SALT LAKE CITY.—When the Thirty-eighth infantry leaves Salt Lake City's historic Fort Douglas for a new assignment in the South, a military occupation begun in bitterness and bloodshed will have ended.

Although the fort is to be utilized as an air base, with an expected 1.500 men to be quartered there, no more infantry troops will be quartered there.

The fort was founded in the early days of Salt Lake City, and against the wishes of the Mormon pioneers. The encroachment of United States troops on the then state of Deseret was interpreted as an act of virtual

FORAGE NEEDS HEALTHY SOIL

Pastures on Poor Land 50 Years of Business— Lack Nourishment.

By PROF. W. A. ALBRECHT Sick soils will not produce healthy plants. Sick plants will not nourish healthy live stock. Mal-nourished live stock will not yield the farmer a profitable income. So what shall it profit us, then, if our frantic search for a foolproof grass to grow on abused soil is successful? We have become conservation conscious in recent years. We have come to recognize the threat to civilization from soil erosion. In many cases we have embraced the obvious solution—protective covering to hold the remaining surface and fer-

When these chemical studies are related to animal case histories, they show that the trouble lies in the absence from the soil of plant nutrients essential for the plants and required in larger amounts by the animals.

Mining our soils of their fertility is bringing us face to face with the simple fact that plant factories are not running as efficiently for feed production as they once were.

We should try to balance the plant diet for better results in the plant factory, just as we try to balance the animal ration for better output by the meat or milk factory.

Plant rations are much simpler than animal rations. Lime and phosphorus treatment to soil are usually the first requisites in the light of plant and animal needs, because calcium is about eight times as plentiphosphorus the corresponding figures are roughly 140 to 400, accordof agriculture.

Remedying the plant ration by lime and phosphorus additions mainly to the soil will relieve us of remedying the animal ration in many cases, and will be much more simple than tinkering with animal physiology, which is infinitely complex.

A simple soil treatment, like liming, can do much for the animal's sake in terms of higher content of minerals and protein in the forage lespedeza has demonstrated its effect in many places. In one case it Presbyterian Church-Wendling | increased the lime content almost one-fifth. It was instrumental in To Observe St. John's Nighthelping the plant to rustle enough phosphorus out of the soil to increase the concentration of this nutrient by one-fifth. It enabled the plant factory to pack more than onefourth more protein into each pound of hay, to say nothing of the yield increase per acre in all these items.

My only assurance is the adver tising which I read in the newspaper. That is my market and my buyer's guide. It tells me the prices I must expect to pay. Let the seller who tries to charge me more beware.

It also tells me what quality I may expect. Let the seller who tries to give me a poorer substitute beware.

So you see that advertising stabilizes prices and enables me, no matter how inexperienced I am in business, to buy with the same expertness and assurance of a professional buyer who spends his life buying for a large concern.

No one objects to paying the established price for something he wants. But all of us hate to be robbed by an unscrupulous man who, taking advantage of our ignorance, "soaks us good and plen-

The way to avoid being "soaked" in this complete way is to buy advertised goods from merchants who advertise.

There was a time in America when there were no set prices. Each merchant charged what he thought "the traffic would bear." Advertising came to the rescue of the consumer. It led the way to the established prices you pay when you buy anything today - except, perhaps,

Underweight Child Needs More Exercise

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

HAVE spoken before of the number of recruits who were rejected for war service because the chest was too small. Practically every one TODAY'S of these young fellows, on questioning, stated COLUMN that they had never played games because their parents were afraid they would get hurt.

When parents see that their children are not as others, underweight, tall for their age, round or drooping shoulders, it is only natural that they are somewhat alarmed at the thought of games or vigorous exercise. The result is that these youngsters do not get any exercise and properly directed exercise "growing" at this age is exactly what the body, including heart and lungs,

There are children who show pallor, excessive growth, muscular weakness, bad posture-sitting and standing. There are rapid fatigue, palpitation of the heart, stitches in the side, stomach ache, headache, dizziness and fainting spells."

Dr. L. F. Meyer, in Oriental Journal of Internal Medicine, reports that the general test of circulation by exercise (10 deep bends of the knees) shows that this group reacts otherwise than completely healthy children. The pulse remains fast in one-third of the children for longer than five minutes after exercise. The blood pressure differs from normal for it also remains high for more than five minutes. These two tests-heart beat and blood pressure-increased for longer than five minutes show insufficiency of circulation and inability to react properly from exercise.

