Lutherans to Lay Cornerstone; Church of Christ to Celebrate Anniversary

The forty-fourth anniversary of the building of the Novesta Church of Christ is to be celebrated Sunday, Nov. 9, with the regular Bible School at 10:00, worship and communion at 11:00 a. m., then a potluck dinner at 12:30 in the church basement.

At 2:30 p. m., a fine program of music by the junior choir, orchestra, ladies' trio, readings, and vocal solos, will be presented. A message will be given by a guest speaker, Rev. Kenneth Davidson of Brightmoor Christian Church in Detroit.

The evening service is at 8:00 p. m. Singing inspiration message by Mr. Davidson, followed by a colored movie of church folk and summer Christian service camps. Visitors are welcome to any or all of the services.

On Sunday, November 9, at 10:00 a. m., Cass City Lutherans will assemble on the corner of Maple and Garfield Streets for the cornerstone laying of their new church. Work on the proposed building was begun on October 27.

Until the building is completed divine services will be held in the room above the fire hall. Last Sunday the congregation decided to name the church, "The Lutheran Chapel of the Good Shepherd". Several of the men are donating their time and labor in the building of the church.

Miss Addison Is Speaker at Two Service Clubs Tuesday

Miss Muriel Addison of Blackpool, England, a visitor in Cass City, was the speaker at two service clubs here Tuesday—at the Rotary Club luncheon and the Gavel Club dinner.

She said conditions in England created by the war were still critical and that there was actually less food now than during the conflict. England people have been on a diet since 1939. While there has been high inflation, rationed goods there are cheaper than in the United States. There is no feeling in England that Russia is prepared or would go to war.

Miss Addison expressed appreciation of the very useful and acceptable materials sent to her country by the American Red Cross. Many of England's young people, she said, were migrating to Australia and New Zealand.

During question and answer periods at both clubs, the speaker gave a fund of information on conditions in Britain.

Don Borg brought an instrumental sextet from the high school who played very acceptably "Memories of Steven Foster", at the Rotary luncheon.

The two youths were picked up in Saginaw Saturday by Saginaw police at the request of Sheriff Julius Goslin, after he received a complaint from Gerald Proulx, 18, of Gagetown. Proulx reported he had been stabbed in the face and neck, and when he came to the county jail Monday, he identified Tijerina as the one who had inflicted the superficial knife wounds.

Gagetown Pioneer Passed Away in Home of Daughter

Mrs. Anna Wilson Came to Brookfield Township in December of 1868

(From Gagetown Correspondent) Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Wilson, a pioneer of the Gagetown community, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mina Garrison, in Lansing, were held at the Hunter Funeral Home here on Friday afternoon, October 31, and were conducted by the Rev. H. Kuhlman. Burial was in the Williamson cemetery.

Mrs. Wilson is survived by a son, William Wilson, of Sandusky; a daughter, Mrs. Mina Garrison, of Lansing; and three sisters and one brother in Ohio.

Anna Walker was born in New York State Feb. 20, 1850. Her family had been one of pioneers from the beginning. Her parents were married June 25, 1849, in London, England, and in August of the same year came to the United States. They finally, after many difficulties, reached Ohio.

Though still a child at the time, Anna Walker recalled how during the period of the Civil War the price of flour went to $20 a barrel and tea $2 a pound. Having pigs and chickens of their own and with plenty of wild turkey and quail in the forests she and her parents fared better than some.

Miss Walker and Wm. S. Wilson were married in the spring of 1868 and in December of that year settled on 80 acres of state land in the corner of section 36 of Brookfield Township, Huron County.

When the first church, a Methodist Episcopal, was founded in Gagetown and started by James Gage, Mrs. Wilson at once became a member in it and taught a Sunday School class. Keenly interested in church work she continued for many years in active service in church societies.

