RESULT OF HASTE AND HURRY ON THE HIGHWAYS

This smashed and bloodstained car is typical visual evidence of the danger which lurks Michigan streets and highways when motorists are obsessed with "haste and hurry." Three persons were killed in this recent crash—just three more reasons why Automobile Club of Michigan is asking motorists and pedestrians to "Take it easy" over the Labor Day week end.

"Take It Easy" On State Highways And City Streets

Six Suggestions to Insure a Safe and Sane Motor Labor Day Holiday

Anticipating a surge of holiday traffic and accidents over the Labor Day week end, Automobile Club of Michigan today joined police and other safety agencies in a plea to "take it easy" on the state highways and city streets.

"Our record in the past ten years for the three or four days which usually comprise a Labor Day week end has not been an encouraging one," said Ernest P. Davis, Auto Club Safety and Traffic Director. "During this last big holiday week end for motorists, it is hoped that every effort will be made to take it easy while driving or walking."

Davis emphasized that more cars will be on the road this week end than any time since 1941 and that most of them are more than six years old.

He listed six suggestions to insure a safe and sane motor holiday:

1. "Take It Easy!" Don't weave in and out of traffic. Maintain a steady driving pace without excessive speed or racing spurts in traffic.
2. Don't drive on the wrong side of the road. Keep to the right, particularly on curves.
3. Don't pass on hills, curves or at street intersections.
4. Get an early start, going and coming, to avoid tension in crowded traffic. Rest when necessary to overcome fatigue.
5. Slow down at sundown; don't overdrive your headlights.
6. Watch for cars coming out of side roads, particularly after dusk; and obey all traffic signs calling for a "Full Stop."

At a meeting of the Tri-County Post, American Legion, held Tuesday evening, the society elected the following officers: Arthur Little, commander; Archie Mark, vice commander; Alex Tyo, adjutant; Joseph Clement, finance officer; Irving Parsch, sergeant-at-arms; Rev. Melvin Vender, chaplain; Philip Doerr, historian; and Earl Douglas, welfare officer.

Herbert Hartwick, only Spanish-American War veteran in Cass City, was given a life membership in the post.

The post treasury has been enriched by $66.00, a check presented to the organization as a share of the proceeds from the baseball game promoted by Jack Muntz.

The Tri-County Post will assist all veterans of World War II in filling out applications for terminal leave pay on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings, Sept. 4, 5 and 6, from seven to nine o'clock at Veterans' Hall over the Town Hall. Ernest L. Schwaderer was program chairman and introduced Frederick H. Pinney as luncheon speaker. Mr. Pinney outlined four articles which appeared in the August number of the Rotarian, the club magazine, which aptly illustrated the four objects of Rotary—the development of acquaintance, the advancement of vocational service, the application of the ideal of service to community life, and the advancement of international understanding and good will.

Michigan Field Bean Crop Still Big Question Mark

Michigan's 1946 field bean crop has been going through trying tests in recent weeks, but the answer to whether there will be a good, fair or poor harvest will come shortly. H. R. Pettigrove, field bean specialist in the department of farm crops at Michigan State College, suggests the bean farmer make plans for his harvest regardless.

There are several methods of handling beans at harvest time and Pettigrove says the farmer should decide which method he will use and make preparations now. There will be no time to decide when the harvest starts. The field stacking method is perhaps the surest way, but many growers feel it is a rather hard and tedious job. Some prefer to combine from a windrow and others bring them to the barn for threshing.

Prepare early after you decide the method you will use, Pettigrove says. If you plan to stack your beans in the field, be sure and get your posts and equipment ready. If you are going to combine from the windrows, be certain your combine is ready and available when you need it.

The dry weather may cause the bean crop in some areas to be very late. Pettigrove warns that if beans are late, they should not be allowed to get a hard frost while still growing in the field. Pulling and stacking bean plants before frost will result in a nice white bean, even though the pods may be green when pulled. If the beans are fully developed there will be no shrinking of the crop.

