

Deford Girls Won First Place at the State 4-H Show

Betty Jean Bruce and Shirley Wells in Food Preparation Exhibit

The food preparation demonstration team of Tuscola County, consisting of Betty Jean Bruce and Shirley Wells, of Deford, won first place at the State 4-H Show at East Lansing September 8. "Good Cooking Practices" was the title of the demonstration which placed first over entries of eight other counties. Betty Jean Bruce, Deford, also was entered in the canning judging contest and placed among the ten highest. She was selected as one of the three highest at a district judging contest held at Lapeer, August 14, and thus earned a trip to the State 4-H Show with all expenses paid.

Demonstrations and judging contests are another activity carried on by 4-H members in addition to regular projects.

In addition to these two events, the county had exhibits in canning, food preparation and clothing. County exhibitors won awards as follows: First year canning, first place; second year canning, second place; third year canning, second place; and individual vegetable exhibit, first place.

School Enrollment Here Is 60 More Than Last Year

Kindergarten Dept. Has Greatest Increase, 30 More Tots than in 1945

The enrollment in the Cass City schools shows approximately 60 more pupils than last year. The total enrollment early this week was 853. Of this number 804 are in the senior high school, 128 in junior high, and 421 in the grades. The kindergarten department has the greatest increase in numbers, there being 30 more tots enrolled than a year ago.

The vacancy in the position of agricultural teacher caused by the resignation of Harold Perry, who has taken over the management of Dr. H. T. Donahue's farm here, is filled by Edwin Baur, who left that position a few years ago to enter the Army. Mr. Baur was recently discharged from the Service.

Mrs. Helen S. Stevens, R. N., of Detroit, who purchased the Hutchinson Convalescent Home here, will serve as school nurse.

Two Service Men Buy Goff Restaurant

Chas. Goff has sold his restaurant business and fixtures here to Bronislav A. Calka of Mt. Clemens and Richard R. Pregizer of Detroit and has leased the building to them. The new firm took over the property Friday.

The two young men were recently discharged from the Service. Mr. Calka from the Navy in March and Mr. Pregizer from the Army in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Goff have purchased property at Port Austin Heights, 2 1/2 miles west of Port Austin, on the Scenic Highway, and have moved there.

Funeral of Pioneer Dentist Held Here Tuesday Afternoon

Dr. I. A. Fritz Practiced His Profession in Cass City Since Mar. 16, 1883

Funeral services for Dr. I. A. Fritz, pioneer dentist, were conducted in the Methodist Church here Tuesday afternoon by Rev. John Safran, the pastor, and Rev. Charles Bayless of Detroit, a former pastor at Cass City. The body was brought from the Douglas Funeral Home to the church at noon Tuesday to lie in state until the funeral hour at two o'clock. Members of Tyler Lodge, F. & A. M., conducted the Masonic burial rites at Elkland Cemetery under the leadership of Edward Golding, secretary of the lodge.

Dr. Fritz's death occurred at Morris Hospital Friday night where he had been a patient since the previous Monday when he suffered a stroke.

Dr. Fritz was born Mar. 16,

Dr. I. A. Fritz.

1861, in Cole's Creek, Pa., and was graduated from the Chicago School of Dentistry. He started the practice of his profession in Cass City on his 22nd birthday on Mar. 16, 1883. The older merchants now doing business on Main St. were then "kids in knee pants" or

Two Kerchers, Two Generations Apart, Are Unusually Proficient in Their Endeavors

John H. Kercher.

Two Kerchers, great grandfather and great grandson, break into the news columns this week because of two extremes in activity—one by his early entry into musical accomplishments and the other by his continued desire to keep busy at his trade and useful in his vocation after passing his 86th milestone.

Charles, Jr., 15 years of age, recently joined the musicians' union and became a member of the Eddy Band of Saginaw. He plays flute in that excellent organization and for several months has played the same instrument in the Elks' Band in Bay City. Before making his

Red Dane Cattle Ass'n Formed Here Friday Night

Twenty-four Dairy Men in Cass City Area Are Members of Society

Twenty-four dairy men in the Cass City area joined together to form the first Red Dane Cattle Breeding Association in Tuscola County and one of the few such organizations in America. The organization was completed at a meeting held in the Cass City High School Friday night, Sept. 6, when E. G. Golding of Cass City was elected president. Harold Clark, secretary of the National Red Dane Breeders' Association, and other Sanilac Red Dane breeders assisted.

