

Tuscola County People Urged to Save Slice a Day

Chairman AAA Committee Explains Method to Keep Alive 4,250 Starving

The people of Tuscola county, if every person will save only one slice of bread each day, can provide 2,125 loaves of bread daily to help keep 4,250 people alive in famine-plagued areas of Europe or China or India, according to Chas. B. Eckfeld, chairman of the Tuscola County AAA committee, who is serving as county emergency food program manager. By stepping the saving up to two slices daily—one at dinner and one at supper—twice as many starving people can be aided.

Mr. Eckfeld pointed out that former President Herbert Hoover, in his first eye-witness report on the food situation in Europe, declared that "food conditions are difficult but not intolerable, provided present rations can be maintained. The American people can still avert widespread starvation by saving and shipping more food."

According to Mr. Hoover, the daily bread ration in Italy, where bread makes up two-thirds of the daily diet, is about 8 ounces, concluded on page 4.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Gene Alleman

How're you going to keep them down on the farm when they have seen Parcoe?

This question, theme of a humorous ditty in World War I, is just as true today, according to Chas. Figy, director of the state department of agriculture. But as a substitute for "Parcoe," which wasn't as gay as many GI's had anticipated, Figy would nominate today's boom-time wages in Michigan cities.

"Not as many Michigan veterans are returning to farms as we had expected," said Figy this week, reviewing some of the problems ahead for 1946. "Veterans are being attracted to the cities by high wages and short hours. As long as this situation exists, the trend to the city will probably continue."

Figy pointed out that farm price inflation in Michigan, which today exceeds the peak of the 1920 boom by 8 per cent, was discouraging veterans from buying farms. He said Michigan farm prices were 89 per cent higher than the average from 1935 to 1939 and 47 per cent higher than the 30-year average from 1910 to 1939.

While some Michigan farmers will get needed farm machinery in time for the 1946 season, most of them will not, in the opinion of Figy.

Independent Grocers Of Four Counties to Meet Here Monday

Independent grocers of Huron, Sanilac, Lapeer and Tuscola counties will meet at the town hall in Cass City Monday, April 15, at 8:15 p. m., to discuss the organization of an association affiliated with the Michigan Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers association. All independent store owners are invited to attend.

W. R. Keasey, secretary-manager of the state association and recognized as Michigan's foremost spokesman for the independent grocer, will discuss association activities at the meeting, with particular emphasis on the "on-the-job" training schedule set up by the organization for returning veterans who wish to enter the independent retail food industry. The program includes training in handling fresh produce, groceries, supplementary lines, proper checkout procedure, managerial duties, and training for meat cutters.

The meeting was arranged by Howard Maness, field representative of the Michigan Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers association, who recently completed a store-to-store campaign throughout the area to explain the organization's program to the individual store owner.

The rapid growth of the association during the past year has resulted in the formation of many county associations throughout the state. The primary purpose of the organization is to make the voice of the independent grocer heard in matters of legislation and regulations under which he must operate.

Fay McComb of the Navy expected to receive his discharge at Treasure Island last Saturday and is expected home soon.

Mr. Patterson recently sold his merchandise stock to Reed & Patterson after a quarter of a century in business in that line on Main St. He has missed comparatively few days from his store and has been absent but a few times because of illness or infrequent vacations.

Woman's World

Men's Discarded Suits Provide Material for Jackets, Skirts

By Erta Haley

Cuff Bonnet

EVERY home has a clothes closet with a down-and-out suit that is not quite worn enough to throw out or a dress that has passed out of fashion. Every "rag bag" has a piece of material in it which, properly treated, would solve the problem of trimming a dress or making a smart hat or bag.

On the other side of the picture, there is no such thing as the woman or her daughter who has a large enough clothes budget to buy all the wearables which their hearts desire. However, armed with a pin and needle, sewing machine perhaps, a dyeing dish, and a little ingenuity, every woman can make rapid strides toward creating the wardrobe she wants.

