

Grading of the Playground Is Nearly Completed

Workmen of the E. B. Schwaderer Co. started Friday to grade the playgrounds at the City Park. Big DW-10 caterpillar scrapers are making short work in moving dirt here and there and it is anticipated that this work will be completed this week end. The project is sponsored by the Gavel Club and plans include a football field within a quarter mile oval track with a softball field at one end of the area. A straightway track for short runs is planned in conjunction with the oval track. The baseball field will be placed farther north than the location occupied in late years.

Floodlights placed around the track will permit night football and night track meets.

Two lighting engineers, Ray Robinson of Caro and Mr. Abernathy of Port Huron, discussed the illumination of the playgrounds at the Gavel Club dinner Tuesday evening.

Harry L. Little presided as toastmaster and called upon several members to relate their experiences in pheasant hunting. Dr. B. H. Starmann acted as critic.

Rev. John Safran was accepted as a member of the club.

Michigan Mirror

Michigan's election next Tuesday (Nov. 5), will be big-time. It involves a cool one-third of a billion dollars.

First, a referendum on whether the State of Michigan should spend $270,000,000 to pay a bonus to each Michigan veteran of World War II. This amount would be in addition to the present $50,000,000 state fund already reserved for veterans' care.

Second, voters will decide the fate of a proposed constitutional amendment of 76 per cent of the state's golden sales tax revenue for return to the public schools and other units of government—cities, villages and townships. This amendment would add approximately $64,000,000 to the coffers of local governments over what they received in 1946.

So add up the $270,000,000 bonus and the $64,000,000 additional funds for local governments, and the tally is $334,000,000. That, in our language, is a third of a billion dollars.

Since this is a people's democracy in which things are done as the people decide, you have an opportunity next Tuesday to say how your tax money should be spent. Indirectly, of course, you will also decide whether new taxes must be levied to foot your bill. The veterans' bonus carries no provision as to how it is to be financed. That decision will be up to the state legislature.

Also there is the matter of how to stretch the remaining dollars in.

Children Need Better Discipline Says Detroit Detective

Better supervision and discipline of parents over their children are most urgent in these days of an alarming national crime wave, declared Marvin Lane, a member of the detective force of the Detroit Police Dept., in an address at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday. The predominant age of criminals today is 17 years, according to Mr. Lane.

Detroit's Police Dept. with 3,700 men, 337 of whom are detectives, is the fourth largest in the nation. The crime situation in Detroit is bad, he said, with 7,000 burglaries and nearly 2,000 robberies in a year. Mr. Lane made his talk more interesting in relating his experiences in dealing with robbers who specialized in safe cracking.

Mr. Lane was presented by Mildred Knuckles, program chairman, who was associated with Mr. Lane on the Detroit detective force several years ago.

Luncheon guests included Lowell Bernhart of Detroit, Norman D. Lemar of Bay City and M/Sgt. Frederick Auten and Dr. Walter E. Felczar.

Rotarians accepted an invitation to be dinner guests of the Gavel Club on Tuesday, December 3.

Tuscola Soil Conservation Dist. Hearing Nov. 6

All land owners and land occupiers of three or more acres of land in the below described area are urged to attend the public hearing on the necessity and desirability of the inclusion of Akron, Arbela, Columbia, Dayton, Denmark, Fairgrove, Fremont, Gilford, Kingston, Koylton, Millington, Novesta, Tuscola, Vassar, Watertown, Wells and Wisner Townships into the Tuscola Soil Conservation District which will be held at 2 p. m., E. S. T., November 6, 1946, in the Court House at Caro.

This hearing is the second of three necessary legal steps which must be taken in order for a Soil Conservation district to be organized or enlarged.

The first of these legal steps was accomplished last June when more than 300 land owners and occupiers of the 17 townships named above signed petitions asking for these townships to be included in the present Tuscola Soil Conservation District which was organized in 1943.

At the hearing next week Wednesday, providing the condition of the land and the statements of the people attending the hearing indicate that there is need for a district, the State Soil Conservation Committee sets the exact boundaries and conducts a referendum to assist in determining whether it is practicable to create a district in the territory.

