

From the Editor's Corner

One of the most eagerly looked forward to changes in Cass City in 1962 was the switch to dial phones in the village.

Successfully completed in December, already nostalgic recollections of the operator system have been voiced by many.

In truth, the old operator system had much to recommend it... the personal service taken for granted was missed by many when it was no longer available.

Especially gratifying were the operator's efforts when a subscriber called information and said something to this effect: 'I'd like the number of the family that moved into the old Joe Doakes house last month, I don't know the name, but you know who I mean. And most times, the local operator could help the caller get his party.'

With the information service out-of-town this type thing has gone the way of the old wall telephone.

On the other side of the coin is the easy way long distance calls can be placed. A call across the nation takes no longer than a call to a store across the street provided you know the number.

First baby of the year in Cass City was born to Mrs. Ernie Spencer about 8:45 a.m. Wednesday morning. We'll have the picture and complete details next week.

As predicted, there is again a lot of competition for jobs on the village council. It's a tribute to local residents that they would volunteer to serve in a job that pays $60 a year and carries a million dollars worth of grief.

And one of the safest predictions of the year is that there will be plenty of trouble for the council in 1963. With an acute water problem, curb and gutter demands and new sidewalks and new lights crying for action, trustees are sure to be in hot water with one group or another throughout most of the year.

Our big brothers, the Detroit News, went all out on a feature about the fund raising drive underway in Marlette. As usual when the big city boys come tearing into town for one day to do a story there are some glaring distortions.

The story has the Marlette hospital serving a general area that includes Cass City and LaPeer. All of which must make authorities of the 100-bed plus LaPeer General Hospital and our local hospitals feel sort of insignificant... and does the News not credit.

Wood Becomes 1000th Farm Soil Cooperator

Roy Wood, Tuscola County farmer, has become cooperator number 1000 with the Tuscola Soil Conservation District, Maynard McConkey, chairman of the board of directors, announced today.

Mr. Wood's request for assistance was approved by the directors at their last regular meeting, McConkey said.

Mr. Wood farms 240 acres in Kingston Township. His main enterprise is cash crops but he also manages a beef cattle herd. He plans to increase his farming activities in 1963.

As a part of his future plans Wood intends to work out a complete soil and water conservation plan with the assistance of technicians of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. The SCS furnishes this assistance through a memorandum of understanding with the Tuscola District.

A detailed soils survey map and other technical information will be furnished to Mr. Wood to assist him in making decisions on how his land may best be managed.

Slate Blood Bank Friday

Hills and Dales General Hospital will hold its regular blood bank Friday, Jan. 4, from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m.

Supplies of whole blood have again become depleted and the hospital is urging those who wish to give blood to do so at this blood bank.

The blood bank is held every two months.

IF THESE YOUNGSTERS had to stand or fall on their reputations as "good skaters," the result would be apparent. These and other Cass City children and adults gave the Recreation Park skating rink a good workout during the recent holidays. Cold weather has kept the ice in excellent condition as the village crew periodically reflooded to eliminate chips and cracks due to extensive use.

New Postal Rates Effective Monday

It's going to cost area postal customers an extra penny to send most of their mail after Monday, Jan. 7.

According to Lewis Bishop, Cass City postmaster, postal rates for first class, domestic air mail, first class post cards and air mail cards will go up another penny, effective Monday.

Bishop is urging area postal customers to be particularly careful about putting on the correct postage. Insufficient postage will be collected from the addressee or the letter will be returned to the sender.

First class letters will be increased from four cents to five cents an ounce, with domestic air mail letters climbing from seven to eight cents an ounce.

First class post cards will be raised from three cents to four cents and air mail cards will go from five to six cents.

In a brighter note, Bishop announced that the extra charge of one cent for stamp booklets containing the five and eight cent stamps has been dropped. The booklets will now be sold at their face value of $1.00 and $2.00, respectively.

In addition, the booklets will contain a handy postage chart on the inside cover. Additional information on the new postage fees is available at the Post Office.

10 Seek Seven Village Seats

With ten persons filing for seven open village offices, interest in the Village Primary Election February 18 is expected to soar. Reports from Elkland and Novesta township clerks show that most of the officers are seeking re-election and are meeting little resistance.

Cass City Drivers Ticketed in Two Village Accidents

Three persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car collision Christmas day in front of Olive's Restaurant just west of the village limits.

