Cass City Defeated Marlette, 31-0

Cass City High School defeated Marlette Friday night by a 31-0 score. Bob Edmondson is credited with three touchdowns and Jerry Priesskorn and Ron Bullis with one each. The Cass City eleven did not have much chance to show what they could do defensively, and the back field men had some hard runs.

The score:
Cass City 13 6 6 6—31

W. S. C. Had Safety Program Tuesday

A safety program was featured by the Woman's Study Club when they met in the home of Mrs. Alton Mark Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Neil McLarty discussed "Keep Them Safe by Safety Education"; Richard Wallace of the school Safety Patrol gave a talk; and Mrs. Floyd Reid read a paper on "Danger on Two Wheels." The answer to roll call was "Safety Ideas."

The music of the afternoon consisted of the singing by the club members of two safety songs, "Safety Forever" and "Yankee Doodle Safety Song." Mrs. Raymond McCullough was the piano accompanist.

Mrs. C. Graham, chairman, submitted a report on current legislation.

The next meeting will be held at the Youth Center rooms on Oct. 7.

Tuesday afternoon's program was repeated, by request, at Kingston that evening for the Woman's Club of that village.

Home Craft Club to Meet October 8

The Home Craft Club group, formerly known as Extension Group No. 2, of which Mrs. Willis Campbell is chairman, will meet Wednesday evening, October 8, in the basement of the Methodist Church at 8 p. m.

This will be guest night and the speaker will be Helen Peckinpugh Dunlop, sent by the J. L. Hudson Co. of Detroit. The speaker, a nationally known lecturer and author of the book, "Let's Arrange Flowers," will give a demonstration on table and flower arrangement.

After tea is served, a business session will be held to discuss the first lesson of the season, which will be a leather project.

EVANGELIST AT ELLINGTON

Rev. R. L. Rich.

Revival meetings will be held in the Ellington Church of the Nazarene from Sept. 28 to Oct. 12 with Rev. R. L. Rich of Bloomington, Indiana, as the evangelist.

Music Teacher Talks to Rotary Club

Donald Borg, music instructor in the local high school, was introduced by Program Chairman Earl Douglas as the Rotary Club speaker Tuesday. Mr. Borg is much pleased with the enthusiastic interest taken by students in vocal and instrumental music. He has a chorus of 51 voices, a senior band of 36 members, a junior band of 20, and prospective members of a beginners' band ask each day when they will have a chance to toot horns.

Eleven members of Cass City Rotary attended the Charter Night program of the Columbiaville Club Monday and were greatly interested in the address given by Phil Lovejoy, secretary of Rotary International. Wm. Miller and Rev. Melvin R. Vender gave the highlights of the Columbiaville program to the local club Tuesday.

Master "Chuckie" McConnell lost his lunch at school Tuesday and was a guest of Supt. of Schools Willis Campbell. Other luncheon guests were A. G. Writer of Burlington, Wis., and J. H. Pottswood. Last week, Mr. Robinson of the Detroit Edison Co. showed a movie depicting the manufacture of fluorescent light bulbs.

Robt. Hunter is program chairman for the month of October.

Geo. Hartman Sells Pigeon and Elkton Newspapers

George V. Hartman, well-known in Thumb newspaper circles for almost 30 years, announced this week that he had sold the Pigeon Progress and Elkton Advance to Walter J. Rummel, of Sebewaing.

Mr. Hartman first accepted employment with the Pigeon Progress printing department on May 11, 1919, on being honorably discharged from the Army on April 13, 1919, and continued to work there for 18 years. In March, 1937, he purchased the Elkton Advance which he continued to operate until the present time. In January, 1944, he bought the Pigeon Progress from its founder, George H. A. Shaw, combining the two printing plants for more efficient operation.

In 1946 he erected a new building in Pigeon which became the home of the Progress in January of this year.

Mr. Rummel was graduated from Michigan State College's journalism department in 1940. He has had experience in college and weekly newspapers and for the past three years has worked for the Dow Chemical Co. in Midland in various editorial positions.

In announcing the sale, Mr. Hartman stated that the new publisher will begin his duties on Sept. 29. Mr. Hartman will continue in the printing department of the Progress and Advance.

C. L. Stoners Will Celebrate Golden Wedding

Open House Will Be Held Sunday Afternoon at Mrs. Mary Holcomb's Home

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stoner of Novesta Township will be observed Sunday afternoon, Sept. 28, in the home of Mrs. Stoner's cousin, Mrs. Mary Holcomb, in Cass City. Open house will be held from two to five o'clock in the afternoon to which friends of the honored couple are invited. The exact date of the anniversary is Oct. 13 but since Mr. and Mrs. Stoner are planning to leave Oct. 2 or 3 for an extended visit to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Eugene H. Allen, at Kansas City, Mo., the celebration is being held on the earlier date.

Mrs. Stoner was born in Wardsville, Ontario, Dec. 29, 1878, and is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Smith. At the age of six months she came with her parents to the farm home now occupied by the Stoners. She resided there until her marriage to Mr. Stoner Oct. 13, 1897.

Mr. Stoner claims Lockport, New York, as his birthplace and Nov. 18, 1873, was his birth date. He came to Michigan with his family at the age of five years. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Stoner lived at Yale for three years, at Pigeon for three years and in Wisconsin for a similar period. At these places Mr. Stoner was employed as a flax mill operator. Then they came to Flint where Mr. Stoner was engaged in writing insurance until they came to Cass City twelve years ago on account of the ill health of Mrs. Stoner's mother.

Mrs. Allen is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Stoner.

Coming Auctions

Harold Chard has decided to quit farming and will sell livestock, machinery and feed at auction, 2 miles north of Decker, on Tuesday, Sept. 30. Arnold Copeland is the auctioneer and the Pinney State Bank is clerk.

Ray Franklin has decided to rent most of his farm, 8 miles north and 1½ miles east of Kingston, and will sell cattle, machinery and feed at auction on Thursday, Oct. 2. Arnold Copeland will cry the sale, with the Cass City State Bank as clerk.

Friday, Oct. 3, is the date for the sale of Keith Russell, who has decided to discontinue the dairy business and will offer his entire herd of high grade Holsteins 1½ miles west and 1 mile north of Cass City. Arnold Copeland is the auctioneer and the Cass City State Bank, clerk.

Full particulars regarding these three farm auctions are printed on page 8.

Owing to poor health and no help, as his boys are going to college, John E. Hicks will sell livestock, farm machinery and feed at auction, 2 miles north and ½ mile east of Hemans, on Thursday, Oct. 2. Worthy Tait is the auctioneer, the Pinney State Bank is clerk and complete details are printed on page 7.

Auctioneer Worthy Tait will conduct a two-day sale of used furniture at the Gussell store in Caro on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 29 and 30. The auction ad is on page 6.

Willard Spencer, executor of the Estate of J. Wells Spencer, will have a farm sale today (Friday), 1 mile north and ¼ mile east of Deford. The auction ad appeared in the Chronicle last week.

In this paper's next issue will appear an auction ad for Leonard Prowse, 4 miles east, 5 miles south and 1½ miles east of Cass City. The date is Thursday, Oct. 9. Another ad next week will be for John B. Nowak's sale, 7 miles north, 1½ west and ½ south of Cass City, on Saturday, Oct. 11.

Cassopolitan Returns.

The journalism class of Cass City High School under the direction of Mr. Frank Weatherhead, has decided to publish a school paper which it is hoped will appear Oct. 3 and every other week thereafter.—Adv. It.

Auxiliary Officers Installed on Monday

Bouquets of asters and marigolds brightened the Legion Post headquarters Monday evening when the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Tri-County Post No. 507 met for installation of officers for the coming year. Fifty were present from Harbor Beach, Unionville, Caro and Cass City. Mrs. Arthur Little, president of the organization, opened the meeting. Manley Fay played several numbers on the zylphone and Mrs. E. W. Douglas led the group in singing the national anthem.

The following officers were installed by Mrs. Lena Atwater from Harbor Beach, who is the seventh district president: President of the local unit, Mrs. Arthur Little; vice presidents, Mrs. H. H. Koffman and Mrs. Irving Parsch; secretary, Mrs. Alex Tyo; treasurer, Mrs. Stanley Asher; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Dorus Kinkman; historian, Mrs. Ella Vance. The chaplain for the coming year will be Mrs. Harold Hulbert who was ill. Mrs. Harve Klinkman was installed as her proxy.

Following the installation and an address by Mrs. Atwater, Mrs. Ella Vance entertained the group with several readings.

The refreshment committee served jello, cake and coffee.

Mrs. B. A. Schwegler Is WWSW President

The Women's Society of World Service of the Evangelical United Brethren Church were guests in the home of Mrs. Homer Hower Friday afternoon.

