

Kids' Rides Just a Dime

Values Galore On Sidewalks

Plans are completed for the annual sidewalk days in Cass City. It will be bargain time for everyone including the small fry.

For this year, Cass City merchants have arranged that the rides in the street carnival will be only 10 cents each with tickets available from the merchants. They are picking up the tab for the remainder of the cost. Without these tickets, rides are 25c each.

There will be plenty of bargains for the adults Friday and Saturday, too. Items advertised in this week's paper include just about everything in the clothing line, as well as furniture, hardware, household goods and variety items.

Several stores are offering free gifts. Frank's Music Store is celebrating its grand opening and is offering free prizes to visitors and a record every hour on Saturday.

Although not on the sidewalk, Frank Meiser's Service has a special. He invites parents to bring their kids to his station for free "Injun" headbands.

Erla's is celebrating its anniversary with free gifts also, including a bike to a lucky boy or girl.

Merchants advertising specials this week are:

Cass City Floral
Federated Store
Kritzmans', Federated Store or Ben Franklin.
Cost to the merchant is 2 cents each, they explained.

George Murrays Purchase Goff's M-81 Motel

Charles Goff announced this week that he has sold the M-81 Motel, west of Cass City, to Mr. and Mrs. George Murray of Cass City.

The Murrays expect to take possession Aug. 15.

The new owners say that they plan to redecorate and renovate the building when they assume active management. "We aren't ready to announce specific details, as our plans are not yet complete," Mrs. Murray said.

The Murrays moved to Cass City from New Jersey in October of 1960. Murray worked as a chemist for General Insulated Wire and General Cable for nearly 20 years before he retired about a year ago.

He is a graduate of Canisius College and Mrs. Murray is a graduate of D'Youville College, both in Buffalo, N. Y.

Hartwick Injured Fighting Grass Fire Friday

Jack Hartwick of Cass City was injured while helping fight a grass fire near the New Greenleaf Elevator Friday afternoon. Hartwick fell through a three-foot pile of siftings and the fire was smoldering at the bottom. He suffered burns on the legs and arm.

Members of the Elkland Township Fire Department, which quelled the blaze, said that they thought the fire started from spontaneous combustion.

Another grass fire was quelled by the Elkland Township Fire Department Saturday. It broke out at the Jack Stahlbaum residence, northeast of Cass City.

Firemen brought the fire under control just as it was about to spread into a wheat field on the farm.

Official Okay For Village

Village Clerk Bill Bridges announced this week that Cass City has received official confirmation of its Accelerated Public Works grant of $75,000. The village is now proceeding with the next step to start the $150,000 project rolling in the village.

They have contacted their attorney who will arrange a schedule for the issuance of the bonds to pay Cass City's share of the project over a 20-year period.

The money will be spent for a complete revamping of the village's water supply and will start within 90 days.

The National Farmers' Organization will hold its 7th Congressional district meeting at Cass City High School Wednesday, July 31, at 8:30 p.m. Main speaker will be Erhard Pfingsten of Sergeant Bluff, Iowa. Ice cream and cake will be served. Door prize. Members and non-members invited. No charge.

Former Resident in Fatal Auto Crash

John R. Aldrich, a former resident of Cass City, was killed in an automobile accident on the I-75 expressway Monday, according to a report from Michigan State Police at Flint.

The fatal accident occurred when Aldrich lost control of his car and smashed into the rear of a truck parked on the shoulder of the road.

There were no other injuries. He was born in Detroit May 18, 1942, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Aldrich. He was employed by the Buick Motor Company in Flint. He moved from the FOUR SERIOUSLY INJURED persons will recover from an accident Saturday that occurred when this car went out of control and smashed into a tree on East Dayton Road Saturday. Two of the occupants were so badly lacerated that plastic surgery will be required. (Chronicle photo)

From the Editor's Corner

Even though it was Sunday, the village maintenance crew was on the job. Saturday night's wind and rain blew down a large limb that completely obstructed Oak street, about a half block south of Main.

We noticed the limb at about 8 a.m. from our apartment window. Before an hour had passed the crew was alerted and the limb moved to the side of the road.

School officials will learn about the cost of the new boiler and new roof earlier than reported last week in the Chronicle. We reported the date of decision as July 29 when in reality it is this Friday, July 19.

After these costs are learned, the school board is expected to develop plans for the remainder of scheduled improvements.

If you've been thinking of adding an extension phone in your home, now's the time. General Telephone's publicity mill has ground out a news release that installation charges for extensions have been dropped for a year. After the 12-month trial, results will be reviewed and the charge dropped permanently or reinstated, depending on the volume the cut in costs brings.

