Missionary to Japan to Speak Here on July 17

Miss Lois Kramer, missionary to Japan, will be the guest speaker at a missionary rally in the Evangelical Church on the evening of Wednesday, July 17. Miss Kramer has been connected with the Evangelical Mission work there since 1917, and in 1920 helped to initiate the Deaf-Oral school, an institution to teach speech and hearing through lip reading to children who are deaf. Miss Kramer elected to stay in Japan when war broke out, to give to the Christian movement there, her fullest support, and has returned to this country only since peace has been declared. She was one of three missionaries of the Evangelical Church who stood by the Japanese Christians during the darkest hour of the war, and will undoubtedly have a great story to tell of those years in the Land of the Rising Sun.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Gene Alleman

The second phase of our post-war period is now well under way.

First came the Truman administration program whereby high purchasing power was to be maintained by a substantial increase in workers' wages.

It has been the thesis of left-wingers, as illustrated by views of the Michigan C. I. O., that the nation could not attain full employment and full production unless the wages of labor were raised to offset an $80 billion decline in war orders.

August Scholle, president of the Michigan C. I. O. council, declared in a talk at Michigan State College that wages must be increased or another depression was inevitable. Furthermore, he declared that any increase in wages must come out of profits and not be added to prices.

If prices were increased, said Scholle, then purchasing power would remain the same or go down instead of up. Yes, the employer must absorb any extra labor cost from his profits, according to Scholle. If he did not do so, the responsibility for another depression was his.

Thus the C. I. O. neatly sidesteps the issue of economics.

That wages could not be raised without prices being raised was the inevitable and logical fact, recognized by the O. P. A. when it granted TWO price increases to Michigan automobile manufacturers.

Now comes the unexpected end of the O. P. A., at least temporarily so.

Prices are going up, just as wages have gone up. There is no possible alternative. Instead of purchasing power being increased the result will be just the opposite: A decline in purchasing power. A recent statistical study, based on government figures, showed that the automobile worker's average salary of $2,748 in 1945 was actually worth only $2,011 on a basis of 1939 prices. If prices go up 10 per cent in 1946—and this is concluded on page 6.

Work Is Honorable Dean Anthony Tells 750 4-H Club Youth

The 750 4-H club members and leaders from southern Michigan spent a busy but profitable week on the Michigan State College campus recently when they received tribute from and paid honors to three of Michigan's agricultural leaders.

Ernest L. Anthony, dean of the school of agriculture, told the delegates that Michigan State College was proud of the 50,000 4-H club members in Michigan and their desire to improve rural conditions through learning and improving their methods.

The dean requested that the 4-H club members lead the way back to normal by developing a foundation goal—"that of making honest work again an honored thing among our people." Dean Anthony expressed a belief that much of the world has gained the idea that it can exist by avoiding work and wholesome responsibility, which is contrary to the foundation upon which our forefathers built this nation.

The 4-H club members issued plaques of "citation for outstanding service to 4-H clubs of Michigan" to John A. Hannah, MSC President; Dean Anthony, and Director R. J. Baldwin, head of the MSC extension program.

A collection was taken to purchase food through the UNRRA for starving Europeans with a total of $149.69 obtained. Announcement also was made that two Michigan clubs had already made contributions to the national headquarters. They were the Edwin Club in Gogebic County and the Pickford Club in Chippewa County.

The safe driving clinic, a feature of the week, resulted in Lillian Race, Montcalm County; Elmore Higby, Macomb County; Joe Carmody, Van Buren County; Marvin Wolter, Berrien County and Wesley Eaton, Clinton County, being selected as the outstanding drivers among the more than 80 4-H club members tested by the AAA and the Michigan State Police.

Miss Christina Graham and Jas. Cook of Detroit were week-end guests in the C. L. Graham home. Mrs. Alfred P. Hall, Jr., of Royal Oak was also a Sunday guest.

Dear Mr. Lenzner: We have been having a most wonderful trip and if we wait to write you until it is all over there would be far too much to tell you. As it is, I shall give you only a brief sketch.

We left home June 18. Had dinner that day with a niece in Lansing and took Donna through the capitol building. Had supper and spent the night with friends in Spring Arbor. There we went through the Free Methodist Seminary. They have a splendid group of buildings and campus there.

