Newly weds Honored At Reception Monday

The Shabbona Community hall was beautifully decorated in pink, white and blue, according to the artistic instincts of Forrest Tyo, for a reception Monday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. George Galloway, who were married Feb. 6.

About 75 persons attended the affair and enjoyed the dancing throughout the evening to music furnished by the Ennis five-piece band from Marlette.

Refreshments were served at midnight. The highlight of the lunch was a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The same ornament had decorated the wedding cake when the bride's grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. David Tyo, observed their golden wedding and was again used when the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Tyo, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Galloway received many beautiful and useful gifts, including a sizeable purse of money.

Cass City Wins from County Seaters in Tight Game Friday

Caro was toppled from a mythical class B state crown last Friday in the local gym by Cass City's fighting Redhaws, who downed the purple and gold five, 30-33. Previously Caro had been riding high with 13 consecutive wins against no defeats. In the first contest between the two schools, Caro won the game by the close margin of 31-32.

In Friday night's game, Cass City started fast and gained an 8-7 first quarter lead after which they were never headed. At various times throughout the contest, Cass City pulled out front by as many as seven points.

Strickland of the Redhawk team topped both aggregations in scoring by making 12 points. Richardson of Caro tallied 9.

Caro seconds defeated the Redhawk reserves by a score of 32-19. Cass City's final game of the season will be against a strong Mt. Pleasant five in the local gym on Friday, Feb. 22.

Village Officers Were Nominated Friday Evening

Three Trustees Anxious to Retire Were on Hand to Name Successors

At the village caucus Friday evening, four officers were nominated to succeed themselves and five are new candidates.

Ernest L. Schwaderer was named to succeed himself as village president for a second term, and others nominated to the same offices they now hold are Ernest Croft as treasurer and Marion Douglas and Calla Patterson as members of the library board.

James Gross, M. C. McLellan and B. F. Benkelman, Jr., were nominated as trustees, Warren Wood as clerk and Raymond McCullough as assessor.

Only nine citizens attended the caucus, among them three trustees whose terms expire this winter, and who, holding the opinion they had served long periods, were anxious to be relieved of their duties. John A. Sandham said he had been a village trustee for 25 years and Frederick H. Pinney and Audrey H. Kinnaird have each served in their positions 12 years.

All nominations were made unanimously. The caucus was called to order by Village President E. L. Schwaderer, who was chosen chairman. H. F. Lenzner was clerk.

Four Points Stressed For Security in The Pacific

Gordon Powell of Australia, lecturer on international affairs, gave an address Sunday evening as the third number of the Institute of International Understanding sponsored by the Cass City Rotary club. His subject was "International Security in the Pacific."

He opened his remarks with information regarding Australia which he said had an area as large as the United States but was much more sparsely inhabited, having but 7,500,000 white and 60,000 colored population. The continent could maintain 40 to 50 millions of people and plans on making room for several millions of whites from overcrowded areas in Europe.

Australia furnishes a quarter of the world's wool and is a large exporter of wheat. It has an arbitration court which has worked quite successfully in settling differences of labor and industry and thus avoided many strikes.

He named four points that he considered important for security in the Pacific: Cooperation with the United States and Australia; continued cooperation of Great Britain and Australia; full employment; and an honest application of the principles of trusteeship over nations not yet in position of self-government.

The speaker was presented by Rev. M. R. Vender. Rev. Kenerth Bisbee gave the invocation which was followed by a vocal trio number by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Joos and Geo. Dillman.

Well Known Contractor Died Here Saturday

Isaac W. Hall Had Erected Many Houses and Barns in This Community

Isaac W. Hall, for 64 years a resident of this community and a well known building contractor, passed away at the Hutchinson Convalescent home in Cass City Saturday morning following a severe illness of two months. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Arnold Olsen, pastor of the Baptist church, at the Douglas funeral home Monday afternoon. Burial services were conducted by Isaac W. Hall.

Tyler Lodge, F. & A. M., in Elkland cemetery.

Born in Park Hill, Ont., Mr. Hall, son of George and Jane White Hall, came to Michigan at the age of 17 years to work at lumbering in cheboygan. Later he came to Cass City and with his two brothers, Charles and George Hall, started a saw, mill on the banks of the Cass river. As lumber became scarcer, he entered the contracting business, building many houses and barns in this vicinity. In 1935, he retired from the contracting business to conduct a wood repair shop in Cass City.