The herds of these 24 members who have enrolled over 300 cows will receive breeding service from Red Dane sires through the cooperation of the Michigan Artificial Breeders, Cooperative, Inc., at East Lansing.

Each herd in the association will be under official D. H. I. A. test so that production records will be kept on all cows. Members have agreed to dispose of all bull calves for meat purposes for at least the

4-H'ers Exhibited 83 Dairy Cattle at the County Fair

Eighty-three head of dairy cattle, 38 head of beef cattle, 48 head of sheep, 13 hogs, 7 ponies, 17 rabbits, 148 regular 4-H garden baskets and 23 Sears garden baskets were exhibited by 4-H club members at the Tuscola County Fair. Other exhibits included canning, clothing and food preparation, crops, flower garden, handicraft, conservation, achievement booths, and dairy production record contest.

Grand champion 4-H Holstein was a two-year-old, shown by Allen Rohlf, of Fairgrove. Allen also had senior and junior champion Holstein.

Jack Andrus, Reese, with his two-year-old cow, was grand champion of all dairy breeds.

Champion beef steer was shown by Don Karr of Cass City; reserve champion by A. J. Murray, Cass City. First place "scramble" steer by Leon Eskelson, Vassar.

In the dairy showmanship contest, first place was Allen Rohlf, Fairgrove; second, Jack DeSimpele, Unionville; third, Wendall Honsinger, Vassar; fourth, James Honsinger, Vassar and fifth, Frank McMullen, Mayville.

In the beef showmanship, A. J. Murray of Cass City, first; Don Karr, Cass City, second; and Leon Eskelson, Vassar, third.

In the sheep division, champion ewe was shown by Keith Hade-way of Fairgrove. Reserve champion by Janis Black, Akron. Champion ram was shown by Philip Ezakovich, Caro; reserve champion by Roy Trisch of Caro.

Phyllis Gordon, Caro, was champion horseman in the 4-H

One of Michigan's Greatest Natural Disasters Sept. 5 Was Anniversary of Forest Fire of '81

September 5 was the anniversary of one of Michigan's greatest natural disasters, the forest fire of 1881, in which the American Red Cross, for the first time since its organization, took part in disaster relief.

The fire destroyed the property of 8,231 families in Sanilac, Huron, St. Clair, and Tuscola Counties; a total of 1,531 homes and 1,480 barns was consumed in the fire.

The "Thumb" area had been suffering from the effects of a drought. In those days it was customary for farmers and others to burn off brush and rubbish each fall. Several such fires were burning on September 5 when a fierce wind roared up from the southwest, caught the small brush fires and hurled them tree-top high, making pillars of fire out of the forest giants.

The conflagration raged for three days and the suffering of the Thumb's residents was appalling. When the fire had burned itself out, devastation was everywhere. The courthouse was the only building left standing in Bad Axe. Other villages suffered nearly as bad.

The American Red Cross was in the process of being organized in the eastern part of the States.

Home Looked Best of Any Place Writes Jason Kitchin After Long Journey Through West

Dear Mr. Lenzner:

Numbers have said to me since reaching home that they had enjoyed reading of our travels and have asked for a concluding number.

Our last letter left us at Laguna Beach. We spent two nights with our niece and one at a state park on the beach. We visited the old Spanish mission, El Capistrano, which was built in 1776. Here are found many relics of the early settlement days and articles used in the religious services. Hundreds of white pigeons greet your entrance, lighting on heads and shoulders to be fed. To this mission the swallows come on the same day each year each spring and depart as regularly in the fall.

