R. N. Charlton Resident Here for 65 Years

Robert Nicholson Charlton, 85, a resident here for more than 65 years, died early Saturday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Norman Gillies, in Crosswell. He had been making his home with his son, Kenneth, here, but had gone on the preceding Wednesday to visit his daughter, Mrs. Gillies.

He was born Sept. 13, 1861, in Canada and came here in 1880. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Charlton. His wife, the former Lillian McConnell, passed away May 28, 1946.

Surviving are his daughter, Ethel (Mrs. Norman Gillies) and a son, Kenneth, of Cass City, four grandsons, three great granddaughters and a niece, Mrs. Belle Henry, of Detroit.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Douglas funeral home. Rev. Arnold Olson of the Baptist Church officiated and burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Dr. Bousman Talks to Presbyterian Guild

Mrs. Otto Prieskorn was hostess Thursday evening of last week to the Presbyterian Guild. A capacity crowd was present to hear Dr. Hugh Bousman, formerly of Manila, who with his family had been prisoners of the Japanese. Most interesting was his account of their rescue which was effected by paratroopers and amphibian tanks.

In the business session, members voted to send a gift of money to the Sunset Gap, Presbyterian school in Tennessee, for Christmas.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. T. Donahue and Mrs. R. L. Keppen, served refreshments of frozen cherry pie and coffee.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Holcomb.

Burke Sends "Smile in the News"

Grover H. Burke sent the Chronicle the following newspaper clipping from Fort Lauderdale, Florida:

"Mrs. J. E. Linthicum, 608 NE Seventh Ave., went fishing Sunday at Anglin's Pier, Lauderdale-by-the-Sea, felt a tug on her line and pulled in a two-pound grouper. Upon examination it turned out to be a marked fish.

"Branded on the side of finny swimmer was the following: 'Official Stamp of OPA by Chester Bowles, 1944. Ceiling price, 20 cents per pound.' Not believing her eyes she scraped the fish with a knife to examine the stamp. 'You can't win,' she said. 'Even the fish in the ocean are controlled.'

"Believe it or not it's a good story anyway. Haven't heard of any Saginaw Bay fish being branded like this. Lots of people here and no reservations for late arrivals. If you come bring a trailer. All OK."

Sound Films and Music on Sunday Evening Program

Three Churches Unite for Thanksgiving Service at Methodist Church

A union meeting sponsored by the Methodist, Evangelical and Presbyterian churches will be held at the Methodist Church, Sunday, Nov. 24, at 8 p. m.

The purpose of this gathering is to present visually, through official moving pictures, taken in various European countries, the aftermath of war in terms of suffering, poverty, starvation and the human needs always left in the wake of devastating wars.

The films to be shown are entitled, "The Pale Horseman," a film produced by the U. S. Government, presenting the problems of health and disease; "Suffer Little Children," "The Sand and the Star," and "Freedom and Famine." These are sound pictures and will present their own appeal to thankful hearts.

An offering for relief work in these devastated areas will be taken, in charge of Rev. M. R. Vender, Presbyterian pastor. The Rev. J. Safran of the host church will conduct the devotional period. Arthur Holmberg will be in charge of the projector. A prelude of sacred music will be presented through the courtesy of Harry Little, a member of the planning committee.

Several musical numbers, including "Saviour Hear Us, We Pray," will be presented by the High School Sextet, under direction of Lloyd Bartley of the high school faculty. Neighboring churches have been invited to attend. The entire community is urged to see these films as a preparation for a true observance of Thanksgiving.

Mr. Robinson was returning home with a deer from a hunting trip in the North.

Michigan Mirror

Another round of labor strikes in big cities, now in the oiling as a result of Washington's lifting of wage and price controls, will only accelerate migration of industry to small towns.

That's the belief of a number of labor relation experts who make a business of finding out why workers become dissatisfied and what the employer can do to keep them happy.

Industrial plants in small towns where the boss knows the worker personally, are comparatively free of employee turmoil. There is more democracy in living; home ownership is not penalized by high taxes; transportation is no great problem; food is relatively easy to get, and prices are reasonable.

Our authority? The sedate Wall Street Journal which has just conducted a nation-wide survey. A minority factor contributing to employee satisfaction: Profit-sharing. Cost-of-living adjustment in wages work fine when costs are going up, but not when costs are going down.

In the cities it's the high cost of living.

On the farms it's the high cost of production.

For example: A consumers' council in Detroit raised a howl when the price of milk is adjusted to bring the Detroit market in line with Toledo and Chicago. Latest figures from the bureau Concluded on page 7.

Christmas Seals Go on Sale Monday

Christmas seals, symbol of the nation's fight against tuberculosis, will go on sale here Monday, Nov. 25.

Funds raised in this 40th annual, nation-wide campaign, which continues until Christmas, will carry on the fight of the tuberculosis associations to eradicate this disease.

Residents of Tuscola County contributed $3,099.27 to the seal sale last year. During 1945 tuberculosis took two lives in this county and 58 new cases were reported.

"Only continued educational effort, coupled with advances in medicine and surgery, the excellent care offered by the state's tax-supported sanitariums and the vigilance of the public health officers, will eventually wipe out tuberculosis in Michigan," said Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Ninety-five per cent of all funds raised in the state remain in Michigan to support the tuberculosis associations' state-wide program of health education, homeservice, "follow-up," rehabilitation and vocational retraining of the tuberculosis, medical research, and supplying—where needed—tuberculin tests and X-ray film for case finding.

The remaining 5 per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis Association to further medical research and other nation-wide tuberculosis activities.

Surplus Sales Yield a Billion

Cost to United States Was More Than Triple That Of the Receipts.

WASHINGTON. — Dean Acheson, acting secretary of state, reported that overseas war surpluses which cost $3,600,000,000 have been sold for more than $1,000,000,000. In a letter transmitting to congress, just before adjournment, the quarterly report of Thomas B. McCabe, foreign liquidation commissioner, Acheson called this disposal record a substantial achievement.

However, the report said that two great "properties" which cost this country a total of $172,000,000 have been abandoned. They are the Stilwell road from Burma into China and the aid to Russia on the road through Iran and Iraq.