Group Games Improve Circulation. Dr. Meyer suggests that as these children are nearing puberty, the circulation may improve and be equal to the demands made upon it. However, the treatment recommended is: "Invigoration of the body by gymnastics and sport, especially by breathing exercises."

The point then for parents is to have these slender, gangling, pale, overgrown children attend a gymnasium where exercise and group games are supervised. All group games not only strengthen the circulation by calling on the heart and lungs for more blood, but develop self-reliance.

Liver Extract Is Good for Pimples

TT WOULD now appear that another use for liver extract has been discovered which may mean much to the appearance and thus the happiness of many girls and boys and young men and women.

Until recently, acne-pimpleswas considered a distressing ailment which often came with puberty and had to be endured for 10 or 15 years—the most important years in life from the appearance standpoint.

Some skin specialists were able to help many patients by prescribing a diet. Then X-ray treatment was found effective. Recently, the injection of pituitary extract has given splendid results, as has also the use of viosterol by mouth. Now comes liver extract.

Boiling Increases Efficiency. Dr. W. Marshall, Appleton, Wis., in the Journal of Investigative Dermatology (skin diseases), reports his use of boiled liver extract in the treatment of 14 cases of acne in which he obtained satisfactory results. The injection of liver extract -six drops-is given so that a sufficient amount of the specific (or needed) vitamin may be had. When injectable liver extract is boiled for 30 minutes, its acne-improving factor seems to increase. "When this boiled extract is given to patients already taking liver extract regularly, their improvement appears more

This means then that to our present knowledge of the beneficial effects of X-rays, injection of pituitary extract and taking viosterol by mouth, is added the further knowledge that the use of liver extract boiled for 30 minutes and injected under the skin also cures many cases of acne.

Sweaters Receive Popular Acclaim

Fashionable for Daytime, Evening Wear.

There's infinite variety in sweaters for every occasion, for every hour this season.

Right now as the formal season is under full swing with first nights popping three and four times a ck. concerts in full swing, benefits galore, supper parties before and after the theater, cocktail and dinner parties at home and at night clubs-the most exciting sweaters are for evening wear. Last winter women took up the fashion of evening sweaters with joy-finding it the most practical and flattering fashion in years. This season promises to surpass last in enthusiastic acceptance of this American fash-

And no wonder! The new sweaters for evening are dazzlingly beautiful. Jet, the darling of the season, glistens in sequins and beads from strawberry pink sweaters. Whole yokes of jet sequins highlight black woolknit jerkins or short sleeved sweaters. Jet appears as a border for bottom and neck of a sleeveless jerkin of wool chenille-smart with long skirt and balloon sleeved blouse of chiffon.

Gold beads and metallic thread trace intricate patterns of embroideries on "long torso," fitted sweaters. Rhinestones gleam in clusters in an all-over pattern—the only trimming on an azure blue sweater.

New stitches have been devised to make lovely textures of the knits One fabric is a fine wale knit made of a soft yarn-beautiful in white with elaborate gold embroidery. Another is tricot-cord, a smooth, closely knit fabric with body to it for the more tailored sweaters. Wool chenille has a fine nubby surface which gives texture interest to the sweaters for evening.

Pinks, blues, white, red, black are the loveliest and most important colors for these evening

Classics go on for college and country wear—with violet tones, gold, clear light blues, and orangered leading the field of colors.

Huge Bows

This evening ensemble is a black sheer crepe over black silk taffeta The skirt is slit and edged slip. with rose taffeta pleating. Its chief glory is the huge bow that trims the taffeta bodice of matching rose petal silk. This bow is so arranged is comes through a slit in the jacket. Watch bows! They are coming into their own on the newer dress fash ions. It is also smart style to tie collarless coats with a huge taffets bow at the throat.

Tailored Costume Suit

Serves Double Purpose You may look demure as you please with your simple tailored black crepe daytime two-piece costume suit, but when the facket is removed what a transition into the spectacular "all-dressed-up" sight greets the eye! These double-pur pose frocks play a dual role that makes them practical for wear on the street when jacketed as well as smart looking for dinner or matinee

Style Notes

Wear all white in the evening, even to white fur coat.

Sheer contrast-color yokes are new in dark daytime dresses. Braiding in self color on pasual wool is new trimming formula.

Pastel dresses of thin wool are style important under fur coats. Red in coats, dresses and accessories sets a new high in chic. New evening handbags are a riot of color and glittering bead-work. Quilted velvet is the newest thing for blouses, capes and jerkins.