On Wednesday, we circled around Chicago and nearly up to Madison. Thursday we spent half the day taking the boat trips on the Dells of the Wisconsin. Since then we visited wife's uncle and sister and their families in Iowa, crossed Minnesota and South Dakota, through the Bad Lands and the Black Hills. Of all the places we've seen so far Dakota would be the last place I would want to settle in. There were lots of meadow larks and bob-o-links

Water Safety Program Starts Here Next Monday

Tuscola Red Cross to Make Use of Three Pools in the County

Water-minded persons of all ages will be given opportunity to learn new aquatic skills under expert instruction in Tuscola County this summer when the Tuscola County Red Cross Chapter gets underway its initial water safety program at the Cass City swimming pool, at North Lake, and at W. J. Moore's private pool in Caro.

The announcement was made today by James Gallery, chapter vice chairman. The program will include classes for non-swimmers and swimmers in all stages of advancement, he said. Instruction will be given by a staff of aquatic experts, all of whom have been trained especially in teaching the latest water technique as developed by the American Red Cross. No charge will be made for the instruction, the only requirement for enrollees being written parental consent for students under 18 years.

Courses will be divided among groups according to age and ability, Mr. Gallery said. Non-swimmers will learn fundamentals, beginners will be given intermediate instruction, and those more advanced will be eligible to qualify for Red Cross life saving certificates.

Although only advanced swimmers will be eligible for life saving certificates, all groups enrolled in the classes will learn how to effect drowning rescues without personal risk.

"Equipped with this knowledge, beginners and even non-swimmers will be able to step into the necessary role and save a drowning person, often as efficiently as a guard himself," according to Mr. Gallery. "Students will be taught how to use the ring buoy, how to form human rescue chains, and many other aids devoid of danger. New and safer methods of rescue also

Mrs. R. A. Rich Died in Deckerville

Mrs. Reuben A. Rich of Deckerville, the former Miss Jennie McColl of Cass City, died suddenly at her farm home Monday morning, following a heart attack. In 1897 she was a student in the local high school. In 1900 she married Mr. Rich and has since made her home in Deckerville.

To them were born eight children, six of whom with her husband, survive. The children are: Hugh Rich, Mrs. Wallace Cole, Loren, Russell and Raymond Rich, all of Deckerville, and Mrs. Hector Lockard of Detroit. Two sisters, Mrs. Anna Krieman of Saginaw and Mrs. Guy Landon of Cass City, also survive.

along the roads that sang cheerily to us as we passed. I think the only reason they come there is because they have wings and can get away when they want to. The Bad Lands are beautiful in their colors and formation which words cannot describe but to drive through them is enough. Certainly no Michigander would want to stay there.

We spent one night at Chamberlain on the banks of "Old Muddy," the Missouri River. As we looked on it, and then again in crossing the mountains, have followed other streams up whose valleys Lewis and Clark passed a hundred forty years ago, I marvel at the courage and daring of that expedition. When visiting the Black Hills, I thought of the book called "The Iron Horse" and realized more than ever what it meant for the surveyor to find a way for the first railroad through that maze of mountains. Then as we gazed on those faces chiseled in the granite of the high Rushmore Mountain Peak, I marveled at man's genius. Concluded on page 8.

Cookies made from the new emergency flour tend to be darker in color but they can be made acceptably if directions are followed.

Emergency Flour Meets Tests for Breads and Cakes

Just what does 80 per cent extraction flour mean?

How will it affect our own home baking? How can it be used? These are some of the questions you're probably asking yourself as the packages of emergency flour appear on store shelves.

Well, let's start with the first question. Eighty per cent extraction means that instead of the 72 per cent and 28 pounds of animal feed that the miller has been getting from every 100 pounds of wheat he will now get 80 pounds of wheat to be used as flour and 20 pounds as animal feed.

The new flour is slightly gray in color instead of the creamy white which we are accustomed to seeing. The color is due partially to the parts of the wheat kernel which naturally contain some color or pigment.

Emergency flour is considerably better than what we first had anticipated. To date, tests which have been made in actual home baking, the flour has behaved satisfactorily. In biscuits and breads, the color of the finished product has a slight grayish cast, but in other baked products such as muffins, cookies and cakes, the use of eggs tends to push the gray into the background. As for pie crust, you'll find that the new flour gives pastry a much better color than the flour we formerly used. It seems that in pastry, the crust comes out a more golden color than before.