Farmers should give close attention to their bean crop for the unusual condition caused by the drought may produce problems that will require advice from the county agricultural agent, Pettigrove says.

4-H Club Girls' Exhibits Surpass Former Years

The 4-H Club girls' exhibits at the Tuscola County Fair this year surpassed in number and excellence the records of the past few years. One hundred and twenty-nine boys and girls exhibited over 650 jars of canned fruit and vegetables. Over one-third of the entries were in the blue ribbon class supporting the remarks of many who viewed the exhibits and remarking as to their excellent quality. In the food preparation section there were 68 entries in the muffin class; 27 in second year with cookie exhibits; 12 in cup cake class, and 14 in baking projects. All 4-H and F. F. A. exhibits were displayed in the vegetable hall and included flower and vegetable gardens, clothing, grains, etc. In the special Sears Roebuck and Kaufman canned contest, there were 675 different exhibits.

At the showing at the county fair, entries are selected for the state 4-H Club Show held at East Lansing September 3 and 4. Full Day School Sessions Start Here Wednesday

Entire Morning Will Be Devoted to Enrolling New and Former Students

Students in Cass City schools will return to their studies after the summer holidays on Wednesday, Sept. 4. Teachers will return on Sept. 3 for a general teachers' meeting at which last minute plans for the beginning of the school term will be made.

Full day sessions will be held beginning the first day. In the high school, all former students who completed their enrollment last spring, will report Wednesday morning to their regular home rooms to receive class schedules that have been prepared for them. In some cases, they will find that there are conflicts in the classes they have chosen and these should be cleared with the help of the home room teacher or principal. New students, who have not already enrolled, will find an information desk on the first floor where they may receive instructions and forms for enrollment, which will also be handled through the designated home rooms. The entire morning will be devoted to these activities. Beginning at one o'clock, the entire day's classes will meet, each for a half hour period.

Superintendent of Schools Campbell reminds rural students that buses on the first day will follow the same routes as last year. Necessary adjustments will be made later. All students wishing bus transportation are therefore asked to board the buses at some point along the routes as they were traveled at the end of the past school year.

A pre-school meeting of kindergarten pupils and their mothers, held last week, indicated over 60 to be enrolled in that department. Increases are expected in all the grades.

Mrs. Ivan MacRae has been secured to teach English and speech. She formerly held that position in the high school here. Charles Keen, who taught music in Cass City before entering the army and who was engaged to teach that subject the coming year, has sent in his resignation. He will be a music instructor in the Indiana University at Bloomington.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Gene Alleman

Three financial proposals, each having far-reaching consequences, are to be voted upon by Michigan citizens on November 5.

Two of them would amend the state constitution, while the third would authorize the spending of $270,000,000 in bonus payments to Michigan war veterans.

All three ballots, moreover, would affect the Michigan taxpayer—perhaps more than he anticipates. As we see it, a strong likelihood exists that the state legislature will be forced in 1947 to levy additional taxes, if the bonus proposal and the sales tax amendment are both approved at the November election.

One amendment to the state constitution would earmark one cent of the sales tax for schools and local governments.

One-half of this earmarked revenue would be divided among cities, townships and villages according to their population. The other one-half would be turned over to public schools which now receive $60,000,000 in state aid and would be divided according to the school's annual census of children 5 to 19.

This constitutional diversion of sales tax revenue, according to present conditions, would approximate from $37,000,000 to $43,000,000 a year. The figure used most often is $40,000,000.

State tax officials are said to be of the opinion that loss of $40,000,000 in state revenue would be disastrous and that additional taxes would be forced. They talk of an additional cent to the three-cent tax; revival of the state realty tax, such as the four mill property levy which prevailed prior to 1933; or a Concluded on page 7.