Mr. Hall served Cass City as a village trustee and assessor and Elkland township as a member of the board of review. He was a member of Tyler Lodge, F. & A. M., in which society he held several offices and was a member of The Farm Produce Co.'s board of directors.

Mr. Hall and Miss Margaret McIntyre were married Dec. 26, 1894, and first made their home in Novesta township. About three years later they moved to Garfield Ave. in Cass City where Mr. Hall erected a residence in 1898. They have since resided there and in December, 1944, celebrated their golden wedding.

Besides his widow, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Sam Vyse of

Soldier Writes Thank You Letter to Lee Dickinson of Cass City

A year ago Lee Dickinson knit and presented a pair of gloves for a man in the service and a few days ago received the following reply from a soldier who was the recipient of the gift, expressing his gratitude.

January 22, 1946

Dear Sir:

I take this means to inform you that I found your name in a pair of gloves that has just been issued to me. As you requested, I am writing to inform you of this.

I assume that you are interested in knowing just who I am. I am now in the hospital at Ft. Custer, Mich., after having served three years in the South Pacific as a member of the first Cavalry Division, in Australia, New Guinea, the Admiralty, and the Philippine Islands.

Arrived back in the States after the battle of Manila, in which I was wounded for the third time. Am waiting for a medical discharge at this writing. Will be a civilian again within the next three weeks.

I hope that this letter finds you in the best of health and the fact that you are seventy-five years young and still doing work of such importance, works wonders with my morale, which incidentally, has been exceptionally low of late.

Again, thanks for the gloves and may you live to be at least a hundred.

Respectfully Yours,
T-Sgt. Roy V. Little.

Guild Sends Gifts to Percy Jones Hospital

Mrs. Arthur Holmberg and Mrs. Raymond McCullough were in charge of the program for the meeting of the Presbyterian Guild society when that group met Monday evening with Mrs. Robert Brown. The program was a panel discussion on compulsory military training. Students from the high school presented the program with Isabel Martin and Wilbur Silvernail stating the affirmative view and Bill Benkelman and Marjorie Kettlwell upholding the negative side. Albert McPhail served as moderator.

Devotions were conducted by Dr. Howell. Mrs. Arthur Holmberg was appointed chairman of the nominating committee in preparation for the election of officers at the March meeting.

A very warm thank you letter, written by Miss Janet Allured, in behalf of veterans in the occupational therapy department at Percy Jones hospital at Battle Creek was read. The Guild had sent $100.00 worth of tools to the veterans at Christmas time. At Monday's meeting enough money was donated by those present to buy a much needed potter's wheel for the hospital.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Orion Cardew, Mrs. Robert Hoadley and Mrs. Hugh Munro, served refreshments in keeping with Valentine's day—ice cream heaghts, pink and white cakes and tea and coffee.

Michigan Mirror

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Gene Alleman

"Michigan industrial workers are receiving today an average of 15 cents more per hour than workers get in other adjacent Mid-West states. If Michigan is to continue as a leader in manufacturing, and we are responsible for 13 per cent of the entire nation's war armament output, management must get production and union contracts must be enforced."

John L. Lovett, manager of the Michigan Manufacturers' Association, was speaking. His audience was a group of 200 college professors and instructors.

Brusque and straight-forward in action, Lovett is a realist in the world of industrial relations. A graduate of the University of Kansas, he served as legislative correspondent of the Chicago Tribune at Springfield, Illinois. For the past 27 years he has been employed by Michigan manufacturers; he has been as frank and outspoken in warning them of their faults as he has been in deploring labor's irresponsibility and restrictions on production, where he believes they exist.

Historically, the American management-labor movement, said Lovett, is about as follows:

Around a quarter of a century ago American industry underwent a significant change. Whereas most industries had been managed by their owners, a wave of mergers brought an era where many industries were directed by professional managers, most of whom had no ownership in the business and whose earnings, salary plus bonus, often were at the expense of labor itself.

This swing of the pendulum led to unrest among employees and finally to enactment by Congress of a series of laws, all designed to protect the worker, from the Watson-Parker act in 1926 to the Byrnes anti-strikebreaking act in 1936.

Labor's new powers have caused the pendulum to swing to the other extremity. Management's abuses have been followed by labor's abuses, he said.