Injured were Roy Baslock, 46, Vassar, one of the drivers, his wife, Agnes, 44, and Dewey LaPeer, an occupant in the other car.

According to a report filed by Police Chief Carl Palmateer, a car driven by Jack LaPeer, 32, Cass City, attempted a left turn in front of the restaurant and was struck broadside by the Baslock vehicle.

Neither LaPeer nor his father, Dewey, saw the Baslock car coming, the report stated. LaPeer was ticketed for making an improper turn.

Other occupants in the Baslock car were John Baslock, 22, and Allen Baslock, nine.

The day before Christmas, Patrolman William McKinley investigated a minor accident when a car driven by Roy Tuckey, 21, Cass City, was struck in the rear by a car driven by Jack VanAllen, rural Cass City.

VanAllen was ticketed for failure to have his car under control.

Tuckey, traveling west on Main Street, had stopped for a traffic signal. VanAllen was reportedly attempting to make a left turn when the car collided.

VanAllen was reported in an accident investigated by Sheriff's. Concluded on page two.

BIG TREE—Clair Auslander, Shabbona, stands atop a large white ash tree stump to illustrate its size. A log taken from the tree is believed to be the largest veneer log taken in this area and perhaps the state. Cut down last July, the log was sold in November to a German concern.

Area Tree Yields Record Veneer Log

Somewhere in Germany at a veneer mill, one of the largest veneer logs ever taken from the Cass City area and perhaps the state is being processed.

The log, a huge white ash, was taken from a farm woodlot near Shabbona by Clair Auslander, logger for the Fairhaven Industrial Wood Products, Bay Port, last July.

Measuring 50 inches in diameter, the 12-foot log lay in a Bay City shipping lot until November when William Ross, buyer for various German companies, spotted it.

Ross, who purchases logs all over the United States and Canada, later told Auslander that the log was the "largest he'd ever seen."

The log was one of three taken from a tree on the Aaron Lefler farm, a mile north and a half mile east of Shabbona. Altogether the tree measured approximately 913 feet, log scale, which according to Auslander, is exceptional.

Just a very few logs pass the critical examination that qualifies a log as a veneer log. Auslander reported that in a year's time, only 10 to 12 thousand logs are accepted for veneering.

Never before, he remarked, has he ever had a white ash accepted. All the rest have been elm.

After a veneer log is purchased in this area, it is shipped to Germany by boat out of Bay City (During the winter, the logs are shipped to the East Coast by rail and then by boat.)

It is then taken to a mill where quarter-inch sheets are slabbled off. This differs from the American process of turning the veneer off in a long sheet.

Auslander asked Ross why the Germans don't just buy the veneer already processed from the United States. Ross replied that processed veneer is a manufactured product and is much more expensive than the raw material.

Auslander, who operates a 120-acre farm, has been one of the owners of the mill for the past 15 years. As "logger," his job is to "keep the mill in logs."

To do this, he oversees a two-man crew, sometimes more, and supervises cutting, hauling, skidding and loading of logs. He is also authorized to buy logs for the mill.

The mill, as its name implies, makes pallets, crating and other industrial rough-finish products.

Auslander began logging when the lumbering profession still used horses to skid the logs to the loading platforms and to the mills.

His love for driving horses explains his entering the logging field, or vice versa. His farm maintains 25 head of Hereford cattle, eight horses and a pony.

The horses include two teams of work horses. Last year, he entered 20 pulling contests and came out "very good." He won three of the contests and finished out of the money only once.

Headquarters for the Auslander farm is a large stone house built in 1895 on a hill overlooking the Cass River. Auslander was born and raised on the farm, as was his father.

THE SUNMOBILE—WATCH IT GO!—The amazing Sunmobile, a car that runs on sunshine, is shown in action in this time exposure. The buttonlike photovoltaic cells on the hood turn light energy into electrical energy to move the model car. A 300-watt lamp simulates the sun. The Sunmobile is one of the demonstrations in the General Motors science show Previews of Progress. The 40-minute, admission-free, stage show dramatizes the wonders of science before two million American students and adults each year. The show is scheduled at Cass City High School.

GM Slates Science Show At High School Friday

The Sunmobile - a model car powered by sunlight - is one of the exciting demonstrations in the show for Cass City students when General Motors Previews of Progress is presented at Cass City High School at 10 a.m. Friday.

