

Council Considers Change of Location of Water Plant

State Board of Health Recommends Move to the City Park

In making plans and getting permits for the installation of the water softening equipment for Cass City, the engineers engaged by the village ran into several difficulties. The hardest one to overcome was to install a sewer connection to the building as the building is too close to the wells. This connection is needed for the operation of the softener.

In discussing this problem, the village council invited the State Health Dept. to send a representative to inspect the conditions here and make recommendations as to the best way to solve them. May 15, in response to this request, Mr. Faust came to Cass City and looked over the present site, also the possibility of using the city park. In the evening, he met with the council and informed them that any wells used for village or city water supply must be protected from pollution by isolating the wells from sewers, cesspools and outside toilets. The nearest approach allowed is 200 feet.

This distance has been encroached upon in at least three instances with reference to the well now used for the village supply, although there has been no evidence so far of pollution. If pollution should result it would be necessary to chlorinate the water which process would be somewhat expensive and probably make the water unpleasant to the taste.

To meet the requirements of the State Dept. of Health the village is faced with three alternatives. First, buy all the land within a 200 ft. radius of the present wells on the east side of the railroad. Second, abandon the present wells, buy sufficient land west of the railroad so that the new wells will have the required isolation and use the power house for the installation of the water softening equipment.

Third, abandon the present well, sell the power house to a concern for manufacturing purposes (the council has a very good prospect at a reasonable figure), drill the wells on the fairground on property owned by the village, where there is plenty of acreage and construct a building to house the village equipment and water softening.

The first proposition is a very expensive one as it would be necessary to purchase the land. Concluded on page 8.

Chap. Mosher Tells of People without Home or Country

They're Getting Too Much to Die, But Not Enough to Live

The "heed their cry or millions die" call that has gone out over the nation is meeting with quick and generous responses by individuals and organizations.

The publicity chairman, Rev. M. R. Vender, as chaplain of the local post, reports that the V. F. W. Post, at its recent meeting, voted a contribution toward the Emergency Food Collection; also the Young Women's Guild of the Presbyterian Church. Others will be reported undoubtedly to Mrs. E. L. Schwaderer, chairman of the collection fund, or to Mrs. Edward Pinney, E. F. C. chairman.

One church reported a collection last Sunday of $192.00. Contributions are also being made and will continue to be received at either state bank, the Townsend Store, the Freuburger Store, or the Hartwick Food Market, and through local churches.

The local E. F. C. committee requests that all contributions be reported and turned in by Tuesday, May 28. It is hoped that a complete report can be made next week.

Excerpts from a letter received from Chaplain Dudley Masure indicate the need. Writing to Mrs. A. H. Kinniard, president of the W. S. C. S. at Cass City, from Marburg, Germany, he says in part:

"I am writing to you and to all our friends in the Cass City Methodist Church. Well do I know the demands that are daily placed upon you, but I also know your great heart, and the unfeeling generosity of our people.

"There is a Methodist Church here in Marburg, and a Methodist congregation. For the most part the people are from Northern Europe, the Baltic States. The Red Army and Russian government made it impossible for our work to be adequately carried on there, and many of our Methodist people for conscience sake were forced to leave. Great numbers of them migrated to this part of Germany, where they are like a people without a home or country. I have met the pastor, and have preached to his Methodist flock, through him, acting as my interpreter. The experience was exhilarating. I wish you could have heard them sing the great hymns of our church. What a joy it was to sing 'Rock of Ages' with them, they in German and I in English.

"The pastor, who by the way was under Bishop Wade before the war, and who was ordained by our bishop, entertained me in their parsonage. I wish you could have seen their humble dinner. It was practically nothing! I took some of my PX ration as a gift to help out, but even so I felt ashamed to eat from their limited ration. As the pastor told me, they are getting too much to die, but not enough to live. Frankly the situation which confronts our people here including our Methodist minister makes me emotionally ill. ## Tuscola Chapter Gives Report on Red Cross Funds Raised

Maurice C. Ransford, chairman of the Tuscola County Chapter, American Red Cross, and Frank J. Rolka, chairman of the 1946 fund campaign, have just announced final reports on funds raised for the Red Cross in this county which have been received from all township chairmen.