The General Motors strike, said Lovett, was not prompted by the publicized 30 per cent wage increase demand but by a deliberate

Tuscola's Red Cross Fund Drive Opens Next Week

County's Quota of $14,000 Has Been Assigned to the Township Districts

Frank J. Rolka, war fund campaign chairman for the American Red Cross, has announced that plans are nearly completed for conduct of a vigorous campaign to raise the Tuscola county quota of $14,000 during March.

Quotas for each township have been assigned and will be found at the end of this story. Mr. Rolka is making plans now for appointment of township chairmen.

Regarding the war fund campaign this year Mr. Rolka said this week:

"Approximately 53 per cent of the money collected in the county this year will remain with the Tuscola chapter. This is the first time that the local chapter has received such a large percentage."

"The local budget has been increased in order to provide help to care adequately for veterans' needs during the immediate post-war period."

"There are some who seem to feel that, as the wars are over, the Red Cross will have but little to do, either locally or in its foreign work. Nothing could be further from the true situation."

"There are still more than five million men in service, whose only contact with home is through the Red Cross. In addition, problems of returning service men are sometimes more pressing than those of men still in service, so the Red Cross has almost more to do now than while the wars were being fought."

"Work of the local chapter has been increasing largely and steadily since the end of hostilities, and the Red Cross intends to provide an efficient organization to take care of the needs of veterans and their families."

"This can be aided if the people of the county contribute generously, as they have always done in the past, so that the local chapter will have sufficient money with which to meet its expenses."

Following are the township quotas as set up by Tuscola county chapter officials:

Akron	$ 650
Aimer	550
Arbela	350
Columbia	650
Dayton	350

General Sherman Said:

"War is hell!" So are stiff-as-a-board work shoes to thousands of workers. Every year a pair of genuine buckskin-soft Wolverine Shell Horsehides? No matter how often they're soaked, they dry out soft and pliable. Just wear one pair on that job of yours—before 30 days have passed you wouldn't sell them back to us at twice what they cost you. Information About Water Softening Equipment

C. U. Brown, in Series of Articles, Gives Answers to Questions of Citizens

By C. U. Brown.

The methods of treatment for softening municipal water supplies are the lime, lime-soda ash and the zeolite or a combination of these methods. The lime treatment is adaptable to most Michigan public water supplies. It will remove the carbonate hardness and when used with soda ash, will remove the non-carbonate hardness as well. These processes are usually used where large amounts of water are to be softened. Both these require large buildings. The water must be pumped twice, once to lift it from the well or other supply and through the plant where it is stored in a reservoir, and the second time to force it into the system or elevated storage. The softening operations are complicated and require the service of a trained chemist. His qualification must be certified by the Michigan Department of Health and he must be on duty at all times the plant is in operation. The lime sludge produced by this method presents a disposal problem. This method is used by the large cities, although there are some small towns using it, among them being Harbor Beach and Frankenmuth.

In the zeolite process, a part of the water is forced through a filter bed of exchange silicates which are known by the name zeolites. The natural material comes from deposits found in New Jersey and Maryland as well as in some of our western states. After being washed and prepared for softening purposes, it has the appearance of coarse sand of a greenish-brown color. Artificial zeolites are made from a combination of sodium alumina and silica and as used for water softening purposes look like a coarse commercial salt, except the crystals have a yellowish or brownish color.

As the water comes in contact with the zeolite in the filter, the zeolite gives up its sodium for the calcium and magnesium in the water until the sodium in the zeolite is exhausted. It is then possible to renew the sodium content by applying a strong solution of sodium chloride (common salt) to the zeolite. The sodium in the solution replaces the calcium and magnesium and returns the zeolite to its original condition.

to its original composition. After washing out the excess salt solution and the calcium and magnesium, the filter is in condition for use again. Two filters are used—one taking the load when the other needs renewing and washing. This is all done automatically with electrical controls. The wash water is sent to the sewer and prevents no sludge problem.

Water softened by zeolite is used extensively in homes, laundries, boiler plants and small institutions as it requires little attention for proper operation. In the zeolite process, it is economically possible to reduce the hardness to zero. However, this would not be desirable in a municipal supply as it would give the water a flat or soda taste; also the extra soft water might cause rust in the water mains. This objection is usually eliminated by permitting a portion of the sodium salts to remain in the water by using a split treatment. This means that a large portion of the water is passed through the zeolite and reduced to nearly zero hardness and the rest of the water is by-passed and receives no softening treatment but can be treated for iron removal, if necessary. The two portions are then reunited in proportions, to produce a predetermined hardness, usually from 85 to 100 parts per million. This method reduces the sodium content in the softened water.