How to Use. You will be seeing new recipes in this column from time to time giving you tips on how to use the emergency flour. However, if you want to convert your old recipes, a safe rule to follow is to take 2 tablespoons out of each 1 cup of flour that the recipe requires.

In using the emergency flour with baking powder, soda or sour milk,

- Lynn Chambers' Menus

 - Beverage

It seems advisable to use a minimum amount of stirring and mixing after the flour has been added. The rule which you have known so long, "Mix only until flour is moistened," as far as quick breads are concerned applies particularly to this new flour.

In making yeast-leavened products, handle the batters and doughs lightly, especially after the first rising. Another must is to let the product rise not so much, so start working on it just before it doubles itself.

Texture in Cakes. For the emergency, you'll have to forego your elaborate, velvety textured cakes. Simple cakes—the two egg type—are quite acceptable made with the new flour, but the texture is not as soft and fine as you are accustomed to. You see, the flour is just not as soft and fine as the bleached flours which we recommend for really fine cakes. In addition to the simple white or gold cakes, you may also use the flour for devil's food or chocolate cakes and spice cakes.

Thickening Qualities. For all practical purposes, the new flour has the same thickening quality as regular all-purpose flour. Use it the same way as you would our regular flour in thickening gravies, sauces, stews, pie and cake fillings.

Another point which it is well to remember in regard to the new flour is that it will not keep as well as regular flour. Don't stock up on it! Buy limited quantities, but buy them more often.

The same storage that we give regular flour is doubly important in this case. A covered container is recommended, and it's best to keep this in a cool, dry place. Let the air circulate around the container.

Food Value. Some people have said that the emergency flour is a fine thing because it has more "good in it." Well, of course, the bran in the flour is more abundant than in regular flour. The annual Hicks reunion was held on Sunday, July 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Morrison of Caro. A bountiful potluck dinner was served at noon and was enjoyed by all. Following the meal, President Nelson Hicks called the group together. A program was presented with many of the grandchildren taking part. The next reunion will be held the Sunday nearest July 4, 1947, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Collins of Caro. The officers elected for the coming year are: C. B. Hicks of Flushing as president and Gerald Hicks of Deford as secretary-treasurer. The large group of relatives attending were from Detroit, Flushing, Flint, Decker, Deford and Caro.

Pie crust made from the new flour browns more readily even though you will need a few drops more of ice water to make it hold together.

nourishing because it gives us more thiamin, niacin, riboflavin and iron than regular flour. It gives us only about half as much as enriched white flour, however.

Test Color-Fastness
To test material for color fastness, fasten a scrap of the test fabric along with the colored trimming to be used, such as rick-rack or tape, to a piece of white cloth. Then carefully wash and iron the material. If the white cloth has picked up any color from the fabric or trimming, the fading will be the same when the garment is made.

Primitive Farming
A Chinese farmer puts in 26 man-days to produce an acre of winter wheat, while an American farmer does it in 1.2 man-days. While the detailed reasons for this disparity in output include virtually every chemical and biological discovery of interest to agriculture, the primary factor is mechanization.

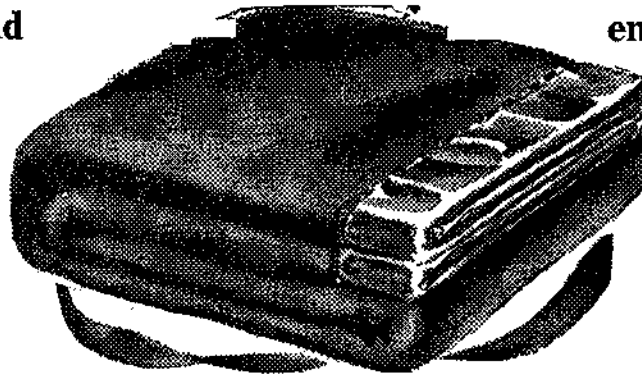

Popular Match
Prior to the U. S. - Mexican war, one of the most popular forms of match was the fire producer, consisting of a bottle of sulphuric acid and 80 chemically-treated slivers of wood. The combination sold for $2, or four cents a light, as compared with one-sixtieth of a cent per match today.

Berry Plants
Both strawberries and raspberries do well on many different types of soil, but produce best on fertile, well-drained ground that receives plenty of moisture and contains lots of humus. Set out both raspberries and strawberries as early in the spring as the ground can be worked. Above all, don't wait until hot, dry weather arrives. Prepare the soil thoroughly, and add manure or grow a green manure crop a year before planting.