Miss Addison Speaks at W. S. C. S. Meeting

The meeting Monday evening of the Woman's Society of Christian Service in the social rooms of the Methodist Church was high lighted by a talk by Miss Muriel Addison of Blackpool, England, who is a visitor in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young. Miss Addison gave a most interesting discourse on her work among young people and children, both since and during the war. She also answered many questions asked by her audience regarding England.

Another important part of the meeting Monday evening was the annual election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Warren Wood; vice president, Mrs. A. H. Kinnaird; recording secretary, Mrs. Fred Maier; promotion secretary, Mrs. John Marshall, Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. A. Mark; spiritual life, Mrs. I. A. Fritz; missionary education, Mrs. L. I. Wood; Christian social relations, Mrs. G. Patterson; student work, Mrs. John McGrath; local church activities, Mrs. B. Kirtin; youth work, Mrs. E. W. Douglas; children's work, Mrs. Don Lorentzen; supply work, Mrs. Edward Baker; literature and publications, Mrs. Ellwood Eastman; status of women, Mrs. Ed Fritz.

Mrs. A. Mark was the leader of the worship service, Mrs. W. E. Scheil was program chairman and Mrs. A. H. Kinnaird, president, conducted the business of the society.

Preceding the meeting a chicken pie dinner was served at 6:30 by Group No. 4 of which Mrs. R. D. Keating and Mrs. E. Knight were co-chairmen.

It is worthy of note that the society is very active in sharing food and clothing with the needy, both at home and abroad.

Thumb Money Losers Have Cash Returned

Pocketbook and $78 in Cash Comes by Mail to Mrs. Leila Robinson

If you should lose $100.00 or more in the Upper Thumb, you stand a good chance of having the cash, or at least the greater part of it, returned to you. Here is proof.

Mrs. Leila Robinson, R. R. 1, Ubyly, inserted a want ad in the Chronicle Oct. 17 stating that she had lost a pocketbook with $100.00 near the corner of Deford Road and M-53. Friday, Oct. 31, Mrs. Robinson was much pleased to receive in the mail a parcel containing her purse and $78.00 in money. No information came with the parcel which would give Mrs. Robinson a clue to its sender. She is most grateful and hopes the person who found the money will see this item in the Chronicle.

Search for the owner of $421.50 in cash found in the business district of Bad Axe Saturday by an 11-year-old Ubyly girl, ended Sunday when the money was claimed by Mrs. Raymond Ignash of Grindstone City. The money was found by Betty Bukoski, and turned over to state police after she had asked the assistance of a Bad Axe merchant in locating the owner.

Mrs. Ignash learned late Saturday night the money was being held for her at the state police post. After claiming the money, Mrs. Ignash drove to Ubyly to thank the finder and to present her with $18 as a reward.

Another person who was made happy last week by the recovery of her lost handbag was Mrs. Geo. Wilkins of South Seeger St., Cass City. Her purse, containing a sum of money, was found by Judy Dickinson of Cass City, who promptly turned it in to the Chronicle office.

"Spooks Convention" Enjoyed at Martin's

The junior boys and girls of the Presbyterian Church School were entertained by their teachers, Mrs. Clifford Martin and Mrs. Edward Golding, Sr., at the Martin home on Thursday, October 30, from 4:00 to 7:00 p. m.

A number of the children appeared in Halloween costumes. The "Spooks Convention" was called to order by the Rev. M. R. Vender who directed games, assisted by Mrs. Martin. Dick and Larry chose sides, the "Spooks" and "Goblins" respectively. In the competitive group games the "Spooks" won.

Following the play period the revellers assembled informally, sitting, squatting, lying on the floor in the spacious living room, while the pastor told the story: "De' Ain't No Ghosts", but some doubted as the doves said: "oo-ooo-oo"; and the owls hooted: "who-oo-oo", and the wind moaned: "You-ooo-op."