Mrs. John Sovey was the leader of the meeting. She gave a comprehensive report of the state convention of the W. S. W. S. held recently at Bay Shore Park, Sebewaing, which she attended as the delegate from the local society. She reproduced a number given at the state meeting and was assisted by Mrs. S. C. Striffler in Scripture readings and Mrs. Maurice Joos in singing several solos.

As Mrs. Sovey, who is president of the local W. S. W. S., plans to spend at least six months in Florida in the near future, she resigned from that office, and Mrs. B. A. Schwegler was elected to fill the vacancy. Mrs. Schwegler was the corresponding secretary and Mrs. S. C. Striffler was chosen to fill that position.

The next meeting will be in the form of a W. S. W. S. rally to be held at the church on October 17 in the evening. Mrs. John Zinnecker, Mrs. Arnold Copeland and Mrs. Maurice Joos are the refreshment committee.

A district rally will be held at Pigeon on October 3 which the local women plan to attend.

Clayton R. Kendall Killed In Auto Accident Sunday

John Schwartz of Gagetown, Passenger in Car, Suffered Serious Injuries

Clayton Roger Kendall, 24, of Greenleaf Township, a Marine Air Corps staff sergeant in World War II, was instantly killed about 1:45 a. m. Sunday when the car he was driving rolled over on a curve at the east Bay Port village limits, on M-25.

John Schwartz, 21, of Gagetown, a passenger in the car, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, a fracture of the right leg, and hip and head injuries. He is in the Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon.

Both young men were thrown from the vehicle as it rolled over and skidded to a halt still on the road. Investigating officers, who paced off skid marks, said the car had rolled for 67 yards leaving wreckage and broken glass over that distance.

It was believed that the accident might have been caused by a left rear tire blowing out as the car rounded the sweeping curve, officers said.

Clayton Roger Kendall was born Apr. 14, 1923, in Detroit, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kendall. He came with his parents to Greenleaf Township when he was 15, where he was residing at the time of his death.

Mr. Kendall was three years with the Marine Air Corps, serving a year in the South Pacific area. He entered the armed forces on Dec. 14, 1942, and was discharged Nov. 3, 1945. Since returning to civilian life, he has made his home

F. F. A. Corn Tour Monday, Sept. 29

Last spring the Pioneer, DeKalb, and Funk's Hybrid Corn Companies gave the Cass City High School F. F. A. members 30 samples of corn for test plots.

Next Monday, September 29, the F. F. A. is planning a corn tour. The first stop will be at Keith and Harold Little's project (Mack Little Farm) 2 miles south and 2½ miles west of Cass City at 10:15 a. m. From there the group will go to Chester Szarapski's project, ¼ mile east and ¼ mile north of Little's. If time allows in the forenoon, the third stop will be at Jim Reag's corn field.

At one o'clock the High School Vocational Agricultural classes will go to Ken MacRae's project, 4 miles east and 4½ miles south on M-53.

Different varieties of corn were planted in the same field so some yield checks will be made to determine any differences in yield.

An evening meeting will be held in the library of the school at 8:00 Monday, September 29. Mr. Marsten from Tipton, Indiana, will discuss corn breeding and mating. He was with the Michigan State College Farm Crops Department for 16 years before being employed by the Pioneer Hybrid Corn Company. Mr. Marsten plans on showing some pictures of plant breeding.

Any farmers interested are cordially invited to attend the tour and the evening meeting.

Mrs. Martha Summers Lived in Community for Sixty Years

Mrs. Martha Summers, a resident of the Gagetown and Cass City communities for 60 years, passed away in the Morris Hospital here Tuesday morning, following a long illness.

Mrs. Summers was born in Oakland County on Jan. 21, 1856. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Huff.

On June 18, 1879, she was united in marriage with Alvin Summers at Oakwood. In 1886, they moved to Gagetown and 20 years later they came to Cass City where Mrs. Summers made her home until her death. Mr. Summers passed away in April, 1926. Mrs. Summers was a member of the Baptist Church at Cass City, having attended for 60 years.

Funeral services will be held today (Friday) at 2:00 p. m., at the Little Funeral Home. Rev. Frank Smith of the Birkett Memorial Baptist Church of Detroit and a former minister in Cass City, will

Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer Heads Co. Women's Republican Club

Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer entertained twelve ladies at luncheon at her home in Cass City Tuesday, September 23, for the purpose of reorganizing the Tuscola County Woman's Republican Club. Mrs. Roc C. Hooker, Mt. Pleasant, vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and organization chairman of the Republican Woman's Federation of Michigan, and Mrs. Paul Sharp, Flint, vice president of the Federation of Michigan, were guests of honor.

Mrs. Martin Willis, Vassar, acted as chairman of the meeting. Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer, Cass City; vice president, Mrs. Lelia Feddey, Caro; secretary, Mrs. Earle J. Laur, Caro; treasurer, Mrs. Alex Marshall, Kingston. Area and township chairmen will be appointed in the near future.

C. U. Brown Is Awarded Dunbar Rich Service Award

C. U. Brown of Cass City was one of 57 Michigan water works personnel who were awarded the Edward Dunbar Rich Service Award this year for having completed "25 or more years of meritorious and faithful service in providing and maintaining a safe, dependable and adequate public water supply" at the annual meeting of the Michigan Section, American Water Works Association in Bay City.

The award which was given for the first time in 1946 commemorates the career of Edward Dunbar Rich who was director of the Bureau of Engineering, Michigan Department of Health, for 27 years. The award, a certificate bearing a picture of Colonel Rich and the signature of the State Health Commissioner and the Governor, is awarded by the Michigan Department of Health in cooperation with the Michigan Section of the American Water Works Association. It was presented to 288 persons in 1946.

Young men who have returned to Michigan State are Albert MacPhail, Robert and William Benkelman, Edward Doerr, John Bugbee and Kenneth Price.

The Misses Jeanne and JoAnn Bigelow left earlier this month to resume their college work at Western College at Oxford, Ohio.

Fred and Chas. Auten will leave Friday to drive to Brunswick, Me., to resume their college work at Bowdoin College. Fred will be a junior and Charles a sophomore.

Farmers Featured in Capper's Farmer

Three Tuscola County farmers—neighbors, E. O. Lounsberry, Stanley Hutchinson and Clifford Martin, who live near Cass City, are featured in an article in the October issue of Capper's Farmer entitled "Poured Own Silos."

"Three neighbors," the story in the nationally circulated farm magazine points out, "bought forms and poured their own concrete silos. By working together they put a silo 40 feet high and 12 feet across on each of their farms. Each job took nine days. One ran the mixer, another elevated mortar and the third poured it. No. 6 steel reinforcing wires were laid every 5½ inches. When they were done, the three, E. O. Lounsberry, Stanley Hutchinson and Clifford Martin, sold the forms for as much as they cost."

The article concludes by quoting Lounsberry as saying: "The job wasn't so hard. But you must have a level base, and keep the doors straight. When that is done, the structure is plumb."

Forty Tuscola County Teachers Began Workshop Course

Friday evening more than 40 teachers began a workshop course at Caro for residence credit from Central Michigan College of Education. It is a new four semester hour course to be known as Education 408. The class meets every Friday evening from 6:00 to 9:10. Since this is a residence credit course, teachers may safely take it regardless of the number of extension credits they have earned. All teachers who plan to take the work should be present to enroll Friday evening.

A regular three semester hour extension course from Michigan State Normal College will be organized Friday evening at seven o'clock. It will probably be in the field of geography. A number of teachers have requested Latin America 321. Professor Galsgow will organize the class. The instructor will be Professor DeLong.

This second course is intended to help teachers who have taken either all or most of their work at Ypsilanti and cannot fit Education 408 into their curriculum. It may benefit the groups who need three semester hours to meet either the requirements for their special certificate this year or the renewal of regular county or state limited certificates.

"A few teachers already enrolled in Education 408 have expressed a desire to take a course in geography if possible," says Supt. B. H. McComb. "We will, therefore, endeavor to avoid a conflict in the time of meeting for the classes. All teachers who are interested in the second class should meet in the supervisors' room Friday evening at seven o'clock. This will count as the first meeting."

Cass City Wins the First Game Played on Lighted Field Here

Cass City won the first game played on the town's new lighted diamond last Thursday night, defeating Elkton, 8-7. The game went 10 innings and was well attended. The locals lost their stride in Tuesday evening's softball contest with Deford. The visitors, with only two hits, scored 11 runs. Cass City was credited with 10 tallies. Caro V. F. W. was scheduled to play here last night (Thursday).

Woman's World

Make Tablecloths, Napkins

From Bright Linen Toweling

By Ertta Haley

BEAUTIFULLY set tables take on their appeal not only from the carefully prepared food we serve, but to a great extent from the attractive setting we lay it on. No meal need be dull if it is accompanied with a crisp, bright tablecloth or dollys and napkins to match.

Then, too, there's no need to limit the lovely decorative effect to the table if you can improve the room in another way. If you have your dining or breakfast table set next to a window, you might even make matching curtains out of the same material you've used for dollys or tablecloth.

