

Village Sells Power House to Detroit Company

New Owners Will Start Tool and Die Plant to Employ Force of 20 to 30

Village trustees have sold the power house building at the west end of Pine St., and next to the P. O. & N. R. R., to Mike Malesko, owner of the Detroit Diamond Tool and Die Co., who will establish a manufacturing plant here in the near future. It will employ 20 to 30 local people who will be trained to operate stamping machines in the manufacture of steel parts for automobiles and other machinery. The purchase price of the building was $7,500.00.

Mr. Malesko plans to tear out partitions and make other alterations in the building within the next 60 days. A large door will be cut into the west wall to enable the unloading of machinery from the railroad siding. It is understood that Mr. Malesko and his family will move from Detroit to Cass City.

The village retains the use of the pump room in the building for the operation of the municipal waterworks until such time as a suitable building can be erected in the city park for the waterworks system and water softening plant.

Quarter Century on Local School Staff

WILLIS CAMPBELL.

Willis Campbell Completes 25 Years As Teacher Here

Has Been Active in Bond Sales Campaigns and Crippled Children's Work

Willis Campbell is celebrating a silver anniversary, having just completed 25 years as an instructor in the Cass City Public Schools.

Back in 1921 when he came here as an instructor of agriculture, he also taught civics, two classes in arithmetic, led the orchestra and served as football coach. In those days the enrollment in the school was much smaller and the number of subject preparations each teacher had to make much greater than at the present time when a larger school permits more specialization in subjects because the staff has more members.

Mr. Campbell served as principal of the school for six years previous to his appointment a few years ago as superintendent.

Twenty-three years ago when he organized a 4-H club among his pupils, agricultural students had their classroom in the "old sub," a so-called converted coal bin, with benches without backs as seats. Since the new school building was erected, agricultural students have the latest in class room facilities and equipment. The agricultural course here has attracted large numbers of non-resident students.

Members of the Cass City Livestock Club, under the direction of Mr. Campbell, have had unusual success since the organization of the club, in the exhibition of cattle, sheep and swine at the Michigan State Fair and the Detroit Junior Livestock Show, and for many years grand champion and champion awards went to Cass City exhibitors. The raising of purebred animals has been greatly advanced in this community through the activities of the 4-H club.

Outside of his school program, Mr. Campbell has served efficiently as chairman of war bond sales campaigns as well as a committee-man of the crippled children's work in the Cass City district.

The result of this meeting was the organization of a Mennonite class. The original society consisted of nine members as follows: Isaac Cragg, Agnes Irwin, Byron Layman, Charles Sumner, Edward Deneen, Hannah Heath, Frank Auslander, Ann Auslander and Clara May Sumner.

The following summer the first Mizpah church was built on land

Class of 1946 Is Third Largest in the History of Cass City High School

The program committee made a wise choice in master of ceremonies for Master Pilot Bill Benkelman was an able sailor to conduct the "C. C. '46" in its night cruise in a most clever manner.

Helen Warner, as salutatorian, paid tribute to parents and home in the influence in the achievements of the students. Class President Geo. McArthur complimented class officers and senior student council members for their cooperation in making the four years of high school a successful voyage in his talk as "The Captain of the Ship." Janice McMahon, class secretary, in charge of "The Ship's Log," recorded historical facts of the class from kindergarten days to graduation, and Albert MacPhail, in reviewing "The Shake-down Cruise," related humorous incidents in the recent boat trip of the class to Niagara Falls. Marjorie Kettwell and Robt. Foy, in their subject, "Future Sailings," added more entertainment features in prophesying the futures of class members by telescopic means.

Wilbur Silvernail, in giving "In Memory of the Crew," announced the gift of $75.00 of the Class of 1946 as the nucleus of a fund for the purchase of a speedographic camera for the school. Don Anderson.

ELIZABETH BLAIR ST. CLAIR RECEIVES B. A. DEGREE

At a memorial chapel at Adrian College, Elizabeth Blair St. Clair received her B. A. degree (cum laude) on Sunday, June 2. Mrs. St. Clair, being president of the Class of '46, had the honor of participating in the annual ceremony. This is one of the most beautiful traditions upon the Adrian College campus. It takes place at the mound, a memorial of the Class of '72. The cane which the president of the senior class presents to the president of the junior class bears the colors of each graduation class.