In many homes right now, there are a number of men's suits which are not suitable for wear just as they are. Big brother, who has been in the service, finds he has put on both inches and pounds and his old clothes do not fit. Or, dad wants something new and snappy in a suit, and decides the old blue serge suit will not do for another season. This suit, then, is fair game for remodeling.

Clean It First.

Before any actual cutting and sewing can be started, the garment should be washed or cleaned depending on the fabric. Woolens may be washed in warm soapy suds and then dried in a warm place. If you fear shrinkage, dry cleaning is always safe. Then the seams should be carefully ripped, either with a small scissors or a razor. They may also be unraveled, but in any case, care should be taken to prevent pulling threads in the fabric or small holes which might make it unusable. Careful pressing is also important. If the suit is cleaned at home, it should be laid on the ironing board as smoothly as possible, then covered with a damp cloth—cheese cloth or muslin will do—and pressed with a fairly warm iron.

If You Have a Worn-Out Man's Suit...

This preparation might seem like unnecessary work, but it will preserve the lines of the material and will simplify recutting. The material will also be in long pieces and will be easier to piece together.

A boy's or man's suit can be clearly fashioned into a blazer jacket for daughter, and the pants may be used for a wrap-around skirt for mother or daughter. The jacket will probably need few alterations. In some cases it will be necessary to rip it apart to cut down for size, but this is easily done.

Contrasting Trimming.

Now, here's how the jacket is finished into a blazer. A tape of contrasting color is selected for trimming. This is piped around the collar and down the front. If there are pockets, these may also be trimmed with the tape.

What about the color? If the suit is navy, brown or black, don't fuss; just use a bright colored trim. If it is any other color, take it out with color remover, and dye it navy, brown, dark or Kelly green, or bright red.

The trousers, when ripped, can be pieced together for a nice, trim skirt. This may be gored or plain in the back, and it will have an opening in the front to the side. The end of the skirt that will be wrapped on top is fringed by the simple process of unraveling an inch of the material. The skirt, of course, is set on a waistband which is an inch to an inch and a half in width. The wrapping may be secured with inside fasteners, or a giant safety, if daughter is going to use the skirt.

Dark Skirts Versatile.

The dark color of men's suits will be particularly adaptable to skirts, for a dark skirt can be worn with almost any colored blouse. If you want to dye it, remove the color first, and concentrate on dark colors such as dark red, green or navy when re-dyeing. The deep colors such as those you find in clan plaids are favorites for a skirt of this type.

Vests are very popular for women this year. They may be worn with dresses, skirts or slacks. If the suit has a vest, it can be made smaller by ripping it apart, and then cutting down to fit. The vests from tweed suits need no re-dyeing as they will go beautifully with both skirts and slacks.

Darning the Garment.

In patching, cut on the straight of the goods. Sew the patch on so crosswise yarns meet the crosswise yarns in the garment, and its lengthwise yarns meet lengthwise yarns. Patch a faded garment with a faded piece from a hem or a pocket so that it will match the material.

Yarns are well adapted to mending woolen material, especially small holes, tears and worn spots. If possible, use yarn unraveled from the same cloth the garment was made from, or raveled from the inside of a straight-cut seam or hem.

Patching Pointers

Shrink new fabrics before using them to patch old garments. If this is not done, the patch may shrink and pucker later.

Careful steam pressing makes patches seem less noticeable. If ironing on woolen patches, cover with a damp cloth before ironing to prevent shine.

When you are buying material for a dress buy a half yard extra and make a wrap-around turban for yourself. This will give you a hat to match the dress.

Keep a small whisk broom handy for brushing clothes thoroughly before and after wearing. A small stiff brush is excellent for suede bags and shoes, felt hats or suede gloves.

The legs from an old pair of pajamas are excellent for an ironing board cover. Cut off the pajama leg and slip it over the board. Cover with the second leg and sew them at the ends.

Jumpers can be made from any simple dress and are an excellent wardrobe pepper-upper. To convert them, just rip out the sleeves, reshape the armhole and neck and finish the seams. Jumpers may be tailored or dressy, depending upon the blouse you wear most becomingly, and they are worn summer and winter.