Part of Big Surplus.
The routes were part of $390,000,000 worth of surplus property, including a number of airfields built on foreign soil, which have been junked as having "very high original cost and little or no civilian utility." The peacetime usefulness of the two roads, McCabe said, "does not even justify the cost of maintaining them." All movable property has been salvaged.

Sales of the foreign liquidation office represent almost one-half the property declared surplus so far by the army and navy, and about one-third of the total salable property left abroad at war's end.

An additional $1,500,000,000 worth will prove unsalable, McCabe reported.

"The results obtained by the foreign liquidation commissioner and his staff represent a real return for American taxpayers, as well as furnishing a substantial contribution to the rehabilitation of a war torn world," Acheson said.

Planes Disposed Of.
Noting that 3,768 surplus airplanes have been sold or leased to foreign air lines, governments or individuals, the report observed:
"There are virtually no passenger or cargo airlines in the world today which are not operating either entirely or in part with American surplus equipment."

As for surplus still to be released by the army and navy, the report said that when the costs of disposal exceed the returns "the overseas disposal program in any one area will be terminated."

Of the more than $1,000,000,000 paid or owed to the United States on sales, foreign governments account for 78 per cent of the purchases; the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration, 12 per cent; foreign citizens and firms, 5 per cent; United States government agencies, servicemen and veterans, 3 per cent; other sales, 2 per cent.

G.I. Wives' Children Given Citizenship

WASHINGTON.—The law now extends citizenship to children born overseas to thousands of American soldiers and their foreign brides.

It amends existing statutes which hold that a child of such a marriage is not an American citizen unless his American parent had lived in the United States for five years after his 18th birthday.

This had precluded automatic citizenship for children of many soldiers who were inducted when they were in their teens.

Under the new law the requirement is five years' residence after the 12th birthday.

Dog and Cat Spat About Kittens, but Make Peace

CHICAGO. — After Poochie, an airedale now three years old, and Lucky, a black Persian cat just a little younger, were adopted from the Anti-Cruelty society by Mrs. Marcella Hoek, 4940 Wrightwood avenue, they became good friends. But a month ago Lucky became a mother and then trouble began.

Poochie took a liking to Lucky's five kittens, and started chasing Lucky away so he could cuddle them. Then Lucky would return to hiss at Poochie, curled around her kittens. At times, Poochie retired to a corner, and then the kittens got fed.

"One day we took the kittens away to see if Poochie and Lucky would be friends again," Mrs. Minnie Reed, mother of Mrs. Hoek, explained, "and, believe it or not, the two of them curled up on the couch and went to sleep."

That's Different
WAREHAM, ENGLAND. — Ninety women veterans of the armed forces, attending a British legion conference, shrieked and leaped onto chairs when a rat strolled into their meeting hall.

Gee
CANNES, FRANCE. — The atom bathing suit—finest in the world—is the latest sensation here. It consists of G-string pants and a halter with two scanty three-inch medallions.

DREADFUL FATE

A sailor was explaining the inner workings of the navy to a dinner companion.

"If a guy is hep, he won't give his right trade when he joins up."

The gal wanted to know why.

"Well," he explained, "if you tell them you are a mechanic, they make you a medical corpsman. If you've been a cook, they are sure to give you a yeoman rating; and if you happen to know something about bookkeeping, they are sure to make you a mess cook."

"But," inquired the sweet young thing, "suppose you tell them you don't know anything?"

"Oh, that's the worst of all. If you do that, they hand you a commission."

Compromise

It was market day. Prices had been high and the man leaning over the fence round the sale ring was looking disconsolate. Suddenly a farmer rode up on an ancient horse.

"How much do you want for that bag o' bones?" asked the bystander, his interest awakening.

"A hundred dollars."

"I'll give you five dollars."

For a moment the farmer stared at the man in amazement. Then he dismissed.

"Young man," he said, "I ain't going to let a little matter of 95 dollars stand between me and the sale of a horse. The animal's yours."

Oriental Craft

The back of the Japanese theater stage opened on the street, and the manager was instructing an American occupation soldier in the art of drawing cash customers.

"When the play begins," he said, "I'll raise this back curtain—just a little."

"Yes," the G.I. replied.

"People will crowd up to hear the play free. Well, I'll let them hear it until the moment of big suspense."

"And then?"

"Why, then I'll drop the curtain and they'll rush to pay their way in. They always do."

LOST BY A HAIR

Bill—Darling, there is something that has been trembling on my lips for weeks and weeks.

Coo—Yes, so I've noticed. Why don't you shave it off?

Twice-Told Tales

The late Frank Harris took his literary material wherever he could find it, and sometimes he would tell a story which bore more than a faint resemblance to something already concocted by another, and frequently more famous, writer. One day in a group which included Oscar Wilde he related an incident which nearly everyone present recognized as something which had occurred in a story by Anatole France.

There was an uncomfortable silence.

"You know, Frank," broke in Wilde, "Anatole France would have spoiled that story."

You First, Sir

It was very obvious that the new recruit was a raw hand at boxing as he entered the ring, and when he saw his hefty opponent he became more nervous still.

As he went to his corner he saw there a man with a towel thrown over one shoulder.

"Who are you?" he asked.

"I'm your second," was the reply.

A look of relief lightened the recruit's face as he said:

"No, you go first—I'll go second!"

Second Best

A candidate for county sheriff was soliciting votes in a cowtown in Oklahoma. After haranguing the crowd, he asked for support.

"Well, Mister," said the town barber, "you're my second choice."

The would-be sheriff pondered a moment. Then he asked cheerfully, "And who's your first choice?"

"Oh," was the reply, "any fellow who wants to run."

Strange Notes

The accompanist had done his best to help the beginning soloist, but after an hour of practice, he was weakening.

"Mademoiselle," he said, shaking his head sadly, "we can't go like this. I give up. I play on the white keys. I play on the black keys. But you always sing in the cracks!"

Modern Miss

The young daughter of a radio announcer was called upon to say grace at a family dinner. Much to the dismay of the visiting minister, the child bowed her head and said in low tones: "This food comes to us through the courtesy of Almighty God."

Fancy Name

Betty—That girl is grace personified.