The question is sometimes asked "Does the use of soft water have any ill effects on the body?" The answer to this question is emphatically "No." As mentioned above, a public water supply that is softened still retains 85 to 100 parts per million or more of the hardening compounds. Such water is comparable to Lake Michigan and Lake Huron water, and certainly the people using public water supplies from these lakes have suffered no ill effects. Furthermore, the daily food of the average person will provide ample amounts of such minerals as may be taken out of the water by the softening process.

Famous Thrills!

1930, Sept. 27, Ardmore, Pa.: History was made here today as BOBBY JONES overcame his opponent to win the United States Amateur Golf Championship. By his victory, the young Atlanta barrister achieved a goal no other golfer has been able to reach—in a single year to win all four of the major golf titles: the British Open, the British Amateur, the U. S. Open, and the U. S. Amateur. Jones' "grand slam" of golf climaxed eight consecutive years of competition in which he had always annexed one of these titles, and twice had taken two of them.

1946, anywhere in the Midwest, another great thrill! Split-second starting with Standard Red Crown or Standard White Crown Gasoline, now stepped-up with aviation fuel ingredients. Yes, there's a thrill you'll appreciate these cold days. Quick starts... flashing pick-up... full, smooth power... thrifty mileage. Find out, today, how well your car can perform. Corn Storage

Cleanness of husking is of the utmost importance in storing corn of high moisture content, because the husks and silks seriously reduce air movement through the crib.

Penny Coinage

There were nine different United States pennies coined in the year 1909.

Cuts Fire Hazard

The fire insurance industry is particularly interested in the value of paint from a fire protection standpoint. Unprotected wood has a tendency to weather and dry out until it becomes like tinder. Paint, however, keeps wood in good condition, so that a wooden building painted is less likely to take fire than one that is unpainted. Another important point is that in order to paint it is first necessary to clean up, thus eliminating the hazard of accumulated refuse.

There isn't always room for one more

PADAUNG SAL has reached the height of her social career—if those neck rings mean anything. And likewise, a good many of today's homes have reached the height of their electrical careers if there isn't room for one more electrical appliance without overloading the circuits and blowing fuses. If your home is just getting by with makeshift devices, such as extension cords or octopus plugs, it will be still worse tomorrow when that new electric dishwasher, frozen-food unit, automatic laundry or television set is added to an already-overworked electrical system. To help you enjoy tomorrow's electrical living, have your home checked for adequate wiring. Your home may be an old one, but it can hold all the electrical conveniences of a new one—with adequate wiring. And if you are planning on building or buying a new home, it's doubly important to see to it that your home is adequately wired for all the good things electricity can give you.

This is one of a series of advertisements prepared in the interest of the electrical contractors in your area to insure adequate wiring for every home. When you build or remodel, be sure your home is properly wired.

Fire Is Greatest Killer in Raids

Is Conclusion Reached by Board of Medical Men.

WASHINGTON. — Fire, not the exploding bomb, is the greatest air-raid killer and the chief menace against which civilians must be protected if the country is to survive future wars.

That is the grim conclusion reached by a special board of medical men and scientists after a survey of U. S. strategic bombing of Germany. Their report has just been made public.

They found that bombings in the Reich killed 500,000 civilians, wounded 700,000 and made 7,800,000 homeless. Deaths from actual bomb blasts, however, were relatively infrequent as only persons within 30 yards of an explosion were affected. Fire was the real killer.

"Preliminary reports from Hiroshima and Nagasaki," the report added, "indicate that the number and type of injuries sustained in an atomic bomb attack do not differ greatly from those inflicted upon the German civilian population in the great fire raids."

The Germans called the raids on industrial cities "fire blizzards." The fires created 90-mile-an-hour drafts which literally sucked many persons into the flames. Street temperatures were recorded up to 1,472 degrees Fahrenheit.

Up to 80 per cent of air raid deaths in Germany were due to carbon monoxide poisoning which attacked victims in cellar shelters or trapped in wreckage. The gas came from imperfect combustion and broken gas mains.

Breathing superheated air and direct burns caused many deaths. Many bodies were found shriveled from extreme dehydration, with no sign of other injury.

It was found that safest protection was provided by so-called formal shelters, buildings five to seven stories high with walls and floors nine feet thick, and self-contained ventilation, heating, water and supplies.