Mrs. St. Clair was an honor student all through college and was twice chosen to have her name appear in "Who's Who" among students in universities and colleges throughout the United States.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Has-kett Blair, sister, Elva Marie, and grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Martin, attended the exercises.

Speaker Cites Responsibility Toward Future

World Looks to America for Leadership, Salvation and Bread to Save Lives

Cass City celebrated Memorial Day on Thursday with patriotic exercises similar to those of former years. Flags were displayed on business streets and many residences carried the national colors. The weather was ideal and a large number followed the parade to the Elkland Cemetery. In the line of march were the Cass City High School Band, the members of Cass City Memorial Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars and other veterans of World Wars I and II, the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts.

The program at the cemetery opened with a selection by the high school band, after which Rev. Lorne Lee, chairman of the day, offered prayer. He introduced Horace Pinney, a member of the Cass City Memorial Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, who spoke briefly as follows:

"We have met at this time to commemorate those of our comrades of the forces of our beloved country who have answered the last call and have joined the Grand Encampment of the Loyal and True and Brave."

"For generations men have been giving their all fighting for conviction and ideals they hold to be more desirable than life itself. Many more have answered the call of their country without thought or knowledge of why they were called."

"It is important that we here today show our respect to these men for their sacrifices. That their sacrifice be not in vain, that their devotion be truly commemorated, may we dedicate ourselves now to preserve the heritage for which they died for their, and our, posterity."

Following another selection by the band, Mr. Lee introduced Arthur Holmberg, principal of the local high school, as the speaker of the day.

"This is a day to remember that we owe a debt to the past," said Mr. Holmberg. "It was the original purpose of Memorial Day that it might be a time to honor particularly those who, as heroes of their country, have given their lives on the field of battle. Now, as we have reached the end of another, and the most costly of all conflicts, Concluded on page 6."

Class of 1901 and 1902 Held Reunion Here on Memorial Day

Members of the Classes of 1901 and 1902 of the Cass City High School held a reunion here on Memorial Day and many were the reminiscences and "yarns told" when the 12 members of these classes and their guests met in the Methodist Church parlors to renew friendships and enjoy the bounteous meal prepared by the ladies of the Bible class. Mrs. Mattie Spurgeon Marshall, Class of '01, helped in serving the dinner. The day was as perfect as the one described by Lowell and enjoyed to its fullest extent.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schell, Mrs. Bessie McLarty and Mrs. John McGrath were host and hostesses and had all necessary pre-arrangements made for the arrival of the out-of-town members. The dining room was beautiful in its floral arrangements and table decorations. Places were marked by booklets which later served as memo sheets for addresses. Walter Schell, '01, welcomed the group as they sat at the table, and President Herbert Karr, '01, responded.

By that time Mrs. Schell moved that the dinner be eaten. The eyes had it.

After the three-course dinner, the party spent the remainder of the day.

Use Commercial Fertilizer with Caution Co. Agricultural Agent Tells Bean Growers

Use commercial fertilizer to increase bean yields — but use it with caution, George E. Landsburg, Saginaw county agricultural agent, warns farmers as extensive tests conducted by the Michigan State College soil science staff show that all beans, including the pea bean and soybean, are very particular with respect to fertilizer placement.

James A. Porter, extension specialist in soil science, reports that tests revealed if the fertilizer is too close or in contact with the seed, the tender sprout will be injured. If placed too far from the seed, the increased yield seldom compensates for the cost of the fertilizer.

An ideal arrangement for placing the fertilizer correctly is the use of a modern beet and bean drill which places fertilizer one

Cheerful Curtains for Kitchen Are Made from Chintz Goods

By Ertla Haley

ARE your kitchen curtains weary after year-long use? Is the material too heavy to be suitable for warmer days ahead?

If you have either of these problems and cannot find a nice material for curtains, perhaps you have an old chintz bedspread or drapery material tucked away in an old trunk in the attic. This is ideal for sewing gay attractive framing for kitchen windows.

