heat butter in large saucepan. Add meat and brown. Add boiling water, and seasonings; cover. When boiling, reduce heat and simmer 11/2 hours. Add vegetables and continue cooking slowly for 1 hour. - dumplings: 2 cups bread flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup lard 2 tablespoons fresh mint or parsley (chopped)

34 cup milk (approximately)

Sift together dry ingredients, cut in fat and add chopped mint. Add milk and mix gently with a fork. Drop by spoonfuls into boiling stew. Cover and continue to steam for 15 minutes without lifting the cover.

One-Dish Sunday Dinner. For a practical, one-dish meal that can be left simmering while one is in church on Sunday, chicken rice pilaff is unsurpassed. Cut a 3-pound chicken in pieces and fry in butter to a golden brown. Add salt and pepper to taste. When nearly brown drain off all but 1/4 cup fat, add an onion, finely sliced, a little chopped parsley and ½ of a bay leaf and fry 10 minutes longer. Wash 2 cups rice and spread over the chicken; add 4 cups boiling water, one small sliced tomato (or 2 tablespoons canned tomatoes) and 1 teaspoon salt. Stir gently; cover, bring to a boil and then simmer for one hour. A small family might have the best parts of the chicken fried one day, and the rest cooked this way the next day, using only 1 cup of rice and 2 cups

Lignin, Long a Problem Child of Chemistry, at Last Put to Work.

WASHINGTON.-Agriculture department scientists have discovered a practical method for converting lignin, one of the nation's most abundant waste products, into valuable industrial materials.

Lignin long has been chemistry's problem child. It composes onefourth of the structure of all fibrous plants, including trees, corncobs and day in Saginaw. wheat and cornstalks. Millions of dollars have been spent trying to convert it to industrial uses.

Scientists of the United States forest service's forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., have discovered that by adding hydrogen to lignin they can convert this waste product of wood into five products that bear promise of being valuable raw materials with many uses.

Wood Alcohol Extracted.

One is a well-known productmethanol, or wood alcohol. Four others had not been previously discovered. The properties of these new substances are such as to suggest their use as wood preservatives, fungicides, insecticides, adhesive, solvents and plastic materials.

The first of the four new substances, all of which are labeled by chemical formula, is valuable as a solvent for organic gums, resins, and oils used in lacquers. It also is valuable as a preservative and as a repellant to insects.

The second and third substances are thick liquids which become solid after standing a long while. Both may be made into plastic materials for building purposes. The fourth, which also may be used as a plastic, is valuable as a cement or adother materials.

As a by-product of paper and industrial cellulose mills, about 1,500,-000 dry weight tons of lignin are dumped into streams each year, making it a pollution and disposal problem as well as one of waste.

Cements Wood Cells.

The cellulose, or wood cells, is used in making paper and rayon, and is now the most important conversion standpoint. The cement-

Because of its complex chemical nature, lignin in its natural form has baffled scientists. By submitting it to the hydrogenation process scientists changed its chemical nature so that it could be broken down into component parts.

The hydrogen atoms were added to a solution of purified lignin by means of heat, pressure and use of copper chromium oxide. Under this treatment the dirty, brown lignin solution was changed to a thick. sticky, colorless fluid. The copper chromium oxide was then removed by use of a centrifuge, which works on the principle of a cream separator. The residue then was distilled to create the wood alcohol and four new substances.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING By CHARLES B. ROTH

KEEP YOUR SALT CELLARS CLEAN HE other day I read of an ec- of the fact that the goods are sub-centric old woman, rich and socially prominent, who went from house to house judging the occupants by the condition of the salt cellars on their tables.

If these were clean and well kept she put her stamp of approval on the household, but if they were not, regardless of the graciousness and charm of her hostess, she put them down as dowdy folks.

Not all of us, fortunately, are quite so critical, but in one sense we are. And it is good that we are. buy and of the mer-ards of goods and stores high. One of the many advantages of advertising is that it invites us to be critical of the goods being advertised.

The advertiser assures us that his goods are good. He invites us to compare them with others. We do. If he relaxes for a minute and lets his standards drop, we discern it. We tell others. We cease buying his product.

He knows that even the finest of commercial reputations will suffer if a mere handful of people get wind standard. They will tell their friends. Soon a whispering campaign is under way. He suffers.

