

Reserve Champion Steer Award to Billie Zinnecker

Cass City Livestock Club "Stole the Hereford Show" at Detroit Jr. Exposition

Members of the Cass City Livestock Club are feeling jubilant over their success at the Junior Livestock Show at Detroit this week after winning reserve champion steer of the exposition and "stealing the show" in the Hereford class where 125 calves were in competition for awards.

The reserve champion award went to Billie Zinnecker. In the Hereford class, 1st prize went to Don Loomis; 2nd, Dorothy Loomis; 5th, Robert Wood; 7th, Louis Langenburg; 15th, Alex Murray. In the Shorthorn class, Cass City won the following awards: 8rd, James Turner; 6th, Keith Little; 12th, Harold Little; 15th, Grace Graham. Forty animals were exhibited in this class.

Approximately 90 steers were shown in the Aberdeen Angus class. Second award went to Billie Zinnecker; 9th to A. J. Murray; 15th to Marilyn Loney; 20th to Elwyn Helwig; 24th to Don Karr, all of Cass City.

The cross-bred lambs exhibited by the Graham Sisters of Cass City placed among the high five in that class.

Fourth place went to Louis Langenburg for two steers shown by one exhibitor, and for the best three steers from one county, the 2nd award was won by the trio from Cass City.

Billie Zinnecker's reserve champion steer of the Detroit show this week is a half brother of the grand champion Angus female exhibited by Billie at East Lansing early in September. Billie, a sixth grade pupil in the Cass City School and a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zinnecker, has been in 4-H club work two years.

Approximately 800 4-H club boys and girls, exhibitors at the Junior Show, were guests at a banquet at the Hotel Statler, Detroit, on Wednesday night.

Community Club Viewed Movies

Members of the Cass City Community Club were interested in viewing sound movies screened at the school auditorium Tuesday evening. The first, "Let's Go Fishing," was most popular with piscatorial fans and it revealed right and wrong methods of casting a fishing line. The second, "Magic in the Air," revealed the wonders of television, and the third, "Parade of Progress," dealt with the improvements in the methods of transportation. Horace Bulen was program chairman.

The program followed an excellent dinner prepared by the Ladies' Aid of the Sunshine Methodist Church.

Retiring President Horace Pinney expressed his appreciation for the fine cooperation of officers, committees and members of the Community Club.

The officers recently chosen by the board of directors for 1947 are: President, Harry L. Little; vice president, Dr. Delbert Rawson; secretary, Murray DeFrain; treasurer, Alger Freiburger.

ANOTHER MEMENTO TO KNAPP FROM McPHAIL

"Larry" McPhail, manager of the New York Yankees, and a former Cass City boy, has remembered Alfred J. Knapp, a friend of long standing, with another baseball memento. On Monday, there arrived in Cass City for "Al," a Louisville slugger baseball bat which was autographed with the names of players of the Boston Red Sox, 1946 champions of the American League. Not so long ago, "Larry" sent "Al" a baseball with the autographed names of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

$2,000 Paid for Jensen Farms Heifer

Jensen Farms, Marlette, received the highest price paid for any female at the National Hereford sale held in Chicago last week in connection with the International Livestock Exposition. Their two-year-old Hereford was declared first in a class of 15 prize winners from various parts of the United States. This animal later sold in the sale for $2,000 and was purchased by R. A. Cullennain, Fremont, Ill.

The second highest female in the sale was also a Jensen Farms yearling animal purchased by O. J. Richards, Port Huron, owner of Richland Farms at Avoca, St. Clair County.

The Richland Farm showed the first prize yearling Hereford in the same show in a class of 30 females.

Landon Team Wins Championship of First Schedule

Cecil Larkin, in Individual Averages, is Top Bowler in Cass City League

G. W. Landon's team is the winner of the first schedule championship in the Cass City Bowling League and Cecil Larkin, in individual averages, is top bowler.

Members of the Landon group are G. W. Landon, captain; Dr. Don Miller, Hugh Bogart, Fred Steinman and Robert Hunter.

Frank Reid's team threw a big scare into the Landon squad in their final series, and while the Landon team were able to pick up enough points to land the championship of the first schedule and the right to bowl against the winners of the final schedule, they had nothing to brag about even though they won the first game from Reid's by two pins.

The Reid team came back in the second game to grab a point by 10 lone pins which left the Landon five really needing the final game with enough extra pins to give them the extra point. They did accomplish their task, but the 15 pins difference had them worried right down to the final frame. Shorty Greenleaf, a member of the Reid pinsters, was outstanding in the match and his vain effort to humiliate the Landonites almost proved successful as his 200 game nearly turned the trick.

The runner-up teams that had a possible chance to win top honors going into the final week, each swept through their series with four point wins. They were Willy's, Ludlow's and McCullough's, but the Landon team were not to be denied and so the three points which they added to their totals was enough to give them the needed margin for victory.