A single-sized bedspread will usually yield at least two pair of one or two piece curtains for kitchen windows. Yes, this includes ruffle from the same material, too. Of course, if you prefer to make the curtains look just a little bit more tailored, then you might consider trimming the edges with a contrasting colored piping, particularly if the pattern of the material is well-covered with a floral design.

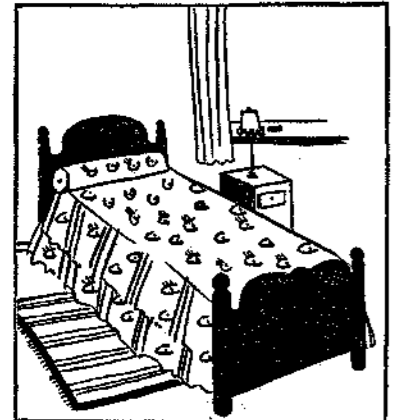

Your best pattern for kitchen windows is to cut a tissue paper facsimile of the curtains you now use. I am assuming they are the correct length and fit properly. The important thing in windows is to have sufficient fullness so the curtains do not look skimpy.

If your home, and particularly the kitchen is done in a very early American motif or is strictly modern, you might forego some of the fullness for an effect of simplicity or good tailoring. Then you will plan to clothe the windows differently: avoid the ruffle, settle for bric-a-brac or a contrasting band around the edge, and let the curtain fall in soft folds rather than in a gathered effect.

Correct Measurements For Curtains

Curtains are generally measured from the rod to the sill. If you do not have curtains that fit well, it is well to make the measurement and see that you have ample fullness and length.

If you are using a piece of old material as suggested, and it has been washed, you will not have to allow the two inches per yard of shrinkage as is done in new material, but you will have to make allowances for the following: bottom hem, which is two inches plus a one-quarter inch turn; top heading which is one and one-half inches and casing which is one inch plus one-quarter inch for turning.

If you are making sash curtains—two piece or half curtains, as they are sometimes called—measure from the center rod to the bottom of the sill for the lower half. For the upper half, measure from the top rod to one and one-half to two inches below the center rod. If desired, the two parts may be in different materials and colors.

Procedure Given for Making Curtains

It is very important to have all edges absolutely straight before starting to sew on the curtains, as they hang within plain sight of everyone and can give a slightly askew appearance to the room if they are lopsided. Straighten the ends of the fabric by tearing or pulling a thread. Measure from this end

Spring Fashion Notes

Hood for the playsuit? Yes, indeed, and it's especially good with the halter style top.

Look for the unusual in prints right at the moment. You will see geometric figures and designs that give you a sculptured look.

For suits for the week-end out of town, wear something fetching at the neck of your suit. Rippling ruffles are feminine and charming.

and if necessary straighten the fabric. Watch this closely when working with a printed fabric.

Some women prefer leaving the selvage on the curtain to save sewing a side, but it is advisable to cut it off and finish the material. The selvage edge may shrink and give the curtains, and naturally the room, a rather bizarre appearance. If the selvage is removed, make a hem on the fabric.

If plain stitching is not desired for the hem, the material may be hemstitched or darned with colored stitches, featherstitched or even bound in harmonizing or contrasting colors.

Casings at the top of the curtain usually depend upon the size of the rod. This may require from one and one-half to two inches. If you are worried about shrinkage, place a tuck across the curtain on the inside below the casing. Use a long stitch on the machine for this or baste in place.

If you have decided upon ruffles for your curtains, then measure one of the long sides and the bottom and make the ruffle two and one-half times this length. Use long stitches on the machine first, then gather to fit the curtain, the ruffle going to the inside of the curtain and at the bottom. If you have tie-backs for the curtains, here again, use two and one-half times the length of the tie for making the ruffle.

For placing the ruffle on the curtain stitch in place and finish with a French seam. For the tie backs, however, tuck the ruffle in-between the material (tiebacks are made of a wide piece of material folded) and stitch once or twice on the edge, depending upon the fabric.