It is only by being careful at every minute of the day that his goods and service are up to high standard that the man who advertises can succeed. You expect more of him than you do of the man who does not advertise. The non-advertising manufacturer or merchant can fall down in delivering quality and service. You may expect him to. But the man who advertises has to live up to his high obligation. So you see that advertising is a great vigilance committee, established and maintained in your interest, to see that the men who aspire to sell you will always be worthy of your trade. The merchant who advertises must treat you better than the merchant who does not. He must treat you as though you were the most influential person in town.

As a matter of cold fact you are. You hold the destiny of his business in your hands. He knows it. He shows it. And you benefit by good service, by courteous treatment, by good value-and by lower prices.

Be critical of advertised goods and stores which advertise. They want you to be critical. Advertising invites you to compare before you buy. It stands or falls on value

COOLLIGHT IN A TUBE Fluorescent lighting is increasing in popularity

by leaps and bounds . . . one reason being that you get DOUBLE THE LIGHT for the same amount of electricity. But fluorescent lighting is so new, and the demand for it so great, that the average buyer is bewildered when he sets out to buy the proper fixtures. There are so many fixtures on the market, so many erroneous and exaggerated claims being made for fluorescent lighting, that it is not surprising to find incorrect applications . . . with a complete disregard for the rules of good lighting. As a result, the buyer is often disappointed with his fluorescent installation.

For your protection, and to help you get your money's worth, a STANDARD has been set up by the Mazda lamp manufacturers to assure dependability and high quality in fluorescent fixtures. These approved fixtures (in commercial styles for stores, offices, etc.) are called certified Fleur-O-Liers, and conform to rigid specifications checked by Electrical Testing Laboratories. They are now being made by over 17 companies. When you buy fluorescent fixtures, insist on certified Fleur-O-Liers-and look for the label. Corresponding fixtures for industrial use are identified by the name "R. L. M. Fluorescent."

Our experienced lighting staff will be glad to give you full information about this revolutionary new lighting. Call your Detroit Edison office. The Detroit Edison Company does not sell fluorescent fixtures or lamps. See your electrical contractor or lighting fixture dealer. The Detroit Edison

House and Senate Set 21-35 Age Limit In Draft Bill, Drop Volunteer Plan; 'Total Air War' Blasts London Area; 32 Killed in Munitions Plant Explosion

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.

DRAFT:

In November

Prospects are that no American youth will be conscripted into army service until after election. Just before the house passed the draft bill by a vote of 185 to 155, and and the destruction of the world's largest nouncement to this effect was made, by Representative Wadsworth (R., N. Y.) co-author of the bill.

To make sure of this, however, the house inserted an amendment,

Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hershey, pic tured here, now head of the joint army and navy committee in charge of se-lective service plans, who more than likely will become "the power behind the draft," after the conscription ma-chinery gets underway. While a civilian may be named titular head of the draft, Col. Hershey will contribute a major share of the work since he has spent four years developing draft sponsored by Representative Fish (R., N. Y.) to postpone peacetime draft for 60 days while the President appealed for volunteers. The house bill differed in two other essentials from the measure passed by the senate. The senate called for an age limit of 21 to 30, inclusive. The house wanted registration extended to 45 years, in order to get a greater number of trained mechanics. The house also modified the "draft industry" amendment so that factories where owners refused defense contracts would be taken over by the government on lease or rental. The senate called for seizure and operation.

Ironing out the differences, house and senate conferees agreed upon a bill that, (1) fixed the age limit at 21 to 35 years inclusive, (2) modified the plant seizure amendment, and (3) eliminated the 60-day volunteer plan.

Wendell Willkie, G. O. P. presidential nominee, added his opposition to that of President Roosevelt on the 60-day delay amendment.

MUNITIONS:

Disaster

In what was declared to be the worst disaster in the history of the American munitions industry, 32 persons were known dead, 22 missing (also believed to have perished) and 200 persons were injured in a series of earth-shaking explosions which destroyed the Hercules Powder company's Kenvil, N. J., plant. While the cause of the blast was not immediately determined, federal, state and local authorities began immediate investigations because the plant was busy at work on United States defense orders.

EGYPT: Offensive

Italy's long awaited offensive against English forces in Egypt got under way as artillery fire rumbled up and down the Egypt-Libya border. Fresh Italian troops moved up mear the border as British and Italian flyers clashed in the first exchange of military blows on this front. Observers were of the opinion that Italy was really beginning to play her role in the "Battle of Britain." This role consists mainly in diverting the attention of the English to some other quarter while Hitler's attempt at an invasion of the British isles is carried out. Egypt is an ally of Britain but as yet has not declared war with the axis powers. As soon as the Italian forces slash very deeply into Egyptian territory this declaration is expected.