Oak Bluff Breezes

Well, the glorious fourth with its long week end is past, the year's half over and already this year we have tasted three seasons. We still have three seasons ahead, the most of summer, all of autumn and the beginning of winter. July is here and the summer is settling down in earnest with the fragrance of new mown hay along the roadside and the haze of shimmering heat on the hills and meadows. Cherries are ripening to the delight of birds and connoisseurs of homemade pies and the bumblebee drones lazily over the fields of clover. Now comes the time of harvest for wheat, badly needed in all parts of the world. Oats are maturing throughout the midwest and corn and other grains are making fast progress toward the ripening season. July is hurrying along and the sun is slowly swinging back toward the south, its great northern trip over. Clouds bank the horizon and the violence of thunder storms wracks the sky, but growth continues toward its peak, toward the maturity of a season fulfilled and we hope of a full seeded and ripened harvest.

The young adults' class of the Presbyterian Church school of which Mrs. M. R. Vender is the teacher visited the state park at Oak Beach on Monday evening. After a refreshing swim in Lake Huron, John Bayley, who proved himself an able chef, found it difficult, however, to grill the hamburger steaks fast enough to meet the demand of almost famished picnickers. Swatting mosquitoes nearly diverted them from eating.

"It's a downright shame that not more people are interested in the children of the district and the $100,000 annual business of the school," voiced a woman voter who deprecated the evident lack of interest of parents and school patrons. miles east of Cass City to the old swimming hole in the summer days. There wasn't much chance to hitchhike except by lumber wagon, for automobiles, if any existed here, avoided the rough corduroy road between Elkland cemetery and the "East" River. Allen Ewald, 13, and Billy Hudson, 11, Caro lads, go farther for their swims in 1946. Monday they came from Caro to patronize the municipal pool here that afternoon. "We come about every other day," Allen told a Chronicle representative, "and we never walk." Autoists give the lads a lift coming and going so 15 miles of travel are easier than the two miles a half century ago, and the swimming accommodations are as far apart as day and night.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

tain according to present indications—then the worker's purchasing power will be further deflated to $1.977—only some $360 more than he received in 1939!

The post-war inflation is bound to aggravate labor unrest. That means more strikes are ahead, unless production of goods can be vastly increased and the spiraling of prices can be checked. Wages and salary income in 1940 were at a $50 billion rate; today, $102 billions. "Easy money" reckless spending prevails. Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of directors, Chase National Bank, recently warned: "The stage is set for ultimate deflation and depression. We are living in an illusion of prosperity and wealth." Now is a time for saving, not spending.

As inflation continues—and such appears to be ahead for 1946—then the left wingers, as represented by C. I. O., will turn to another position.

Walter Reuther has alluded to it only indirectly. Only through nationalization of industry can full employment be attained!

What they really mean to say is this:

Only by nationalization of industry can the profits of the employer be converted into higher wages for labor—the dream of socialists for many centuries, the ultimate of Utopia itself. England is turning to nationalization simply because it has exhausted its national resources and is at the end of its financial rope. The owners thus would cease to exist. A workers' republic would take over control and private enterprise would be supplanted by state socialism.

This is the ultimate showdown—the third post-war phase.

Good Luck Dinner Bell

A good luck dinner bell may be made by welding two horseshoes together as shown in the illustration. A window sash serves as a clapper. It should be hung on rawhide.

The tone may be regulated by the length of the rawhide, as well as the type of horseshoe and density of welding. A series of climes may also be made from horseshoes.

Indian Stockade Unearthed
Excavating a recently found log stockade built by Indians in Georgia, government archeologists were able to see what an old Creek Indian town looked like.

Good Washing Best
Routine use of commercial bleaches is likely to weaken fabrics. No bleaching method is a good substitute for correct washing and rinsing.

We cannot help but wonder if the left-wingers, as represented by C. I. O., have read their American history. The United States has been a workers' government since 1776. Rail splitters have become presidents, privates have become generals, gobs have become admirals, shoemakers have become senators, and newsboys have become governors.

It was the farmer, butcher, baker and candlestick maker, the gunsmith, pewterer, and button maker who told Hamilton, Adams and Jay to get the Constitution adopted and how to make it work.