Then followed what all were eagerly waiting for, refreshments which turned out to be a "Spook's Convention Supper", as all were seated about a long table bedecked in the best Halloween tradition. Hot dogs disappeared until some boys lost count—was it three? Well what difference, there were M. I. K. (more in the kitchen). A chocolate drink, jello salad, nuts and candy favors, cake and Halloween cup cakes, and then ice cream—a sumptuous repast for "spooks". Next came yells of "1-2-3-4 who are we for?" and "2-4-6-8 who do we appreciate?" Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Golding! And then, reluctant "good nights", together with a final petting of eight baby puppies, which some of the juniors would like to have taken home as added souvenirs of the occasion.

The board of directors of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Disabled Adults, Inc., at their annual meeting in Bay City on Friday, Oct. 31, elected Willis Campbell of Cass City as a director of the society.

Kathleen Norris Says:

The Woman Who Plays It Alone

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

"Babs tried to mix pancake flour for me yesterday; flour everywhere on her arms, on the table—everywhere."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THERE is a woman in our town who talks constantly of the help she needs, and yet who won't have help. I've known her fairly intimately for twenty years, and I know now that she never will get out of the discontented complaining rut in which she is entrenched.

She has four children, a not-too-successful husband, and a large house. Two rooms in the house are occupied by boarders. That represents a lot of work; Hannah Woods does it all.

She gets up at 6, or even earlier if unfinished jobs spoil her sleep. Her first hour in the kitchen is one mad whirl: coffee pots, griddle, orange squeezer, sugar bowl, table-setting, toasting, breaking eggs. She tears the tops off milk and cream bottles, whips plates into the oven, rushes to stir bacon, rushes back to put spoons and sugar on the table. The family and the boarders struggle in, and sometimes the girls dawdle to the sink with their emptied plates and cups, and sometimes they don't.

Nancy and Babs go off to office jobs, Stan to college and Bill to school. Hannah clears the table, piles things in the sink, goes upstairs to struggle for a long hour with beds, linen, bathrooms. Yes, and does all the incidental things; laundry must be gathered; the flowers in Babs' room are faded; Bill has left broken glass on the bathroom floor.

Down goes Mother, beated and weary by this time, to dust the parlor, put the records back in their places, straighten the chairs, carry pop bottles out to the kitchen. Then to the kitchen itself, and she is often still there when Bill comes in for twelve o'clock lunch.

Dozens of Tasks. It isn't only the dishes. It's the interruption of telephone, grocery deliveries, tailor, odds and ends of extra cleaning, consolidating food, planning meals and scraping vegetables for them, mixing desserts.

Hannah is a good cook, her family of eight praises her generously. But the pattern of steady house-keeping, steady routine work, week out and week in, exhausts her—body, mind and spirit. She does rest sometimes, in the afternoons, but it is rest punctuated by uneasy thoughts about the extra cream, the time the smoked tongue will take to cook, the non-delivery of Stan's sweater, the promise she made to telephone Bill's gym teacher. She looks wearily at the magazines coasting from their stand, at an overlooked ash tray, at the rip in the window shade.

In short, Hannah Woods has made her life into the pattern in which a devoted, hard-working, stupid, unsystematic woman often struggles for years, and she doesn't know the way out.

She loves her children better than her own life, but she has carefully raised them not only to wreck her marriage, but some day to make failures of their own. Sally, Babs, Stan and Bill have never been trained or asked to help Mother. They would be innocently shocked to know how deeply they have failed her and how cruelly she has failed them.

These boys, who could toss open their own beds, hang up towels and pajamas, wipe the line from the bathtub and brush the porches, answer the telephone, stop in downtown and pay bills, send home un-

TRAIN THEM EARLY

Household tasks require a certain skill; cooking even more. Many mothers think it is easier to do the work themselves than to teach their daughters to sweep and dust and mend, to prepare meals and buy food. The girls grow up without any sense of responsibility. They are accustomed to having mother do everything. The boys in the family are even less concerned with the house. They are careless by nature. When they know that they can leave their clothes and other things lying about, confident that mother will pick everything up, there is no incentive for them to do even a small share of the housework.