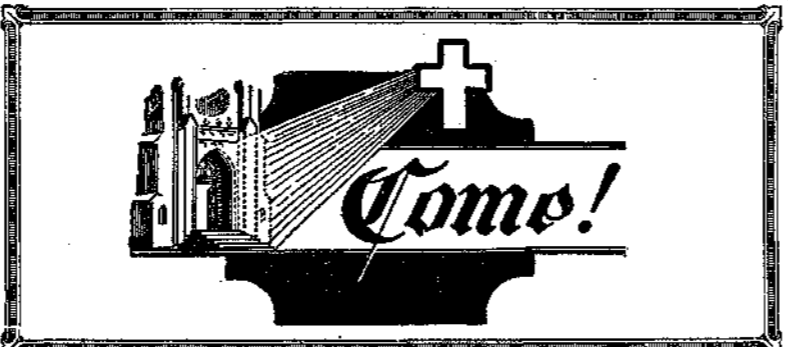

Furnishings

Women who are handy with the needle can do a lot toward making the home attractive and livable. Slipcovers and draperies, well matched and with an eye to good taste, can bring together a room if it contains many odd pieces of furniture.

For dark rooms, consider the lighter fabrics to add cheer to the room. For bright rooms, you may use darker colors.

If you live near an industrial section, choose fabrics that launder easily so that you can keep clean and still be kind to your cleaning budget. It is worthwhile to buy good fabrics with good finishes for covering much-used chairs, etc.

When selecting binding and draperies for chairs and sofas, make sure that the material is washable or easily cleaned. It's far better to hunt than try to mend or re-dye the binding after the first cleaning.

NECESSARY PRECAUTION

A newly appointed Scotch minister on his first Sunday of office had reason to complain about the scanty collection.

"Mon," replied one of the elders, "they are close—vera close. But," confidentially, "the auld meenister he put three or four saxpence into the plate hissel', just to gi'e them a start. Of course he took the saxpence out later."

The new minister tried the same plan, but the next Sunday he again reported a dismal failure. The total collection was not only small, but he was grieved to find that his own sixpences were missing.

"Ye may be a better preacher than the auld meenister," exclaimed the elder, "but if ye had half the knowledge o' the world, an' o' yer ain flock in particular, ye'd ha' done what he did an' glued the saxpences to the plate."

CASS CITY

THE TALE OF A COW

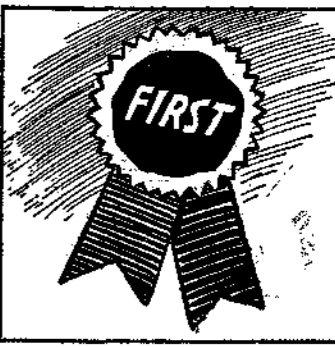

Did you know that Michigan has 1,027,000 cows, producing 5.7 billion pounds of milk in 1945?

That the investment of modern equipment in Michigan dairy plants is for your protection and service?

And that the revenue from the sale of this milk and dairy animals was well over $200,000,000?

Dairy products are first as vital food. For your good health, drink milk daily and use dairy products often.

The dairy cow provides a steady income for 80% of Michigan's 179,000 farms... jobs for 1 out of 15 people... and a health-giving vital food for everyone. Michigan cow—take a bow!

JUNE DAIRY MONTH COMMITTEE

THIRTY YEARS OF SERVICE TO MILK PRODUCERS and CONSUMERS

This week the Michigan Milk Producers Association rounds out 30 years of service to milk producers and consumers in the Detroit milk shed.

The organization got its start on June 3, 1916, when a small group of far-sighted dairy farmers recognized co-operative marketing as the one best guarantee of an assured minimum milk supply for Detroit and of price stabilization at a favorable level for milk producers.

So sound was this conception that the Association grew from its original membership of 22 dairy farmers to more than 14,000 in 1945.

The value of milk shipments during the first year amounted to a few thousand dollars as compared with 1945 when the dollar volume of sales by association members was $41,602,144.00.

This consistent growth through the years has been paralleled by improved quality and production methods under Association sponsorship; protection for members against bad credit risks, herd failure and market uncertainties (by operation of our own processing and distributing facilities where independent outlets are deemed inadequate). Every member's share in the assets of this Association is substantial—a factor of great importance in these days of unbalanced economic forces.

The Association's growth has likewise been paralleled by constantly increasing safeguards for the protection of the public health.

Throughout the years, this organization has held to the belief that its own best interests are inseparably interwoven with the best interests of the milk consuming public.