On our way back to Los Angeles we had dinner at Knott's berry farm. Mr. and Mrs. Knott began raising Boysenberries on a rented farm in the 1920's. They began selling berries from a roadside stand. In 1934 they were selling berry pie and sandwiches. Today they and their family of one son and three daughters own many acres of land, have a restaurant which seats 887 at once. They serve chicken or ham dinners at $1.25 a plate to as many as 7,000 on holidays and an average over 2,000 on week days. Other thousands come to visit the art shop, the flower shop, the market and ghost town which is a collection of early buildings including the jail, post office, bar, justice court, photograph gallery and many others. It is a miniature Greenfield Village with more fun packed in it. The two most interesting features are the little chapel where a luminous life-size figure of Christ is revealed and the cyclorama of a covered wagon train traveling west which honors Mr. Knott's

MEN

BEING HIRED NOW

For This Year's Sugar Processing Campaign

Starting around the end of this month, our plant will begin the vital job of processing this year's sugar beet crop into much needed sugar.

The men we are now employing for the campaign will perform a vital service to their country in this trying period—and at the same time earn good pay.

Every sign points to a continuation of the sugar shortage for months to come. And Michigan's sugar is desperately needed here and in other states.

It doesn't matter whether you have worked in a sugar plant before or not. It doesn't matter whether you are a man or a boy. If you are of employment age, chances are we can give you a job.

Working steadily through the campaign of 75 to 100 days, you can make a tidy sum to swell your yearly income.

mother, the last survivor of that train. Accompanied by Clair and Ray Summer, we drove out to Nuevo (about 70 miles) where we had dinner with the Roy Mudgetts. We were glad to see them so nicely located in this fertile valley. Also attended our own church services at this place one Sunday evening.

We visited the Griffith planetarium where an ingenious invention depicts on the dome of the building the movement or position of the moon, stars and planets at any time past, present or future. Many other displays of great interest to the student of geology or astronomy are found here.

We went to Forest Lawn Memorial Park where we saw the most famous stained glass window in America. It reveals the last supper and was a work requiring years to complete by one of Italy's best stained glass artists. We also visited the Wee Kirk of the Heather and the Church of the Reconciliation in the park. Many famous pieces of statuary are found here as well as Aimee Semple McPherson's grave, the marker on which is as showy as some of her services were.

We were taken to Clifton's restaurant where we had a turkey dinner. The place is constructed in the Hawaiian style and food, service and sacred music are all the best. No one is turned away and the poor man may eat though he does not possess the price. The garden of meditation in the basement carries you back to the days of Christ and His sufferings in the Garden of Gethsemane.

Two days were spent in Redlands with another niece and nephew. They took us up to Big Beaver and Arrowhead Lakes. Here only an hour or two removed from the scorching valley below to the cool breezes of the pine clad mountain tops, you quickly feel refreshed. On the way back we passed through a toll gate and were misdirected or missed our road and got on a real mountain trail which led us down on the opposite side of the mountains into a desert. It took us some miles out of the way but showed us very clearly the contrast between the leeward and windward slopes of the mountains. We also saw some cowboys roping cattle.

While in Redlands we visited Lew Patch, a brother of Mrs. Chas. Severance. He was pleased to see someone from Michigan.

We called on the Pearl Hardings in Brea one evening. She was a girlhood friend of my wife. He was a former member of the Rexall druggists' association in the Thumb and inquired particularly about Louis Wood.

Time slipped quickly by and the school term was approaching so on Aug. 14 we prepared to leave for home. When we left Michigan we said this would be our one and only trip west but we left plenty behind and unseen to call for another some time.

Leaving Los Angeles at 5:30 p. m., we crossed most of the desert in the night. It was a beautiful moonlight night. The hot air even then which came from those parched plains convinced us we had done the right thing in crossing at night. We crossed the Colorado at 2:00 a. m., stopping for a few minutes to throw pebbles into its muddy depths. That morning at 5:53 a. m., the sun rose and in the next 15 minutes had set and risen again eight more times and also had gained an hour. It was 7:08 instead of 6:08 because we had crossed from Pacific to Mountain time. A half hour later it set and rose three more times. Mountains and valleys were the cause of course.