Some Really Big Bombers Coming, Gen. Arnold Says

NEW YORK. — General of the Army Henry H. Arnold predicted development of super bombers capable of flying nonstop for 16,000 miles—more than four times the distance between New York and London.

The general added: "There is not only the super bomber which can carry atomic bombs and cruise about the globe, there are also the robot planes which will be able to perform the same spectacular flights, with a non-existing crew. And the damage that will be wreaked by a radar directed V-2 weapon equipped with an atomic bomb is indeed a far too terrible thing to contemplate."

Against the possible use of such weapons by other nations, General Arnold said, the United States must have a "sure and certain defense."

"Our hope lies, then," he added, "in a policy of offensive readiness to perpetuate peace—to provide for national security."

Gun Collector Adds 35

With Assistance of Army HUDSON, MICH. — A gun collector in civilian life, Walter R. Avis continued his hobby while serving with the 5th infantry division in Austria. He now has 35 guns of French, German and Belgian make, ranging from a three-inch, 18-caliber pistol to an 18-inch, 48-caliber revolver.

While serving in Austria, Avis learned that civilians were being required to turn in all firearms in their possession. He rushed to army headquarters and explained his gun collecting hobby. An officer told him to help himself.

Avis selected the 35 guns and recently had them registered at the police station in Adrian. It kept officers busy half a day.

He declined to explain how he transported the guns to this country.

Allies Received More

Vehicles Than We Did

BOSTON, MASS. — Allied nations received more American tanks and trucks than the United States overseas forces, according to Col. H. B. Sheets, commander of the Boston ordnance district.

Sheets said that statistics showed that Russian, English and Chinese troops received 785,939 vehicles of all shapes and sizes, compared with 854,085 shipped to American supply depots abroad. He said Russia received 459,481, the United Kingdom 298,110 and China 28,348.

Nearly 2,000 more tanks were shipped to Britain than our own "forces in the Pacific, Mediterranean and European theaters received," Sheets said.

They ran into each other again in Hawaii in 1918, next met in a Japanese prison camp on Formosa in 1944, were separated, both ultimately released and now find themselves full colonels together again at Moore General hospital.

Fast Feathering Is Desirable in PoultrySuperior Broilers Are Rapid Developers

Early development of feathers by a chicken is a good indication that it will make a well-feathered and otherwise desirable broiler or fryer. This is the conclusion reached by research workers of the U. S. department of agriculture, after three years of scientific studies.

Prospects for superior market quality are still better if the chicken gains weight rapidly between the ages of 3 and 6 weeks and has a fairly broad breast at the end of that period.

These characteristics were found to be inherited. A poultryman, therefore, can improve his breeding stock, for the production of broilers and fryers, by selecting those chickens that feather and develop rapidly during the first few weeks of life. Differences among birds are not so readily apparent at a later date.

Selection for fast feathering can readily be made when the chicks are about a day old by noting those that have the longest feather sheaths or partially developed quills.

Cranberries

By W. J. Dryden

Originally called cranberries, cranberries were found growing wild in the marshes by the Pilgrims in 1620. Containing 13 important minerals and vitamins they are highly prized as a food article. During late years they found their place in the industrial field. Cranberry wax added to other waxes will raise the melting point of these waxes. Urolic acid from the wax of cranberry skins has important therapeutic applications. The oil from the seeds is used in shampoos. Cranberry meal has become valued as a filler for plastics.

Improved Machinery
New Plow

New type plow adjustable for deep plowing will find many uses.

A new plow designed by Oliver corporation, Chicago, has additional bases set a few inches below and behind, as well as to one side of the upper bases. The latter are adjusted to normal depth for conventional plowing, while the lower bases, by widening and deepening the cut, crumble the plowpan, or hard undersoil hither to left untouched, mixing it slightly with the lower portion of the top soil.

New Poultry Disease

A new disease, known as "Newcastle disease," is said to be prevalent in many parts of the world, causing severe losses in poultry. It has made its appearance in the United States. Veterinary association authorities say that the symptoms include sudden deaths, droopy appearance, ruffled feathers, coughing and sneezing, and sometimes nervous disorders such as curled toes or wing paralysis. So far death loss in the U. S. has been low.