Orlando LeValley 98, of Caro, Attends GAR Encampment

Tuscola Civil War Veteran Is One of State's Four Remaining Soldiers of '65

Orlando LeValley, 98, of Caro, one of Michigan's four remaining veterans of the Civil War, was among the 11 members of the Grand Army of the Republic to attend the 80th national encampment at Indianapolis, Indiana, this week. Memorial services for their 300,000 comrades opened the encampment Sunday. The 11 men voted to meet again next year for the 81st convention.

Orlando LeValley was born in Marathon Township, Lapeer County, Sept. 19, 1848. He was too young for service at the outbreak of the war in 1861, but less than a month after he reached the age of 16 he enlisted. He took part in the battles of Nashville and Franklin under General Thomas. His regiment was then sent to North Carolina to take part in the last engagements of the war. He was discharged at Raleigh, N. C., in December, 1865.

At Vassar on Oct. 3, 1873, Mr. LeValley was united in marriage with Hannah J. Titus and in 1876 they moved to a farm on the Gilford Road west of Caro. Mrs. LeValley died in 1918.

Rev. Melvin R. Vender Attends Chautauqua and Writes of Its Cultural Inspiration

14 Columbia Lodge, Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 20. Dear Herb and Cass City Friends: This medium of greeting may be of more interest and reach a larger number, and with more information than a postal card convey, and certainly is a saver of time and expense at three and one-half cents per, if we were to send a couple of hundred cards to all parishioners and friends as we would like. A preacher, unfortunately has to think about the latter at least. Hence your generous space is appreciated, for any or as much of this communication as you, Herb, care to publish.

Aside from implied reasons, my primary motive is to say hello to many friends and to give you a glimpse or close-up of our vacation experiences here at Chautauqua. Chautauqua Institution is an incorporated body with trustees and officers and an executive director. The institution was organized 73 years ago, with annual summer programs. Chautauqua is situated about 18 miles from Jamestown, N. Y., on the beautiful Lake Chautauqua, an Indian name. The campus is some 1200 to 1600 feet above sea level and hence several degrees cooler during hot days. On several days and evenings we really wished for warmer weather, however.

I think it is a fact that nowhere in America can one find more concentrated and extensive cultural opportunities during the season—June 30 to August 26. About 4,000 people I am told live here the year around, with an added average vacation population of 10,000. You get some estimate of the enrollment here when one learns that the amphitheater seats 7,000 people and is filled a couple of times. Concluded on page 8.

Subscription Rate Change

Due to increases in publishing costs, the Chronicle announces at this time an advance in subscription rates of 50 cents a year.

After August 31, 1946, the following rates will be charged:

In Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties, $2.00 a year. Elsewhere in the United States, $2.50 a year.

Subscriptions will be accepted at the old rates until September 1, 1946.

Hart sang "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride was attired in a sky blue suit and wore a headdress of artificial orange blossoms and a corsage of white rosebuds. The bride's attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Victor Goncharoff, of Grant as matron of honor and Miss Leona Laslo of Filion. Mrs. Goncharoff wore a fuchsia silk dress, orange blossom headdress and a corsage of white rosebuds. Miss Laslo also had a headdress of orange blossoms. Her corsage was of white rosebuds.

The groom was attended by his nephew, Kenneth McAlpine, and brother, Norris E. Mellendorf of Port Huron, as best men.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at six o'clock at the home of the bride's parents at Filion. Around 200 relatives and friends attended. Oak Bluff Breezes