If you've discovered, as have many other women, that good tablecloths and dollys are high in price, have you considered the possibilities of Irish linen toweling? This toweling, which is made in such good looking plaids and prints and stripes, is ideal for informal dining. The colors and designs are so lovely, it would be blindness to limit its usefulness to drying dishes.

Suppose you're a new bride who has received, among other gifts, some plaid or crossbarred linen dish towels. What you actually need most is a casual cloth for the dinette table. Just join four towels with ric-rac braid, and there's your table cloth.

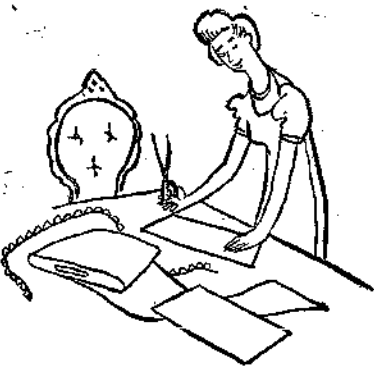

If you have any of this toweling by the yard, it's very easy to make into place mats. These need hemming only on two sides.

If your table is somewhat larger, you may use the same toweling for runners down the center. And it's easy enough to make napkins out of the toweling and trim them if you like with a ric-rac, lace or contrasting colored tape, as you prefer.

Use Plenty of Color

To Brighten Room

One of the most attractive features of place mats such as this is that they can be used as a definite part of the color scheme of the room. You may not only have the place mats to go with the color scheme of the room but you may make curtains out of the same material for your dinettes, breakfast nooks and kitchens.

Brighten the dining table...

A bold green and white plaid for curtains and valance at the window and for place mats on the table will capture the freshness of spring for autumn-dull days.

Stripes also work out well for curtain and place mat ensembles. Their gay colors make a cheerful frame to dinette and kitchen windows and gives a pleasant background for any of the popular styles of casual dinnerware.

Printed toweling is more limited in variety than the stripes or plaid, but the patterns are fresh and gay. You'll be able to find a scroll print done on white on both pastel and bright color backgrounds that is very attractive with a very plain room or even an early American room. A little less sophisticated pattern is made up of fat little apples done in soft colors on white—lovely in a French provincial dining alcove.

Use a Variety of Styles and Edgings

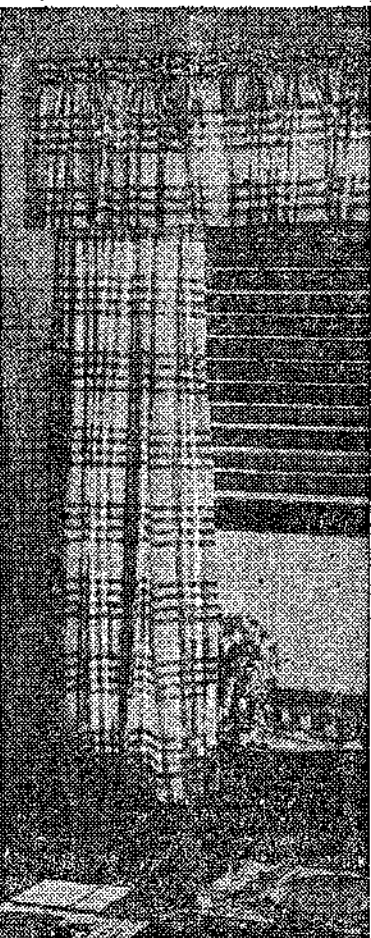

In order to make mats that are really fitting for your particular

Touches that distinguish the first of the season hats... much horizontal width, as shown in the Northridge model at left... richness of materials, luxuriously soft felts, fine metal brocades, and many, many uses of feathers. Wings and high standing ornamentation, as shown in the Reichman design at the right, are arrestingly new.

Gay Toweling

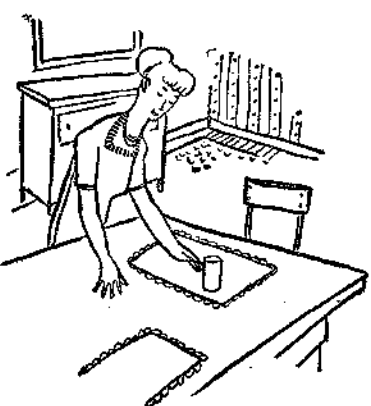

It's easy to add decorative notes to your home with Irish linen dish toweling. This yard goods may be converted to frame kitchen and dining room windows and also to make spic and span dollys. The bold black plaid of green on white is gay and cheerful, and the smooth texture with its easy washability assures lasting beauty with a minimum of upkeep.

dining problem, I'd suggest that you experiment with pieces of paper to determine the best size not only for your table but also for your dishes. Use a complete table setting on one of the paper mats and make the minor adjustments that are the difference between a good or a bad fit. Let your table show through between the mats.

Determine your napkin sizes as carefully as you do the place mat sizes. Sometimes you'll find that napkins are just too tiny for any useful purpose. On the other hand, you don't have to have dinner-sized napkins for breakfast or luncheon.

There are many different styles of edging you might like for these place mats and dolly sets. There are simple laces, of course, ric-rac, bindings that pick up the colors that are used in the dolly sets, etc., if you do not want to use just a plain hem.

You may make your own lace or buy it, but if you are using linen, you should select the proper weight of lace for the proper material. You do not necessarily have to use lace on both the mat and the napkin, as lace is often used on only one or the other.

Scallops are another type of trimming which are easily made and can be quite effective on place mats and napkins. It's best to use a solid colored material if you are going to use a scallop trimming.

Edge-Stitcher on Machine Is Real Time-Saver

If you have an edge stitcher with your machine it might be wise to use that for sewing an edge on mats and napkins. The stitcher holds the lace, insertion or both or ribbon or braid without drawing it tight or holding it full.

When you use a delicate fabric, it's a wise procedure to sew over newspaper or tissue paper as it speeds the sewing and is a great protection to a lightweight fabric.

Upon reaching a corner that is to be mitered with the edge stitcher, try to stitch the outside edge first, pivot on the needle, then proceed with the new row.

If you are using several rows of edging as you would on some of the fancier pieces of linen, the stitcher is a great convenience. Experiment with it for a quarter of an hour, and you'll see it has enormous possibilities.

Tests Scheduled For New Bombs

Largest Nonatomic Missile Ever Made to Be Ready In a Few Months.

WASHINGTON.—A 42,000-pound bomb being developed by army and air forces probably will be given a test in the next few months. So far as known this will be the largest standard explosive—nonatomic—missile ever made.

The weight of the bomb suggests it is intended for use in such aircraft as the B-36, which is capable of carrying 36 tons of explosives and is equipped with a bomb bay of enormous dimensions.

AAF has even larger bombs—one of 100,000 pounds—under consideration and in the blueprint stage. But designers said a curtailed research program resulted in shelving these projects.

They described the 42,000-pounder as a "general purpose block-buster" type.

More Fearful Weapon. It was hinted that the military may be looking into the future for even a more fearful weapon—an atomic bomb which when dropped from a high altitude might sink into the earth and produce a man-made earthquake.

An AAF announcement of forthcoming tests with deep-penetration bombs on a submarine assembly factory at Farge, Germany, referred specifically only to two standard explosive bombs developed since war's end.

They are the 25,000-pound "Amazon" and "Samson."

But the announcement concluded with this cryptic statement: "With the introduction of atomic warfare in World War III, it is logical that the need for these specialized types of bombs may be even greater for future defense."

They Bore Deeply.

The extent to which deep-penetration bombs can bore into the earth was demonstrated during the latter days of the war when Britain's royal air force caved in a tunnel 135 feet below ground.

Some atomic scientists interested in military use of the new energy are reported to want to test an atomic bomb touched off below the earth's surface.

One theory is that the shock waves set in motion by the artificial earthquake would tumble and crumple buildings over a much greater area than in any air-burst method.

AAF said three B-29s are at the American air base of Giebelstadt in Germany, ready to begin the penetration experiments on the Farge installation.

The objective is to determine the capabilities of various types of bombs in penetrating reinforced concrete structures.

AAF will drop 30 missiles and RAF 13.

Farm Prices Found Above Support Level, Report Says

WASHINGTON.—The commerce department said that if farm prices were to fall the limit allowed by the government's support program, the price of food to the housewife would drop an average of 6 to 8 per cent.

It also said the farmers would still be assured of cash income equal to high wartime levels—about 20 billion dollars a year.

Actually, a department analysis said, the record prices now being obtained for farm products will swell this year's farm income above even the record 25 billion dollars the farmers collected last year.

These high prices make it largely unnecessary for the government to do much under its support program. The commerce department estimated that the general farm price level would have to drop about 25 per cent to reach the price level support.

The support level is determined by taking into account not only the prices of what the farmers sell but also prices of things they buy.