On a statewide basis, installing an extension averages $4.00. *****

We can't help but think that something is drastically wrong with our tax laws after reading daily newspaper articles about persons with incomes of a million dollars last year.

By taking advantage of legal loopholes in the laws, two persons reported net incomes of a million, yet did not pay any tax at all because of exemptions.

Four Start Long Road to Recovery

Three Cass City men and a Caro girl will recover from critical injuries suffered in a head-on crash into a tree Saturday, three miles southeast of Caro.

But the road to recovery will be long and slow... especially for two brothers, Roger and Gordon Peters.

The brothers both suffered from concussion and severe lacerations of the face. Dr. Dyke, who attended Roger, says that he will require plastic surgery when he recovers from the effects of the crash.

Part of his nose was completely severed and his face deeply lacerated, Dr. Dyke explained.

Dr. Anderson, who gave emergency treatment to Gordon, says that the accident resulted in a genuine scalp injury much the same as Indians performed on victims in the early days of the West. Plastic surgery will be necessary, she feels.

Miss Kay Nickerson, 20, was also treated by Dr. Anderson. She suffered from a concussion and possible slight skull fracture. She was lacerated across the back.

Both Miss Nickerson and Gordon Peters were described as progressing well by a brain specialist called to Caro from Bay City.

The fourth passenger in the car, Jim McDonald, 29, of Cass City was the least injured. He broke a vertebra in his back in the accident.

All are patients in Caro hospital.

Tuscola Sheriff Hugh Marr, who investigated, said that the car veered off the road on the curve on East Dayton Road, went between a telephone post and guy wire and smashed into the tree.

McIntyre Speaks At Rotary Again

A. D. McIntyre of Saginaw, a frequent visitor to Cass City Rotary, returned again Tuesday to recount another of his frequent trips abroad.

Speaking at the New Gordon Hotel, he showed colored slides of a trip to Japan and remarked about the customs of the country.

He was accompanied by his son Joe Tuesday.

McIntyre is a former area resident and one of the owners of Frutchey Bean Co.

Schools Will Miss Service of Reliable Ray Kilbourn When Pupils Return This Fall

A little over a quarter of a century ago Ray Kilbourn signed a contract with Cass City Public Schools to transport rural students for the 1937-38 school year.

The contract marked the first of 26 consecutive agreements between Kilbourn and the school and all have been mutually profitable.

Judge T. C. Quinn returned the case of Keith Frederick Krull to Justice Court for examination last week after Krull demanded his rights in Circuit Court.

Krull is charged with negligent homicide for failure to stop at Vassar Road and M-81 on June 25 when four persons were killed.

At the time of the accident Krull was driving on a restricted driver's license that was to be good only for driving to work and back. He had been visiting relatives when the accident occurred.

All of Cass City's buses, with the exception of Kilbourn's, are owned by the school and the drivers are paid salaries. Kilbourn buys his own bus and drives it for a flat fee that includes bus rental.

Superintendent Willis Campbell says he wishes that all of his buses were on similar arrangements as the one he had with Kilbourn.

But despite the mutual satisfaction of the agreements, it ended with the close of the school year. For Kilbourn is nearing his 71st birthday and his health is not as robust as it was.

Shepherding a bus over country roads in the dead of winter and the muck of spring is just getting to be too much, he said, so I've decided to quit.

Drifted Into Business

Kilbourn recalled that he drifted into bus driving naturally. "When I first started driving, Cass City had no school buses. I drove an old Geo made out of pasture for Joe Nepper in the 1936-37 school year. The next year I bought a bus and started driving for myself."

Following his first bus, Kilbourn bought new units in 1946, 1947, 1950, 1952 and 1953.

In addition to his work in Cass City, he branched out with two more buses to serve Deford Community Schools.

The reason that bus contract-

Hold Blond for Aiding In Jail Escape Attempt

The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department is holding a pept blond on a charge of aiding Richard Fergash and Larry Payne in an attempted week-end escape from the Tuscola county jail.

Police say that they are charging Gemme VanDeusen of Bay City with aiding the prisoners by passing three saw blades into the cell. A preliminary examination is set for Friday, July 26.

Fergash, sentenced last week to three to 15 years at Jackson Prison, and Payne, awaiting trial for breaking and entering the Central Market at Vassar, almost made it to freedom with the help of the blades.

The two men had sawed through three padlock hasps to free themselves from the cell block and were working on the bars of an outside window when caught.

The pair had sawed through one bar and were working on the last bar between them and escape when Sheriff Hugh Marr heard the sound of sawing in the basement.