LOSS BY FIRES GREAT ON FARMS

Fires Are Preventable, Expert Asserts.

By PROF. J. B. RODGERS (Agricultural Engineering Department, University of Idaho.)

Loss from rural fires averages $400 every minute of the day, a loss the village home owner or farmer might reduce by his own efforts.

The farmer in particular, he points out, must be his own building inspector, zoning officer and in an emergency his own fireman and fire chief. If he does a good job in each case, he can do much toward reducing an annual rural fire loss of about

When possible, farm buildings should be in line at right angles to prevailing winds. With this arrangement there is less danger of sparks being carried from one building to another. Roofs of major buildings should be of fire resistant material. Chimneys may be cleaned of soot using a few bricks or rocks in a sack at the end of a long rope. Furnaces, stoves, and stove pipes properly installed and inspected regularly reduce a common cause of fire.

A system of grounded conductors gives protection against lightning. Carelessness in handling lamps and lanterns, in disposing of ashes, in storing and handling gasoline and kerosene and in allowing rubbish to accumulate where it becomes a fire hazard accounts for many farm fires.

The U.S. Engineers report that many serious rural fires have been avoided because ladders were at hand and water or fire extinguishers were readily available. This is a safety measure that is always highly Patriotism Is Sweeping U.S.

Broad Upsurge of National in commercial advertising is com-Consciousness Spreads Over Nation.

WASHINGTON .- A great wave of patriotism is sweeping the United States. The popularity of "God Bless America" and patriotic jewelry, the outbursts of "anti-fifth column" activity and a thousand other Christmas guests of the former's scattered phenomena are part, a survey by the Associated Press indicated, of a general upsurge of national consciousness.

"The Star-Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America" are newly resounding at nearly every public assemblage from coast to coast.

Badges, window stickers and auto emblems everywhere are emblazoning mottoes like "I Love America," 'Vote and Thank God That You Can," "We Are Glad We Are American," and "Our Flag Right or Wrong.

The patriotic wave is running in four conspicuous channels—simple expressions of national loyalty, widespread moves for national defense, newborn vigilance against foreign subversive activities, and a heightened consciousness of the institution of citizenship.

Capacity Demand.

Flag makers in New Jersey, Philadelphia. Chicago, the Southwest and on the Pacific coast report almost unanimously unprecedented, capacity demand. Homes, business buildings and institutions throughout the land which heretofore displayed the flag only on holidays now are flying it every day.

A Pottsville, Pa., coal miner has ts workers salute the flag each day before they go down the shafts. A Pittsburgh judge wrote a special tribute to the flag and reads it before each court session. In another Pittsburgh court room, "The Star-Spangled Banner" played on a phonograph daily.

At the Waynesburg, Pa., county fair the pledge to the flag was recited each day by every person on the grounds. In Los Angeles courts, the salute to the flag has replaced the traditional legal prolog of "Oyez, oyez."

Meaningful Incidents. The intensity of feeling is evidenced by meaningful incidents all over the country. In Galveston, Texas, a man who yelled "Hurray for Hitler!" was fined $200 for starting a disturbance. A Maryland prison guard was discharged for unpatriotic talk.

A Philadelphia laborer who hit a colleague with a shovel for criticizing the United States was upheld by the court. The new national sentiment appears to be basically a spontaneous, icanism" rather than inspired international partisanship or organized sentiment on foreign policy. So far, beyond general tightening of alien regulations, there have been objective expression of "pro-Amer-few indications of the "anti-hyphen" sentiment of World war days. New Jersey passed an anti-foreign uniform law aimed at the German-

American bund. But groups of foreign extraction all over the country affirmed their loyalty to the United States as so as any question arose. Some citizens of German inheritance in Annapolis, Md., put advertisements in the newspapers avowing their pa-

Concluded from first page. and South America, in long hauls, ships are desperately needed, for Germany is sinking them so fast it has become a chief danger to Eng-

Britain wants the United States to turn over to her the German and Italian ships interned in American ports. This could be termed an act of war by Germany. The desire States warships convoy vessels to English ports is also a dangerous invitation for war with Germany body. For the last five years the as such convoys are illegal according to international laws. Mr. been measuring the lack of vitamin Libby's opinion is that the United States is approaching a most critical situation and he advises citizens to protest by letter to members of Congress and the president any action which might lead this country into war.