Nelson Willy's team waited until the final week to stage their most Turn to Bowling, page 8.

Marvin Decided on a Quick Shot

From Novesta Correspondent.
Marvin Pratt, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pratt, did not need to go deer hunting to get a thrill. On Wednesday in the absence of his parents he entertained an unwelcome visitor in the basement of their home, and promptly proceeded to load the 22 and planted a shot squarely between the eyes. Marvin says the reason for no odor, "I shot first, and asked questions after."

The want ads are newsy, too.

Economists Expect Lower Farm Prices in the Coming Year

Will Be Among the First to Decline in the Downward Adjustment

Farm commodity prices will be among the first to decline when the downward adjustment of the general price level occurs, Michigan State College farm economists predicted today.

Although this downward movement in prices will probably be of short duration, it likely will be followed by a period similar to that in the "twenties." Such a period will be one which is generally prosperous, but during which time agriculture will have some serious problems. That is the opinion of Dr. Clifford M. Hardin, speaking for the farm economists preparing the 1947 farm outlook information.

The period of inflation, which still exists, has brought or will bring most farm product prices to an all-time high. The downward adjustment in the general price level seems likely for mid-year of 1947.

Federal farm price supports will cushion the downward adjustment. Corn, wheat, hogs, eggs, butterfat, milk, chickens, turkeys, dry beans, soybeans, flaxseed and potatoes are included in the support program. Absent from the list are cattle and lambs.

Hardin pointed out that as consumers' goods — such as automobiles, refrigerators and radios — become available in greater supply, the consumer will spend less on food and more on these commodities.

The per capita production and consumption of agricultural produce is at a very high level. Prospects are for reduced foreign demand for agricultural products along with reduced expenditures by domestic consumers.

Good management will be needed for farmers to show a profit from farming in 1947. In the last five years farm receipts were high and although expenses likewise were high, it was easier to make money. Income is likely to drop in 1947, while most expenses will continue at or above the 1946 level. This means a considerable drop in net earnings.

"I've seen the days when you could hardly get through that road with an ox team," Mr. O'Kelly remarked as he greeted the Chronicle force.

Michigan to Seek Way to Avoid a 70 Million Deficit

Solutions Proposed Include Quite a Variety of New Taxes

Two "ifs" are being linked to the ascending career of Kim Sigler in public service. Here they are: If a Republican is elected president in November, 1948, and if the president-elect appoints Michigan's senior senator Arthur H. Vandenberg to be secretary of state, Sigler could be appointed by the Michigan governor in 1949 to fill Vandenberg's unexpired term.

Political speculation has always thrived at the state capital.

Rumors during the four-year administration of Governor Harry P. Kelly had him elevated to the U. S. Senate and to the Michigan State Supreme Court. The same will be true about Governor Sigler.

But politics is notoriously fickle, and much could happen between 1947 and 1949. In 1944 Kelly polled 1,208,000 votes for governor. In July, 1945, he chose not to run for re-election. Sigler's vote on Nov. 5 was 1,003,878 with a majority of 359,336, the biggest margin of victory since 1928.

Currently, Sigler and the Republicans are riding the crest of popularity.

But the hazards ahead are numerous. Nearly 50 per cent of the state representatives and state senators will be new and, hence, inexperienced in knowledge of state government. Sigler's so-called "cabinet" will have a new secretary of state, attorney general and auditor general. Hale Brake, state treasurer, becomes the veteran in the political ring—with the exception of Dr. Eugene B. Elliot, state superintendent of public instruction to Michigan Mirror, page 7.

Missionary Group Has Christmas Program

Some 25 members attended a meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary Society, Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Robert Gross was the hostess. Devotions were given by Mrs. Alex Milligan. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Milligan reported on social action. For the program, Mrs. B. C. Patterson read a Christmas story and Mrs. Ella Vance gave a Christmas poem. There was an exchange of gifts among members and the gifts have been passed on to the primary department of the church.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. R. A. McNamee and Mrs. Charles Wilsey served Christmas cookies and ice cream.

The January meeting will be held one week later and Mrs. John Cole will be the hostess on Jan. 9.

The Gross home was decorated throughout in keeping with Christmas and a pretty Christmas tree created the atmosphere of the holiday.

Mail Regulations Back to Normal

Now that the coal strike has been terminated, Postmaster Alice M. Bigelow has received notice that the postal regulation changes which were published in the Chronicle last week are no longer effective.

From the Post Office Department comes this information:

"Effective at once Order No. 33433 dated Dec. 3, 1946, published in the Postal Bulletin of Dec. 5, 1946, placing a temporary limitation on the weight of first-class matter and on the weight and size of fourth-class matter effective 12:01 a. m., Dec. 6th, is terminated. Normal acceptance of mail including that for foreign mail currently in effect prior to order No. 33433 should be resumed at once."