From its inception, this organization has always adhered to a policy of promising only what it could deliver, and of delivering what it promised.

So well have these basic principles served the very great majority of producers and consumers that we pledge continuance of them in the conviction that they will prove as satisfactory in the future as they have for 30 years.

The Wigwam Is For Sale

In view of the sheriff's continuing his persecution of me, as owner of the Wigwam, I have decided to sell as it is practically impossible to operate, with a sheriff exercising such a personal prejudicial attitude. The Wigwam is for sale, fully equipped, and I will give possession as soon as our suspension expires July 17 or as soon thereafter as a transfer can be made. My reason for mentioning the sheriff in this ad, is that I want the prospective buyer to know fully the condition under which I am selling.

Brands Old

The brand idea is as old as any known institution of civilization. It marked the beginning of a philosophy in business by which the producer openly assumed a responsibility for his product to the purchaser. Earliest excavations have revealed paving bricks marked with the brand name of the manufacturer, and during the period of the guilds in Europe, the use of brands was highly developed. Infringements were harshly dealt with. A textile manufacturer who omitted his trade-mark was often punished by having his right hand removed.

we would do well to pay homage to those who in that struggle, obedient to their nation's call to duty, laid aside the pursuits of peace to bear arms in their country's defense. Their brave deeds and heroic sacrifices are indeed worthy of every word of tribute our tongues can bring, of every flower that loving hands can place in their memory.

"In great numbers they went forth, both young men and women, from our community to serve at their country's call. All of them made sacrifices, some greater, some smaller. Many of them have returned to us. Most of them will return. But some will not and it is of them and the price they paid that we think particularly this hour.

"They are scattered over the face of the earth. Some rest in imposing cemeteries of Europe, some lie in the simple burial field of some tiny Pacific island, others found their rest in the bosom of the seas, but wherever their final resting place may be, this day is the symbol that their sacrifice is not forgotten.

"We do not limit our homage, however, to those who died in service of country. Others, too, who rest in this and countless other peaceful spots have by their devotion, love and service placed us forever in their debt. Such soil as this, I imagine, becomes hallowed ground for those whose fathers, mothers, sisters brothers, sons or daughters here rest in peace. For us who remain this little tribute when on Memorial Day we place upon their graves something of the life and freshness that a renewed springtime has awakened among us, is indeed a small gesture in return for the happiness that they gave, and in token of the loss their departure has brought.

"But there is more, it seems to me, to Memorial Day than merely the backward look. There is something more to be remembered than the debt we owe the past. There is something far more important to remember and that is that we have too a responsibility toward the future.

"Frankly, we have a big job ahead of us. The first Memorial Day since complete victory is not the happy occasion we might have expected it to be.

"Look out upon the world and what do you see? Peace? Well, if you mean that the guns are stilled at least temporarily—yes—but real peace? No. Nothing for which we fought has yet really been attained. There is not complete understanding even among the victor nations. Suspicion, jealousy and mistrust retard the progress we had hoped for our new world organization.

"Famine stretches its skinny finger over large portions of the world. People are starving by the thousands. And the sad part of it is that our attitude toward it is in many cases far too academic. We are helping—yes insofar as we can without making any real sacrifice ourselves—but we are much more concerned about why we can't get that new car sooner or why there isn't enough steak at the butcher shop.

"We have as Americans, a terrifying responsibility during the next few years. The world looks to us for leadership, for salvation, for the very bread with which their lives may be spared. Whether we sow friendship and goodwill or hatred and revenge will depend on how we discharge that responsibility."

"Above all we must keep forever in mind that we cannot, we dare not even flirt with the possibility of another war. The spectre of war has been made a thousand-fold more dreadful by the discovery of weapons such as none ever before dreamed possible.

"Frankly, the scientists who released those tremendous stores of energy first visited upon Hiroshima and Nagasaki are worried. Harold C. Urey of Columbia University, co-author of the atomic bomb, describes himself as a frightened man at the prospect of what this power without proper control can do. While every first-rate scientist favors outlawing the use of atomic energy for purposes of war what do we do?