Certificates of merit have been issued to the 26 chairmen and the 368 persons who actively assisted them in raising the funds this year.

A check of the various campaign workers' reports indicates 5,739 persons of the county contributed $1.00 or more to the local Red Cross and were issued membership cards. This number of contributors is not the complete total, however, since Fremont and Millington Townships have not submitted the campaign workers' reports to the headquarters' office.

Fourteen thousand dollars was the quota for the county. A total of $16,275.42 was actually raised. Fifty-three per cent of this amount remains in the county this year.

"The board of directors are greatly pleased by this final report and we all extend our sincerest appreciation to Mr. Rolka, his campaign chairmen, their workers, and all contributors in the county for the very excellent support they have given our chapter of the Red Cross," Mr. Ransford said.

Woman's World

Boost Blouse Supply By Making New Ones from Old Dresses

By Eritta Haley

NO WOMAN ever has enough blouses, the most economical item in the wardrobe. If you have a skirt with a choice of two, three or even four blouses, you can always be sure of going about well dressed without giving the impression that you are always wearing the same clothes or operating on a limited wardrobe.

Most blouses require two yards or less of material, and they may be made from all sorts of material. In fact, the sky is the limit as far as fabrics for blouses are concerned. Many a woman with outmoded dresses or evening gowns can put together several blouses and give the impression of a brand new wardrobe.

Taffeta evening gowns make particularly attractive blouses. Since taffeta blouses are now popular, those outmoded gowns should now be taken out, overhauled, cut and made into something as usable and pretty as a blouse to give you an alternate for that new spring suit.

Any style may be chosen for taffeta blouses as seen in draped and tailored styles. They are cool and feel well under a wool suit. They are dressy enough even when you remove the jacket to your suit.

Fitting is as important in a blouse as in a well-tailored suit. Take a look at some of the handsome, expensive blouses in the stores and you will see what I mean. Notice that there are at least four tucks at the waist of the blouse, two on each side in both back and in front. In some styles you will find even more tucks to give that "hipped" at the waist look, and prevent too much fullness under the skirt.

Details are Important In Making Blouse

Another important detail which we are beginning to see more often in blouses is the deep dart right underneath the arm. This is used to get away from the flat-looking bust

Black Wool Crepe

A smart black wool crepe dress with a matching hood is modeled by Martha Vickers, now appearing in Warner Brothers' "The Big Sleep." The hand-crocheted pelum is of black chenille.

giving good lines to the blouse. The more expensive pads seem to cup the shoulder rather than pad it, and they are not so weighty as the stuffed ones. They may be used in several blouses.

Another type of pad now being made is attached to a net vest. This is designed to be worn underneath the blouse, and of course, it eliminates sewing pads in each blouse.

Still another solution to the pad problem is to use the taffeta itself. The pads, which need not be stuffed, since the material is stiff, will also match the blouse perfectly.

If you are fond of cuffs on the blouse, taffeta makes beautiful pleated cuffs. The pleats should be placed evenly and pressed and basted in place before sewing. Pay particular attention to the line or print of the material. Piping may also be used if you are fortunate in finding some that matches or contrasts perfectly with the material you have on hand.

If you are making long sleeves on the blouse, you will want at least two darts at the elbow to allow for freedom of movement. Sometimes patterns will call for only one dart, but it has been found best to make two small rather than one deep dart. The finished garment will also look much better.

It is always wise in making darts of this type to come to a sharp point. You can best guide your sewing if you will baste first. Always tie the threads on the inside—and do tie them firmly so that the dart does not come open later. It's much easier to sew them right the first time than to try to repair them later when they are sewed on the garment and you no longer have a flat working surface.

Home Sewing Hints

Just a word about patterns for those of you who do a lot of home sewing. If the tape measure around the bust reads 42, please buy a pattern in that size, not in a 38. The size of the individual is much better concealed in a correctly fitted garment, than one which is too small.

If the pattern must be altered, it is much easier to alter one that is too large simply by taking tucks in the pattern. If too small, the pattern must be slit, and this is much more difficult to do than taking in tucks.