Symbolic Stone

The Chinese believe jade to be a combination of the five cardinal virtues—charity, modesty, courage, justice, wisdom. As Confucius explained, "In the eyes of wise men, its polish and brilliancy represent virtue and humanity; the angles of jade, which seeming sharp, yet do not cut, represent justice; the defects under the surface, yet apparent, represent sincerity; the impossibility for the bad shades to hide the beautiful, or the beautiful the bad, represents loyalty."

Foreign Trade

In prewar days the United States was second only to the British empire in trade with South Africa. United States imports including copper, chrome, tungsten, lead, manganese and other ores. In 1940 Americans ordered two million pounds of lobster tails, ice-picked for shipping 7,810 miles to New York City. These rack or Cape spiny lobsters are really sea crawfish, lacking the

DEFORD

Mrs. Chas. Kilgore entered the Pleasant Home hospital on Friday and underwent an operation. Her present condition is very favorable toward a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Cecil Lester returned to her home on Tuesday and is recovering nicely from her operation.

The mumps epidemic is still prevalent. Latest victims are Gail and Dolores Lester and Vernon Churchill.

Owing to very adverse weather conditions only 19 were present at the Farmers' club, entertained on Friday at the Walter Kelley home.

Sunday morning services at ten o'clock, on Feb. 24 in the Deford church, will be conducted by laymen. Gerald Hicks will take charge of the music and Glenn Towsley, Warren, Kelley and Arleon Retherford will each speak on a subject of their own selection.

The Excelsior class of the Caro Methodist Sunday school were entertained on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kelley. While living in Caro last year, Mrs. Kelley was teacher of the class.

Leland Kelley has received his discharge from army service. Leland and Mrs. Kelley spent last week at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kelley.

Ten High Average Bowlers.

Landon 187, Kolb 172, E. Fritz 171, McCullough 171, F. Novak 171, Reid 169, Ludlow 169, Larkin 168, Willy 167, Wallace 166.

The same two teams continue to share the league lead which they have held together over the past couple of weeks, while just a game or two back of them are a couple of teams waiting their chance to displace either or both of these leaders. The DeFrain team tops the list because of its higher pin totals. This squad of timber top-piers has continued to increase their average each week since the second schedule opened in January and much of the success in their advancement is credited to the improved bowling of their No. 1 man, Buzz Wallace, who has been rolling an average of 183 pins plus for the last five weeks and jumped his average seven points. He appears to be at his best with the title of captain lifted from his shoulders.

Rienstra, A. Freiburger and H. Pinney are also doing a good bit of bowling, with their captain, Murray DeFrain, always holding down the anchor position well. The Wooley team have not been wasting many pins in winning their games and while their pin totals strategy of the international board of the U. A. W.-C. I. O. to assure a long, costly strike which would leave the rank-and-file union member "docile", due to depletion of savings, and hence unwilling to lead or join a threatened insurrection against re-election of the present U. A. W. officers at the forthcoming convention next month at Atlantic City.

He said the 30 per cent wage demand was merely "window dressing", (U. A. W.-C. I. O. denials may be assumed.)

Newness of the U. A. W.-C. I. O. organization has handicapped its officers in lack of experience in collective bargaining. Lovett contrasted this with the long experience of AF of L leaders whom he said, "know how to bargain" with employers.

(It has been estimated that 2,500,000 AP of L members have received pay increases since V-J Day, averaging 15 per cent or more. A big majority of these were obtained without resort to costly strikes — Source: Research Institute of America.)

Another factor: The U. A. W. board's lack of discipline over local unions, and hence inability to live up to its contracts.

Lovett declared that many labor unions, especially those having large memberships, were controlled by their officers through a handful of delegates and followers much in the traditional manner of a political machine. "State officials would learn a lot from these tactics," he added.

This situation is largely the fault of union members, most of whom are indifferent and do not attend union meetings and hence are willing to let their leaders make important decisions for them, he said.

When a professor asked Lovett what the schools might do to overcome this lack of "democracy" in union, organizations, Lovett grinned broadly and retorted: "In my opinion, public education has been a miserable failure. It has failed to make thinkers out of the average American citizen. Public ignorance is appalling.

(Dr. George Gallup, expert at public opinion polls, recently said: "I am frequently amazed at lack of information many people reveal. I often wonder how democratic governments can work as well as they do when so many people are so poorly informed." Here is the need for adult education which the State of Michigan is now financing for the first time.)

And yet the Michigan ffitage-ment-labor situation isn't one-sided, by a long shot.