This referendum, the third legal step in organizing a soil conservation district, will probably be held in December. Regular voting places in the 17 townships involved will be set up. All land occupiers of three or more acres of land within the proposed district boundaries can vote in this referendum. If a majority of the votes cast favor the creation of a soil conservation district its organization is then assured.

The following members of the State Soil Conservation Committee will be present at the hearing. Concluded on page 4.

They're Too Rich, Is Plaint of Swiss

People Say Country Is Too
Prosperous for Good.

BERN.—The country is much too prosperous for its own good, that's what the Swiss say about their own country. The country is in such good shape economically that not only the government, but the average business man and manufacturer is worried about it. Official figures show:

Less than 2,000 people listed as "unemployed," and more than 10,000 jobs still unfilled.

A currency so strong that Swiss bankers don't even want American dollars or British sterling.

A back-log of orders for certain Swiss-made articles—notably watches—that will keep factories humming for nearly three years. The watch industry is so hard-pressed for help that employment agents are signing up 15-year-old schoolchildren to become apprentices after they have been graduated.

Almost no strikes or labor disputes, thanks to a system which periodically increases and decreases wages in quick reaction to price changes.

But the Swiss don't like this apparent economic paradise.

They would prefer to be buying more than they sell and importing more than they export, at least for the next few years.

That sounds like bad business, but the country is short of plain consumer goods that it formerly purchased abroad—furniture and cooking utensils, for example.

The result is that the threat of inflation hangs over the country. It has plenty of money, but too few articles.

The Swiss want to be able to import more raw materials and those finished products which they do not manufacture themselves.

They also want to meet the gap between supply and demand in articles the plain man needs. In short, they would prefer to have less money and more things to buy with it.

Poppies Blooming in London's Bomb Ruins

LONDON.—Poppies, the hero's flower, blossomed recently in London's bomb ruins.

They burst into flame amid the gray rubble like torches lighted at dusk, the first wild poppies the city's center had seen since men covered the open fields with houses centuries ago.

Children rushed into the open cellars to pick the strange scarlet flowers, but few adults did. The poppies grew where Londoners had died.

Along with the poppies, shrubs and small trees are filling the holes, masking the ugliness. A willow grows sturdily in a shattered tile floor near the Bank of England.

Woodland bracken climbs over exposed staircases. Ferns creep out of the damp walls of toppled houses. Few roofless churches lack wild flowers for the altars.

Some of the poppies sprang up around a wooden cross standing in the walled garden that was St. Swithin's church for 600 years—until incendiaries burned everything but the walls.

Marines in China Warn

They Will Shoot Back

SHANGHAI.—American marines in North China are remaining there at their full current strength and "when we are attacked we are going to shoot back," Adm. Charles M. Cooke Jr., commander of the U. S. Seventh fleet said.

Cooke blamed Communists for the recent ambushing of a marine convoy near Peiping, in which four marines were killed.

In Nanking, the pro-government newspaper Ta King Pao said "the hottest rumor here is that President Truman has instructed General Marshall to prepare plans for withdrawal of U. S. forces in China" to avoid another such incident.

Washington sources said they knew of no basis for such a report.

Robbers Use Flatiron

To Loot Safe of $1,500

CHICAGO.—Yeggs took $1,500 and a $40 wrist watch from a strongbox in the home of John Bolchert, owner of a bakery.

The money represented the week's receipts of the bakery, which is on the lower floor at the same address. Bolchert said the safe's outer door was unlocked and that the yeggs beat in the inner doors with a flatiron.

the state treasury to pay for all the things which the people back home have asked the legislature to authorize—those public services such as colleges and hospitals and prisons and the like. In the pre-election tug-of-war between state officials and the mayors and school administrators, much has been said about the alternative of a possible deficit in the state treasury or sharp elimination of state services, such as the above.

While State Treasurer D. Hale Brake warns against an inevitable deficit in the state treasury or new taxes, should ballot proposal No. 2 be approved next Tuesday, the Michigan Education association's executive secretary sees no reason for alarm.