CASS CITY BOWLING LEAGUE

Bowling standings at close of tenth week of schedule:

Parsch	10	20	14
Gross	11	19	13

Ten High Average Bowlers

Larkin 176, Ludlow 176, McCullough 175, F. Novak 175, Parsch 173, Landon 172, Willy 171, De-Frain 169, Dillman 168, Gross 168.

A team that has dominated the league for nine of the 10 weeks since the season opened naturally must come in for a large share of the publicity and it's Mac. McCullough's keggers that still rate high even though they are out in front by the scant margin of one point. Only three weeks remain before the curtain is rung down on the first schedule and McCullough's is the team to beat if any other five have their sights on the coveted No. 1 spot.

Three teams gathered in the full count of four points for themselves during the week and McCullough's was one of the three when they overpowered the Reid five. Bennie Kirton's manipulators just about smashed the hopes of the Ludlow team when they picked up four points from them in their series, while the Landon pin-spillers jumped into third place by sweeping four points away from the Gross squad to be only two points back of the No. 1 team.

Four individual bowlers managed to get honorable mention by rolling totals over 550 pins. Larkin was high with 569 with a game of 212 which raised his average to 176 and so he and Herb Ludlow are tied for first place on the high ten. Johnie Juhasz felled 564 and had a 215 game that was high for the week. Frank Novak hooked the 1-3 pocket for 552 pins and collected a 204 game. Herb Ludlow also came under the wire with an even 200 marker. Several of the members are in the north woods looking for fresh meat. If they bring any back, their aim with a gun must be as good or better than their aim has been at the ten pins, but bowlers are very much like hunters as both are always confident.

Eyes Suited to Water

Seals and sea-lions have eyes whose corneas are not smooth and for that reason have astigmatic sight out of water, says the Better Vision Institute. However, since sea water and their corneas have about the same index of light refraction, the astigmatism disappears when the animals are in water.

THERE SIMPLY ARE NOT ENOUGH NEW CHEVROLETS TO GO AROUND

We are getting our fair share of the current production of new Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks. And as strikes and shortages decrease, as the Chevrolet plants are able to produce more and more new passenger cars and trucks, we'll get more and more of them to deliver to our customers.

Meanwhile, as long as shortages do exist, it is our purpose to apportion our share of the new Chevrolets available fairly and justly among the many customers, new and old, whose continued friendship and patronage are the keystone of our business.

So that you may have no doubt as to our method of distribution of new Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks, we make the following—

DECLARATION OF POLICY

1. PRIORITY OF DELIVERY—New Chevrolet cars and trucks will be apportioned on the basis of: (1) essential public services, (2) veterans' occupational requirements, (3) priority of date in placing orders.

2. PRICES—All new Chevrolet cars and trucks will be sold at the authorized prices current at time of delivery.

3. TRADE-INS—No trade-in will be required from any customer who does not have a car to dispose of at the time of the transaction. Customers who do have cars will be given allowances based on honest appraisal and fair value at the time of delivery.

4. ACCESSORIES—No customer will be asked to purchase accessories as a condition of securing delivery.

5. STATUS OF ORDERS—Customers will be informed, upon request, of the true status of their orders in our files.

6. NEW ORDERS—We welcome your order for a new Chevrolet at any time.

by Lynn ChambersHere's Meat for Your Table
(See Recipes Below)Choice Ways with Meat

The large amounts of cattle butchered recently mean more meat on your table and for many of us, it will mean rounding up those delectable, mouth-watering recipes that make meat so good to eat.

There's no meat to waste, but you'll be able to find a variety of cuts with which I'd suggest you do your very best. Cook it carefully so as not to shrink it or dry it out. Season it well and you'll give the family something to cheer about.

First we'll start off with some very flavorful beef recipes. One uses sour cream which will make rich, delicious gravy along with the meat, and the other uses good seasonings which will do the most for the cut of meat.

Swiss Steak in Sour Cream.
(Serves 6 to 8)

3 pounds round steak (2 inches thick)
Flour, salt, pepper, fat
2 onions, sliced
¾ cup water
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons grated cheese
½ teaspoon paprika

Dredge steak with flour and season with salt and pepper. Brown on both sides in hot fat. Add remaining ingredients, cover pan closely and simmer slowly until meat is tender, about 2½ hours.

Beef à la Mode.
(Serves 10)

5 pounds beef rump roast
¾ pound fat salt pork
Pepper
1 clove garlic, chopped
Salt, cayenne, flour
2 onions, sliced
4 tablespoons bacon drippings
1 bay leaf
1 sprig parsley
3 carrots, sliced
1 turnip, sliced
¾ cup boiling water

Cut deep gashes in beef. Slice salt pork very thin, rub with pepper and place in gashes of meat. Rub meat with garlic, salt and cayenne and dredge with flour. Brown onions in bacon drippings, remove onions and place meat in kettle. Place onions, bay leaf and parsley over the meat. Cover and cook slowly until well browned on one side. Turn and brown on other sides. Add vegetables and cook until well browned. Add boiling water, cover closely and simmer for 3 hours or longer, adding more water if necessary. Serve meat with vegetables and gravy.

You should be able to find plenty of pork on the market, and there's no more tempting way of preparing pork chops than with apple stuffing. Here's how it's done:

LYNN SAYS:

Pan-Broiling Meat: If you don't have a broiler and want to broil meats, use a heavy, pre-heated frying pan. Do not use any fat in the pan, except when broiling ground meat. Brown meat in the hot pan on both sides. Season only after it is browned, otherwise the salt will draw out the rich juices.

Never add water or cover the pan for pan broiling. The idea is to make it as close to oven broiling as possible.

When meat is browned, turn down the heat to finish cooking. Turn occasionally to cook evenly, and keep pouring off the fat as it accumulates so that the meat will broil rather than fry.

Lamb chops, small steaks, chops and meat patties are excellent when prepared by this method.