Hannah, about whom Miss Norris writes today, is just such a mother. She has four children, a husband and three boarders to care for. Her life is one long round of cooking, bed-making, sweeping and dusting. Nobody does anything for her. No one even makes his own bed, or hangs up his clothes. The girls both work; the sons are in school. A little help from everyone would lighten the burden on Hannah tremendously, but she doesn't get that little help. It is largely her own fault, comments Miss Norris.

expected additions to the home table, do absolutely nothing at all. Girls Never Help.

The daughters, 19 and 21 now, old enough and capable enough to systematize the work of the house so that no one felt the burden, drift aimlessly through the domestic scene like absent-minded automata. They are amiable girls, who set their hair on Sunday mornings and go out with their young men Sunday afternoons, and regard Ma as just a darling old self-sacrificing angel. And unquestionably Ma regards herself somewhat in this light, too, instead of the slack mother and housekeeper she really is.

Twenty years ago, when these children should have been receiving their training not only in helping, but in seeing for themselves what there was to do, Hannah's attitude was one of indulgent impatience. "Oh, laws, they're more trouble than they are help," Hannah would tell me, as she bustled capably about. "If you could see the way they make beds! Babs tried to mix pancake batter for me yesterday, flour everywhere—on her arms, and the table—everywhere. I asked Stan to peel some peaches the other day, I wish you could have seen the mess. And Nancy, with her erowd, making candy! Well, I could have made four batches of candy in half the time and with half the fuss."

Hannah didn't expect the children to get through all their schooling without help, patience, guidance. But because they were not experienced housekeepers in their early teens she drove them from the kitchen, took tasks out of their hands, assured them that they were more bother than help, and played her hand alone.

Now she has to play it alone to the end of the story.

Free School Lunches

School meals and welfare food schemes begun in Great Britain several years ago already are showing results. British children are now heavier and taller than in 1939.

Under the school program, 2,250,000 children in England and Wales receive mid-day meals free, or at very small cost. The improvement among the children is indicated in the 9 to 14-year-old group, which is now about a half inch taller and two pounds heavier than the prewar average.

Action Sought on Refugee Measure

Senators to Report on Probe Of Displaced Persons.

NEW YORK.—Renewed efforts to secure passage of the Stratton bill, which authorizes temporary emergency legislation permitting displaced persons to enter America, are expected when the 80th congress reconvenes in January.

The special senate committee which toured Europe during the congressional recess to investigate President Truman's proposal to admit displaced persons is scheduled to file its report by January 10. The senators inspected German detention camps where the displaced persons have been living since the war ended.

Welfare and religious organizations are canvassing the country to study the practical application of the proposed migration. Efforts are being made to find out where actual labor shortages exist in America, and to determine where these people, including many skilled workers, could fit into industry and agriculture.

An initial study by the Citizens Committee on Displaced Persons, an organization sponsored by 102 religious and welfare societies with the purpose of aiding displaced persons, indicates that there is a shortage in agriculture of the skilled type of handymen on the farm, the organization reports.

Representatives of farm organizations, industrial leaders and others have told the committee that "a practical absorption of the able-bodied, politically stable displaced person has a genuine place in our economy."

The Catholic Rural Life conference, headed by Monsignor Luigi G. Ligutti of Des Moines, Iowa, is assembling information relative to placing the displaced persons in this country if the Stratton bill is passed.

Figures compiled by UNRRA, the committee reports, show that the displaced persons are principally Balts, from Estonia, Latvia and Poland. The majority, the report adds, are Catholics, with a small percentage of Jews.

The 850,000 displaced persons remaining in Europe have a wide variety of skills in agricultural and allied fields, according to the committee.

Shower Bath for Cows

Is Part of Milking Test

BATON ROUGE, LA.—Experiments to determine whether more milk can be wrung from a cool cow are in progress at Louisiana State university.