Split seams in gloves are mended in the way they were originally stitched—whip or running stitch. On lapped seams, sewed close by machine, if there is not enough room for a seam, make blanket stitches along the edges of the ripped seam to strengthen it. Draw the edges together by overhanding through the blanket stitches. Conceal all thread ends inside glove.

Then Make a Blazer and a Fringed Skirt.

Fashion Notes

Broad shoulders, deep armholes and set-in waistband give that much desired slim look in a soft gray plaid suit.

The latest idea in costume jewelry is to have some idea behind it. Crossed swords decorating a black suede bag have been seen, and a simple pin depicting a sheaf of wheat may adorn a black or navy dress.

Wide, round collars of pink or white pique make nice frosting for a simple, dark basic dress.

Pink print jackets are smart with solid black skirts for dress-up wear. This makes a nice ensemble for town wear.

Swirled print blouses are increasingly popular with the bolero type suit. The blouse usually girdles at the waist and ties in a bow.

Fly 'Em Safely!

Kite flying time is here again. A real sport for boys and girls everywhere! Yet there are certain dangers you must guard against if kite flying is to be all the fun you want it to be.

The greatest danger to a kite flyer is an electric wire. Fly your kite in the open—away from any wire. If your kite swoops over and touches an electric wire, the electricity in that wire can cause severe burns or even death.

Do not use a metal kite frame. Use only wood. If a metal kite frame touches electric wires, a short circuit can result which can make the wires fall and cause great damage to you and to other people as well.

Do not use wire or tinsel twine for a kite string. The metal or tinsel can carry the dangerous electricity down to your hand.

Wet string can carry electricity too, so never fly a kite on a rainy day.

Do not climb a pole or a tree to get your kite down. You may be injured by electric wires or by a fall.

Serious injury can result from careless kite flying. By observing these rules, kite flying can be a safe and sane sport:

- Fly kites in open fields, away from electric wires.
- Use only wood for kite frames—no metal.
- Use no wire or tinsel twine for a kite string.
- Do not fly kites in rainy weather.
- Do not climb poles or trees to bring down tangled kites.

THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

By W. J. Dryden, WNU Farm Editor.

Quality of milk can only be maintained when proper facilities are provided for the holding of the product before delivered to the milk plant or consumer. Bacteria plays a most important part in milk spoilage. To prevent this condition a sanitary milk house is essential.

Immediate cooling of milk to 50 degrees F. will practically check the growth rate of bacteria. Cooling tanks have proven more efficient than surface cooling in conjunction with the holding tank. Surface coolers frequently add many bacteria to the milk due to difficulty in sterilizing.

The milk house must be located on a clean, well-drained site, away from manure pile and barn if possible. Even a few feet distance from the barn is suitable, with covered passageway separating the two.

The most important part of the milk house is the cooling tank. The insulated cooling tank with insulated cover is now required by most boards of health of all milk producers whose milk is sold in the larger cities.

It was thought formerly that the entire milk house should be insulated. Recent experiments by Michigan agricultural experiment station indicate that it is more economical and just as satisfactory to confine the insulation to the tank. The insulation in the bottom must be cut at the in-take and out-take pipes. The hole should be cut at least an inch larger than the pipe. This hole is filled with asphalt mastic to insure a moisture-tight joint. If desired, a gasket of soft rubber may be nailed around the cover to seal the tank completely. Counterweights may be added to assist in raising the cover.

While the superstructure of the milk house may be of cement, cement blocks, bricks or lumber, best results are secured if the walls of the house be built of concrete six inches above the top of the tank. There are several excellent cooling systems on the market. Availability and personal likes should govern the selection. When selecting the size unit to use, the recommendations of the manufacturer should be followed.

The milk house must provide space for cooling tank, water heater, wash vats, can racks, table, cabinets and any other necessary dairy equipment as well as work area.

The foundations of concrete should be eight inches thick, extending 3½ to four feet below grade line. When insulation is used, dry wood shavings or other insulation material will prove satisfactory.

Light weight concrete blocks are preferable to those made from sand and gravel because of their insulation.

Ten High Average Bowlers.