Water and heating pipes in the jail run through the kitchen to the basement, serving as a sounding board, he explained.

Fergash was taken to Jackson Tuesday and Payne now awaits a decision on his case in solitary confinement at the jail.

Prosecutor James Epskamp asked for examination of Payne by two competent psychiatrists Wednesday after Payne had entered a plea of insanity.

Wheat Crop Just Fair Farm Crop Outlook Bright

The rain Saturday night and Sunday arrived in time to avert a local disaster and farmers can look to crops that range from fair to extra good.

That is the opinion of Alfred Ballweg, county extension agent in agriculture, for Tuscola county in general, and of Barney Hoffman, Farm Produce manager, for the immediate Cass City area.

The first of the 1963 wheat crop came to Farm Produce Co. Saturday, Hoffman said. It was from four acres of light, sandy soil. It averaged 30 bushels to the acre. "We expect the average to be much better than that though," Hoffman explained. "The crop should average somewhere around 45 bushels to the acre. The hot, dry weather kept the wheat from filling out as well as it might. But there probably won't be any 55-65 bushel wheat this year."

But the quality is high. The first crop in the elevator tested 58.

The corn and bean crops are looking especially fine following the ideal soaking week-end rain. Barring future adverse conditions, farmers can look for a heavy crop.

County Picture

This rain not only saved the crops but it also boosted morale on the farm about a thousand per cent, Ballweg said Tuesday.

Here is Ballweg's estimation of the crops in the county:

Wheat

Wheat ranges from real good to medium, to fair in quality. There are some shrunken heads and the crop will be lighter than it has been in real good years.

Oats and Barley

Oats and barley have definitely been hurt by the hot and dry weather. It's almost certain that the crop will be just fair this year.

Beans

Beans planted early are suffering from the early dry weather. They failed to pod out as they should have. Late beans are excellent and farmers can look forward to a top crop, Ballweg explained. (Cass City gen-

Second Leg of Cemetery Road Work Slated

Work on Cemetery Road, three miles south of Cass City, was to have been one of 32 jobs let by the Michigan State Highway Department Wednesday.

The work calls for 2.8 miles of grading and culverts south from a point three miles south of Cass City. Estimated cost of the project is $70,000. Completion date is Dec. 1.

Another Tuscola county job is paving on Sheridan Road for 2.9 miles south from M-46 near Vassar. Estimated cost is $90,000 and completion is scheduled by Nov. 15.

The total letting by the department for the 32 projects is $7.9 million.

Saturday Accidents

Two accidents were reported in the village Saturday by Chief Carl Palmatier.

The village pickup truck driven by Eldon Stoutenburg, 31, and a car driven by Lorinda DeLong, 39, of Clare collided at the corner of Church, and Sherman streets.

The fronts of both cars were damaged. Stoutenburg received minor injuries.

The second crash occurred at the intersection of Schwieger and West Huron Line roads. Cars driven by Glenwood Earl Clapper, 56, of Saginaw, traveling west on Huron Line road, collided with a vehicle driven by John Charles O'Neil, 57, of Gagetown. Five persons were injured.

Visibility at the intersection is very poor because of embankments. Riding with Clapper were Elizabeth Clapper, 53, Genevieve Clapper, 11, and Deborah Schröder, 10, all of Saginaw. Schröder with O'Neil was Marie O'Neil, 53. Only the Schröder girl escaped injuries. Most seriously injured was Glenwood Clapper.

The fronts of both cars were damaged and they were removed to local garages.

Intersection Collision

Wednesday, July 10, a truck driven by Clark E. Seeley, 48, of Cass City and a car driven by Howard Kelley, 28, of Cass City collided at the corner of Sherman and Pine streets.

Neither driver saw the other's car as they came to the intersection. The crash resulted in minor damage to the truck and damage to the front of the Kelley car. No one was injured.

Main St. Mishap

In an accident not previously reported Sunday, July 7, Patrolman William R. McKinley investigated a minor mishap.

Charles Walter Gaynor, 57, of Almont, driving a General Telephone truck, struck the left fender of a car owned by Richard Kenefic of Caro as he was backing from the Main street curb.

Minor property damage was the result of a mishap on M-81 in Caro Monday morning.

The crash occurred when a car driven by Peter Zawilinski, 16, was hit in the rear by a car driven by Marshall C. Raymond of Caro.

The front of the Raymond car and the rear of the Zawilinski car were damaged.

Hits Parked Car

Gard Tren Austin of Caro lost control of his car Friday and crashed into the right front fender of a parked car owned by John Mulrath of Cass City.

Austin was traveling west on River Road, south of Cass City. He lost control of his car at the Phillips Road corner and skidded 150 feet into the Mulrath car parked in the yard.