As a result, said Dr. D. M. Seath of the experiment station staff, a few cows are being given shower baths daily at milking time. He said the sprinkling, if the cow is in the shade, brings the animal's body temperature down a full degree.

The other cows in the herd remain unsprinkled and hot. The question, said Dr. Seath, is which produces the better flow, hot or cold?

Australian Imports Cut

To Save Dwindling Dollars

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA.—Prime Minister Joseph Chifley has announced severe cuts in imports of tobacco, gasoline, newsprint and other commodities to conserve 85 million dollars annually of Australia's dwindling dollar supply.

Reductions of imports from dollar countries include motor chassis, tobacco, gasoline, newsprints, textiles, aircraft, capital equipment, straw materials, film royalties, travel expenditures and remittances of money earned in Australia by visiting entertainers.

Chifley said the dollar expenditure involved in remittance of film royalties earned in Australia will be reduced by 30 per cent.

Provision for Her Dog

Made in Woman's Will

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—Topper, a 6-year-old Scottish terrier, will get a home and good care for life under terms of the will left by his mistress, Mrs. Isabella B. Lott. Mrs. Lott, who died recently, left a $5,000 estate, $1,126 in cash and an automobile to a friend, Mrs. Jennie White, but stipulated:

"It is my will that Mrs. White shall furnish a comfortable, adequate home for my dog during its natural life, including good food, adequate medical attention and kindness."

Mrs. White assured Probate Judge James Gillard that she would live up to the will's terms.

Visitors' Quota Is Set

In U. S. Zone in Germany

FRANKFORT, GERMANY.—The United States army said that the war department had started issuing permits for 400 visitors every three months to visit sick or aged relatives in the western zones of Germany. Applicants will be subject to German food rationing of 1,550 calories daily and must depend upon German transportation and housing which are inadequate. Such visitors will not be allowed to buy in army exchanges.

Geography of Venezuela

Venezuela is the only country in South America lying entirely north of the Equator, and the sixth country in size on that continent. An unusual setting of mountain systems breaks Venezuela into four distinct areas. The climate is tropical except where modified by altitude; it approaches the mild temperature in the higher western mountains. Most rainfall occurs between April and October, the rest of the year is dry.

Cook Meat by Electricity

There is less shrinkage when cooking meat when electricity is used instead of coal or gas, because with electricity there is better control of temperature, a steady, even heat which can be regulated. With other fuels the temperature is variable.

America's Oldest House

The oldest house in America, located at St. Augustine, Fla., was recently sold. It was built in 1564 by the monks of the Order of St. Francis, and the whole of the solid structure is composed of seashells, a combination of sea shells and mortar, which is almost indestructible.

In the farm kitchen alone, 37 tons of water are used each year. An average cow drinks over 15 tons a year . . . and there are dozens of other uses for water. Let electricity take this burden off your shoulders—leave more time for more important work. Electricity will pump and carry your water cheaper than doing it any other way. No other system will give you so much satisfaction!

Plenty of Running Water Means All These Things for You!

Better Milk Production
When dairy cows have ample fresh water, they produce 3 to 10% more milk.

More Profitable Hogs
Plenty of water at the feeding trough means bigger, fatter hogs.

Increased Egg Production
Hens need plenty to drink. (After all, two-thirds of an egg is water.) Keep 'em ducking!

Added Fire-Protection
A small fire's easily controlled with a stream of water. Without it, fires can spread rapidly.

Healthier Horses
Water your livestock frequently—they'll be healthier, do better work.

Extra Crop Insurance
Drought can ruin valuable vegetables and flowers. Water guards your garden.

Complete water systems and electric pumps of all types and capacities, for use with medium, deep or shallow wells, are available for immediate installation. Ask your Edison Farm Service Advisor to help you plan your system and estimate the amount of water your farm requires. There's no obligation to you, and you'll find his services helpful.