Avoid over-sewing if you want the garment to look nice. Use the type of finished edge most suitable to your material and make this as neat as possible.

Good table space, good light and a place for the ironing board are among the essentials needed for home sewing. If it is not possible to have a sewing room, have all these items conveniently on hand when you do sew.

If you have a taffeta evening gown...

and to give more attractive, fitted lines to the garment. Even if the pattern which you happen to be using does not show these darts, fit them into the garment after the shoulder seams are sewed and you are ready to fit these side seams. Then baste them in, press, and try on. You will see how much they do for the figure.

Darts are used plentifully on the blouse, as are gathers. In making the blouse, gather at the shoulders first, using very tiny stitches so that the gathering will be even. If the blouse has a yoke and an action back, make sure that the blouse is gathered, as at the shoulders, and basted carefully in place before sewing.

Another detail which is important in the blouse is the shoulders. A tiny basting stitch is run around the upper part of the sleeve, and this is used for making the small gathers which enable you to ease in the sleeves when you are ready to stitch it into place on the blouse. Most of the fullness is allowed on the top of the shoulders and the back. Make sure that no gathers are allowed underneath the arm, as this will make the blouse uncomfortable to wear.

Many types of shoulder pads are now available which will also aid in

Spring Fashion Notes

Gray is a most popular color for summer wear. Gray chambray trimmed with white eyelet is exceedingly popular.

Delightful cotton eyelet is perfect for cool, short, street-length dresses. These can be dressy and sophisticated and need not look as though they were borrowed from daughter.

Scarf prints are worked into the bodice or scarf treatments in ingenious ways that bespeak a decided play of imagination. They are worn around the head like a little draped turban. Hoods are the plaything of designers who are creating scarflike affairs to wear in connection with new spring dresses.

Lollygagging Out In Navy Hospital

Necking in Hidden Nooks Is Officially Banned.

NEW YORK. — "Constant embracing of WAVES" and similar "absurd" conduct in the hidden nooks of the United States naval hospital at St. Albans, Queens, has got to stop, says the navy.

An official memorandum posted on all bulletin boards revealed there's been kissing in "passageways, phone booths and corners," furthermore, there's been hand holding. Embracing. Worst of all — "lollygagging."

Signed by Capt. C. F. Behrens of the navy medical corps, and approved by Capt. E. D. McMorries, medical officer in charge, the memorandum said sternly:

"It has been noted by this command that personnel are conducting themselves in an absurd manner in the passageways, phone booths, and corners about the hospital.

"The holding of hands, osculation, and constant embracing of WAVES, corpsmen, or civilians and sailors or any combination of male and female personnel is a violation of naval discipline constituted by the charge: 'Conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline.'

"Male and female personnel should only be together when conducting hospital business and this should be done in an orderly manner. Love making and lollygagging are hereby strictly forbidden.

"All violations will be subject to disciplinary action."

A lollygagger is defined in the "American Thesaurus of Slang" as "Young man who lingers to spoon in the hallway after bringing his innamorata home."

60% of Army Psychos Are Restored to Combat

CHICAGO. — Sixty per cent of troops suffering from neuropsychiatric disorders were healed and returned to further combat duty by army psychiatrists.

An additional 30 per cent were able to return to non-combat status in the European theater of war. Of the remaining 10 per cent evacuated to the United States, 40 to 50 per cent were salvaged for further service and the remainder discharged.

These figures are revealed in War Medicine, a publication of the American Medical Association.

Psychiatrists in a large army camp often had 500 consultations a month, according to Brig. Gen. William C. Menninger, director of the neuropsychiatric division of the surgeon general's office.

This high rate, Menninger said, was due to the structure of the army, which "requires every man to be a follower and many to be leaders."

"When a man fails in either of these roles, he may become a 'case.'"

Chevalier Is Freed on Charges of Aiding Nazis

PARIS. — Maurice Chevalier, whose protruding lip and faubourgian accent took him from a working suburb to the heights of Hollywood stardom, was acquitted recently on charges of collaboration with the Germans. The national committee of theatrical purge gave its verdict in Chevalier's case without sanctions. The charges against Chevalier were that he toured Germany, but it was shown his tour was to French prisoners of war camps and that his alleged meeting with Hermann Goering was unconnected.