Pork Chops With Apple Stuffing.
(Serves 6)

6 thick pork chops
1 slice salt pork, diced
½ cup bread or cracker crumbs
2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley
3 tart apples, diced
¾ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup sugar
Salt and pepper

Have pork chops cut one to two inches thick, with a pocket cut from the inside. Fry salt pork until crisp, then add celery, and onion and cook until tender. Add diced apples, sprinkle with sugar and cover. Cook slowly until they have a glazed appearance. Add bread crumbs and season. Stuff into pocket of pork chops. Season chops with salt and pepper and brown on both sides in hot skillet. Reduce heat, add a few tablespoons water, cover and cook slowly until done, for about 1½ hours.

Braised Veal Steak.
(Serves 4)

2 pounds veal steak
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk
2 cups crushed cereal flakes
4 tablespoons fat
1 small can mushrooms

Have steak cut one inch thick. Cut into pieces for serving. Dip into mixture of egg and milk, then in cereal flakes. Brown in hot fat and cover with mushrooms and their liquid. Cover tightly and cook slowly until tender, about 45 minutes. Thicken the liquid for gravy and serve over the veal steaks.

If you've been lucky enough to get your share of lamb, then you will want ideas for preparing the different cuts. Because of its delicate flavor, lamb takes a different type of seasoning than other meats.

Lamb Hash in Cabbage Leaves.
(Serves 6)

1 head of cabbage
1 pound lamb, minced
2 onions, chopped
1 cup uncooked rice
Salt and pepper
3 or 4 tomatoes, sliced
¾ cup water
Meat stock

Cook cabbage until tender; drain and separate leaves carefully. Combine lamb, onions, rice, salt and pepper and mix well. On each cabbage leaf place a tablespoon of the mixture and roll, turning ends of the cabbage in to secure the roll. Place the rolls in a greased pan, add tomatoes, water and sufficient stock to half cover the rolls. Cook in a moderate (350 degree) oven or until rice is tender.

Lamb en Brochette.
(Serves 6)

2 pounds lamb steak
3 tablespoons cooking oil
6 tablespoons lemon juice
1 onion, minced
1 teaspoon salt
½ pound mushrooms

Cut lamb into 1-inch squares. Combine oil, lemon juice, onion and salt and pour over lamb and let stand several hours. Drain lamb and place meat on skewers alternately with mushroom caps. Place 4 inches below moderate broiler heat and broil 12 to 15 minutes, turning several times.

Remember that uncooked meat will keep safely only a few hours unless you put it in a refrigerator or very cold place. Ground meat needs colder storage and keeps a shorter time than unground meat. Leftover cooked meat also needs storing in a cold place.

WE DON'T MEAN IT

A newly arrived Chinese immigrant was seated aboard a streetcar which was making its way down one of the main thoroughfares. In his course of watching the local scenery and color he noticed a sign, "Look Out!" Almost instantaneously, the immigrant leaned his head out (to see what by chance he might be missing) and upon doing so, made contact with one of the posts.

When placed in the hands of the interne, his only comment was, "American funny fellow. He tells other fellow to look out and let same fellow lose face."

Alcohol Treatment

One Big Blunder

A certain small-gauge politician seeking to justify his incredibly stupid administration to Prince Talleyrand boasted to the great statesman: "Sir, during my whole life I have been guilty of only one mistake."

"Really, my dear colleague," rejoined the wily prince, "when will it ever end?"

WELL SUPPLIED

"Little boy, do both of your dogs have licenses?"

"Yeah. They're just covered with them!"

Eyes Hop in Reading
In reading a line of type the eyes make a series of hops, and the rapidity of these hops determines largely one's reading speed. About 90 per cent of the time in reading is occupied in focusing and recognizing words, and about 10 per cent in shifting the eyes. Each jump of the eyes in moving forward to a new focus occupies in the average reader the incredibly short time of from one-thirtieth to one-fiftieth of a second.

Lower Eye-Lid
In human beings and most animals the upper lid covers more than half of the eye. However, in elephants, camels and mice the lower lid covers the greater part of the eye.

USING THEIR HEADS

Col. Samuel Weatherby, a Union cavalry officer and a valiant fighter in the war between the states, was a great student of aphorisms and proverbs, favoring his men with a witty saying to cap every occurrence. One day Colonel Weatherby and his hungry company sought to run down and slaughter four wild hogs with their sabres, but without success.

Into the breach came some equally hungry infantrymen, who devised a rude enclosure out of some loose fence rails, and into it drove and incarcerated the desperately wanted porkers.

"Ah," exclaimed the proverb-minded Colonel Weatherby, "see, gentlemen, the pen is still mightier than the sword!"

THEY GROW UP, THOUGH

Tourist—Any big men born here?
Native—None. Only babies born here. Different in the city, I s'pose.

Champions Meet

Patrons of a restaurant noticed tacked on the wall a sheet of paper on which was printed in bold characters:

"The umbrella in the stand below belongs to the champion heavyweight fighter of the world. He is coming right back."

Five minutes later umbrella and paper had disappeared. In their place was this notice:

"Umbrella is now in possession of the champion mutton runner of the world. He is not coming back."

A Last Resort

In that trying period preceding the program, the visiting lecturer was being entertained by a local social leader of the flattery type.

Hard-pressed for conversational topics, she at length inquired, "And do you believe in clubs for women?"

"Oh, yes," said the lecturer. "Yes, indeed," and then, pausing significantly, he added, "but, of course, only when kindness fails."

One Best Reason

The employer listened patiently as the youth sought to explain his failure to convince an important client in a business transaction.

Many reasons were given, with detailed explanations. When the explaining was finished, the employer said, "Young man, there was one other reason."

"What was that, sir?"
"You didn't believe you could do it."

Down the Hatch

An elderly and somewhat innocent couple was vacationing aboard one of the big luxury liners. The wife, who took a lively interest in fellow passengers, remarked to her husband: "Did you notice the huge appetite of the man opposite us at dinner?"

"Yes," replied her husband dryly, "he must be what they call a stowaway."

LONG ODDS

Golfer—Sorry to be so late, boys. It was really a toss-up whether I should come to the club or stay at the office—and I had to toss 15 times.

All Lovelies

Jack Haley tells about visiting the small-town birthplace of a famous Hollywood star. "Does he ever come back here?" Haley asked. "Yep," replied a villager, "he's been back five times."