If the United States enters war with Germany, he pointed out, she will have two wars on her hands because of the Japan-Germany military alliance, and the same navy which convoys ships to England in the Atlantic will be needed to fight the Japanese in the Pacific. It is a bad military principle to get into war on two fronts. If we go into war, it will cost us 100 to 150 billions of dollars and no one knows how many American lives. We will not be in any position to do anything until 1942, Dr. Libby estimates, and two more years of war in Europe will mean Fascism and Communism in Europe and a dictatorship here and throughout the world. Stalin would eventually be the winner for he would sit and wait until the other countries destroy one another.

Dr. Libby thinks this country should limit its aid to England to a point which would not involve us in a war and should encourage England to negotiate for an honorable peace with Hitler. If we stay out, peace may come by spring.

Germany has nothing to gain by continuation of the conflict, Britain cannot win, and we must ot become involved in a war which Stalin would win, were the conclusions expressed by Mr. Libby.

Questions from the audience were answered by Dr. Libby at the conclusion of his address, A large audience heard the evening address and another large congregation listened to the Christmas sermon delivered by Dr. Libby at the morning service Sunday in the Presbyterian Church.

SANTA CLAUS can't be far away, reasoned Ulysses G. Parker, the latter part of last week for he had caught sight of a real live deer in the garden adjoining his farm house in Section 19, Grant Township. Which one of Santa's sled haulers it was—Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donder or Blitzen-Mr. Parker did not venture to mention, but to prove he wasn't "seeing things," he called his wife and two neighbors to see the deer, a full grown doe, which accommodatingly remained long enough to be seen and admired. The animal left the farm by way of a nearby swale and Parker traced its tracks in the snow where it had made 25-foot length jumps.

Charter Oak to Live in Seedling

Original Tree Enacted an Historical Role Before The Revolution.

HARTFORD, CONN. - History books alone will not perpetuate the memory of a famous tree that changed the course of American his-

A scion of the mighty oak will endure for generations to come-a material monument recalling the early struggles of the colonists to break English domination in the New World.

This living memory is a seedling of the great Charter Oak tree-now growing at Thompsonville, and planted by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Charter Oak, a sturdy monarch which enjoyed its prime before the discovery of the North American continent, was felled during a violent storm 84 years ago. The part it played in history was more widely heralded than famous battles that gained eventual liberty during the momentous years of the colonial uprising.

The great spreading tree enacted its historical role as a protector of the Connecticut charter on October 31, 1687.

Granted by Charles II.

The charter, which gave the colony self-rule, was granted by King Charles II in 1662. It later was to form the basis of the Connecticut constitution, establishing the world's first democracy. The Connecticut constitution in turn was the inspiration for the Constitution of the United States.

Envious of this document of partial independence was Sir Edmond Andros, an appointee of the duke of York as governor of New York and "regions between the Connecticut and Delaware rivers." Andros had several controversies with colonial authorities before the Charter Oak episode. He repeatedly had been denied recognition as governor of Connecticut. But, in 1686, he obtained an appointment from the king as governor of New England and immediately demanded the Connecticut charter. Gov. Robert Treat and the legislature refused to relinquish it. On the eventful day on October the following year, Andros, his council and 60 soldiers appeared at the general assembly meeting place. Dusk was falling as he stormed into the room and served two writs of quo warranto on the governor and insisted the charter be produced.

Some Trickery. Governor Treat and the legislators were greatly disturbed. They stalled for time but Andros was impatient as the precious charter appeared within his grasp. Finally it was brought out and laid on a table. Andros eyed it greedily as the governor made a final plea for its preservation. Suddenly the candles were extinguished and the room plunged into darkness. There was a commotion in the hall and Andros furiously demanded the tapers be relighted. time. It's a hell of a noise that | When they were, after a cautious the bombs make when they're com- delay, the charter had disappeared. ing down—like a scream. It lasts | Andros was explosive in his denunciation of the colonists. Defeated, however, he marched away-without the charter. What he did not know was that when the lights went out Capt. Joseph Wadsworth whisked the document from the table and fled the meeting house. Captain Wadsworth, pressed for time, recalled a hollow oak tree on the farm of former Gov. George Wyllys, near by. He stuffed the charter into the opening and hurried back to the meeting house before the candles were relighted. The charter remained in the oak until Andros left the colony and all danger of its loss had passed. From that day on the tree became known as the Charter Oak Tree and it was carefully preserved until it was destroyed early in the morning of August 21, 1856.