OPA Lifts Retail Prices On Gas and Oil Burners

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The office of price administration recently announced retail price ceiling increases of 12½ per cent for gas and oil fired furnaces and 9 per cent for domestic oil burner units effective January 14. Both increases resulted from price boosts in the same amount granted to manufacturers. OPA said the higher prices were necessary to assure the industry its average normal peacetime earning rate.

Veteran Hires Cab to Make Trip of 3,000 Miles

LAFAYETTE, GA. — Capt. H. L. Kipp couldn't get train reservations to San Diego, Calif., and his leave was running out, so he and his bride hired a cab to make the 3,000-mile trip.

Unworried by the taxi fare of approximately $750, Kipp, formerly of Silver Creek, Minn., said "the expense doesn't bother me as long as my wife is along." He is returning to duty at the San Diego marine base.

Flies Jet Plane at 504 Miles an Hour

LOS ANGELES. — A jet-driven Lockheed P-80 traveled from San Francisco to Los Angeles in 42 minutes 33 seconds, setting an officially timed speed mark which approximated 504 miles an hour. The pilot was Army Lt. Claude L. Wolford, 39, who learned to fly in 1923.

Do you know the answers?

A QUIZ BASED ON THE ANNUAL REPORT JUST ISSUED BY THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY (INDIANA)

Most of you may know little about us except that nearly everywhere you ordinarily drive your car you can roll up to a Standard Oil pump and say "Fill 'er up!" But, because what we do affects your life in so many other ways, we'd like to take you behind the scenes to see some of the things we've been doing of late. We think it might prove more interesting to do it in the form of a quiz—which won't be any great brain-twister, as the answers are directly below the questions.

- In how much of the United States does Standard Oil (Indiana) operate?
Like most of the rest of you, Mr. & Mrs. Mid-America, we were "born and raised" in these north-central states. From them we have spread out either directly or through subsidiary companies until now we market in 40 of the 48 states. We market in 15 of these states under the Standard Oil name.
- How does Standard of Indiana compare in size with other oil companies?
There are larger oil companies and smaller ones, but it's generally known, of course, that ours is one of the largest. To bring you high grade petroleum products, wherever and whenever you want them, takes almost limitless facilities and equipment, and the skill and experience of many people. America needs big business as well as small, so long as competition is fair. We think ours has been fair. It must have been, for there are many more small competing companies in our territory, doing very nicely, than there were earlier in our history.
- Just how large is Standard of Indiana's business?
In terms of crude oil and refined products sold in 1945, it totaled 215,000,000 barrels. Transportation of this made a lot of business for pipe line men, railway men and truckers. And it provided the stock in trade for 27,765 small businessmen, the independent operators of service stations handling our products. Similarly, our payments, in connection with crude oil produced and purchased, were a source of income to thousands of land owners and independent oil producers.
- Is Standard of Indiana active in the discovery of new oil fields?
Our search is never-ending. We have drilled wells in 19 different states. Last year, our drilling was carried on in such varied places as West Texas, the Gulf Coast, and Northwest Colorado. To those dis-
- What was the income of Standard Oil (Indiana), and what was done with it?
In 1945, we received for crude oil, products, etc., $627,626,612. Out of each dollar, the owners of the business—the stockholders—received only 3.7 cents. It took 57 cents of each Standard Oil (Indiana) dollar to pay for materials, transportation, and operating costs; 19.2 cents were paid to employees (including employee benefits); 15.5 cents went for taxes, depreciation and other costs; and 4.4 cents were retained for development of the business.
- Why was more money retained in the business than was paid out in dividends?
Because we must spend about $150,000,000, this year if possible, to make improvements we couldn't make during the war and to build new equipment needed to keep pace with technological progress. Such expenditures give the public better products and service, support the jobs of employees, and make investments in our business more secure.
- How many people own Standard Oil (Indiana)?
97,166 stockholders own our $819,659,938 of net assets. No individual among them owns as much as 1 per cent of the stock. The largest stockholder is not a person, but an institution for the public welfare, and it owns between 4 and 5 per cent. Among the stockholders are 634 charities, churches, educational institutions, etc.; 10,296 other corporations, insurance companies, protective organizations, etc.; and 39,631 women.
- How many people are in the employ of Standard Oil (Indiana) and how do they get along together?
There are 36,332 men and women employed in the various departments and subsidiaries of the company. Long-established plans for vacations with pay, sickness and disability compensation, and old-age retirement have helped stabilize our relations with employees. We have striven for and believe we have achieved good relations and mutual understanding with our employees, both non-union and union. We have entered into contracts with 108 separate union organizations.
- What is Standard of Indiana doing in research?
Our research expenditures last year were $3,700,000. New research laboratories, now under construction near the refinery at Whiting, Indiana, will enable us to double our present research staff there to number some 420 scientists and 800 assistants and technicians. The primary aim of this research is to give you constantly more and better products; however, our researchers will follow up their more promising discoveries wherever they may lead.
- And what makes "the wheels go round"?
We continue in business to make money. The stockholders, who invest their savings in our tools and equipment, are entitled to a reasonable return. So are the employees, who do the work. We make money for many of you when we supply you energy-packed products for profitable use at little cost. The hope of profit has resulted in the production in America of more of the good things of life—for more people—than any other nation has produced at any time in history. Our hope of benefit, for all concerned, causes us to seek new ways to serve you, to build new research laboratories, to improve our properties in your communities, and to keep in mind always that you must treat you—our customers—the way you want to be treated.