Austin was ticketed for not having his car under control.

A SUCCESSFUL RELATIONSHIP between Ray Kilbourn and the Cass City and Deford school districts ended this year when he retired. The contract bus system will be continued by one of his sons. (Chronicle photo)

Beauty Tips

by Helen

Summer plays tricks with hands. The skin of hands produces almost no essential oils, so lubricants are necessary. A bottle or jar of cream or lotion in the kitchen as well as the dressing table is a constant reminder. Let it soak in well and at night cover the application with gloves of cotton until morning. When you visit the salon, bring a pair of gloves. Let the manicurist massage cream into the hands and wear the gloves under the dryer, before the manicure. For the best in summer care, visit HELEN'S BEAUTY SALON; 6469 N. Main street in Cass City. Appointment not always necessary, phone 872-3535.

Immunize Before School Starts

Superintendent Willis Campbell this week called attention to the Michigan requirements for immunization before school enrollment.

All children must be immunized for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and poliomyelitis before entering school.

A suggested schedule to be followed if immunization is started between six months and five years of age was announced by Mrs. Helen Stevens, R.N., school health nurse.

Smallpox: primary vaccination and revaccination at five years if more than four years elapsed since the primary vaccination. Diphtheria and tetanus: three doses one month apart and a booster dose if more than four years elapsed since completion of the primary series.

Poliomyelitis: two doses one month apart followed by a third dose seven months after the second and a fourth dose as a booster one year or more after the third dose.

Good Reading on A Hot Summer Day

By the Rev. Robert J. Searls

This novel, THE TALL WOMAN, is good reading in the middle of a hot summer day. Both the portrayal of a small Southern village during the Civil War and that of a family living in that kind of surroundings are well drawn. This is one of an increasing number of books which find their base in that blot on American history which found friends and families involved, often on opposite sides.

Wilma Dykeman wrote THE FRENCH BROAD for the "Rivers in America" series and has written several successful novels collaborating with James Stokely. (He happens to be her husband). You may have read stories of her creative and questioning mind in a wide variety of magazines.

The basic plot is well-drawn and simple. Lydia McQueen comes from a warm family of community leaders. She and her husband first work some rented land, but for most of the book try to eke out an existence on their own farm on the side of a mountain. It is rough going, especially when complicated by her husband's personality. He joins the Union army, ending the war as a prisoner at infamous Andersonville prison. For the first several years after the war he travels west in search for contentment and begins the long process of finding what we would call 'peace of mind.'

However, as the years go by, he mellows some and becomes both a good husband and father. Lydia, of course, stays home and cares for her children, managing to find, somehow, a way to mother them and at the same time to work as a midwife, to serve after the town doctor dies.

I enjoyed most heartily her efforts to obtain a school for her area. The night it is destroyed by fire becomes the worst night of her life, but after a time another school is built. The church was located in what was an addition to her parents' home and by the end of the novel there is a new church as well.

There are descriptions of near poverty and pictures of 'socials' with groaning tables holding every possible kind of delicacy. And there are many other happy times, too. Also, we share in the death of two of her own children and the wedding of another and in the trials when Lydia has to face the fact that her oldest child is feeble-minded. In this modern age when there are government-sponsored institutions for almost every illness, we have almost forgotten how a family facing a problem like this had to try the best they knew how to care for a child.

There is still lots of hot summer weather left when a book like this can capture your attention and help pass the time.

THE TALL WOMAN by Wilma Dykeman; Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc., N.Y., 1962.

Service Certain for All Eligible Men Under Extended Draft

Editor's Note:
The draft has been extended for four years, until July 1, 1967. This means that the young men of this country must continue to expect to serve in the military forces. This series of articles outlines the basic responsibilities and rights of young men under the draft law.

parents' consent) may choose among a wide variety of ways to begin the discharge of his current active duty and reserve military obligation. He may enlist in the regular forces for three to six years. He may enter a number of reserve or National Guard programs. He may volunteer, with parental consent, for induction for two years.

Even after he registers for the draft at age 18, he has ahead of him at the present time five or more years in which to choose his own time and method of discharging the military obligation. As he gains more education, these opportunities widen to include various military programs leading toward a commission.

But if he does not make his own choice, at around age 23 he may expect induction if he is qualified and not deferred or exempt. And even though he may not be qualified, or is deferred or exempt when his normal turn to serve comes, he may still be put in Class I-A if at any time up to his 35th birthday he loses the deferment or exemption, or the cause of his disqualification is removed.