"Did he ever bring his wife?" "Yep," was the answer, "each time and five prettier girls you never saw!"

Take Your Time, Buddy

"Who's waiting at this table anyway?" demanded the angry customer.

"Madam," replied the busy waitress, "you are, until your turn comes."

VETERANS' BONUS NOT AVAILABLE FOR SOME TIME

Since the action of the people of the state on Tuesday, Nov. 5, in approving the state bonus for World War II veterans, considerable number of inquiries have been received at the local counseling center according to Roy Smith, chairman, and Arthur Dehm, vice chairman, of the Tuscola County Council of Veterans Affairs.

In view of this, the general public and veterans should bear in mind the following facts:

Application blanks haven't been printed yet and cannot be printed until the legislature provides an appropriation therefor.

No agency has been designated to administer bonus payments. The legislature must decide that matter.

No appropriation has been made to pay the salaries of clerks, the printing of application forms, postage, etc., as yet. The legislature must meet and make this appropriation.

Bonus payments cannot be made until the state treasurer sells the bonus bonds to the investing public. So far, the bonds haven't even been printed and we are advised that the State Treasurer cannot have them printed without specific authority of the legislature.

The State of Illinois has just approved a state bonus, also to be paid by a bond issue. The competition between Michigan and Illinois in the sale of the bonds to the public may mean that the sale will go slowly and that some time may elapse before the cash is on hand.

Mr. Smith further stated, however, that this much may be taken for granted by the veterans of this county. The local counseling center located in the basement of the courthouse in Caro will play the same important part in helping the veterans make application for the bonus that it played in the case of the terminal leave applications. Just when blanks will be available and when payment will start is almost anybody's guess.

However, as rapidly as information becomes available W. Emerson Scott, counselor, will have special memorandums on the subject; and will be pleased to counsel with any veteran regarding it.

Goose Pimples

"Goose pimples" are caused by the contraction of tiny muscles attached to the hair follicles, making the hairs "stand on end" and dragging the follicles upwards.

The walrus, familiarly known as the animal with the whiskers, has eyes whose pupils are not circular, but are large horizontal ovals.

A BIT CONFUSED

Under the watchful eye of the traffic cop on the corner, a bleary-eyed, disheveled individual stumbled out of the saloon, wobbling his way to the curb, and fell heavily into the back seat of his car. He was fumbling about on the floor of the conveyance and muttering profane imprecations against some unseen personage, when the policeman stuck his head through the door and demanded, "Come out of there, you! I'm going to run you in for drunkenness!"

"You're just like all the rest," the intoxicated man accused, "always pickin' on a poor, defenseless sick man. Why don't you leave me alone and go find the blasted thief who stole my steering wheel?"

NO USE BEING NICE

The man was flushed and panting, when finally he had climbed the three long flights of stairs and stumbled into Crenshaw's cubbyhole of an office.

"Why," he gasped, "must I climb all those stairs to collect this small overdue account you owe us?"

"Well," replied Crenshaw, "you certainly don't think I'm going to rent a place on the first floor just to accommodate my creditors, do you?"

Storing Honey

Liquid honey should be stored in a warm, dry place.

Brands Old
The brand idea is as old as any known institution of civilization. It marked the beginning of a philosophy in business by which the producer openly assumed a responsibility for his product to the purchaser. Earliest excavations have revealed paving bricks marked with the brand name of the manufacturer, and during the period of the guilds in Europe, the use of brands was highly developed. Infringements were harshly dealt with. A textile manufacturer who omitted his trade-mark was often punished by having his right hand removed.

"Have you noticed any improvement in your son since he graduated from college?" one farmer asked the other.

"Well, yes, I guess so. At least he does things differently now. For instance, instead of saying 'Get up' to the horses, he says, 'Come on, team, let's go!'"

To Free World Of Drug Traffic

Atomic Energy Authorities Hope to Find Way to Control Evil.

NEW YORK.—Studied for light it may shed on the machinery of atomic energy control, the United Nations narcotics division is carrying forward the League of Nations plan to free the world of illicit traffic in opium by the control of raw materials.

Atomic energy authorities have studied the already existing international machinery for controlling dangerous drugs by means of sanctions against violator-nations, as offering some precedent for their own problem in creating a world-wide atomic energy authority with power to control resources for nuclear fission.

The League of Nations progressed to a point just short of establishing global controls over the production of raw materials for opium and other dangerous narcotics. By adding to the Hague international convention of 1912, four other international conventions (1924, '25, '31 and '36), the league effected international control over stocks of raw materials, manufacture, trade and consumption of narcotics.

Applied 57 Times. Against violator-nations, the permanent central opium board (that with the supervisory body administered the conventions) might ask other nations to use the weapon of embargo. Since 1930, such sanctions were applied 57 times, it was reported at the United Nations secretariat.

The League of Nations' 1939 proposed convention for limiting narcotics raw material production is now being studied in the narcotics division of the United Nations secretariat, in the light of revisions the draft will need to meet postwar conditions.

It is expected that the United Nations, since it is not a government, will not get around to calling an international conference on the subject for two years.

Meet in October.

However, the first meeting of the United Nations commission on narcotic drugs will take place here the third week in October. Consideration of the United Nations secretariat's proposals for the revision of the 1939 proposals on limiting narcotic raw-material production will be the commission's most urgent business.

Other subjects of the meeting will include survey and improvement of narcotics control, particularly in the war devastated countries, and the transfer of the functions of the League of Nations advisory committee on traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs to the United Nations narcotics commission.

This is the only permanent commission of the economic and social council that it created at its first session in London. Members of the commission are Canada, China, Egypt, France, India, Iran, Mexico, the Netherlands, Peru, Poland, Turkey, the United Kingdom, the United States, the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia.

Million Veterans Are

Now Attending School
WASHINGTON, D. C. — The number of World War II veterans in school or other form of training has passed the million mark for the first time.

The total at the end of June, the Veterans' administration reported recently, stood at 1,022,725. Of that number 930,512 qualified under the G.I. bill and the remaining 92,213 under the vocational training act for which only veterans with a disability are eligible.