Photoelectric cells on the hood of the 15-inch Sunmobile convert solar energy into electrical power. In the Previews show a 800-watt lamp is used to simulate the sun's rays. As the light strikes the button-like cells, the car moves smoothly across the table.

"There are no plans to produce sun-powered cars in the foreseeable future," GM President John F. Gordon declares, "but the Sunmobile symbolizes the challenges to the inquiring minds of scientists and engineers and hints at the tremendous secrets of power and energy which wait to be unlocked by researchers and technicians in the world of tomorrow."

According to Previews lecturer, Gus Bueenz, who will appear here with the show, the solar energy falling on one square mile of ground each day is equivalent to the energy in 400,000 gallons of oil. The Sunmobile illustrates one method of recovering some of this energy.

Among eight other demonstrations in the Previews show are a roaring jet engine, a vivid illustration of the gyroscopic principles that safely guide today's ships, planes and missiles, and a small vehicle that skims over land or water on a cushion of air.

Designed to inspire greater interest in science and engineering, the 45-minute stage show is presented in non-technical language by a specially trained two-man team. Seven teams take the program to all parts of the nation.

Since 1946, Previews of Progress has been seen by nearly 80-million people in the United States, Canada and 22 foreign countries.

Lakers Next Foe for Hawk Cagers Friday

If Cass City High School basketball team doesn't improve its one win, three loss record after the holidays, it won't be due to lack of effort.

Coach Wayne "Speed" Wilson's charges have been working out nearly daily during the Christmas vacation to prepare for the cage wars which resume Friday when the Hawks play at Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port.

Under the theory that the tougher the competition the better the experience for the team, Wilson took his charges to Midland Friday and Bay City Saturday for scrimmage games.

Among other things, Wilson is probably looking for ways to get more points from Walter Hempton who is far below his expected capabilities in point producing. Better rebounding is another necessity for the club if they are to hit the victory trail for the remainder of the season.

As can be expected with a green squad with two sophomores on the starting five and only one experienced varsity cager in the entire squad, the club has blown hot and cold in its first four games.

In the opener Marlette staged one of its patented home shooting exhibitions to drop the Hawks and at Sandusky, Cass City was unable to find the hoop with even a minimum degree of accuracy.

Counterbalancing these two poor exhibitions were good performances against Bad Axe and Buena Vista... although the Saginaw school's superior talent finally forced Cass City to its third loss of the young season.

Lots of Players

In the first four games, Wilson has experimented with as many as a dozen players.

From the original dozen, eight have seen considerable action in the last two games. Roger Karr has been the playmaker for the team since the opening contest and cemented a regular spot in the backcourt.

Hempton is probably the top defensive player on the squad and a good rebounder. Roger Parker started slowly in the first two games, but has come bounding back in the final two games before the holidays to produce as expected in press-on estimates.

The sophomores, Jim Champ-ton, Ed Retherford and Jim Knoblet, have looked good and bad. Champion had his best night against Bad Axe. Retherford shone against Buena Vista and Knoblet also played his best basketball against the Saginaw school. On the nights when these boys all play up to their capabilities at once, the Hawks will be tough.

A couple of juniors, Ron Randall and Marv Irver, have played steady basketball in either a starting or a relief role and have seen considerable action. Irver has the top shooting percentage of the team.

Early games in the Thumb B Conference indicate that there are no powerhouses such as the Lakers were last year, and it's almost a sure bet that the also-rans will be whipping the Letter to Editor

Editor's Note: This letter was addressed to Cass City's Post Office staff. It tells how many residents felt, but few took time to say, about the special Christ-mas Day delivery. Dear Post Office Workers, I want to thank you for your wonderful Christmas gift, deliv-ering parcels on Christmas Day. It was a delightful surprise to open the door and see one of you hard workers handing me a real Christmas gift. I am sure that all of you would have preferred the com-fort of your homes on such a day than playing Santa Claus. All we can say is "Thanks a Mil-lion." Happy New Year, everyone! Mrs. Louis Creguer

Rural Background Needed for Latin Peace Corps

The 5-V clubs in Venezuela, 4-S clubs in Brazil and their counterparts in many Latin American and African nations desperately need Peace Corpsmen with rural backgrounds. There's a strong demand for former 4-H'ers to fill these positions.