At about eleven o'clock we reached the Grand Canyon. We rented a cabin, rested a little while and toured the western end of the park. In the evening we attended a lecture where one of the Kolb brothers showed still and moving pictures of their trips down the Colorado River. They had thrills that I am not anxious to experience. One million tons of sediment is swept down the gorge each day and it is estimated that the great Boulder Dam reservoir or lake which is 150 miles long will be filled in 100 years. From the rim of the canyon the river looks like a chocolate pudding slowly tumbling along. The next morning we took in the vantage points in the eastern end of the park. The two highlights of this forenoon were watching the formation and descent of a train of pack mules into the canyon and the marvelous views of the gorgeous colors of the canyon formations and the painted desert to the east. These are best seen in the great dark mirrors in Desert View House.

We traveled on for 90 miles in Arizona before we saw a sign of anything growing for man to eat. This was a two or three acre patch of corn. Then crossing a mountain ridge we came to a little valley where there were some fair looking farms. Then on and on through miles of desolate country. The most common sign of human life were booths beside the road where Indian women and girls sold their pottery or rugs. Many of these booths were empty and when we stopped to see Indians at work, on the invitation of sign boards, we found the looms idle as the workers had gone to Gallup, New Mexico, to attend the Indian ceremonial and snake dance where they pray for rain. Fortunately for us we did get some rain or clouds nearly every day which made our trip much pleasanter.

On inquiry of a lady in a curio store at the painted desert if this was the usual time to be getting rains, she answered with a slight twinkle in her eyes, "The Indians are praying for it." A skeptic in Albuquerque said, "They always have their Snake Dance in the rainy season." At any rate it was a privilege for us to pass through at that time and see them by the thousands, on the roads in canvas covered wagons, old trucks, and in fact, any kind of conveyance, and also parading the streets of Gallup in their ample and brilliant costumes. It was New Years, Fourth of July and Christmas in one big bundle for them.

We drove five miles off our route to see the mammoth meteor crater in Arizona. It was 4,000 feet across and 600 feet deep.

Staying overnight in Albuquerque, we attended the Nazarene Church in the forenoon and had dinner with some cousins there. From there we drove nearly 300 miles south to El Paso, Texas. We went down the Rio Grande Valley where irrigation is practiced and there are some good crops. Even here they have suffered several dry years and many crops are very poor as a result.

Crossing the Rio Grande into Juarez, we spent an hour or so (enough at any rate) in Old Mexico.

On through more desert to Carlsbad Caverns where we witnessed the bat flight in the evening and hiked down into the caverns with the 8:30 group of 800 people. The caverns are immense and awe inspiring. We walked about four miles going down 829 feet. A good lunch in the big dining room on the floor of the cavern is served for 50 cents and you are ready for it after that hike. Then if you wish you make take the elevator up. Most people do.

On across the rest of New Mexico, we left it at Hobbs where they had just had a cloudburst and the water was running in streams down every street and into the doors of the stores. Miles and miles more of Texas, some good, more not so good. Lubbeck was the best looking place we saw in Texas. It is in a good farming section, is a college town and has fine homes.

Up across Oklahoma on U. S. 81 to El Reno, then across to Poncha City and northward again on 77 through Kansas and to Lincoln, Neb. On the whole, Oklahoma was a much better state than we expected. We appreciated the trees. Kansas has been very dry. The corn was dried up like ours after a frost. Farmers were cutting it and filling the silos. Kansas and Nebraska were both very rolling plains where we crossed. Wheat had been very good in Nebraska. I was told it had gone 80 to 40 bushels per acre.

We stayed one night with cousins in Lincoln, then came on to Weeping Water where we spent Saturday and Sunday at our M. B. C. camp meeting. Next up to Eagle Grove, Iowa, to wife's relatives where we stopped on the way out. Wife's sister from Los Angeles returned with us and she had not seen the Iowa relatives for many years. My visit to a 55-acre field of hybrid seed corn was most interesting.

Two days from Eagle Grove brought us to the place that to me looks the best of any in the U. S. A., home! We had a grand trip and were most too well fed. There are nice places and fine folks in the West. If you doubt my word, go and see.

first three generations and to replace their present cow herd with first, second and third generation Red Dane-cross heifers by the time the third generation of heifers has reached producing age. In other words, these grade herds representing several other breeds of cattle will become Red Dane herds by the end of about six years breeding with use of selected, proven Red Dane sires.