If he should be reclassified into Class I-A after he would normally be inducted and before age 26, he would probably be the oldest man available in his local board and, if qualified, would be the first to be called.

Because of the need for manpower in the Armed Forces, about six out of ten men who became 26 in 1962 had entered service voluntarily or by induction. Those who had not were almost all disqualified men. A few were those who were continuously deferred or exempt through age 26.

Government manpower experts estimate that well over half of all men who reach age 26 through the next four years will be required to enter service to maintain active and reserve strengths. Disqualification and deferment and exemption will account for the remainder.

Virtually no qualified and available man can expect to reach age 26 without entering service over the next four years.

BUYS STOCK YARD

the auction marketing business together in 1945 in Uby after Fullmer had run the business for three years.

The yard was moved to Bad Axe in 1948 when a new corporation was formed, known as the Bad Axe Stock Yards, Inc. The owners then included Fullmer, Chris Labor and his brother, Dave Labor.

Fullmer claims that the merging of the three auction markets will enable him to give the livestock producer and feed lot operator a more complete marketing service.

Plans are now under way for a feeder or replacement cattle division so farmers in the three-county area can have a ready supply of replacement cattle for their feed lot operation.

Set Wheat Support Price at $1.80

Producers who planted within their 1963 wheat acreage allotments and who are eligible for marketing cards will be eligible for price support loans and purchase agreements.

The rate for Tuscola county is $1.80 per bushel for number one grade wheat. This rate is based on a national average of $1.82, down 18c from the 1962 national average support price.

Support is available through farm and warehouse stored loans and purchase agreements.

According to the county ASCS office, warehouse loans will be available beginning with harvest while farm-stored loans require that the grain be binned at least 30 days before sampling. Applications must be made at the county ASCS office.

Final date for obtaining price support on the 1963 crop will be Jan. 31.

Treat Sheep Now for Parasite Control

Remember to drench sheep for the control of internal parasites during mid-July.

That's the advice of Alfred Bailweg, County Extension Director, who notes that parasites are a serious threat to spring lambs. These lambs have been on pasture long enough to become infested with tapeworms, stomach worms and other species of round worms.

"Parasites are the chief reason why lambs fail to grow and gain properly," according to Graydon Blank, sheep specialist for Michigan State University's Extension Service.

Sheep producers should use a combination of finely ground phenothiazine and lead arsenate drench, Bailweg says. Other effective drenching materials are available from local veterinarians.

Phenothiazine and trace mineralized salt kept before the flock at all times can aid in keeping parasite infection to a minimum.

Accidents can be traced to a combination of things—the worst combination being a smart aleck in a high-powered automobile.

Are You Aiding Your Enemy?

By Dr. E. P. Lockwood
Time is your worst enemy when it comes to matters concerning your own health. Time can convert curable cancer into a fatal growth. The passing of a day or two can make the difference between sore throat and a far advanced diphtheria. A very short time can transform a functional heart condition into serious organic heart disease.

Every minute that passes after the beginning of disease increases the odds which the doctor must fight. There are numerous methods of diagnosis and treatment available today which were unknown a few years ago. Yet well equipped as he is, with all these newer methods of fighting disease, your doctor is often handicapped by his worst enemy, time.

Your spine does much more than help you hold upright. Its most valuable function is the protection of a vital part of your nerve system. That's why even a slight spine failure is to be most carefully guarded against. When there is any degree of spine failure the result is that some body tissues are being deprived of the necessary nerve control or influence they need to function normally.

Are you or anyone in your family aiding your worst enemy, TIME by saying, "I'll wait and see how I feel tomorrow?" For tomorrow or next week or next month, TIME may have piled up tragic obstacles to your recovery.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. E. P. Lockwood whose office is located at Cass City, Tel. 872-2765). Adv.

SUMMERTIME

The North American economy has a tendency to slow down at two times of the year due to weather. One is during the peak of the winter when the temperature reaches its coldest drop. The other time is at the very opposite, when it reaches its warmest peak.

To cite a horrible pun, even the Mexicans have their troubles. They can have it chili today and hot tamale.

Anyway, to bring our long-winded story to a head, here is the point: the hot weather that we're now getting means that a lot of people are getting out of town to cottages and vacation resorts and leaving car dealers to fight it out alone with the daily overhead.

Any stock market expert will tell you that the time to buy is when no one else wants to. During the slack vacation months our mechanics will give you a royal welcome in the service department and our sales department trying to meet its quota will do likewise. Quicker service, more attention and real savings.

Summertime prices are truly wilted by the heat. Wards Automotive Reports, a statistical authority of the car business, consistently reports September prices higher than July and August for the same merchandise.