Quoting a statement by Dr. A. J. Phillips, which appeared in this column late in September: "There is every reason to believe that present and future revenues from the sales tax, plus various other sources of income for state government, will be sufficient for reasonable needs of other state institutions and other state agencies and services."

Dr. Phillips does believe, however, that new taxes should be imposed to finance the $270,000,000 state bonus for war veterans. He suggests "a new source of revenue."

Both nominees for governor—Kim Sigler and Murray D. Van Wagoner—frown upon the constitutional ear-marking of sales tax revenue for the public schools and cities. They suggest, instead, legislative action to reduce the state sales tax to 2½ cents and the granting of authority to the cities to levy a one-half cent sales tax on goods sold by merchants.

Reduction of the state sales tax has much merit.

Last January 24 this column reported: "Michigan is one of four states with a sales tax as high as 3 per cent out of a total of 23 sales tax states. Illinois has cut its tax from 3 to 2 per cent; California from 3 to 2½ per cent. Hence there appears to be some justification for a definite program in Michigan of financial assistance to distressed local governments."

Deficits may return to the state treasury in times of unemployment and distress. Deficits existed during the following years—1932, 1933, 1938 and 1939.

Lieut. Governor Vernon J. Brown, whose sagacity on state finances is widely acknowledged, once expressed regret to us that it was not possible for the State of Michigan to increase taxes during good times and to decrease taxes during hard times. The "ideal" solution, he thought, would be to accumulate a surplus of money when people had plenty of money to pay higher taxes, and then to spend this surplus during hard times when people had less money and hence needed a reduction in taxes.

Governor Harry F. Kelly, in our humble opinion, deserves praise from the taxpayers for accumulating a surplus of state funds during present inflationary good times. The veterans' $50,000,000 fund is one result of this thrift policy. The most vexsome part of surplus-building is the covetous attempts by other interests to grab some of this money for themselves. A surplus at Lansing prompted the taxpayer conclusion: The state has more money than it needs. Why not return some of this surplus for local use?

Little wonder that Sigler and VanWagoner each favor reduction of the sales tax!

The frequency with which attempts are made to revise the state constitution puts a heavy burden of responsibility upon the Michigan voter. The constitution, if drafted at a constitutional convention, must be ratified by a majority of the voters before it becomes a part of our law.

Five constitutions, so drafted, have been submitted to voters. Three of them were approved and two rejected.

The last constitution, the result of a 133-day convention in 1907-8, was approved 224,000 to 130,000. Since 1908 the voters have approved five amendments to the constitution: Civil service, non-parti-

A Big Vote of Confidence for Senator Vandenberg

We believe that the re-election of Senator Vandenberg presents a challenge to the people of Michigan. The Senator has taken the voice of our State into the highest councils of domestic affairs and into the peace deliberations of the world. He has given our State a prominence and an influence in world events that is unequalled in our history. His re-election becomes a matter of State pride.

We are proud of Arthur H. Vandenberg. We are proud that he comes from Michigan. He should be re-elected to the U. S. Senate with an extra big vote of confidence.

And remember this—no matter how heavy his responsibilities around the world, he has never failed you and our home State when Michigan interests have been at stake in Washington.

Let's get out and vote on Nov. 5. Let's "tell the world" that we support our Senior Senator from Michigan.

This message is published in behalf of 100,000 citizens from all 83 Counties of Michigan who placed Senator Vandenberg in nomination in June.

Re-elect SENATOR VANDENBERG

If you're figuring NOW for '47...

WITH the end of harvest, and winter's approach, clear-thinking farmers start planning for next spring. They are thinking in terms of expansion—of increased profits in 1947.

Most farmers will agree that the answer to the manpower shortage is increased use of electricity. But it's not always easy—on a budget—to know whether an electric brooder will prove a better investment than a feed grinder or a portable grain elevator.

When it comes to electrical improvements for your farm, there's one man it pays to consult—your Edison Farm Service Advisor. He has the up-to-the-minute facts on every sort of electrical equipment—he can arrange practical demonstrations for you. More than that, your Edison man can give you accurate, impartial recommendations for planning your long-range electrification program. He has no equipment to sell...there's no charge for his services. He's simply available to help you—to put the latest Edison research and experience to work on your farm.