Pretty Wedding at Decker Saturday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Heronemus was gay with baskets of flowers Saturday, May 18, when their daughter, Verna, in a double ring ceremony, became the bride of Mr. Jack Kilbourn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kilbourn, of Cass City.

The bridal couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knoblet of Cass City, and the nuptial rites were read by the Rev. Leo J. Griffin of the Marlette Gospel Temple.

The bride was attired in a princess gown of white net over white satin and made with a sweetheart neckline. Her head piece was of white net held in place by white rosebuds. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and baby breath. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls.

The bridesmaid wore a princess gown of blue net over blue taffeta. Her head piece was of blue net and she carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony dinner was served in the bride's home. The table was decorated with flowers and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom.

The bride and groom are graduates of the 1942 class of the Cass City high school. The couple left on a honeymoon trip through Northern Michigan and on their return will make their home in Cass City.

The bride's floor length white gown was of satin with which she wore a full length veil and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. HEAL GOOD COMEBACK

A well-known film star whose forte evidently was not manners, approached an American Indian who was making a tour of the Hollywood studios.

"Well, Hlawatha," she asked patronizingly, "how do you like our city?"

With his copper face impassive, the Indian replied: "Very well, thank you. And how do you like our country?"

Silence in A Flat

George Bernard Shaw was having lunch in a London restaurant one day, when an orchestra struck up a particularly noisy tune. Without any intermission, it followed it with another. Shaw called the head waiter and asked:

"Does the orchestra play anything on request?"