"The Peace Corps has called for 142 young people with agricultural backgrounds by next spring or early summer," points out Mary Woodward, assistant Michigan 4-H leader. "Applications should be on file three months before training starts, so time is growing short."

Young people with 4-H training are especially needed in Venezuela and Brazil. These Peace Corps members would be working with the local 5-V club and 4-S clubs in these two countries as a Resource Person. Their needs call for former 4-H members who have farm backgrounds and 4-H training and are interested in working with people. Former International Farm Youth Exchanges have a lot to offer and are especially needed. During the past, the 4-H Club sponsored IFYE program has exchanged over 2,750 young people.

"IFYE delegates have a lot to offer the Peace Corps," the state 4-H leader noted. "At least two of the six Michigan delegates named for 1963 have indicated an interest in joining the Corps after their six-month IFYE stints."

Two Michigan 4-H alumni, Rex Bullen of Mason and Maurice Spencer of Kalkaska, are already in Venezuela. They and 28 other Americans are helping organize 5-V clubs which resemble our 4-H organizations.

Nancy Larkin, Hastings, is working with "4-S" clubs in Brazil.

"Anyone desiring information about rural Peace Corps projects should contact county extension offices," Miss Woodward suggests.

COMMENTS BY KRAFT

I Shall Look At Pretty Girls

By Dave Kraft

Like everyone else, I begin each new year with a long list of resolutions. It's a funny thing, but this year's list has a striking similarity to last year's list. I've decided to give up those things which aren't good for me, do those things which are good for me, resist temptations, forgive laxity, stupidity, perversity and orneriness in others (my wife included) and to be a better man than I was last year.

I do this knowing full well that they'll be holding services over me within the month.

My epitaph will read: "Here lies Dave Kraft and there's no one cryin'. He didn't go from doin', he went from too much tryin'."

Here's a partial list of this year's resolutions:

Resolved: I will work hard and sell lots of ads so the powers-that-be will give me a raise because I'm indispensable.

Resolved: I will take it easy and get lots of rest and spend the money I get for my raise.

Resolved: I will pay all my bills . . . just as soon as I get my raise.

Resolved: I will break my first three resolutions because the powers-that-be have just informed me that I am not indispensable.

Resolved: I shall look at pretty girls on windy days.

Resolved: I shall beat Sally two out of three falls in Indian wrestling.

Resolved: I shall not get mad if I don't beat Sally two out of three falls in Indian wrestling.

Resolved: I shall get mad if I don't beat her one out of three falls.

Resolved: I shall have a hot cup of coffee waiting for Jim Moore every morning, especially those mornings he staggers in a half hour late. (Like Heck!)

I have one other resolution. I resolve to have my car encased in rubber in the event my wife ever drives it again.

The day before Christmas she pulled up to the South Seeger Street stop light and politely slid into the rear of another car.

The resulting damage included a bent bumper guard, a geahawed light and busted jingle pin.

When she told me about it I didn't raise my voice, I didn't get mad nor did I ridicule. I just cried.

I had big plans for the Metro. I was going to put amber glass on the turn signals so everyone would think I had a new car, but now I don't know.

I need some help again in the feature story department. Specifically, I'd like to find someone who knows some of the history behind the coal mine at Unionville. In general, I need some leads to people who are doing or have done something just a little out of the ordinary.

Council Proceedings

December 28, 1962

A regular meeting of the council of the Village of Cass City was held on December 18, 1962 at 8:00 o'clock p.m. All members were present except President Hunt. Mr. F. B. Auten, President pro tem, presided.

Minutes of the November regular meeting and two special meetings were read and approved as read.

Mr. Walter Zawilinski was present and stated his views in protesting his receipt of a parking ticket. Members of the council pointed out to him that the ticket was issued because his car was parked in violation of a Village Ordinance. It was also pointed out to him that, since an ordinance was violated, the village council no longer had jurisdiction in the matter.

Water and sewer rates were discussed but some further study was deemed advisable.

Motion by Rabideau seconded by Seals that the matter be tabled temporarily. Yea-5. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Motion by Rabideau seconded by Guinther that compensation of the Village Treasurer be set at $450.00 instead of the fee basis of 1 per cent as has been the practice in the past. The Village is to pay for all postage and supplies. Yea-5. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Motion by Seals seconded by Ware that compensation of the Village Assessor be increased from $400.00 to $600.00. Yea-5. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Motion by Rabideau seconded by Ware that the Village Clerk be compensated in the amount of $5.00 per meeting with a maximum of $60.00 per year. Yea-5. Nay-0. Motion carried.