New Device Gives Lowdown On Time in No Time at All

CHICAGO.—A device which will enable the repairman to diagnose a watch's ills in 30 seconds without removing the cover was demonstrated here.

The electronic instrument can detect accuracy of time gained or lost to within one second in a 24-hour period.

The watch's beat is amplified 7,000 times and recorded on a cylindrical drum in much the same way that an electrocardiograph records the beat of the human heart.

C. H. Fetter, president of American Time Products, Inc., said the instrument accomplishes in a half minute what the watchmaker took five days to do.

Pennsylvania Liquor Law Is Applied to Television

HARRISBURG, PA.—Taprooms displaying television for public consumption must obtain a special amusement permit, the Dauphin county court ruled.

The court ruled that television receivers are motion pictures within the meaning of the Pennsylvania liquor control law and as such may be shown only in licensed places which have obtained a special amusement permit.

Secret Cache

Ma Ferguson hurried in from the kitchen at the first sound of the phone. She felt guilty everytime she thought of the extra expense it entailed, but she knew she had it and she had been glad many times she had insisted on having it put in before he went overseas. She did not feel so alone and cut off from everyone.

An excited voice came over the wire as she put the receiver to her ear.

"Hello, Ma Ferguson, this is Bill Paige. Now, don't get frightened, but be sure and lock all your doors and windows. Two of the prisoners have escaped from the penitentiary and the police think they are headed this way. Don't answer the door if anyone comes until you find out who it is. One of the boys from the village is coming to stay with you until they're caught."

The obese bulldog, Jefferson, blinked his eyes, then clambered to his feet, growling.

"Land's sake, Jefferson, now don't you start making a fuss..." Her breath caught in her throat as a man appeared in the doorway, a tall man with a bleak grey face. Behind him stood another man.

"What do you want here? I have nothing for you."

Jefferson's hoarse growls filled the room as he crouched to spring. The second man advanced toward him, seizing the heavy iron poker as he passed the stove.

Ma seized the dog around the neck and held him tightly.

"Don't you dare hurt him," she cried, "he's only trying to protect me. You," she turned to the first man, "you're the escaped prisoners, aren't you? What do you want here? I have nothing for you."

"We want money and clothes," snarled the toad-eyed man, "and if you don't shut that dog up I'll bash his head in."

"I have no money," Ma faltered. "I am really quite poor. I do a little sewing to buy enough to eat, but that is all the income I have."

The bleak-faced man shrugged. "I hate to contradict a lady, but we were told you had a son overseas and he sent you money to save for him, and you also have your allotment check, so don't give us that story."

Ma sank back resignedly. "I can't stop you from tearing my house apart," she said, "but if you will get me that box of dog biscuits from the cupboard, I'll give my dog one, since his growling annoys you."

The man tossed the box in her lap. She gave the dog a biscuit, then sat holding it, silently watching the two men as they went into Ralph's room. She cried out when they came out, both dressed in his clothes.

"Those are my son's," she whispered.

"They're not quite as conspicuous as the suits we were wearing," grinned the bleak-eyed one. "Where is your money?"

"I tell you I have no money," Ma cried desperately. "Just what is in that teapot in the cupboard. Take that and go."

"Aw, quit stalling around," growled Shorty. "We've wasted too much time with you already. If I twist your arm a few times, you'll be glad to tell us."

An exclamation of delight interrupted him. The other man held up an old silk package he had found in the bottom drawer of an old chest standing in the corner.

"Here it is," he cried, "Look at those knots. Come on, we'll open it when we get away from here. We haven't time now."

Ma waited until the sound of their footsteps had died away, then she tiptoed to the door and locked it. Coming back to her chair, she carefully removed the dog biscuits from the box, revealing a layer of crisp green bills.

"I'd have just died," she confided to the dog, "if they had found the money Ralph has been sending home. As soon as someone comes from the village I'm going back with them so I can put this in the bank." Then she started to chuckle. "Wish I could be around when those fellows open that package and find that Confederate money of Grandfather's I've been saving all these years."

Catches Paint on Handle
You won't have to worry any more about paint running down the brush handle and onto your hand and arm. A paint brush has been patented which takes care of that annoyance. The new brush is described as having an improved means for catching, trapping and returning paint to the bristles.

Attar of Roses
It takes nearly 3,000 pounds of roses to produce one pound of attar of roses.

Strange Tipping Custom
Most people today tip in order to get service, or because they appreciate the service they have secured. In the middle ages it was the custom for condemned men, upon walking to the scaffold, to tip the man who was about to hang them.

Smallest Plant Seed
The South African herb, the streptocarpus is the smallest known plant seed. It takes 1,800,000 of these seeds to weigh one ounce.

Keep to the Right
Although in some states it is the law that bicyclists should ride on the left hand side of the streets, it is generally recommended that riders, for their own safety and that of others, follow the accepted rule of traveling on the right.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN

GAGETOWN NEWS

Death of Mrs. Spring—

Mrs. Rosalie M. Spring passed away Thursday, September 18, at the Stevens' Nursing Home in Cass City, following a long period of illness. Funeral services were conducted at the Hunter Funeral Home by Rev. W. H. Kuhlman on Saturday. Entombment was in the Hillside Cemetery here.

Born September 4, 1887, at Port Hope, the daughter of James and Lillis McGinn, she resided in Detroit most of her life. In June, 1916, she was united in marriage with Charles H. Spring. He passed away in 1930.

Mrs. Spring is survived by two brothers, Lloyd L. McGinn of Gagetown and Charles Roland of Detroit; one sister, Mrs. Lawrence Hahn of Detroit; and several nieces and nephews.

Mary Ann and Connie Goslin, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Goslin, celebrated their ninth and tenth birthdays Sunday by having several friends and relatives at their home. Several games were played and prizes awarded. Luncheon was served consisting of ice cream and cake, melon and peanuts. They all had an enjoyable time and the girls received many nice gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hinsperger and son, Thomas, returned to their home in Pontiac Sunday after spending the past ten days with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dorsch.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hunter, Fran and Jonny, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Dangel of Bad Axe.

Mrs. John Wallace and children of Hazel Park visited over Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston. Mr. Johnston is very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Emilio y-Serra of Puerto Rico and Mrs. Grace McEldowney of Caro were guests Monday of Miss Florence Lehman. Mrs. y-Serra formerly was Elaine McEldowney.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Detar and Mrs. S. Rose of Indian River, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Montreuil, John Montreuil and Lester and Doris Montreuil of Detroit spent the week end and the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Montreuil. Isaiah Montreuil, who is very ill, was taken to Pleasant Home Hospital Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDermid and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dickenson of Detroit, Miss Margaret McDermid and Morris Deming of Mr. and Mrs. Joel McDermid. Mrs. Dickenson remained for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Lenhard of Saginaw spent from Sunday until Wednesday with Mrs. Alphonso Rocheleau, Mr. and Mrs. Al Secor and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lenhard. John Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schwartz, occupant of the car which turned over several times on the road near Bay Port instantly killing Clayton Kendall, is in a very serious condition in Pigeon Hospital. He has a double fracture in one leg, the other leg is broken and hip and head injured. He was still unconscious Tuesday morning.

Blood Plasma From Stone Saves Lives

German Scientists Claim to Have Made New Drug.

EDGEWOOD ARSENAL, MD.—German scientists made synthetic blood plasma from stone during World War II and used it to save thousands of lives, army chemical corps officers revealed.

The Germans produced a drug called periston from acetylene, which in turn was produced by them from limestone and coke. They used the drug as a substitute for blood plasma in the treatment of shock and wounds, and in transfusions. German scientists told American chemical officers that it was used 300,000 times on about 40,000 patients.

The drug is a yellow solid which is dissolved in a solution and inserted into the veins of the patient.

Blood plasma was produced in this country during the war from whole blood, gathered from millions of American donors. One scientist said the German discovery was all the more amazing because there is no similarity between the structure of a molecule of periston and one of human blood.

The chemical officers said samples of periston had been brought to the United States with the formula and had been turned over to American manufacturers for possible use in this country. More than a dozen other startling medical discoveries by German scientists have been made available to American pharmacists through the department of commerce. One of them is a chemical called aludrine sulfate, which the Germans report they used with great success in the treatment of asthma and allergies. Another is the use of cotton fiber impregnated with activated charcoal as an absorbent dressing for open, draining wounds.

Odd Series of Mishaps

Blamed on Lightning

LANCASTER, PA.—A strange sequence of mishaps started after lightning set fire to the barn on Stoner Seitz's nearby farm.

The telephone wouldn't work, preventing a call to firemen. Seitz's daughter, Esther, began ringing a large dinner bell to summon help, but the rope broke.

The girl climbed to the roof to operate the bell's clapper by hand but slipped and fell 80 feet to the ground, injuring her right leg.

A fireman, summoned by neighbors, fell from the fire truck as it sped to the scene, injuring his right leg.