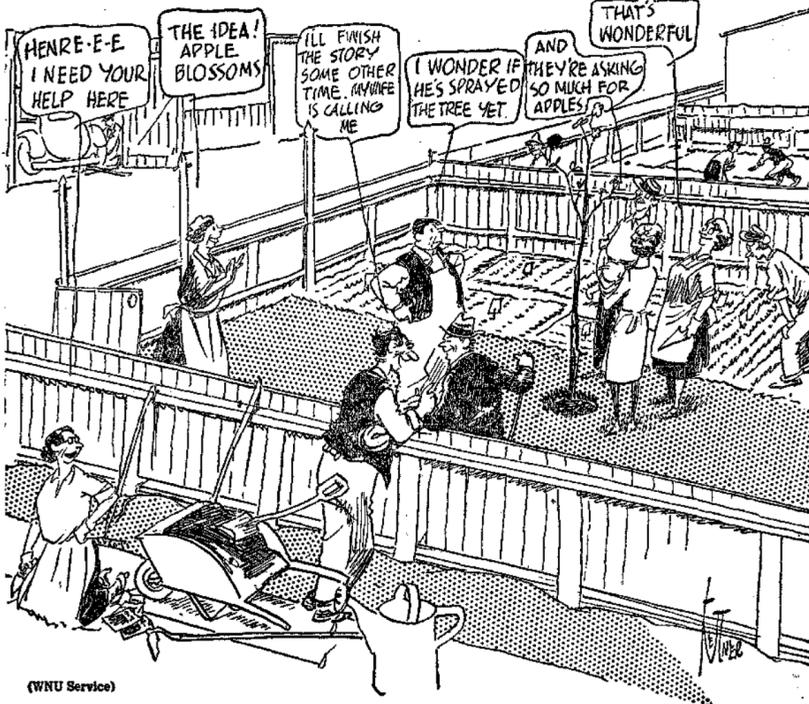

"Yes, sir," the man replied, "Is there something you would like them to play?"

"There is," said Shaw. "Ask them to play dominos until I have finished eating."

Tips on Slips
To get a slip that really fits, consider not only the size, but also the cut. A bias-cut slip usually fits a slender figure well. But a straight-cut slip is better suited to a stout person with large hips. Straight-cut slips stay down better over the knees when you sit, too, and are not so likely to hang unevenly and "cup under" at the back.

American Influence

One of our English subscribers has sent us an advertisement he saw in a surrey newspaper. It hints at a reign of terror of which very little seems to have been heard on this side of the ocean, and we're glad to print it:

"Young lady, aged 6½ years, who has just returned from America and knows all the answers, seeks a governess willing to learn."

Week-End Catch

By LOWELL JONES

McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Features.

"O, H, STOP laughing and help me get loose!" Sue wailed as she looked up into the mischievous eyes of the stranger.

"I didn't mean to make fun of you, but you do look queer stuck there in a foot of water," he said, unfastening the seat of Sue's masculine trousers from the barbed wire fence running out into the lake. He helped her up and, as their hands touched, neither spoke. "You must be Pop Sorensen's daughter and you're seeing minnows for the week-end tourist rush. You don't believe all that witchcraft about thunderstorms, boat colors and such foolishness, do you?" he asked.

"I have faith in what Dad says. Our guests never go home empty-handed and they think he's the best guide around here," she replied.

"Well, your dad has scientific competition now," he warned.

She gathered up the two pails of live minnows and started back to Piny Point. She reproached herself for listening to the stranger's talk, but there was something about his calm assurance and the gentle way he had helped her to her feet that held her interest. "There's no way of getting around fisherman's luck—no new scientific tricks we don't know about, are there, Dad?" she asked at dinner.

"You're darned tootin' there ain't. Say, you haven't been talkin' to that new guide, fresh out of the marines, feller named Ted Holbrook, have you?"

"I'm warning' you to keep away from Susan."

"You?" Sue felt the color rush to her cheeks.

"Ah ha, I thought so. Well, see it don't happen again," he warned. "The boy's been farin' pretty well, even ignorin' all the signs a feller in his right mind ought to heed. But it's all fisherman's luck."

But Ted's luck didn't change and, as the word spread that he was sending his guests home with full strings, Pop Sorensen lost a lot of business. On week-ends when Sue went out on the lake, she could see Ted and his guests in Ted's new white boats and more than once her heart stood still when she knew he was watching her across the still water. One evening he appeared at the Sorensen cabin.

"Howdy, Miss Sue," he said. "We haven't met much lately and I was wondering if you'd like to go to the dance with me Tuesday."

"Oh, Ted, you shouldn't have come. I'd love to go with you, but Dad . . ." Just then Pop Sorensen stormed into the room.

"I'm warnin' you to keep away from Susan and off my property, young feller," he roared. "Anyone who's been sayin' the things around town you have isn't welcome on Piny Point."

"See here," Ted proposed, "we can prove who's right and decide about the dance at the same time. I bet I send my week-end guests home with more fish than you do, Pop Sorensen. And if I win, Susan goes to the dance with me."