"We spend millions of dollars building bigger and better atomic bombs. We stage for all the world to see a senseless demonstration of their destructive ability far out in the Pacific Ocean and then we look with wondering eyes at the rest of the world when they do not respond too quickly as we say, 'Come sit with us about the peace table.'

"Our own internal troubles have us in such a mess that we would be foolish indeed to point to the troubled nations of the world and say, 'See this is the sort of government you should establish—here is democracy at its best.'

Yes, there is much to be done. Yesterday's sun has set, the men and women who toiled and labored, who fought and died to reach its goals are gone—all honor to their memory—but today is here and tomorrow and the day after are coming, and there is work to be done, there are responsibilities to be faced by each of us, and how we face them and how well we discharge them will determine whether or not on some not too distant Memorial Day the world will again have paid the awful price in blood and death that that futile, senseless, inhuman thing we call war can bring. If, and only if, we do our part, and do it well, such a Memorial Day need never again dawn upon the earth."

The afternoon program closed with the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the band and the pronouncement of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Lee.

VETERAN WORLD WAR ONE

Mr. Mizener believes more state money should be allocated to the rural counties where the county has few residents per square mile and too many miles of roads for the people to maintain. Under the present system the weight tax of trucking lines is paid into the county where the office of the truck firm is located. This is usually in a large city. The large city gets the cash but the trucks wear out the country roads of Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron counties with no weight tax return to these three counties.

GOLDEN CHANCE

The late humorist, Eli Perkins, boarded the Boston and Maine train one morning when, according to his shamed confession, the following incident occurred. A pleasant young man advanced smiling upon him and said, "I beg your pardon, sir, but are you not the gentleman who lectured in Portsmouth last night?" "I am," admitted Perkins, with some pride. "Well," said the young stranger. "I want to thank you for it. I don't know when I ever enjoyed myself more than when you were talking."

RIGHT ANSWER:

It happened on one of those radio quiz programs. "Who's the next contestant?" asked the m. c. "I have a paratrooper, sir," came the voice of an assistant in the balcony. The quizmaster asked brightly: "The question for you to answer, soldier, is: How many successful jumps did a paratrooper have to make before he graduated?" From the balcony came this immediate and logical answer: "All of 'em."

Catastrophe
A newcomer to the field of radio asked George Jessel for advice recently. "The most important thing to remember," cautioned the comedian, "is to be careful in selecting your sponsor." "Why is that so vital?" inquired the visitor. "I recall the time I was sponsored by a hair tonic company. Once in an audience jammed studio, just as I wound up a whiz bang commercial on the wonders of the product, calamity befell me." "What happened?" "My wig fell off!" groaned Jessel.

Ostrich Sitting

There's division of labor in the ostrich family. Male and female take turns sitting on their eggs, males working the night shift. Several hens lay their eggs in the same place and all males and females share in the responsibility of setting.

Dog Breeds
"Pinscher," German for fox-terrier or English terrier, is the German breed which corresponds to the English terrier. The German boxer, believed to have originated in Germany back in the 16th century, is a fighter with a bulldog expression but the muscular body and long legs of a mastiff. It is said that when used as fighting dogs decades ago, two boxers would fight standing on hind legs and sparring with front legs. No doubt the term "boxer" grew out of this.

Clean Eggs
Hens running all over the farmstead do not produce clean eggs.

Smoke Appliances
The army's mechanical smoke generators come in two sizes. The largest, truck or trailer mounted, can blanket a square mile within 10 minutes. The smaller model, of foot-locker proportions, can blot out an area five or six miles long by 200 yards wide. The smoke pots vary from the 11 pound pot which burns for 6 minutes to the 30 pounder which smokes for 20 minutes.

Eye Exercises
Eye exercises are beneficial in some types of muscle imbalances. However, exercises cannot overcome some types of squint, or cross eyes.

Thanks to Our Customers!

Thank you for helping us during the coal shortage by reducing your use of electricity.

We thank Governor Kelly and his staff, the Michigan Public Service Commission, Mayor Jefferies and the mayors of other cities throughout our territory, and the Board of Commerce for their help. We are grateful for the support of the press and radio in explaining the necessity for saving electricity.