The past week has been the coolest of the entire season, ideal for the fisherman, but not what the resorters want and expects in August. Nights have been chilly and autumn seems just around the corner. Wild ducks are flying and at dusk we notice the blackbirds forming in flocks for their southern flight. Martins have already gone, squirrels are busy gathering material for their winter abode and we are awakened by the falling of acorns on the roofs, partly caused by the feeding of the grey or fox squirrels of which we have a good many. Speaking of squirrels, what is more graceful than a full-tailed grey squirrel making his swift way among the upper branches of the oaks and pines? Each move is a ripple of sleek agility. He knows where he wants to go and how to get there swiftly. His balance is perfection. He can husk a nut or extract its kernel with the finished skill of an artist and his nimble forepaws are as agile as any craftsman's hands. Unlike the red squirrel who is a rascal, a robber, and an all round scoundrel, "Long John Silver," the silver squirrel, common to most eastern and central woodlands and many well shaded cities, is a friendly fellow whose friendship is worth cultivating. In his thrifty providence, he plants hundreds of acorns and other nuts every fall from which many mighty oaks grow. He asks little excepting protection from cats and predatory animals and unscrupulous hunters. He is a good citizen, a well mannered neighbor and right now he is one of the delightful sights at Oak Bluff and any other woodland section. Be good to him.

Last Wednesday we were able to see a rather unusual sight on Saginaw Bay. A water spout appeared off the Charity Islands during a rain squall and after traveling past Little Charity soon disappeared. It appeared like a small sized tornado with the elongated funnel shaped cloud extending to within a short distance of the water, where a vast and dense cloud of vapor and mist seemed to be drawn upward. An interesting sight but we prefer to see these at a ten mile distance rather than have a "ring side seat."

Unbecoming Modesty
Maidenly modesty meant a dirty face in 16th century Spain, according to a letter written by a highly-placed woman to her daughter. "It is permissible to wash your face once, or even twice a week, my dear daughter, but to wash more often than once in four days would be to expose yourself to the evil tongue of the malicious," the mother concluded.

Slows Heat Flow
Insulation makes buildings more comfortable by slowing the flow of heat through walls, making the building warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

Wool Trade
In the prewar years, the total international trade in wool was around 2 billion pounds a year, with the usual carryover only around 200 million pounds.

Poultry Range
Good range for poultry will reduce disease and parasite troubles, will also reduce feed costs and, in most instances, will grow stronger, healthier pullets.

Splashing Paint
When painting a window or picture frame, rub soap around the edge of the glass, then, any paint that splashes onto the glass can be easily removed with a soft cloth.

Tomato Dressing
A dressing for tomatoes, equal to any, is made by merely sieving well ripened avocado and seasoning with lemon juice and garlic salt. This will reduce the pressure on hard to get salad oil, ordinarily used for dressings.

Saving Vitamins
A rule for saving vitamins is never to peel vegetables that can be cooked with jackets on.

New Jar

A new glass jar with a flexible snap-on cap is now being used for five popular brands of coffee. The jar, which can be easily opened with a tablespoon and can be resealed air-tight with the palm of the hand, holds a high vacuum to protect coffee from the air. The jar itself is shorter, lighter and stronger than the standard coffee jar and its metal cap is removed by prying with the bowl of a tablespoon. Even though it may be bent in opening, it snaps back into place when pressed back on. A rubber gasket in the cap forms the seal against the neck of the jar.

What does it take to run a baby?

Plenty—and plenty of electricity, too. A hungry young citizen needs food—lots of it—often. That food needs preparation—refrigeration—reheating.

Baby needs hot water—lots of it—often.
So does his wardrobe. And because Mother worries about germs, she boils practically everything but Baby himself.

Clocks must be dependable when there's a baby in the house. Lights must go on—quick—when he cries out in his sleep.
Rooms must be kept warm—the list is endless.

Today's mothers are luckier than those of 20 years ago.
With electricity ready at all times—in any quantity—to help with the household chores, mothers have more time to enjoy their youngsters.
Never before has electricity done so many tasks for so little cost. Actually, the average family today gets twice as much electricity for its money as it did 20 years ago.
Your friends and neighbors in this company—and your own increased usage—helped make that possible.

Hearing Loss
In a survey of hearing embracing more than one million school children in New York City, it was found that 10 per cent had a hearing loss of 9 decibels or more in one or both ears. About 3 per cent had a hearing loss of 15 decibels. (The normal hearing range is 125 decibels.)