Landon 186, Kolb 174, McCullough 171, F. Novak 171, E. Fritz 170, Reid 170, Ludlow 169, Wallace 168, Larkin 168, Wooley 166. Each team has 12 more games to bowl before the season ends on April 25 and the chances grow brighter for the Wooley squad as they continue to hold a four game lead over the second place Larkinites. Captain Wooley's five are beginning to take their bowling seriously as they see a possible opportunity of being the winner of this schedule which would give them the right to bowl the Landon team, winners of the first schedule, for the city championship on April 29.

Several individuals have started to click and their improved bowling has started them climbing the average ladder. This week Manager Larkin tops the list with his offering of 572 pins, while Glen McClorey was but one pin back with a 571 count. Glen started the season with an average of 151 and now carries a 163 average and is probably the most improved kegler in the league. Another up and coming pinster is High Bogart from the Reid team. Hugh is one of our younger members but shows considerable bowling ability. His 556 totals in his last series slipped him in on the weekly honor list. Frank Novak also accumulated 569 pins and commands an average of 171 to hold down fourth place on the high ten.

Our week's 200 bowlers were Reid 215, Wooley 211, Bogart 204, Kirton 202, McClorey 202, Milligan 201, Auten 200.

Plans for a city tournament following the close of this present schedule are in the making and the officers of the league ask the wholehearted cooperation of the membership to make this event a real success. Rules of the American Bowling Congress now require each city association to hold a city tournament in order to retain their charter and membership in the ABC and more definite information will be given later. The annual bowlers' banquet date has been set for Thursday, May 9.

IDLE HANDS

A clergyman was the possessor of a farm and he endeavored to practice rigid economy in the operation. One day, taking a stroll, he saw the plowman leaning idly on the handle of the plow while the horses were given a much needed rest. The scene rather irked the good clergyman's sense of economy.

He was paying the man 25 cents an hour so he said gently but reproachfully, "John, wouldn't it be a good plan for you to have a pair of shears and be trimming those weeds while the horses rest?"

John returned the minister's gaze and answered, "and might I suggest that you take a bowl of potatoes into the pulpit and peel them while the choir sings the anthems?"

siderably less than half the size of the average loaf here in the United States. The Italians are now receiving about 6.5 ounces of fat and oils per month and about 7 ounces of sugar per month. In France and in French North Africa, the bread ration equals slightly more than half a loaf per day per person and here, too, bread is the principal part of the diet.

"One person who saves a slice of bread at each meal may not be able to see just how that saving will help feed people in Europe or Asia but such savings, multiplied in millions of American homes each day, will most certainly enable this country to load the ships with the food that is needed to prevent mass starvation overseas," Mr. Eckfeld declared.

A lesson on "Making Motions Count" was presented by Miss Lura DeWitt and Mrs. Dorus Benkelman, leaders, when the Cass City Extension Group No. 1 met in the social rooms of the Methodist church Tuesday evening for their last meeting of this spring. Demonstrations were given in ironing a man's shirt, making coffee and preparing carrots for cooking.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Frank Hall, chairman, the following officers were elected: Chairman Mrs. R. D. Keating; assistant chairman, Mrs. J. A. Sandham; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lyle Koepfen; leaders Miss DeWitt and Mrs. Dorus Benkelman; community chairman, Mrs. Mason Wilson; and recreation leader, Mrs. Albert Gallagher.

Plans were completed for the annual outing of the group which had been discontinued during the war. An Indian Trails bus will take the group to the Builders' Show in Convention Hall in Detroit on Friday, May 3. Thirty women expect to make the trip.

Following the lesson Tuesday evening, a luncheon was served at a long table, decorated with lighted candles, and centered with an Easter emblem. The committee consisted of Mrs. Keith McConkey, Mrs. Berkley Patterson, Mrs. E. W. Kercher and Mrs. L. Bardwell.

Corn Storage
Cleaness of breaking is of the utmost importance in storing corn of high moisture content, because the husks and silks seriously reduce air movement through the crib.

Glass Resists Great Strain
Glass is not the fragile material it is ordinarily supposed to be. Glass resists crushing strains better than metals and even better than granite or concrete.