Under the free enterprise system the price of an electric bulb has been decreased from $1.50 to 10 cents. The automobile has become the property of the man on the street. The telephone has become a household convenience. Refrigerators are commonplace, and so are bathrooms, radios, hot water and gas stoves—things which are almost unheard of in Soviet Russia!

What political system announced a $5 minimum wages? Henry Ford did it. It was private enterprise, not government, that raised the living standards of the American worker to enviable heights.

Why do peoples of every other land want to emigrate to America? Are we the downtrodden, frustrated, exploited people?

Is our economic system obsolete, decrepit, broken-down and need of replacement by a glorious totalitarian state?

Andrew I. Vishinsky, soviet deputy foreign minister, said on May 15: "The soviet principle of justice is based on democratic dictatorship. A dictatorship can be democratic when it acts in the interest of the people."

In our opinion, the nation's present confusion, uncertainty and chaos are leading us down the road to another D-Day: "Democratic dictatorship."

There is still time to save our American liberty and freedom. "The price of liberty is eternal vigilance."

Troop Movements
Railroads moved nearly 43 million members of the armed forces in organized groups in the period from December, 1941, through August, 1945.

Henhouse of Adobe Brick
A Nebraska poultry man made a 20-40-foot henhouse, to house 150 chicks, out of adobe brick.

Power Source
One pound of U-235, source of atomic power, is equivalent to 11,400,000 kilowatt-hours of energy, which in turn is equivalent to about 1,500 tons of coal or 200,000 gallons of gasoline.

Tornadoes come in season in March, April and May. April is the month of bumper tornado crops. A later variety flourishes in May and, rarely, a few spring up in late August and September. The hot days of summer are not producers of the funnel cloud.

PRACTICAL FARM BUILDINGS

Poultry Laying House

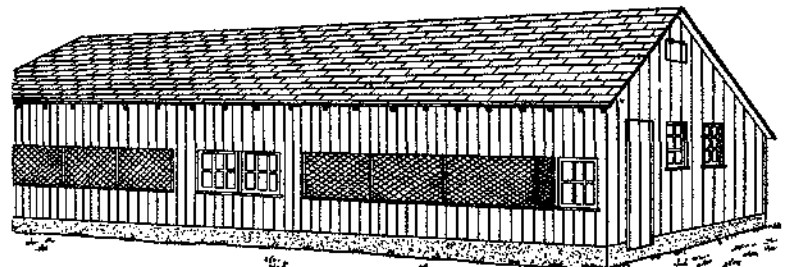

By W. J. Dryden, WNU Farm Editor.

The type of poultry house constructed on the farm should be determined upon the basis of economy in construction as well as adaptability to the use to which it will be put.

If eggs are to be produced for home consumption only, a portable type of colony laying house may be advisable. If eggs are to be produced for market, the continuous type, such as the Missouri house illustrated in this article, will prove excellent.

Regardless of the type of house, it must be economical to construct, have shown that the air under a single wooden floor must be maintained at an average of 7½ degrees warmer than the air of the house in order to produce dry litter.

Poultry can stand and need plenty of fresh air, but must be free from drafts. An open-front house with ventilators at the rear provides a sufficiency of ventilation and protection. The ventilators at the rear of the house, near the top, may be hinged at either top or bottom and open out. Drafts directly on the birds are conducive to roup and colds. A house that is poorly ventibe well insulated as protection against heat and cold, well ventilated and dry to insure the health of the hens, must be adequately lighted, can be operated with the minimum of labor and it must be easily cleaned. In most cases it is advisable to build in sections, to aid in separation of young pullets from old hens.

Plenty of floor space must be provided. White Leghorns and other light breeds should be provided with 3½ square feet per bird. For the heavy breeds, such as Rhode Island Reds, 4 square feet of floor space is necessary.

The importance of insulation should not be overlooked. Not only will proper insulation prevent excessive heat or cold, but will aid in control of dampness, which is usually caused by the condensation of moisture on the cold floor, wall or ceiling. The type of insulation will be largely determined by local costs.

The poultry house need not be elaborate or expensive, but to be economical and durable, it must be well constructed. Foundations and floors of concrete are durable, rat-proof, sanitary and easily cleaned. The size and depth of the foundation wall and footings will be determined on the size of building and soil conditions. In most cases, for a one story house, a foundation wall of 8 inches will be sufficient. The poultry house floor line should be about 10 inches above the outside grade line and should be four to five inches thick over a six to eight-inch sand and gravel or cinder fill.

may be considered. Whether the laying house be constructed of lumber, building blocks or concrete should be largely determined by price, considering durability.