'Wonderful' Says Girl of New Legs—With Shoes

MEMPHIS.—For the first time in her 14 years Baby Jean Martin can wear stockings and dresses like other girls, and she says it's "wonderful."

The brown-haired girl of Dell, Ark., also has the first legs she ever had—artificial ones—and can now walk. But this is only part of her new found happiness.

"I'm wearing shoes and stockings," she exclaimed happily as she tried out her new pair of store limbs, with some assistance from crutches.

She now can wear dresses like the others, too, and she's already picked out the gown for her piano recital at Blytheville's Calvary Baptist church—"a blue one and very full."

Baby Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Martin, was born with both legs off above the knees. She attended school in a wheelchair. A Blytheville insurance man, E. H. Ford, noting her courage and cheerful spirit, started a fund to buy her some artificial legs. The fund was quickly oversubscribed.

She has to walk with crutches now, but doctors say she probably can walk with a cane in two months and maybe get along without any help later.

Kitten Starts Across Street And then Things Happen

EAU CLAIRE, WIS.—A kitten tried to cross a busy street then: John B. Allen, 25, swerved his car to avoid hitting it, and crashed into a pole bearing an electric transformer. High tension wires broke, fell on the car and set it afire. Allen got out safely. The car was a total loss.

The fire department arrived, put out the fire and started to leave. A second pole collapsed, missing the truck by five feet.

The power circuit, covering a large section of the city, was out for 12 minutes.

The kitten was unharmed.

Caged Bear Bites Youth At Philadelphia Circus

PHILADELPHIA.—Fourteen-year-old Terrence Horgan was bitten on the hand when he got too close to a bear cage on the lot of Ringling Bros. & Barnum & Bailey's circus, police reported. Doctors at Temple university hospital said the middle finger of Horgan's right hand was chewed so badly that a delicate skin graft was necessary.

THE JACKPOT QUESTION

IT WAS the day appointed by the Rev. Duncan McGregor for catechizing some of his congregation, but, unfortunately, the good clergyman had received an invitation to dinner for the same day and, forgetting his previous engagement, had accepted it.

Just as the minister was mounting his gig to depart, he perceived the first of his class entering his garden, and the remainder coming over the fair Scottish hill. He was instantly aware of the mistake he had made, but his ready wit soon came to his assistance.

"What have you come for, Jock?" he asked, addressing the first comer.

"An' dee ye no' remember, sir, ye bade us come to be catecheesed?"

"Oh, ay; weel, no' to keep ye going further, Jock, was it a horned coo or a hemmel that Noah took into the ark?"

"Deed, sir, I canna tell."

"Well, turn back and ask the fother folk the same question, and if they canna answer it, bid them go home and find out."

And with that the Rev. Duncan McGregor drove away to his dinner.

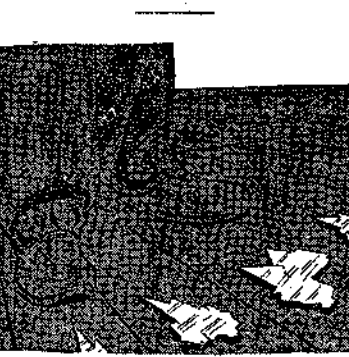

Sweet Dreams

A little old lady in her seventies went to a doctor. She expounded all her ailments, real and imaginary, but seemed most concerned about a recurring dream in which she was diligently pursued by a personable young man who wanted to flirt with her. The doctor was sympathetic, and advised her how she might sleep more soundly.

In a few days she returned, still woeful.

"Don't tell me you aren't sleeping better nowadays," said the doctor. "Oh, I'm sleeping fine," the patient replied, "but to tell the truth, I certainly miss that young man!"

SEVEN YEARS BAD LUCK

The recruit turned to his neighbor and remarked: "I say, Bill, have you got a good memory for faces?"

"Yes," replied Bill, from behind his towel.

"Well, see if you can remember your own when you shave it. I've just broken your mirror."

Identification Tag
The Tennessee mountaineer had long dreaded the journey from his peaceful Cumberland valley to "the outside"—down to Chattanooga.

Now, preparing to leave at last and urged by his wife to write his name on a slip of paper and put it in his pocket, he was dogged by foreboding.

He wrote, "In case of accident, this was Seth Spraggins."

Agriculture Stood Still
For some 2,300 years, from the beginning of recorded history, the mass of the human race had suffered continual hunger. In 1800 the art and science of agriculture stood practically where they did in the time of Julius Caesar. True cast iron plows replaced iron-covered wooden plows, but this improvement just about measures the entire advance.

The election was followed by a short program.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Lena Patch on Oct. 17.

Funeral of Mrs. Jane Leitch Here Monday

Mrs. Jane Leitch, for 27 years a resident of Cass City previous to moving from here to Pontiac in 1916, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lester Carpenter, in Pontiac Saturday morning. She had been in ill health for some time. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Melvin R. Vender at the Edward Mark home on East Houghton Street in Cass City Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

Jane McMannell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McMannell, was born in Dutton, Ont., March 14, 1864.

She was united in marriage with Angus Leitch May 12, 1887, in Dunwich, Ontario. They moved to Cass City in March of 1889. Mr. Leitch preceded her in death in May of 1901. In 1916 she moved to Pontiac to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Carpenter, where she has lived until her death. She was a member of the United Presbyterian Church of Pontiac.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Edward Mark of Cass City, Mrs. John Simkins and Mrs. Lester Carpenter of Pontiac; eighteen grandchildren; eighteen great grandchildren; and one brother, Peter McMannell, of Manitoba, Canada. A son, Archibald J., died in infancy.

Mrs. Fulcher Died Here on Monday

Mrs. Margaret Gertrude Fulcher passed away Monday evening, September 22, at the home of her niece, Mrs. George Webber, of Cass City, where she had been ill for the past three weeks.

Mrs. Fulcher was born in Minden City September 14, 1885, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Karybyson.

She was united in marriage with William Fulcher May 11, 1927, in Cass City. Following their marriage they settled on a farm in Greenleaf Township, Sanilac County, where she has made her home until her recent illness. Mrs. Fulcher attended the Methodist Church of Shabbona and the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Cass City.

She is survived by her husband, William; one sister, Mrs. Martha Wright of Port Sanilac; and three brothers, James Kerybyson of Decker, Arthur of Tyre, and Gaylord of Rogersville, Michigan.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Stanley P. Kirm in the Evangelical United Brethren Church on Thursday afternoon. Interment was made in Elkland Cemetery.

Women Now Wear Trees
Wood provides the source of the second most important textile fiber used in the United States—rayon. Only cotton exceeds rayon as a fabric material. In 1945 the United States produced 792 million pounds of rayon. Most American women wear clothes made from trees. Statistics show that two-thirds or more of all women's dresses sold in the United States today are made of rayon or contain rayon blended with other fabrics.

Corn and Spud Licker
Vodka, also known as vodki or wodka, is made from potatoes and corn.

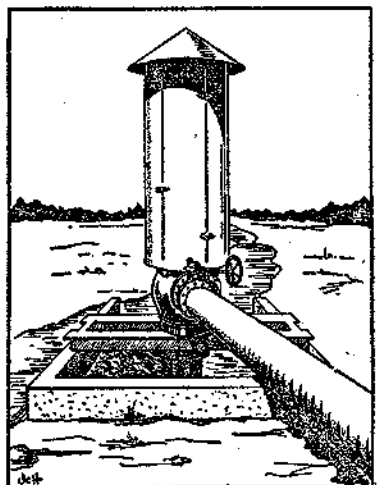

Making Peanuts Lighter
Blanching is a treatment given to peanuts to give a whiter and more homogenous appearance to products made from them. These products include peanut butter, peanut candies, salted peanuts, bakery products and peanut flour. This whitening is accomplished by removing the skin of peanuts, and may or may not include removing the hearts or germs.

Prevented Starvation
In the great famine in England in 1555, wild fitches kept many from starving. Fitches are a fennel flower, a coarse kind of pea, hard but nutritious.

Hydro-Electric on Farms Fills Needs Serves as Substitute Central Power Service

Despite the progress made by power suppliers in "electrifying rural America," the task is so vast that thousands of farms will not be reached by electric lines for several years. A number of these farms are located far from existing or contemplated distribution lines. Farmers need not have to delay or do without electricity and the convenience, time and labor-saving appliances and production equipment it operates—if they have available a stream which will provide a head of water in sufficient volume to operate a hydro-electric unit. In most cases, a small dam is required and a pond, thus formed for power purposes, also may be used for watering stock, fire protection or recreation. Such units are capable of producing direct or alternating electric current at low cost and make use of water which might otherwise be wasted.