550,000 Acres of Land Sought for Military Use

WASHINGTON. — Secretary of War Harry Woodring has asked congress for authority to purchase 550,-000 acres of land to be used for the expanded military program. He said that these added facilities would constitute a "most valuable asset to mobilization and expansion purposes." Among the purchases, the total cost of which was estimated at $3,500,000, were Camp Custer, Mich., 6,162 acres for added training facilities; Savannah, Ga., 525,000 acres for anti-aircraft training; Fort Sill, Okla., 13,738 acres for training facilities; Salt Lake basin, Utah, 3,000 acres for general depot.

middle-aged woman of ample means who makes her home in a mid-town hotel, began having her breakfasts served in her room. As she is on a diet, the menu is unvaried and the cost low. The other morning instead of paying the waiter as usual, she handed him a big bag of sugar. "This is for my breakfast," she declared. "Five full pounds. I had the drugstore downstairs weigh it." After some protest, the waiter took the bag and the check to the cashier. Opening it, the cashier found each lump in an intact wrapper which was stamped with the name of the hotel. It was finally decided to let the matter pass. The next morning, however, there was no sugar on the woman's tray. Rising in wrath, she demanded her just due. "Don't think," she stormed, "just because my fool doctor won't let me have sugar you can cheat me." As the guest is always right each morning now she has sugar.

Her companions, knowing full well that Manhattan has no orchards, looked at her as if she had actually gone wacky. But Magda sat impassive until the cab rolled into Central park. Then she proclaimed: friends, this is the orchard.'

Sympathy: New York has become tree conscious within the last year It all started with the planting of elms in front of Rockefeller Center followed by a tree gift to St. Patrick's cathedral, just across Fifth āvēnue, by Major Bowes. Recently I noted that trees have been planted on two sides of block long London Terrace while trees line both sides of 106th street from river to river. There are also trees on Sixth avenue. Trees, of course, add to the beauty of the city. But to me, a tree springing up from a sidewalk in the midst of steel and concrete is like an animal in a zoo or a wild bird in a cage.

Honesty: The taxi driver who took me home last night announced his belief in Santa Claus during a traffic light stop. It seems that earlier in the evening, a fare whom he had left at an uptown apartment house, had given him a ten in mistake for a one dollar bill. He needed the money because of family illness, but when he discovered the error, his conscience got busy. So he went back and tried to straighten it out. And the fare, evidently thinking he was attempting some kind of a game had bawled him out for disturbing him and ordered him to be on his way.

British Take Offensive Role in Africa, Capture Sidi Barrani, 40,000 Italians; Knudsen Deplores Defense Work Lag; Roosevelt Proposes More British Aid

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

GENERALSHIP:

History Repeats

'Twas the night before Christmas. The year was 1776. Hessian soldiers under the command of the British had captured New York and moved across New Jersey toward Philadelphia. George Washington was in retreat. He got across the Delaware first.

The Hessians had a superior and better equipped force; they were flush with victory. Few in the Colonial army even had shoes to protect them from the ice and snow. So the invaders, in a mellow mood, established a strong force to protect their front and then celebrated the portending victory.

Meanwhile Washington gathered boats from nearby towns. The Hessian front door was closed to him, so he ferried 2,000 selected men around the back, entered from the rear, captured 1,000 prisoners and turned victory into defeat.

Something quite comparable to that military fete was occurring this year in Albania. Substitute hot desert sands for cold winter snows and the same thing was true in Egypt. In Albania, the Italian army was retreating along the Adriatic sea abandoning port after port. The fighting there was intense, but more threatening to the Fascist legion was a movement against their left flank which threatened to envelope their entire army and wipe out Italian rule in the Balkans. If the force of the Grecian drive could be kept up for another month, victory seemed certain—a most remarkable victory of a small, poorly equipped army over a numerically superior and mechanized force.

And in Egypt the same kind of tactics by the British drove Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's army back into Three months earlier the Italians had invaded Egypt and advanced 75 miles to Sidi Barrani. Once there they built an excellent

But the British General Archibald Wavell didn't bother about the front. He went around to the rear, cut the splendid Italian-built road and for a time threatened four Italian divisions of 80,000 men in a death trap. Half of them escaped, fleeing back to Libya with the British in pursuit. The balance were taken prisoners or were casualties.

In both places the Greeks and British turned dismal failure into surprising victory. More important than the victory however was this: The British had taken the offensive for the first time in the war.