The council will now be in a position to hire a qualified individual to handle the accounting and record keeping functions for the Village.

Motion by Rabideau seconded by Seals that bills OK'd by the finance committee be paid. Yea-5. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Motion by Rabideau seconded by Seals that meeting be adjourned.

A lesson on color entitled "A Bug for Goldie's Ear" will be taught by Mrs. Timothy Quinn Tuesday, Jan. 8, at 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. for the project leaders in Section I. The meeting will be held in the 4-H Wilber Memorial Building, Caro.

Can you believe it is the time when fresh citrus fruit comes rolling into town from Florida, California and Texas? There are tangerines, tangelos and all sizes of grapefruit and oranges, which include thin-skinned juice oranges as well as the thick-skinned navel oranges, for salad making or eating out-of-hand. Tangerine is called the "zipper-skin fruit" by some folks because the skin peels off so easily. The tangelo looks like an orange but flavor-wise the tangelo is a cross between the tangerine and the grapefruit but with the sharpness of grapefruit flavor! So while you're skipping through the produce counter this week, take a look at all the citrus fruits coming into town. There's tangerines, tangelos, Florida juice oranges and California navel oranges to combine and use with many of homegrown Michigan fruits in salads, fruit cups or for your many favorite desserts!

A real look into the future is being offered to Michigan families Jan. 28 to Feb. 1 at the 48th annual Farmers' Week at Michigan State University.

America's first space kitchen will be on exhibit throughout the week. It solves a host of problems we homemakers don't have to worry about, such as weightlessness and one-half normal atmosphere. The kitchen contains all the foods and beverages needed by a three-man crew on a 14-day mission in space. It was developed by Whirlpool Corporation for the Air Force Systems Command.

This compact feeding unit contains nearly everything but the kitchen sink. You won't find any knives and forks or pots and pans in it, either. Water just won't pour at zero gravity. It has to be forced out of a container. And food would float right off a fork.

Tomorrow's Adults

Other futuristic programs include two sessions called "Expanding Horizons for Youth." Dr. Evelyn Duvall, family life consultant and author of "When You Marry", and Dr. Stanley J. Idzerda, director of the MSU Honors College, will share speaking duties.

Though the youth programs are aimed at teenagers, adults are also urged to attend to hear about the career challenges facing our young people.

"Housing in the Space Age", a program in two parts, features Dr. Duvall plus a number of Michigan housing authorities. These events cover problems as well as trends in housing. There will also be exhibits that show such new housing concepts as buying a home one room at a time and planning homes for retirement years.

"Future Foods from Farm to Table" is a program offering of the MSU agricultural economics department. Dr. Glenn D. Boyd, researcher for Campbell Soup Company, is guest speaker.

If you want to know the date, time and place for each event, contact the County Extension office for a complete program.

Communities Prompt in Seeking Funds

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association Gets More Funds

Efforts by the State Economic Development Department to inform community leaders how to seek federal funds under the accelerated public works program are getting results.

Reports from Washington indicate Michigan communities have applied for more than twice the maximum sum the state could receive under the program. The maximum Michigan share of the program would be $40 million under the Congressional act.

The state already has been given $15.1 million in grants from the Community Facilities Administration, Department of Health, Education and Welfare and National Forest Service under the program.

Michigan applicants were praised for their complete preparation of requests for funds by Sidney Woolner, Community Facilities Administration commissioner. Woolner is a former Michigan resident. He served as executive secretary to former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The State Economic Development Department spent much time and effort familiarizing communities with the types of projects which could qualify for the accelerated program grants.

The total amount sought in some 800 applications sent to Washington agencies through late December was reported at more than $81.5 million.

Loan Business Grows
Growth of the institutions known as savings and loan associations has been steady and strong during the 75 years since the first law was enacted to permit their operation in Michigan. Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose office oversees the operations of the associations and receives their financial reports, notes "commendable financial stability" in the Michigan groups.

"Michigan citizens can be sure that these institutions are sound," said Hare when he reported assets totaling more than $784 million in savings and loan associations in Michigan.

Among the 35 institutions of this type at last report a Detroit association counted as the largest. This one listed assets of $132 million.