Members of the board of directors of the Cass City Red Dane Cattle Breeders' Association are: E. G. Golding, Cass City, president; Ottomar Sting, Gagetown, vice president; Keith Crawford, Caro, secretary-treasurer; Roy Wagg, Cass City; Ward Parsell, Caro; Robt. Osborne, Gagetown; Lee Sefton, Deford.

The inseminator-manager will be hired by the board of directors at their first meeting on Sept. 20.

A. C. Baltzer, dairy specialist, Michigan State College, will meet with the members of this new dairy association on Monday, Sept. 30, at 8 p. m., in the Cass City High School. Final arrangements with U. S. D. A. Bureau of Dairying which has control of all Red Dane cattle in the United States will then be made.

Other farmers who wish to join should contact one of the board of directors or the Tuscola County agent before the Sept. 30 meeting.

Breeding service from Holstein, Guernsey and Jersey sires will also be available through this association as soon as enough herds to total 100 cows of any one breed are signed up.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

John D. Morrison, state auditor general, is pessimistic about the possibility of averting new taxes, if the voters authorize the sales tax amendment whereby an equivalent of 60 per cent of the revenue automatically goes to the public schools by constitutional mandate.

As he sees it, the legislature would be forced to do one of two things:

One, curtail severely the state's present public services for health, welfare, colleges, and so on.

These services were authorized by the legislature in response to demand of the people back home. The shoe is apt to fit many people, and a resultant storm of protest could be expected, he believes.

Two, new or additional taxes must be levied by the legislature to avert an operating deficit and to cover actual operating expenses. The latter would be likely.

After going into a huddle with other administrative officials, Morrison is of the opinion that the state would be compelled in a year, when sales tax revenues had declined, to pay a larger amount to the public schools than the schools would normally get. The proposed amendment is worded in a way to make mandatory the payment of revenues to schools in proportion to that amount paid in the past fiscal year (1945-46) plus the added diversion of one-half of one cent as computed according to the annual school census.

While State Treasurer D. Hale Brake could not be reached by this writer for comment, it is understood that he is also cool to the tax diversion plan and is likely to be vocal about it prior to November 5.

Two nominees for governor have not expressed themselves one way or the other — at least they had not done so when this column was written.

State Senator Don VanderWerp, chairman of the senate finance committee, and Representative John Espie, chairman of the house ways and means committee, are known to be firmly opposed to the tax amendment. They have warned associates that the amendment would be undesirable in the interest of good government and that new taxes would be inevitable if it were to be approved.

From the above evidence the budget director, the auditor general, the reported coolness of the state treasurer and the recorded opposition of the two legislative finance committee chairmen you may guess readily what Governor Harry F. Kelly's conclusion is going to be.

At the right time the governor is going to issue a blast against the amendment, in no uncertain language. In fact, he will probably denounce it roundly.

Throughout his four years of state service, Governor Kelly has been intensely devoted to the progress of the State of Michigan, as the over-all governing authority with definite responsibilities for definite public services.

He has been aggressive in fighting for what he considers to be the people's priority of needs. He staunchly opposed attempts of the big city mayors to grab a slice of the state funds. Anyone who has followed Harry Kelly can safely bank on his recommendation to vote no on the tax amendment.

The Michigan Education Association may be counted on also to present convincing arguments as to why the new amendment would avert a "collapse" of the public schools, a prospect that appears to be again on the horizon.

We referred last week to the comparative low salaries paid to school teachers, the increasing difficulty of getting enough new teachers to fill needs, the obsolescence of many school buildings and other factors in the postwar picture.

The sales tax amendment would be a bonanza to many rural schools. Some schools would receive more funds than they actually need for present-day services. Thus there is a temptation for some rural voters to modernize their rural schools at the expense of people living elsewhere.

Public schools now receive $60,000,000 in state aid. Under the new amendment, they would get approximately $100,000,000 a year, based on last year's tax collections. This is a substantial boost. It is our hunch that the MEA decided to back the amendment as a bargaining lever to get more state aid in 1947, even if the amendment is lost on November 5. Any way you look at it, the teachers have little to lose, a lot to gain.