There has been talk of an outright subsidy to England to help that nation finance the manufacture of munitions here. Discussion of a loan gets little endorsement. The general sentiment is that a loan couldn't be paid anyhow and would only cause a headache of misunderstanding after the war. An outright gift would have it done and over with. President Roosevelt advanced another scheme. He would "lend" Britain such war materials as we have on hand. This proposal envisions Britain's use of the material while America held title. After the war it would be returned to the U.S.

Important development in plans to help Britain would be what course Nazi reaction would take. First hint of the German attitude toward the rumored Roosevelt plans came in the form of unofficial press comment from Berlin. These reports tended to give the impression that further moves to aid Britain would be regarded as being "no longer neu-

By the French

In continental politics, French Statesman Pierre Laval was never considered a bargain by the British. He was pro-German and pro-Italian. French Statesman Pierre-Etienne Flandin also was pro-German. But he was more pro-British and less pro-Italian.

be appeased. It might be coincidence but almost at the same time Laval was dropped from the cabinet. He was dropped so hard that he bounced into prison, along with a great many other pre-war French statesmen who are accused of "war

Afterward there were many explanations. It was revealed the Germans had asked permission to move an army through occupied France to a Mediterranean port. in order to send troops to Italy's help. Laval was said to have agreed but Marshal Petain was furious, refused the Germans and fired Laval.

Emerging as the successor to La val: Pierre-Etienne Flandin.

Did the Germans like it? Not a all. Otto Abetz, Hitler's ambassador to France, left Paris for Vichy. He took with him a squad of German soldiers armed with sub-machine guns. He called on Petain. Petain had Laval brought from his prison and join the conference. When Abetz left on his return to Paris, Laval went with him.

DEFENSE DELAY:

Plain Words

Twenty-four hours after War Secretary Stimson announced that the schedule for calling Nationl Guard troops into service had been revised due to inability to contractors to complete camps, Defense Commissioner William Knudsen went before the National Association of Manufacturers with plain words.

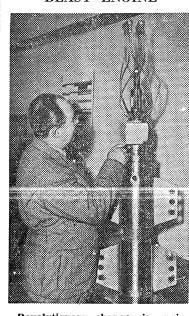

He asserted the entire production schedule was lagging. The airplane output, he said, was 30 per cent behind. Knudsen warned his audience that both capital and labor must show more co-operation or expect grave consequences.

Later the association announced that a "national inventory" would be taken of factories and mannower to locate production bottlenecks. The association pledged itself "to exert its utmost effort in co-operation with the government to carry out the program of defense with all possible speed and efficiency."

Also on the defense front: Mrs. Frank Knox, wife of the navy secretary, was sponsor at launching of the aircraft carrier Hornet at Newport News, Va. The craft is designed to handle 83 planes. It cost $31,000,000, exclusive of ar-

Revolutionary changes in engine design are made by E. B. Myers of New York in this "blast engine." The engine is of a jet-propulsion type and derives its power from the controlled detonation of an explosive fuel mixture composed of two liquids. BEHIND THE LINES:

Discontent

Rumors of discontent in Germany, Italy and conquered lands flooded the news, but there was little disposition in official circles to take them optimistically. The grapevine in Italy made known the full extent of the reverses in Albania and Egypt. Italians got pleasure out of tipping their hats. Word had gone around that tipping of the hat was a way of expressing a desire for peace.

In Antwerp, Jews were ordered to wear white armbands. The following day masses of Gentiles appeared with white bands on their arms. The Dutch also got sly satisfaction in changing signposts along roads.

In Denmark, there was open display of displeasure. Danish Nazis attempted to parade in uniforms They were arrested by the police and thrown into prison. Outside the prison, thousands stood and jeered at them.

In Norway, there was more trouble. Whistling was forbidden, because the natives adopted the custom of whistling whenever a German soldier passed. Many Germans have been shot by snipers. Labor practiced sabotage and bankers refused to bid on Oslo bonds.

In Bohemia, a cinema advertised the title of its next show, "The 1.000-Year Reich." The next caption "Here for one week, ending said, Thursday." Audiences flocked to the show to cheer the title.

RADIO:

Program Trouble

Theme songs will change and much of the music now heard on the radio will be banned after Janu ary 1, unless broadcasting com panies and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers can get together before that. They are in disagreement over fees to be paid for copyrighted music.

The broadcasters have set up a rival organization of copyright ownwhereas the ASCAP has rights to more than 2,000,000 selections of the leading writers, BMI has only about 200,000 tunes, many of them South American dances, hill billy songs and children's music.