THE WAR: London Battered

In the fifty-third week of the war, Nazi air power began the long-proclaimed action which it declared would end in British surrender or

Previous raids and previous bombings were as nothing. Reichmarshal Hermann W. Goering, from a safe seat in France, personally took charge of the Luftwaffe's operations. Thousands of gigantic bombers were sent across the channel in waves at 30° minute intervals. All were aimed at London, seat of the British empire. Alarms continued from dusk until dawn. Even in daylight, while air precaution wardens were digging helpless from the debris left the night before, new planes arrived. They dropped incendiary bombs, which set great fires and led the night fliers to their targets through

Gone now was raiding only of defense points and industries. Except for German propaganda sources, none challenged the announcement that purely residential areas were being subjected to devastating explosions. In world-famous Fleet street, home of the greatest British newspapers, some of the largest buildings in the city were wrecked. Hospitals were wrecked, subways demoralized, gas mains broken and set afire. In a two-day period the British admitted 600 killed and 2,500

A delayed action bomb struck a section of Buckingham palace, the royal residence. No one was injured.

Objective of the terror was to undermine the morale of the ordinary citizen. Berlin said when this was accomplished, the Churchill cabinet would fall and a new cabinet willing to deal with the Reich would take its place.

In the battered, shell-torn city, however, the first day of the raids showed no loss of determination to hold out. The king visited a slum section where bombs had ripped great craters in the street, where homes of hundreds had been torn to bits. Out of the window of a house still standing, a woman shouted: "Are we downhearted?" And the crowd gathered around the king "No." The king smiled. That night there were worse bomb-

Retaliation

British fliers, reported by the German air arm to be reduced to ineffective operation, were still able to get into the air and fight. Moreover they went visiting on their own. Docks at Hamburg, ports along the channel coast, in Denmark and Norway were given a treatment of aerial bombardments. The British air ministry said the retaliation was so severe that the areas could not be used by the Germans to launch a land invasion.

Nightly there were air raid alarms in Berlin, too. At least one bomb was dropped on the Reichstag building, seat of Hitler's rubber-stamp parliament.

APPOINTMENTS:

Labor Board

Charles Fahy, soft-spoken council of the National Labor Relations board, was promoted by President Roosevelt to assistant solicitor general. The man who piloted the NLRB through five years of injunction battles and Supreme court tests now goes to the office which prepares the government's side in hearings before the nation's highest judicial tribunal.

TREND how the wind is blowing

Congress - A recess of several weeks beginning before October 1 is expected in Washington. Vatican-All attacks on the Reich have been halted by the pope, now that hope for a quick peace are lost, in a campaign to help Catholics in the conquered areas.

Plastics-Bausch and Lomb, leading optical manufacturers, are testing a new eye-glass lens of transparent plastics.

Rayon-Japan may be dislodged as the leading rayon manufacturing country with development of a U.S. process using rayon with woolen and worsted fabrics.

Labor-Unemployment is estimated at the lowest since 1929, by an American Federation of Labor survey. Volume is set at 4,500,000. Last year it was 9,650,000. All time top was 13,270,000 in 1933. The 1929 figure was 1,864,000, but the natural growth of population has increased several million since then and therefore more people actually have jobs.

Education-The federal office of education estimates that one-fourth of the nation will be in school by October 1. The various classifications add up to 32,000,000 persons. This includes 2,000,000 adults in night or part-time schools.

VICHY:

Battle for Empire

Hurried changes in the line-up of the Petain cabinet sent Gen. Maxime Weygand to the French African colonies. It is hoped his presence will halt the growing shift of allegiance of France's outlying colonies away from the Vichy government and toward the "Free France" committee headed by General de Galle, now in London.

General Weygand was relieved of the post of secretary of war and Gen. Charles Huntziger named in his place. General Huntziger was one of the signers of the armistice terms with Adolf Hitler.

The Petain government also ordered detention of more wartime cabinet leaders, including former Premiers Edouard Daladier and Paul Reynaud, and Gen. Maurice Gamelin. All are being held in a chateau near Riom, where the "war guilt" trials are now in progress. Former Air Ministers Pierre Cot and Guv La Chambre also were ordered arrested. Both are in the United States.

Seizure of the fortunes of 15 bankers, writers and industrialists was revealed. Heading the list was a group of the leaders of the House of Rothschild, many of whom fled France ahead of Hitler. Some of the industrialists shipped millions of francs ahead of them, but all leave behind vast holdings in French railroads and factories which now become property of the state.