Listen to this bold statement by Lovett, delivered last October before the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers at Chicago:

"The great wave of dissatisfaction of the workers throughout the country can be traced directly to management's failure to grasp the importance of human relations within the plant organization itself. As a result, unionization has become widespread, and generally sneaking, this union leadership is irresponsible and incapable. The result is a chaotic situation."

Lovett said union organizers used three appeals in organizing Michigan automobile workers: Security, protection from the foreman, and wages. In all three points the industry was largely at fault—"men when they reached the age of 40 or so were let out of industry because they were presumed to be too slow"; "the automobile industry, unfortunately, had neglected foreman training and had a large number of arrogant, dictatorial and unfair foremen"; and "the industry was seasonal and the average employment was only about feix months".

Management's recent "education" in human relations thus is being purchased at a costly price to workers, stockholders and the suffering public.

John L. Lovett is a man with plenty of guts. We admire his courage.

Keep Butter Fresh

Keep butter fresh and appetizing by following a few simple rules. As soon as it is brought from the store, place it in its original paraffined carton in the refrigerator. Serve only the amount of butter you think your family will eat. Keep the rest well wrapped in waxed paper and in the carton, then put it back into the refrigerator at once. Should any butter be left over, give it similar treatment—that is, keep it well protected and cold.

Study of Land
And Resources in 23 Townships

Frank Suggitt, assistant county agent in land use, has been assigned to Tuscola county, for a period of six months to work under the direction of the county agricultural agent in completing the intensive land use study begun in five townships last year.

Under the sponsorship of the County Land Use planning committee, township land use planning committees in each of the 23 townships have begun an intensive study of land and natural resources, within their boundaries in a series of meetings conducted by County Agricultural Agent Norris W. Wilber and Assistant County Agent Frank W. Suggitt. It is planned to hold a series of at least three meetings in each of the townships.

The purpose of this land use policy work is to interest local farmers in sitting down together and making a careful inventory and study of the land and other natural resources within their own townships. The immediate objective is to acquire as much information as possible about any given area in order that types of problems may be considered and recommendations made by the committees regarding their solutions.

Some of the types of problems involving land use policies are as follows:

1. Problems concerned with political economy of land use.
 2. Problems of land classification which should be classified as agricultural, which non-agricultural, ear-marking potential agricultural land, classification of non-agricultural land.
 3. Problems of non-farm nature concerned with use of land for recreation, forestry, hunting, fericulture, harvesting and use of wild land crops.
 4. Problems of readjustment, change in size of farm units or change in types of farming and land use, eliminating or changing status of submarginal land.
 5. Problems of land ownership, public and private ownership relations, conflicts in interest in ownership, problems of very large individuals and corporate ownership.
 6. Human problems, raising economic status of people on the land, decadence, rejuvenation, racial and religious separatism, tenancy, age of farm operators.
 7. Agricultural Problems. Farm and land management problems of a technologic nature.
 8. Control and prevention of soil erosion, both water and wind erosion, contouring, strip cropping, etc.
 9. Problems of raising the fertility and productivity level of the soil and land, use of commercial fertilizers, lime and other amendments, tillage improvement.
 10. Crop and livestock improvement, crop adaptation, proper plant varieties, proper animal breeding, adjusting farm crops, fruits and orchards to natural and economic environment.
 11. Problems of land drainage, attainment of adequate drainage and water control, land clearing, additional land for pasture, etc.
 12. Problems of an economic nature, marketing, farm debt, excessively high land values, taxation load, etc.
- With the assistance of the land use policy committee in each township Mr. Suggitt will attempt to construct an accurate drainage map of Tuscola county. Information on hand in the drain commissioner's office will also be used in the construction of this map. It is believed that the construction of this drainage map will aid the county drainage office in planning and developing a better system of drains for the improvement of more good land in the county.

Sandwiches, Salads
Form a Basis for Nourishing Lunches

Hot sandwiches are a welcome treat for quick lunches. They may be prepared with ground meat, cheese or cold meats and flavorfully garnished with tomatoes, mustard, onions or mayonnaise.

It's eat and run in most households for lunch time because the children must run back to school or husbands must hurry back to work. If foods are prepared in advance, however, even the quick lunch can be nourishing and satisfying.

Sandwiches, of course, are an old standby, but they should be rounded out with soups and salads instead of just a beverage and a piece of cake. Cold meats are easy to use, but they can be served warm to add more appetite appeal to the noon-day meal.