Many radio stations already have stopped playing tunes owned by ASCAP. The vast majority have been using ASCAP tunes only in commercial programs.

Union Trouble

When one chain announced is would sponsor programs from army camps, with regimental bands play ing music, it ran into another snag James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians (A. F. of L.), protested and the broadcast was suspended. Petrille said the union's musicians suffer from that sort of competition. He went to Washington for a conference with War Secretary Henry Stimson, saying, "If the radio companies want to sponsor such a broadcast every Sunday, we won't object. Here is the situation in brief.

Who Runs Senate?

In the first place, the Repubican dominated state senate has decided that Republicans should retain the privilege of committee appointments. For a week or so factional strife threatened to divide G. O. P. ranks into two groups whom we will call the "regulars" and "independents." Senator Earl Munshaw, Grand Rapids, was the choice of the "regulars", Senator D. Hale Brake, Stanton, vas picked by "independents." Hopeful Democratic Senators, ensing a possibility of a coalition majority composed of the ten Demcrats plus one of the two Repubican factions had selected Senator Earnest C. Brooks, Holland, to be a coalition candidate for president ro tem. It has been the traditional prerogative of the lieutenant governor to make all committee appointments, and under a party system where the minority seeks to check the majority at every political opthe majority at every political opportunity and where the majority desires to carry out the "popular desires to carry out the "popular mandata" as to the "will of the the majority administration of said estate be granted to himself, or to some other suitable mandate" as to the "will of the people," a legislative committee can be most helpful if the right legislators are in charge of its deliberations. December 27 is the date of the next organization meeting at which time committee chairmen will be named. Frank Murphy, lieutenant governor-elect, has indicated he will probably cooperate. If the Republicans stick together, Murphy has no alternative.

Governor's Appointments?

While it may be legally possible

While it may be legally possible for a Republican majority to override a Democratic lieutenant governor, the governership holds vast powers, and Murray D. VanWagoner, the popular choice by some 130, er, the popular choice by some 130,000 votes, is ready to live up to his campaign slogan of being a man "who gets things done."

Complicating the situation is the new civil service amendment which may "jell" thousands of appointees into state jobs, subject of course to court interpretation and then to friendly administration by a civil service commission.

Insulated Homes More Comfortable Insulated homes are actually more comfortable than would seem warranted by the difference in temperatures caused by the insulation. The use of insulating board lowers the surface temperature of the walls in summer and thus increases the comfort, because the cooler the walls, the cooler one feels. In winter, the phenomenon is reversed. The walls are warmer and consequently help to increase the sensation of warmness.

"Thanks to these three helpers, I can work in clean, pleasant surroundings, under soft light that is easy on the eyes. I can cook dinner by flipping a switch and setting a clock. I can have plenty of hot water for dishes or housecleaning by simply turning a faucet.

"Yes, electricity DOES things in a home . . . and I thank my lucky stars that I have these faithful servants working for me every day of the year at such small cost."

Why not learn how thriftily YOU can employ more electrical helpers? Automatic electric water heating costs less than 10c a day for an average family of three. Scientists Make Analysis Of Data Gathered Over 15-Year Period.

WASHINGTON.—Seven radiation pulsations of the sun have been conematicians, who have completed a rigid mathematical analysis of data gathered by the Smithsonian in stitution over 15 years.

Measurements with delicate instruments on cloudless mountain tops scattered over the earth for the last 20 years have shown that the solar heat received at the outer edge of the earth's atmosphere varies from day to day. The sun, upon whose radiation all life depends, is a variable star.

The increases and decreases, however, were interwoven into an almost inextricable pattern. Sometimes the peaks of two or more coincided and sometimes several depressions came together. Several years ago Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, found, by splitting up the total curve of the sun's radiation, that it consisted of 12 subsidiary pulsations, all of which had a least common denominator of approximately 23 years. That is, every 23 years the star went through a complete pulsation cycle.

Some Statistical Illusions.

The analysis, however, was extremely difficult. Some of the radiation differences, in so far as they could be detected by any instruments 90,000,000 miles away, were very minute. All the complex effects of passage through the earth's atmosphere on solar radiation had to be discounted. There was at least a possibility that some of the apparent pulsations were statistical illusions, difficult to recognize.