Roughly 3,300,000 applications have been filed under the two acts. Educational applications filed under the G.I. bill totaled 2,924,115. Of these 56,896 were pending decision, and 9,066 had been approved. Of the 2,858,169 approved applications, 1,693,471 have not yet entered training.

Society Drinks Soda Pop

In Mansion Whisky Built

JERICHO, N. Y.—On the grounds of historic Ivy Manor, built here 146 years ago from profits realized from the sale of whisky, approximately 400 members of Alcoholics Anonymous made merry at an all-day picnic—by drinking soda pop.

Today the 26-room mansion—once the scene of "bull-baiting"—is a sanatorium used to rehabilitate chronic drunkards. "Bull-baiting," a manor spokesman said, "is an ancient Roman sport in which men would up an all-night drinking session by setting a pack of starved dogs on a bull."

Slap at Emperor Gets

Publicity in Jap Press

TOKYO.—For the first time in Japanese history, full publicity is being given a case involving an alleged violation of the dignity of the emperor. The defendant, Matsutaro Matsushima, is accused of having drawn a placard that pictured Hirohito as saying, "I am eating a stomachful while you people starve and die." The sign was carried during a food demonstration last May.

of agricultural statistics (U. S. department of agriculture) show that farm production costs have more than doubled since the five-year period, 1935-39. Production costs jumped from 5½ billions to 11½ billions.

This increase of cost to the farmer does not include such items as clothing, household goods, automobiles, trucks, and so forth—things which farmers need just as city people need.

The Michigan Milk Producers' association, serving some 15,000 Michigan dairy farmers, made a study this year of production costs. Whereas milk sold for $3.90 per hundredweight, including federal subsidy, production costs averaged $3.78. The profit per cwt. was 12 cents.

And what was the hourly wage of the dairy farmer—the man who is required to make a substantial investment in dollars for buildings, cows and equipment?

In these days of boom-time wages, you'll be surprised to know that the farmer and farm workers receive the generous sum of 74 cents an hour.

During the war the price of dairy products was relatively low in comparison to industrial wages. Butter retailed at approximately 56 cents a pound, milk at 15 to 17 cents a quart.

Since June dairy prices have gone up temporarily—butter as high as $1 a pound, and milk to 20 and 22 cents a quart.

Charles Figy, state director of agriculture, recently forecast that prices would remain "firm" for several years, due to limited production and an expectancy of continued demand.

The American industrial situation is full of paradoxes—facts which appear to be a direct contradiction.

For example: George T. Christopher, president of the Packard Motor Car Company, Detroit, said the other day that absenteeism is greater today than it was during war-time. "More absenteeism! Why?" you ask. Christopher's conclusion is that many workers shun work because they are getting the highest wage in history! "Here is a summary in the case of one woman employee who was absent and was interviewed by a nurse sent to find out if she was ill," he said. "The woman declared quite frankly that her 'spending money was backing up' and she wanted time to get rid of it."

The worker's candid comment explains the illogic of why we have low production per worker in a period of our greatest prosperity—a veritable fantastic situation. By reverse, you may assume that employee production will increase in a period of hard times when spending money does not back up!

It reminds us of a remark made by the director of a major state department following the Nov. 5 election. Reading the news that the people had voted a $270 million bonus and had diverted 7 per cent of the sales tax back to local governments, he remarked: "This department should proceed with its previously adopted program of state-wide improvements. I am convinced the people want to spend money."

While strikes have been more numerous in 1946 than in any war-time year, industrial production continues at a high rate. Try to explain that. In fact, we have just about attained Wallace's promised land of "full employment" within 12 or so months after V-J Day.

Unless labor and industry stage a costly cat-and-dog fight paralyzing our industrial production, economists now predict a mild economic "recession" in 1947 to be followed by a fairly stable period of good times. Federal labor courts, proposed by Senator Homer Ferguson, would assist the nation in averting disastrous nation-wide tie-ups.

As we analyze political trends, the Nov. 5 "mandate" was more of a protest against the federal administration in power than a clear-cut directive to victorious Republicans. We were weary of restrictions, tired of shortages, disgusted with bureaucracy.

It is easy to move toward the right when your pocketbook is full.

It is another matter to do so when your pocketbook is empty.

"Do you know what a waffle is?" "Sure, it's a pancake with a non-skid tread."

Aim to Please

A long-suffering diner noted that his coffee was served without a spoon. "This coffee," he remarked pointedly, "is going to be pretty hot to stir with my finger."

A short time later the waiter returned with another cup of coffee. "Maybe this isn't so hot, sir," he beamed.

CRIMINAL AT LARGE

Down in southern Alabama a young woman discovered that the young man with whom she was in love was already married. With tragic promptitude she wrote him a note of farewell, added the bitter postscript "Good-bye, Casanova," and committed suicide.

The police questioned the man, but could bring no charge against him so he was released.

"Well," remarked a deputy, "that closes the case."

"Not by a long shot," rejoined the sheriff. "Go out and bring in that other fellow."

"What other fellow?"

"That guy Casanova."

OUT OF THE MOUTH OF BABES

An elderly lady, the widow of a Roman officer, had for many years appealed to the Italian government for recognition of her husband's services, but had never received an answer. At length she was struck with the happy thought of addressing a plea to the infant daughter of the king, "Her Royal Highness the Princess Yolanda."

When the letter was handed to the king, he read the communication, first with surprise, and then with amusement. Assuming a grave expression, he bade his chamberlain take it to the princess and read it to her. The chamberlain went to the baby and gravely read the letter aloud to her, and then returned to the king.

"Well," said the king, "what did the princess say?"

"Nothing, your majesty."

"Very well. Silence gives consent. Honor the lady's petition."

First Whites in Iowa

First whites ever to set foot upon what now is Iowa were Father Marquette and Louis Joliet, the latter a fur-trader. In 1673 they explored west of the Great Lakes, and from the banks of the Mississippi viewed the bluffs overlooking the present site of McGregor.

No Rainy Days
"Mother, did you have many showers on you before you were married?" asked the daughter who had just come from a shower.
"No, dear," replied mother sweetly. "In my day we didn't have showers; then it was all sunshine."