"At the end of the last fiscal year there were no associations in liquidation, dissolution, or inactive status," Hare said.

The Secretary of State credits the associations with "performing an increasingly important dual function to the public by providing safe and convenient savings and investment plans, and long-term, monthly payment home loans to families seeking to purchase, build, or repair their homes."

Salt and Cement

Winter can cause property owners problems which do not show until after the spring thaw, according to the Portland Cement Association.

"Traditionally used ice melting salts will not harm quality concrete, but some new types of chemical ice melters may cause surface damage to concrete driveways and sidewalks," says J. Gardner Martin, Michigan district engineer for the firm.

The use of sodium chloride and calcium chloride for snow and ice removal in Michigan has become accepted practice.

Even these salts may cause some surface scaling of certain types of concrete, Martin said, but they will not affect most concrete.

In recent years, however, several new types of ice melting chemicals using large quantities of ammonium sulphate or ammonium nitrate have appeared on the market.

Martin said tests showed these substances are extremely corrosive to even the best quality concrete.

Martin's advice is to select ice melters which will not harm the concrete, if you want to avoid replacing your sidewalk or driveway next spring or summer.

This precaution will involve reading the contents listed on the package before you buy, and avoiding the de-icers which contain ammonium sulphate or ammonium nitrate.

The old standbys sodium chloride or calcium chloride are just as effective as the new chemicals, according to the industry spokesman, but do not carry the harmful effects of the new products.

Double or Nothing

Did you ever have the difficulty while house-hunting of trying to find a residence to buy or rent within your price range? Almost everyone has.

Consider then the plight of George Romney and his wife, Lenore, who recently found an 11-room home in Lansing to rent during his coming two years as Governor of Michigan.

The Capital city and environs have a number of large homes, many of which can be rented on lease agreements if you have the finances.

But it seems when the Republican chief executive and his wife were shown the homes, the rental prices were boosted sometimes to double the normal amount when the owners learned who the prospective tenants were.

More than one of the home owners asked $1,000 a month from the Governor. The Romneys finally settled on one at $400 a month, figuring this was enough to pay even at the Governor's annual salary of $27,500.

Never underrate camouflaged obstacles—nor overrate your skill.

Fellows who know all the answers are those who make the rounds with questionable characters.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

On account of the fine education I got down through the years from reading handouts from all them Federal agencies, I ain't never had much need for a dictionary. Onct in a great while I might make a miscue in my spelling, but them occasions is so rare that it don't bother me none.

And it's fer the same reason that I ain't never invested in a Encyclopediar. Any feller that studies real good all the information they put in the pamphlets from the Department of Agriculture, the Government Printing Office, the U. S. Information Agency, to name a few I git regular, knows about all they is to know about anything important.

Fer instanc, I received notice last week that the U. S. Information Agency has got four new booklets ready for the taxpayers. They is entitled, "Space Exploration," "Trade Expansion," "Mending Men's Suits," and "Growing Ornamental Bamboo." If a feller will git his name on the proper Government mailing lists, they ain't no need, Mister Editor, fer him to buy a Encyclopediar.

But it looks like I'm going to have to go over to Ed Doolittle's and look up a matter in his dictionary. Ever time I pick up the paper I see where a Government "research agency" is needing more money. I figured "research" meant looking fer some-gun, but nobody could spend that much money just looking fer somepun. I got to see if "research" ain't got more meanings.

I got to admit that a heap of this research is good. Fer instanc, I was reading where a research agency discovered that empty pecan, walnut and almond shells was fine fer blasting out jet engines. They bought $30,000 worth of them shells, tried 'em out at the Mobile Air Force Base and they worked better'n anything ever tried fer cleaning jet engines. They might be some question amongst the taxpayers about $30,000 being a little high fer empty shells, but such matters is never a question with the research agencies.

But Senator Humphrey claims these research boys waste a lot of money just setting around thinking. If they figger it would be better fer a lightning bug to have headlights instead of tail-lights, they draw up a heap of charts and file 'em away fer future "research." Senator Humphrey says about 6 million of these charts is being filed in the Defense Department ever year, that they already got 50 million of these drawings and charts filed, and that it now takes longer fer the research department to look up and see if a certain chart has already been filed than it would to file it again. He says this looking up business is costing $200 million a year. I think, Mister Editor, I better look up this word "research."

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