Sound Chimneys
Make sure chimneys are soundly constructed of fire-safe material, with a strong masonry foundation resting on the ground and not on timbers. Thoroughly clean and repair chimneys, stoves and furnaces each fall and make the heating equipment free of fire hazards.

Farms For Sale AND More Farms Wanted!

We are putting on a bigger and better advertising campaign the next few weeks for farm buyers from the city while crops still show up. We have a fair list of farms for sale but not enough listings.

The boys in the city are getting pretty sick of strikes and lay-offs and many are thinking about buying a farm. Buyers are plentiful right now.

List your farm now—we are selling lots of them. You can reserve this year's crop and move late this fall or next spring. Now is the time to list yours.

40 acres to 120 acres with good land and buildings in good condition are the most in demand. Cooperate with us. List and let us put up a for sale sign. Hunting season will soon be here and thousands of hunters will be in this county to see them. We will do a good job for you. Act at once.

Codling Moth May Be Controlled by DDT

Drawbacks Present in Application to Apples

By W. J. DRYDEN

By far the most effective material tried against codling moth is DDT, according to Prof. S. W. Harman of Geneva experiment station. These findings were backed up as more effective than arsenate of lead.

Present drawback seems to be that in some cases rather severe infestation of red spider in the apple orchards follow the application of DDT. When DN-111 is used to control red spider, damage to foliage results. New York found that the destruction of the natural enemies of the European red mite by the DDT spray, resulted in increased numbers of that pest. Further tests are under way and care is advocated in spraying for codling moth until more information is available. Where heavy spraying with lead arsenate has not controlled codling moth, growers are justified in adopting a DDT program.

Know Your Breed

Swiss Jura

By W. J. DRYDEN

This photo shows a Swiss Jura stallion going through its paces at a Bernese Jura, Switzerland, fair. The breed has proven its worth in many respects, having proper temperament, strength and resistance to disease.

The Jura horse is of exceptionally strong build, is tame and docile, the stallions may even be used for all types of farm work. The breed offers excellent possibilities for certain sections of America.

Protected Water Pail

Drinking fountain protector made from electric welded wires, permits poultry putting their heads through to drink, but keeps their feet out. Maryland station has found this device, an aid in reducing disease and still providing a fresh water supply for the chickens.

Wire Catching Hook

This poultry catching hook is made from heavy wire, of any length suitable to the user. In most cases a four-foot hook will be most desirable, although if the roosts and dropping boards are deeper, 5, 6 or even 8 feet may be advisable.

Litter Pigs May Need Iron to Cure Anaemia

When litter pigs show anaemia they may be treated by being given small doses of iron in the form of reduced iron or sulphate of iron. By placing a quantity about the size of an aspirin tablet, back of the pig's tongue, when the pigs are a few days old and repeated in about a week, improvement will usually be found, according to Stanley Curtis of Nova Scotia agricultural department.

Cement Raised Pigs Show Excellent Gain

It is possible to raise pigs profitably on concrete according to findings of a Minnesota experiment. Pigs kept continually on concrete after they were 10 weeks old, and during 105 days of fattening, gained exactly as much as pigs fattened on pasture. Feed consumption was about the same, the pastured pigs eating more corn but less mineral and protein. Disease control was easier with concrete raised pigs.

Made First Lacquer
In China, back in the Shang dynasty, 1800 B. C., over 3,000 years ago, the Chinese were making protective and decorative coatings with various materials. Lacquer in China, up to modern times, seems to have been a Chinese specialty, but it was a crude product compared with the nitrocellulose lacquers and synthetic resin varnishes developed by modern chemists.

Read Label
One of the important things in buying is to "look for the label" and read carefully every word written thereon. Many food manufacturers are now actively at work on a campaign of descriptive labeling. These descriptive labels identify products in detail for the consumer. They tell her what the ingredients are and what special qualities are offered — it's all there in black and white. The important thing is that we read this information and use it.