Raw Cabbage Best
Air, water and heat are the thieves that rob cabbage of its vitamin C. So the less you cut, cook or have to store cabbage the more vitamin value you receive for your money. Young green cabbage fresh from the garden, washed and eaten raw is the ideal way to get the most flavor and food value that cabbage can give.

Hero Goes to Relatives

CHICAGO. — Lt. Lawrence E. Teich, 23, missing since the Jap attack on Bataan in December, 1941, has left an estate of $175,623.

Teich, son of Curt Teich, postcard publisher, officially was declared dead last February 1 by the war department, ending hopes of his family that he might have been held in a Jap prison camp.

The inheritance tax return disclosing the estate's value was on file in county court.

The estate is to be divided evenly among Teich's mother, Mrs. Anna L. Teich, 535 Longwood drive, Glenview, three brothers and a sister.

Teich, an army lieutenant, went overseas in 1941 shortly after receiving his commission.

Dog Trapped on Mountain Ledge Saved by Rescuers

ATLANTA. — Several men with rifles were trying, as a matter of humanity, they thought, to kill a dog trapped far below on the side of Stone mountain.

Elias B. Nour, 32, had another idea.

The dog was cowering on a ledge near the abandoned memorial to the leaders of the Confederacy 400 feet below on the vertical side.

With the help of two men, Nour took 200 feet of rope and made his way by relays down to the dog.

The dog, a Boston terrier, was nearly dead from thirst and exposure to the sun. How he got there is a mystery.

SIXTY YEARS OF LIGHT..

Just sixty years ago this week, electric lights winked on for a handful of Detroiters—eighty-nine, to be exact. Amid applause and excitement, four little generators in the Edison power plant at Washington Blvd. and State St. (which now houses Detroit Edison's downtown office) had begun to hum.

As overworked housewives cleaned the soot from kerosene lamp chimneys, they thought enviously of the new lamps. Off and on, they had been thinking of them ever since Thomas Edison invented the incandescent lamp seven years before. But, though some of these women might have foreseen a day when they could flood their homes with sunlight at the flip of a switch, they couldn't have dreamed of a time when lamps would purify the air they breathed or sterilize the food they cooked. And they would have been incredulous had they been told that electricity soon would be accomplishing a score of household chores.

Similarly, the husbands of these women, reading by flickering lamps about John L. Sullivan's latest battle, might have looked forward to a day of better lighting. It isn't likely, though, that many of them foresaw the growth of southeastern Michigan into a great industrial giant. How could they visualize vast factories lighted day and night by hundreds of thousands of fluorescent lamps?

Yes, it was an historic event for Michigan. But the Edison Illuminating Company did not consider itself a public benefactor—bringing Edison's priceless gift of light to a darkened city. Far from it. It thought of itself as just another small business—it had little realization of its destiny.

The first bills were high. Many of those eighty-nine customers used their current recklessly, demonstrating their lamps to friends and playing with them as though they were toys. It was November, when the nights are long and the days are dark. And the rate was more than six times as much as you pay today.

As people saw the advantages that electricity had for them, they sought electric service. The business grew. With its growth, service improved and rates began to go down. They are still going down.

Today, more than 850,000 customers are served with light and power by Detroit Edison. Quite a contrast to the eighty-nine of sixty years ago.

PRACTICAL FARM BUILDINGS

Safety Bull Pen

By W. J. Dryden, WNU Farm Editor.

The use of a safety bull pen is not only a necessity but is a practical method of protecting the bull, the owner or attendant, his family and visitors from injuries caused by an enraged bull.

The Arkansas pen provides a safe, convenient and time-saving means of handling the bull. More years of service are possible and there is little chance of spreading disease from one herd to another through should be carefully planned to include shade, water, good drainage and convenience. The type of material used in the construction of the bull pen, shed and breeding rack will depend, in part, upon local supplies and prices. It should be remembered, however, that the grade of lumber is important. Cheap lumber will prove expensive in this construction. Too many knots or defects in the lumber will soon re-bull service, when the safety pen and breeding chute are used.

The time required in feeding and handling a dairy bull in a safety pen is no greater than that required in handling any other animal on the farm, especially if water and pasture are provided in the exercising yard.

A careful study of the use and construction of the safety bull pen suit in bull breaking through with injury to himself or to others.

In this type of construction the bull can be kept in confinement so that he may be stabled, watered, bedded and led back and forth to the breeding pen without the attendant necessarily coming in contact with the bull. The building problems of every farmer will be individual ones. Each farmer has a different system of management, and arrangeand its provision for convenience and ease in handling the bull for service, may result in slight modifications to these plans. The main requirements are shelter, adequate room and sanitation for the bull and safety and convenience for the attendant.

The best construction would consist of a six-inch concrete or smooth

In constructing the pens for the bull pen, it is often possible to utilize timber found on the farm. These may be used as posts as well as cross pieces. The first requirement of the bull pen is strength, and only such materials as are known to possess unlimited strength should be used.

It is always advisable to build separate bull pens for each bull, and in most cases it has been found advisable to place them so that the bulls will not be in sight of each other at any one time.

Causes of Damage

1. Siding boards broken by livestock.
2. Lack of protection on inside of barn.
3. Not sufficient room back of stalls.

MYSTERIOUS

Harry Houdini, master magician, carefully guarded the secrets of his trade. When people pressed him for explanations as to how certain tricks were performed he managed always to be tactfully evasive.

"Mr. Houdini, for years I've attended all your performances," pleaded one of his fans. "And I am more balked than ever. Just how do you make a whole live mountainous elephant disappear?"

"That's a good question," replied Houdini with his usual finesse. "Why, even the elephant has no idea how it's done."

Just an Acquaintance

An elaborately dressed woman arrived late for the wedding. As she plowed through the church door an usher demanded her invitation.

"I have none," she snapped.

"Are you a friend of the groom?" queried the usher, timidly.

"Certainly not!" Her voice rose indignantly. "I am the bride's mother!"

DOUBLE-HEADER

Back in the pre-Civil war days, a Kentucky judge habitually carried a bottle of corn in his side pocket.

A rubber tube ran from that corn up to his pipe. The judge would sit on the bench all day puffing, without any smoke coming from the bowl, and in the afternoon he got pretty mellow.

