

TUSCOLA DAIRYMEN PURCHASE RED DANE CATTLE AT HARRISVILLE

Concluded from page 1. of a group of 25 dairymen who are under contract with United States Department of Agriculture for the use of purebred Red Danish Sires in their herds. The breeding is done artificially and is furnished by the Michigan Artificial Breeders' Cooperative, Inc., at East Lansing from bulls leased to the cooperative by the U. S. D. A. Each member agrees to:

1. Keep his herd under the regular D. H. I. A. testing program.
2. Castrate all male calves of the first three generations.
3. Replace his original cows with first, second and third cross females as rapidly as possible.

Only Red Danish cattle in America are in Michigan, most of them in Sanilac County where the breeding began in 1938 under the sponsorship of the U. S. D. A. They are noted for good type, their large size (1,200 pounds to 1,500 pounds) cows, an average of 4 per cent butterfat test, well proportioned udders and constant producers throughout the lactation period. Farmers interested in this breed who live in the Cass City area may contact the county agricultural agent for further information.

Control of Insects Vital in Gardening

New Insecticides and Combinations Effective

Good gardeners and vegetable growers have learned that insect control is as important as good seed, weed control and water.

New insecticides, new combination dusts and better "sticking" agents have made vegetable and garden dusting more popular and effective.

The duster should be able to reach the under side of the leaves in most crops. Many insects feed on the under side. In the control of blights and other plant diseases complete coverage is important.

Type of hand duster effective in most gardens.

For the average garden, a hand plunger duster is adequate. This duster should have a long discharge tube with upturned end for under-leaf dusting. Larger gardeners and commercial acreages are more efficiently dusted with crank or knapsack dusters. Good dusting equipment is more efficient and effective in control of insects and plant diseases than make-shifts.

Potato yields have been increased 40 to 60 per cent in University of Wisconsin tests by spraying or dusting DDT at 10-day intervals. Leaf hoppers, flea beetles and potato beetles were controlled. Bean beetles, cabbage worms and most common insects are controlled by dusting.

Hundreds of state employees are quitting their jobs because of inadequate salaries, Governor Sigler was told by Thomas J. Wilson, state civil service director.

The governor promptly announced that the state legislature will be called back for the second special session of 1947. The session is scheduled for mid-November.

Here is the latest proof, if any were needed, that inflation works both ways. It not only booms sales tax revenue, currently forecast at $180,000,000 for the year ending next June 30, but it also increases operating costs. The new salary adjustment would amount to $6,500,000 to $8,000,000 a year, of which the federal government would furnish $2,500,000 through the Michigan unemployment compensation commission and veterans' vocational funds.

The additional $6,500,000 appropriation, sought from the legislature, is the same as the tax surcharge involved in a suit filed by the Detroit Board of Education, Michigan Federation of Teachers and other school groups.

The suit contests validity of the state legislature's 1947 action creating a single school district for teachers' pensions, vocational education and state schools for handicapped children. The district was given a legislative appropriation of $6,888,260 from the sales tax diversion to schools.

School attorneys argued before the Michigan State Supreme court that the schools were entitled to the full tax diversion amount of $51,000,000 under the constitutional amendment. Assistant Attorney General Elburn Parsons contended that the schools can get only what the legislature decides to appropriate.

The iron mining industry in the Upper Peninsula is a long way from being washed-up.

The Mather mine at Ishpeming-Negaunee is destined to be the world's greatest underground iron ore mine. One shaft is already producing; another, 8,000 feet to the eastward, is now being put down. When both shafts are producing, an annual output of 8,000,000 tons is anticipated. One thousand men will be working in this one mine.

Calumet & Hecla company is re-opening the old Ropes gold mine a few miles to the north of Ishpeming. The Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation has opened a new ore research laboratory in Negaunee, adjacent to large undeveloped J & L land holdings. A scientific search is being pressed to develop a practical way whereby millions of tons of low-grade ore may be utilized.

An educational campaign to inform Michigan citizens of the need for food conservation will get under way soon, led by Prof. Herman J. Wyngarden, Michigan State College economist. Wyngarden was chosen by Governor Sigler to head a state committee for this purpose.

The drive will seek to enlist citizens in volunteer conservation of food as requested by President Truman's Citizens Food Committee under the chairmanship of Charles Luckman.

Facts: We Americans are eating more meat than we did in 1939. The 1946 record was 152.8 pounds per capita, compared with 132.8 pounds in 1939. Fresh and processed fruit was consumed in 1946 at a rate 36 per cent higher than 1939. The food consumption in 1947 is estimated at 17 per cent above pre-war.