In New York arrived M. Henry-Haye, newly appointed ambassador

MISCELLANY:

■ As an estimated 100,000 American Legionnaires converged on Boston. Mass., for their twenty-first national convention, the war and U.S. peacetime conscription cast a serious light over the sessions. Plenty of the usual Legion merrymaking was in store too, however, with a program including a concert by Boston's famed Symphony orchestra, a gala "Cavalcade of Stars" to be shown before 40,000 at Braves field, under sponsorship of Schenley post, No. 1190, and the big parade of 400 bands, drum and bugle corps. Among leading candidates for national commander are Ray Fields, Guthrie, Okla., and Lynn Stambaugh, Fargo, N. D.

Merschel Grynszpan, the young Polish Jew who assassinated a Nazi consular officer in Paris in November, 1938, is in the hands of the Gestapo. He was turned over by the government of Marshal Petain when he surrendered to the French after being released on the fall of Paris. C Gen. Jose Estigarribia, president of Paraguay, and his wife were killed in an airplane accident. He formerly was ambassador to Washington and was hero of the Chaco war. The cabinet designated War Minister Gen. Higinio Morinigo as provisional president.

I have spoken before also of a physician whose heart rate dropped from 110 to 72 after removal of a goiter and he lost much of his nervousness, excitability and talkativeness.

Perhaps you know an individual who had a goiter—lump in front of

Pin Money

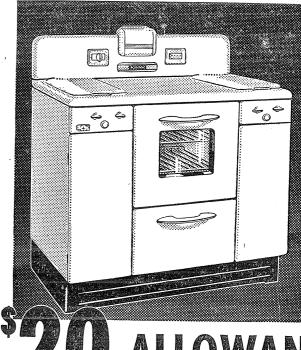

After the invention of pins, and while they were still very scarce and valuable, the maker was permitted to sell them in open shop only on two days of each year-January 1 and 2. It was then that the court ladies flocked to buy them, having been first provided with money for the purpose by the men of their families. This money came to be known as "pin money." Later, when pins became cheap, women applied this allowance to other fancies, but the term has remained

LIMING OF SOILS $\operatorname{AIDS}\operatorname{PRODUCTION}$

Process Is Necessary to Destroy Harmful Acidity.

By PROF. G. D. SCARSETH

(Soil Chemist, Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station, Lafayette, Ind.) Liming the soil is like lathering the face before shaving. Lathering simply paves the way for a smooth, clean shave; liming only prepares the soil for better crop production.

Just as shaving requires a razor in addition to soap and water, so the best crop production requires, in addition to liming, the use of fertilizers carrying nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

Not all soils are acid, nor do all soils need lime. But where soil acidity occurs it is "Public Enemy No. 1" and lime is the G-man that destroys it.

To use fertilizers on acid soils without first employing lime to correct the acidity is like trying to run a race with lead weights in your pocket.

But if neither liming, adequate the Indians have it 5,000 years to or county medical societies. rebuild it with forests. The forest ground and decayed.

very fertile, the clay particles in the ble alkaline elements. But through continuous cropping and the prolonged movement of rainwater through the soil, these elements are loosened and washed out of the soil. Then hydrogen from the soil waters becomes attached to the spots on the clays where these food elements had been removed. Thus the soil becomes acidic and the clay particles themselves are the source of the soil acids. And unless they are provided with alkaline elements, the soil will remain acid.

Since clays in the soils are the principal sources of acid, a heavy clay soil would have more acidity to be neutralized by lime than a sandy soil with only a small amount

To summarize the situation: soils are acid, lime should be applied to correct this condition in order to secure best results from the fertilizer used.

Farmers Developing

of permanency if it can maintain its. soil and raise better crops, according to Dr. George C. Moore of the soil conservation service, United States department of agriculture.

In one instance, he said, 1,200 New York farmers aided, for the fourth year, in completing methods for saving soil and water on sloping agricultural land. A wealth of information has accumulated.

Results have become evident in increased yields, for potatoes and silage corn alike, Dr. Moore reported. He suggested other better-farming practices to go along with contour tillage, strip-cropping, and diversion ditches, such as pasture improvement, better care of woodlands, and greater use of alfalfa and permanent hay. He said these help toward a better live stock balance on a cash crop farm.