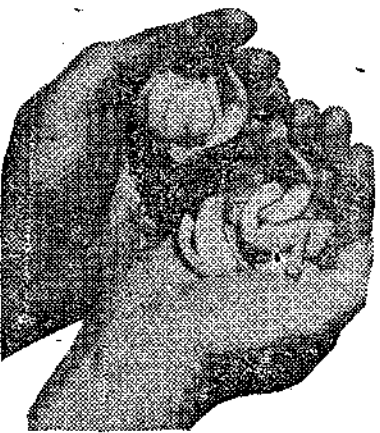

1 K.W. unit on a ranch in Montana.

The electrical capacity of units, such as that illustrated, varies from 1/2 to 10 kilowatts. For example: A typical unit will generate one kilowatt, with an eight-foot head of water, having a flow of 190 cubic feet of water per minute. As the head of water increases, the volume required decreases for the operation of a generator of given capacity. Thus, with a head of 25 feet, a hydro-electric unit will generate one kilowatt with a volume flow of only 68 cubic feet of water per minute. An eight-foot head is all that is needed for those generating from one-half to five kilowatts.

Fungicides Tested By Vegetable Mice

Scales of Easter lily bulbs are very subject to attack by a fungus causing scale rot, which accounts for their adoption by Drs. W. D. McClellan and N. W. Stuart, U.S.D.A. agricultural research division, in determining the effectiveness of various fungicides at the Beltsville station.

One fact that makes these "vegetable mice" particularly useful in testing work is that all the scales from one bulb are genetically the same, and for that reason the vulnerability to attack of the rot is uniform.

The Easter lily with from 40 to 60 scales of almost china-like smoothness is well adapted to its "mouse" role in testing of fungicides.

Some other advantages of this new method are that the scales can be used at any time of the year if properly handled, the effect of the disease attack on the scales can be read with ease because they are smooth and almost white, the chemical to be tested can be applied as dust and in a suspension or solution, the equipment is simple and takes little space.

Chick Glands Bigger When Fed Thioracil

Studies at Purdue experiment station have shown that a new drug, thioracil, when fed to chickens at a level of 0.2 per cent, resulted in marked changes in the thyroid gland and increased the rate of fattening. When the drug was fed to breeding hens, the thyroids of newly-hatched chicks were greatly enlarged. The hatchability of the eggs showed no change and the chicks appeared to be of normal vigor.

Puerto Rico Not Tropical

The island of Puerto Rico lies definitely within the tropics. The climate, however, is not tropical. The island lies directly in the path of the constant trade winds which temper the heat of the tropical sun. The average daily maximum temperature is 86.0 degrees, and the average daily minimum temperature is 66.9 degrees. The highest temperature occurs in August and the lowest is recorded in February.

Here's a New Light on an Old Subject

This tag identifies the revolutionary new Certified Lamp—the finest piece of home lighting equipment ever made. When your youngster does his homework under a Certified Lamp, you can be sure his eyes are getting the best. No glare or sharp shadows will tire him, cause him headaches, poor grades or, as is sometimes the case, serious eyestrain.

That's because these new lamps are the product of years of careful engineering; because they're sold as a unit—reflector, shade, stand and switch—each certified to be the last word in better, more healthful lighting. Available in floor, table and wall models—in every style and design—they're in Michigan shops and department stores this week.

You're sure, too, that your light is right if you have an Edison Home Lighting Specialist check over your lamps. Her visit costs you nothing—it may safeguard priceless eyesight. For this free service just call your nearest Edison office today.

50 Trains a Day Wrecked in U. S.

2,967 Accidents Kill 143
First Two Months
Of This Year.

WASHINGTON.—On the average, 50 trains a day are being wrecked or damaged in the United States.

During the first two months of this year, 2,967 train accidents were reported to the Interstate Commerce commission. The toll was 143 persons killed and 2,068 injured.

This is death and destruction at a pace even faster than in the "bad" last year.

For the same two months in 1946 the figures were: 2,758 mishaps, 139 deaths and 2,119 injured.

If the accidents continue at the present rate, this year's toll will top the toll of last year, which had 15,686 crashes, 432 deaths and 20,677 injured.

Some Are Disasters.

Some of the wrecks have been minor, causing only small property damage. But others have been headlined disasters, with great loss of life.

Many of the country's crack trains, presumably carrying the most modern safety equipment, have been involved.

All this has led students of the problem to raise two questions:—What causes all these crashes?—What's being done to stop them?

Experts assert that almost all train mishaps result from either carelessness of workmen or faulty equipment. And they find that human errors are more to blame than mechanical failures.

Study of 88 accident reports to Interstate Commerce commission shows that 57 of them, in which 149 were killed and 2,448 were injured, were caused by carelessness of employees.

Only 27, which killed 28 and injured 458, were laid to equipment trouble.

The most common manpower weakness is found to be failure to obey safety signals.

Excessive speed, when rules and common sense alike called for caution, were blamed for 12 accidents. Careless switching resulted in 13 accidents.

As for equipment, the most deadly failure is the broken rail. Nine wrecks of the 89 studied were laid to that cause, with a toll of 13 dead and 214 injured.

Good roads check their rails regularly.

Mechanical Failures.

Three mechanical failures—all at one time—wrecked the Cascade Mirage, a Pullman car of the Pennsylvania's Sunshine Special, near Galitzin, Pa.

The special stopped at the top of a grade. The Cascade Mirage broke off, rolled downhill three miles and a half and tipped over an embankment.

Investigators said the car broke off because a soft cotter pin had been used to fasten a coupler that wouldn't lock.

What are the railroads doing to cut down the accident toll?

They say they are trying their best, through the most modern devices, which are being put into general use as fast as money, materials and manufacturing capacity permit.

One of these is a signal device in a locomotive cab. It shows conditions in the block in which the locomotive is. If, after entering a clear block, another train intrudes, or a rail breaks, the cab signal changes and the engineer can stop.

This device was shown to have prevented a second wreck on May 1 after steel plates on a freight had ripped the sides of the Pennsylvania's American. One plate, falling to the rails, set the cab signal in an incoming freight, which was brought to a stop. Otherwise the second freight would have piled into the American.

Army Helicopters Are Used

In Rescue in Canal Jungle

ALBROOK FIELD, CANAL ZONE.—Army helicopters equipped with special winches have lowered a rescue platoon into the jungles of northwestern Nicaragua in an attempt to save six American aviators, survivors of the crash of a Flying Fortress, the Army disclosed.

The six men were lost in the snake-infested jungles when all 15 occupants of the B-17 bailed out after one of the motors caught fire. Nine men succeeded in making their way into Managua, the Nicaraguan capital, whence they returned here by plane.

United States to Expand

Army Air Bases in Alaska

WASHINGTON.—The United States army air forces announced an $8,125,000 expansion program for "Mile 26" field near Ladd field, Alaska, to base its B-36 super bombers.

Facilities at Whittier Port, Alaska, also will be expanded at a cost of $2,840,845.

Later the AAF revealed plans for construction of a 13 million dollar base for its big strategic bombers in Aleutian county, Me., four miles west of the Canadian border and astride the main aerial route between western Europe and the North American continent.

Farmers Repairing Equipment at Home

Increased Use of Arc
Welding Aid to Farm

World War II and the rapid extension of government-approved rural power lines to meet farm production emergencies contributed, more than any other factors, to the widespread use of transformer-type electric arc welders on farms. Welding was an entirely new job to most farmers when the war started, but before it had progressed many months, scores of them had become old hands at the "fix it up, make it do" trade.

Welding being done efficiently on the farm.

Thus a war-taught talent enters the peacetime picture with increasing popularity. Experience showed that many broken parts could be welded satisfactorily without having to remove them from the machine and that such equipment then could be returned to the fields promptly—especially when time-saving welding jobs were done on the farm.

Also, farmers soon learned that they could use their welders to construct new equipment out of scrap parts and modify present equipment to suit their particular needs, as well as make necessary repairs.

With the use of welders, discarded repair parts and scrap metal can be made into feed cars, manure loaders, buck rakes, milk can trucks and racks, disc harrows and trailers; broken sickle bars, tractor wheel rims and spokes, tractor hitch drawbars, spring tooth points, gears, gear teeth and sprockets can be repaired, and horse-drawn equipment is modified for tractor use.

Merely Using Your Head Will Save Your Heels

Is there an easier, better way to do that job? Purdue university answers with: "Yes, there probably is. There is an easy and a hard way, a labor-saving and a labor-wasting way to do any job. Few of us are doing our farm job the easiest way. If we use our heads we can save our heels—as well as time, energy and expense. But we rarely take time to save time. We don't figure out the easiest, most effective way—we just get the job done."

Grasshopper's Day

Believing that there is an important relationship between the intensity of sunlight, air temperature, the body temperature of the grasshopper, and where and when the pests do their eating, Professors Pepper and Hastings, Montana State college, have designed a special thermocouple with which to take the temperature of grasshoppers.

Crop Rotation Plan Should Be Balanced

Unless a farm has a well balanced rotation for its fields, the chances are that the farmer who works that land is depleting the soil and getting lower yields of the crops he grows.