In the food preparation division the following placings were made: Muffins, first year, Ilene Henry, Caro, third; cookies, second year, Virginia Seddon, Millington, second; cup cakes, third year, Barbara Quick, Caro, third; baking project, rolls, Ruth Ann Hall, Fairgrove, second; cereal bread contest, Aileen Shantz, Gagetown, third; and cake contest, Marilyn Newton, Vassar, third. In the clothing project, the county had three entries and won a first and two third places.

Betty Jean Bruce represented the girls of the county in the Citizenship ceremony which was an event of Tuesday evening at the State Show, and witnessed by Governor Kelly. The girls making the trip to East Lansing were Betty Jean Bruce, Deford; Shirley Wells, Deford; Joan Horst, Akron; Kathleen McMullen, Millington; Evelyn Graham, Cass City; and Janice Black, Wisner, the last four showing in cattle classes.

CASS CITY

Cass City Ladies' Bowling League

Rules.

League to be on 70% handicap basis and the four point system will be used, with one point for each game won and one point to the team with the highest pin totals in each three-game series. A membership of $3.00 will be charged for each schedule and $1.00 weekly for dues and bowling.

Captains.

A captain will be held responsible for the management of her team. She shall collect the weekly amount for dues and bowling from her team members and any fees that are due the league from members who have been absent without substitution and shall settle with the alley proprietor, who is designated by the association to accept all league fees. She shall cooperate with her team members in trying to make proper substitutions where such are needed, from the list of registered substitutes that the league shall try to keep available.

Members.

A fee of $3.00 shall be required for membership at the beginning of each schedule and membership cards will be issued. If bowler meets all requirements of the rules, she will receive back the full value of her entry fee by being allowed to bowl the last three weeks of the schedule at no cost. If, after a bowler has purchased a $3.00 membership, she finds she will be unable to continue the schedule, she may dispose of her card to a substitute at its face value and the sub holding such card and assuming the responsibilities of a member, shall be entitled to bowl the last three weeks of the schedule free. If a member leaves the schedule before its completion and without securing a substitute, she shall forfeit her rights to her entry fee.

Members should cooperate with their captains to make proper substitutions in case they must be absent at any time and pay to their captains their weekly dues. Members should plan to be at the alleys and ready to bowl at the time their teams are scheduled to take the alleys. Members coming late can make up their lines if they are ready before fifth frame opens in their games, otherwise they are allowed one-tenth of their average for each frame missed if they start bowling in the first game after the fifth frame. Members missing any full game will be credited with 10 pins less than their average, however, her season's average will be calculated only from the games she actually bowls. Each member is required to pay $1.00 per week whether she bowls or not, unless in her absence a substitute is used, in which case the sub. shall pay the $1.00.

Below is a chart that indicates how the weekly $1.00 is divided between alleys and league.

	Bowling	Dues	Totals
Three games	$.75	$.25	$1.00
Two games75	.25	1.00
One game50	.50	1.00
Absent and no sub used..	.50	.50	1.00

Substitutes.

No substitute shall bowl in more than one series in any one bowling week. A substitute can be used on any team in case of a vacancy and at the invitation of a team captain or member for whom she is substituting. A sub. shall pay the same fee as a regular member and will be given credit for number of games she has bowled during the schedule, and a satisfactory adjustment will be made toward banquet tickets at the close of the season.

The league dues paid in will entitle members to two tickets each to the annual "Bowlers' Banquet" if she completes each schedule of games. The annual City Tournament will be held the week immediately following the close of the regular bowling season.

Bowling

The first eight teams in the City League got underway Monday evening to open the early fall and winter schedule, and while the temperature was humid, there was plenty of action by the individuals to display their variety of curves, hooks and straight balls in an attempt to make an auspicious beginning. With the point system being used this season, the Reid team rolled through the first series by taking three games from the Larkenites and total pins for four points. Capt. Larkin's individual offering of 571 pins for an average of 190 was tops and he was closely followed by Reid's 541, Matrn's 537 and Ludlow's 525. New schedules are being printed but for the convenience of the bowlers, we are giving below the scheduled games for the second week.