Dr. Theodore E. Sterne of Harvard university undertook, with the aid of his graduate students, to analyze the data by a different, more laborious and more rigid mathematical procedure. A mathematician familiar with the pitfalls of statistical illusion, Dr. Sterne approached the problem with an ob-

Only 10 of the 12 periodicities proposed by Dr. Abbot were susceptible, the Harvard mathematicians. Out of these 10, his work shows seven are certainly real and must be considered probably as actual happenings on the sun, although the mathematics merely shows that they exist and offers no explanation of them.

The 'Real' Periodicities.

The Smithsonian observations show, he says, that the periods of That is, every 934 months the sun's heat, for some unknown cause, seems to rise to a certain peak and then decline. Every 11 months there is a similar rise and decline. The same is true for the other five. Each period may have a different solar cause. If they all started together-and presumably they did in the beginning-they all would approximately coincide at the end of 23 years. Their complex combinations would bring into the record many features of increases in the sun's heat with associated declines.

This period of 23 years is about double the period of the sunspot cycle, when titanic whirlwinds in the solar atmosphere go through a maximum and minimum in fre-

These solar periodicities, Dr. Abbot believes, are a major element in the earth's weather, although the relationship is very complicated. The independent confirmation of seven of them affords a substantial basis for further studies in this field.

345 Species of Fish In North Carolina waters, 345 species of fish have been identified.

Red is an invisible color to some insects, and ultra-violet rays, which are invisible to the human eye, can be seen by certain insects.

"Easy Entertaining" was writ-

So you're to manage the next community supper? And you're panicky about it! Of course it's a job to feed 200 people appetizingly and leave $25 profit in the treasury. But it can be done!

If you must eye the nickels when serving church or club suppers, study the following eight-point program for "feeding the multitude":

(1) Pick a general chairman who can picture the job as a whole. (2) Appoint a responsible person in charge of each food. (3) Arrange the kitchen conveniently for the different jobs. (4) Prepare as many foods ahead of time as possible. (5) Have utensils ready and garnishes at hand. (6) Name a hostess to direct waitresses. (7) Plan a uniform method of serving. (8) Plan menus well ahead of time.

If the meat dish is different, the whole meal seems to have variety. And there's many a trick for serving thrifty cuts differently.

Take meat loaf, for instance. A ham loaf de luxe with a good mustard-horseradish sauce will "make" any meal. Beef stew can be thickened a little, ladeled into dripping pans, covered with rounds or squares or diamonds of biscuit, and when baked it appears crustily and temptingly yours. If you wish to make it more "de luxe" bake and serve in individual casseroles.

For something different, plan for meat balls with rice. You can serve buttered turnips, and a salad made of cabbage, celery, green peas and pimento which certainly sells the men this menu.

Now if pennies needn't be watched so closely and you want to do a fall or winter dinner up brown, here's a "ringer": Baked ham, raisin and cider sauce, raw vegetable salad, cranberry muffins, pumpkin pie, coffee, or milk.

Ham Loaf de Luxe.

(Serves 50) 5 pounds smoked ham (ground) 3 pounds veal (ground)

3/4 cup green pepper (minced) 34 cup onion (chopped) 2 teaspoons salt ½ teaspoon pepper 8 eggs (beaten) 1 quart tomato soup (canned) 1 quart bread crumbs or uncooked cereal Combine the meat, green pepper, onion and seasonings. Add beaten eggs, tomato-soup, and bread crumbs or uncooked cereal. Pack into bread loaf pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 11/2

Beef Stew With Biscuits. (Serves 50)

9 pounds beef round (cut into 1-inch cubes) 2 cups flour 1 cup hot beef drippings

3 quarts boiling water

1/2 teaspoon peppercorns 2 bay leaves

1 quart turnips (diced) 1 quart carrots (diced) 1 cup onions (sliced)

Salt and pepper to taste

Cut beef into 1-inch cubes. Dredge in the flour and brown in hot beef drippings. Place in kettle and add boiling water. Cook slowly for 2 to 3 hours. Add peppercorns and bay leaves. Add carrots and turnips 1 hour before serving. Add salt and pepper. If necessary, thicken with flour paste. Serve hot with baking powder biscuits on top.

Meat Balls With Rice. (Serves 40 to 45)

4 pounds beef (ground)

3 pounds pork (ground) 2 onions (minced)

2 cups rice (uncooked) 2 cups cracker crumbs

4 eggs (beaten) 4 tablespoons salt

1 teaspoon pepper

2 cups milk Combine ingredients and mix well. Form into balls. Place in shallow roasting pans. Pour over 2 quarts tomato sauce or tomato soup. Cover