A "cold war" thought to keep you cool: Russia has one car to every 364 people while we have one car to every three. THEY aren't rushed even in the other ten months.

CAR TROUBLE? Let our Electronic Wizard analyze it. It's worth the price to see the pretty lights on the screen alone. Very impressive. We might even get Bob Hope.

Playground Hits New High In Daily Attendance

Directors of the summer playground program announced that attendance last week shattered all previous records. In one of the sessions 90 children attended.

The arts and crafts were crowded with boys and girls. Highlight of the program was plaster molding and painting. Forty-five pounds of plaster of Paris were used in two days, the directors said.

While the boys were on an hour hike, the girls displayed dolls. Thirty dolls, ranging from a half inch to three and a half feet, were exhibited and the girls told a brief history of each.

Little Swimming

Swim lessons were all but cancelled as the water temperature and cooler air limited the number of swimmers. Feature of the free lessons is the class of 20 six-year-olds all floating and beginning to swim.

In Cass City the majority of children over seven years old are swimming and learning good water habits.

Spend all your time settling old accounts and it's next to impossible to get square with the world.

THE BLASTOFF

The ordinary walks of life appeal to very few in this age of jets and rockets.

Giants-Pirates Tie For League Lead

The Pirates moved up into a first place tie with the Giants and the Yankees almost won a game in the feature action in the Cass City Little League this week.

Tigers vs. Yankees
The Yankees were ahead of the Tigers 18-15 going into the last inning, but they couldn't hold the lead to register their first victory of the season Wednesday, July 10. The Tigers scored four times in the sixth to win 19-18.

Jack Selby blasted a circuit clout for the Yankees and Bruce LeValley slammed one for the Tigers. Also helping the Tigers at the plate were John Asher with four for five and Joe Mark with four for four. Fred Ryan collected four hits in five tries for the losers.

The Yankees had 18 runs, eight hits and eight walks. The Tigers collected 19 runs, 15 hits and 13 walks. Mark was the winner and Ryan was charged with the loss.

Cubs vs. Giants
The Cubs defeated the league-leading Giants, 6-3, in a well-played game Friday. The Cubs took advantage of Terry Brinkman's wildness to score six runs early in the game and then hung on to preserve their victory.

The Giants threatened in the sixth, but a fine running catch by the Cub centerfielder and a throw that doubled a man at second nipped the Giants' most serious rally.
The Cubs had six runs on seven hits and nine walks. Kim Hopper and Craig Ryland each collected a single and double for the Cubs. Robbie Bridges had three hits in four tries for the Giants. J. Novak was the winning pitcher. Brinkman was charged with the loss. Robbie Alexander pitched the final three innings for the Giants.

Pirates vs. Yankees

In a game called after four innings Monday, the Pirates defeated the Yankees, 22-0. The Pirates had 22 runs, 11 hits and 13 walks. The Yankees made only two hits and gathered four walks.

Mike Murphy was effective on the mound. He was responsible for 10 of the 12 outs in the game via the strikeout method.

He was no puzzle to Fred Ryan, however, as the Yankee star picked up a single and double in his only two trips to the plate.

Frank Holes was very good and also very bad at the plate for the Pirates. He cracked out a home run and a triple, but also has the dubious distinction of striking out twice in the same inning.

Murphy was the winner. For the losers it was Jack Selby followed by Randy Brown and Bill Perlaki.

The Standings:

Team	W	L	GB
Giants	5	2	-
Pirates	5	2	-
Cubs	4	3	1
Tigers	3	3	1 1/2
Yankees	0	7	5

Erla's Rated Cinch to Cop City League Toga

Barring a catastrophe, Erla's has the regular season championship of the City Softball League wrapped up with just half of the season completed.

The Foodmen are undefeated in six games and lead second place Walbro by three full games.

Walbro bowed to the league leaders, 5-4, in the feature game last week. With Bosch on the mound for Erla's it should have been no contest.

He limited the factory nine to one hit by Ken Nye while striking out 15.

But he walked eight and the catchers substituting for the injured Frank Creason had trouble holding his slants.

Ware and Hempton gave up seven hits for the losers.

Dean Hoag and Gary Deering each had two hits for the winners.

Sunoco-Cable

Clare and Andy's Sunoco pounded out an easy victory over Cable in the other game of the evening, 11-1. Eldon Stoutenburg coasted to the victory as he allowed just five hits and was in command all the way.

Veteran Carl Kolb led the winners' attack with three hits in three tries.

The Standings:

Team	W	L	GB
Erla's	6	0	-
Walbro	3	3	3
Sunoco	2	4	4
Cable	1	5	5

Next week's games: Walbro vs. General Cable and Sunoco vs. Erla's.