Dr. R. L. Cook, soils specialist at Michigan State college, says that there are several ways in which crop rotation may result in soil improvement. If a cultivated crop is continuously produced on one field, the organic matter content of the field is decreased.

Castrate Pigs Early For Market Results

The earlier pigs intended for market are castrated the better they will weigh in. When pigs are castrated at three to four weeks of age, they are easier to handle, the wounds heal more quickly and the pigs are usually under closer supervision so that the wounds can be watched closely. Incisions should be made low to permit good drainage and to give the finished barrow a neater appearance.

Corn Speeds Up
With a two-row picker and facilities for hauling and cribbing corn, yields of 60 to 70 bushels per acre can be harvested with only one and a half to two man hours per acre. Hand picking and scooping would require about nine man hours per acre to harvest a 70 bushel yield.

Crime Does Not Pay
Federal statistics show that in 88 out of 100 cases there are arrests that clear up the crimes committed. Half of them result in some type of punishment and two out of 100 result in the death penalty being imposed.

Planes Easier to Fly Aircraft engines once required complete overhaul every 100 or 200 hours but today they can operate up to 1,000 hours without overhaul.
Bearing failures, which used to plague operators, now are a rarity.
Improved processing has removed cylinder heads as a source of trouble.
Engines are constantly improving as research produces better material, better designs. Control of a plane once relied almost entirely on the skill of the pilot. Today many of the control functions are performed automatically and with greater precision than human skill could guarantee. Wing flaps, introduced some years ago to improve control during landings and take-offs, are automatically adjusted on the newest transports.

Kill Them Very Young
An active and vigorous plant in the early stages of growth will respond more quickly to 2,4-D, the new weed killer, than a mature plant. The usual response is a curling and twisting of the leaves with a gradual dying in three to four weeks. As soon as practical after the weeds have died, a fertilizer should be used to encourage the grass to fill in the bare spaces left by the weeds.

of Probate.
In the matter of the Estate of Elmore E. Beach, Deceased.
James L. Purdy having filed in said Court his final administration account, and his petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate.
It is ordered, that the 30th day of September, A. D. 1947, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition.
It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the

A Way Out
Patricia telephoned Phyllis' mother and asked if Phyllis might come to see her.
The mother explained: "No, Phyllis didn't come home on time, as she promised yesterday. She should be punished. So she must stay."
Patricia quickly interrupted:
"Oh! Just spank her and send her down."

Fussy Sort
A traveler in the Dogpatch country stayed overnight in a backwoods dwelling. The next morning he spent some time on the back porch with a basin of water, a razor, soap, comb, brush and so on. A small boy watched wide-eyed for some time and finally said, "Gorsh, mister, are ye always that much trouble to yer-self?"

GRAMMAR LESSON

Son—Pa, what is the difference between a cat and a comma?
Pa—I don't know, what is it?
Son—A cat has claws at the end of its paws, and a comma is a pause at the end of a clause.

Lois Like Him
"Mother goes to the Lutheran church," said a youngster to a new friend.
"What denomination is your daddy?"
"I don't zactly know what daddy is," admitted the boy. "He don't go to church with mother. Aunt Mabel says he must be a Seven Day Absentist."

Dual Control
Bill—Why are you so unhappy?
Bob—I just found out my wife is leading a double life.
Bill—No kidding.
Bob—Yep—her own and mine.

Soviet Drug Termed
Partially Effective

Research Discounts Miracle
Claims for ACS.

SAN FRANCISCO.—American scientists have proven that the Russian "miracle drug" ACS, claimed to stretch man's lifespan to 150 years, is partially effective.

Once believed a hoax, ACS now has been found to be a promising new treatment for high blood pressure, rheumatism, stomach ulcers and the repair of broken bones. But it still won't cure cancer or make grandfather immortal.

Dr. W. H. Manwaring, emeritus professor of bacteriology and experimental pathology at Stanford university, cautiously confirms some of the spectacular Soviet claims for the "magic" serum. Writing in California Medicine, official journal of California Medical Association, Dr.
Manwaring reports initial experiments on animals show ACS has a "definite healing value."

While the tests are inconclusive and in early stages, Dr. Manwaring says they should "go far to decrease the current skepticism of the Soviet clinical claims."

ACS (antifreticular cytotoxic serum) was developed in 1944 by the late Dr. Alexander A. Bogomolets of the Russian Ukraine. He announced the serum "combined with proper diet and care might enable man to live to 150 years of age."

More radical claims in the Soviet press led American scientists to discount entirely the first medical reports. But now Dr. Manwaring says a serum similar to ACS has been used with "considerable success" in speeding the rate of healing of broken bones.

Dr. Bogomolets predicted mankind would live longer—and healthier—from the use of the serum in preventing and treating diseases peculiar to aging and old age. ACS is made by extracting emulsified spleen and bone marrow from fresh human cadavers. While the actual product is a strong poison in large quantities, it was found to stimulate tissue growth when injected in minute doses.

This stimulation of the connective tissues of the body was believed likely to hold off or eradicate many of the symptoms and ailments of old age, thus prolonging life.

Uncle Sam Drops 78,700
Employees From Payroll

WASHINGTON.—An estimated 78,000 employees were dropped from the federal payroll during the first half of this year, the civil service commission revealed.

The government began the 1948 fiscal year on July 1 with approximately 1,902,000 employees within the continental U. S.
This compared with 1,980,700 on last January 1.

At the wartime peak, shortly before V-J Day, the government had 2,915,500 employees in this country. By the end of March, 1947—latest date for which exact figures have been compiled officially—federal employment had dropped to 1,944,400. Since then, the civil service commission estimates, there has been a further drop of about 42,000 employees.

Cellar Leaks Hadrian Coins;
Professor Can't Keep Hoard

ROME.—Dr. Gail K. Meadows has a leak in the basement of his summer home. It's dripping money.
But Dr. Meadows, professor of romance languages at Amherst college, who spent the summer in a sixth century palace at Piazza Della Pigna, must give the money to the government under Italian law.

Experts say the seepage comes from the Fountain of Trevi a half mile away. Tourists toss coins into it because legend says that is the way to insure one's return to Rome.
There's another little catch, though. The fountain was built in the 17th century and the coins which drip into Dr. Meadows' basement date from the time of the Emperor Hadrian, centuries before that.

Railroads to Offer Phone Service on Speeding Trains

PHILADELPHIA.—The telephone is going to take a train ride.
The Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads announced that a train telephone service—first to be attempted in America—will be placed in public operation on two Washington-to-New York trains.
Thus the passenger will be able to call his home or office—or vice versa. Radio waves will connect the moving train and the nearest Bell telephone receiving station.

Swarms of May Flies Hit
Half Three Railroad Trains

PORT DEPOSIT, MD.—Traffic
over the Pennsylvania railroad's Port Deposit-Harrisburg, Pa., line was halted by swarms of May flies.
Officials said three freight trains came to a full stop when they hit the swarms.

Investigation showed the flies had gotten into the motors of the electric locomotives, short-circuiting them.
Steam locomotives were dispatched to haul the trains.

Cane and Beet History
Cane had been grown in the tropical areas of the New World generations before sugar extracted from the beet root made its first appearance in Europe. That is not to say, of course, that the parent of the present sugar beet was unknown in bygone days. On the contrary, many scholars believe it was eaten by the laborers who piled up the pyramid of Cheops, and as evidence of the ancient lineage they quote a passage from Herodotus, who lived in the fifth century before Christ.

Many Rural Scouts
There are approximately 285,000 Boy Scouts and 90,000 Cub Scouts in 22,062 units in the rural areas of the United States. This is only one-fourth of the membership of the Boy Scouts of America, which represents 51 per cent of the boy population of America. Many boys of scout age exert their efforts in 4-H and Future Farmer work in farm districts, which may account for fewer farm boys being scouts than city boys.

Atom-Born City Undergoes Boom

Taxes, Crime No Worry for Workers Who Plan to Build Great City.

RICHLAND, WASH.—Looking forward to its first postwar expansion boom, the town that the atom built expects to retain much of the individuality that makes it the unique "village" of the Pacific Northwest.

General Electric company announced an expansion in the plutonium-producing Hanford Engineer works, as well as plans for additions to this war-born community.

Richland is home to most of the workers who produce the element which was vital for the bombs that hit Nagasaki and Hiroshima two years ago.

Richland shares a common problem with other newly grown industrial communities in its need for more homes and hospital facilities.

Claims to Distinction.
These are some of this four-year-old atomic city's claims to distinction:

It never has had a death in the potentially dangerous industrial plants in which the populace works, nor has there been any recorded injury from radioactivity.

It claims the nation's highest birth rate (despite the once ugly rumors of radioactive elements might have on family life).

There is no juvenile delinquency problem.