Rice Major Food
Rice constituted 20 per cent of the world's food supply in 1944.

SPRING WEDDING IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

satin gown designed with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves, and appliqued lace inset at the waistline. Her family heirloom veil, which fell from a Juliet cap of seed pearls, extended to the end of her court train, and she carried a white satin prayer book, topped with an orchid. A strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, complemented her costume.

Mrs. Maitland N. Peterson of Bay City, as matron-of-honor for her sister, and the Misses Margaret Ivanick of Saginaw and Shirley Suprenant of Cass City as bridesmaids, chose identical white gowns styled with eyelet bodices and full marquisette skirts, with contrasting accessories. Mrs. Peterson wore a rose colored ruffled net halo hat and long gloves and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and lavender sweet peas; Miss Ivanick wore light blue accents with an arm bouquet of pink roses, snapdragons and sweet peas; and Miss Suprenant wore green accessories and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and daisies.

Mr. Peterson was best man, and Theodore and Keith Phelps, of Detroit, William Bernathy of Saginaw and Frank Champion of St. Louis, Mich., acted as ushers.

Receiving guests at a reception held following the rites in the church parlors, Mrs. Champion was attired in an aqua crepe floor-length gown with dusty rose accessories. A small dusty rose tulle hat and corsage of pink rosebuds complemented her costume.

An attractive bouquet of white gladioli and snapdragons in a crystal bowl, flanked by white tapers in crystal candelabra, decorated the bridal table. A tiered wedding cake surrounded by an arrangement of smilax centered a side table.

Guests at the wedding were from Bay City, Saginaw, St. Louis, Mich., Caro, Detroit, Ontario, Canada, Mayville, and Cass City.

Following a short wedding trip Mrs. Champion will return to Saginaw where she will complete her senior year of cadet nurse training, and Cpl. Champion will return to Ft. Belvoir, Va., where he is stationed.

Two pre-nuptial showers were given for Miss Heron. One was at the Wishing Well at Saginaw given by Mrs. Al Berenthy and the other was at the Anderson home, also in Saginaw, by the senior nurses of the hospital where Miss Heron is in training. A rehearsal dinner was served in the Champion home in Cass City on Thursday evening for the members of the wedding party.

Cleaning Fabrics
Brushing with a medium-stiff brush is better than rubbing those extra-soiled places on delicate fabrics, when washing by hand, say extension service specialists.

Short Cooking Time
Today, food specialists tell us the shorter the cooking time, the more food values we save. Instead of long slow cooking it's better to keep vegetables at boiling and shorten the time.

Extinguishing Fire
Fires caused by oil, grease, or gasoline should be put out with dry sand, baking soda, or special types of fire extinguishers; never use water.

FOREST ENEMY No. 1

GOOD forestry which seeks to keep American forests continuously at work growing successive timber crops is just one long battle with FIRE, say most foresters.

Nature is bountiful, trees reproduce and grow rapidly, thrive to maturity quickly on lands which have been cut over, if seed sources and young seedlings are not consumed and the land rendered sterile by forest enemy Number one — FIRE.

Devastated forest areas are usually the result of repeated fire.

How Nazis Fired Reichstag Told

Letter to Hindenburg Gives Inside Story of Plot To Involve Reds.

MUNICH. — A copy of a letter written to Marshal von Hindenburg by a storm trooper fleeing the Hitler blood purge declares that Capt. Ernst Roehm, notorious head of the storm troopers, supervised the setting fire to the Reichstag in February, 1933, says the Associated Press. Allied intelligence officers, disclosing contents of the letter recently, said it was written by Ernst Kruse, who described himself as the last survivor of 22 storm troopers who fired the parliament building.

Kruse wrote to von Hindenburg from Switzerland July 18, 1934, less than three weeks after the purge in which Roehm lost his life. He said Marquis Van Der Lubbe, convicted of setting fire to the Reichstag, actually was a "madly ambitious" member of Roehm's staff.

The Nazis charged that Van Der Lubbe was a Communist, and he was beheaded January 10, 1934, on conviction of high treason and arson in connection with the fire.