Erla's Lose In Port Huron Tilt Saturday

Erla's were defeated by Swift's Ice Cream in the opening round of the Port Huron Invitational softball tourney Saturday night at Port Huron. The score was 2-0.

Swift's rallied for two runs in the last inning to break up a terrific pitching duel between Erla's Elwyn Helwig and Swift's George Collins.

Actually, Erla's out-hit Swift's four to two, but the winners bunched three of their safeties in the last inning to win.

Hillaker led off with a bunt single. After McDermott was an easy out, Knapp singled. Smyth was out on a fielder's choice and it was two on and two out. But Burns came up with a clutch double to drive in the base runners and decide the game.

Hitting star for Erla's was Jim Johnson who banged out a pair of doubles. Gene Klooc also connected with a two-base knock, but Collins kept the hits well scattered to preserve his victory.

Great "Unpleasantnesses"

Still Rule Me--

By Dave Kraft

Does anyone remember a very disorganized four-year period between 1941 and 1945 called the "Second Great Unpleasantness?"

I vaguely recall the ration books with their little stamps, the little red tokens (I forget what for), collecting milkweed and cans of melted fat.

I remember the end of the Second Great Unpleasantness. At the time it didn't seem too important, but as long as everyone else was celebrating, why shouldn't I?

Mostly, however, I remember the "V" gardens. Remember them? Everyone who considered himself a real true American had a "V" garden to help win the war.

I don't think anybody for sure knows how much the "V" gardens contributed to the winning of the war, but they've contributed considerable to the losing of mine.

I refer to the war of marriage. I have been engaged in this fight for two and a half years and during that time my wife and I have engaged in several hundred "Great Unpleasantnesses."

Last spring I sparked the 750th or 751st "Great Unpleasantness" by declaring that I was going to have a "V" garden.

First my wife said, "No, you're not." Then she asked, "What's a 'V' garden?" She figures it's best to deny first and ask questions later.

I explained to her about the war and how, only subversives didn't have "V" gardens and how good for morale and morals they are. She finally agreed, but only after making it clear who would take care of the garden.

So I rushed out and collected all the seed catalogues I could lay my hands on and when I had a pile that reached to my earlobes, I started ordering seeds.

I ordered, to be on the safe side, one of everything. After I had the order made out, I showed it to my wife who promptly pointed out that I had enough stuff to start a truck garden which would be planted in a three-foot by nine-foot space behind the garage.

So I tore up my list, went downtown and bought one watermelon plant, six tomato and six green pepper plants.

There's something about a small garden . . . you get so attached to them. You care for and nurture each plant along and after a bit you become fond of them like a dog or a cat or a fish.

One of my pepper plants died. I went out one morning and as I was giving each plant its morning dose of three drops of plant food, just prior to hand washing the dust from every leaf, I noticed that this plant was kind of droopy.

I know it's silly, but it looked like it was having a hard time getting its breath. I rushed into the house and called a Saginaw tree surgeon who referred me to a Detroit botanist who suggested I contact the Michigan State University School of Agriculture.

While I was calling I had my wife stand beside the plant with instructions to tell me if there was any change.

I was on the MSU call and having a terrible time making the operator understand that I had an ailing pepper plant with respiratory trouble that needed immediate attention, when my wife strolled in.

I asked her why she wasn't keeping her vigil and she said, not without sarcasm, that my little pepper plant had silently folded its leaves and stole away.

She gets a kick out of being brutal. Just then the Professor in charge of pepper department, respiratory division, answered the phone.

I told him in a tear-choked voice what had happened. There was a silence and then he said that as far as he knew, I was the only American ever to lose a "V" garden pepper plant in peacetime.

That's kind of a dubious distinction, if you ask me.

All the rest of my plants seem to be doing well. Just the other day one of my tomato plants gave birth to a tomato. It just goes to show you . . . for every loss there's a gain. A pepper plant dies and a tomato lives. That's life.

Revising State's Tax Structure Seen as Difficult Selling Job

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Pointed Tax

Sale of an income tax to the people of Michigan in any size and shape is still very much in doubt.

Of Governor George Romney's eight alternative tax programs only one spells out fiscal reform without an income tax on individuals. In the governor's travels about the state trying to find buyers for one of his several plans, Romney said most people supported an income tax as a replacement for other levies.

The greatest majority of those attending the governor's meetings, however, have been businessmen who theoretically, and perhaps actually, would stand to gain much from the various reforms proposed.

Most of the governor's plans call for the repeal of the business activities tax, a major objection from businessmen since it was enacted.