Finish Is Important

Because of maple's wearing qualities, the matter of a suitable finish is too often neglected. Many finishes have been developed to beautify and protect floors under light conditions of service, and other finishes such as preservatives to protect floors against unusual and unfavorable conditions. These finishes have their place to keep maple in good appearance under severe traffic conditions and reduce cleaning and maintenance costs. When ordering finish for maple floors be sure that special types designed for this wood is used.

Medical Science
To Fight Cancer

Research Group Planned
To Coordinate Work
In 44 Countries.

ST. LOUIS.—The rate of cancer growth can be slowed down by medical science, but no one has been able to prove that cancer cells can be killed without destroying other tissues, said Dr. E. V. Cowdry, president of the fourth international cancer research congress.

That the rate of cancer growth can be modified has been proven by the work on hormones and endocrine glands. But it hasn't been proven that cancer cells can be selectively killed, Dr. Cowdry said.

Dr. Cowdry, a resident of St. Louis, summarized the work of the congress. He said the greatest steps taken by the experts who came here from countries throughout the world were establishment of the International Cancer Research commission and expressions of the realization that the fight against cancer requires an all-out world-wide offensive.

Likens Drive to War.

"Nobody thinks a war can be fought by people doing what they're able, and as they see fit, in time they can spare from their regular job," he said.

"Yet that's what happens in cancer research. Probably not more than 1 or 2 per cent of researchers from 44 nations at this congress have been able to spend all their time on the problem.

"We should work night and day, seven days a week, but the problem is that 90 per cent of the cancer workers can't expect an assured future in it for more than two years ahead."

Dr. Cowdry said a comparison of this congress with the three previous sessions revealed "tremendous" advancements in research tools such as radioscopes, now available for foreign research, and electron microscopes.

Dr. Ignacio Millan of Mexico City, chairman of the executive committee of the newly established research commission, said formation of the commission "is a new link in international cooperation in general and a sign of a re-birth of hope in the battle against cancer."

The congress authorized the creation of the commission, which is to be supported by government funds.

Told to Go Ahead.

The commission, consisting of one member from each country represented at the congress, to serve for three years, was directed to "advance our knowledge of cancer by clinical, experimental or other means."

Dr. Cowdry was recommended for appointment as United States representative on the commission. The congress proposed that Dr. W. U. Gardner, professor of anatomy at Yale university, be his alternate. Both recommendations were made subject to confirmation by the United States government.

The commission will become part of the Union Internationale Contre le Cancer and replaces the Comité Scientifique.

Dr. Millan said the commission would meet in 1948 at a site to be selected later. Tentative offers have been made by Mexico, Turkey and India.

Russia Reassembles Big
German Optical Works

BERLIN.—Russia is reported to be reassembling Germany's world-famed Zeiss optical works in five separate units scattered from Leningrad to the Urals, according to information filtering back from German workers.

(Recent reports indicate that the Russians have embraced a pattern of industrial decentralization as a defense scheme in the event of atomic warfare, with much of their production system sheltered in the vastnesses of the Urals.)

The information about Zeiss was sent back to Germany in letters by some of the 300 German researchers and technicians whom the Russians took along to the Soviet union when they dismantled the plant at Jena, in Thuringia, for reparations.

The workers wrote that the Zeiss machinery had suffered substantial damage from exposure to weather and from other causes in the long haul.

Britain Is Second Nation
With Working Atomic Pile

LONDON.—Britain has become the second nation in the world with a working atomic pile.

The first nuclear fission plant at Harwell, 12 miles south of Oxford, has begun ticking.

The United Kingdom's first atomic pile is called "GLEEP" (graphite low energy experimental pile) and was built primarily for experiments in nuclear physics.

The pile is the first of three planned by Britain.

The United Kingdom has announced no plans for making bombs or atomic weapons at any of the three.

Like that of the United States, the first Harwell pile works with a uranium base.

Other countries reportedly planning atomic piles include France, New Zealand, Australia and—presumably—Russia.