He came out of the courthouse one afternoon and threw a saddle on his horse, ready to go home. A young lawyer standing there called to him: "Hey, Judge, you've got the saddle on backward!"

The judge looked at him with contempt and replied: "How do you know in what direction I am going?"

Just Another Step

"Well, dear," he alighted, "what if I have loved another? Don't you know it has only prepared me for the greater, higher love I have for you?"

"Seems fair enough," she reluctantly agreed, "but how do I know that the love you now have for me isn't preparing you for a greater, higher love for some other girl?"

NIFTY RETORT

A very thin man met a very fat man in the hotel lobby.

"From the looks of you," said the fat man, "there might have been a famine."

"Yes," was the reply, "and from the looks of you, you might have caused it."

Strong Hint

A customer sat down at a table in a smart restaurant and tied a napkin around his neck. The scandalized manager called a waiter and instructed him, "Try to make him understand, as tactfully as possible, that that's not done."

Said the thoughtful waiter to the customer: "Pardon me, sir. Shave or hair cut, sir?"

Handicapped

"Children," said the teacher, "be diligent and steadfast, and you will succeed. Take the case of George Washington. Do you remember my telling you of the great difficulty George Washington had to contend with?"

"Yes, ma'am," said a little boy. "He couldn't tell a lie."

Napoleon Calling!

A distinguished visitor to an insane asylum went to the telephone and found difficulty in getting his connection. Exasperated, he shouted to the operator:

"Young lady, do you know who I am?"

"No," came the calm reply, "but I know where you are."

Playing to Both Sides

A good many of us in our attitude toward the evils of this world are rather like the dying Irishman.

"Well, Pat," said a friend at the bedside, "have ye made peace with God and denounced the devil?"

"Shure," said Pat, "I've made my peace—but I'm in no position to antagonize anybody!"

Black Magic

How many times has the math professor said: "Just watch the blackboard while I go through it again."

The Golden Stool

By ETHELYN PARKINSON

McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
WNU Features.

AT THEIR first breakfast in Lincolnwood, Ellen Hamilton asked anxiously, "John, will you look up your Uncle Comstock? Or shall we wait for him to call?"

John's lip twitched. "Let's get settled first, dear. And aren't you expecting Lucille Smythe and her father soon? You'll be busy."

"John, I'll certainly have time for Uncle Comstock."

Ellen set out to find him that day. He wasn't in the phone book, so she consulted the city directory. Comstock Whitney Hamilton resided at 33 Reber street. Ellen took a taxi across the river, down Main street, across another rather smelly little river, to a strangely rural looking community.

"You must be wrong," she said to the driver. "I'm looking for the residence of Mr. Comstock Whitney Hamilton."

"That's it, ma'am." He pointed to a tumble-down cottage. "But," he grinned, "if you want to see old 'Ham,' look for him in front of Pete's Place at the east end of the bridge. He's held down a bench there for twenty years."

"Are you sure you're not mistaken?" Ellen asked frigidly.

"Ma'am, everyone in Lincolnwood knows those old fixtures in front of Pete's—swappin' lies and spittin' there's old Ham, old Joe Horner—"

"Never mind," Ellen said. "Take me there."

That night she said to John, "You should have seen how overcome poor Uncle Comstock was. I felt so ashamed! Your own uncle, sitting on that hard old bench with those horrid men! It's weeks since he's seen a barber. He was speechless when I told him who I was, that we're living on Prospect avenue and that we insist on his moving in with us. I don't suppose he dreamed anyone would rescue him."

John blinked. "Are you sure we can make him happy?"

"Oh, yes! He'll love being in this house, having nice clothes and knowing really congenial people."

John smiled. "Set a frog on a golden stool..."

"What's that?"

"Nothing," John said. "When do we move him?"

Ellen considered. Lucille Smythe would be in town the next week on her way east. She was a bit snooty. Her father would be with her—he'd once lived in this town. Ellen had seen pictures of Lucille's father, a dignified old gentleman with a pointed white beard.

"Uncle Comstock will come at once," Ellen said firmly.

They left Uncle Comstock's cottage just as it was. He wouldn't need anything there. He was silent on the way to Prospect Avenue. "He's simply bewildered," Ellen whispered to John.

Uncle Comstock looked sweet in his new clothes. Ellen supervised the barber's work. A white mustache and pointed beard made him positively distinguished. After dinner he said he wished he'd brought his plug of chewing tobacco. Ellen patted his hand. "Darling, John has some good cigars." He smiled wistfully.

He did just as Ellen said. "I wonder what he's thinking," Ellen sighed. "He seems so pitiful and wistful, doesn't he?"

"More every day," John said.

Lucille was due Saturday. At ten she phoned from the station. Ellen found her quite upset. "I've lost Daddy. He went out to talk to the baggage master—and now he's disappeared!"

They looked about and gave up. John met them for luncheon and they shopped. There was a bus tie-up, and they walked across the bridge for the Prospect Avenue bus. As they approached Pete's Place, Ellen saw five or six old "fixtures" on the bench. She thought of poor Uncle Comstock and shivered.

Suddenly her blood froze. Uncle Comstock was sitting right there with the others, chewing tobacco! Desperately, Ellen walked and talked fast, calling Lucille's attention to a landmark across the street. They were safely past when Lucille exclaimed, "I've dropped a package!"

"I'll run back," Ellen said quickly. Then her heart sank as she saw a man rise from the bench, pick up something from the curb and start toward them. But it wasn't Uncle Comstock. It was another old "fixture" who approached them.

"Why—Daddy!" Lucille gasped. "I didn't see you. What are you doing here? Getting the latest on the town?" She laughed nervously. "Daddy always talks to everyone. Come along, Daddy!" He was very dignified, but he looked pitiful, wistful. Lonely. Like Uncle Comstock.

"John," Ellen said later, "what's the rest of your little poem, 'Set a frog on a golden stool'?"

"Guess," John grinned.

"Is it. 'Back he'll hop into the pool'?"

"Exactly."

"Well, it's true," Ellen admitted.

"Well, let Uncle Comstock have Pete's bench again," she smiled.