Saturday was gray at first and Ted's party went into the lead as folks all around Chippewa Lake anxiously awaited the outcome. Later the sun came out. During the afternoon Pop Sorensen's luck changed and his boats began to fill with bass and sunfish.

As they compared totals after dinner Ted's party trailed by ten. "It's just what I was sayin', young feller, your beginner's luck has changed. You got to abide by the tried and true rules to come out ahead in the long run," Pop chided. Ted looked around for Sue but she was nowhere to be seen.

"And if you're huntin' fer Susan, I don't know where she went. You won't be seein' her after tomorrow's haul is counted, anyway," Pop added.

Pop Sorensen, sure his fisherman's luck had changed the day before, was dumfounded to learn at dusk that Ted was ahead two sunfish in the two-day total. "That's a pretty slim margin," Ted observed as he stood with Sue on the Piny Point dock. "There must be something in old-fashioned fisherman's luck, after all. But we'll never leave anything to chance again, you and I," he said, taking her hands in his as she looked fondly up at him. "Say, what's this on your hands, Sue?"

"Oh, that . . . that's just some green paint that wouldn't come off," she answered. "Your white boats looked so terribly bright when the sun came out yesterday, and paintin' even the bottoms after dark is a messy job."

DOES YOUR BEST FARM HAND SLEEP TOO MUCH? . . .

The most powerful worker on the farm is electricity. He is never tired, he never talks back, and the more he works the lower his hourly wage. He is ready to pitch in at any hour of the day or night, and he never wants a day off.

Start him on a job and he won't quit for a minute until you switch him off and on to something else.

But, unfortunately, he can't think for himself. YOU have to think up the jobs for him to do. You have to find out all the things he can do, get him the tools, then give him the "go" sign, and he will work for you for pennies where other hired men will cost you dollars.

A well-known farm paper has estimated that farmers and their help spend 65 per cent of their working time around the barns, cribs and other homestead buildings. That is where the "electric hand" can do his best work. He can milk the cows, saw the wood, pump the water, crib your corn, hoist and dry your hay, grind the feed . . . and perform a surprising number of additional tasks if you will find them for him. Electricity is right at your elbow now . . . awaiting your next command. Don't let him sleep on the job.

Council Considers Change of Location of Water Plant

sary to purchase five lots, two of which are occupied by houses. Other considerations, too numerous to mention, make this proposition unfeasible.

A comparison of the estimated cost of the last two propositions is here given:

	Present Location	City Park
Land	$1250.00	$ 0.00
2 wells	3000.00	3000.00
2 pump houses	800.00	800.00
Sewer connec-	2500.00	2500.00
tion	600.00	200.00
Remodeling power house	1200.00
New building		4200.00
Brine storage tanks	1000.00	1000.00
Water mains	0.00	3000.00
Electrical work	1200.00	1200.00
Plumbing	100.00	100.00
Heating	600.00	600.00
Connecting wells with plant	1400.00	1200.00
Miscellaneous	1000.00	1000.00
install softener equipment	10000.00	10000.00
Total cost	24650.00	28800.00
Sale price of power house	7500.00
Estimated salvage		500.00
3 obsolete pumps	500.00
Total salvage from old plant	8000.00	8000.00
Net cost	$20800.00

Mr. Faust strongly recommended the City Park location, as no outlay for land is required. If more than two wells are needed to furnish water for any future expansion, this site has plenty of acreage.

As an added consideration in favor of the City Park location, it can be said that there will be a better circulation of water in the mains, as only the excess water above what is used will be forced into the water tower. When the tower is filled the city mains will then be supplied from the tower, giving a circulation of the water which will tend to eliminate stagnation.

The company contemplating purchase of the power house is a tool and die company, at present employing 28 people.

Yet there is so very little we over here can personally do. Money is of no value here, only food and clothing is their principal need.

"If it is your desire and your wish to do something for these people, in our Master's name, I should be glad to offer a suggestion. It is this: pack a box of canned food, canned milk, meats or vegetables and clothes. Old shoes, dresses, trousers, sweaters, anything like that they can use. Address the box to me personally and I shall see that the Methodist pastor receives it for distribution among his people."