One Last Meanness

Old Angus MacNab had been a hard, cruel man, and among his relatives the news of his suicide had been received with more rejoicing than sorrow. But his son, Sandy, in whose home the old man had met his quietus, persisted in moping over the affair.

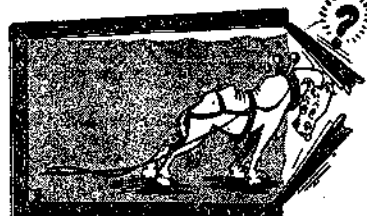

"Sandy," admonished a brutally frank acquaintance, "why do you carry on so? The old man was a regular torment to everybody, and you know, down deep in your heart, you're glad he's gone."

"That I am," admitted Sandy. "It's cruel to admit it, but it's true."

"You're not thinking he suffered, when he took off, are you? He just turned on the gas and went to sleep. So what's eating on you?"

"Mon, oh, mon," groaned Sandy. "Just look at this terrible gas bill the old coot left me!"

HORSE PLAY

Critic—The picture of the horse is good, but where is the wagon?
Artist—Oh, the horse will draw that.

Befuddled

A college professor, well known for his absent-mindedness, was gazing reflectively at the passing landscape when the train conductor stopped for his ticket. The professor searched himself frantically, but to no avail.

"That's all right, professor," the conductor said. "I know you, and I'm sure you have your ticket. When you find it, just mail it to the company."

"It isn't that," the professor said earnestly. "What I want to know is, where in the world am I going?"

Evidence

A man, evidently drunk, sagged down in the seat in the lobby beside a clergyman. "Fine (hic) day," he began.

"Yes, it is," from the clergyman. "This is a fine hotel."

"Yes, I find it very comfortable."

"Won'tcha have a drink?" the man asked, encouraged by the courteous replies of his chance acquaintance.

The pastor's face set severely. "No thank you," he said, "I never indulge."

"Shay, whatcha giving me? You gotcha collar on backwards now."

Nothing to Lose

One night recently the quiet air of the Birmingham Police Department was disturbed by the voice of a dorky calling over the telephone: "Help! Police! I've been robbed!"

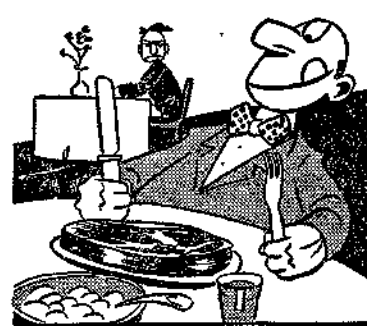

"You've been robbed?" confirmed the voice of the call officer.

"We-ell—half-robbed," cried the dorky.

"Half-robbed?" demanded the police. "What do you mean—half-robbed?"

"I didn't have no money," the dorky replied.

THAT EXPLAINS IT

Diner—Waitress, the service is terrible. You gave that man at the next table a steak twice as large as mine. Where's the manager?

Waitress—That man is the manager.

High Finance

After vainly trying to collect $40 due him from one of his customers, the colored man consulted his lawyer.

"What reason," his lawyer asked, "does he give for not paying this money?"

"Boss," said the colored gentleman anxiously, "he's gimme a mighty good reason, sah."

"Well, what is it?"

"He done say, Boss, dat he's been owvin' me dat money so long dat de interest has et it all up."

Passing the Buck

The young lady eyed her escort with extreme disapproval. "That's the fourth time you've gone back for more ice cream and cake, Albert," she said acidly. "Doesn't it embarrass you at all?"

"Why should it?" the hungry fellow shrugged. "I keep telling them I'm getting it for you."

An Also Ran

The dear old lady, wandering about hazily at the wedding reception, came upon a young man in faultless dress.

"Oh," she chirped, "dear me, you're the bridegroom of course?"

"No," he answered sweetly, "I was eliminated in the quarter finals."