Substation Capacity Is Being Increased

The substation of the Detroit Edison Co. on West Pine street through which the Cass City community receives its electric current, is being remodeled to increase its capacity to care better for the needs of the section of country it serves. A portable substation is being used here during the remodeling operations.

Baked Apples

Epicures differ as to the qualities of the perfect baked apple. In general, however, the ideal baked apple is the one that holds its shape and retains its natural color, has smooth unbroken skin, is tender and juicy but not mushy, and is delicately sweet. Best apples for baking are the Jonathan, Stayman Winesap, Delicious, and Grimes Golden.

Worth its wait in Golden Moments

THE first big moment comes, of course, when you step out of your door, and there's your very own Buick, all ready and waiting.

The next one comes when you roll down the street in this handsome creation—and practically feel the eyes of the passers-by following.

You get another lift the first time you meet a hill, and the voice of your Fireball straight-eight engine drops from baritone to bass as it meets the challenge — and tramps the grade down into easy levelness.

Then some night you'll find yourself alone on a quiet moonlit country road—and the whisper of your engine, the soft tread of your coil-sprung wheels, your gentle, cradled, easy stride, will fill your soul with a peace you wouldn't trade for worlds.

The simple truth is that it's not only an automobile you wait for when you wait for a Buick — it's an endless series of sweet satisfactions.

It's not just a matter of size and room and Fireball power and all-coil springing, as any Buick owner will tell you—it's the wonderful way all these add up to make a constant flow of golden moments.

You'd like those moments to start coming soon. So would the whole, hard-hitting crew that's waging relentless war against delays and shortages to produce Buicks for you — and fast.

But the most important thing — when you think it out — is what you get rather than when you get it — and what you really want is found nowhere else but in Buick.

Why not settle your mind on that and be done with it? You can place your order now for future delivery, with or without a car to turn in — though we like to get trade-ins for our used-car buyers.

IT WAS three nights before Christmas and Margaret was packing to go home. Contrary to traditional sentiment, she was not happy about it, for she had planned to stay in New York with Ralph. With considerable forethought she had even planned the day; church in the morning, Christmas dinner with Amy and Bill, a walk down Fifth avenue at twilight, a snack of supper, and the theater.

But Ralph had been invited to a "swell house party in Philadelphia." Margaret slammed down the top of her suitcase. She could have borne up under a Christmas with a lonely mother, or a widowed sister. "What about me?" she had longed to cry out, but she had instead, smiled and said that it was just too marvelous, wondering meanwhile if Mr. Johnson would let her have an extra day off. Ralph had only to go to Philadelphia, two hours away, while she had no one within 500 miles!

Several hours later she stood on the porch of a white frame house. Now she was ready, bag in hand, for the midnight train. As she waited for the taxicab, she smoothed her black tailored woolen frock over her slim hips. If New York hadn't been particularly kind to her, it had at least taught her how to dress!

She couldn't sleep on the train. Closing her eyes, she saw the cluttered desk which she had left at Roosevelt's Advertising agency, and Mr. Johnston's kindly face when he had told her to go home for Christmas. She saw Ralph's desk in the manager's office, Ralph dancing in Philadelphia, Ralph opening Christmas gifts — and just Ralph, with whom she would never again share good times.

There was a three-hour wait for the local train at Pittsburgh, but Margaret was too tired and depressed to leave the station. After buying a magazine featuring an article on men, and an astrological delineation of her birthsign, she settled herself into the practical task of trying to determine her future in this most unpredictable world. Several hours later, not much wiser but much more weary, she stood on the porch of a white frame house.

The door opened and Margaret blinked.

"I win!" shouted Ralph triumphantly. "She came on the midnight train!"

Mrs. Brown rushed out to the hallway and enfolded her daughter in an ample, motherly embrace.

"Margaret! Why child, you're a sight! Your face is as black as coal!"

Margaret withdrew herself from her mother's arms and looked at the two of them coolly. "Well, if it isn't asking too much, just what is this? Not a weekend in Philadelphia, I believe!"

Ralph took her bag and magazine and helped her out of her coat. "Don't be like that, Margaret! I bet your mother a box of candy against a mince pie that you'd come down on the midnight train."

"And what, exactly, are you doing here?"

"Margaret!" chided her mother. "I invited myself. A surprise for you, and then I wanted to talk to your Dad about something..."

Ralph was awkwardly turning the magazine in his hands. "Jumping fishes!" he exclaimed. "Look at the little red book!" He opened it to a center page, and read: "The natives of this sign are more than likely to have short tempers."

"Give it to me!"

Ralph held it tantalizingly out of reach and Margaret stamped her foot. "Ralph Wells," she said, "I come home for a rest and the first thing you do is make fun of me. If I have a complete breakdown it's your fault. Give me that book!"

"There, there," comforted her mother. "You go upstairs and get washed. You'll feel better."

Margaret started up the stairs, then turned in sudden remembrance. "Are you staying over Christmas?" she asked Ralph.