Root Zones Are Needed

For Good Plant Growth Since air in the soil is essential feet should be provided for such corn, soy beans and alfalfa. This quate system of underground drainact as air ducts through which air circulates and from which it feeds out into the soil at the joints. Surface inlets aid in this matter of soil ventilation.

Root zones, which are above the water table, secure their moisture through capillary attraction. Capillarity simply lines the soil pores with a film of moisture, leaving air space so that the plant food is then available to the growing plant, both air and moisture being present.

Fowl Paralysis

The outstanding symptom of fowl or range paralysis in poultry is disability of a bird's legs, wings or eyesight. This is because the disease affects the nervous system. An affected bird may gradually lose its ability to stand. Similarly, the wings may droop or drag and the head turn or twist unnaturally. If the nerves of the eye are affected, blindness sets in. As for treatment, about the only thing one can do is to kill off all affected birds.

Because Mr. Dickinson is New Saving Methods automatically elevating Luren D. 81 years of age, it is inevitable that interest will center to a great degree on his running mate for lieutenant governor. This is not to allude that the governor isn't in the best of health; in fact, his physician pronounces him to be sound physically for the office's responsibilities. It is merely recognizing the fact that life is more uncertain at 81 than it is at 42, the age of Dickinson's opponent, Murray D. VanWagoner.

A Primary Trait

If the nomination of lieutenant governor were to be made at a party convention, such as is the case for state treasurer, attorney general, secretary of state and auditor general, an independent candidate of the type of Dr. Keyes wouldn't have had the proverbial snowball's chance.

The organization custom is to recognize the loyal party worker whom the leaders feel can be trustfor plant growth, a root zone 3½ to 4 ed. At least, his chances of winning are as good as his rivals'.

"Keyes for good government," emblazoned on a myriad of newspaper advertisements, billboards and direct mailing pieces, did what no party convention would have done for the Dearborn newcomer. The boys at Lansing are still scratching their heads and wondering how it could have happened! One answer is: It could take place only in a primary election. And so, if you aspire for state office, take comfort. If you deplore the breakdown of party organization and party responsibilities, read the news and weep.

But There's One Time

When Playing Hookey Does Not Pay

SUPPOSE THAT—

At a regular time each week, a big majority of the people of this community gathered together in one big meeting place.

There isn't in the town a gymnasium or coliseum big enough to hold that many.

No circus has ever brought a tent big enough to hold the thousands of men, women and children comprising such an audience.

But suppose there were such a place. Then

SUPPOSE THAT—

After all of these people had settled down in comfortable chairs, you were offered an opportunity to get up on the stage in front of them and announce over a loud speaker that you had certain things you would like to sell them. Wouldn't you jump at the chance?

YOU SURE WOULD!

You would instantly recognize the high value of the opportunity to talk to all these possible customers—folks who would have to walk only a few steps or drive a few miles to your place of

You'd study out carefully what you wanted to say to them.

You'd like it immensely if you could show them the pictures of things you had to sell.

WOULD YOU PLAY HOOKEY?

When your time came to step before the microphone, would you want to be reported absent? You would NOT.

Would you say to yourself: "I talked to them last week. They all know I'm here, and what I sell." You would NOT.

You know that there would be new faces in every audience—young folks who have reached the buying age-older folks who have moved in from some other community.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Regularly, every week, a big majority of the people seat themselves in comfortable chairs to read The Chronicle. They are just as ready to listen, as individuals, to what sellers have to say about their wares as if they were in the midst of a crowd of thousands of neighbors and friends.

THE LOUD SPEAKER

Is all set. Folks with things to sell have only to get on the platform and begin speaking. The audience is out front, anxious to hear about things they need to buy. No time to "play hookey" with a crowd that size on hand. Who wants too?

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

T IS a great consolation, in these trying times, to realize that according to all historical precedents, two and two do not make four.

For no matter what mathematicians can do with chalk and a blackboard, the events that touch our human lives, and are controlled by our faulty and irrational human actions, almost always seem to come out in an unexpected way. The student of every great crisis in world affairs is completely puzzled by the apparent independence of results from their causes.

Take our beginnings, in 1775. Imagine the odds against the ragged, unarmed. unfed. untrained armies of Washington, whose men enlisted only for a term of weeks, and when that term was up walked quietly off to their farms again! Washington's congress was against him, the personnel of the army was constantly changing, and, with Canada as a base, the great armies of England, supplemented by Prussian mercenaries, French settlers, and thousands of Indians, were prepared for a long attack.

Victorious Against Great Odds.