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, inspects a safe driving cup that will adorn the trophy case of some Michigan school this year. Holding the cup is E. H. Brink, president of the Auto Insurers' Safety Association, which annually sponsors a safe driving quiz in more than 300 Michigan high schools and junior high schools. Dr. Elliott gave his hearty endorsement to the program.

Michigan Mirror

"I don't think we need to live in a crisis all the time, because the world isn't going to pot at all unless we want it to."

C. F. Kettering, retired vice president of General Motors Corporation in charge of research and now its research consultant, was speaking.

The occasion was the 14th annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors' association in Detroit. News executives of daily newspapers throughout the United States were in attendance.

"Boss" Kettering's remarks, "The Day after Tomorrow," were an affirmative, positive reminder that Detroit's "know how" of making things through mass production was achieved only by competitive free enterprise and that we still live in "the golden age of opportunities unlimited."

"Since I have retired," he said, "I have organized several new companies. One is the Utopian Transportation Company, Limited, and that is a non-profit organization. I am trying to raise a few funds, and you can help in your little community, to give free transportation to these people who think this is a lousy country."

"The only thing about the Utopian Transportation Company that is limited is that the transportation is limited to one direction."

"The other company I have is a stock-selling company known as United States Preferred. I am trying to sell that, and I am getting along pretty well. Of course, a poor inventor like myself doesn't understand a lot of things that are going on, and apparently other people don't either."

"One of the things I don't understand is why this country is called upon to make up the deficits for all the cockeyed European ideologies, and stop our own work while we are doing it. I don't understand that one at all."

"We didn't start this war, we just got in and tried to help a little. I was talking to Harvey Campbell this morning, and he said, 'You are all wrong.' He said, 'If a fellow is in the gutter, you either have to get in with him or help him out. I said, 'No, not if he put himself in there.' I don't intend to get into the ditch at all, and most of the fellows in the ditch would have had us there so I can't be too sympathetic."

"When it comes to starving, I would like to help on that a little bit, but it is not a part of that to get sentimental over the guys that were trying to lick us. I can't get sentimental over that at all."

"So when I talk about United States Preferred, that is what I mean."

Kettering's remarks, philosophical and often humorous, were timely because they served to remind us that America's greatness has been built on the development and use of superior machines. According to one survey, the average machine investment per worker in America is $6,000. Who is going to put up this $6,000? Any citizen who is willing to save money and to risk it as an investment for profit.

Back in 1870 the average American worker worked 60 hours a week. He earned $9.60. Compared with the 1947 real dollars, that would be worth $16.56. By 1908 he got $12 a week for 60 hours' work. Today, he gets $60 a week and works 40 hours—all because of the American system of free enterprise, risking money for profit.

There is no place in the world where this is true. So, don't sell the United States short for socialism or other European ideologies. Why not buy a few shares in Kettering's United States Preferred?

Bronze Star Awards Now Available
New rules, announced by the War Department embodied in a circular changing the Army Regulations respecting decorations, provide that all persons who in the period between Pearl Harbor and V. J. Day were cited individually for their part in ground combat will be eligible for award of the Bronze Star.

In many cases, orders granting the Combat Infantryman's or Combat Medical badges will be sufficient supporting evidence to a man's claim for the medal. However, the combat badges must have been awarded in the period between December 7, 1941 and September 2, 1945.

Frequently during combat, field units issued general orders or formal certificates to individuals for their acts, and these, judged individually by the War Department on their merits, may also be used as support for the medal awards.

Applications for the award must be submitted to The Adjutant General, Washington 25, D. C. Applications must cite par 15 e, AR 600-45, and a copy of the citation or order awarding the Combat Infantry or Combat Medical Badge must be enclosed.

Reserve Commissions

Warrant Officers, flight officers and enlisted personnel of the first three grades who served honorably for at least six months on active Federal service in the AUS or one of its components, between December 7, 1941 and June 30, 1947, may apply for a commission in the ORC. Regulations require applicants to be at least 21 years of age and that they must not have passed their 28th birthday at time of appointment in the Reserve.