Left-over vegetables from the night-before dinner, when well chilled and mixed with crisp greens, make an appetizing salad. They may also be used, along with left-over meat, for delicious soup which is so welcome with a fairly dry food like a sandwich.

If sandwiches are served, the dessert should be preferably a pudding or ice cream to give contrast. These, too, are easily prepared in the morning and will be ready to serve for lunch.

I have chosen a number of sandwiches called "burgers" which I think you will find highly suitable for that quick noon-day get-together.

Hamburger.

Combine 1½ pounds of ground beef with 1 egg, 1½ teaspoons of salt and ¾ teaspoon pepper; mix thoroughly but lightly. Shape into large patties about ½ inch thick. Heat bacon drippings until sizzling hot in a heavy skillet, lay patties on it and brown quickly on both sides. Reduce heat, cover and cook slowly about 8 to 10 minutes. Place on plain or toasted bun, serve with tomatoes, onion, mustard or mayonnaise.

Liver Sausage Burger.

Remove casings from slices of liver sausage and brush both sides with butter. Pan fry in heavy skillet, turning to brown on both sides. Pan fry bacon until crisp. Arrange bacon and liver sausage on split plain or toasted bun. Serve with mustard or mayonnaise.

Cheeseburger.

Mix 1½ pounds of ground beef with ¾ cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon pepper. Form into six patties about 3 inches in diameter. Cut six slices of cheese slightly smaller than meat patties. Mix ½ cup chili sauce and 2 teaspoons horseradish. Pan fry meat patties in bacon drippings or butter slowly for 10 to 15 minutes, turning several times as they cook. Spread with chili sauce and horseradish.

Lynn Says:

Make the most of your fruit: Apples for baking are more attractive if the skin is peeled in stripes from the upper half of the apple. Use a moderate oven for baking.

All fruits should be washed before using. Spraying of the leaves often leaves a deposit on the fruit.

Bananas will not darken if dipped in lemon juice when peeled.

Grapefruits and melons will keep fresh if wrapped with waxed paper when cut.

Roll oranges and lemons until slightly soft before squeezing. The juice will flow more freely.

radish and top each patty with a slice of cheese. Broil until cheese melts. Serve on plain or toasted buns with tomatoes, onions, relish or mayonnaise.

Here are two rich hearty soups which you might like to serve with any type of sandwich. These, of course, may be made ahead of time as soup will improve in flavor on standing.

Pepper Pot.
(Serves 6)

1 onion, sliced
¼ cup celery, diced
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
1½ quarts of meat stock
1½ cups diced potatoes
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup cream, whipped

Simmer onion, celery and green pepper in butter about 15 minutes. Add flour and stir until well blended; then add meat stock, potatoes and seasoning. Cover and allow to simmer one hour. Add cream just before serving.

Corn Chowder.

1 quart potatoes, diced
2 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons salt pork
1 medium onion, chopped
1 No. 2 size can of corn
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley or celery leaves
½ cup cream

Cook diced potatoes in boiling water for 10 minutes. Cut salt pork in ¼-inch dice, saute and add onion. Continue cooking until pork is brown and crisp and onions are soft and yellow; then add these, with the corn, to the potatoes. Boil gently until potatoes are tender; add milk, salt and pepper. Bring to the boiling point again and add parsley or celery leaves and cream. Serve piping hot.

Two desserts which come to mind for meals such as I've just described are a Cranberry Parfait and a Fluffy Fruit Ice. They are light enough to contrast well with soup and sandwich luncheons and easy to make.

Light, fruity desserts offer taste and color contrasts to rich, heavy meals. Here, Cranberry Parfait is served in tall glasses topped with a square of jelly to make the dessert more attractive.

Cranberry Parfait.

½ can cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
1 egg white
½ pint cream
1 teaspoon almond extract

Beat the cranberry sauce and powdered sugar with a fork. Whip the egg white and cream. Combine the two mixtures. Flavor with the almond extract and chill. Serve with a square of cranberry sauce.

Fluffy Fruit Ice.

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup water
1 cup syrup from mixed fruit
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg white, beaten
1 tablespoon sugar

Soften gelatin in cold water. Bring sugar and water to a boil. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. Add syrup, lemon juice and salt. Pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm. Place in a chilled bowl, break into pieces, and fold in egg white which has been beaten with remaining sugar. Return to refrigerator tray and freeze until firm. Mixed cooked or canned fruit may be served as a garnish.