Last of the Party.

"I am the last active member of the party who set the Reichstag on fire," Kruse told von Hindenburg. "For that reason I am meant no longer to be alive and probably like all my comrades would have been shot long ago if my chief of staff, Roehm, hadn't protected me and kept me in his personal entourage."

Allied intelligence officers who have searched vainly for Kruse point out that the gestapo had ample time to run him down after he wrote.

The letter declared Roehm ordered Van Der Lubbe to climb into the Reichstag alone and set fire to the anterooms. Without Van Der Lubbe's knowledge, the letter added, the main body of arsonists, headed by Roehm, was to set the main hall ablaze.

"We assembled in the cellar of the palace of the president of the Reichstag (Goering)," the letter said.

Each member of the party had sacks containing inflammable powder and a roll of celluloid strips. The sacks were placed in designated places and the strips were unrolled toward the cellar's exit.

Links Goebbels to Plot.

When the group returned to the cellar entrance Roehm and another storm troop leader who headed the group ignited the strips. Roehm had made sure that Van Der Lubbe was "jumping about in the adjoining hall," Kruse said.

"Serpents of fire in all directions were encountered," said Kruse. "Everything was cloaked in a burning mist. We fled at once. The work was done."

The letter charged the purpose of the fire was to blackmail the Communists. Similar statements have been made repeatedly by Communists, who asserted at the time of Van Der Lubbe's trial that he was a Nazi "plant."

Allied intelligence officers said they believed the letter is authentic but refused to disclose how they found it. No trace of the original has been discovered.

New Air Engine Has Vast Power for Its Weight

PATERSON, N. J.—The Curtiss-Wright corporation and its engine building division, the Wright Aeronautical corporation, announced they had built the world's most powerful air cooled engine per pound of weight.

G. W. Vaughan, president of the Curtiss-Wright, said the new engine, the Wright Cyclone 9HD, develops 1,425 horsepower, but weighs only 1,325 pounds. It delivers one horsepower for 0.95 pound of dry weight.

The new engine has been installed in the Curtiss SC-2 Seahawk and in other experimental military aircraft. Its low weight and high output permit either increased payloads or extended range for commercial planes, Vaughan said.

De-Nazifying O. K'd by Half of German People

FRANKFURT. — A military government poll showed that 50 per cent of German civilians questioned were generally satisfied with the American de-Nazification program.

United States authorities said that 31 per cent, most of whom were persons in the upper social and economic groups, believed that the program was too harsh. These said that it deprived Germany of specialists needed for reconstruction. Ten per cent said they felt de-Nazification was neither thorough nor sufficiently tough.

Boy Who Got $10 Reward Asks for Another Try

KANSAS CITY, MO. — When his four-month-old fox terrier, Corky, disappeared recently, Lawrence E. Maxey offered a $10 reward. Later a little boy showed up with Corky and $10 was paid with no questions asked. One day Maxey received a post card on which was pencil-scratched in boyish handwriting: "Mister, please leave the dog on your porch again. We need another ten."

isn't good, either," he said. "Manufacturers have their problems, too, such as lack of steel due to the steel strike, labor troubles and other factors."

As for emergency farm workers, replacing the German war prisoners who were employed for fruit picking and packing, and beet sugar and truck crop cultivation, the prospect is fairly good. A. B. Love and James G. Hays of the Michigan State college extension service are now in Missouri and Arkansas, recruiting workers for Michigan farm work in 1946. Furthermore, Michigan will have a plentiful supply of Jamaicans and Texas Mexicans.

The 1946 production goals for Michigan ask for more corn, more soybeans, more dry beans, more sugar beets, more barley; for continued high production of flax and milk; for less livestock, poultry and egg production.