The construction of proper nests, roosts and feed equipment should be well planned. This work can be done ahead, as rain and show day chores.

All equipment in the poultry laying house should be built off the floor, not only as an aid to cleaning, but as it will provide more floor space for the fowls. By raising the drinking fountains and food hoppers at least 18 inches from the floor, exercise is encouraged by forcing the birds to jump or fly up.

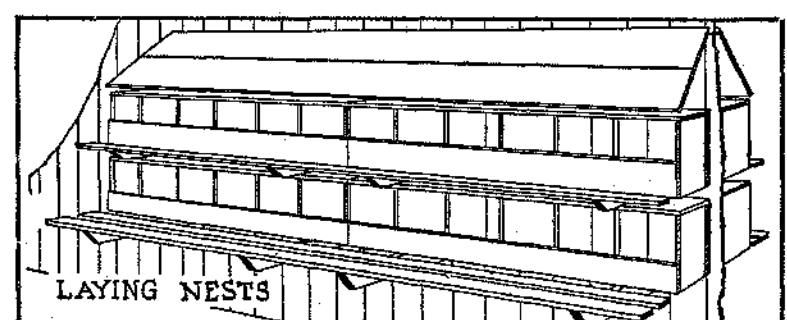

Whether or not dropping boards are provided will depend upon the

The importance of the roof must be considered. When composition types are used, provide matched roof sheathing. Use a good quality, and lay according to the manufacturer's specification. When wood shingles are used, common rough boards can be spaced 1½ inches apart.

In damp sections of the country it may be advisable to use under-floor heat. Experiments at Washington State Experiment station

MICHIGAN AND THE OLD NORTHWEST

By Luke Scheer. Edited by Milo M. Quaife.

In his plan for a colony in the west, Cadillac's vision followed La Salle's.

In 1696 Upper Lakes posts were evacuated; Cadillac went to Quebec.

Fearing Cadillac at Detroit would speed Indian ruin, Jesuits opposed him.

Cadillac went to France and asked for troops at Detroit, despite recent decree.

Jason Kitchin Thinks Michigan Best State for Home

The faces are 60 feet from forehead to chin and are very lifelike.

The greatest thrill of the trip so far was found in crossing the Big Horn Mountains. We climbed up the steepest grades where the roads are so narrow two cars can barely pass and you look up for hundreds of feet at their rock walls out of which your roadbed has been blasted and down more hundreds of feet without a rail of any kind at the side and one hair pin curve after another. The tops were snow covered and I left the car once, climbed up the bank at the side of the road a few feet and came back to the car with yellow, white and blue wild flowers in one hand and a snowball in the other.

The Yellowstone Park was beautiful and I've never seen anything more marvelous in color than the Shoshone Canyon as we traveled up its 50 miles from Cody to Sylvan Pass in the early morning with the sun coming up behind us. This last statement is true unless we make our exception when we mention the Yellowstone Canyon as viewed from Artist Point. The falls there are 352 ft. The canyon is 1,500 ft. wide and 750 ft. deep and its coloring is superb. I think we are beginning on the right side of our country to see its grandeur as I talked with some folks from California last night who were disappointed in the Yellowstone as the Rockies appear so much greater and the falls of the west are so much higher. We hope to know more about that before our trip ends.

Wife was very worried about the bears in the park but we saw only two, one black and one brown, and they appeared quite tame. They were on the highways stopping cars to get food and have their pictures taken. We drove about 80 miles in the park, saw Old Faithful erupt, viewed the lake and the hot springs and came out of the canyon of the Madison River to West Yellowstone and on up to Butte, Mont. Butte, a city of 37,000, mostly miners, is built on the side of the richest hill on earth, so they say, and it is a great sight to behold at night from the mountain on the other side of the valley as you approach it. It mines copper, silver, lead and gold. The smelters are at Anaconda, 25 miles away, where the tallest smokestack in the world has been built. We saw it from 10 miles away and it appeared to be no more than a mile.

Montana has a road system surpassed by none of the 10 states through which we passed, and in many of the towns it looked as though the schoolhouse was worth as much as all the rest of the town put together.