"I had expected to."

"You might as well. There's a dance Christmas Eve."

At the top of the steps she turned again. "And don't forget, half of that pie is mine. After all, I did the coming home!"

"Okay."

"She's tickled to death to see you," whispered Mother Brown cautiously. She patted his arm, and Ralph understood.

60 Million Bees Go to Florida

Sixty million Michigan honey bees, enclosed in a screened truck for the protection of the public, were rolling southward to Florida early this week.

The migration is sponsored by Paul D. Thompson, of Caro, with the backing of Herman Crowther, of Cass City, and Eldon Field, of Deford. Two war veterans, Avery Gill and Richard Hess, are piloting the truck to the Florida orange groves.

Thompson contends that Michigan beekeepers would better themselves financially and acquire a beneficial sun tan along with it, if they would move their honey makers south in the winter. Not only do the bees produce nothing here during the winter, but they consume 50 or 60 pounds of honey per hive.

Andrew H. Campbell Died in Seattle

Andrew H. Campbell was born in Ellington, Mich., June 14, 1884, and passed away in Seattle, Wash., on Nov. 5, 1946, aged 62 years. He was the son of William J. and Lura Campbell and while still a small child moved with his parents to Cass City, where he grew to young manhood. In 1906, he went to Colfax, Wash., where he worked as bookkeeper for a railroad contractor.

On Oct. 29, 1912, he was married at Kalispell, Mont., to Miss Myndwell Jeffrey of Cass City. He was afterward employed as bookkeeper at the general store in Fortine, Mont., and at a chemical plant in Eureka, Mont. Later he spent a number of years in Alaska with the Seims-Carlson Co. Failing health brought him back to Seattle to rejoin his family.

Besides his wife, he is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Charlotte Fleck of Petersburg, Alaska; Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, Mrs. Helen Staff and Mrs. Jean Jones of Seattle and Mrs. Catherine Bond of Wenatchee, Wash. There are also six brothers and sisters: Mrs. H. P. Weydemeyer of Fortine, Mont., Chauncey Campbell of Detroit, Mrs. W. C. Saigeon of Memphis, Tenn., Grant and Harry Campbell of Kalispell, Mont., and Mrs. R. E. Metz of Oregon City, Ore.

Funeral services were held in Seattle Nov. 7. The body was cremated and the ashes sent to Kalispell, Mont., for burial beside his parents in the Conrad Memorial Cemetery.

Lamb Prices May Hold, But Cattle, Hogs Could Drop

More favorable lamb prices, but probable declines in present high prices received for hogs and cattle in 1947 are predicted by Michigan State College animal husbandry and farm economics specialists.

The livestock outlook analysis was made by G. A. Brown and G. A. Brannan of the animal husbandry department and D. H. Stark and M. E. Cravens of the agricultural economics department.

Meat supplies in 1947 appear adequate, although about two per cent less than the 144 pounds per person in 1944. The supply, however, is 15 per cent above the 1935-1939 average. The tonnage of hogs, lamb and mutton slaughtered in 1947 is likely to be below, while beef and veal slaughtered may run higher than 1946.

The cattle market could become affected by a more-than-normal liquidation due to an economic or drought situation. The large number of cattle on farms is possible because of continued good crops and pasture conditions. A drought could result in heavy marketing and depressed prices. Feeder cattle at present are high and farmers are cautioned that lower prices are probable by the fall of 1947 because of an increased slaughter of cattle and hogs.

High hog prices and the large corn crop will result in a large pig crop in the spring of 1947, although fall litters this year are about 20 per cent below 1945. The heavy spring crop may result in heavy fall marketing and cause a decline in the fall market. Economists, however, say present high levels may continue until late 1947. Farmers are advised to plan early litters and feed for earliest possible marketing.

A 14 per cent decline from pre-war numbers of lambs and sheep may result in more favorable prices in 1947 for lambs than other meat animals, the MSC specialists report.

LETTER & Christmas

"WONDERFUL weather for Christmas!" Timothy Rowan thought as he tramped home through the snow with an armful of mail from the post office.

But he was apprehensive, for in the bundle was a letter from Caroline, his daughter. Why, he kept asking, would Caroline be writing now, the day before Christmas, unless to tell her parents that she wouldn't be home for the holidays?

Noisily he stamped the snow from his overshoes on the back porch, then walked into the kitchen which was savory with the odor of his wife Rachel's Christmas cooking. Then, as Rachel approached the bundle of letters he had placed on the table, Timothy found himself shrinking from the room, fearful of how Rachel would take the news.

No Caroline for Christmas! Why, never once in her 24 years had Caroline been away. But, then, she was building her own life in the city, now — new friends, new interests. And spending the holidays with two old parents was probably pretty dull.