Figy, owner of three farms in Lenawee county, is an optimist at heart. Confronted with an agricultural digest report that "the agricultural economy of this nation is being thrown into a drastic and costly reorganization from which it may not soon recover," due to the government's decision to use grain for famine food and to cut livestock and poultry feeding, Figy smiled and said:

"Unless the government compels farmers to sell their grain, the new order will not affect more than 10 per cent of the farmers in Michigan, in my opinion. Most Michigan farmers have general farms whereby grains are grown for feeding of livestock and chickens. They are going to see that their livestock and chickens are fed. However, the farmer who is dependent on outside feed supply for his poultry, hog and cattle feeding may be caught short and badly pinched."

"Certainly the new feed order isn't going to curtail milk production any thing like 50 per cent, as was recently predicted in Michigan. In our own case, we recently used soybean feeding as a substitute for protein supplement, and the result was about 10 per cent decline in milk production."

"No, I am not alarmed over the government's decision to export wheat and other grains to the overseas famine areas."

The post-war victory garden program, according to Figy, is pretty much "on its own" this season.

To his knowledge, no organized campaign will be conducted such as was the case during the war when the Michigan War Council was the sponsoring agency with men out in the field.

However, gardeners have been urged by President Truman and recently by Governor Harry F. Kelly to continue the war-time program of food growing in 1946. If foods are to be sent abroad to save millions of our allies, as well as enemy nationals, from starvation in the next six or so months, then every pound of food grown in home gardens will assure householders of an adequate supply next winter—and at a thrift saving of money, too.

Voluntary conservation of food, particularly bread and other wheat products, fats and oils, is being advocated by the federal government in its nine-point emergency program.

Food experts recently announced that 15 per cent of each food dollar was wasted by food that is thrown into the garbage can or wasted in other ways.

Surveys made of garbage collections in 247 cities show that the average garbage waste contains more than 300 pounds of food per person per year—an average waste of more than 3/4 pound of food per person per day. If the waste among consumers is applied nation-wide, the result is a conclusion that Americans waste 15 per cent of all food they purchase. The restaurant plate waste is calculated to be 6 per cent; the retail store over-all food loss is 3 per cent of total sales.

These are figures to think about.

While Chinese prefer to grow grains for direct food, the American practice is to use grain for feeding cattle, hogs and poultry. We are meat-eaters.

The livestock numbers on Jan. 1, 1946, were about the same as last year. Yet the total supplies of feed were less for each grain-consuming animal unit, and rates of feeding so far this winter have been very high. The rate of feeding has been about 17 per cent above that of the same period of 1944.

With feed grain supplies short in relation to demand, Michigan farmers are being urged by the federal government to feed less grain to hogs and beef cattle, cull poultry flocks closely, raise fewer chickens and turkeys this year, maintain milk production without wasting feed, and above all, avoid "over-finishing" meat animals.

Kathleen Norris Says:

The Case of Two Wives

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

"Archie and I went on a trip as so many people did when gas rationing stopped, and we were quietly remarried in a distant town."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"IN ALL your long experience of answering problems," writes Hilma Johnson, of Salt Lake City, "I don't know that you've ever had quite this one before. I've done something wrong, somewhere along the line, but I don't know just where."

"I was married seven years ago to a man named Archie; we were both 23. Ours was a true love match, and it was a great grief to us both that no children were born to us. We were, I believe, unusually congenial and happy."

"When the war came, Archie was one of the first to go, with the engineers. I did not see him for three years. About a year after he left he wrote a desperate letter, telling me that he and a young Belgian girl, a nurse, had been lovers, and that she was expecting a child. He begged me for a divorce, and for the child's sake I agreed to it. I pretended a business trip to Elko, Nev., and quietly obtained it there."

"I closed the apartment, stored our furniture, and went back to live with my parents. I had gotten a good job, and had told no one, not even my mother, of the changed relationship between Archie and myself."

"Seven months ago Archie came back, a broken man. He looked years older, his hearing has been permanently — but slightly — injured, and to restate himself in his old job seemed to him more than he could do."

Resume Old Life.

"He turned to me, and as nobody suspected what had occurred, it was quite natural that he should be taken back into my life on the old terms; he had never been taken out of my heart. Everyone rejoiced with me, and nobody suspected the existence of the Belgian wife and baby. A few months ago my happy suspicions that I was to have a child were confirmed by our doctor, and I thought the secret of the divorce and marriage could be kept forever. Archie and I went on a trip, as so many people did when gas rationing stopped, and we were quietly remarried in a distant town."