White Wash

Ever since you saw Lana Turner's sizzling white wardrobe in "The Postman Always Rings Twice" you've been going around like a sleigh ride in July. And nothing could be more swoonsome with your coat of tan. After all, what's Lana got that you haven't got? Sorry, we can't give you the answer in this limited space.

Gild the Lily—Make yourself a pure white cotton dirndl. Wear it with a white off-shoulder peasant blouse. Cinch your waistline with a gold kid belt. Add a few bulky fake gold bracelets and you're all that glitters.

White Heat—Top your white shorts with a white T shirt, swim in an all-white midriff suit with side lacings; wrap yourself in a short white terry cloth beach coat. This summer, if it's White, it's Right.

High Lights—Even your accessories have gone White. You're piling white flowers in your hair; you're fastening your up-do with white combs and "stick" barrettes; your ballet slippers are as White as they're Light.

Flicker Fashions—You're even knitting yourself fuzzy white angora "bra" tops, like the one Ginger Rogers wore in "Heartbeat." Groove as a movie—but finitely!

Play the Game.

It's a new one and it's called "Stinky Pinky." We haven't time to describe it in detail, so let's just start to play. If you don't get the drift, we'll show again.

We ask, "What is a capable fur?" You answer, "Able Sable." (See, it has to rhyme!)

We ask, "What is an experienced vegetable?" You answer (if you're as smart as we think you are)—"A green bean."

We ask, "What is Sad Footwear?" You answer (if you're not tired of the whole thing)—"Blue Shoes."

When you think of some other Stinky Pinkies please let us know.

new form of taxation. It is a cinch that none of the three proposals will be popular with the taxpayers who are too often inclined to demand more and more state services but balk like a Missouri mule to any suggestion that extra taxes are needed to pay for them.

Here's a "catch" in the sales tax amendment. It is little understood.

Public schools would get 16 1/2 percent of the tax revenue in addition to their 43 1/2 percent share, as received during the 1945-46 fiscal year. Or in other words, public schools would get nearly 60 percent of the sales tax dollar. This right would be frozen into the state constitution. The state legislature wouldn't have a thing to say about it!

What about the state's obligations for welfare, highways, colleges, prisons and other public service needs?

That's where the new tax enters the picture. State experts insist there is no choice.

The Michigan Real Estate Association, which serves 1,600 affiliated brokers, is hostile to the idea of a revival of the state property tax, but is favoring the sales tax diversion for local governments. The latter would take some of the pressure off the local taxpayer, officials feel. A number of towns have held special elections to remove the 15-mill tax limitation or to impose extra taxes on property owners for purpose of schools. For example, Monroe will vote Sept. 23 on whether to increase its 15-mill limitation by five mills for five years.

The Michigan Education Association recently withdrew, temporarily at least, its opposition to the sales tax amendment. Opposing the amendment are the Michigan State Farm Bureau and the Michigan State Grange, representing rural interests.

Another amendment, Number One on the November ballot, would permit public expenditures on public airports. The attorney general's office has held that the constitution does not permit public disbursement for an internal improvement of this type.

The amendment would remove this barrier. It would open the way to matching of local funds by the federal government.

We have not heard of any organized opposition to the proposal. In fact, there is strong sentiment in favor of it.

The other financial proposal is the veterans' bonus of $270,000,000, as submitted by the state legislature.

In putting this proposal before the voters on Nov. 5, the legislature sidestepped the question entirely of how the bonus is to be financed.

State Senator Don VanderWerp of Fremont, chairman of the senate finance committee, believes that the public will be misled into the belief that a bonus of this size can be financed out of a "vast surplus" existing from sales tax receipts. Here is how VanderWerp explains it:

"As a matter of fact there is no sales tax surplus and we do not anticipate that there will be one. While the sales tax receipts have reached an all-time high, so have the state's expenses. As is true with individuals, the state is paying more for everything it buys. The cost of personnel service (wages) has also soared to new highs and with between 16,000 and 17,000 people on the state payroll this is no small element in the increased expenses.