But how would Rachel take it? If only someone, anyone, would spend Christmas with them to relieve the loneliness! Well, how about young Tom Wakefield, with whom Caroline had once been in love, a fine young chap who didn't have a home, and who probably would miss Caroline this Christmas as much as he and Rachel would?

A few minutes later Timothy was tramping downtown through the snow again, and into Tom Wakefield's garage.

"Merry Christmas, Tom!" he shouted, walking into the small office.

"Same to you, Mr. Stone!" cried Tom. "What can I do for you?"

"Well, Tom," Timothy began, "you can make a couple of old people pretty happy if you'll come to dinner with us tomorrow. You see, I don't expect Caroline will be coming and, well, it would be nice if you'd join us."

"Gosh, thanks Mr. Stone!" Tom answered. He turned red, then pale. "I'll be there!"

Back home, Timothy was reprimanded. "Well, Mr. Stone, where have you been, leaving me all alone with this news about Caroline?" Rachel's eyes sparkled.

"I know, darling," Timothy said, "it's too bad she can't be here for Christmas, but I've asked Tom Wakefield to join us. It'll be kind of nice having him, remembering how he and Caroline used to be so close. You know, I think that boy is still in love with her—"

Contrasts Create Illusions

Sharp contrasts in value and intensity make a room seem smaller. In other words, if walls are a very light color and woodwork is dark, the room appears smaller than it will after the woodwork is painted a shade as light and bright as the walls. If the ceiling in the room is dark, greater illusion of space can be created by painting or papering it a lighter color.

Forever England's

There's a bit of soil on the southern coast of Hawaii island that will remain forever England's even if the islands are admitted to statehood. The land, 5,632 square feet, was deeded to the British in 1876 by Princess Likelike, daughter of King Kalakaua. Located at Kaawaloa on Kealahou bay, it surrounds a monument to Capt. James Cook, discoverer of Hawaii.

Glowing Warmth

WHERE YOU WANT IT—WHEN YOU WANT IT

Chilly corners can be warm as toast these cold fall mornings. A modern electric heater gives you instant warmth from your nearest outlet. Easy to carry, easy to operate. There is no cleaner more convenient type of heat. These new, low-priced heaters are ideal for warming baby's bath area, your dressing room, bathroom, or grandmother's favorite corner.

And It Costs Only A Few Pennies An Hour . . .

but unlimited use can cause high electric bills. For example, a thousand watt heater at residence rates costs only 17½¢ a week when used one hour daily for seven days. This same unit, however, when used 8 hours a day costs $1.40 a week and will add $10.20 to your two months' bill. Consult a reputable electric dealer who can recommend a heater of sufficient wattage to fit your particular needs. He can also tell you just how much it will cost to operate.

Raw Onions

Since onions have a high water content they are low in calories. In their raw state onions have a little vitamin B and vitamin C, but much vitamin value is lost in cooking and in discarding the water in which the onions are cooked. Raw onions and shallots are better sources of these vitamins and of carotene, which the body changes into vitamin A.

In another two years the Sigler administration will be before the bar of public opinion for an accounting. In the meanwhile, the state faces a prospective deficit in state taxes estimated by the acting budget director to be $70,000,000—the highest amount we have heard yet in recent weeks. If new taxes are imposed as a solution for the constitutional ear-marking of 76 per cent of the sales tax for local governments, what will the voters say about it in November, 1948?

Governor Comstock's administration enacted the state sales tax. Inside of a few months the taxpayers had tagged the pennies as the "Comstock tax." Comstock was defeated for re-election.

Because of the new leadership at Lansing and the almost unprecedented financial crisis just ahead, the 1947 general session of the state legislature promises to be one of the most interesting in years.

The big question is this: How is the State of Michigan going to avert the prospective $70,000,000 deficit?

Here are some of the solutions proposed:

A flat payroll tax, a flat tax on business gross receipts, revival of taxes on real estate and personal property and imposition of new taxes on cigars, beer, and amusements.

If the legislature were to enact a three-mill property tax, such a levy would take priority within the 15-mill property tax limitation. In other words, so proponents argue, property owners in areas covered by a 15-mill limitation would pay the same property taxes as they do now. The constitutional limitation would prevent the adding of a state three-mill levy to the present 15-mill tax.

Lieut. Governor Vernon J. Brown advocates a three-mill tax which would finance the state's educational obligations, such as the University of Michigan, Michigan State College and all the others. Dr. Eugene B. Elliot, state superintendent of public instruction, opposes a property tax because he believes it would create a hardship in many communities.

The state's educational building program is a good illustration of what legislators are up against. The 1946 legislature authorized a $24,000,000 for needed construction. A sum of $17,608,000 was appropriated, leaving the remainder to be provided in future sessions.

However, costs are higher. For example: Michigan State College estimates that $10,000,000 will be needed to complete construction which the legislature has authorized in the amount of $7,000,000 and for which the legislature made an initial appropriation of $3,806,000. The same picture is true for the University of Michigan.