We appreciate the help given us by the Public Lighting Commission of the City of Detroit, Consumers Power Company and the Ford Motor Company, from whom we received electricity over existing inter-connections. Industry and business and citizens all willingly cut their use of current.

Our company tapped every resource to stretch dwindling fuel supplies. For example, where possible, coal burning furnaces were temporarily converted to oil. As a result of all this effort it was possible to avoid more drastic curtailment of electric service.

Coal is now being received and barring further fuel interruptions we expect to be able to meet all your needs for electric power and light.

Here's a way to combine hard cooked eggs and tuna fish. Add three-fourths cup flaked cooked tuna fish to the flour shortening mixture of a standard drop baking powder biscuit recipe. Then top the savory golden brown biscuits with a mustard flavored white sauce studded with hard cooked eggs.

Treat Matches
As a precaution against fire, match sticks are treated with ammonium phosphate to prevent lingering embers after the flame has blown out.

Condensed Milk and Cash Given Here for Food Collection

The local committee of the Emergency Food Collection of which Mrs. Edward Pinney is chairman announces that the total gifts received amounted to $668.79. It has been used to purchase 3,600 cans of milk, along with the balance in cash for the national committee to be used through UNNRA. The condensed milk, purchased through the Nestle's Milk Products, Inc., was shipped from the local plant on June 1 and a draft for the balance was sent to the New York headquarters of E. F. C.

This does not include the food collection through the St. Patrick's Catholic Church which is now making its second collection during the year as a separate church project accounting. Thus the aggregate contributions to the food relief represents a generous response here, says the committee.

Because the need for food is a continuing world crisis and emergency the local committee will continue its organic relationship with the E. F. C. and UNNRA, and will welcome any further contributions which will be forwarded. Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer is chairman of the gifts committee.

The committee hereby expresses its appreciation for the hearty cooperation of the community as a whole and for generous publicity in the Chronicle.

CHURCH TO OBSERVE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY of the living pastor who had served present and taking some part, Rev. Mr. Schroeder, its builder, giving the principal address.

The church was then torn down and under the direction of Rev. B. Douglas, the pastor, the erection of the present church was begun. The McHugh schoolhouse was used for services until January 23, 1938, when the dedication was held. Rev. J. A. Bradley preached the dedicatory sermon.

The first parsonage was built in 1910 by Rev. J. A. Avery who was then pastor. This was enlarged and veneered with brick in 1920 while Rev. J. A. Jones was pastor. Then in 1939 when M 58 was paved the state ordered the parsonage to be moved back. The money which was paid for its moving was used to remodel and modernize the building. This remodeling work was done under the able leadership of the pastor, Rev. E. M. Gibson.

These buildings which are attractive and well arranged for the comfort and convenience of the pastor's family and those who come to worship speak well for the community.

This being the fiftieth anniversary of this church, the annual conference was invited to hold their sessions here. The ministerial convention begins on Monday evening, June 10, at 8 o'clock with a sermon by Rev. H. L. Matteson of Battle Creek, Michigan. Services on Tuesday will be held both morning and afternoon and conference proper begins on Tuesday evening with the oral report of the ministers. Conference lasts until Friday. Sessions are open to the public. The conference sermon will be on Thursday evening.

Produce Castor Oil

Freezing Water

If two equal quantities of water, cold and hot, are placed under identical natural freezing conditions, cold water will freeze first because a certain amount of time is required to remove the heat from the hot water. To a limited extent it is true, however, that water which is first has been heated will freeze more rapidly than unheated water because of the difference in density and the amount of dissolved air.

Defective Speech Clinic at Bad Axe

A new start in life will be provided for a small part of Michigan's 143,000 school children with speech defects through a combination speech clinic and extension course which will be conducted in the Thumb district next fall by Dr. Wilbur C. Moore of Central Michigan College.

The class, which will be taught at Bad Axe, will include diagnosis and corrective measures of common speech defects, and will incorporate treatment of the children taught by the teachers enrolled in the course.

Dr. Moore and his clinicians will conduct tests and recommend treatments, some to be made by the teacher and some by the children's parents. Often, says Dr. Moore, correction of a slight physical or psychological handicap will bring immediate improvement of a child's speech, and eradicate that feeling of isolation which affects all speech defectives.