Heaviest support voiced for the governor's plans at his various meetings was hinged on the idea that any personal income tax enacted should be a flat rate levy as opposed to a graduated one similar to the federal income tax.

Democrats claim this is a natural inclination of the wealthy businessman. A flat rate income tax would not cut as deeply into the pocketbook of the rich man as that of the low wage earner, they contend.

Legislators who will be called upon to make decisions on fiscal reform this fall say it will be no easy task.

Romney's meetings have drawn some support for one or another of his plans, but the voices from the grass roots are yet to be heard.

It will take a real selling job to convince the general public that the income tax is an equitable and necessary part of fiscal reform which will benefit the state.

Local Opportunity
Community leaders throughout the state are now honing up on a law enacted by the 1963 Legislature which places the burden of mental health services on them.

The Community Mental Health Services Act was enacted on the recommendation of a Senate study committee which considered it for two years.

Under the new law communities can get state funds for offering services in mental health such as emergency hospitals, night hospitals, day care and cooperative services with courts or schools.

Support for the community program came from many corners during the session.

The trend being started by state provision for community programs was described to the Legislature by Dr. Robert Felix, director of the National Institute of Mental Health. "I have no doubt that if communities assume the role that they and only they can play in building strong mental health programs, mental hospitals as we know them today will have ceased to exist within 25 years," he said.

Several states have already taken the step which Michigan is taking now. New York, California and Minnesota are among the larger states with such programs.

Statistics in these states show reductions in state mental hospital populations, decreases in hospital admissions and waiting lists, and other favorable changes in problems which have plagued Michigan for many years.

Passage of the community health law represented a choice in dealing with the mental health problem. Most spokesmen who testified before legislative committees on the proposal said if this measure were not enacted, the Legislature's only alternative was to build more large, costly mental hospitals.

Individuals seeking employment with the state are unlikely to gain any advantage from offers of mail order schools to coach or train for these jobs.

State Civil Service Director Franklin K. DeWald said a number of these schools have been soliciting enrollment by civil service job candidates. Most such schools are not authorized to operate, DeWald said.

The personnel director emphasized that they are not licensed to do business in Michigan and state courts have found such programs to be illegal and against public policy.

Civil service examinations are given for state jobs on an open competitive basis, with points awarded to candidates on the basis of performance on these tests.

The content of the examinations, combined with interviews and specific skill tests for some jobs, give the Civil Service Commission an indication of which candidates are qualified, DeWald said. He emphasized enrollment in the out-of-state "training schools" is not recognized by the Commission in any way.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

Crab grass, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture is running a race to see which can get there fustest with the mostest.

I got some figgers here put out by somepun called the Tax Foundation that puts a feller to thinking. It says that today we got half as many farms as they was in 1935, and half as many farmers. It explains that so much land has been put in the Soil Bank, so many small farms combined with big ones, and the use of power tools is the reason for this 50 per cent decrease. But the piece from the Tax Foundation says the number of workers in the Department of Agriculture has jumped since 1935 from 85,114 to 121,538, or 43 per cent while farms and farmers was decreasing.

This piece says in 1935 they was one employee in the Department of Agriculture fer ever 80 farms in the nation. In 1962 we had one employee in the Department of Agriculture fer ever 28 farms. The piece goes on to show that the ratio of employees in the Department of Agriculture to the number of farms was increasing faster ever year and by 1982 they would be one employee in the Department of Agriculture fer ever farm in the United States.

I won't be here, Mister Editor, in 1982, but I hope you'll recommend to your Congressman that each employee get assigned to his special farm, required to live on it and pay for his room and board. It could be that right now crab grass was a little ahead in this race, but them figgers from the Tax Foundation shows the Department of Agriculture is closing the gap fast.

Incidental, in my latest pamphlet from the Agriculture folks they was disturbing news. It says Americans is about to quit eating sweet potatoes. In 1937, it says, the per capiter consumption of sweet potatoes was 23 pounds, and now it's down to about 7 pounds. It's mighty hard for the wimmen folks to git candied sweet potatoes covered with hot brown sugar syrup and a piece of yellow butter melting at the top from them froze food counters and I reckon that's why this item is getting extink at the family table.

Speaking of the family table, I haven't ever saw if Senator Philip Hart has got his ruling yet from the Food and Drug Administration on how many cherries was required in a bakery pie to make it legal. You will recollect he was complaining in the Congress that the bakery folks was mighty skimpy with the cherries they was putting in pies for sale to the American housewife. While he's investigating the figgers on cherries, Mister Editor, he might ask the Department of Agriculture about the percentage of jackasses running loose in Washington.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