To speed work, M. S. C. has authorized a 54-hour week with 14 hours overtime wages; U. of M. has a 48-hour week with eight hours overtime.

John A. Perkins, acting budget director, has been holding hearings at Lansing. It's the old, old story of the high cost of living and a resultant need for more funds. Hospitals and institutions which treat mental patients report a need during the next fiscal year of $22,960,095, as compared with $15,726,334 actually spent in the past fiscal year (ending June 30, 1946). Budget requests, to date, total $209,000,000—just $64,000,000 MORE than was actually spent for the same services in the past fiscal year!

Last week we quoted state officials as estimating the prospective tax deficit at $55,000,000 to $68,000,000. Perkins' guess: $70,000,000. The new budget director is secretary of the University of Michigan's Institute of Government. The Lansing chore is his debut in public office.

And now for some current observations:

On August 29 we noted: "As we see it, a strong likelihood exists that the state legislature will be forced in 1947 to levy additional taxes, if the bonus proposal and the sales tax amendments are both approved at the November election. This still stands. The voters opened the gate wide to new taxes when they ear-marked 76 per cent of the sales tax for local governments.

The ultimate solution of the tax problem is a state constitutional convention. A return of welfare expenses, such as Governor Murphy encountered in 1937 and 1938, would accelerate a demand for this remedy.

Regardless of what the state legislature may or may not do in 1947, the state's answers will be unpopular. Inflation is unpopular, and legislative troubles are the by-products of today's inflation. You can't win against inflation.

POOR CRAFTSMAN

A professor, in a genial mood, met a friend of his and said to him, "Do you know, Jim? This is a strange life. This morning I was shaved by a man who really is, I suppose, a cut above being a barber. I know of my own knowledge that he studied at Harvard and Oxford, and spent several years in other educational centers. I know also of my own knowledge that he has contributed scientific articles to some of our best magazines and journals, and has numbered among his intimate friends men of the highest social and intellectual standing in Europe and America. And yet, he can't shave a man decently."

His friend was astounded. "But why," he asked, "with all those accomplishments—why is he a barber?"

The professor smiled. "He isn't. You see, Jim, this morning I shaved myself."

pronounced victory by collecting the highest team totals for the season when they accounted for 2579 pins. Their team was reinforced with a couple of worthy substitutes and they won their series against the Larkin five by slim counts. Both captains, Willy and Larkin, staged an individual bowling duel in their match with Willy on top on games of 233, 195, 171, for 599 pins while Larkin followed with a neat 586 count on games of 181, 202, 203. This raised his average to 177 to gain for him the league individual honors.

Other individuals to register high enough to reach the honor list, were Landon with 574, Francis Fritz 570, DeFrain 560, Juhasz 557. A total of eleven 200 games or better is the best yet recorded in one week. They were rolled by Willy 233, F. Fritz 223, 203, A. Freiburger 208, Battel 205, 200, DeFrain 205, Hoffman 205, Larkin 203, 202, Greenleaf 200.

The second schedule will open on Jan. 6, with a number of newly named captains to take over. If 14 teams are in the field, Novak, Dillman, DeFrain, Gremel and Hoffman will be used. If enough bowlers are signed so that 16 teams are needed, then Myzk and Krug will get their calls to head teams. The league officers wish to extend an invitation to all potential bowlers in the community to join for the second schedule which opens Jan. 6, and present their names to the league secretary or contact the bowling alley at once and assure places on one of the new teams that are to be chosen soon. A complete roster of names and averages will appear in this paper, so keep this in mind and find out if you do not already know, just how your average stacks up after 13 weeks of trying. Maybe you are just like a couple of former champions that haven't done as well as was expected, but you can always keep trying.

Balanced Room

Rooms are dwarfed by large or out-of-proportion openings. Height of a window can be cut by adding a balance at the top. A too-wide window may be remedied by using long-length draperies and curtains to emphasize vertical lines and by letting the draperies cover part of the window. The greater the amount of light streaming in those windows, the larger the room will seem; so it may require some experimentation to discover which method will do the most for the room.

Pick Up Flavor

Apples should not be stored for the winter with potatoes or cabbage, as they pick up the odor of these vegetables. Likewise, celery should not be stored with cabbage or turnips.

ON Christmas Eve, Nancy hurried breathlessly into her rooming house. Surely the package from home would be there! But Mrs. Groggins, the ugly little landlady, shook her head.

"Nothing," she said. "The mailman went right by this afternoon." Up in her room Nancy spent a lonesome Christmas Eve. She read awhile to forget her hunger, then went to bed. Next morning it was the destitute Mrs. Wilson who awakened her.

"Merry Christmas, Miss Bell!" she shouted, walking into the room uninvited. Nancy was irritated, momentarily, by this highly painted, shallow creature. But she quickly regained her composure. It was Christmas, after all!