"Now Marie, the Belgian wife, writes that she is going to come to America immediately after Christmas, that their divorce has never been valid in her eyes, and that she wishes once more to be his wife. Archie, for the sake of the boy, has been sending her money regularly, but when she left him it was with the statement that their marriage was not a real marriage, because of his divorce, and that before she returned to Belgium she would change even her name."

"This predicament finds us completely dazed, and we don't know what to do. My employers want me to continue with them as long as possible, and to return as soon after the baby comes as I can. Archie is already making himself valuable; we cannot tear up roots here, especially as my father has had a stroke, and I am needed to keep up my mother's spirits. What can we do?"

My dear Hilma, a divorce lawyer here tells me that Archie's Belgian-born wife has no claim on him except for support of the child, and I can tell you that when she mar-

Adopt This Belgian Baby...

STAND YOUR GROUND

A wife who apparently did the right thing all along finds herself in an unfortunate mess. Her husband, Archie, met a Belgian woman while he was serving abroad in the army. Eventually he wrote to Hilma, telling her that the Belgian woman was going to bear him a child, and that he wanted to marry her to protect her and the baby. He asked Hilma to obtain a divorce.

With much misgivings, Hilma did get a divorce, so quietly that none of her friends knew about it. Then Archie came back, tired and deafened. He slipped back into the old relationship with Hilma. A little later he got a divorce from his Belgian wife, and remarried Hilma, very quietly. No one knows about the complications and all would be well, excepting for the Belgian woman. She threatens to come to America, and wants Archie to become her husband again. She is receiving support money from Archie for herself and the baby.

Miss Norris advises Hilma to stand her ground. The Belgian woman can probably not get any satisfaction in American courts, if she should come. It is probable that all she wants is to be rid of the responsibility of the child.

ried a divorced man she knew that she was doing something that in her own mind was illegal, however, the actual law stands. It seems to me that safety for you and Archie lies in facing the music and not being afraid of the consequences. Trying to hide and pretend are the real things to fear.

Tell Her to Stay in Europe.

Have Archie write her, of course, that he entirely disapproves of her coming to America, and that there is no possibility of the restoration of conjugal rights, as the British law-courts put it. Let him tell her that if she remains where she is, her allowance will continue, but that if she comes to Salt Lake City she will have to fight through the courts for her claims and may — and probably will, lose her suit and remind her of the conditions under which Archie and she asked you for a divorce.

If this fails and she comes, have no fear of publicizing this affair. Only concealment will make it interesting to the newspapers; to admit that it all occurred and is to be handled openly and honestly, will be to lose all value as news. It is possible that it is the child who is complicating matters; if her purpose is to get rid of that responsibility, then it might be a magnificent gesture on your part to offer to take this little half-brother of your own child, telling anyone interested that you have adopted a Belgian baby refugee. Say little, but avoid all the difficulties that secrecy engenders, and you'll find the thing will presently blow over and be forgotten.

Bright Clothes for Children
Grown-ups sometimes wear drab colors, but children like gaiety. Also there's a safety factor to consider — a child's bright clothes may give the first slow signal to a motorist, or, in rural sections, to a hunter. So, when the main part of an outfit must be of a dull, uninteresting fabric, try adding bright trim or accessories. Dress up a little girl's black or gray coat with a red collar or a plaid ascot tie. Or complete the picture with a red cap or mittens.

MORRIS HOSPITAL.

Patients in the Morris hospital Wednesday afternoon were: Philip Wright, who suffered a stroke, and R. S. Proctor of Cass City; Herman Rabideau of Gagetown; Mrs. Geo. Lowe, Mrs. Geo. Ferguson and Mrs. Casey Patterson of Snover.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Botkin of Vassar, a daughter.

The seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Torz of Wilmet was brought to the hospital Wednesday for treatment of head injuries suffered when he was struck by a baseball bat while playing at school. Three stitches were taken to close a wound above the left eye.