"Another important element to be considered is the fact that all the state institutions have a backlog of equipment replacements and unfilled personnel posts that will total approximately $50,000,000. Because of war conditions the state was unable to meet the demands for replacements and personnel requirements during the past four years as neither materials, equipment nor personnel were available. This backlog of needs must be met as soon as possible and the requests will be laid before the budget department and the finance committees of the next legislature. They must be granted if the state institutions are to function properly."

It is VanderWerp's conclusion that Michigan voters, in casting a vote for the bonus proposal, may be voting a tax on themselves—"a tax on yourself you did not expect."

The same conclusion might be made, as we see it, for the freezing of 60 percent of the sales tax for the public schools, plus 16 1/2 percent for local governments.

Storm Sash

Storm sash increase the life of heating equipment, reducing the load by 20 per cent by actual test, when all windows are equipped with storm sash. Long periods of high-intensity firing are reduced and life of equipment prolonged. Another talking point for storm sash that appeals to economy-minded homeowners is the fuel saving that results. Per cent of savings vary with the climate and area of glass, but tests indicate fuel savings of 20 per cent when all windows are fitted with storm sash.

Noah Pitched Ark

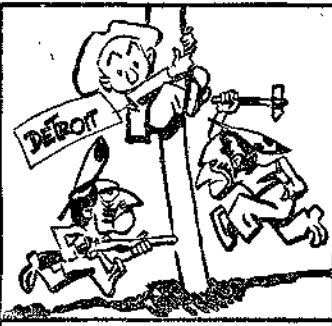

Noah's necessity to keep his ark from leaking caused him to be the first user of ship's bottom coating—which today is a highly specialized product ranging from special toxic preparations to defeat barnacles to coatings made from closely-guarded formulas and sprayed hot upon the bottoms of ships with special spraying equipment. It is recorded that Noah "pitched his ark within and without," a job which evidently held good until his craft came to rest upon Mount Ararat.

Removing Crimp from Wool

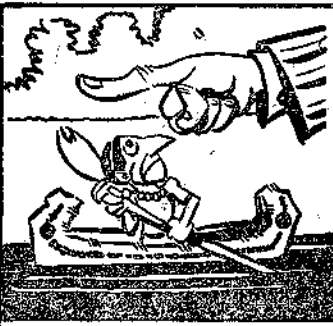

Try this method of removing the crimp from wool that has been used before. Wind it round and round an aluminum hot water bottle, then fill the bottle with almost boiling water and leave for two or three hours. The wool will become as straight as new and quite ready for use. This method is much quicker than the old way of winding into skeins to wash, dry and then wind into balls again.

MICHIGAN AND THE OLD NORTHWEST

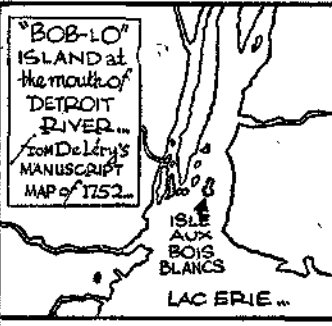

By Luke Scheer. Edited by Milo M. Quaife.

In 1738 Detroit's peace was imperiled by a feud between Huron and Ottawa.

To prevent strife the Huron were induced to remove to the Sandusky in Ohio.

In 1742 they came back to Bois Blanc, where Jesuits built a mission.

In 1747 they moved upriver to Sandusky, under eye of the garrison.

REV. M. R. VENDER ATTENDS CHAUTAUQUA

or more daily, depending upon the attraction. The institution provides a varied program with classes, lectures, programs, concerts, plays, etc., starting at 8:00 a. m. daily with parallel classes and programs from which to choose, if wanted, and continuing throughout the day, climaxing in evening attractions at 8:30. Symphony concerts, with grand opera soloists of one kind or another, from Philadelphia or New York or Cleveland, with Franco Autori as conductor, or lectures, choir, etc., while at the same hour other programs, movies at Higgins Hall, or plays and operas at Norton Hall.