"It was swell of you, dearie, to pay Mrs. Groggins a week's rent in advance last night," Mrs. Wilson said, settling herself into the most comfortable chair. "I don't know what would have happened, because I'm caught a bit short just now and couldn't pay!"

Nancy said it was all right, that she had been glad to do it, but then she felt hungry and remembered there had been no dinner—and now no breakfast. All because of Mrs. Wilson!

"I was just about to drop out for a bite to eat," her visitor explained, "and seeing you're all alone, I thought you might like to come along."

Nancy remembered the lone 25-cent piece in her purse. "Thank you so kindly, Mrs. Wilson," she answered quickly. "But I'm—I'm not feeling so well this morning. I'll just have a cup of coffee in my room!"

About noon she dressed, for Jim was calling for her at one o'clock. What a ravenous appetite she would have.

But one o'clock passed, and no Jim. Nor at 2 or 3, and Nancy's spirits began to give way. Had he, too, chosen to punish her on Christmas?

Downstairs she heard Mr. and Mrs. Groggins welcoming their guests for the day, and she took a vicarious pleasure from it. She heard the dinner bell, the clatter of dishes as they dined, and then the shuffling of chairs as the well-fed guests retired to the living room. By that time it was five o'clock and Nancy sat by her window, figuratively biting her fingernails. She was almost hysterical with fear, and she began to worry.

At six o'clock she put on her coat and dashed down the stairs, headed she knew not where. Perhaps to find Jim, perhaps merely to escape her room. She reached the entrance, turned the knob and pulled open the door—and there was Jim, just arriving!

Tearfully she threw herself into his arms, shivering from fright. "Oh, Jim!" she cried. "Where have you been?"

"But didn't you get my message?" he asked. "I had to work in the laboratory this afternoon, and telephoned Mrs. Groggins at 12:30!" His brow was furrowed.

Just then there was a voice behind them. "Miss Bell!" It was Mrs. Groggins. "A message for you. It came just before dinner, but then our guests arrived and I didn't get around to bringing it up."

Nancy took the slip from her hand, wiping away a tear. She heard Jim cursing.

"Let's get out of here, honey," he said, quietly.

A short time later they were dining by candlelight while a string ensemble played soft Christmas music in the background. Jim looked up from his coffee and smiled, then reached into his pocket.

"There was a big package on your desk at the office," he said. "It came today. From your folks, I guess. Too big to carry with me, but maybe this will take its place."

He reached for her left hand, then for the second finger, and at its tip he poised a diamond ring. Then he looked at her, asking assent.

"Yes, darling," she said softly. "It's the merriest Christmas ever!"

Nancy thought fast.

Nancy said it was all right, that she had been glad to do it, but then she felt hungry and remembered there had been no dinner—and now no breakfast. All because of Mrs. Wilson!

Dig, clean and store all tender bulbs and roots in a cool, dry place in the fall. Corms of gladiolus and roots of dahlias should not be left too long because a severe freeze may ruin them. Bruising plants allows fungi to enter, causing rot.

Woman's World

Reclaim Khakis and Navy Blues For Making Wearing Apparel

By Erta Haley

NOW that many boys have marched home from overseas service, many a homemaker has begun to wonder about the possibility of using those wonderful khaki and navy blue clothes for something useful. It's very true that the fabric in these clothes is much too good to be shut up in mothproof bags or closets. They can be converted into excellent civilian wearing apparel.

The main problem in using clothing of this type is to really change the appearance, and experience proves that it can be done. Sad-colored olive drab can actually be dyed so you won't know the origin. And as for navy blue, it's a good substantial color which you probably won't change, especially if you change the style of the garment sufficiently.

If you've had a WAVE in the family, then you'll be surprised how beautifully her navy blue suit alters into something very attractive. If the girl herself is using the suit, it probably won't need much alteration in fitting. Remove the insignia, and add some bright red braid around the shoulders and sleeves, or run the braiding all around the bustline in several rows, and you'll be surprised at how nicely the garment reconverts.

It's only natural that you might hesitate at dyeing the heavy olive drab garments but it really can be done.

Wool Dyeing Requires

Simmering Temperature

The important points to remember when dyeing woollens can be summarized in five steps. These are particularly applicable when you are dyeing such things as ex-service clothing.

1. Measure the garment before dyeing or draw its outline on a large sheet of paper for measuring purposes.

Convert service uniforms . . .

2. Make sure you have enough dye for the quantity of fabric you are dyeing. Because of their heavy weight woollens require more dye per yard than cottons or rayons.

3. Use a simmering temperature all during the dyeing period. Use a large enough vessel for the purpose so that you can stir the garment gently in its dye bath. Avoid rough treatment as this makes the garment shrink.

4. Remember that wools appear much darker when wet than when dry. Test a small strip of fabric by ironing dry to make sure you have the shade desired.

5. When you are satisfied with the color, rinse the garment thoroughly. Then stretch it to its original proportions, using the pencilled figure or measurements mentioned above.