Tomorrow we expect to reach my relatives near Seattle and view some of Washington's fine farm and fruit lands.

We have found accommodations along the way very satisfactory. Tonight we have a large room with bed and davenport, private bathroom with shower, an oil burner in the room, a kitchenette with built-in cupboards, sink with drainboard, four-burner gas stove with oven, hot and cold water and refrigerator, all for the sum of $3.00. Prices have run from $2.50 to $4.50 per night.

The old Ford has ticked off 2,500 miles and our only trouble thus far has been with the generator when it apparently became wet in a heavy rain.

The good Lord has wonderfully cared for us along the way but we still think Michigan the best place to have a home.

Yours truly,
JASON KITCHIN.

Besides rescue measures, all students enrolled will gain a greater understanding of water's natural hazards. Knowing how to meet such conditions will add much to the pleasure, as well as to the safety factor in swimming. It is obvious that such training ultimately will help reduce the annual drowning rate of the county and state.

Three-quarter hour classes will be held every Monday through Saturday, 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, in the Cass City pool beginning Monday, July 15. All young folks nine years of age and older interested in enrollment in the free classes are urged to appear at the pool at 8:45 a. m. for registration.

Three-quarter hour classes will be held every Monday through Saturday from 1:15 to 2:45 p. m. at Murphy Park Beach at North Lake during the balance of July. Persons interested in these two classes are urged to be present Monday, July 15, for registration and class work.

Only one class per week will be held on Tuesday afternoons in Mr. Moore's private pool in Caro. This class will be limited to 30 boys, ages 9 to 12 inclusive, who cannot now swim. Boys interested in enrolling should do so at once at the Red Cross office in the court house.

Three advanced swimmers are desired to assist the Red Cross instructor as volunteers in this class.

American Red Cross certificates will be issued all persons completing the various classes.

Mr. Gallery further stated that "our board of directors greatly appreciates the cooperation being extended our chapter by the management of the Cass City pool and Murphy Park at North Lake, and by Mr. Moore of Caro.

83 Persons Killed by Farm Accidents in Michigan in 1945

Michigan farm accidents in 1945 accounted for 83 deaths, and numerous injuries which resulted in loss of many man-hours of work, according to Fred W. Roth, safety specialist at Michigan State College. Based on figures compiled by the Michigan Department of Health, Lansing, the 83 deaths in 1945 are, however, more than 15 percent under the average for the previous years.

July, August and September were the months in 1945 when deaths from agricultural accidents predominated, the report shows. The same is true over the five-year average. That, Roth believes, is a reason that Farm Safety Week, starting July 21, should tend to show rural people that while safety is important every day in the year, it is extremely important now.

These figures do not include deaths in homes, which account for a great many more deaths.

ASTOUNDING is the fact that accidents in manufacturing in Michigan killed only 68 persons in 1945 as compared to agriculture's 83 persons.

Tractors, machinery and vehicles account for most of the farm deaths—in fact 30 of the 83 last year came in this manner. Horses killed seven and cattle eight, while falls accounted for seven deaths. Forestry accidents killed nine in 1945.

In the home, most deaths were results of falls from steps, stairways, bathtubs and porch railings. Among children, most deaths come from burns.

Many Michigan agricultural organizations, utilities and commercial firms are cooperating with the annual Farm Safety Week campaign this year in an effort to inform farm people of the dangers lurking on the farm and in the farm home.

Drug From Buckwheat

Rutin, a drug effective in treatment of high blood pressure, is now being made from buckwheat, as a result of studies made at the department of agriculture eastern research laboratory. Estimated acreage needed to supply required amounts of the drug is 50,000 acres. For production of rutin, the buckwheat is harvested five weeks after the seed is sprouted instead of when the grain has ripened.

Panamanian Imports

Almost two-thirds of Panama's imports normally come from the United States, purchaser of the country's bananas, which make up two-thirds of the exports. Industry is limited largely to brewing, distilling and the production of evaporated milk, furniture, clothing, soap and candles.

Turkey Bruises

A turkey bruises easily, and must be handled carefully to prevent bruised or discolored spots. Whether you dress your turkey or buy it dressed, you don't want the skin torn. So if a tear does occur, be sure to sew it up before you roast the bird.

Carried Army

During World War II railroads handled more than 87 per cent of the army's organized troop movements and approximately 90 per cent of the army's freight.