The University of Columbia has summer courses here with a wide variety from which to select. There is a large choral society here which helps in the Sunday programs. They rendered the Messiah last Sunday evening.

As to sports there is fishing, boating, swimming, golf and recreation for old and young. Chautauqua affords a great opportunity therefore of combining vacation with a varied cultural inspiration and leadership training.

People are here from practically every state in the union; some have been attending regularly for many, many years. Like at Mackinac, autos are not allowed on the grounds except driving in for an hour to unload at your hotel, apartment, rooming house, or cottage. Parking space is provided at special quarters close by.

Those who own their own cottages or who are permanent residents are allowed to keep their autos on the grounds, but may not drive about during programs or in restricted areas.

The following items of entertainment have been included in our schedule. (We were unable to get tickets for the opera, "Madame Butterfly," and certain plays). We saw the play, "Ten Little Indians" by Agatha Christie, by the Chautauqua Repertory Theatre Players one evening, and a movie on another evening; concerts by the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra with Franco Autori, conductor. The musicians come from large city symphonies for the summer season.

Soloists we have heard include: James Friskin, pianist; Ruth Freeman, flutist; Clifford Harvoot, baritone; Arne McKnight, soprano; and will hear others during the ensuing days.

Among speakers we have heard, and some of them we have met, are Dr. T. Z. Koo of China; Dr. Constance Dass of India; Mrs. Tamaki Uemura of Japan. Other renowned speakers we have heard lecture are Congressman Walter H. Judd from Minnesota, James Lincoln on "Industrial Incentives," Bishop S. K. Mondol of India, and others.

A ministers' conference and other paralleling conferences are going on from week to week.

We are privileged to be here, not without some planning or forethought, however, for the Institute of World Missions which climaxes the Chautauqua season, with many outstanding national and world leaders. We met a number of them at a reception last evening at the Athenaeum Hotel, an event I usually prefer to dodge, but with such an opportunity to meet and chat with Dr. Koo and such distinguished persons we could not pass it by.

Having been privileged to receive such a rich experience we will count it a joy and responsibility to share with other groups as opportunity or invitation afford.

It is dinner time and we are always hungry here; the air I guess is stimulating even to one's appetite.

Tomorrow we go to Jamestown to do some shopping and to attend Rotary.

Sunday morning I am scheduled to preach as a vacation guest preacher at the First Presbyterian Church of Olean, N. Y. We will be wending our way home early in the week, making a few calls en route, and will be home to preach in my own pulpit on Sunday, Sept. 1.

With all good wishes in which my wife joins, I am

Sincerely yours,

MELVIN R. VENDER.

Late Cutting of Alfalfa Weakens the Plant for Winter

Farmers who allow the cutting of the second hay crop of the year to extend beyond the last week of August are jeopardizing the stand of the legume, warns Dr. S. T. Dexter, farm crops specialist at Michigan State College.

Because of the dry weather, alfalfa has grown very little since the first cutting. For that reason some farmers hope to get a better yield by allowing the hay to grow as long as possible before mowing. But Dr. Dexter advises that the alfalfa plant needs five or six weeks growing time after cutting to get back into proper condition for wintering.

Some farmers found the second crop so short they decided to use it to replace drying pastures and turned dairy cows into the hayfields. In such cases, the fields should be given a chance to "rest" and the new growth allowed to progress to a point where it will withstand the cold of winter. The alfalfa specialist says the ability of alfalfa to stand freezing depends upon the amount of food stored up in the roots. After frost, it cannot manufacture more food, so if the plants are not sufficiently strong, winter killing may result.

Pasturing or cutting of alfalfa hay during September is dangerous, but Dr. Dexter advises a limited amount of pasturing later on in the fall may not do harm, especially if the plants have had adequate time to store food into the roots before frost.