For the approximately 18,000 population, there is a lone beer tavern, one automobile dealer, one general store, four service stations, five grocery stores—and there isn't any hard liquor for sale either by the bottle or the glass. (There are state-operated liquor stores in nearby towns.)

There are no real estate taxes. There is no mayor or elected town council.

No Police Court.
There isn't so much as a police court or a lawyer in town.

The two-cell city jail never has held a civilian prisoner.

There's no worry for householders about what color to paint their homes; it's all done for them—with-out consultation on their own color tastes.

The town administrators launched a city-wide program of painting every home and building in varied blending colors (there has been some eyebrow-raising over how pea green slipped in under the guise of harmony).

For operating the town and seven atomic plants of the Hanford Engineer works, General Electric receives (in addition to all costs) a fee of $1 from the government.

Federal Tax Recs. Are Short Bill on and Half

WASHINGTON.—Federal tax collections in fiscal 1947 fell $1,563,711,000 below the previous fiscal year because of heavy loss of revenue from the repealed excess profits tax, treasury records showed.

However, the yield from income taxes reached new peaks.

The excess profits tax yield slowed to a comparative trickle of belated payments since last January. It was down by $4,256,310,000 for fiscal 1947, but increased collections from income and other taxes helped cushion the effect on Treasury receipts.

Total receipts of the internal revenue bureau from all sources were listed as $39,168,388,000. (From surplus property sales, customs duties and some other sources the government got supplementary receipts that boosted its total budget income to $42,037,798,000.)

Income tax collections, both from individuals and corporations were up sharply to record highs, reflecting booming business and employment.

Individual income tax receipts reached $19,343,297,000, topping fiscal 1946 by $638,761,000 although the tax rate was lowered January 1, 1946, midway in the earlier year.

Not One Piano Tuner in Hundred Can Play Piano

DETROIT.—Five hundred piano tuners with a yen to sing had to scout through a hotel to find someone who could play.

The situation forced delegates to the convention of the American Society of Piano Technicians to bare a horrible truth:

Not one in a hundred tuners knows enough about music to put one note after another!

The society's members, who were waiting for someone to lead them in the national anthem, weren't surprised. Such things had happened before.

Japanese Scientist Tells Discovery of Cancer Virus

TOKYO.—Dr. Ryoujun Kinoshita, a Japanese scientist, claimed in Tokyo the discovery of the isolation of a tiny cancer virus which might speed the search for a complete cancer cure.

Dr. Kinoshita said he had discovered the cancer virus in mammals, a discovery he said which might prove that cancer was not hereditary but was transmissible.

He added that if a method of suppression of the multiplication of the tiny cancer virus was found, cancer would be controllable.

TOO TEMPTING

RAIDS on the lobster pots of Maine fishermen reached such proportions in 1923 that a vigilance committee was formed against the sea-borne thugs who disposed of their plunder at fancy prices. One key man in this committee was a grizzled, gigantic skipper, Captain Abidiah Grubb. One evening he spotted three sleek power launches moving seaward from a hidden inlet. Grubb noted the time and direction and prepared to report them. But a man in a business suit had been watching, too; now he approached the skipper.

"Would $5,000 help you forget you saw 'em'?"

Grubb turned away, his jaw muscles knotting.

"How about $10,000?" persisted the man.

The skipper turned to stare him down with the cold blue eyes of Maine.

The man signed impatiently. "Well, $20,000?"

Just then the little steamer was passing near a headland. Without a word, the giant picked up the man and pitched him into the sea.

"What'd you do that for, Cap?" asked the helmsman.

"Heck!" growled Grubb, "he was gettin' too near my price!"

Two 'First's'
The young husband had just arrived home from the office.

"What's the matter, darling?" he asked his wife. "You look flustered."

"Oh, I've had a dreadful day," she replied. "Baby cut his first tooth and then he fell and knocked it out."

"Well, and then what happened?"

"Oh, darling," she answered in a shocked voice, "he said his first word."

First Steam Automobile
Henry A. House in 1886 made the first automobile operated by steam and drove it through the streets of Bridgeport, Conn.

DEFORD DIARY

W. C. T. U.—
The union will meet Thursday, Oct. 2, at 2 p. m., with Mrs. Robt. Horner. Devotions, Mrs. Herbert Watkins; message, Rev. Herbert Watkins.

Silver Wedding—
The silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rayl occurred Sept. 20. Several neighbors and friends gave them a surprise in the evening by gathering at the home and bringing good things to eat. All enjoyed the evening together and those attending presented Mr. and Mrs. Rayl with a pecuniary gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jacoby attended the wedding shower given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Crawford Sunday afternoon at the Caro Gun Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Slingland have sold their Deford property, residence and business building, to Wayne Evans. Mr. and Mrs. Slingland have been residents here for ten years. They expect to move to Merrill.

Tuesday, Sept. 23, being the 12th birthday of Carolyn Rayl, 25 friends gathered at her home to help her celebrate. Guests were her teacher, Mr. Koeltzow, and Mrs. Koeltzow and baby, and her classmates at school, her Sunday School classmates and neighbors. There was a lighted birthday cake and ice cream for refreshments, and she received many nice presents.

Mrs. Ernest Reed of Wayne was a visitor in Deford on Friday, calling on acquaintances among whom were Mrs. Lena Curtis and Mrs. Samuel Sherk. Mrs. Reed was formerly Miss Mary Elley and has been visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Lena Curtis entertained on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rehner, Norma and Melvin and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Buchinger of Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pypuk and baby of Metamora, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Curtis and children of Marlette, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hartwick, Joan and Beverly of Rochester, and Mrs. Ed New of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weston have moved to Fairgrove.

Week-end visitors of Miss Belle Spencer were Mr. and Mrs. Nick Pandurin and son and Miss Naomi Spencer, all of Oxford.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Phillips and family and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Phillips and family were visitors in Flint Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark spent Friday to Sunday in Pontiac, guests of their daughters and families.

John Clark and Donald Clark were business callers on Tuesday in Flint and Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Hicks were guests in Caro Friday to Sunday of their daughters, Mrs. Elmer Collins, Mrs. Jesse Kelley, and Mrs. Burton Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford were callers in Marlette Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Boyne of Detroit were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arleon Retherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kilbourn entertained for the week end their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Probe of Detroit. Miss Shirley Kelley accompanied them on Sunday when they returned to Detroit and will spend the week in the city at the Probe and Bruce Malcolm homes.

Mrs. Walter Kelley, Mrs. Kenneth Kelly, Mrs. Samuel Sherk and Mrs. Howard Malcolm spent Thursday at the Arthur Bruce home at Oxford. The occasion was Mrs. Bruce's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bruce of LaPeer were callers in town during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Palmer of Detroit were week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Molnar.

Mrs. Ruth Sherman and daughter, Mabel, spent last week in Detroit at the Chas. Sherman home, son of Mrs. Sherman.

Friday evening, Sept. 26, the W. S. C. S. will have their monthly meeting in the church dining room at 8 p. m. They will have supper together and a program. Public invited to come.

Guests of the week of Mrs. Leslie Drace were her mother, Mrs. Tyrrell, of Rochester and aunt of Washington, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Locke and daughter, Shirley, of Royal Oak were Sunday dinner guests at the Earl Rayl home and also were visitors at the Effie Warner home.

JAMES WALLACE TO HEAD YOUTH FELLOWSHIP

At the Westminster Fellowship meeting at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, the following officers were elected: James Wallace, president; Don Karr, vice president; Sally Colbert, treasurer; and Marjorie Karr, secretary.

The society voted to invite those of the Church School who are being promoted into the Intermediate or Junior High departments to membership in the Fellowship.

The next meeting of the combined groups will be Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The president elect will be the leader, using as a topic, "My Faith and My Church."

The president will announce the commission chairman and the plans for the opening fall party will be presented by the social committee.

The autumn rally of the Westminster Fellowship of Flint Presbytery is scheduled for Oct. 24 and 25.

First Five the Worse
Ninety-seven per cent of measles occurs before the fifteenth year and over half of the cases are reported during the first five years of life. Rheumatic fever ranks first as a cause of death in the age group from 5 to 15 years and causes four and a half times as many deaths in persons under 20 as do whooping cough, measles, meningitis, diphtheria, scarlet fever and infantile paralysis combined.

Better Made Coffee
Your coffee will be consistently tasty if the coffee maker is aired between brews. Leave the cover off, or if convenient, store the appliance completely disassembled. After each brew, wash inside with fresh suds, not greasy dish water. The electric element should never be dipped in water.

When You Hold a Sale Remember
YOU WANT MORE BIDDERS
This Paper will Bring Bidders to Your Sale From This Entire Community.
BIDDERS are attracted to a sale through Advertising. The larger the Advertisement used the greater is the attention given to what you have to sell. The size of the Advertisement regulates the cost. It also brings more and better bidders to your sale. ONE EXTRA BIDDER, in many cases, would more than offset the cost of the additional space used.