Sept. 16—7:00 p. m., Kirtan vs. Wallace, 1 and 2 alleys; Wooley vs. Parsch, 3 and 4 alleys. 9:00 p. m., Landon vs. Willy, 1-2 alleys; McCullough vs. Gross, 3 and 4 alleys.

Sept. 19—7:00 p. m., Kolb vs. Reid, 1 and 2 alleys; Fritz vs. Ludlow, 3 and 4 alleys. 9:00 p. m., Larkin vs. Auten, 1 and 2 alleys. G. W. Landon, Sec.

First State-wide Turkey Tour to Be September 18-19

The first state-wide turkey tour will be held Sept. 18 and 19, starting in Tuscola County and ending at Charlevoix. The extension service of Michigan State College and the Michigan Turkey Growers' Association are sponsors of the event.

Otis E. Shear, extension poultryman, estimates as many as 150 poultrymen will take part in the tour, although some will not take the entire trip.

The tour will start at the Elmer Haines farm near Vassar in Tuscola County at 8 a. m. Sept. 18. The Lewis Warner farm near Clare will also be visited during the morning en route to Lake City. The Lawrence Hicks farm, nine miles east of Lake City, will be an afternoon stop before the group reaches the Michigan State College experimental station at Lake City. Here the college experiments with turkeys will be viewed and an evening supper and program will be held.

The group will stay overnight at Lake City and on September 19 will move on toward Charlevoix with a stop at the Clarence Ornt farm in Antrim County near Bellaire. In Charlevoix County, the farms of Arlo Wickersham, Dick Potter, Sanford Matchett and Frank Bird will be visited.

In addition to C. G. Card, head of the poultry department at the college, H. C. Zindell, J. M. Moore, Dr. Earl W. Henderson and Shear of the college poultry staff will accompany the tour. Dr. W. A.

Billings, Minneapolis, Minnesota, authority on turkey diseases and member of the University of Minnesota staff, will join the tour and be the main speaker at the Lake City meeting.

Shear reports turkeys making good gains in Michigan this year. The number of birds on feed has increased in recent years.

ESCAPE FROM THE OLD "GRIND"

Electrically

You save time—labor—and money when you use an electric hammer mill to grind your own feed. Simply fill the hopper with grain and snap the switch—the mill grinds automatically while you do jobs that need your supervision! There's no waiting for the grinder truck to come around, no hauling grain into town to be ground, no mill tolls, no tying up a tractor to provide grinding power.

Just compare the costs! Farmers tell us that tractor power averages over $1.00 per ton of feed for fuel alone. Electricity will do the same work for 30 cents. And you'll have fresher, better feed when you grind your own. There's an electric hammer mill to fit every budget.

Ask your Edison Farm Service Advisor to arrange a demonstration for you—not in a salesroom, but on a farm, where you can talk over performance and actual operating costs with its owner. While you're at it, ask the Edison man to help plan your long-range program for letting electricity do other chores too! There's no obligation to you.

Food and clothing were rushed to the thousands of Thumb residents who needed assistance so desperately.

The Red Cross so distinguished itself in this disaster relief work that shortly thereafter the United States subscribed fully to the Treaty of Geneva, the covenant binding this nation to the International Red Cross.

Ben H. McComb, now chairman of the local Red Cross Chapter's Disaster Relief Committee, cautions all residents to guard against unnecessary loss by fire during the next two months. During the dry days of Indian summer, when falling leaves add to the danger of fires spreading rapidly, automobile operators are especially cautioned not to throw cigarette and cigar stubs from their cars while driving through the country. Thousands of dollars worth of damage can be done to farmers' fences and new seedling in grain stubbles by fires started through this thoughtless practice.

CLASS PARTY HELD AT MANSE

Mrs. Melvin R. Vender entertained her church school class at a dinner party on Monday evening. Twelve members of the Young Adults' Class were present. Mrs. James Brooker assisted Mrs. Vender in serving and with well-appointed floral arrangements in the dining and living rooms.

Following the dinner, Rev. M. R. Vender gave a descriptive talk about "Chautauqua," and discussed, with the use of a chart, "The Tree of Christianity." The games of "Rook" and "Traits" concluded the evening's pastime.