The bell is tolling in Europe. Every country there is suffering from dietary deficiencies. Self-sacrifice here will be a small price to pay.

EVER PRESENT DANGER OF COSTLY FIRES

Dr. W. W. Dickerson, chairman, and other officers of the local Red Cross urge all Tuscola County residents and guests to be on guard against the danger of fires.

The unusually warm and dry weather has greatly increased the danger here in Tuscola County. Cigarettes carelessly dropped by hunters or thrown from automobiles endanger our county's nearly 10,000 acres of game refuge, farmers' fences, buildings, hay and grain stubble fields, Dr. Dickerson states.

The forest fires presently raging in Michigan and in the New England States are claiming human lives, destroying valuable timber and wild life and scarring the landscape for years to come. Most of these fires were likely started by some careless person.

Our national Red Cross statistics, said Dr. Dickerson, indicate that at least 90 per cent of the nations 1,650 daily fires could be averted. About 800 million matches are used daily, about 250 billion cigarettes are smoked annually, any one of which, if carelessly discarded, may cause a fire.

More than half the 600,000 building fires annually occur in homes. Most can be traced to carelessness with cigarettes, children playing with matches, misuse of electrical equipment, defective wiring, overheated or faulty cooking and heating equipment.

This paper is pleased to join with the Red Cross in urging Tuscola County residents not to be indifferent in the ever present danger of costly fires.

Name Delegates for W. C. T. U. Convention

Twenty gathered at the home of Mrs. Alex Milligan on Friday for the October meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Devotions were by Mrs. W. Schell using Dan. 1:1-20, "Bring up a child in the way he should go". The program, "Alcohol Education", by Mrs. Houghtaling, assisted by Mrs. Tena Wells, Mrs. Sylvia Hall, Mrs. Boag and Mrs. Harry Young was very interesting. Mrs. Melvin Vender gave a talk on legislation. Mrs. Mary Strickland with Mrs. Schell were appointed as official delegates to the district convention in Romeo, November 6 and 7.

After the program Mrs. Harry Young introduced Mr. Young's niece from England. The group were greatly interested in her talk on the girls' clubs of her home town and in which she had a part; also the homes for children, both boys and girls, from war torn London. She told how hard it was for the mothers to prepare meals where food is so highly rationed. Light refreshments of tea, little cakes and cookies were served, with Mrs. A. J. Knapp pouring.

Sulfathiazole Used Against Calf Scours

Calf scours treatment with vitamin pills or tablets does no good. That's the latest word on the subject from Cornell university. Those in charge of the Cornell work say: "Studies involving approximately 60 heifer calves of various dairy breeds show that supplementing a normal diet with capsules or tablets containing vitamins A, D and E, ascorbic acid, and several of the B vitamins did not reduce the incidence or severity of scours."

Remove 2,4-D Residue From Spray Equipment

Injury to plants, such as stunted growth and reduced crop yields, may result when using spray for insecticides and fungicides which contain 2,4-D residue. The most effective means of eliminating 2,4-D spray residue is with hot water and household ammonia. Rinse the contaminated spray with hot water, then fill to capacity with water under boiling and ammonia, two teaspoonfuls per quart of water.

New Michigan Milk Producers' Association receiving station nearing completion at Ortonville. It is part of the Association's program for modernization of facilities in the Detroit market area and represents the finest obtainable in both building and equipment.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

The better to serve—both members and the consuming public—is the primary objective of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association.

From its inception—31 years ago—this organization has operated on a true cooperative basis—the principles of Democracy being carried out to the fullest degree.

On Thursday, November 6th, some 500 delegates selected by the 16,000 members will meet in East Lansing for their annual meeting to hear reports on the past year's activities and formulate plans for future operation of the dairy farmer's organization.

In shaping the policies and program of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association, a majority vote of the delegates elected by the membership is necessary. Majorities are seldom wrong in their decision. To this policy, adopted by the farsighted founders of the organization, may be attributed its constant growth and record of achievements.

Every activity of the Association is guided by the sound principle that the interests of the consuming public must always be given equal consideration with the interests of the milk producer. That is the Democratic way and this is a Democratic body of men.

Providing the highest quality of products, efficiently produced and transported to markets, at prices which are equitable, demands sound planning in order that the public be assured of an adequate supply of nature's most nearly perfect food.