How many of these "WIRED HANDS" are working for you?

(The Edison man can advise you on each of these electrical time and labor savers, as applied to your own farm.)

McCullough's team will be hard to beat if they continue their performance of last week when they emerged from a hectic series against Bennie Kirton's team with three more points. Their three games with the Kirton squad started out with Mac's pinsters taking the first game but the Kirton team picked up the middle game by the consistent bowling of Ty Myzk, Greenleaf merchant, whose individual accumulation of pins was 558 for the night. The rubber game was close all the way and ended in a tie game when Captain Mac, who was on the spot, threw a strike ball to send the final game into an extra frame to decide the match. Mac was forced to strike out to beat the Kirton opposition and he was equal to the occasion for he applied the bakelite to the 1-3 pocket to sweep the maples clear and not only won the game, but succeeded in landing the total pins by only eight sticks for the extra point.

The Howard Woolley five collected the only four full points during the week and this was done to the chagrin of the Reid team who were woefully out of bowling form at the time. The win picked the Woolley team up considerably in the league standings.

One other contest between the Wallace and Auten teams caused a little excitement when after the Auten five had captured the first couple of games the Wallace team came back strong in the final stanza to win the game with sufficient pins to collect the extra point for totals to split the series. In passing we wish to say that M. B.'s total of 553 pins was his best offering of the current season and large enough count to give him a place on the "High Ten." Three bowlers only produced enough total pins to get honorable mention. Frank Novak's collection of 573 was high. Ty Myzk had 558, while Captain Auten's 553 was third. Only three games were bowled that went over the 200 mark with Frank Novak's 234 game hitting the top. Auten registered a 215 game and Mason Wilson threw in a 201 counter.

Pollination Value

The value of the honey bee as a cross-pollinating agent is greater to the horticulturist than the value of the surplus honey is to the beekeeper. Considerable attention is now being given to the bee for the pollination of clover for seed production.

Price of Wheat

The change in price has little effect on the quantity of wheat used for food. The amount used for seed can vary only slightly. Therefore, it is easy to see that the price of wheat when the stocks available are double the amount needed for food and seed is dependent upon its demand as live stock feed, exports and industrial uses.

Ban Drones

Very few drones—males—are tolerated by the colony in modern bee culture; they are consumers, not producers.

Small Jobs Sander

You can have an excellent sander for finishing small jobs by covering an empty spool with sandpaper and reaming out the center hole to fit the shaft of a ¼ horsepower electric motor.

Democracy Marches On

Delegates from local units representing the more than 15,000 members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association convene at Lansing on November 7 for their 30th annual meeting.

In the traditional manner of a democracy, these Delegates were elected by the general membership and speak the majority voice of all Association members on matters of major policy and administration.

Because these Delegates represent a large and important segment of all residents of this area, it follows that what is good for MMPA members likewise reacts to the public good.

The inter-dependence of dairy farmer and general public has been recognized by MMPA from its inception 30 years ago.

It has prompted Delegates to foster new scientific safeguards for public health protection;

It has led Delegates to sponsor production methods for increasing the quantity and quality of milk to meet increasing public demands for nature's best food at its very best;

It has enabled Delegates to set up administrative procedures for cooperative marketing and mutual aid which cost less than one per cent of gross sales—far less than administrative costs of the American Red Cross, Community Fund and similar activities;

It has resisted taking temporary advantage of abnormal conditions to obtain "quick money" at the expense of sound long-range planning;

It adopted more than a decade ago the base-and-excess plan which authorities on milk marketing have called the best year-in, year-out program ever devised for the advantage and protection of both milk consumer and milk producer.

Out of this background of successful operation, Delegates on November 7 will lay broad plans for sound future growth.

And action of the Delegates, you may be sure, will adhere to those basic principles of Democracy on which MMPA has operated for more than three decades—Awareness that what is good for the milk producer must be likewise good for the milk consumer.