We all know how strangely that war ended, with victory for the side against which the odds seemed incredibly heavy.

Agincourt, Waterloo, Sedan, the similar. In the last mentioned war, less than a hundred years ago, the case was that the Sepoy troops rebelled, in numbers something better than a thousand to one. There were few British troops in India, most of that army was composed of East Indians, officered by British. So the simple job of the rebels was merely to shoot the officers, wipe out the few missionaries and women and children, and possess their own land once more.

We all know how that came out, too. The passionate courage of a Roberts, a Campbell, a Havelock, overcame infinite superiority in numbers, and the rebellion was suppressed.

Lincoln's Predicament.

Then take Lincoln's situation, in 1864, actually within the memory of living men, for a child whose wondering eyes looked on at the Civil war would only be something more than 80 now.

The South was fighting the North, and with gallant success, at the mo-In Mexico, Austria and ment. France had set up an emperor whose plan was to befriend the South, take all Central America under his protection, for Austria, and maintain a strong European hold upon the Americas.

And just at this moment, when our President was cruelly pressed for men and munitions, an unfortunate episode occurred which angered England, and threatened for awhile to involve the North in a war with the British. British troops were even dispatched to Canada before the affair was settled.

How many women, worrying themselves half-insane this hot summer morning over unexpressed and undefined terrors, remember that that was our situation 75 years ago? Suppose that were the case now; suppose hostile foreign troops were actually on American soil bombing our cities—then we MIGHT have something over which to lose sleep!

We Prefer Peace.

As it is, remember that no nation has a grievance against us, and that we are not going out of our way to injure any nation, or to impose unfair terms upon any nation, or to make an enemy of any nation. We are by national temper peaceable, absorbed in our own problems, and incapable of really understandHAVE HOPE

"Don't let the foreign situation worry you," Kathleen Norris advises. She peers through the black clouds of war which hang over the world and finds that things are not as bad as they seem. Wars of conquest have been fought and nations conquered many times in the past. The world has always re-covered before, and there is no reason to believe that it won't do so ing the nature of matters abroad. We don't maintain blockades against neighboring countries, nor oppress them, nor hold to mandatory powers that cruelly handicap them. All the nations of Europe HAVE been doing these things, snatching the spoils of war, profiting by the sufferings of sister nations, for more than 20 long years; or rather for more than 10 long centuries. To live in continual war with your neighbors is possible to any government. To live in continual peace is also possible. The Americas, by some fortunate combination of circumstances, prefer the latter course. It is nonsense to say that you have to fight if other persons fight, for they have some reason for fighting. and it is your job, in peace times, to discover that reason, and to find other ways of curing the situation than the wholesale slaughter of innocent boys. When a nation meets war with war it is tacitly admitting that might is right; a theory that we should have left behind us Agincourt, Waterloo, Sedan, the 2,000 years ago. A theory, in short, that we said we DID leave behind us, when a certain Voice spoke on a certain mountain 2,000 years ago. War Breeds on War.

Twenty years ago Germany was crushed to the complete satisfaction of all the war makers. She was split in two, her wealth, her colonies were shorn away, she never could rise again or fight again. But somehow two and two didn't make four. War, instead of breeding peace, bred more war. The victorious nations, supposedly strong in policing and blockading and mandating and defense couldn't somehow watch that one central European state closely enough to see what she was doing, or police her sternly enough to stop her from what she actually did.

.That was Germany's hour of darkness. She emerged still Germany and more nationalistic than ever. This hour is dark for France. But she has been conquered before; despite all that any enemy can do in her heart she will still be untouched. and within another turn of the tide she will be France again. England Still England.

The Danes, the Saxons, the Romans, the Normans all conquered old England in turn. The Hanovarians and the Dutch came eyer to rule, with the Georges and William of Orange. But England isn't Danish nor Saxon nor Roman nor Norman nor Dutch; she's herself. England overpowered the Transvaal only 40 years ago, but anyone who visits it visits a strong Boer nation, still itself. All the blackboards of the world, and all the chalk, and all the statisticians couldn't work out for us today what the world is going to be 20 years from today. Dictators fall, peoples rebel against despotism, the great flood of human reason, the human need of love and home and children and gardens will go on. That need exists in the hearts of gallant bewildered German boys fighting like tigers because they are told to fight; bewildered French lads who knew neither why they fought nor why they stopped; English boys who only ask for home and a job and an occasional movie. They're all exactly alike, and when the war-makers are sated, and the dictators' hands lose their power, things will begin to slip back into their old