The modern receiving station (pictured above), equipped with the most sanitary machinery obtainable, is a part of the program of progress now being carried out by members serving the Detroit market. This entire program is designed to provide consumers in the area with the purest, best quality milk and dairy products it is possible to produce, always remembering that milk is vital to the public health and welfare and its cost is of paramount consideration.

The experience of the past 31 years together with our cooperative method of operation leads us to look to the future with confidence in our ability to continually better serve both the public and our own members.

3 MINUTE FICTION Meddling Stranger By Annie Wilson

THE broken-down bus was no longer in sight when Hollis Chandler looked back from the top of the hill. This was the second hill he had climbed since he left the other passengers down there huddled together like children waiting for Santa Claus or someone to come along and give them a lift.

Perhaps he would have done just as well to wait, but it was only an hour until time for his appointment with Mr. Sanders of the Interstate Bus Lines. He looked at his watch and his jaw set in a determined line—four miles yet to the next stop. The pain shot through his knee again and sweat stood out on his forehead. He slowed his walk and set his foot more carefully each time.

It was then he saw the car parked beside the concrete road at the foot of the hill. Now he would get a ride if the driver didn't leave before he got there—the car was headed the other way. He tried to walk faster, then slowed down, the man was sitting on the fender, a big man, a fat man, as still as an Indian in the sun. "Hi young fellow," he called when Hollis came near. "Stop and rest awhile."

He motioned to the fender beside him but made no move to give room except lean his knee a little to one side.

"How far have you walked?" The mild blue eyes looked Hollis over. "About a mile." The man nodded his head. "Bus broke down." Hollis said disgustedly. "I'd like—"

He slowed his walk and set his foot more carefully each time.

"Where are the other passengers?" the man interrupted.

"Back there," Hollis motioned the way he had come, "waiting for another bus or a ride—"

"Hmmm—why didn't you wait?" "I have to be in town in less than an hour," he said shortly.

The big man shut one eye and blew out a puff of smoke that blotted out his face. "Any important-looking people on the bus?"

"One man got off at the last stop and took a taxi. The driver warned us the bus might not get in." Hollis forced his voice under control.

"How did you come to stick with it?" He leaned forward and his eyes lost their mildness.

"I'm interested in this line for one thing," Hollis' words came slowly, "and—my finances don't run to big taxi bills."

"What's your hurry to get to the next town, young fellow?"

HOLLIS settled himself again resignedly and pushed an ant off his sore knee with a blade of grass. "I'm going to meet a man connected with this bus line, and—" he stuck out his chin and his voice was hard as nails, "tell him what's wrong with it."

"Such as?" The fat man leaned forward eagerly.

"This—" Hollis made a wild gesture. "Sit on the road two hours waiting—just waiting—" He forgot he was talking to a meddlesome stranger and it all came pouring out. There would be a communication system like in the army, with the exact location of buses charted on maps at frequent intervals, someone to be there quickly in time of trouble. Bus travel in the future must be dependable; the fixtures to be comfortable, and durable, nothing elaborate.

"People who want luxuries use their own cars, or ride trains or planes—it's the common people who need buses," Hollis finished out of breath.

Another car came roaring over the hill. Hollis stood up and stuck his foot out a time or two to test it before he stepped toward the car. The driver slackened his speed and waved at the man on the fender as he went by.

The fat man laughed. Hollis whirled on him with a white face. "So—it's funny, is it?"

The big man looked at his watch. "Guess you're the only one impatient to get to where he's going."

Hollis watched with a grin of relief as the fat man in one easy motion shifted his huge bulk to a standing position and put out his hand to open the door.

"Get in," he motioned Hollis to the other side.

But Hollis stood transfixed and felt even the back of his neck getting red. For there on the door hidden by the man's body were the words: "J. R. Sanders, Interstate Bus Lines."

HOWDY FOLKS!
Don't read this if you don't like our stores. One fellow was painting the ceiling when another entered the room and asked, "Got a good grip on your brush?" The painter said "Yep." "Well, hold it tight. I'm taking away the ladder."

"Here comes the parade, Johnny, where is your mother?" "Upstairs, dad, waving her hair."
"Godness, can't we afford a flag?"

Of course you've heard of the man who bought only one spur, because he figured that if one side of the horse went, the other was sure to follow.

Wit a car it is different! It takes not only gas and oil but also thorough chassis lubrication to make it run smoothly. For real pep, for longer, trouble-free driving, come here regularly for your gas, oil and lubrication. Drive in today.