Iron the woollens while they are just barely damp. Of course you understand this has to be done with a pressing cloth or the wool will develop an ugly shine. If the garment has not stretched to its proper shape, it can be stretched even more while you are pressing the fabric.

Into fashionable clothing.

While dyeing will cause some shrinkage, the most shrinkage you can expect of a properly treated garment should not exceed three-quarters of an inch. It can certainly be a lot less if you give the garment your most gentle treatment.

If you've been following fashion news lately, you know that the hip length boxy jacket is one of the very smartest things to own. The wonderful quality of service overcoats is excellent material to use for them.

Reclaim Those Overcoats For Smart, Boxy Jackets

Incidentally, you won't want the coat an olive drab. Dye it one of the following beautiful colors: navy blue, dark green, jade green, scarlet, cardinal red, dark brown or black.

Dyeing will be much easier if the coat is first ripped at the seams. This makes it less bulky to handle in the dye bath. And incidentally, once the ripping is done, a big job is out of the way and you can begin sewing so much sooner.

Use a pattern for cutting the coat down to your measurements and have it just as square and boxy as possible with trim shoulder lines. A double breasted model with large pearl buttons will look very up-to-the-minute.

If you don't want a collar on the coat, then have it collarless, buttoning up high. Make slit or diagonal pockets, and plan to wear it with a gay scarf and a snappy little hat. The cost for an outfit of this type is under five dollars, and you'll have both warmth and wear from the outfit.

Braided Rugs

You can do a lot to make your home more attractive with braided rugs, provided you use gay colors and good patterns. There's a definite place in the bedroom, den, dressing room and children's play room for charming braided rugs.

Nothing is too small or too large to use for rug making. Here is a list of some worn-out things that are often used: worn draperies, bedspreads, blankets, tablecloths, coats, trousers, formal, pleated and gathered skirts. You can even use towels, napkins, aprons, blouses and stockings. Don't forget to shop for inexpensive remnants at bargain prices, too!

For a rug that will please you when finished, work out a plan ahead of time and shape it with crayons. Then select material, dye it, if necessary, in accordance with the plan. Before you cut the fabric, write down the number of rows you will need of each color.

Colors in a braided rug should give a feeling of unity. Keep large areas quiet in their effect, and keep colors balanced by repeating them with discrimination.

Braids may be made of anywhere from three to eight strips, but the number of strips does not complicate the braiding process.

Fashion Flashes

Soft gray wool is another fashion favorite and is a wonderful neutral that you can use with gay accents of color. Green of course is very popular and so is magenta.

Want to give gloves a lift? Sew bands of contrasting colored material on the cuffs or make them glitter with sequins that highlight the colors of your costume.

Skirts seem somewhat shorter, but knees are still being kept covered. Probably this trend has reached its limit.

Femininity and gayness of mood are apparent in informal clothes. Raglan sleeves and dropped shoulder lines are still very popular, and bits of velvet or fur add a long absent luxury note to many clothes.

Dairy Farming to Continue a Good Farming Venture

Dairying will continue one of the more profitable enterprises on Michigan farms in 1947. That is the prediction of Michigan State College dairy specialists and farm economists.

In forecasting the 1947 dairy outlook for Michigan, Clifford M. Hardin, farm economist, and A. C. Baltzer and W. W. Snyder, extension dairy specialists, believe high demand for dairy products will continue. Normal culling of dairy herds should prevail to take advantage of high prices of beef, even though the demand for milk at a high price continues.

The downward trend in the number of milk cows in the United States is a major factor in determining the outlook. Four per cent fewer milk cows are in production now than a year ago, although production per cow is at a record level. Gains in production per cow, however, have not offset the drop in number.

Consumption of milk and milk products remains very high. Although exports of dairy products are expected to be lower next year, the reduction is not likely to have any reactions on milk prices until around mid-1947.

Michigan's drought caused a feed shortage in some areas. Dairy specialists recommend feeding of more hay to offset shortages of commercial protein concentrates.

Greenleaf Club to Have Christmas Party

The Greenleaf Extension Club held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry McLellan and singing of Christmas carols opened the meeting. Mrs. Kermit Hartwick gave the lesson on "Christmas Gifts," which was demonstrated by samples of aprons, toys, covers for mixers and holders for stockings, all made at home. The finished purses, mittens and gloves were also shown.

The ladies voted to have a party during the holidays, and Mrs. Lawrence Ball, Mrs. Ivan Tracey and Mrs. Kermit Hartwick were named to make plans for it. The hostess served ice cream and cookies.

Price See-Saw

In 1945, total income of farmers of this nation was almost two and one-half times as great as the annual average in the period 1910-14, but agricultural production in 1945 was up only about 70 per cent above the average per year for 1910-14. There has been an almost constant slow upward trend in farm production since 1915 but farm income has swung in wide see-saws up and down.
